HEAVY GUARD IS MASSED AT DOCK AS SIMS LANDS

Everything Peaceful when Veteran Seadog Sets Foot in New York to Explain Remarks Attributed to Him

NEW YORK, (AP)—Rear Admiral Sims returned home today to explain to the press his remarks attributed to him in his recent London speech on Irish-Americans.

Refusing to be taken aboard by a cutter, he came up the bay aboard the liner Olympic to meet friends or foes who might be awaiting him near the pier. Everything was peaceful when the veteran seadog landed. A thousand blue coats were massed on the dock to preserve order. Indeed, they were so numerous that, with what workers and passengers, it would have been difficult to find a foot on the pier.

Sims First on Shore

The admiral was the first person to step ashore. He entered an automobile with Rear Admiral Halsey, commander of the third naval district, who was there to meet him. Flanked by police, he rode away, announcing he would take the first train for Washington.

From the handful of persons on the pier, there came neither cheers nor jeers. Among those who met the admiral was his brother.

On the trip from quarantine, the admiral maintained strict silence, declining to make any statement before reporting to the secretary of the navy.

The admiral was dressed in military, during the voyage, he wore his uniform only at dinner. Mrs. Sims accompanied him home.

No Demonstration

There was no demonstration outside the pier, nor on the way to the Pennsylvania station.

At the station, however, there were a few boys and cheer and one woman was seen parading with a banner bearing the picture of a jackass—propos of the reference to jackasses reported to have been made by Admiral Sims in his London speech. The woman was not troubled by the police.

LABOR SESSION NOTES AGAINST BOYCOTT MOVE

Adopts Resolution Expressing Sympathy for Irish Cause but Refuses to Indorse Retaliation Against Tradesmen

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—After a stormy debate the American Federation of Labor convention today disposed of the Irish question by adopting a resolution—framed of its most drastic language—expressing sympathy for the Irish cause.

Condemns Every Step

The action of the convention completed the defeat of the supporters of the boycott declaration, which they claimed had been drafted by "high officials of the Irish republic." The boycott supporters contended every effort to bring the sympathetic resolution to a vote, without its boycott provisions, by raising points of order and prolonging the session.

Refuses Sympathy

The Irish resolution adopted by the convention, was drafted by a committee of Irish sympathizers, headed by Peter Brady of New York, who opposed the boycott. This declaration:

Reaffirmed the action of the Montreal convention in supporting the Irish republic.

Instructed federation executive officers and all national and international officials to urge the administration officials at Washington and all members of congress to immediately pass legislation recognizing the Irish republic.

Proposed Preamble

Instructed federation officers to take up with trade unions of Great Britain, her colonies, and dominions a series of resolutions to be presented to the trial and parliament of members of the British regular and auxiliary forces guilty of atrocities in Ireland in connection with the Irish war.

Charge Bad Faith

The charge was also charged with discriminating against the Irish people, and it was stated now stands "revealed before the world as the most flagrant act of bad faith by the British government and capitalists with conducting a "campaign of most unchivalrous character" in Ireland.

Peace Union Calls on President to Take Early Steps Toward Agreement

IGNORANCE OF GEOGRAPHY IS TRADE BARRIER

Americans at Riga Declare the English, German and Dutch Firms Reap Rich Harvest in Baltic States

RIGA, Latvia, (AP)—Millions of dollars in ready cash are going to English, German and Dutch firms from the Baltic states because of the almost unbelievable unfamiliarity of even the largest American firms with foreign trading conditions, and even geography, say Americans here.

Dozens of big orders for which cash was actually in the banks in New York have been lost to America because of what American representatives in the Baltic states term absolute stupidity.

Efficiency Terms Limit.

"It is time," said one of these Americans in Riga who has had to place many orders in Germany and in England, when American firms have them, that the heads of American firms realize what the subordinate in charge of their foreign trading departments are doing to them by such stupidity. Most of them, brought up on so-called American efficiency systems that may work well on home but are absolutely hopeless abroad, try to do business in Europe according to "form 22" or "form 24" or whatever form they would apply to similar deals in America.

"To illustrate, not long ago I had an urgent cash order for 40,000 suits of underclothing for a Baltic state. I telegraphed to a big American firm, 'What American representative in the Baltic states is doing to them by such stupidity. Most of them, brought up on so-called American efficiency systems that may work well on home but are absolutely hopeless abroad, try to do business in Europe according to 'form 22' or 'form 24' or whatever form they would apply to similar deals in America."

"Two or three days later, when some bright young credit man had tried to digest this telegram, I received a cable, saying: 'Wire your credit rating and references.'"

"Now, I suppose his 'form 22' required him to do that, but I wired back, 'My credit references are cash in New York bank. What are your prices?'"

"Some days later, I received a telegram saying: 'Price dollar twenty' or something like that."

Valuable Time Lost.

"More valuable time was lost in an exchange of telegrams asking what they meant, per garment or per suit. The result was that I wired an English firm. My answer from it was complete, just what I wanted. The telegram came in the price, weight of shipment, probable date of delivery and everything that I wanted to know. The English firm got the order and took the cash in the New York bank."

"When I write American firms for catalogues, I get catalogues without prices. I suppose they think it unbusiness to print them. Then I write for price lists and get price lists without catalogues."

"German or British firms print complete catalogues, giving just what one wants to know. They save valuable weeks of mail correspondence and get the orders."

"Another American in trade in Riga showed the correspondent a cablegram from one of the biggest oil companies in America in reply to his telegram which said: 'Quote me price refined, coal oil delivered in Riga.' The answer read: 'Crude oil has gone up 20 cents a barrel.'"

"Now," said this American dealer, "I didn't want to know about crude oil and I haven't time to figure out what effect a rise in its price would have on coal oil that was badly wanted by my buyer."

"In many of such ridiculous cases I have telegraphed directly to the heads of firms in America explaining the situation and have received prompt satisfaction. But I haven't the time to write all of them. Both Germans and English get it, perhaps half of the letters sent by American firms to the Baltic states bear only two cent postage stamps, paying no attention to the fact that the buyers to dig down in their pockets to pay postage due in rubles or marks of whatever the unit happens to be.

Some of them bear fantastic addresses, such as 'Riga, Russia, via the Pacific. One letter in reply to request to ship for cash a big consignment of goods from New York to Riga said the firm's name 'but had no shipping facilities on the Pacific.'"

GODS OF TRADE GRIND AT HISTORIC LANDMARK

Ancient Palaces of Rome Fall Before Irresistible Demands of Commerce

ROME, (AP)—Slowly the god of commerce is grinding away a little at a time the romance and antiquity of this cradle of civilization.

The Corso, from the time of Roman emperors the busiest thoroughfare of the city, is losing its ancient character, the four huge triumphal arches which once spanned the street, were destroyed centuries ago. Palaces and churches were left but the palaces are falling before the irresistible demands of commerce.

Two huge old palaces occupying a site half-way up the Corso have already gone down. In their places have been raised two big, gaudy structures to be occupied by banks, which stand out in bold contrast to the architecture of the ancient city of antiquity.

When the palaces are not torn down they are modified in such a way, that the interior decoration, some of which dates from the best of centuries, is offset and sometimes plastered. Numerous alterations are made to suit the necessities of business.

In the center of the church of St. John Lateran is located, a new amusement company has taken possession of a large square of vacant ground and has erected a grand roller coaster, ferns, wheels and ride shows. The romance and beauty of the spot has vanished.

Only Three Out of Fifty Houses of Knockroghery Left Standing when the Raiders Pass

DUBLIN, (AP)—The burning of virtually the entire village of Knockroghery, near Roscommon, by armed men, was reported here Tuesday. The village contained about fifty houses, only three of which were left standing.

The people of the village rushed from their houses in terror amid a hail of rifle and revolver bullets and ran through the fields. Later the children and aged persons found refuge in a Presbyterian church, which the raiders attempted to burn, but failed. The village is a mass of smoldering ruins.

PATTON'S MIGHTY CLUB SPEAKS BREAKING UP A CLASSIC JOUST FOR PITCHER DONALD LINDVILLE

Idaho Department Store Moundsman Holds the Elks to No Hits and No Runs for Six and One-Third Rounds, then Opposing Captain Drops a Couple into Vacant Territory and Counts on Error by Infielder

ONE two-base punch, dropped in the unoccupied territory between right and center fields yesterday, gave the ball immortal for Don Lindville. Incidentally the hit passed the way for the only run on the Elks' last night's game, which was won by the L. D. B. 5 to 1.

The "Grandpa" Patton, the tobacco veteran of Twin Falls district baseball, goes credit for breaking up a no-hit no-run fracas for Lindville, his blood-gone being responsible for the mighty wallop into no man's land.

The break-up came in the seventh round, after Lindville had disposed of Neuman, first batter up on this occasion. The sturdy flinger of the department store up to that time had not allowed anything that could be manufactured into a hit, men getting on twice only prior to "Pat's" blow.

Neuman Steadies. Although Lindville twirled masterly ball throughout his tenure of mound office, "Otto" Neuman performed nicely as the hill for the herd after the first inning, which was an era of unselfish and willingness on part of the flinger.

In the third Neuman demonstrated good and bad pitching, but managed to get by without great disaster. Exaggerated out to the second baseman, and E. Kieffer drew walks.

FRENCHMAN CAN WIN BUT ONLY BY A MIRACLE

Percy Hammond, Writer, Finds Nothing to Support Carpenter's Claim of a Miracle

By PERCY HAMMOND. Manassas, Long Island, heard by the training camp of M. Carpenter.

Like the referee of a prize fight, I am arrive at no decision. But for the time aspect of things in and around M. Carpenter's headquarters on the Long Island littoral, I get an impression.

Mood Changes at Camp. How bright he was as we passed the handsome hames of the actors, and how comfortably philanthropic he manifested.

Ask for Last Look. A grim, unsmiling secretary approached as we parked among the mourners and asked us why we desired to desecrate the cloister.

Oldest one, the famous horse owned by the Duke of Devonshire, held his master's fate in the balance.

with rakes upon the front steps of his farm house. He looked to far from home a stranger in a strange land.

Mr. Gardner, he led me up to look at him the tears gathered in his eyes, so white and innocent did seem to be for such an inevitable sacrifice.

As a layman who has seen Dempsey fight twice and Carpenter once my prognostications mean nothing.

Mr. Neuman, whose calm judgment evokes my admiration, standing on the hillside meadow near the Carpenter dressing room, said to me and Mr. Orr.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., (AP)—Selection of Harry Ertle as referee of the world's heavyweight championship contest between Jack Dempsey.

Joseph Cassidy, secretary of the New Jersey boxing commission, was expected officially to announce the selection of Ertle today.

Eventually M. Carpenter, the uncle and modern Don Quixote, appeared. He neigh the words we could see him or we peered through the hedges seated Dempsey is more concerned over the report that he has been named as co-refereed in a divorce case at Pawhuska, Okla., than he is over the referee controversy.

Mr. Newman, who is homo floster and this thing has upset him," Cannon said. "He doesn't even know any body in Pawhuska and never has written to anybody there."

"I don't see much," said Mr. Brennan after investigating Carpenter so he must be under cover.

That is it, my friends, Carpenter stands a chance. He can win by a miracle, and only by a miracle.

CHINA SEES NO NEED FOR TALK WITH JAPANESE

National Attitude of Suspicion with which Mikado's Proposals Relative to Shantung are Viewed Finds Expression

PEKING, (AP)—China believes there is no occasion for opening negotiations with Japan relative to the restoration of China of the Shantung peninsula, and regards with suspicion Japan's suggestions in this direction. This is the view of Dr. W. W. Yen, Chinese minister of foreign affairs, who has given the Associated Press a statement of this country's position in the Shantung controversy. He asserted that in the past China had always lost territory or prestige as a result of negotiations over international questions.

Wants Advance Information.
"If Japan insists unconditionally to restore the German leased territory in Shantung and the Inalienable rights and privileges formerly enjoyed by Germany," he declared, "China will announce that fact to the world in an unequivocal terms. If she proposes to make conditions for such restitution, she should likewise frankly announce the terms for all nations to pronounce judgment upon them. China does not want an empty restoration, but wishes to know in advance what restoration it means. She does not propose to do with all public buildings, docks, railways, terminals, railways, mines, the property seized by Japan, since her occupation, by the same side of the industry, and the revenues from the railways collected by Japan during her occupation. Let Japan go on record as to what she intends to do with these and other questions, and there will be no need for negotiations. Jealous of Rights in League."
"Further more China does not wish to jeopardize her right to carry the Shantung question to the league of nations by entering into direct negotiations."

COMING YEARS CRISIS OF AGES

Baptist Convention President Stresses Growing Laxity in Moral Conceptions

DES MOINES, Ia., (AP)—Messages from President Harding, Secretary of State Charles E. Hughes, and Secretary of Labor James J. Davis were read at the opening session of the fourteenth annual convention of the Northern Baptists conference here this morning.

"Please express to the convention," President Harding's message read, "the assurance of my continued and earnest interest in the work of the church and my great appreciation of the kindly sentiment and support you have extended to me. I am sure we will all agree that in the troublous times through which we are passing there is a special reason for placing our fullest reliance on those fundamentals to which the church is unceasingly devoted."

DES MOINES, Ia., (AP)—The year of 1921—marks a "crisis of the ages," the Hon. Ernest L. Tustin, president of the Northern Baptist convention, and a well known Philadelphian, declared today in his opening address at the fourteenth annual convention of Northern Baptists in session in this city.

He laid emphasis upon the "great extravagances in living," the "deplorable lowering of morals in our social life," the "moral degeneration and let-down in the habits of our young people," the "morale in our local politics perhaps lower than ever before" and the "non-church-going and non-religious people, whose knowledge of the sacraments is chiefly confined to those of marriage and of death" as evidence of such a crisis.

He is declared, "A clear, distinct call throughout the land for the unification of all forces of Christianity to consider the great questions confronting the political, business and religious world."

Thousands of Epenthritis.

"Countless thousands of our people are running beyond their means, and living without the economic care and saving of our forefathers," Mr. Tustin said. "There has come into the minds of the many a desire for equality of condition. In business lines, the whole assumption seems to be: get money; get it honestly if possible, but get money. In our local politics, there is lower perhaps today than ever before. In nearly every city of our country the work of the boss is supreme."

As an evidence of the lowering of our social morals, Mr. Tustin cites the "terrible indictment" of young women contained in the advice recently given by another denomination which charged them not to swear, to give up drinking, quit gambling, refrain from immodest dress, and stop joy-riding. He said that there was an "equivalent degeneration and let-down in the habits of our young men."

The cure, he said, can come only by a united effort of all protestants. The marked decrease in church membership, he said, while fraternal and worldly organizations are increasing in membership, led to the fact that "The great lack in the followers of Christianity of the present day is that we do not possess the fervor, the heart throbs, which characterized the Chris-

Blair Restive as Congress Dallies on Beer Measures

Internal Revenue Commission or World Dispose of Question Soon

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Announcing today that he would consider as soon as possible regulations permitting the use of beer for medicinal purposes, Internal Revenue Commissioner Blair said he did not believe the bureau should wait indefinitely on congressional action on another legislation. The beer regulations are now before Mr. Blair.

"I am not a man of a century ago. We allow our affairs to be run out of our devotion and loyalty to our religious life."

Task of Sunday School.
Better Sunday schools and bible schools would counteract the moral let-down among young people today, he declared. He urged the Northern Baptists to sustain and develop the 22 colleges and 43 schools of the denomination, and to earnestly strive for the religious education of all our people, from the cradle to the grave. He urged the practice of tithing upon the denomination.

"I am sincerely with the coming of this convention a tremendous forward movement for another Pentecost," he said in closing.

Civilization's Greatest Achievement

Some Eskimos were brought down to Edmonton, Alberta, on official business. They had never before been south of the Arctic Circle.

They had never seen a street, a town, a window, or a wooden door. A bed, a water tap, and an electric light produced completely new sensations. Street cars were unknown to them; telephones unheard of; trains not to be believed even when beheld.

They had never seen an automobile until someone took them riding in one. They had never set their eyes on an airplane unless someone did his most daring stunts in one to thrill them. They had never even seen a movie!

But what do you suppose moved them most in the whole bag of tricks which civilization produced for their amusement and amazement?

What seemed to them the greatest wonder of all?

The cold storage plants!

The White Man didn't always have to hunt and fish when he wanted to eat!

Here was civilization's greatest gift, its greatest benefaction.

This feature of civilization makes it possible for Swift & Company, in the season of over production, to store a supply of food for distribution in the season of scant, or non-production.
