WALLACE MAKES OBJECTIONS TO ALASKA SCHEME

Secretary of Agriculture Voices Opposition to Proposed Plan—Sees Exploitation of Resources Unleashed

WASHINGTON, D. C. (AP)—Opposition to the bill to create an Alaskan development board was expressed by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace in a letter today to Representative Curry of California, chairman of the house committee on territories.

"The enactment of this measure," Secretary Wallace said, "would be highly prejudicial to national interests and to Alaskan interests as well. It would remove whatever protection exists against the exploitation of our vast national resources and would deprive Alaska of the technical help of the federal agencies which combine long experience and the best scientific knowledge in studying and developing specific natural resources."

In effect, Mr. Wallace argued, the measure "proposes to set up a branch federal government having jurisdiction over certain properties and functions in the territory of Alaska."

"We have now come to a time," Secretary Wallace continued, "when economic conditions should bring about a gradual development of Alaskan industry with a corresponding increase in population. This development should be on a sound basis and not the result of temporary and reckless exploitation of public property."

"By creating an Alaskan board composed of representatives placed there by each of the federal agencies now active in the territory and of one or two permanent residents of Alaska, every proper purpose sought to be accomplished by this measure could be brought about without jeopardizing national and territorial interests."

COST OF OPERATING WATER PROJECT LOW

Comparison of Figures Shows Minidoka System is Run at Decreased Rate

REPUT (Special)—A statement of the change in the cost of operating irrigation projects in all parts of the country and under many different conditions has recently been prepared for the reclamation service in tables showing the figures for the twenty-six different projects operated by that organization. It is interesting to note that in spite of the fact that the South Side pumping division of the Minidoka project is supplied with water being pumped to a comparatively high elevation, and with two permanent residents of Alaska, every proper purpose sought to be accomplished by this measure could be brought about without jeopardizing national and territorial interests."

The following table shows the gradual advance in costs which has occurred during the last five years: Cost Per Acre Irrigated

Year	South Side Projects	Average
1915	$1.04	$1.01
1916	$1.71	$1.07
1917	$2.02	$2.00
1918	$2.12	$2.24
1919	$2.03	$2.40
1920	$2.27	$2.95

The data compiled by the reclamation service also shows, for the year 1920, that it cost $1.94 per acre foot to deliver water to the farms on the South Side pumping division of the Minidoka project, while the average cost of all the projects was $1.10 per acre-foot. On the projects included in the above summary, 1,059,000 acres were irrigated in 1920, of which 46,133 were on the pumping division of the Minidoka project. Some 2,840,000 acre-feet were delivered to the farms of which 183,207 were on this tract.

Wireless Phones on Automobiles

Physicians, business men or in fact anyone who owns an enclosed automobile can now equip their automobiles with a wireless telephone.

With notes thus equipped physicians could be in constant communication with their homes for emergency calls and the business man in touch with his office.

The instrument, installed in the automobile, shown above, will work successfully up to five miles and use only a small part of the auto battery current.

The two young men shown in the photograph, in experimenting, found that it was not necessary to have an antenna high up in the air, but found that the wires stretched around the top of the car were successful. Four parallel copper wires run around the top of the auto on six-inch posts fastened to the corners. In the experiments they were constantly in touch with their home provided they were in the five-mile limit.

JARBIDGE GOLD CAMP SHOWING SIGNS OF EARLY DEVELOPMENT, PLAGE HUMS WITH ANIMATION

Renewal of Activity is Noted on Every Hand with Residents Expressing Confidence in the Future Rise of the Village to Power Among the Precious Metal Producing Centers of the Country—Needs Rail Transportation

(By H. M. B.) Writing of a western junket Irwin Cobb, or some other equally celebrated humorist, said every resident of Missoula, Mont., has a mountain in his backyard for an ornament. Another writer said that was required of a resident of Boli, Cascade county, Mont. when said resident needed to replenish his household fire, was to take a pick and shovel outdoors and dig a bucketful of good grade bituminous coal.

At Jarbridge, Nev., residents do not have coal mines in their yards, but they go Missoula one better and have gold mines as well as upstanding mountains on their property.

Jarbridge was established as a gold mining camp in the year 1900 following the discovery by D. A. Horn of gold on the site. For a time the place prospered and was active, but a slump came and of late years little has been said of the camp, at least little in its favor.

Population dwindles.

At one time the place, it is said rounded 1600 people within its domain; some in the valley where in is located the town, and more in the many pockets in the surrounding mountains, which have become a veritable honeycomb of prospect holes and proven property. When the slump came and mining men found it worth more than the gain they made to get their stuff out of the camp, the census went down to almost zero. The town managed to survive, however, and in recent years has begun to "show some speed," to express the condition in a colloquialism. Today the place has more than 500 persons, and more are being added each week. All are finding employment, either in the mine workings, prospecting for minerals, boosting stock schemes, running mercantile establishments and one thing or another. Anyway everybody works, apparently, and everybody appears to be prospering. The camp looks lively and there seems to be over indication of a tremendous revival of interest in the exploitation of the big hills.

Unfortunately for the rapid development of the place—that is such a development everywhere means the prediction that it will some day become a camp of as much importance as Butte, Mont., or Goldfield, Nevada—it is far removed from rail transportation facilities and is reached only by auto freight line. The nearest railroad is Rogerson, 72 miles to the northward.

Far from Supply Base. Twin Falls and Rogerson are supply centers for Jarbridge, and all supplies and materials, except such of the latter as are native to the Jarbridge valley and hills, have to be freighted in. The only possible road reaching Jarbridge from Twin Falls and Rogerson is down the Hot Hole canyon and to the Jarbridge river trail along the swift flowing Jarbridge river. The grade down the Hot Hole canyon is four miles long and is cut on a steep pitch from top to bottom. The Jarbridge river is less precipitous, but is 12 miles in length, and no pleasure drive at the best.

Down and up these precipitous trails vehicles must pass to reach the camp which, it is generally believed will some day in the near future be more renowned than Goldfield, or any other precious metal camp in the west.

The Main Artery.

At present the town itself consists of a long string of small houses, mostly of the shack type, few boasting five rooms and a lot only one, bordering the two sides of Main street, which is about 10 ordinary blocks in length. There is one lateral street of importance, that being Bear street, which is about two blocks in length and is fringed by a lot of small houses along the Bear creek. The street runs west from the town's main artery. To the east of Main street the Jarbridge river flows, getting its rise in the mountains to the south and east.

The Jarbridge river, as it enters the settlement, is a beautiful blue mountain stream. That it loses all of its pristine loveliness after passing a few blocks through the town. Into it flow all of the tallings from the Elkhorn Junction and concentration plants, and thus is ruined forever the view, as well as a thing of scenic attraction.

Damaging Fire.

One night a couple of years ago when the populace of the place was asleep, fire broke out in a poolhall, or similar place of business, and swept out the major portion of the principal business section of the town. A big hotel valued at $40,000, went with the rest, including a mercantile place and several offices and other important institutions. There are today in the place three general stores, all doing thriving business, a pool hall, a moving picture building and a commercial club. A could demand. In fact the modernity of the Jarbridge seems sometimes somewhat inconsistent with the general character of the camp.

But it is there, with all of its 12 town, bath, office, living room, long dining room and excellently fitted kitchen. A piano is found in living room and were it not for the presence of a regulation-size billiard table, there would be ample room for a social dance in that corner of the hotel is in direct charge of Mrs. Frances Gilfoin, a charming and genial hostess, who is ably assisted in the operation of the house by her daughter, Mrs. Mabel Zellers. The hotel was primarily erected to supply a home away from home employed by the O'Connell, or perhaps it is better to use the company name, the Elkhorn Mines company, and many of these eat and sleep under the Jarbridge roof. Transients' wants are looked after at the hotel. The married men are provided with detached homes either in town or on the hill sides near the place of employment.

Has Good Hotel.

At the extreme south end of the place, and just across the Jarbridge river, the Elkhorn Mines company several years ago erected a hotel, known as the Bungalow. The building is modernly equipped with running water, electricity for light and heat, and about all the other conveniences city folk could demand. In fact the modernity of the Bungalow seems sometimes somewhat inconsistent with the general character of the camp.

But it is there, with all of its 12 town, bath, office, living room, long dining room and excellently fitted kitchen. just now is the weekly, or perhaps semi-weekly picture show. These silent drama performances are staged in the commercial club building, and get extraordinarily good patronage.

Promise of early development of the place from a mere mining camp to a permanent municipality has aroused the business men of the place to the advantages of incorporation for the place, and already plans are under way to procure a municipal charter for the town, and make a regular city of it. It is expected this incorporation will be authorized in the next few weeks, and following its receipt municipal officers will be chosen at a special election. That is the plan, and at the present time there seems little doubt that the scheme will be carried through to fruition.

CONQUEROR OF VILNA DEFILES WORLD LEAGUE

General Zeligowski, Leader of Polish Insurgents, Has Little Faith in Efforts Under Covenant to Settle Affairs

VILNA, (AP)—General Lucjan Zeligowski, who still defies the league of nations and who last fall marched into the Vilna district at the head of 20,000 or more Polish soldiers and proclaimed himself dictator of Central Lithuania, is a great believer in the old time proverb that possession is nine points of the law when it comes to law, international or otherwise.

For seven months the general has been supreme in the occupied country while the league of nations, through its military committee of control, has been endeavoring to act as mediator in the territorial dispute between Poland and Lithuania.

Aversion Is Reciprocated
The general looks upon league members who have visited the district as intruders. On the other hand, league representatives apparently view Zeligowski in the same light and have refused to deal directly with the general, all negotiations pertaining to a settlement of the Vilna affair from the one side being carried on through the Polish government in Warsaw, the Zeligowski soldiers in the meantime holding onto the fort.

"I am a Pole and Vilna is my home," General Zeligowski said to the correspondent. "I was born in Vilna. Most of my soldiers are natives of Vilna or adjacent territory. Our reasons for being here are of other kind."

"In 1919, when Poland was attacked by the Bolsheviks, I went to war for Poland, together with thousands of other Poles from the Vilna district. We fought the Bolsheviks, who in the meantime had occupied Vilna, robbed and destroyed our homes and committed atrocities upon our relatives and friends. Russians came to the assistance between Poland and the soviets, and then many conflicting reports regarding Vilna's fate.

Perfectly at Home
"I was some weeks after this that I decided to take action myself, knowing my men felt as I did in the matter. I engaged my own command as a general in the Polish army by telegraph, took command of the Vilna Polish troops and occupied the country. We received a glorified welcome, and these years we fought the Bolsheviks, who in the meantime had occupied Vilna, robbed and destroyed our homes and committed atrocities upon our relatives and friends. Russians came to the assistance between Poland and the soviets, and then many conflicting reports regarding Vilna's fate.

From the time of the ancient state of Lithuania when Vilna was the capital of that state, Vilna has been a much disputed city. In the great war and during the struggle between Poland and the Bolsheviks, Vilna was a much sought prize and changed hands many times. Within the last few years Vilna has had streets named in four different languages at various intervals. Since Vilna was occupied by Zeligowski troops, names famous in Polish history have adorned the street corners, replacing Lithuanian names after withdrawal of the Bolsheviks. In 1916 Vilna was occupied by the Germans who apparently had hopes of retaining and the Kaiser Wilhelm strasse, and "Bismark strasse", and various other German names replaced the Russian street signs.

Lithuanian Makes Peace
In the spring of 1920, when Poland was at war with the soviets, Lithuania made a separate peace with the Bolsheviks, and the treaty signed in Moscow gave Vilna, at that time occupied by the Bolsheviks, to the Lithuanians. News of the signing of this treaty created a stir throughout Poland which considered the Vilna district, about the size of the state of New Jersey, a part of ethnographical Poland.

The Poles point out to back their claim that Kuchusko, the Polish patriot and friend of America in revolutionary days, was born near Vilna, and that Joseph Pilsudski, the present Polish chief of state, and Prince Sapieha, minister of foreign affairs, and various other Polish statesmen of note were born and reared on the land now in dispute. It is also contended by the Poles that the majority of the population

A. U. in adjudging Paddock's record as official, according to Robert S. Weaver, of Los Angeles, president of the A. A. U.

In Official Hands
The watches, with supplemental evidence substantiating the time, are in the hands of Frederick W. Ballew, secretary of the A. A. U. at 144 Broadway, N. Y., who is a telegram to the University of South California at Los Angeles, informally announced recently that he "saw no reason why the Berkeley meet record should not stand."

This is the first time since 1912 that the A. A. U. has had to consider allowing a new world's record in the 220-yard event, it is said, and before granting recognition of a record the necessary steps are many.

Records Are Intricate
Following a race, the judges swear to affidavits stating all conditions were fair and equal, the times make signed statements giving the time in silver and the watches are checked at the points marked by the timers. These then are sent to the secretary of the A. A. U. in New York, together with all the affidavits, including one from the starter and a special engineer who swears the track was level, the distance exact and physical conditions as required.

Received in New York, these are considered by the secretary who makes recommendations and refers the matter to a special committee. After a few months, if favorable consideration results, the record is "allowed."

If Paddock's record stands, it will officially supersede the three former records of 21 1/2 seconds made respectively by Barney Webers in 1897, Ralph Craig in 1910 and E. J. Lippincott in 1912.

Brief Bits of Sport

Cliff, Fix, Clint Evans' preface pleases, Jones he is anxious for Jones, but does admit that he might have been twirling from the southside during that seventh round against Buba last Friday.

However, the doughy little finger says he thought he was using the regulation flapper against the Bullfinch.

Pat Shea, pitcher, who cost the Giants $12,000, has finally landed a birth. He has been sent to the St. Paul club after being turned down at draft price by all the clubs in the major leagues.

Pat was scheduled to go to the White Sox, and even started for Chicago a couple of times. Comiskey balked on the price asked, and quit fussing with McGraw over the deal. The twister goes to the Saints as part payment for Eddie Hupp, infielder.

Pitchers seem to be about all Chicago needs for his White Sox club; but in any case, how he does need them.

Al Nelson, Boise lightweight, seems to have changed his name. He is to fight under the name of Alvin Rose in Boise next Thursday night.

Nelson, or Rose, is to meet Frankie Rogan of Pueblo. The latter was knocked out recently by George Eagles of Oakland in 10 rounds.

A Chicago sports writer says the St. Louis infield, and even started for the White Sox, has no made good.

Expected somebody to pull that wheeze some of these days.

Pete Herman, former bantamweight champion, is to have a return fight with Young Montreal in Boston on May 24. Montreal has a decision over the southerner.

When the Howe circus was in Tocoletto recently a wrestling "champion" carried as an attraction for the show, took on Art Chester, a Pocatello favorite, and local champion.

The same old bunk—Chester held the circus man to a good draw, "it" said, and is also said to have copped the coin.

It's been worked in every town in the country by every circus coming along, and a bait snail to attract a round for the "after-show." The phone here always cops the coin, but what's the joker in the deck.

Sailor Freedman is to fight Dennis O'Brien and Johnny Dundee in exhibition bouts this month. He will have both then he will face Benny Leonard at Benton Harbor on July 4 for the lightweight championship of the world.

Puglekups—One record was broken in the athletic meet held at Vassar college Saturday. Miss Helen Taylor of Westport, Conn., made the 16 yard dash in 9 1/2 seconds. The previous record was 9 3/4 seconds, held by Miss E. Conant, class of 1918.

St. Paul, Minn.—Pat Shea, right-hand pitcher, has been turned over to the St. Paul club in the American Association by the New York Nationals. The past payment for Eddie Hupp, infielder, was $12,000. Shea, who won 27 and lost seven games with the Toronto team in the Inter-national league last season.

throughout Central Lithuania is Polish. While Vilna looks upon Warsaw for support and supplies General Zeligowski prefers to have the district known as Central Lithuania, and has set up his own little government. There is a representative of the Polish government who stays in Vilna and is known among the natives as the "Polish ambassador." Soon after taking over the district printed their own Central Lithuanian postage stamps, but the Polish mark has continued as the local currency.

Accessible to Poles
General Zeligowski is of the opinion that the majority of the population favors annexation to Poland but is perfectly willing that the question to determine whether Vilna should become Polish or Lithuanian may be decided by plebiscite.

But General Zeligowski, who in appearance somewhat resembles pictures of the late General H. H. Grant, has little faith in the efforts put forth by the league of nations to settle the affair.

"Frankly, I haven't any confidence in the league of nations, so far as our affairs are concerned," said the general, "and why should I have? What have they ever done, anyway? No, I have never recognized the league of nations." And then, with a twinkle in his eye, "The league has never recognized Central Lithuania, nor Zeligowski either, and I guess we can settle our own affairs, if they will let us alone."

Champ Frenchman Has Made Fortune Since World War

PARIS, (AP)—Georges Carpentier, who emerged from the war ruined and practically penniless, is now reported to be worth more than three million francs, or a little over $200,000 in real money, all which he has made since his fight with Joe Beckett.

All his property in Lievin, just outside of Lens, was destroyed during the war and while mobilized he spent what savings he had to keep his mother and family, even getting into some debts, which his share of the purse for his fight with Dick Smith in June, 1919, just evened up. Carpentier has been touring Belgium, Holland, Denmark, Sweden, Norway, Switzerland, north Africa and Spain and, under the new business management of Descamps, has been working in the paper mills. Descamps is making with Carpentier on a 40 per cent agreement.

CAPITAL ASSET GAIN IS RULED TAXABLE PROFIT

Supreme Court Sustains Government's Contentions in Appeal of La Belle Iron Works Objecting to Levy

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The government won today in the supreme court its contention that increased value of any capital assets must be considered in a corporation's profits when taxes are computed.

The court's decision was given in the appeal of La Belle Iron Works from a ruling of the treasury that one-half of the profit on the sale of land purchased for $100,000 in 1914 must be returned in the 1917 report as $100,000, and a profit tax paid on the difference.

The meaning of the act as to invested capital is clear, the court said. "It was to cover the actual cost of property, disregarding anything that does not change the form of the investment."

Hundreds of millions of dollars in excess profits taxes were involved in the case, which was characterized by the government as "the most important legal suit affecting federal finances to Arizona in several decades."

The court was unanimous in its decision except that Justice McReynolds concurred only in the result. Associate Justice Pitney read the opinion.

FEDERAL ESTATE TAX OF 1016 IS HELD VALID BY COURT

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The estate tax provided in the revenue act of 1916 was held valid today by the supreme court in ruling upon the appeal of executors of the estate of the late S. H. Henson Purdy of New York.

Estate taxes paid under state laws cannot be deducted from the net estate for the federal revenue act of 1916, the supreme court ruled today in affirming decrees of federal courts in New York in a suit brought by the executors of the estate of the late S. H. Henson Purdy.

Gay Philanderer Flees Wrath of Three Wives

John William Murray, Broadway promoter of many enterprises, has discovered that he is almost as badly off as the man without a country. Since February, 1914, Murray has had three wives with many a divorce.

His first wife was Marie E. Douglery, a war nurse, departed a few hours after the ceremony and exiled in the U. S. Marines, and that ended the matter. Anne Warwick an actress wife No. 2, and Murray were married in December 24, 1920. They lived happily together for several months, when she quit him because of his violent attacks.

Murray never divorced. Several days ago Murray met wife No. 2, embraced her and advanced the information that he was married again. When she gently asked if he was not a candidate for prison he retorted: "You would not do a thing like that to me, would you?" She has started out on an ultimatum, wife No. 3 is suing for divorce and No. 1 is in Los Angeles seeking a divorce. Murray has disappeared from New York after reported financial difficulties.

COURT DEFENDS DRY LAW AGAIN

Holds Time Limit for Ratification Does Not Invalidate Measure

WASHINGTON, D. C. (AP) — The requirement that the prohibition amendment be ratified within seven years by three-fourths of the states does not invalidate the entire measure, the supreme court today ruled. The decision was given in the appeal of J. Dillon, of San Francisco, from decisions by lower courts regarding his petition for a writ of habeas corpus, in the ground that the limitation made the amendment invalid.

"We find that proposal and ratification of an amendment are treated as succeeding acts in a common endeavor," the opinion said, "and there is a fair implication that they should be fairly contemporaneous." The court ruled formally that the prohibition amendment went into effect January 16, 1920. Dillon's alleged offense was on January 17, 1920. Article five of the constitution, makes no limitation of the ratification period, the court said, and this section covers the pending powers of congress. Congress had in mind the fact that two proposed amendments had "lain dormant for almost a century" after they were submitted, the court said, and a majority of both houses "evidently thought some limitation was necessary."

SENATOR S. P. ATHERTON VICTIM OF PNEUMONIA

Early Settler in District Yields to Death after Seven Days' Illness

Illness of a week's duration ended in the death of S. P. Atherton, former state senator, Saturday night at 10 o'clock. Death occurred at the Atherton home, 624 Eighth avenue east, from pneumonia. He was 69 years of age.

Decedent is survived by his widow, Jennie Atherton, three sons and a daughter. The sons are George, of Twin Falls; Ralph, of Hazelton; and D. T. Atherton, of Los Angeles. The daughter is Mrs. W. S. Baird, of Hazelton.

Senator Atherton was commander of the local post, Sons of Veterans, and also belonged to the Brotherhood of American Yeomen and Oddfellow lodge.

He came to the Twin Falls country from Oklahoma in the year 1908 and filed on land which was eventually sold to the O. S. L. railroad and now forms part of the townsite of Eden.

He went to the Bath district and cleared several farms which were ultimately disposed of by sale to settlers. Later he purchased land near Kimberly and disposed of these holdings. Then he bought a farm near Hazelton.

In 1916-17 Mr. Atherton served as state senator and in the campaign of 1917 entered the republican primary for nomination for governor. He was defeated by D. W. Davis, who won the gubernatorial race that year and almost lost.

Funeral services will be held from the Methodist church on Wednesday afternoon.

WRIGHTS MAKE BIG SILK PURCHASE

Ready cash has a tremendous power these days. At least this is the claim of the silk man at Wright's Ogden store, who has recently gone into the New York silk market and bought thousands of yards of the season's best silk at prices that are lower than any that have prevailed since the beginning of the war. 500 yards have been used in the window display that has attracted the attention of hundreds of women during the past few days. "These silks," says Mr. Paris, the buyer of the silk stock, "are the best values that I have seen in four years. The house from whom they were bought mads us a very attractive price with the understanding that we pay them spot cash on delivery. We have decided to sell the entire lot at a profit that will be little more than cover our cost of doing business. We expect the entire lot to be closed out in a few days."—adv.

FILIPINO INDEPENDENCE OWES LITTLE TO WILSON

Former Governor General Bo-views Record on Claims for Separation

TARLAC, Tarlac Province, P. I. (AP)—Former President Wilson made little effort to grant independence to the Philippines, it was declared here Saturday by W. Cameron Forbes, former governor general of the islands and a member of the special mission sent here by President Harding to investigate conditions. Forbes, in answer to a strong plea for independence made here, in a speech declared that although democrats were in control of congress for six years during the Wilson administration little action was taken to provide self-government for the Philippines.

Forbes declared the mission was not authorized to promise independence, but was simply here to investigate conditions and report to President Harding. The Forbes party was welcomed after the 60-mile trip from Manila, and escorted by a large crowd to the provincial capital. Before leaving Post Edward, Forbes had private interviews with a number of residents. The party continued to Bauista in Pangasinan, which it plans to join Major General Leonard Woods' party which is leaving Manila at the same time as the Forbes party.

FILIPINOS TO PENSION EX-GOVERNOR GENERAL

Francis Burton Harrison, retiring after Nearly Eight Years Service in the Islands, Beneficiary of New Law

MANILA, P. I., (AP)—Francis Burton Harrison, who has just retired as governor general of the Philippine islands, after nearly eight years service, will receive $12,000 and the pensions of the retirement act which was passed by the legislature of the Philippines several years ago.

During the period from March 6, the date of his retirement, to March 31 of this year, was $293.55. Thirty-five other monthly payments of $350 each will follow. The retirement act provides that any official who has served the government efficiently and faithfully for six years, is entitled to receive two-thirds of his last year's salary to be paid in equal monthly installments.

SUBMARINES ARE AT HAWAII

Five of Uncle Sam's Largest Submersibles Join Fleet at Pearl Harbor

HONOLULU, T. H., (AP)—Five submarines of the "G" type, Uncle Sam's latest and largest submarines, arrived at Pearl harbor recently to join the fleet of under-water craft already there. The total number of submarines now at Pearl harbor submarine base is 15, according to naval authorities here. The other ten are of the "R" type.

Old Saw Traced to Cervantes. "Dead men tell no tales" was one of the many wise old saws in the immortal "Don Quixote" of the great master of Spanish letters, Miguel de Cervantes (1547-1610), sometimes translated as "Death is dead." The words "Dead men tell no tales" also occur in a poem called "The Pilgrim of Glendoe" by the Scottish poet, Thomas Campbell (1777-1844). "Dead men tell no tales" is an old saying long current in Scotland. In Holland and in Germany they say "Dead dogs bite not." "That dead men rise up never" is a line from "The Garden of Proserpine" by the English poet Algernon Charles Swinburne (1837-1909). The meaning, in whatever form, is obvious enough: That when a man is dead, he is dangerous to nobody.

Nests of Cedar Bark. A new idea for them's nests, to keep insects out of them, is to make them of cedar bark. Bugs, as every housewife knows, strongly object to cedar. For this purpose the bark is shredded and the ends of the tree may be included with it.

Wild Things Heal Themselves. Once I found a fish arrowhead in the breast of a passenger plover, writes a student of natural history, it had been there for years, for the wound had long since healed and the bird was plump and fat. At another time I found three buckshot hanging inside the breastbone of a wild goose. An injury of the same proportion to either of these must have resulted fatally in the case of man. The buck-shot would be equivalent to three leaden bullets of an ounce and a quarter each, penetrating his breast and entering his lungs. Yet the bird's treacherous and his knowledge of healing herbs effected a cure where man would probably have died. So, all in all, it is very safe to say that birds and animals can heal themselves and man is often able to learn much from their ways.

Faith of St. Thomas. It was in the twelfth century that the feast of St. Thomas was instituted, and in connection with the practice of "going a-roving" on that day there was a kind of custom in vogue—the Advent images—consisting of two dolls dressed the one to represent the Saviour and the other the Virgin Mary. During the week before Christmas they were carried about the country by a poor woman, who, in return for their exhibition, expected a halfpenny. It was considered the height of ill luck to refuse this. The bearers of the images sang a song descriptive of the seven joys which the virgin mother experienced. If no household was visited by the image-bearers before Christmas eve it was considered to presage misfortune. This saved stick to the expression, "as unadvent as the man who has seen no Advent images."—Chicago Journal.

Beating the Bachelor. In Sicily the fir tree is unknown as a Christmas adjunct, but the very ludicrous custom of "beating the bachelor" is observed by the women. All of the unmarried men in the village are driven into the church after mass by the churchwarden and men and run about the sacred edifice and beaten until they declare (often falsely) that they will wed some other Christmas come around.

"As Fine as Silk." Some New York merchants were gathered around a luncheon table talking silk. A silk merchant admitted conditions with him were "rotten," following which his right-hand neighbor, a leather dealer, remarked that his business was "as fine as silk."—Boston News Bureau.

Seemed Natural Question. Lowell had been told that when the sun comes up here it was getting dark in China. Early one morning the Chinese laundryman called at the back door. Loudly opened the door and his face was driven into "Did you put your children to bed before you left home?"

POLLOCK JURY FAILS TO GET FINAL VERDICT

Vota Said to Have Stood 8 to 6 from Saturday Night to This Morning

After deliberating from 3:30 Saturday afternoon the district court jury impeached in the A. D. Pollock case at 9:30 o'clock this morning, announced disagreement. The 12 men were summoned before Judge Babcock and after announcing failure to reach an agreement were dismissed from service in the case. The jury explained the action would not be taken up again this term.

Intimation around the courthouse this morning bore the impression that the jury stood six for conviction and against six against almost from the first ballot.

A. D. Pollock was tried last week on a state charge of forgery, the information filed against him alleging Babcock, vice president of the Bank of Hansen, had forged the name of his father-in-law, O. P. Eiler, in a promissory note in 1919 to make security for a federal reserve bank loan. The defendant made no denial on the stand of writing the note, but stated it was done on authority of Eiler, at the time of his arrest, and in the witness stand, denied having given such authority.

Immediately after dismissal of the jury in this case this morning, Defendant Pollock was placed under arrest to answer a further charge, that of endorsement of bank checks without authority.

The case was heard by Judge Lawrence Hansen, president of the Bank of Hansen, who alleges that Defendant Pollock made away with promissory notes to the amount of $5,000. There are two counts in this information. On preliminary hearing Judge O. P. Davall, in the probate court this morning, Pollock entered a plea of guilty and was ordered to furnish $5,000 bonds for appearance. He will be tried in the probate court at 10 o'clock Friday morning.

EMANUEL IBARA FOUND TO BE IRRESPONSIBLE

Mexican who Stabbed Ackerman to Death is Pronounced Insane by Jury

Emanuel Ibara, alias Francisco Stover, Mexican, thirty years of age, was pronounced insane by a jury at the state hospital for the insane at Blackfoot, who was acquitted of the murder of G. S. Ackerman, traveling salesman, was taken into the district court this morning under guard for insanity, and held at the state hospital. The jury's verdict was unanimous.

The Mexican on March 12, this year, struck Ackerman in the eye with a building knife as the salesman was standing on the street. There was no provocation and the Mexican made no attempt to escape arrest. Ackerman died 17 hours later.

They say that headless horsemen used to ride through England and that hounds even now fly above the rattled-around mountain top of Ireland, but it is interesting to note that a photon sewing machine into a circle of the supernatural. Scientists, philosophers and spiritualists of Portugal are trying to explain the "ghost of a strange sound first heard three months ago in a house on Rua de Nova Almeida" and that it was heard at midnight and those who heard it believe that it is caused by the soul of a seamstress, doomed to haunt the world to expiate a sin. The opinion here will rather be that one of the supernatural agencies is sewing a machine company is seeking free publicity.

CANNOT CONTRIBUTE FUNDS FOR DEFEENSE OF LOOSESE DAUGHTER

Mrs. W. J. Trueblood, Heart-Stricken Parent of Lyda Meyer-Southard, Saying She Expresses Sentiment of Husband, Tells of Responsibilities Due Other Members of Family—'Not a Dollar for This Case,' She Asserts

Expressing a sentiment she said was entertained by her husband, Mrs. W. J. Trueblood, addressing a News representative on Saturday, declared the family would contribute nothing to the defense of Lyda Trueblood Meyer, otherwise known as Lyda Meyer-Southard, who into he brought from Honolulu to answer charge of poisoning her fourth husband Edward Meyer last week.

"If Lyda is guilty she must suffer the consequences," Mrs. Trueblood stated.

"Do you consider her guilty?" the doctor was asked.

"I cannot say so to that; but if she is guilty we cannot help her. We have others whose welfare must be looked after," Mrs. Trueblood declared.

Mrs. Trueblood referred to the three junior members of the family, ranging in age from 7 to 15 years.

The statements were made when the newspaperman interviewed the Truebloods on their way to the jail, where they were held in the jail at Twin Falls.

Blow Hard to Bear.

"We have had a very hard blow, but we have taken little time to discuss the situation, but Mr. Trueblood said on Friday night we could put no money up for a lawyer," she announced.

She stated, too, that after the Meyer trial from the sudden death of Meyer last fall had died down, without information reaching them of further investigation of the case and her husband's name.

"It was a severe shock to us when the newspaperman interviewed me," Mrs. Trueblood said.

LARGE FAMILY IS BROUGHT UP BY TRUEBLOODS

Mother Tells Interesting Story of Children—Lyda is Pet Name for Ann Eliza

The baptismal name of Lyda Trueblood Meyer, held in Honolulu at Twin Falls authorities on charge of murder, is Ann Eliza, according to the woman's mother, Mrs. W. J. Trueblood, of this vicinity.

Mrs. Trueblood explained that the name "Lyda" is merely an abbreviation or derivation of the name Eliza, given her when she was a child which she clung throughout the years that have passed since infancy.

Ann Eliza Trueblood is the third child of eight born to W. J. and Mrs. Trueblood, four having been born since the parents came to the Twin Falls district 16 years ago. The children range in age from 23 to 7 years.

Oliver Trueblood, aged 25, a merchant, lives in the town of Chippewa Falls, Wis. He is the eldest of the family. The youngest is Jeannette, aged 7. Ann Eliza, or Lyda, will be 20 years of age on October 11, Lyda spent two years in the Chippewa public schools, quitting her education at the conclusion of the eighth grade.

Successful Farmer.

Mr. and Mrs. Trueblood are natives of Missouri. He is 37 years of age and she 32. They came to Twin Falls county in 1905 to purchase a farm near the town of Chippewa Falls, Wis. The farm is located between Kimberly and Hansen, or about 12 miles east of Twin Falls. This farm they rented and proposed while occupying the land, at the time of their departure from Chippewa Falls, that they would return to Twin Falls and purchase a farm in Oregon.

Mr. Trueblood took up a quarter section of virgin land one mile south of Tiglac station, which farm was occupied and improved until last fall. He sold it to H. V. Shuckey, who is a good farmer. The farm is regarded as one of the best, both from point of location and productivity on the Salmon section. The farm residence is a large, commodious, four-story building. The barn is one of the largest in the country. Other buildings are in keeping with the two major ones. It is proverbial among Salmon farmers that no matter how big a man might be for others W. J. Trueblood was sure to get a job. Trueblood is regarded as one of the best farmers in northern Idaho now.

After selling out last fall Trueblood moved his family to Blackfoot, Oregon, expecting to locate in that state. Nothing in Oregon land quite suited Mr. Trueblood and after five weeks he returned to the Twin Falls office. This year he is living in the town of Blackfoot, by Frank Cahill, which, with Ray Berry, he is working on shares. This farm adjoins the old Trueblood homestead on the west.

Children Born to the Truebloods, other than those noted, are: Blanche Trueblood, wife of J. W. Quilley, resident of Camas, Ore., will be 31 years of age on August 19.

Everett Bryan Trueblood, 25 next October. He is with his brother Oliver, the mercantile business in Chippewa Falls. Everett served on year in naval service at the Great Lakes training station.

Burch Trueblood, wife of Irwin Sweet, Twin Falls High School, was 21 years of age on April 10. She is a graduate of the Twin Falls high school of the 1910 class. She married last year, and with her husband, is located on a district farm.

Oscar Trueblood, aged 15 last December, is in his freshman year at the Twin Falls high school.

Wayne Trueblood, aged 11, and Jeannette Trueblood, aged 7, are with their parents on the Salmon farm.

COMMISSIONERS MEETING.

The new board of highway district commissioners held session again this morning for the purpose of transacting such business as could regularly come before them. The chief matters looked after were allowance of wage claims. Payroll for the past three weeks were authorized and salary warrants or orders drawn. No change in the salaries of the district officers or field personnel. The board is in session again this afternoon.

SALMON RIVER CANALS RIGHT TO WATER

Supreme Court Issues Writ Commanding Company to Make Deliveries

In the case of Thomas Sanderson against the Salmon River Canal company, the supreme court this morning issued an alternative writ of mandamus directing the canal company to deliver water to Thomas Sanderson at whatever time before the court next Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

This information was received this morning by E. M. Wolfe, attorney who has been acting in handling the case for the defendant canal company.

Judge T. Bailey Lee on Friday in district court at Jerome entered a decision in the case of T. Sanderson and H. Crookham against the Salmon River Canal company denying issuance of a writ of mandamus to compel delivery of irrigation water to lands held by the plaintiff, which are outside the protected or retained portion of the Salmon river project.

The plaintiffs claimed a vested right in the canal project, and that the construction company with its riparian interest in the Salmon irrigation system and furnish a fixed quantity of water.

The plaintiffs, in resisting this application, pleaded plaintiff's right to water must arise from reclamation ultimately approved by the United States government through patent issued for the land reclaimed, and declared the construction company (not directly a party to this action) powerless to pass title by its water without the consent of the United States government of the original project, and that the secretary of the interior has refused to issue patent, therefore, wholly defeating plaintiff's right to any water whatsoever.

The court cites numerous authorities and said: "Should plaintiff's claim of vested right under a contract be up held, said construction company, as an inadequate water supply might be apportioned among settlers in such negligible quantities as would render the entire enterprise a worthless failure, and would defeat the purpose of congress in reclamation." Also that the matter was one to be settled by the state in equity judging all parties in interest.

The court further said that the order of the court was "Manifestly, plaintiff's rights cannot be determined on an application for writ of mandamus and the motion to strike and application must be denied."

This decision would seemingly support the order submitted in Chamblee, state department of reclamation directing Salmon River Canal company to limit delivery of water to 25,000 acres or shares in the land retained in the project, but the matter has been known as the Whitfin arrangement, for the average therein classified as not irrigable acreage.

STORE BALL TEAM SCORES SHUT-OUT OVER ROCK CREEK

Fix Pitches Superiorly and Gets Rare Support Against Visiting Club

Scoring eight runs for themselves, Idaho Department Store ball players yesterday about the Rock Creek team in a game played on the old city park now partially dismantled. The game was sparsely attended. Fix on the hill for the locals, pitched a remarkable game and held the opposition out of the park for the start. His support, too, was excellent, and when he did have a wobbly time of it the men behind him tightened and pulled him through.

T. P. Falls landed on the visiting twirler hard in the first out, helping three runs on good hits, including some by error. A run was scored in the second, third and fifth rounds, and two in the eighth. Little was battery made to Fix.

MORALE IS REQUIRED IN BUILDING OF CITY

Dr. E. L. White, of Methodist Church, Addresses Kiwanis on Important Topic

Neither wealth of resources nor natural or artificial advantages are sufficient in themselves in making a city, but there must be added to them something of the spirit that is known in the military service as morale together with a recognition for character wherever it is found and community cooperation toward a common end, declared Dr. E. L. White, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, speaking today before the Kiwanis club as the guest of the organization at its regular weekly meeting and luncheon in the Regent hotel.

Dr. White defined a city as a great or less number of homes and declared that the same elements of confidence, mutual respect and cooperation are essential to the successful building of a city.

Natural advantages surrounding Twin Falls justify the belief that the city within a few years will have a population of 30,000 or 40,000 persons, Dr. White declared.

The audience prize today was donated by E. D. Kelsey of the Kinney Wholesale company, and won by W. T. Lovell of the Danforth Brothers Shoe company.

PLAN MILITARY FUNERAL FOR PRIVATE B. W. MEIGS

Logion Post Makes Arrangements to Honor Soldier who Made Supreme Sacrifice

Next Sunday the second military funeral for a Twin Falls soldier who made the supreme sacrifice during the recent world war, will be held here over the remains of Bert W. Meigs, a supply sergeant, C. E. Siles and C. O. Meigs. The body was received here yesterday, having been forwarded by the federal government from France. The remains lie in state at Grossman's mortuary chapel.

The services will be in charge of Twin Falls post, American Legion, of officers of which have issued a special request to all veterans of the late war to participate in the military ceremony. All veterans are to meet at the undertaker's chapel at 9:30 for the march to the Presbyterian church, where the services will be conducted at 10 o'clock. An invitation has been extended to members of all patriotic societies to attend the funeral. Burial will be in Twin Falls cemetery.

Port W. Meigs received his death wounds in battle against the Germans at the outskirts of Augsburg, 200 or 400 yards from the Escent river on November 3, 1918. He died November 2, C. O. Meigs, uncle of the dead soldier, has received the following historical sketch by an eye-witness to the tragic event:

"Private Bert W. Meigs was struck while passing through a farm patch at the outskirts of Aunderman, 300 or 400 yards from the Escent river. He remained to Sergeant Anderson just before he was hit, 'I took as if I were going to be fortunate and get clear through.' The sergeant left them and the next thing he knew stretcher bearers were taking Private Meigs down to a hospital in a field hospital at Waerburgh, and thence to evacuation hospital No. 5 at Stadion, at which place the writer happened to arrive from Waerburgh on November 3, to see what Ninety-first men had died there. Among the deaths recorded was that of Private Meigs, gunshot wound in the right leg, easting, fractured leg, died at 2:30 a. m., November 3. His leg was so badly shattered by the shell that he could not survive. Stated he about 20 miles from where he was being treated in a field hospital. The division was withdrawn on November 4 and although it was sent to the evacuation hospital on November 5, the armistice had been signed before it could catch up with the Germans."

Private Meigs' parents died while he was yet young, and he and two brothers were left in the family of Mrs. C. E. Siles, an aunt living at 441 East Main avenue.
