SIX FULL DAYS ON PROGRAM OF ELKS CONCLAVE

Los Angeles Makes Elaborate Preparations for Entertainment of Visiting Lodge-men at Annual Convention

LOS ANGELES, Cal., (AP)—Six days filled with pageants, parades, excursions, banquets, barbecues, balls and business sessions lie ahead of delegates and other members of the Benevolent Protective Order of Elks when they arrive here tomorrow for the annual sessions of the grand lodge of the order.

While the grand lodge will not be officially opened until Monday night, the program arranged by Los Angeles lodge No. 59, provides for something to interest the visitors from the time their special trains pull in tomorrow morning until the following Friday, when the gathering closes with a ball at one of Los Angeles' new hotels.

Harding to Be Remembered
Business sessions of the grand lodge open Tuesday. One of its first actions, it is expected, will be to send a fraternal greeting to Brother Warren G. Harding, president of the United States.

Election of officers is scheduled for Wednesday. According to local Elks the only person talked of for the office of Grand Exalted is William W. McQuinn, of Flint, Michigan. Selection of a place for the 1922 grand lodge meeting is expected to follow.

Business sessions will be held on Thursday and Friday. Interested will be trips to Catalina Island, Santa Monica, Long Beach, Redondo Beach, Pasadena, and other nearby resorts. The amusements, in which the delegates and their companions will march, grounded according to report, will be held Thursday morning.

Many Delegates Expected
There are 1415 lodges of the order, each of which is entitled to send one delegate. Past exalted rulers of the lodges are also members of the grand lodge, and the local committees anticipate they will swell the number of official representatives to at least 2000.

ENGLAND APPEALS TO BUSINESS EXPERIENCE

Postmaster-General Wants Advice in Running Communication Systems

LONDON, (AP)—The postmaster-general has called upon the business men of Great Britain to aid him in solving the problem of how to operate the postal telegraph and telephone services efficiently and without a deficit.

A council of business men has been appointed to assist in the management of the department. It Gordon Solferino, the American merchant in London, is one of the 10 appointees. The others include bank directors, presidents of chambers of commerce, railroad managers and other leaders of industry. One is a newspaper proprietor, Viscount Barnham of the London Daily Telegraph.

The postoffice department estimates for the current year show a deficit of $3,600,000. The postmaster-general had the rates on the second class mail but now this project has been abandoned.

The question why the department should show a loss has been the subject of much debate in the newspapers. The department has a monopoly in the United Kingdom of the mails, telegraphs and telephone, thus making it the greatest business in the country.

Yet, on a combined revenue of $70,000,000 a year it has been run at a loss. One writer has attributed the deficit to the doubling of the penny postage on letters which took place during the war and its retention since.

PLENTY OF EVIDENCE SHOWS TESTING VALUE

Department of Agriculture Has Files of Information on Cow Problem

There is plenty of evidence on file in the United States department of agriculture to convince anyone of the value of cow testing associations as a means of developing profitable dairy herds. In all these associations records are kept of the amount of milk produced and feed consumed by each cow, and with this information the members of the associations are able to weed out the poor producers of the herd to make room for the better calves of the cows that give the largest production of milk and butterfat. This practice, together with the use of purebred bulls, is the best and surest way of building up the dairy herd, say dairy specialists of the department.

The Grove City, Pa., Cow Testing association has developed some high producers by this method, and is an illustration of what it is possible for such an organization to do. In one month recently there were 70 cows in the Grove City association that produced more than 30 pounds of butterfat each. Of this number 22 produced more than 40 pounds. Most of the animals that produced a larger amount were three years of age or over, but there were seven cows under three years of age that produced more than 40 pounds. The highest yield was 73.42 pounds of butterfat, which was made by a three-year-old Holstein. The highest yield made by an animal under three years of age was 58 pounds, produced by a 2-year-old Jersey.

HOTEL MEN FEEL NEED OF SCHOOL

National Organization to Consider Training Course Proposals at Conclave

CHICAGO, (AP)—The character of the American hotel business may be affected in marked degree by action taken at the annual meeting of the American Hotel association opening here Monday, according to Secretary J. K. Blatchford. He reported those proposals coming up:

Recommendation of the Federal Board for Vocational Education that the hotels set aside $100,000 to establish training schools for employes. Reorganization of the national hotel association to put it on a delegate basis. Suggestion that a travel bureau be established in the department of the industry to encourage travel in this country.

Enactment of "right name" legislation making false registration punishable by law. Secretary Blatchford said that one of the leading universities of the country was considering a course in hotel management.

"Since the passing of the hotel bar with prohibition," he added, "the public regards the hotel business in a better light, and fathers and mothers are more inclined to view it as a field for their sons and daughters. The need for the development of hotel executive and employes is urgent. I think if the recommendations of the vocational board are acted upon the hotels will attract some of the best talent to be had."

Other allied conventions to be held here next week include those of the Hotel Men's Mutual Benefit association, the Great Lakes Hotel association, the American Caterers' association, the International Stewards' association, the American Association of Dining Car Superintendents, and the Grocers of America.

EXPERIMENT STATION HAS NEW PATHOLOGIST

J. M. Reader Comes from East to Join Extension Course Faculty

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow, (Special)—J. M. Reader, of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., is a new arrival on the university campus, having come to take the position of assistant plant pathologist in the agricultural experiment station.

Mr. Reader will leave in about a week in company with G. W. Hingford, plant pathologist, to make a study of potato diseases in certain sections of south Idaho in which they are known to be serious. Mr. Hingford will make comparatively brief visits, but Mr. Reader will spend much of the summer in counties of the south.

Mr. Reader received the degree of bachelor of science from Iowa Agricultural college at Ames in 1915. After farming in Pennsylvania and in Iowa and spending a year in military service, he studied at Ames for the degree of master of science in plant pathology, which he received in 1920. For the last year he has been teaching plant pathology at Ames.

Amesbury Has Novel Warning to Speeders

AMESBURY, Mass., (AP)—"Go slow and see our town; go fast and see our jail."

This combined invitation and admonition posted conspicuously along the state highway has proved an effective means of stopping automobile speed.

Tourists from Boston to resorts in New Hampshire and Maine pass through Amesbury in large numbers and the good roads have tempted fast traveling. As the laying of asphalt lines had no material effect on the number of speedsters, Chief of Police Rogers decided to post the signs.

Their effectiveness was shown by the fact that on the first Sunday the signs appeared there were no overnight guests at the police station.

KEROSENE USED OFTEN HOLDS MITES IN CHECK

Pest of Henhouse Can Be Controlled by Application of Lamp Oil

Mites, as well as lice, are troublesome and harmful to poultry. They do not live upon the birds like lice, but during the day hide in the cracks and crevices of the roosts and walls of the house and at night they come out and get upon the fowls. Mites suck the blood, and if allowed to become plentiful, as they certainly will if not destroyed, will affect seriously the health of fowls, and consequently their ability to lay eggs. Specialists in the United States department of agriculture recommend thorough applications of carbolineum, kerosene, or some of the coal tar preparations sold for this purpose, or crude petroleum, to the interior of the poultry house.

Commercial kerosene products are more expensive, but retain their killing power longer, and the cost of treatment may be lessened by reducing with an equal part of kerosene. Crude petroleum will spray better if diluted with one part of kerosene to four parts of crude oil. Both the crude petroleum and the kerosene products often contain foreign particles, so should be strained before attempting to spray. One must be sure that the spray reaches all the cracks and crevices, giving special attention to the roosts, dropping boards, and nests, and the treatment should be repeated two or three times at intervals of a week or ten days.

EASTERNER FINDS WESTERN HOSPITALITY IDEA AMPLY EXEMPLIFIED WITHIN AREA OF TWIN FALLS PARK FOR TRAVELING FOLK

Cosmopolitanism is the Watchword at Local Tourist Park where Gaddlers from All Parts of the Country Brush Elbows and Discuss Kindred Adventures of the Road in Experiences of Seeing How Big the Country Is

(By K. P.) If you happen to be a "Minn., "folky" sort of person who enjoys people, even without the conventionalities of an introduction, you will find much pleasure and food for meditation in an evening spent at the tourist park. Here are the travelers, literally, from all points of the compass. They are sometimes wise and observing, and their discussions bear upon things they have seen are keenly interesting; sometimes they are superficial, and one wonders that from so big a variety of people they have not more of the view. Their reactions to the vicissitudes of the road are always the first impressions to be established, and second, the relative merits of the trip. These travelers who have come from states east of the Mississippi say that the idea of a tourist park seems to be the outgrowth of the western idea of looking for a place to stay in the east—that only the larger places in the middle west have embraced the idea, but that practically all towns, large or small, have taken up the idea of the tourist park, and that the best sort of accommodation for the auto traveling public. Many are en route to Yellowstone park or are homeward bound from a vacation in the west. They report an average of 500 cars now daily entering the park, and that all accommodations are taxed to their present capacity. Recreational travel is the order of the day, and visitors are simply traveling, looking for a location where living conditions are better suited to their needs, and the variety is unlimited among the Twin Falls town and country present a better aspect than any other place they have seen. Many of them have taken work on the farms, and are engaged in the business of re-arranging. Excursion in Travel.

Former Kaiser Seeks To Evade Doorn Taxes

LONDON, (AP)—Former Emperor William is in conflict with the municipal council at Doorn over the question of paying local taxes, and the president of the law is threatened to enforce payment, according to a Doorn dispatch to the Daily Mail. William is said to contend that the municipality is not entitled to demand that he should pay taxes against him because he came to Holland "unwillingly" and is practically held a prisoner; therefore he is not liable to taxation as a free citizen. It is understood by the council that he came voluntarily.

Gotham Sets Price on Heads of Stray Cats

NEW YORK, (AP)—Cats of the East side are leading a dog's life. Whether they be the common alley or stray variety, or the prized pet of some fortunate household they must be wary, for the city of Gotham has decided to put a price on their heads. Small boys have become their enemies. It all came through the discovery that a man, whose name was not known, would pay for an animal to be taken to the pound for each cat brought to the headquarters of the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. The idea, it was learned, is to exterminate all stray cats in the move to prevent spreading of disease. All cats became stray cats to the youthful huntmen, and some of these have been reported as high as 25 cents for a day's work.

BATTERY-IN SERVICE TO AID SPEECH-MAKER

Exido System Used as "Amplifier" when President Made Inaugural Address

George Wallace, manager of the local Exido Service station, brought out an interesting fact the other day when he told how Exido batteries were used to help carry President Harding's voice to the cager through gathered at the capitol to hear his inaugural speech.

An ingenious arrangement known as the amplifier system was used. This system consisted of an exceedingly delicate apparatus, electrically sensitized, and connected at one end to a receiver standing in front of the president. The other end was connected to immense hoops, 11 feet in length, through which, even those on the outskirts of the crowd at a distance of 500 feet, were enabled to hear distinctly by the complete inaugural address.

The life-giving element in connection with this system which was said to be the largest ever attempted, was electrically. A constant supply of energy issuing from a dependable source was absolutely necessary. Naturally, the one source which could be depended upon implicitly, was storage battery power.

After careful consideration by prominent electrical engineers Exido batteries were decided upon. Nine Exido batteries were employed, varying in size from six-cell batteries such as are used ordinarily for automobile starting and lighting to a 66-cell battery similar to those used for propelling trucks, tractors and storage battery locomotives.

These batteries did not "fall down on the job" as is evidenced by the uninterrupted services they rendered until the close of the inaugural ceremonies was over.
