CAPITAL MOURNS DEATH OF CHIEF JUSTICE WHITE

Senate Adjourns and Names a Committee to Attend Funeral Services; Obsequies to be Private at Catholic Church

WASHINGTON, D. C., (AP)—Funeral services for the late Edward Douglas White, chief justice of the United States, who died early today at a hospital here, will be private, it was announced today. They will be held at ten o'clock Saturday at St. Matthews Catholic church, on Illinois island avenue, and will be conducted by the rector, the Right Rev. Monsignor Ier. In attendance will be in Oak Hill cemetery, Georgetown.

Justices of the supreme court will act as honorary pallbearers and members of the cabinet and other high government officials will attend.

Senate Adjourns.

An hour mark of respect to the late chief justice, the senate, which is in a brief recess, adjourned today immediately after convening, following announcement by Senator Cummings, president pro tem, of Mr. White's death, and a brief address by Senator Lee of Massachusetts, the republican leader. The house was not in session today, having adjourned yesterday.

Names of Taft and Hughes Figure Prominently in Speculation at Capital

WASHINGTON, D. C., (AP)—The choice of a successor to Edward Douglas White, as chief justice of the United States, was one of the most widely discussed subjects today in official circles of the capital. Although the speculation centered chiefly about the name of former President William Howard Taft, there were many indications that President Harding was far from a definite, and might find the selection a difficult one.

Delay is Indicated.

All indications pointed to considerable delay in making the appointment. Another whose name has been linked repeatedly with the highest judicial post is Secretary Hughes, of the state department, a member of the court until he retired in 1916 to accept the republican nomination for the presidency.

This circumstance which now generally is regarded as a barrier to such a transfer is the prominence attached to the name of Mr. Hughes as secretary of state in view of the important phase through which the nation's foreign affairs are passing.

In respect to Mr. Taft, some republican senators were scolding today the latter controversy they will still limit as president at the time he promulgated his rule against appointment of justices who had passed the 69 years mark. It was described as an entirely

FRANCE INSISTS ON EXECUTION OF THE VERDUN TREATY

France insists upon the execution of the Versailles treaty in regard to the frontier between Germany and Poland in Upper Silesia, Premier Briand declared last night upon receiving news of the British suggestion. He stated his declaration of last Sunday when answering the address of Prime Minister Lloyd George before the House of Commons on Friday that invasion of Silesia by German troops would not be tolerated by France.

M. Briand said he did not see the desirability of meeting Lloyd George before the House of Commons on Friday that the Silesian plebiscite had been received from the inter-allied commission at Oppeln.

"If, too, want to see the treaty carried out," said the premier to the House of Commons on Friday, "the Daily mail," "but there is nothing in the treaty which stipulates that all the rich mining districts in Silesia must go to the Germans while the Poles will get what is left."

When the chamber of deputies reconvened today after a recess of three weeks from the Briand cabinet was expected to be the center of a storm of attack. Friends of the ministry asserted it would receive a great majority when the question of a vote of confidence was put.

Interpellations on Blotter

Twelve interpellations were inscribed on the blotter of Raoul Perot, president of the chamber, when the session opened.

René Viviani, former premier, was prepared to give an account of his recent mission to America.

Premier Briand had declared he would not make any statement until he had heard all the interpellations, when he would make a comprehensive reply. It was not believed the putting of the vote of confidence would be reached before Saturday.

Count Position Retained

The address of Prime Minister Lloyd George on the Upper Silesian question and payment by Germany of the first reparation installment of 50,000,000 gold marks were said by the premier's supporters to have solidified his position.

DYING REQUEST OF HUSBAND IS REFUSED; CLAIM

Lyda Meyer Southard, Alleged Poisoner, Said to Have Declined to Attend Lewis

That Ann Eliza (Lyda) Meyer Southard, alleged poisoner of five men, and accused of causing the death of her two-year-old daughter, displayed little interest in the sufferings of her third husband, Harlan C. Lewis, and refused to answer the appeals of the dying man when he asked that she attend his bedside, is the statement contained in the Billings Gazette.

Lewis died in Billings, July 6, 1919. He was married to Lyda Trueblood McMillan on March 10, 1910. The body was exhumed and, according to the autopsy, chemical analysis revealed (the presence of arsenic in the stomach and intestines, as well as the hair of the dead man.

Body Taken Up.

Exhumation of Lewis' body was conducted under the direction of Frank L. Stephan, Twin Falls district prosecutor, with Deputy Sheriff V. J. Ormsby, Dr. Hal G. Bieler of Twin Falls, Dr. James H. Wertham, County Attorney E. E. Collins and Coroner Frank Smith, the latter three of Billings, attending. Dr. Bieler made the official analysis of the specimens taken from the body.

According to the Gazette Dr. Wertham, who aided in the Lewis investigation, said it was determined during the course of the Billings investigation that the poison had been extracted from ordinary "poison fly paper."

The poison, Dr. Wertham said, can be given without detection in whiskey, and it is possible that the poison might have been administered in such a manner in this instance.

Lewis, the Gazette says, made a business trip to Hailey, Mont., and he returned suffering from what was believed to be ptomaine poison, contracted from eating salad. Later this developed into acute septicemia and he died at a local hospital on the evening of the day he was removed there.

Husband Makes Appeal.

It is said that when he knew he had only a short time to live, he sent a message to his wife asking her to visit him, and that she refused. Ten or 15 days after the funeral the widow left for Twin Falls, the Gazette reports.

Lewis was born in Wisconsin where his parents and two sisters now reside. He was about 31 years of age.

Further in connection with Lewis and his death the Gazette has the following:

"Lewis was truck salesman for F. B. Connelly Motor company. A few days following her husband's death Mrs. Lewis left Billings for Twin Falls, Idaho, and at the time there was some suspicion expressed as to the mysterious and sudden death of Lewis.

Lewis came to Twin Falls in April of 1918 from Stockton, Cal., and lived at the Cushman home for a year. He and the woman were married in Denver, returning to Billings, they roomed at the Kennedy hotel. A short time after the marriage he obtained an insurance policy for $5000."

STATE PHYSICIAN WARNS AGAINST POISON PAPER

Utah Authority Condemns Use of Arsenic to Kill Pests—Gives New Formula

In connection with the case of Lyda Southard, the alleged Idaho poisoner, who is said to have extracted arsenic from common fly paper, Dr. T. H. Beatty, secretary of the Utah state board of health, has issued a statement condemning the use of such fly papers.

Dr. Beatty says that fly papers are often used to kill flies, and are a constant menace. Such fly papers, according to the doctor, should be marked "poison" by druggists and chemists. He urges that other methods than the use of fly paper be employed to kill flies. His statement says in part: "The use of fly paper containing arsenic is dangerous to all persons and its use is advised against by the state board of health.

The use of this arsenical fly paper is dangerous to children, who might accidentally drink from the vessel containing the poisoned water which is poured over the paper, and numerous instances of poisoning from this have been recorded.

"The state board of health strongly advises against the use of the fly papers containing arsenic and urges upon all in view of the season now here when the fly pest is on, to use another kind of fly poison. The board suggests and advises the use of the following to kill off the pest, and which is harmless to human beings: Two teaspoonfuls of formalin in a pint of sweetened water, poured over bread placed in a vessel. This is death to flies, but harmless to the people."

CUMBERLAND CHURCH IN CONVENTION IN MISSOURI

"Bible Has Been Lost." Declares Moderator Corner in Opening Sermon

GREENFIELD, Mo., (AP)—The ninety-first general assembly of the Cumberland Presbyterian church began here today with the largest attendance in several years. A number of Chinese and a large representation of Choctaw Indians were present.

An amendment to the constitution of the church proposing the elimination of all reference to sex constitutions one of the most important issues before the assembly.

Delegates pointed out that for some years many prelaties and church sessions have been ordaining women to the ministry, eldership and deaconate. Such a practice, however, is not authorized by the constitution.

The world war, the growing divorce rate, juvenile crime, crooked politics and questionable business methods are part-of-the-price being paid for turning away from the teachings of the bible, the Rev. J. E. Cornter of Diversburg, Tenn., the moderator, asserted in his opening sermon. He declared that the bible has been lost."

BENSON DEEMES ISSUE INVOLVED IN MARINE WAGE

Insists Upon Necessity for Reduction of Labor Costs as Prerequisite to Continuance of Shipping

NEW YORK, (AP)—Whether the "arbitrary exerts of power under leadership" is to be permitted to do the purpose of the American people to maintain a merchant marine under their own flag is the fundamental issue in the present controversy over wages of marine wages, Chairman Benson of the shipping board declared in an address here Wednesday before the National Association of Manufacturers.

Union Heads Uncomprehending. Assembling union heads had shown a "uncomprehending attitude" on the question of the 15 per cent wage reduction and, while presenting many "irrelevant questions, had reduced every clause to its bare bones," Chairman Benson reiterated his determination to insist upon the wage cut as "not only justified but imperative."

Shipping Reports Encouraging. Reports from all of our sailing districts continue to be encouraging. The movement of ships is going steadily on. A remarkable endorsement of the position of the shipping board has come through the collection of marine wage which has just taken place in Great Britain, the British scale being reduced about $12.15 per month. As nearly as can be estimated, the average reduction approximates the 15 per cent reduction proposed here.

New Scale in Effect. "The new reduced wage scale is in effect" for all of our sailing districts, "and the shipping board will continue to make use of all its resources to keep the ship moving and prevent the success of any effort to delay the permanent reestablishment of the American merchant marine."

A Waterfall. Where water takes its first leap from the top, it is cool and collected, and uninteresting, and mathematical; but it is when it finds that it has got to a scrape, and has farther to go than it thought for, that its character comes out; it is then that it begins to writhe and twist, and sweep out, zone after zone, in wider stretching as it falls, and to send down the rocket-like lance-pointed, whirling shaft at its sides, sounding for the bottom.—John Ruskin.

The Impassive. A Kansas judge says a minimum length of courtship should be fixed by law to prevent hasty marriages. The judge may know a lot about law and the power of the courts and what ought to be done to regulate society, but it's a clinch he doesn't know much about the impossibility of preventing from getting married, two people who have made up their minds to marry.

FLOGGING FOR BANDITS

An flogging proposal, to say the least, is the bill passed by the Delaware senate increasing penalties for the crime of highway robbery. Under the proposed law a convicted highway robber will be sentenced to receive "40 lashes on the bare back," to serve not less than 20 years' imprisonment, and to pay a fine of $500.

Instead of yielding salutary results,
whipping in connection with a long term of imprisonment would be mere infliction of cruelty. Authorities of Delaware, where the whipping post has been used as a corrective of minor offenders for many years, understand this. The humiliation of having been whipped, nor the physical suffering of the thrashed, deters repetition of offenses. No man who has been flogged can hold up his head among his kind.
He is despised by his fellows and feels his inferiority. According to the formula of the Delaware judiciary, whip a man and turn him loose if you want to be rid of him. He will slink away and give you no more trouble. But keep him in prison after the flogging and that portion of his punishment is soon forgotten.

This theory has the weight of being founded on the observation of judges who have sentenced scores of men to the whipping post. If it is correct the Delaware bill should be amended so that there would be no flogging of the highway robbers, or whipping should be their sole punishment. Once flogged,
they would give Delaware a wide berth.
Thus would the state be accomplishing at minimum expense the ultimate object of punitive laws—the protection of the people within a given jurisdiction against crimes.

Humanity and general public policy

urge widespread objection to whipping any prisoner. But it is Delaware's own business, whether she shall cling to barbarous methods of punishment.
If she uses the whipping post she might as well employ it to the highest public advantage.

OPINIONS
Reprinted

The Citizen (Salt Lake): Customer
and employer ownership is the greatest solvent of public relations troubles,
and is destined to supplant public demand for public ownership.

Puertorico Tribune: Cheap goods represent nothing but low labor and price until made possible by quantity production. Restricting output defeats
the object sought by those who practice
it, namely, the making of more jobs. It reduces the numbers employed
because the higher prices go to the fewer prices come into the market. Therefore
all who have jobs should go to work
the more diligently in order that there may be a greater demand for
workmen.

The Citizen (Salt Lake): It is essential to keep in mind the change of policy made by Mr. Hughes as soon as he took office. He went back of the treaty of Versailles and took the position that our fundamental rights are sacred. It reduces the numbers employed
because the higher prices go to the fewer
prices come into the market. Therefore
all who have jobs should go to work
the more diligently in order that
there may be a greater demand for
workmen.

Leviathan Tribune: The fact, however that the Soviet regime have had to concede to capitalism not only the right to do business, but also the means with which to carry on that business is one of the interesting developments in the decay of the red system of Russia.

Hubb Republican: The feature of the federal farm loan act exempting federal farm loan bonds from taxation
is unfair to private farm banks,
which will always have to en-ure the bulk of the farm loans and it is unfair to the general taxpayer. The fact that these bonds in no way injure the working of the act and it would place one of the loopholes now used for tax dodging by big investors.

October—A Definition.
Riley's poem had been read to the children on numerous occasions until they were familiar with many of them, but I took four-year-old Bob-ert to show what a word painter the poet was really was. While out walking with his mother in the early fall he kicked up the leaves to his heart's content, then turning to her,
he said: "I tell you, mother, 'Old October' knocks me out."

Sail-Surfboards Popular on the Beaches.

The latest in beach sports is the sailsurfboard, which has made its appearance on the California beaches. Miss Katherine Ferrin is shown with her sail surfboard off the Ocean Park, Cal.

"Giving His Face."

Carl was afraid of dogs, yet he wanted to appear brave when with his sister. One day he was out walking with his grandmother and sister Margaret.
Two dogs appeared on the other side of the street. Carl, wanting to display his bravery, began to whistle, and one of the dogs came bounding over. Carl became frightened and ran to his grandmother for protection, who told him that he had whistled for the dog
and now he shouldn't be afraid. "But, grandmother, I didn't whistle for this
dog. I wanted the other one," he said.

Two Reasons for Planting Trees.

Plant trees in farm groves to gain
the double advantage of stopping erosion and of providing valuable timber. In some parts of the country the locust tree, which furnishes one of the most durable woods for fence posts, is an excellent tree to plant for both purposes. In other regions the native shortleaf pine is recommended.
Both grow rapidly, and in a few years either will form a complete protective cover for the gully, besides being valuable for its wood.—Youth's Companion.

Oh, Much Better!

Better to have a policeman call you down than take you up; better to have him bow you out than haul you
in.—Boston Transcript.

Usefulness of Cedar Chests.

Cedar is used in various forms for repelling insects. The chips from pep-er factories are distilled for their oil or ground up and sold for use in protecting rugs and woolen garments from moths. The resistance to moths of chests made from Tennessee red cedar and Spanish cedar is widely advertised. But the resistance to insect pests is due not so much to the cedar odor as to the fact that such chest closets are well made with light covers and are thus physically exclusive.

Novel Pistol.

A Frenchman has perfected the invention of a "poison pistol." If one is not permitted to carry firearms, a poison pistol will do the work as efficiently. It is like an ordinary gun in appearance but without bullets or cartridges. The handle of the gun contains a poison gas fluid. If the trigger is pressed a thin stream of the poison fluid shoots out and acts instantly.

From a Selfish Viewpoint.

"Auntie," said Marjorie, "I'm glad you never married." Auntie asked the boy why she said that. "Oh, if you had a man to look after, you wouldn't have half so much time to be good to me."

Absent-Mindedness

Interest in what one is doing and the necessity of doing it within a given time go far toward compelling concentration of thought and attention. Power of concentration is, in fact, so common a possession that it is often given into absent-mindedness, absorption in one line of thought leading to neglect of others. Absent-mindedness is frequently encountered, but people do not always think of it as an accompaniment of concentration.

United States Seal.

The seal of the United States was decided upon June 29, 1782. The obverse is the familiar eagle bearing cagle, arrows, olive branch, etc. The reverse, which has never been cut as part of the seal, shows an unfinished pyramid, above which is an eye in a blue triangle. The lowest course of the pyramid bears the Roman numeral MDCCLXXVI. Beneath on a golden scroll is the motto: "Novus Ordo Seclorum" (A new era in the ages)
and above the pyramid is the motto
"Annuit Coeptis" (He prospers our beginnings).

UNITED CHURCH IS PROPOSED TO PRESBYTERIANS

Assembly of Southern Sect Meeting in St. Louis Takes Up Plan for Unification of Various Denominations

ST. LOUIS, Mo., (AP)—A plan of union of all Presbyterian churches is set forth in a proposal to be made to the general assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States (Southern), which opened here today.

The proposal is the result of "three years of conference between committees of the Presbyterian Church in the United States, and committees of other Presbyterian and Reformed churches."

Retain Partial Autonomy
The proposition under the "Constitution of the Presbyterian Reformed Churches in America." Under its each constituent church would retain its autonomy in creed, government and discipline.

The proposed union of the "Lutheran Church of Christ" through "The United Assembly of the Presbyterian Reformed Churches in America."

The proposition will be considered at the respective general assemblies of the various Presbyterian denominations this year, delegates explain.

The work of the united assembly would include unification of the work of the missionary, educational and benevolent agencies of the various constituent bodies. The proposed assembly would constitute a board of administration, peace and correspondence among all congregations and jurisdictions of the "constituent churches," and would "act as administrative and judicial agency of the unit body."

Unitize Missionary Effort
Explaining the administrative powers of the assembly, the constitution says:

"The United Assembly shall have power to create and superintend agencies for its work in foreign missions, home missions, education, ministerial relief, the evangelization of the negro, stewardship, and other missionary, educational and benevolent work."

"The united assembly, through its administrative agencies, shall study the methods and operations of the various missionary, educational and benevolent agencies, and shall recommend to the constituent churches methods of unifying their common work in the interest of greater harmony and efficiency."

"The united assembly shall have authority to propose any other action in reference to the administrative work of the church at such action shall become binding only when adopted in the regular way by each of the constituent churches."

World Formulate Rules
The world assembly shall have power to formulate rules of unity to govern the relations between synods, presbyteries or classes, wherever their jurisdiction covers the same territory, and to recommend them to the constituent churches for adoption. Whenever an issue on a question of unity arises between two of the constituent churches which have adopted the rules proposed by the united assembly, the question at issue shall be submitted to the united assembly, whose decision shall be final and shall be let to effect through the constituent churches."

The regular meetings of the proposed assembly would be biennially and at alternate times the general secretary, moderator, stated clerk and treasurer.

The membership of the proposed assembly would consist of eight representatives from each of the constituent churches for each 100,000 communicants up to 200,000, and four for each 100,000 in excess of that number. The membership would be half ministers and half elders.

Science Conquering Disease.
One curious point which is shown to insurance tables is that those "organic diseases" are now being cured in a remarkably life-saving period from 10 to 20 years later than they did 10 years ago. Medical science has, of course, done a lot for the race in the way of lengthening human life, but sanitary science has done more. Zoonotic or infectious diseases are being slowly but steadily conquered by improved water supply, drainage and housing.

From the Saxon.
Wife and woman spring from the same source, both being derived from the Saxon "wefan," Danish "voeste" meaning one who was at the distaff. Dryden referred to Queen Anne "a distaff on the throne." From the same idea springs our word "spinster" applied to an unmarried woman. While a woman was still spinning her wedding clothes she was a "wifely spinster" when she was finally and permanently married she became a "wife" who had already worn her allotted task.

To Bore a Conical Hole Through Wood.
When you have a conical hole in a wooden nail or for a handle hole in a wooden nut, or for a hole in a wooden screw, the best way to bore it is to use a drift or a conical bit and begin boring at the side where the smaller end of the hole is wanted. The larger end of the cutter lip being angular, the cutter will gradually draw itself out from the body of the wood, and when the larger end of the bit goes into the wood—Popular Science Monthly.

ALL STATES ARE SUPPORTING PRESIDENT HARDING'S URGE FOR CONTINUED FEDERAL AID

Department of Highways Informs People of Idaho of Need of Assistance if Roads are to be Permanently Constructed and Maintained— Executive Committee Drafts Bill for Congress Covering Establishment of Permanent Federal Policy

The state highway departments of the 48 states are unanimously behind President Harding's demand for continued federal co-operation with the states in building highways, based on a system of road funds in character and maintenance by daily care with the state funds, is the statement contained in an announcement by the association of state highway officials in an article prepared on the question of future federal aid.

As the servants of the people who pay the taxes, whether through state or federal funds, charged with the proper expenditure of these funds despite pressure from petty local interests or from those who would build only a certain kind of road and limited to a mileage to gain some personal end, these men of good sense have such a firm grasp of a sane middle ground of a constructive character upon which the state and federal governments can establish a permanent policy, the article says.

Lawrence C. Harding, executive committee of this organization of state highway officials spent several days perfecting a bill which has been under general discussion for some time. After a personal conference with President Harding, Secretary Wallace, Congressman Downey, ranking member of the roads committee of the house, and Senator Townsend, chairman of the post roads committee of the senate, he has submitted to the congress a bill which he believes meets not only the present conditions, but is also forward looking and will make operative a system not only for the roads, but to augment the transportation facilities of interstate commerce and aid in the national defense.

Conserve Federal Funds
According to a fixed policy President Harding's statement in his message that:

"With the principle of federal participation acceptably established, probably never to be abandoned, it is important to exert federal influence in developing comprehensive plans looking to the promotion of commerce and apply our expenditures in the surest and most profitable public return for money expended."

They propose that:

"In approving projects to receive federal aid the secretary of agriculture shall require that such projects as will expedite the completion of an adequate and connected system of roads, interstate in character. Before projects are approved, each state through its state highway department shall select or designate not to exceed seven per cent of the total mileage of said state as shown on the maps of the state highway department at the time of the passage of this act. Upon this system all federal aid appropriations shall be expended in preference to other roads. Federal aid shall be divided into two classes, one of which shall be known as 'interstate or inter-county roads' and shall not exceed three-eighths of the total mileage of the state. The other of which shall be known as 'county or inter-county roads' and shall consist of the remainder of the mileage which may receive federal aid. The secretary of agriculture shall have authority to approve in whole or in part the systems as designated or to require modifications or to require extensions thereof. Provided that the states shall submit to the secretary of agriculture, by his approval of the proposed revisions of the designated systems, roads above provided for. Not less than sixty per cent of all federal aid allotted to any state shall be expended upon the primary or inter-county roads until no federal aid has been made for the improvement of the entire system of such roads. Whenever provision has been made for an benefit of any state for the completion and maintenance of a system of interstate and inter-county roads equal to seven per cent of the total mileage of such state, said state through its state highway department and with the approval of the secretary of agriculture, is hereby authorized to add to the mileage of the interstate and inter-county system an amount necessary for the construction and maintenance of such additional mileage."

With this section added to the present law, state highway officials believe that the action taken by the president will be met where he says:

"Congress ought to prescribe conditions for federal appropriations which will necessitate a consistent program of uniformity which will justify the federal outlay."

Must Provide State Funds
Much of the criticism that has been leveled upon the states in their handling of the federal highway funds has been that federal funds had been divided out promiscuously, when in reality this condition, if it has assumed the position of a condition, obtained in a very few states and not only because the states, as such, were dependent upon the counties to raise the funds necessary to co-operate with the federal appropriation.

To meet this situation it is proposed that "any state desiring to avail itself of the benefits of this act shall, within two years after the adoption of the act, submit to the secretary of the state legislature from and after the passage and approval of this act, provide state funds each year to at least equal the amount apportioned for each year by the federal government to the state for the construction of highways." It is believed that this requirement will meet the statement of President Harding when he said that "Congress cannot justify a mere gift from the federal purse to the states to be prorated among counties for road betterment."

Penalty for Lack of Maintenance
Maintenance of roads, once constructed, has for years been the source of more trouble and contention than any other item of highway construction. Roads built by federal aid have been so recent that they have not had any appreciable chance to deteriorate. It is made of hard surfaced material but roads long since built with state and county funds have in many cases been allowed to take care of themselves. The result is that the speed of traffic has been increasingly impeded.

To meet this very important situation this bill proposes, first, that the secretary of agriculture "shall not approve any projects in any state until said state shall provide a state fund adequate for the maintenance of federal aid roads, and he shall also provide maintenance work under the direct control of the state highway department"; and second, "to maintain the rural post roads constructed under the provisions of this act shall be the duty of the states. If at any time the secretary of agriculture shall find that any road in any state constructed under the provisions of this act is not being properly maintained he shall give notice of such fact to the highway department of such state and within sixty days from the receipt of said notice said road has not been put in a proper condition of maintenance by the state highway department then the secretary of agriculture shall thereupon refuse to approve any project for road construction in said state until such road has been put in a condition of proper maintenance, and if within ninety days from the receipt of said notice the road has not been put in a proper condition of maintenance then the secretary of agriculture in addition to such refusal to approve any further project for road construction in said state, shall proceed immediately to have such road put in a condition of proper maintenance and charge the cost thereof against the federal funds allotted to such state. Upon the reimbursement by the state of the amount expended by the federal government for such maintenance work, said amount shall be paid to the United States treasury to the credit of miscellaneous receipts and the secretary of agriculture shall thereupon refuse to approve any further projects for road construction."

When it is appreciated that a refund by the state goes back to the general treasury of the federal government and is lost forever to the state, it is believed that this provision will give adequate protection to the funds expended and give a patrol system of maintenance so essential to the traffic demands of the hour.

Public Land States Protected
Uncle Sam is still the owner of large tracts of land in eleven western states. In Nevada he holds the title over 60 per cent of the acreage of that state. He pays no taxes and yet he wants roads, and states no longer live upon themselves.

To meet this situation in these states it is suggested that the government, while not making any change in the method of distribution of the public funds, shall pay a part ratio of the cost of a highway to the proportion that the land he owns or controls is to the total land in such state.

How Shall the Government Function?
There has been much discussion for several years as to how and under what name the federal government should function in the matter of co-operation with the states in highway construction.

Since, as a public method of transportation after the railroads came in use, became only of local importance. The social and economic life of a far more was circumscribed by the ability of his ox team or horse to transport the crops or take his family to the market or social center. Naturally from this viewpoint, the department of agriculture under the bureau of roads of the federal government in so far as it was deemed wise and proper to assist the states and territories. Today the expenditures under the bureau of roads is more each year than the total expenditure of all the rest of the department combined. This has been brought about by the use of motive power upon the highway and the use of the roads to such an extent that county lines have long since disappeared and state lines have also in many instances been forgotten.

Whether because of the growing importance of this work the bureau should be changed to a department, in of no vital concern to those who have, because of their official positions in the several states, been the ones to come in contact with and know of the ability of this bureau to function profitably when measured with any other work created by congress to carry on some stated work.

There are those who think that a commission should be charged with the proposed work, and that the supervision of the president; some, because of the agitation to consolidate the work and that under such an organization, roads would find an influential position; others, since the highway has become such an important factor in transportation, believe that all methods of transportation, water, rail, road and air, should be controlled by the secretary of commerce.

The state highway officials are not so much concerned about who shall administer the duties as they are that the government shall recognize the fact that it is as much a federal function to co-operate with the states in road building as it is for the states to aid their minor subdivisions. We have the people's welfare in our national life when it might be necessary to prove that highways are arteries of trade of national importance. Our only concern should be that such legislation is enacted and enforced as will conserve the public funds, guard against political abuse and serve the common good.

LOS ANGELES SYNDICATE LEASES LAND IN RUSSIA

Interests Represented by W. D. Vanderlip Report Successful Negotiations

LOS ANGELES, Cal., (AP)—The syndicate of Los Angeles bankers and business men represented by Washington D. Vanderlip has secured a fifty year lease on ten million acres of spruce land in the Archangel district of Russia, according to a message received by the syndicate from Vanderlip via Tallinn, Esthonia.

J. H. Coverly, secretary of the syndicate, said Vanderlip left last January to change details of a contract previously secured from the soviet government for a concession in Kamchatka and to work out plans for orders he had obtained for American goods.

"In addition," the secretary said, "he went to secure concessions which would guarantee to this country timber tracts from which newspaper pulp could be secured. It is my understanding he has secured this additional concession which is entirely independent of the territory he contracted for in the Kamchatka peninsula.

"Presumably Vanderlip's message was sent from Moscow to Tallinn. I do not expect him to return to this country until all of the details which the three interests of the syndicate in Russia involve have been attended to."

KNOCKOUT OF FREAK HURLING BOON TO GAME

Fan is Love of Heavy Batting and it is the Fan who Supports the Sport

By I. F. RANBORN.

ABOLITION OF freak pitching has been a great boon to professional baseball because it has restored to the game the element of uncertainty which was gradually being choked out of it by the expert pitchers of "fines" but "airless" and "dry" other players of the era.

With freak pitching in the game Babe Ruth never would have been able to hang up his 1820 record of 34 complete games in the hands of a home run, and there would have been no Yankee hambo accomplished for the game last season. The crop of 300 avers was more than doubled over previous years, and the batting was increased proportionately.

Boosters Love Hard Hitting. The majority of readers prefer the action of a high score contest, in which the whistle of the base hit supplements the groan of a strikeout. They are willing to see their own pitcher panned if the opposing slammer is getting his.

There is a negation of action in a 1 to 0 hurlers' battle that can be appreciated only by the fan who hears that sort of thing, a variety. The change to a pitcher's slight combat is sometimes soothing to the nerves of the regular patron. But as a regular thing, the slugs battle, in which only one or two runs are scored on a side, becomes a monotonous as shoving early morning before breakfast.

A few seasons ago a team which climbed to a lead in the latter part of the first inning had little to worry about the rest of the game, unless something happened to its mound man. For the team that is a hopeless stern chase during the intervention of Mrs. Fate.

Four Run Lead Shrinkers. Today a lead of four tallies is nothing to bank on. With the present importance of the batsman, it is something unusual for a team to wipe out that handful in a single futile round. That is what makes the game more interesting. That is what plucks the bugs to their seats until the last man is out of the ninth, although there may be a margin of several runs on the scoreboard. Instead of quitting in the eighth with his team three runs behind, as he used to, the fan now roots until the finish and even if it is only two, three, or four, thinks of what might have been if Fate had smiled.

Every since the baseball we know started there has been a problem to keep the pitcher from gaining the upper hand. He has been penalized and handicapped for more than 30 years. There was a time in the infancy of the pastime, when the rule makers had to come to the aid of the pitcher to shorten the games, but in modern days the shoe has been on the other hoof.

Mild Balance of Power. After every curb placed on the slammer they have studied how to break it or overcome it, and always with success. Unless history repeats to repeat itself, there will come a time in the next few years when the pitcher will have developed a way to vent the rage of the slugging and slugging, and already there are signs of it.

All that is left of the freak stuff is the spilt, and that is permitted only to a comparatively few slammers who made their reputations with it and are too old to learn new tricks. They will gradually fade out of the picture as they grow older, but by that time they will be something else again for the rulemakers to legislate against, in order to maintain the balance of power.

Four in a row is not such a bad record, especially for the White Sox. And more especially since one of the four was from the slugging Yankees. "Kid" Gleason's rejuvenated White Sox outfit seems to be getting better and better in comparison with the Athletics' club, which is worse.

"I shall rely upon Jeannette as my sparring partner in chief," says George Carpentier.

Said Jeannette, he advertised, is no lady, either. This personage in the reformed Joe, a black boy about 35 and 40 years of age, who, with Sam Mey and Sam Langford, used to conduct round Robin hipocrene fights shows to keep their prizes replenished.

New York has adopted a boxing and wrestling regulation law, which, if invoked to the letter, should have some injurious effect on both these sports.

Benny Leonard is not going to have a very quiet time of it during Independence week.

Either battle should be sufficient for any man, be he champion or second-rate, for a month or two.

The veteran, Mordern Brown, is managing a shop team at Lawrenceville, Ill. He was hooked games with the Statves of Desatur, Ill, managed by Joe McGinnity and the fans of the two cities are talking of a pitching duel between McGinnity and Mordern Brown, which would seem like old times.

The Bay City Minors have taken on for trial two youngsters who were hooked over by Manager Kid Gleason of the White Sox earlier in the spring. They are Pete Monahan, a first baseman, and Reinhardt, a catcher. Monahan came from Glenside, while Reinhardt comes from Racine, Wis.

Chick Gandli, true to his promise when released after arrest in California, showed up in Chicago on May 3 and gave him the sum of $495 to appear for trial when the case of the indicted White Sox players and gamblers are called. Gandli was quoted as saying he wishes an early trial so that he can have it over with. Of course he says he is innocent of the charges against him.

Pat Flaherty, the Indiana scout, arrived in Cleveland the other day for a conference with Manager Spence. He brought the news that Pitzer Middleton, of Simmons college, recently pitched a no-hit game and looked very good. He had not seen Pitzer Middleton of Mississippi college, but had talked with several experts, who had told each one of them had a good word for the big left-hander.

An unassisted triple play by an outfielder was made in a practice game by the Knoxville team of the Appalachian league on April 25 against an independent team from Jellico, Tenn.
