CLAIM SUCCESS FOR DEFENSE OF TRADE UNIONISM

American Federation of Labor Executive Council, in Report, Points to Outlook for Continued Progress

DENVER, Colo., (AP)—The trade union movement in America "has successfully defeated the position against the organized effort of American employers," the executive council of the American Federation of Labor declares in its annual report submitted today to the federation convention here. The report states that the outlook is for a continuance of not only successful defense, but steady and consistent progress.

"It is true," says the report, "that organized employers are still making strenuous efforts to destroy trade unionism and that in many directions the campaign to reduce wages continues. What is equally true is that these movements continue with constantly decreasing vigor and effect and that their momentum of three months ago has been dissipated."

Cannot Relax Effort.
"There is need for the utmost vigilance and we cannot relax in any single effort, but must, on the contrary, continue its struggle with all possible energy, intelligence and resources."

The report gives the following statistics: "The campaign against the reduction of wages has been so completely in the purpose they sought to accomplish."

The council's report covers a wide range of subjects and includes a number of specific recommendations. Among them are:

That the railroad situation be investigated by a national commission, consisting of seven representatives each of the public, the stockholders and classified labor, with a view to recommending remedial legislation to Congress.

That the executive council be authorized to conduct an investigation with a view to recommending at the next convention a policy of total exclusion from the United States of Japanese and all other orientals.

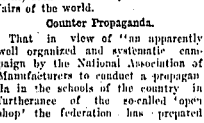

That the excess profits tax be retained by the federal government and that the federation oppose proposals for new taxes and "leave nothing undone to defeat the introduction of a turnover consumption or sales tax."

That the convention approve recent recommendations by the Federal Trade Commission to President Harding that the commission be authorized to obtain and publish information concerning ownership, cost, profits and profit-making in the basic industries as a means of "reducing the cost of living by compelling those who sell the necessities of life to accept smaller profits."

That the convention call upon the American government "to take the initiative or to co-operate with any other nation or nations for the purpose of a general agreement for disarmament both of the army and naval armaments of the world."

Counter Propaganda.
That in view of "an apparently well organized and systematic campaign by the National Association of Manufacturers to conduct a propaganda in the schools of the country in furtherance of the so-called 'open shop' the federation has prepared

Separates Wages and Costs

Regarding wages and the cost of living, the council says the practice of fixing wages solely on the basis of cost of living is a violation of the whole philosophy in progress and civilization and, furthermore, is a violation of sound economic theory and utterly without logic or scientific support.

"The practice, it is added," results in only one class of human beings and to standardized classes, each class having a presumptive right to a given quantity of various commodities."

"The council declares that profligating in food continues."

"While wholesale prices decreased retailers continued to charge unreasonably high prices," it asserts. "Of all the remedies proposed, none is more recommended than those submitted to President Harding by the federal trade commission that there was no justification for reduction of wages."

"The commission held that the cost of goods should be to increase, rather than to reduce the purchasing power of the ordinary consumer."

"Regarding proposals of the trade commission that full publicity be given to the results of investigation by it of the costs and profits in essential industries, it is asserted that 'if the people are in full possession of all the facts or costs of distribution and the profits made on the necessities of life, public opinion would have a powerful effect in reducing prices and there would be no necessity of prosecution under the Sherman anti-trust law.'"

"It is added that 'it is also believed that all legal action resulting from the violation of corporations or monopolies the question of publicity should be incorporated.'"

Commands Californians.
Regarding Japanese exclusion, the council has this to say:

"The citizens of California are justified in their alarm and their apprehension of the results of the Japanese colonization together and have gradually driven out American citizens from the most fertile farm lands in the state. They understand the American farmer because of their low standards of living."

"The 'gentlemen's agreement' (with Japan) has proven to be a failure because the Japanese in a cunning and stealthy manner have outwitted the intent of the law. This act is not only a serious contention for California, but it is a positive menace to our entire nation. The American Federation of Labor is fully justified in taking a firm stand to do away with the 'gentlemen's agreement' and in its place inaugurate a definite policy calling for total exclusion of Japanese."

"All other orientals, however, should be on record as favoring any legislation of the character that may be presented in congress by the California delegates in the senate and house of representatives."

"Today our people are confronted not alone with the possibility of great concentration of labor and manufacturers; they are also facing the development of tendencies leading to the possible dangers of war. No one recognizes more fully than do the American workers the burden and sacrifice entailed in a contest between workers are equally desirous for continued peace in the American home."

"We feel sure that the workers of Japan would welcome whatever influence might be set at work to prevent a possible clash between the people of Japan and our country."

Explaining its recommendation that the federation endorse a constitutional amendment to make valid under the constitution measures enacted by congress, the council says the power exercised by the federal courts "to pass upon the constitutionality of laws enacted by congress and approved by the president is one of the greatest means to measure intended to remedy evils in our government."

"The constitution of the United States," the council asserts, "does not give such authority to the courts. It has been assumed by them. The history of the supreme court of the United States is replete with reactionary opinions."

"The anti-trust laws have been interpreted by the courts against labor and labor alone."

Trains Guns on Beds.
A considerable portion of the council's report is devoted to a discussion of America and the Russian revolution and the council says that "America during the year has fully endorsed the stand of the American Federation of Labor at the Moscow convention in resolving that the federation 'is not justified in taking any action which could be construed as an assistance to, or approval of, the soviet government of Russia as long as that government is based upon authority which has not been vested in it by a popular representative national assembly of the Russian people.'"

The report also says that "in a factor in the industrial life of both Canada and the United States the so-called 'Big Union' has practically ceased to exist."

"This movement, which has been on the decline since the Winnipeg strike, is no longer considered an active movement of any consequences," the report declares.

The report also deals with recent court decisions relating to labor; it mentions labor relations legislation and various matters pertaining to the internal affairs of the federation.

GARY EXTOLLS CAPITAL, FLAYS SOVIET MENACE

Steel Corporation Head Tells Syracuse University Students Nations Must Choose Between Capital and Anarchy

SYRACUSE, N. Y., (AP)—H. H. Gary, chairman of the board of directors of the United States Steel corporation, told Syracuse university students in a commencement address today that it is necessary to the progress and prosperity of every country and any people. The only alternative to it, he declared, was the anarchy or sovietism now gaining at the vital of Russia. The Russian system he described as a poison in the natural system of national and individual life which would eventually lead to destruction.

Facts Oppose Sovietism

If the people of America would study the facts about this vital question, he said, there would be no epidemic of sovietism here. Capital and the rights of all people would be conserved in the progress and prosperity of every country and any people.

In this country the door of opportunity is open to both capital and labor, and neither, he said, should be permitted to abuse it.

He expressed the opinion that there might be no objection to a fair and reasonable law subjecting organized capital, exceeding certain amounts, to government inquiry and restriction in its uses, "providing organized labor should also be subjected to the same standards."

Mr. Gary began by pointing out that the people of the United States have the greatest opportunity for success in every department of worthy endeavor. The expression that "every man has each individual a living" was too frequently used, and it was foolish to endeavor to support that claim by citing the acknowledged principle that "men are created free and equal. This meant, he said, no more and no less than the right of equal protection and opportunity.

Outsiders Make Trouble

Speaking on the relations of capital and labor, Mr. Gary said that these two interests recognize their interdependence but that outsiders often seek to antagonize them. He declared, however, that the majority of employers and managers of business are more solicitous for the welfare of the workmen and do more to promote their comfort and happiness than outsiders ever have done or are disposed to do. Labor was never in the world's history more highly respected nor treated as liberally as today, he declared. It had been denigrated to be profitable to the employer to treat the workmen fairly and this would insure the latter full justice.

Laying stress on the necessity of capital, Mr. Gary said: "Money is essential to provide facilities for preparing one to accomplish the best results in any profession or calling. The material and progress of every country are to a enormous extent the result of large capital. Without these the inhabitants would be neither happy nor contented."

"Accumulated capital provides the facilities for development, improvement, extension and application of natural resources. This could not be done by unaided contributions of money." In times of war, Mr. Gary declared, it would have been impossible to have fully supplied the needs of the country without recourse to contributions by large capital.

Benefits from Capital

"Except for the accumulated capital invested in business enterprises and the working capital to maintain and extend them," Mr. Gary continued, "millions of men and women who work for wages or salaries would be without a chance to earn a decent living. To the extent a nation is without capital in a corresponding degree are its industries in a state of decay and its people impoverished and despondent."

"In short, for a desirable and proper degree of comfort, contentment, and well-being in any direction, protection against disease and destruction, every inhabitant of every land is dependent upon individually accumulated capital contributions."

"The only alternative which has been suggested is that the government shall forcibly take possession and control of all capital and distribute the proceeds derived from it amongst the people per capita. This would inject into the natural system of national and individual life a deadly poison."

FOREIGN TRADE STILL DECLINES

Exports and Imports Continue Fall but Month Adds to the Favorable Balance

WASHINGTON, D. C., (AP)—Both exports and imports continued to fall off in May, but the month's trading resulted in a favorable balance of $122,000,000 for the United States, figures made public today by the department of commerce showed.

Exports for May totalled $330,000,000 as against $410,000,000 in April and $748,000,000 in May, 1920, while imports for the month were $208,000,000 as compared with $250,000,000 in April and $451,000,000 in May the year before.

For the eleven months ended with May exports totalled $6,600,000,000 as against $7,800,000,000 for the corresponding months of 1920, while imports aggregated $4,372,000,000 as compared with $4,696,000,000.

"If our people study the facts about this vital question, as they should do concerning every important matter, there will be no epidemic here; they will learn and act accordingly. There will be no robbery and destruction here through anarchy and brute force."

"Capital, whether invested in charitable, religious, educational institutions, or commercial or industrial enterprises, will be protected, and, as a corollary, the rights of the people without discrimination will be conserved."

Government Might Regulate

"If it should be argued that accumulated wealth exceeding certain amounts and possessed by organized capital should be subjected to governmental inquiry and restriction in its uses, there might be no objection to a fair and reasonable enactment covering this question, provided organized labor should also be subjected to the same statute."

"The door of opportunity for legitimate advancement is open to both capital and labor. Both should be grateful for the privilege, and neither should be permitted to abuse it."

Mr. Gary declared that the status of labor union leaders is the antithesis of the principle of equal opportunity. He asserted that "if, as an individual, he can realize the full advantage of the opportunities which this country offers only through the privilege of the open shop as it is distinguished from the dominance and arbitrary control of the union labor leader, he is added."

"The open shop means freedom to the employee to engage in any line of employment, at any place and time, upon terms and conditions voluntarily agreed upon between the employee and the employer."

"The closed shop means that one desiring employment can secure a place only on terms approved by the union labor leaders or leaders having jurisdiction over the particular closed shop."

"The great majority of the people of this country stand for the open shop, open ports of all countries, open commerce with other nations, open discussion of all proper questions and the open shop, and with this freedom and justice to all."

"Equality of opportunity, I believe, is the avowed doctrine of our present administration, from the president throughout the whole governmental structure and will be intelligently and faithfully applied. Therefore, we have reason to look forward with confidence expecting increasing prosperity in all directions as the months pass by."

Georges Enters Upon Strenuous Training Period

Descamps Prepares to Exclude Admirers from Challenger's Quarters

MANHATTAN, N. Y., (AP)—The leading sign at George Carpentier's training camp gave way to one which read "hard work will beat Dempsey."

The challenger began the hardest week of training with a long workout in the woods this morning, then came back for a bouffant-lunch and prepared to take on several sparring partners.

Georges probably will work hard every day this week and it is known that he will spar more than has been the custom in the past three weeks. He will work in public but two days, to-day and Thursday.

"It has been the custom to prohibit newspapermen from the grounds on every day excepting Monday and Tuesday, but a lot of friends and acquaintances have been coming on these off-days," said Manager Descamps. "They are more bothersome than anybody else and we will attempt to keep them out."

"If Carpentier lasts beyond the third round, I'll be the most surprised man in the arena," said Tender.

THE ICE CREAM SUPREME IS CARBONATED

(HEATHMADE)
From Hawaii

The biggest new discovery in food sanitation is the invention of Prof. W. P. Heath for manufacturing ice cream by substituting carbonation for aeration. Ice cream is kept eatable by mixing air with it in freezing. In ordinary ice cream this is common air, never absolutely pure.

Prof. Heath discovered a way to substitute a pure, sterile, germ-free atmosphere for air, making ice cream that is infinitely purer and safer.

He uses the same atmosphere that is utilized in making carbonated water. This atmosphere is not only 100 per cent purer than air but has the virtue of increasing the flavoriness of the products with which it comes in contact. It brings out the creamy richness of the syrups and fruits with which ice cream is made more tasty.

Insist on Carbonated Ice Cream whether you buy a dish at the soda fountain or bulk ice cream for the home. It is purest and best. Your dealer can get it.

OFFICERS TELL HOW PRISONERS MADE GETAWAY

Details of Escape of Mail Bandit and Counterfeiter on Way to Federal Prison are Related by Guards

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal. (AP)—Details of the escape of Roy Gardner, mail bandit, and H. F. Byron, counterfeiter, from their confinement in the San Francisco Jail, early last Saturday, were related by United States Deputy Marshal Thomas F. Mallard and Federal Guard H. W. Blincke, who returned to San Francisco.

"The porter came to make the bed for me," said Mallard. "We were in the jail. I went to the smoking room and there were two men. They were talking to me. I went back to my room and there were two men. I went back to my room and there were two men. I went back to my room and there were two men."

Flashlight Shooting Iron

Gardner asked to wash his hands in the basin in my drawing room. He was leaning over the basin with his back to me. I saw a flash of light. I ran to the door and there were two men. I went back to my room and there were two men. I went back to my room and there were two men."

Where Shoe Pinches

Gardner made me sit on the edge of the berth and fastened the Oregon coat on me. Another pair was taken to room and he climbed the handcuffs, hooded and chained to the car. Gardner took my purse with $50 in it. Byron took Blincke's roll of $200. Gardner before he left showed Mallard and Blincke where he had concealed the gun with which he held them up.

According to Mallard it had been seen in a pocket in front of his dress shirt. Gardner said the gun was given him at the county jail in San Francisco.

VETERAN LOCOMOTIVE IS DEFIANT OF ACCIDENTS

Thirty Year Old Railroad Engine Remains Faithful Servant after Escapes

MISSOULA, Mont. (AP)—After two wrecks close together which caused serious pieces of machinery in the junk pile, engine No. 79, 25-year-old railroad veteran—is still in service. It pulled into the roundhouse here recently to receive some of its parts and then went back to work again.

The story of the two escapades of the engine is known to all railroad men. While pulling a coal train across the "R" bridge between here and Wallace, Idaho, a snowslide came down the ravine taking out many yards of the bridge. The engine dropped a hundred feet into the gully below but none of the crew was hurt and the locomotive little damaged.

A few years later 79's boiler blew up near Mullion, Idaho. The engine was killed but the tragic incident was that the fireman, a boy, whose home was 200 feet above the tracks, on a hill, was blown into the air and died. He landed in the front yard of his home. The peculiar fact was that the engine kept the track, only he bulled going into the air. A new boiler was built and engine 79 still remains a faithful servant.

MOTHER AND CHILDREN ARE PINNED UNDER CAR

Mrs. C. O. Shatto and Six Little Ones Victims of Odd Accident

Mrs. C. O. Shatto of Hollister, yesterday suffered a broken collar bone and fracture of one or two ribs, when a light rambler car she was driving with her husband on the road toward Twin Falls, overturned, pinning her and the children under it. The children, who range in age from a few months to 13 years, were uninjured. Mrs. Shatto is reported resting comfortably at her home, and her recovery without incident unless it should develop that she suffered internal injuries as a result of the accident.

The accident occurred about two miles south of Twin Falls, nearly half way between this city and the Shatto home on the farm formerly operated by George Nygaard in the Hollister district.

W. E. Graham and a companion party on the road soon after the accident lifted the overturned car from the woman and her children. The woman was not unconscious but dazed, while the little ones were crying in fear. G. M. Hall arriving a few minutes later, took Mrs. Shatto and the children in his car to their home, while Mr. Graham summoned medical attention.

Five of the children were later taken to a hospital in Newport resting comfortably at their home, while they will be cared for until the mother recovers from her injuries.

HUMAN SACRIFICE GIVEN AS INDIAN RIOTS CAUSE

Beyops Sent to Collect Service Contribution, Find Ancient Root Involving Traditional Rites

SIMLA, India. (AP)—A governmental report on the serious riot which took place recently in the village of Beyops in the Punjab area states it was caused by the offering of human sacrifice. During the disaster seven persons were killed and ten were wounded.

The village, which is the home of many members of the ancient sect of Chanrys, became greatly excited over the refusal of the Chanry to pay the usual service contributions. Beyops sent to enforce collection, the report says; and found the Chanrys had introduced traditional methods of bringing the Chanry to justice upon the state by burning an old woman alive. An attempt to rescue the woman resulted in a fight in which swords, guns and knives were used.

OIL COMPANY EMPLOYEE THIRD VICTIM OF FIRE

Dillon Lake City, (AP)—John M. Dillon, 22 years old an employee of the Utah Oil and Refining company which has several tanks of gasoline situated at oil following a fire, caused by lightning Saturday night and which raged until last night, died today.

Dillon is the third known victim. Of the four-five injured remaining in local hospitals. It was reported that four were in a critical condition.

It is believed that more perished than those announced, for bones found in the wreckage were declared by doctors to be human remains. The company is co-operating with the police in checking a list of firemen, company employees and volunteer workers in an attempt to announce the missing.

John C. Howard, president of the company, made a revised estimate of the loss today, placing it at $600,000. He said that the company would move the plant a half mile distant from the site of the fire so that there would be no danger to other property.

St. Mark's hospital, three blocks from the fire, which was evacuated yesterday, re-opened this morning with several patients being returned. Ninety-four patients were removed Sunday when it was feared that the fire might spread to the institution or damage it by a possible explosion.

WHEAT PRICE SOARS AGAIN

Encounters Sharp Setback after Rapid Advance; Glazes with Gains

CHICAGO, (AP)—Hot weather and black rots made the wheat market soar today. July and September contracts both went to a new high price record for the season. There was a general rush to buy, and despite considerable selling, the market advanced. Opening quotations, which ranged from 1c to 1.4c higher, with July 13 1/2 to 1.4 1/2 and September 13 1/2 to 1.28, were followed by a material further gain.

Later the market encountered a sharp setback as a result of heavy selling here and to rapid progress of the harvest. The close was unsettled, 1 1/4 to 1/4 net higher, with July 13 1/2 to 1.27 3/4 and September 13 1/2 to 1.27 3/4.

Corn advanced with wheat. After opening 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 higher, including July 13 1/2 to 1 3/4 and August 13 1/2 to 1 3/4, the market closed 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 higher, with July 13 1/2 to 1 3/4 and August 13 1/2 to 1 3/4.

Weakness in hog values had a depressing effect on provisions.

WISCONSIN GOVERNOR IN DRY LAW CONTROVERSY

Attacks Amendment to His Enforcement Bill Passed in Senate with the Home Brew Clause Stricken Out

MADISON, Wis. (P)—Governor William W. Wisnisky's prohibition controversy again today when he attacked the Olson amendment to his enforcement bill passed in the senate Friday with the home brew section stricken out, as "an intolerable espionage on the home which fritters away public money to prosecute good citizens who have no wrongful intention."

Governor Olson declared that "the bill will be carefully drawn up effectively to have grown out of the 18th amendment," but that "the amendment puts the private parties into possession of public money, which by natural fermentation contains one-half of one per cent or more of alcohol on the same basis as the outlawed whiskey."

MONTANA MAN INVENTS NEW LONG RANGE SHELL

War Department Invites Christian Kaiser of Great Falls to Test High Explosive Projectile

GREAT FALLS, Mont. (P)—A high explosive shell capable of ranging 120 miles, it is claimed, is being manufactured under the direction of its inventor, Christian Kaiser of this city. His war department has invited Mr. Kaiser to test his invention under the observation of government experts. It is said, and as soon as the shell is completed he will take it east to one of the government's proving grounds. If the trial is successful, Mr. Kaiser states he is confident that he can increase the distance to 160 and even 180 miles.

The Great Falls man has worked from a different angle than the Krupp who conceived the gun which carried a shell 70 miles during the late war. Impetus for the Krupp shell was developed in the munitions plant there, while his own would receive all but its initial force in the air. He calls it an automatic constrictor shell, the projectile having six automatic constrictors which dilate in succession while traveling. The test shell will be 8 1/2 inches long, 10 inches in diameter and will weigh about 1700 pounds, according to its inventor. Its cost is said to be $2500.

Loach had the official republican convention endorsement.

DENBY TAKES STEPS TO STEAM REVOLT IN HAITI

WASHINGTON, (P)—Authority to bring civilians in Haiti before provost courts martial in certain cases has been granted by Secretary Denby to Colonel John H. Marine corps officers said it was necessary to head off impending sporadic rebellions in Haiti stirred up by the revolutionary propaganda.

LET PUEBLO BE A LERSON

Disasters like that which has befallen Pueblo are due to the want of precaution on the part of man. Colorado is a dry land but any one who has knowledge of the great arid region of the West is aware that the infrequent rains often take the form of a cloudburst.

In building the city of Pueblo on low ground in relation to the river, doubtless the possibility of floods was taken into account, but as years passed without anything alarming occurring, probably the building approached the river more nearly.

"Jim, I've heard of Harry's part in Abe's fight and of the fact that he was to be working alone all day at the new house, had ridden out through the woods to the open prairie and hunted in sight of the new cabin that afternoon, unwilling to confess her extreme interest in the boy she had said not a word of her brave act. It was not shame; it was partly a kind of rebellion against the tyranny of youthful ardor; it was partly the fear of ridicule.

So it happened that the adventure of Harry Neddes made secret a ripple on the smooth surface of the village life. It will be seen, however, that it had started strong undercurrents likely, in time, to make them surface felt.

The house and barn were finished, whereupon Samson and Harry drove to Springfield—a muddy, crude and growing village with thick woods on its north side and bought furniture. Their wagon was loaded and they were ready to start for home. They were walking on the main street when Harry touched Samson's arm and whispered:

"There's McNeil and Callyhan." The pair were walking a few steps ahead of Samson and Harry. In a second Samson's big hand was on McNeil's shoulder.

"This is Mr. McNeil, I believe," said Samson. The other turned with a scared look.

"What do you want of me?" he demanded. Samson threw him to the ground with a jerk so strong and violent that it rent the sleeve from his shoulder. McNeil's companion, who had felt the weight of Samson's hand and had enough of it, turned and ran.

"What do you want of me?" McNeil asked, afraid as he struggled to free himself. "What do I want of you—you puny little coward," said Samson, as he lifted the bully to his feet and gave him a toss and swung him in the air and continued to address him. "You just got to muss you up proper. If you don't say you're sorry and mean it I'll put a tow string on your neck and give you to some one that wants a dog."

"I'm sorry," said McNeil. "Honest I am! I was drunk when I done it. I am!" Samson released his prisoner. A member in the crowd which had gathered around them clapped their hands and shouted, "Hurrah for the stranger!"

A constable took Samson's hand as he was brought before the blind folded judge: "Heavy, heavy hangs over your head," said the constable. "Fine or superior?" the judge inquired.

"Fine," said the constable, which meant that the victim was a wretch. Then the sentence was pronounced and generally it was this: "To howl to the wretched, kneel to the prettiest and kiss the one that you love love."

...the two had fallen in love with each other. "See how she looks at him," one of them whispered. "Well, it's just the way he looks at her," she answered. At the first pause in the assement Kelso stood on a chair, and then at least fell upon the little company. "My good neighbors," he began, "we are here to rejoice that new friends are born in our midst. We are all glad to welcome them. They are big-boned, big hearted folks. No man has grown larger who has not at one time or another had his feet in the soil and felt its magic and home again. Here is a wonderful soil and the inspiration of wide horizons; here are broad and fertile fields. Where the corn grows high you can grow statesmen. It may be that out of one of these little cabins of Liberty and Justice will spring the torch of light which will shine into every dark place. So let no one despise the cabin—humble as it is. Samson and Sarah Taylor, I welcome and congratulate you. Whatever may come you can find no better friends than these who are of this you may be sure, no child of the prairies will ever go about with a hand organ and a monkey. Our friend, Assent Abe, is one of the few rich men in the neighborhood. Among his assets are 'Kirkham's Grammar,' 'The Pilgrim's Progress,' the 'Lives of Washington and Henry Clay,' 'Tian-tai's Soliloquy,' 'Othello's Speech to the Senate,' 'Marc Anthony's Address' and a pair of Webster's Reptiles to Hayne. A man came along the other day and sold him a barrel of coffee for two bits. In it he found a volume of 'Blackstone's Commentaries.' Old Blackstone challenged him to a wrestle and Abe has grappled with him. I reckon he'll take his measure as easily as he took Jack Armstrong's. Let me see, he has got possession of a noble asset. It is 'The Cotter's Saturday Night,' by Robert Burns. I propose to ask him to let us share his enjoyment of this treasure."

Abe, who had been sitting with his legs doubled beneath him on a buffalo skin, between Joe and Betsy Taylor, rose and said: "Mr. Kelso's remarks, especially the part which applied to me, remind me of the story of the prosperous grocer of Joliet. One Saturday night he and his boys were busy selling sausage. Suddenly in came a man with whom he had quarreled and laid two dead cats on the counter. "There, said he, 'this minkew seven today. I'll call Monday and get my money.' " "We were doing a good business here making fun. It seems a pity to ruin it and throw suspicion on the quality of the goods by throwing a cat on the counter."

"This made a storm of merriment, after which he returned to the town. Burns, with keen appreciation of its quality, Samson repeatedly writes of his gift for interpretation, especially of the comic, and now and then lays particular stress on his power of imitations."

...have looked back at me. These Somers would have called my aside to look into my soul, and Judge Grandy and his wife would not have invited me to their parties. Here I'm different. A man who can take the law in his hands and bring the evil man to his senses, even if he has to hit him over the head, is looked up to as a reckless country. You feel it as soon as you get here. In time, I fear, I shall see an hell-hole as the rest of them. Somers says that the law has got here from Springfield. It has got out of cut up. Jack Kelso has nicknamed me 'The man with the iron arms,' and Abe, who is a better man than ever you, taught at my embarrassment and says I ought to be honored. For one thing Jack Armstrong has become a good citizen. His wife has fixed a pair of breeches for Abe. They say McNeil has left the country. There has been no devilry here since that day the gang I broke up went up too much into the woods. Sarah enjoyed fixing up the cabin. Jack Kelso had given her some deer and buffalo skins to lay on the floor. The upper room, reached by a stick ladder, had its two beds, one of which Harry occupied. The children slept below in a trundle bed that was pushed under the larger one when it was made up in the morning.

"Some time I'm going to put in a wheelchair and get rid of that slick ladder," said Samson. "Sarah had all the arts of the New England home maker. Under her hand the cabin, in color, atmosphere and general neatness, would have been a bigger taste than was to be found on the prairie. It was the brain of Kelso, who really had an acquaintance with beauty. To be sure the bed was over one corner, spread with its upper cover knit of gray yarn hemming in color with the dark red of the rug. A handsome dark brown buffalo robe lay on the bed. The rifle and powder horn were hung above the mantel. The fireplace had its crane of wrought iron.

Every one in the little village came to the house warming. The people were in their best clothes. The women wore dresses of new calico—save Mrs. Doctor Allen, who wore a black silk dress which had come with her from the latter home in Lexington. Bin Kelso was in a dress of red muslin trimmed with white lace. Ann Rutledge also wore a red dress and came with Abe. The latter was rather grotesque in his new flannel trousers, of a better length than the former pair he still wore.

"It isn't too late for the trousers or the tailor," he had said twice, had tried them on. "My legs are so long that the imagination of the tailor is sure to fall short if the cloth don't. Next time I'll have 'em made to measure with a good deal of padding. If they're too long, I'll cut 'em up and let out a link or two when they shrink. Ever since I was a boy I have been troubled with shrinking pants."

Abe wore a blue swallow-tail coat with brass buttons, the tails which were so short as to be well above the danger of pressure when he sat down. His cowhide shoes had been well blackened; the blue yarn of his socks showed above them. "Those darned socks of mine are rather proud and conceited," he used to say. "They like to show off."

He wore a shirt of white, unbleached cotton, a starched collar and black tie. In speaking of his collar to Samson, he said that he felt like a wild horse in a box stall.

Mentor Graham, the schoolmaster, was there—a smooth-faced man with a large head, sandy hair and a small mustache, who spoke by note, as it were. Kelso called him the great articulator and always he walked in the valley of the shadow of Eternity. He seemed to keep a watchful eye on his words, as if they were a lot of schoolboys not to be trusted. They came out with a kind of self-conscious reticence.

The children, Samson had begun and the little house rang with their songs and laughter, while their elders sat by the fire and mingled the walls talking. Ann Rutledge and John Kelso and Harry Neddes and Jim McNeil sat with them, in one of the dances all joined in singing the verses:

I won't have none of yer weevily wheat, I won't have none of yer barley; I won't have none of yer weevily wheat, To make a cake for Charley. Charley is a fine young man, Charley is a fine young man, Charley likes to kiss the girls, Whenever it comes handy.

When a victor was caught in the flying scrimmage at the end of a passage of arms, or when a man, after a victory, was taken to the children started in the usual road toward the village. Ann Rutledge had Abe on one arm and John McNeil on the other.

Wars of the United States. A stray paragraph, the United States' circumstances, the wars. Ten of these were conflicts with Indian tribes, of which the most important were probably the Black Hawk war and the Seminole war. If these wars, and the "eleventh" might be added—the Mexican war of 1873. The important wars on the list are the War of the Revolution, the War of 1812, the Mexican war, the Civil war, the Spanish war, the war not named, the minor conflicts included the war with Tripoli, France, 1798; the war with Tripoli, 1801; the Philippine war, 1890.

KABER'S MURDER IS NOW CHARGED TO FOUR WOMEN

Mrs. Erminia Coalvito is Booked Along with Widow, Her Daughter and Mother, as the Slayers of Publisher

CLEVELAND, O. (AP)—Your women now are formally charged with the murder of Daniel F. Kaber, who was established 54 times by hired assassins in his home in Lakewood two years ago. Mrs. Erminia Coalvito, 35, was booked on a charge of murder early today after she had made startling revelations to the police. Others charged with the crime are Mrs. Catherine Kaber, widow of the slain man, Miss Marian McArdle, her daughter, and Mrs. Mary Brickel, 63 years old, mother of Mrs. Kaber. Twelve persons have been named in connection with the murder.

Tells of Sighting Trip.

Mrs. Coalvito, who was known as a midwife, was arrested in Sandusky several days ago. In her statement, she told the authorities how two days before the murder, Kaber's assassins had tipped through his home to get the "play of the land" while Miss McArdle played a piano to drown the note of their footsteps. She also is alleged to have said that the assassins demanded $5000 for committing the crime, but that Mrs. Kaber declared she would not pay it unless her husband was killed with some weapon so she could collect an insurance policy.

This was denied by Mrs. Kaber. She declared that four men were employed to do the killing, two to use the weapons and two to remain outside as lookouts.

Five hundred dollars had been given to Mrs. Coalvito, she said in her alleged confession, to be paid the assassin for part.

Officers Give Statement.

According to the officers who questioned Mrs. Coalvito, her statement, in part, reads as follows:

"It was on the Wednesday before the murder that we went to investigate the Kaber home, learn the arrangements of the rooms and find out where Kaber slept. Two men known as Sam and Tony, who were to do the work, were with me.

"When we reached the home that evening we were taken through the halls and rooms. To help locate the holes made as we tramped through the house, Marian McArdle kept playing a piano. The two men were shown the door to Kaber's room.

"It was arranged that the back door was to be open and Mrs. Brickel was to be on the porch at 10 o'clock the next night as a signal that all was well.

"The murder was to take place the next night—Thursday. On Friday morning I received a call from the two men. They said they had been at the Kaber home the night before but had found the back door locked and no woman on the porch.

Bare Telephone Conversation.

"I called the Kaber home on the telephone and Marian McArdle, the daughter, answered that she could not discuss the matter over the telephone, but asked me to meet her with the two men. That afternoon, Friday, Marian, Tony, Sam and I met on a street corner in the east end.

"Marian said: 'Come out tonight and you'll find everything ready.' 'We then discussed new plans. It was decided that the men were to hide and that Marian was to make the results appear. When everything was ready, and the loonie quiet, she was to drop some water from an upstairs window so that it would strike the ground near a casement window.

MEXICO'S FOREIGN DEBT INTEREST WILL BE PAID

National Budget to be Increased 20,000,000 Pesos to Meet Obligations Abroad, Pardes Announces

MEXICO CITY, (AP)—Payment of interest on the Mexican foreign debt will be resumed on July 1, and the national budget of expenditures will be increased twenty million pesos for that purpose. Announcement of this effect was made last night by Emmanuel Pardes, acting secretary of the treasury during the absence of Adolfo de la Huerta.

The interest on Mexico's foreign debt amounts approximately to forty million pesos per year.

The money received from petroleum companies in payment of the new export taxes which go into effect July 1 will be deposited in the Banco Nacional de Mexico, and will not be withdrawn except for the payment of interest on the foreign debt of the country.

California Astronomer Discovers Comet Theory

Professor W. W. Campbell, one of the most noted astronomers in America and director of Lick Observatory on Mt. Hamilton, Cal., announced that the comet Pons-Winnecke is due within sight of the earth during the latter part of June and may be accompanied by a display of shooting stars and a meteoric downpour. Professor Campbell says that the theory often expressed that Pons-Winnecke will collide with the earth and cause disaster is entirely wrong. The comet at its nearest point to the earth will be millions of miles away. However, this will be the nearest the cyclonic traveler will have over-reached the earth, he says. And if it should at any future time collide with the earth Professor Campbell explains the belief that the sufferer would be Pons-Winnecke and not the earth.

President Harding Weeps Over Bier of War Heroes

With bowed head and a solemnity not to be mistaken for insincerity, President Harding recently paid tribute to 5,112 soldiers dead at Pier 4, Hoboken,

N. J. The presidential smile was succeeded by a look of grief as nations' spokes delivered his address. As he spoke over the coffins of the heroes who died in foreign lands tears fell from his eyes. "It must not be again," he said of the war in an emotion-choked voice.

INCREASING DEMAND FOR FARM LABOR IS NOTED

Farm Bureau Calls Attention to Its Offices in Bringing Employer and Employee Together

With the advent of beet work and a rising demand for farm labor, the Farm Bureau calls attention to its offices in bringing employer and employee together.

For the past few years an appropriation has been made by the county commissioner with which some one has been employed to make charge of the labor situation both in Twin Falls and in Buhl. On account of the financial stringency and a very marked change in labor supply it was thought inadvisable to make an appropriation for that purpose this year.

For the benefit of the few who may not know where the office is located the following directions may be helpful. Office rooms in new Woods building (uptown), immediately across the street south from the post office, telephone No. 101. See bulletin board for wants.

EACH DELIVERY is weighed. You pay by the pound—by the ton. And the scales must be exact.

The Standard of Advertising Value Today is the O. K. of the Audit Bureau of Circulations

THERE could be no more exact investigation and analysis of circulation than that carried out by the A. B. C. in examining a paper's distribution.

A THOROUGH CHECK is made to determine accurately the quantity of circulation. Not only the "press run," but the exact number of copies placed in the readers' hands.

AN EXHAUSTIVE ANALYSIS is made covering the methods of obtaining subscribers. This is an index of the interest of readers in the paper.

YOU NEED such facts to determine with exactness whether a newspaper can carry your advertising message. The reports of the A. B. C. on its members gives authentic information on all these points.

OUR RECORDS have been examined by the Audit Bureau and the report is open for your inspection.
