ENGLAND GIVES PRINCE HIROHITO WARM WELCOME

Heir to Throne of Japan is Received with Enthusiasm on Arrival at Capital of British Empire

LONDON, (AP)—The capital of the British empire today accorded Prince Hirohito, heir to the Japanese throne, a tumultuous welcome upon his arrival here for a three weeks' visit to England. Full honors of state were extended to him, the occasion being the first for such honors to a visiting foreign dignitary since 1914. A bright spring day provided ideal weather for the function.

Accompanied by Wales The Japanese prince, accompanied by the Prince of Wales, arrived at Victoria station on a special train from Portsmouth. He was greeted with cordial handshakes by King George, the Duke of Connaught and the Duke of York. The brilliant suits of British officialdom in attendance stood at attention, the hands placed the Japanese anthem.

Then, at the side of the king, in a state carriage, the crown prince was driven through the crowded streets, escorted by troops and lined with cheering multitudes, to Buckingham palace. Two platoons of the great Victoria station had been cut off from the palace. The recommendations of the royal train and decorators had been at work for two days making them ready for the prince's arrival.

King at Station

King George, wearing the uniform of a field marshal and the sash of the Japanese Order of the Rising Sun, with the Duke of Connaught and the Duke of York, in naval uniforms, stood on the red carpeted verandah, flanked by a notable assemblage of officials.

Viscount Chinda, former Japanese ambassador to Great Britain, who accompanied the crown prince on his voyage to England, served as interpreter for the royal visitor, who appeared somewhat nervous during the lengthy exchange of handshakes and greetings. After the crown prince and his hosts had completed the general exchange of up of a battalion of the Scots guard, the royal guest was conducted to the state carriage, in which also the king, the Viscount Chinda were seated and the procession moved off.

Crowds Cheer Prince

The crowd standing on tiptoes behind the troops which formed a cordon along the route of processions, cheered the prince as he passed and waved handkerchiefs to him, the prince returning the salutes. Among those in this conveyance were General Prince Kanin, Japanese military councillor, the Duke of York, Baron Hironaka, Japanese ambassador to Great Britain, Vice Admiral Takahashi, Lieutenant General Nara, Admiral Sir Charles Colville and General Sir Charles Monroe, British officers of the suite attached to the crown prince. In front of Buckingham palace a great mass of people greeted the procession and a battalion of the Coldstream guards was drawn up as another guard of honor.

Received by Queen

Within the palace the visiting prince was received by the queen, Princess Mary and other members of the royal family, and court officials. The crown prince took lunch at the palace this afternoon, visited Queen Mary and Alexander, and subsequently placed wreaths on the cenotaph in Whitehall and the grave of the Unknown Soldier in Westminster abbey. At 4 o'clock the crown prince gave his King George in Buckingham palace was the function for tonight.

Slivers of the Diamond

NICK ALTROCK

More famed as a comedian than a pull-player is Nick Altrock, coach of the Washington Senators. For Nick, a natural born comedian, has kept hundreds of thousands of baseball fans amused by his antics during his many years on the diamond. He is a real pantomime artist, and is as much of a drawing card as the rest of the Washington club combined. His one-man argument is a classic enjoyed by fans in all cities of the American league circuit and his tight rope performance during the fourth inning of the game from a 2. One of his most important duties is keeping the Washington players in good humor when things are not breaking just right for the team.

HONESTY PAYS IN NEAR EAST

Americans in Levant Endeavor to Explain Situation to the Countrymen

CONSTANTINOPLE, (AP)—A series of efforts to impress on American the necessity of being fair and upright in their business dealings with the Turks is being made here by those American firms familiar with the Levant. "It is a fact that people in the Levant have got to the point that they prefer to do business with any other nation than ours," says Lewis Hieck, formerly United States commissioner here. "It is a condition that has grown out of our war business. We used to make buyers put up their money in a New York bank before goods were delivered and then the goods were often not as specified. Now, honest American firms have lost money, become suspicious, and blame the whole Levant for the dishonesty of a few of its crooks. "One of the serious causes for dispute has been in connection with exchange. If the exchange was right the American house often failed to ship their goods. "There are just as many honest houses here as in New York. I know of several who have lost large sums in the exchange fluctuation in order to keep their word. This is true. If you do not meet these houses half way on the matter of honesty, as they have been conditions here, they will beat you."

The American Chamber of Commerce for the Levant has just taken up a matter affecting the standing of the American government here. During the war the state department authorized American ambassador to draw on its drafts used for the relief of Belgium, Poland, Greece and other subjects who would obtain funds from home, as communications were cut off. These drafts were not by local banks here and were in Turkey. But complaint is now made that only a part of them have been honored by the state department. This new find is sufficient ground for this purpose. The American Chamber of Commerce here will attempt to secure an act of congress authorizing the payment.

Babe Ruth has heard from the bosses. Miller Huggins, his manager, called the mighty slugger on the carpet the other eve and explained that the Yankees' club is composed of a lot of other fellows besides the best hitting hambo.

This little address was designed to define Babe a bit, and drop him to the sphere where our ordinary people. He was told to get into playing condition; leave the best stuff alone, and cut out the night life.

All of which, while not resting well on Babe's bosom, seems to have had some effect, for since that day Babe has been of some value to his team.

and has busted out a couple of prolix profane.

For the first time this season Earl Sheevey, star hitter of the Coast league last year, now first basing for the White Sox, the other day displayed something of the standard hitting process. The big fellow, playing against Detroit smashed a couple of long hits in twice up. His teammate, Ernie Johnson, shortstopping on the same club, got three singles while Matt signa, also a Big, got one.

Toney Boreck, former third baseman with the Great Falls club of the Northwestern league, playing that position for the Braves, a day or two back won a game against the Phillies with his hit. Antonio got three punches, in three times up. Besides that he got on base when the pitcher tripped up his feather with a pitched ball.

KANSAS LAW UNDER FIRE

Alexander Howel, leader of the coal miners of Kansas, who defied both federal and state authorities in the coal strike of a year ago, has been arrested under the Kansas law on a charge of ordering a strike of miners in construction of the statute.

The Kansas law not only forbids the strike of workers engaged in any public utility, but requires that employers shall continue to give employment to "skilled workers" during periods of depression.

While the Kansas law permits the organization of workers for the purpose of collective bargaining, it also requires that the organization shall incorporate, so that it may sue and be sued in the courts of the state.

The answers to these questions, as they are developed through the legal processes involved in the Howel case, will be awaited with great interest by large numbers of persons throughout the United States.

It is a long step from the days of "Boss" Tweed of New York state political fame to the innovation sprung upon the country by the legislative solons of Kansas.

OPINIONS

Moscow Star-Mirror: "The supply of wheat is much greater today than yesterday, and in consequence the price declined several cents a bushel."

Parrot-Lithrone: "If a workman could turn out four articles a day that makes only two the laborer's job that is better than it should be."

Our Dumb Animals (Boston): "Out of every 100 cents the government takes from us in taxes it spends 92 to pay for, present and future war bills."

Acadia College's new program opens a way for students who wish to pursue their studies during vacation months and yet have the benefit of a change of scene.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

It has that character now we have no fear of his condition. Character will draw condition after it.—H. W. Beecher.

SOME MAIN DISHES.

Here are a few dishes, some of which may be used as the main dish for the most. Mexican Ham.—Take a slice of ham cut twice as thick as that used for ordinary frying, rub a small teaspoonful of mustard into its surface with a tablespoonful of brown sugar.

Cottage Cheese Pie.—Mix two tablespoonfuls of butter in a teaspoonful of cream and a dash of salt. Add two-thirds of a cupful of honey or sugar. One cupful of cottage cheese pressed through a ricer, the yolks of three eggs beaten light, the grated rind of a lemon or orange thoroughly washed and a nutty third plate in the same manner as for custard pie. Bake until firm. Beat the whites of three eggs light, add four tablespoonfuls of sugar and spread the meringue over the pie. Breeze with a teaspoonful of sugar and let rest in a moderate oven until the meringue is lightly tinted. Serve the same day it is made.

Uncle Walt's Story

"I THINK Kermath is the worst ground I ever saw," observed the retired merchant. "I met him this morning and remarked that it was a fine day, and he told me to go to thunder and mind my own business."

Provocation

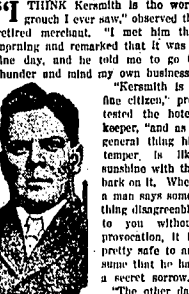

"Kermath is a fine citizen," protested the hotel-keeper, "and as a general thing his temper is like sunshine with the bark on it. When I have said something disagreeable to you without provocation, it is pretty safe to assume that it was cheaper than paying rent."

Neely Maxwell

Those who discharge promptly and faithfully all their duties to those who still live in the flesh, can have but little time for poking and peering into the life beyond the grave. Better to attend to each word in its proper order.—Florence Greedy.

Uncle Walt's Story

Kermath is a fine citizen

"Then I was glad that I hadn't set Gosseworthy down as a confirmed scoundrel. You may not know it, but Kermath was moving from one house to another yesterday, and that job will ruin the disposition of the most enthusiastic capitalist in the world. Unless you have money, you don't know what a nerve racking experience it is."

"When I was younger I used to be moving pretty often, having discovered, after much observation and research, that it was cheaper than paying rent. The moving bill is bad enough, but your experiences after the job is done fairly drive you frantic. You can't find anything you want for a month afterwards. About a thousand things seem to be hot for keeps, but they come bobbing up in the most unexpected places. You find your tooth brush in the toe of a slipper, and your watch in a jar of ketchup, and your Sunday necktie in a stuffed dog. When you put on your Sunday hat, you find it half full of carpet rags. There never was such a dog-some business, and I hold that the man who call, move, and still settle's nastily smelt, is yet to be born. "Fidelity is one of the manliest men I ever knew. His face just fairly radiates with happiness, so I would warm up an average room quicker than a furnace could do it. I always considered it a pleasure to meet him, for his joyous demeanor broadened me up for the day, and made me feel that life was worth living."

"Two days ago I overtook him on the street and slipped him on the back and asked him how he stacked up. I had done the same a dozen times before, and he had always nearly wrung my hand off in that enthusiastic way of his. And he had slapped me on the back, and told me I was a busy boy with a swiftness eye, on many occasions."

"You can imagine how I felt when he turned around looking as mad as a dog of wet hen. He shook his fist under my nose and danced around and said, 'You blamed spy-footed, away-backed, knock-kneed imbecile. If you ever again take such a liberty with me, I'll wind your face around your neck and tie the ears together on top of your head!'"

"At first I was mad and inclined to tell him what I thought of him, but just then a man came up and said, 'Gentle, it's sorry you can't get the appointment as postmaster, and then I understood.'"

The timid succeeded, on his first day under fire, left his company unscathed and fled fearward. He had covered a lot of distance before he pulled up at the command of a portly soldier: "Halt, (tremor) Where are you going?" "I'm just going. Who are you?" "I'm General Richardson."

Abraham's Oak Tree

When Abraham was promised his possession of the land of Canaan, it is recorded, he was commanded to walk through the land, whereupon he removed his tent, and came and dwelt in the plain of Mamre, which is in Hebron, and built there an altar to the Lord. It is stated that this spot is still marked by a great oak tree, venerated alike by Christian, Jew and Mohammedan. Its preservation in a region cleared of almost all trees by the improvident Turks is attributed to the protection by all religions.

Teetotaling Longevity Life

An anonymous Longevity recently stated that it was possible to lengthen one's life and improve the general health merely by teetotaling for a few minutes every day.

HAS DIAMOND MINE

Only One on Western Hemisphere Is Located in Arkansas.

Gems Are Found in the Crater of an Extinct Volcano in Pike County.—First Found in 1806.

Murphersboro, Ark.—The only diamond mine thus far discovered on the western hemisphere is located in Pike county, Arkansas, in which this hamlet is situated. The mine is two and a half miles south of here.

The diamonds are found in a "pipe," the crater of an extinct volcano which ages ago boiled up through the surface, had its terrific heat chilled by the water of the earth, and left bits of carbon scattered throughout the peridotite which now fills the crater, to be pressed into diamonds by the contraction of the rock. The peridotite forms the original matrix of the diamonds, thus far all the diamonds found in the western hemisphere in their matrices are those of Pike county.

Diamonds have been found in some twenty-five states, in Canada and South America, but always in fiery belts where, geologists surmise, they have been washed by the waters, or in places where it is presumed they have been deposited by glacial action.

The first Arkansas diamond was found in 1806 by John Hudstockett, then owner of the mine which is the sixty-acre "pipe" is located, by accident. Hudstockett observed outcroppings of the gray-green rock, since classed as peridotite, and came to the conclusion that his hillside contained "just a few" of the precious stones. After pecking around without finding anything which looked to him like mineral, he picked up a crystal, and then one day, stoned it to some friends in Murphersboro. A Little Rock jeweler pronounced it a diamond, an inside sure by verifications by jewel experts in New York.

The mining operations in Arkansas for several years, at least, will be far different from those of the South African fields, although the formations are the same.

In Africa deep shafts are sunk, the peridotite is brought to the surface and spread on drying floors for periods ranging from six to eighteen months. The rock has the peculiar quality of disintegrating when exposed to the air. In Arkansas, however, except for a few places, the peridotite already has disintegrated to a depth of about twenty feet, and mixed with vegetable matter, formed a sticky clay, called "gumbo" locally. This overburden of sticky earth will be removed before mining operations are started.

SHE TOOK THE QUEEN'S MEAT

Culinary Expert Tells How Victoria of Great Britain Was Delightfully Deceived.

New York.—Queen Victoria loved her mutton chops, said the queen's ex-cook, Mrs. Mary A. Wilson, at the Brooklyn food show.

"The doctors had a terrible time with her cut down the amount of meat she ate. Her chef, under the orders of the doctors, would serve her a thin slice of chop or steak and then he'd get fired. When I went to be her private chef I cooked her a great piece of meat just the way she liked it. Then I changed the meat out of the inside and stuffed it with savory herbs."

"She was delighted with this new way of serving her chop and while she gazed on it with satisfaction, she did not know she never realized that I had stolen half her meat."

Income Tax Four Cents; He Pays in Installments

Augusta, Ga.—A taxpayer whose total tax is 4 cents and who insists on his right to pay the four cents in installments, has bought a ten-cent money order for which he paid 3 cents was received here today. The taxpayer, a tall, bony farmer, who called himself as Lincoln county, but whose name was not disclosed, personally submitted his return to the deputy collector of internal revenue, using the ten-cent money order to pay the first installment.

Aged Indian Woman

Missyville, Wis.—Belonging from the tribe of the Menominee, the Indian tribes of the Upper Midwest country, by the treaty of Mukhdoo sixty-seven years ago, when she was between thirty and forty years of age, and for several years preceding her death, she has been a resident of this city. Mrs. Sarah Kettle, a native of the West Vancouver shore, died at the home of William Shelton at Duluth, Minn. ago probably was about the year.

Big Coon Planked Bear

Falmouth, Vt.—Frank Hildreth and Fritzler Tutton had come about as large as a bear, and one day they decided to have a "bear" hunt. They turned the coon loose at the south woods of town and after giving him a half-hour's start, they turned their backs on a change of bear skins on the floor. The dogs put the "bear" up a tree about two miles up the river. The boys shook him out of the tree and the dogs did the rest.

Millions for War Memorial

Indiana Legislature Appropriated Nearly $10,000,000 for Legion Structure at State Capital.

A suitable national headquarters building of the American Legion in Indianapolis was assured with the passage of three bills by the state legislature, appropriating almost $10,000,000 for a war memorial structure, which will house the Legion's main offices.

Five city blocks in the heart of Indianapolis will be used for the memorial project. The building will be erected in the middle block, with the remaining plots transformed into a magnificent city plaza. At one corner of the memorial site is located the Federal Postoffice building, erected at a cost of $4,000,000. Facing the outer end of the plaza is the $3,000,000 city library.

Tentative plans for the construction of the buildings are now in the hands of a state commission, of which Postmaster General William H. Day is a member. Selection of the architect will be made by the National Institute of Architecture, following a contest in which all architects of America have been invited to participate. The legislature set aside a fund of $100,000 to defray expenses of the contest and to award the artist whose designs and plans are adopted a prize of $50,000.

Invitations have been issued to national headquarters of the Grand Army of the Republic, the Women's Relief Corps, Service Star Legion, American War Mothers, Spanish War Veterans and Women's Auxiliary of the Legion to occupy quarters in the Memorial building along with the Legion.

To Dr. T. Victor Keene, national executive committee member of Indiana, will go much of the credit for making the war memorial possible. Dr. Keene fathered the movement from its infancy and fought for it when other Legionnaires, although supporting the fight, were afraid of success. Dr. Keene was the first officer of the reserve corps of any branch of service called to active duty during the World War. He was a colonel, medical corps, in command of base hospital 70 overseas.

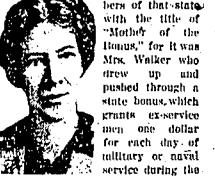

THE "MOTHER OF THE BONUS"

Friendly Title Assigned to Kansas Woman Member of the Legislature and Called "Legislady."

Mrs. Ida M. Walker, first woman member of the Kansas legislature, is honored by American Legion members of that state with the title of "Mother of the Bonus," for it was Mrs. Walker who introduced the bill which provided for a state bonus, which grants ex-service men one dollar for each day of military or naval service during the World War.

Although Mrs. Walker cannot qualify for membership in the Legion or in its Women's Auxiliary, she has been a tireless worker for the cause which brought the organization into existence and for which she now stands.

During the World War she was state director of women's work in the Belgian relief fund and also served as food administrator for her county. The "Mother of the Bonus" also exists between male and female members. GREAT WAR LEAVES NO TRACE ON FRENCH ART

Humbled Kaiser Subject for the Only World War Painting in Paris Exhibit

PARIS, (AP)—Sixty-seven paintings by 38 American artists are shown in the exhibition of the National Society of Fine Arts, otherwise known as the "New Salon," which now is in full progress. Only three of these paintings are by South American artists. The great war has left no trace on this year's exhibition. Only one of the 1144 pictures by 519 painters shows horizon blue uniforms and one picture with a war subject by Jean Verger, shows the German emperor groveling on the floor of a cell. The date 1918 is inscribed on the wall and a broken sword and bent-down eagle lie before him.

The most talked of picture will be a portrait of Anatole France, by Van Dongen. If the Paris artist found it necessary under the prohibition of emble duty, he has succeeded in his work.

The new salon was founded as a protest against the routine style of art which characterized the original salon of the Society of French Artists, which then became known as the Old Salon.

Farming in Alaska.

In the Tanana valley, the chief farming district of Alaska, the average annual rainfall is only about 12 inches, which would ordinarily make dry-farming methods applicable, but the first few crops raised after a tract has been cleared in this region get plenty of moisture from the melting of subterranean ice. In the course of a few years, however, the ice recedes to a depth of six or seven or more feet, and no longer supplies moisture to the crops. It is then necessary to use machinery which will not only pack the soil a few inches below the surface and thus hinder evaporation, but also maintain a surface mulch of loose soil, which further checks evaporation.
