BULGARIA AND JUGO-SLAVIA TO BURY HATCHET

Mutual Desire for Free Outlet at Aegean Sea Tends to Bring the Neighboring Slav States Nearer Together

SOFIA, (AP)—Bulgaria and Jugoslavia are moving slowly toward reconciliation. The opposition which the Greek policy meets in certain great and small powers has somewhat frustrated their efforts.

Mutual desire for a free-outlet to the Aegean sea draws irresistibly the two Slav neighbors to Salonika and Thessalonica.

Taking advantage of the difficulties which are actually surrounding the Greeks, some of the powers are busy at work in Greece and Sofia, being as soon as possible the two countries together.

Czechoslovakia, in her attempt to re-establish a Slav bloc which would strengthen her effort to exert all her influence with the Serbs to overcome the resistance and the animosity of the Serbian Nationalists.

The French and Serbians in Sofia are also very active for this reconciliation which they wish to place under the patronage of France. They have been the main personal union of Bulgaria with Serbia for it would facilitate the creation of a Slav bloc to counterbalance, up to a certain extent, English influence in the Near East. At present the French are the closest advisors of the Sofia government.

TELLS WHY AMERICANS LOSE ARGENTINE TRADE

Buenos Aires Newspaper Urges United States Exporters to Revise Methods

BUENOS AIRES, (AP)—The decline in United States trade with South America, and particularly with the Argentine, forms the subject of an important article in La Epoca, the government organ.

After explaining that its present decline is due to the excessive tariff on spirits, wine and excise duties it has frequently pointed out on former occasions, La Epoca points out that despite the business agreement and commercial fore-seeing of the Argentine merchants, they refused to adopt methods to suit Latin-American conditions.

Beginning their export operations upon spot payments, failure of landing and allowed the customs to examine the goods or contents to express his consent to the goods, a concession of which he was granted but the refusal to allow an examination of the goods.

These extensions of credit added with the extraordinary action of the United States department of Argentine currency prohibition to export gold, and with the high interest rates, nine per cent, which American banks have to pay in payment of goods, these concessions have "conceded" nothing.

North American investors in this inclination to put their money into South American currencies La Epoca, nor have manufacturers consulted with the Argentine government in the preparation of a plan for the Argentine market and again the same business methods of some of the important northern ports are denounced. Finally, the department services have not really improved.

There are not enough, continues the article, to eliminate favoritism and to give the United States manufacturer a better chance to sell in the "open door" policy to eliminate favoritism and to give the United States manufacturer a better chance to sell in the "open door" policy.

The Dollar Saved Government Ten Dollars Earned

The average man does not save to exceed ten per cent of his earnings. He saves only in the form of investments for every dollar saved. That is the case he cannot be too careful to avoid unnecessary expenses. Very often a few cents' investment in a few dollars outlay later on. It is the same in buying Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It is but a few cents' investment in the use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

RULER'S VISIT WINS GREENLAND PLACE IN NEWS

Denmark's King is Guest of His Bleak American Colony, the World's Largest Island Still in Grip of Ice Age

WASHINGTON, D. C.—"The largest island in this world (if Australia be classed as a continent), the land reaching closest to the North Pole, the country harboring the northernmost civilized community, and the one land mass where conditions of the great ice age now dominant—such is Greenland," says a bulletin issued by the National Geographic society in connection with a visit now being made by the King of Denmark to his bleak American colony.

"Meritor of map fame has unwittingly confused the mind of the world in regard to Greenland," continues the bulletin. "Because the sphere is flattened out on many maps as though its surface were stretched, Greenland, vast as it is, is made to appear many times larger. It is as though the country were reflected in one of the mirrors set up at country fairs to make the sight appear flat."

Population That of Manhattan Office Building

"But viewed properly, the great northern island looks large enough to command respect. If its northernmost point were placed at the Canadian border in North Dakota its southernmost point would reach to the mouth of the Rio Grande, the southern extremity of Texas. Its greatest width is approximately equal to the distance from New York to Chicago."

"Not only is Greenland is almost continental in size, having an area of about 390,000 square miles, it has only 15,000 inhabitants, the daily population of a single huge office building in lower New York city. The reason for this sparse population is not alone the far northern position of the country, for the lower half of the island is in approximately the same latitude as the Scandinavian peninsula with its 8,900,000 souls. But, while Scandinavia is bathed by the warm Gulf stream and Iceland too is benefited by it, Greenland lies far from its influence and is washed only by Arctic currents.

"Exposed to the full effects of the frosts of the Arctic, the great island which at one time in geologic history had the climate had land verdure of California, has been changed into a frozen wilderness. The snow globe hills and valleys and even mountains have been literally buried under a sheet of snow and ice varying from hundreds to thousands of feet in thickness. All but a few mountain peaks have been submerged, and the entire vast interior of the country is a nearly level plateau of ice.

Mighty Rivers with Banks of Ice

"Only a narrow fringe along a part of the coast is free from the ice cap, and even this frozen ground is water and covered with snow. It is along the fringes of these narrow ice-free sections of the coast that the few Eskimo and Eskimo and the handful of Danes that make up the population of Greenland find a precarious livelihood.

"During the short summer the interior of Greenland presents phenomena to be found nowhere else in the world; but the frozen wastes are inaccessible and only a few eyes have beheld the changes that take place there when the sun awnings to the north. Great lakes are formed; mighty rivers flow between blue crystal banks, their waters never touching a stone nor a fragment of soil until they finally plunge down some chasm in the ice. Glaciers push out of the countless fissures, some discharging ice into the sea at the rate of 60 to 100 feet a day.

Mosses and lichens and a few flowers and shrubs spring to sudden life in the summer along the ice-free fringes of the coast, but few vegetables except radishes, turnips and lettuce can be grown. The people of Greenland are almost entirely dependent for food on the sea and on supplies brought from the outside.

U. S. Had Claim to Greenland

"Greenland was discovered and settled by Eric the Red from Iceland nearly 1000 years ago—the same Eric who sailed over the ocean to America. The settlement there for 400 years but mysteriously disappeared before Columbus' discovery. The early settlers were Norsemen. Later Norway was combined for a time with Denmark and the Danes became the heirs to the bleak island. A Danish missionary who reached the southwest shores of Greenland in 1721 was the first to renew Scandinavian settlement of the country. Other settlers followed and Denmark established a national government over the Eskimo of the coast.

"Northwest Greenland was discovered, explored and occupied as a base for polar expeditions by Americans during the nineteenth century—initially by Peary and Greely. When the United States purchased the Danish West Indies in 1917, as part of the purchase consideration it voluntarily gave up all claim to any part of Greenland. Since then the Danish government has extended its authority to the sparsely settled northwest coast and to all other inhabited sections of the island.

"The towns of Greenland are few and unimportant. Godhavn, the capital of the northern aspect, is the chief settlement and yet has only a few hundred inhabitants. Upernivik near latitude 73 degrees is the northernmost town in the world. Julianehaab near the southwest point of the island is close to the site of the settlement of Eric the Red—and in the vicinity are still to be seen the ruins of the Norse civilization that built in this isolated corner of America in the days of the early Crusades."

ARGENTINE FLYING MAN SETS ALTITUDE RECORD

Arizona Height of 5830 Feet, Outdistancing All Previous South American Aviators

BUENOS AIRES, (AP)—Eduardo Olivero, an Argentine flying man who served in the Italian army during the war in which he attained the rank of captain and won five medals, has just set a new South American flying record for altitude by attaining a height of 5830 feet.

He may have gone higher, for 8000 meters was the most the instrument would register and Olivero lost consciousness for some time on attaining this height. The record height was reached in one hour and 15 minutes.

The flight was made in exceptionally good weather. The machine used was an Italian biplane.

BARNES SPORTS LENGTHY LIST OF VICTORIES

Golfer is Reported to be the Highest Paid Professional in United States

James Barnes, who recently won the national open, said to be the highest paid professional golfer in this country. He is reported to have a five-year contract with the Pelham Country Club for $2500 a year.

Barnes was born at Cornwall, England, 20 years ago. He developed his golfing ability almost exclusively in this country. He had never before won the national open championship, but is a many-time winner of the western open and has a long list of many other national and international trophies to his credit.

Has Won Many Tourneys. In 1916 he won the professional golfers' title which he held over until 1918 because of the war. The last two years have been the busiest in his golfing career.

Has Interesting Career. Barnes' record as a golfer is extremely interesting. During the early days of his career, while at Tacoma, Wash., he displayed championship form so much so that Vardon in 1915 was led to remark of Barnes, "This is the best golfer I've seen for years."

There are few golf professionals who have won many matches in so short a time as Barnes. Lang Jim also holds the record for playing 72 holes consecutively on a championship golf course. He made a mark of 276.

UMPS CANNOT CHANGE FINDING EVEN IF MISTAKE

Entirely too many fans have an idea that umpires stick to their decisions all or when their bullheadedness. Those fans are wrong. Every umpire stands in awe in the season under a club and after he has decided that he should have decided another, but if he reversed himself, this encouraging kicks, protests and delays, he would lose his job in short order.

Very few fans stop to consider why the rule against umpires reversing themselves on decisions of fact is almost unalterable. It is for the good of the game and for the sake of the umpires and the fans.

DOWNY IS CHAMPION. NEW YORK. (AP)—Downey of Cleveland will be recognized in New York state as middleweight boxing champion following the state athletic commission's decision to annul the Cleveland boxing commission that the referee's decision in Downey's recent fight with Johnny Wilson has been reversed.

Reliefness and Occupation. "For years I have troubled with biliousness and constipation, which made life miserable for me. My appetite failed me. I lost my usual force and vitality. Pepsin preparations and cathartics only made matters worse. I do not know where I should have been today had I not tried Chamberlain's Tablets. The tablets relieve the ill feeling at once, strengthen digestive functions, helping the system to do its work naturally." writes Mrs. Rosa Poite, Birmingham, Ala.—adv.

BUHL BALL TEAM OUTCLASSED IN FIRST GAME OF BIG SERIES FOR DISTRICT CHAMPIONSHIP

Cooper is Badly Treated by Domestic Batterers who Pile Up Score 11 to 1 in Eight Innings—Oliver Weakens in Ninth and Gives Visitors Gratuitous Bunch of Counts Making Total Seven for Westenders

When Miller takes hold of one of the pitching mounds of necessity weak. The latter does not hit league pitching, though he is a pure excellence fielder and peeper. His long fly out sounded the tocsin of trouble for "Lefty" Oliver, and had Catcher Patton been in there, the thing there is no doubt that the sterling southpaw would have been yanked instantly. He stayed, however, bringing near disaster to his team.

With Miller disposed of Perry unceremoniously, the ball going far into left field after shooting with socket momentum past Bruce Watson at third base, and also sending "Old" Neuman in left field momentarily. Immediately thereafter Charlton ramed the pill into left field; Neuman cringed on the chance. Perry reached third base and romped home on the chuck in. Oliver was laid immediately after that play and was unable to locate the plate. Simpson walked but was forced by Hall, who with Charlton and third, stole down. Sherman lofted a high pop-up to shortfield, Bally muffing the catch, letting two runs over.

As Miller, then a man of the round, came to bat, Oliver looked all the part of a man all sea with no help in sight. He just could not locate the plate and Morley was sent for to rescue him. "Spud" put some speed back on his cheeks and fanned the last man of the inning.

For Buhl that is the story of the game, except as the narrative affects Cooper's twirling. The speed merchant and curve dispenser of the western outfit displayed little of the stuff that has made his name a terror to other clubs and batemen in this district. He was punched frequently and solidly during five of the eight innings in which the Fallmer were at bat, especially in the seventh and eighth. The bulk of the hitting and counting was done in those frames, in fact. It looked as though relief would have to be sent for.

An error, a sacrifice and a two-ply punch gave the locals their opening rally in the first, Bob Whitelz being recipient of a base on an error at second, and counting the starting run.

Two errors and two hits sent two runners across in the second. Biley and Bally being the counters. Morley opened the third with a single past second and advanced on an error at third base on Zienke's roller, which let Zienke on safely. Apparently Cooper mixed Bell's personal appearance with that of Zienke and, fearing the batting prowess of the latter, deliberately walked Bell. Neuman filed to the catcher, but Biley straightened out a curve and scored Morley. Moss, who had been playing hitless for Buhl, finally walked off the field. "Perce" Miller

Sherman lofted a high pop-up to shortfield, Bally muffing the catch, letting two runs over.

As Miller, then a man of the round, came to bat, Oliver looked all the part of a man all sea with no help in sight. He just could not locate the plate and Morley was sent for to rescue him. "Spud" put some speed back on his cheeks and fanned the last man of the inning.

For Buhl that is the story of the game, except as the narrative affects Cooper's twirling. The speed merchant and curve dispenser of the western outfit displayed little of the stuff that has made his name a terror to other clubs and batemen in this district. He was punched frequently and solidly during five of the eight innings in which the Fallmer were at bat, especially in the seventh and eighth. The bulk of the hitting and counting was done in those frames, in fact. It looked as though relief would have to be sent for.

An error, a sacrifice and a two-ply punch gave the locals their opening rally in the first, Bob Whitelz being recipient of a base on an error at second, and counting the starting run.

Two errors and two hits sent two runners across in the second. Biley and Bally being the counters. Morley opened the third with a single past second and advanced on an error at third base on Zienke's roller, which let Zienke on safely. Apparently Cooper mixed Bell's personal appearance with that of Zienke and, fearing the batting prowess of the latter, deliberately walked Bell. Neuman filed to the catcher, but Biley straightened out a curve and scored Morley. Moss, who had been playing hitless for Buhl, finally walked off the field. "Perce" Miller

when Miller takes hold of one of the pitching mounds of necessity weak. The latter does not hit league pitching, though he is a pure excellence fielder and peeper. His long fly out sounded the tocsin of trouble for "Lefty" Oliver, and had Catcher Patton been in there, the thing there is no doubt that the sterling southpaw would have been yanked instantly. He stayed, however, bringing near disaster to his team.

taking his place. The "old" immediately engineered a doubleplay that disposed of Zienke at the plate and Bally at first on his latter's roller. Thereafter for three innings Cooper allowed neither hit nor run, but a riot was staged in the seventh and was kept active through the eighth. Whitelz was disposed of on strikes and then the fireworks began: Watson hit for two bags and Morley for one, on error at shortstop, scored Watson and Morley counted when Zienke sacrificed. Bell was hit and when Neuman sacrificed filed Zienke counted the third run of the round. Oliver was struck out at the startoff of the eighth and Whitelz followed suit. Watson, who had been a thorn in Cooper's side all day rammed three base blow to left and was scored as Morley advanced a similarly long hit into center. Zienke singled scoring "Spud" and Bell smashed his historic homer over the center-field bleachers. Neuman, too, made a hit, but it was of a single-ply character and he died in first when Biles fanned. "Bill" Cooper had had his chance.

Year Old Campaign
Initial steps were taken here more than a year ago toward the building of the proposed southern line at Twin Falls county, with a junction at Wells with two western trunk lines. At that time soliciting committees made cursory canvasses of the city and succeeded in obtaining pledges of nearly $100,000 to the bonding issue. Unfavorable conditions prevailed and the matter was dropped in the hope that a more propitious period would dawn upon the bonding issue. Meanwhile the matter of granting a certificate of convenience and necessity was placed before the interstate commerce commission in Washington, by President Davis.

Attorney Gets Action
The petition appears to have been pigeon-holed until after Twin Falls lawyer, not connected with the promotion of the line, happened in Washington a few weeks since, called upon Chairman Myers of the commission, and called attention to the demand in this district for a rail line to the south. This seems to have awakened an interest in the commission and the scheme, and when President Davis appeared on the scene this week, the petition was taken up for consideration, resulting in favorable action.

President Wilson of the chamber of commerce, today stated that as soon as President Davis is able to give some of the satisfactory information relative to the plan for financing the line construction the chamber of commerce will take definite steps toward gathering the district's quota to the bonus.

FIGHTING AND ITS REWARD

It may not be far from the truth to suspect that agitation for revision of freight rates that has reached considerable proportions among potato growers of the Caldwell district has had a good deal to do with the decision of the Union Pacific to make effective a lower rate on shipments of Idaho potatoes.

Whether or not the relief promised is adequate is a relatively small matter in comparison with the significance of the fact that a protest has been made, and it has proven sufficiently effective to get some action from the railroad management. Similarly it may be expected that intelligent and constructive criticism of the rates problem that may be presented by patrons of the railroads will not be disregarded.

It is not to be expected, however, that revision of rates will come through voluntary action of the carriers. They have been too hard-pressed by exigencies of war and reconditioning to surrender the chance of immediate gain unless they can be brought to see that the possible momentary loss is bound to be richly compensated in the long run. There is a great deal to be said on this subject. And a great deal of preliminary work must be done before the subject can be adequately presented. It is going to require untold effort on the part of shippers and consumers to get the case for rate revision in such shape that it may be presented with reasonable assurance of favorable action on the part of the carriers. And for the shippers and consumers of Twin Falls and neighboring communities no better scheme for carrying on this work has been suggested or likely to be put forward than the proposed organization in which the people of Cassia and Minidoka and Twin Falls counties are already enrolling themselves.

There is nothing in the decision of the railroads to lower rates on potatoes to indicate that the fight for rate revision is ended; but there is in it the basis for a great deal of optimism over the eventual outcome of the continuing campaign to this end.

TRAINING YOUTH

A professor in Boston University believes that the youth of this generation who are reared in the city lose much that makes them resourceful and self-reliant. He thinks that the elemental, primitive things of life are needed as a background. In carrying out his ideas with his four sons he has arranged things so that they have had experience with everything that lives and grows on a farm and in the woods about their home. They have gone forth barefooted while fishing in summer and they have tramped in winter, wading through the snow. They have been given the fullest possible acquaintance with animal and vegetable life. He says he would do the same thing with girls, if he had them. According to his theory such training is needed to make them alert and hardy. The reasons that prompted him primarily to give his sons instructions in the primitive things of life are not less interesting. In studying "Snowbound" in his classes he found that his pupils, city-bred, did not know the meaning of the terms used. They were unable to picture in the mind's eye a New England farm on a winter's night. Such things were not a part of their world. Yet, it is true that one cannot comprehend much of our best literature unless acquainted with the conditions that surrounded life in an earlier day.

What the Boston professor suggested privately with his own son the Boy Scout movement is doing on much the same line, though perhaps not so extensively, for thousands of youth of the coming generation, so that the ideas held by the professor are not his exclusive property.

More Truth Than Poetry

Blissfully Deceived

By S. E. KISER

He is large around the waist, Age is telling on him clearly; He no longer has a test, For the things youth values dearest, She contrives to let him think That he makes her pathway pleasant, That her smiles always kind, So that when he isn't present.

She sits dreaming on the beach, While she a splash in the water; She's a suspicious looking peach, Young enough to be his daughter. Often when he's nodding she Flirts a little—can you blame her? Why should other women be Anxious always to defame her?

She has made him very glad, By pretending to adore him; What's the harm if she has had Others on her string before him? He is foolish, and kindly, By her counterfeit affection; Many things she dares to do, That would hardly bear inspection.

When she can she goes away To escape his fond embraces, Finding joy in lively plays, He believes it makes her sleek. When, in Sunday, she must leave him; It would be a sorry trick, Poor old kid—to undecieve him!

ENFORCING THE LAW

When a quart bottle of booze is taken from a man who works for his living, that is the last he sees of it. When a millionaire's $50,000 worth of booze is seized some court decides that an annoying mistake was made.

Altogether, the Indian youth had to demonstrate his capability in woodcraft, in his resourcefulness in obtaining food and his ability to endure privation before he was admitted as a warrior. The Boy Scouts are taught to be self-sustaining amid conditions where one is not so trained would flounder. The Boston professor may have plans somewhat different from the Boy Scouts, but the end to be reached is the same. Each seeks to develop individuality and self-reliance through encouraging a desire for increased knowledge by pointing the direction to take.

ALL-GOVTN AUTOMOBILES

Already there are many experts researching after a good substitute for gasoline as a motive power for the automobile. The electrically-driven car will help none, but unless the electrical motor is developed beyond the point now in sight there will be for a long time to come the need to watch for an efficient replacer of gasoline.

Alcohol as a substitute is in the childhood of its experimental stage. Other fuels in fluid form are being experimented with. One authority declares that already another substance, coal dust, has actually passed the period of experimentation and is designed to become a general fuel for cars to take the place of gasoline. With this suggested revolution in fuel there will be other changes, students and scientists and prophets declare.

There is demand for a lighter car than is now made, it is claimed, and the rather unusual announcement is forthcoming that a material made of cotton formaldehyde and glue, a composition which will meet the existing and peculiar demands for a material out of which to manufacture a light and exceedingly strong vehicle is actually being made. Money with which to buy cars has been made out of cotton and glue and formaldehyde but the making of an automobile directly out of those elements is a new and startling suggestion even in these days when patent is produced from cotton seed and quinine obtained from coal tar.

NO DISARMAMENT 'EXAMPLE'

Secretary Weeks is exactly right in his opposition to any disarming of the United States as an "example" to other nations. There must be world-wide disarmament or total disarmament, or none. America would be foolish if it junked its navy and disbanded its armed organizations without knowledge that every other nation was doing exactly the same thing at the same time. This world has a lot of Bryans in it, who think that the way to stop an invading army is to present the commander with a bouquet of roses, but the point of view toward the Far East which is forceful and yet not imperialistic; it is a statement from which it is hardly conceivable that any demagogue will dissent and upon which this nation can afford to stand even though it involves strained relations with certain governments.

The incident involved in the Hughes note is of little consequence but it gives us a vivid glimpse of the drama that is being played in the Orient—also of the origin of the vague, mysterious but persistent rumors that the mastery of the Pacific will some day (perhaps in the not distant future) be put to the test. Secretary Hughes has made the American position so plain that it cannot be misunderstood and it is now the duty of certain foreign chancelleries to "lay all their cards on the table," to meet the United States at least halfway and show some evidence of good faith upon which the peace of the world must depend.

Viewed in the light of all the collateral circumstances, the Hughes note is not the consummation of the Anglo-Japanese treaty being weighed in the balance by the imperial conference in London. The American government soon will ask the British and Japanese governments to discuss the question of disarmament or at least of a suspension of naval building. With these two pivotal issues soon to reach a focus Mr. Hughes has again in his own words indicated the attitude of the United States in no mood to suffer an infringement of the treaty rights in China or a violation of the "open door" principle, no matter how peaceful and conciliatory its policy may be.

CHURCH BELL OF MODEST TONE IS HARD TO FIND

Congregation Must Wait on the Factory to Make Up Special Order to Meet Needs

CINCINNATI, O., (AP)—Gauging bell shunning has its difficulties and its annoyances, chief of which is the noise made when the wares are sampled. But bell shunning at the moment of averting one's attention in all right directions. Recently Albert Krugger, shoe manufacturer, and a dozen other residents of Grandin town, the ultra-exclusive residential community of this city, obtained in January an injunction restraining the Holy Angels church in that neighborhood from ringing its bell so early in the morning when the residents of the top of their sleeping form. It was set out in the petition that the vibration from the bell shook the surrounding homes.

None of the bells was found to be suitable and the foundry company says that it will not make a bell weighing about one-third as much as the present bell and then them with alloy of copper to lessen the sharpness of the sound; they will be ready in ten days and will be installed after the injunction remains effective.

CANADIAN OFFICIALS EXAMINE PORTNEY TARIFF SCHEDULE

WINNIPEG—Canadian officials are examining the details of the Portney tariff bill which has just been introduced into the United States congress. It is generally realized the new tariff will have a very considerable effect upon Canadian trade, especially as regards the foodstuffs and raw materials groups. Canadian experts expect to see this year in what and other cereals and has been looking to marketing them in the United States. Businessmen fear that the tariff prevents European countries from being large buyers. The new United States tariff duties, however, will make this import and Canada will be obliged to finance her own crops.

The Dog as Human Food

The dog forms an important article of food among many nations. In China, the Society Islands, etc., young puppies are considered a great delicacy and are eaten by Europeans who have overcome their prejudices to be very sweet and palatable. The taste for dog's flesh is of very early origin. The ancients regarded a young and fat dog as excellent food; and Hippocrates placed it as a fooding with milk. The Romans were the first to eat of sucking-puppies, and sanctified them to the gods.

RESERVE BANK REPORT IN NORTHWEST'S STATUS

Points Out Indications that Full Force of Economic Readjustment Has Been Spent on Products of Soil, Including Metals, and Sees Tendency Toward Retail Prices Fall

SAN FRANCISCO, (AP)—Indications are at hand that the full force of readjustment has been felt in the basic products of the soil, including metals, in the twelfth federal reserve district, John Perrin, chairman of the district board, said in a regular monthly statement submitted today to the federal reserve bank. Retail prices were beginning to show declines commensurate with the decrease in the cost of raw materials. The yield of deciduous fruits generally this season is shown to be less than a year ago, but the demand for fresh fruit in western markets is above normal. The movement of oranges and lemons is exceeding all previous records. Fruit canners will pack only from 30 to 75 per cent of last year's crop.

Building operations throughout the district continue to exceed those of a year ago by a wide margin. Average reductions of $1 a day have been made in wages, but the cost of lumber while a 20 per cent increase in building permits has been noted for the first six months of 1921 over a similar period last year.

Bank Closing Held Ground

The steadily declining bank closings of 29 principal cities which began in October, 1920, was arrested during the past month, the figures for June showing a 6 per cent increase over the May average. Plans of closing were said to be "good" in the western sections of Washington, Oregon, and California throughout Nevada and in the vicinity of Tucson, Ariz. Only 21 market conditions exist in the Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys and the fruit raising districts of Washington and Utah. Financial conditions of "poor" in the broad area stretching from eastern Oregon and the dry farming country west of Spokane through central and southern Idaho, Utah and Arizona, exclusive of the Prescott area.

Cattle, rice and lima beans have fallen below their previous levels. Barley, beans, copper, cotton, lamba, hogs, wheat and corn are said to be approaching the 1913 and 1914 levels. Lumber and petroleum continue to fall prices considerably in excess of the pre-war returns.

Production of crops of beans, peap, cotton and rice have occurred during their low points of the present readjustment period. A sharp upturn in prices, however, has not yet been reached. Total wheat crop in the district is estimated, as of July 1, to be 314,461,000 bushels compared with 310,677,000 bushels produced in 1920. However, the 1921 crop is estimated to be 10 per cent of last year's crop in Washington, 6 per cent in Idaho, and 4 per cent in Oregon, a total of 6,044,000 bushels.

Flour in the northwest, Flour mills in this district, increased output during June to 42 per cent of capacity, compared with 34 per cent in May and 33 per cent in June, due to increased activity of grinding mills. Washington continuing to produce at the same rate and Oregon and Idaho mills curtailing production. The production of wheat in all parts is estimated to be slightly smaller than last year. "Strong winds of high temperature in the Sacramento valley caused a loss in the per cent estimated. The second crop of wheat of fruit was withered through prevailing high temperatures in northern California during the second week of this year. The following are the favorable growing conditions reported:

Fruit Prospects Better.

In Washington, a 25,125,100 peach crop is predicted compared with 8813 tons last year when the crop was unusually poor, and a crop of 30,353 tons is forecast for 1921. In Oregon, 792 tons of 1920. In Oregon, the peach crop is again reported to be a failure and the pears to be equal to last year's crop. In California, the crop of the youth of all berries are reported to be about 60 per cent greater than last year, and supplies now going to market are temporarily in excess of demand. The crop of apples, the fresh fruit market and the canners.

Despite decreased yields of deciduous fruits this year, shipment out of California has been considerably larger than for the same time of last year, reflecting both the weakness of the local demand from canner and the curtailment, on account of spring frosts, of production in the other states. Halfloads of the state have already prepared for the increased traffic.

Livestock Trade Blackens.

Change and pasture conditions for livestock continued normal throughout the district with the exception of Arizona, where the drought and the recent rainfall has caused a shortage of grass and water. Receipts of cattle and calves at the principal markets of the district during June were a record, being most noticeable in Portland. Prices of all kinds of livestock were slightly lower at the end of June than at the beginning of the month. The June production of lumber, as reported by the four lumber associations of the district, was 377,000,000 feet, the highest figure reached during the current year. The total production was 7 per cent greater than the May cut. In the corresponding weeks of 1920 the cut was reported to be 357,000,000 feet. Shipments of lumber were 10 per cent greater than the increased cut and were less than in June, 1920, or May, 1921. Shipments decreased from 335,805,000 feet in May to 315,007,000 feet in June or 4.7 per cent and were 16.4 per cent less than the June total on hand at the mills being increased accordingly. Orders received during the month totaled 229,100,000 feet compared with 247,750,000 feet in May, a decrease of 7.5 per cent. The large majority of the orders received by the mills during the month called for mixed lots of lumber, whereas under normal conditions many lumber orders are for straight cuts of one kind of lumber.

Oil Production Increases.

Average daily production of petroleum in California during June was 337,825 barrels, an increase of 61,550 barrels a day compared with June, 1920, of 324 barrels a day compared with July, 1921. Daily shipments in June were also greater than during the previous month, averaging 220,449 barrels compared with 220,000 barrels in May, an increase of 209 barrels a day. Production continues greater than consumption, however, and stored stocks at the end of June totaled 29,705,543 barrels, representing an increase of 1,715,933 barrels during the month.

Unemployment in the district as a whole decreased during June due largely to the completion of the last year's harvest hands in the grain fields and orchards. Labor condition in the principal cities of the district are practically unchanged, the large increase in the number of unemployed in San Francisco (due to the strike in the building trades) being more offset by decreases in Los Angeles, Portland and San Francisco.

Savings Deposits Record.

Savings deposits in this district as reported by the 80 banks in the seven principal cities declined 27 hundredths of 1 per cent during this month. The total deposits in the district were $756,386,000 as compared with $752,143,000 on May 15, and $693,024,000 on June 16, 1920. The increase in savings deposits during the last year was 8.3 per cent. During the four weeks ending June 15, last, increases were shown in San Francisco, Oakland and Salt Lake City, and decreases in Los Angeles, Seattle, Portland and Spokane.

Building permits issued in the twenty principal cities of the district during June, reported by the last week, valued at $15,450,000 which was 4 per cent less than the value of permits issued during June, 1920 and 13.2 per cent less than the value of those reported in May, 1921.

LEAVES NOTHING TO CHANGE

Equipment Used in Preparation of Federal Grain Standards is Beyond Possibility of Error.

Uncle Sam has a perfectly equipped instrument flour mill and bakery in Washington, which, despite its small size, represents the best of its kind in the world. The mill and bakery is part of the equipment of the bureau of agriculture. Its principal object is to supply information which is of use in the preparation and revision of federal grain standards.

Hundreds of samples representing various grades, conditions and varieties of wheat are sent in to the mill and each of these samples is cleaned, scored, tempered, ground, bolted and baked in an electric oven. After baking the specialists can study the color, weight and moisture content of the bread and record the results obtained from the sample of wheat that was used. There is no chance for error in making these comparisons, as all the samples are treated exactly the same. The milling operations are carefully checked and the same recipe is used in utilizing the bread and baking it.

The volume test is made by placing the baked loaf in a vessel of known cubic content. Flashed, which floats its way into every crevice and does not cling to the loaf, is poured in around the loaf until the vessel is full. The quantity of faxseed used is then measured, and the difference in volume of the vessel and the volume of the faxseed needed to fill the crevices between the sides of the loaf and the loaf itself, the difference represents the volume of the loaf. It is surprising to note the difference in volume of two loaves made of different varieties of wheat.

The Iberians.

The Iberians were an ancient people living at the mouth of the Ebro River in eastern Spain. Some of the objects that the natives were called Iberians. The term now is applied to the primitive Neolithic and bronze-age men whose remains and relics are found in ancient graves and graves throughout western Europe. The race was characterized by the absence of the entire nose, the term Iberia still is frequently used in reference to Spain and Portugal especially in literature, the expression Iberian peninsula being quite common.

Brief Bits of Sport

Will help their forces attending a court session the White Sox yesterday lost again to Washington.

But the Giants trimmed the Pirates had the Braves took full out of the game, while the Ball Lake Bucs, as per usual, were playing underdog to the Seals.

With all this going on in the bigger leagues Twin Falls took Duff into the ring again, administering a painful beating to the West Enders.

The question of who is middleweight champion seems to worry a few factors apart. The rest of the country is sure it is not Johnny Wilson.

Bryan Downey of Chicago, seems to have all the right in the world to the crown, and he has laid violent hands on the insignia of the middleweight division.

The Eiks and the Electric are scheduled to pull off one of those nocturnal affairs at Lincoln park tonight.

Fans attending the thing last night seemed quite sure the balls and strikes scribbled far out there to win the game for Duff.

And, of a truth, some of his announcements seem to be thought they were, laid a decidedly off-center sound.

But then!

Maggie McGraw, manager and part owner of the Giants, seems to be getting in bad right regular lately.

McGraw has been indefinitely suspended from appearing on any ball field in the National league because of a ruckus he had recently with Umpire Bill Klem.

The Giants' manager is cited to appear in a Pittsburgh court some of these days to answer an assault charge.

McGraw has always been the stormy petrel of baseball, and seems to grow more turbulent with age.

One Seattle critic, commenting on the Seattle-Cincinnati deal, says the trade would have given Seattle the best of it had it been Gary even for a season.

The Seattle club has taken on for trial an outfielder named Harry Brown who has been playing with the Ogden, Utah, team in an independent league.

Oscar Stange, veteran catcher, now with the Los Angeles team, has been hitting in two weeks with a batted ball, vessel in a leg and though improving is not in shape to do much active work for awhile.

Ted Jordan, Ball Lake first baseman, who has been on the shelf for a month with a bad case of elbow trouble, is in shape to pitch, though his legs are not so supple or they might be, and it is possible they are permanently stiffened.

The Sacramento club is giving a trial to Carroll Confield, a high school outfielder from Ohio, who made something of a sensation in the spring by winning 10 of 20 games pitched for his school and averaging 17 strikeouts to the game in the 20 games.

That the Seattle club expects to soon have an outfielder from the New York Giants in the Bill Cunningham deal is indicated by the fact that Babe Odling has been sold to New Haven of the Eastern League. Odling did not like the west, possibly because he did not show well, and he had been used in few games by Seattle this season.

Hunny Brief and Jim Thorpe both went on home run rambages on July 13, each hitting three home runs. Brief's three were made in the Kansas City Columbus game, while Thorpe made his in the Toledo-Minneapolis game. They were not the only home run hitters of the games they played in. Charley Hight of Columbus got two and Dick Hurtus got one, and Roy Grimes, teammate of Thorpe, got one.

BOY SCOUTS

THEIR BEST NOW AND ALWAYS

Dean Mann of Cornell says:

"When the boys of today shall have become grown men, the time will have arrived when this nation will be feeling acutely the inevitable shortage of lumber for our imperative needs, unless in the meantime a new attitude and a new program for the protection of our disappearing timber supply shall have been instituted. The boy scouts of today may well exert their full effort and influence in helping to assure an adequate wood supply against the time when they will man the nation. A first and fundamental step is education—understanding the problem and the way out and helping other persons to understand it. Let the boy scouts use every means, to ward this end. It is doubly necessary now that we are again at the beginning of the camping season and the dry periods.

"The boy scouts have high ideals for national service. They know how to quicken public thought and action. I hope they will do their best now and always in this matter of forest protection and development, which is so intimately bound up with our future well-being as a nation."

SCOUTS' BIGGEST ENROLLMENT

June, 1921, showed the biggest enrollment of scouts in the history of the movement, a fact which ought to be a matter of pride and congratulation to all concerned. The more boys that come under the influence of scouting, the healthier, happier, and more the boyhood of America be, the greater the promise of its future. It is not meaningless chance that makes us hear on every side that boy scouts are in the honor rolls of our schools, that boy scouts are performing this or that civic service. Scouting rings true to its aims. It not only claims to fit boys for manhood but it does it so why shouldn't we be proud that the Boy Scouts of America number an active membership of over 400,000. Why shouldn't we salute and pay all honor to the scoutmaster, the volunteer leader of boyhood under the great banner in a great goal? Why shouldn't we say to them and each other: "Come on, let's make it 500,000 by Christmas?"

RULES FOR BOY SCOUTS

1. Do not start a forest fire.
2. Tell your companions about the damage which forest fires do.

7. Destroy cuts, blights, and other fungus foes of the forest.

Weekly Report of Bureau Tells of Good Growing Conditions Everywhere

Grant R. Bowen, Ranch Foreman, Weds Beautiful Bank Secretary after Romantic Third of a Month, Lets Her Return to Old Environment Where Love Flits Away—Decree of Divorce Entered

Decision Affects the Locators Along Dry Creek, Giving Equal Water Rights

E. M. Wolfe, attorney, has received a letter from the state supreme court advising of favorable decision in the case of Robert G. Mays against the district court, Sixth judicial district.

Typical Idaho summer weather with long cloudless, hot days and refreshing cool nights prevailed throughout the state.

When Judge W. A. Babcock this morning entered a decree in divorce issued in favor of Grant R. Bowen there was written on a new page in one of the most casual romances coming into the jurisdiction of the local district court.

The facts in the case are that many years ago, all of the water of a certain stream was adjudicated, and after the decree was rendered, settling the water rights, others located upon the stream brought suit against the prior appropriators to readjust the water rights.

Favorable Conditions. Where moisture conditions were favorable, the high temperatures and abundant sunshine made for the growing conditions, and such conditions prevailed generally in all the irrigated sections but in the dry farm districts where there has been little or no rain since June, conditions were not so favorable for rapid crop advance.

Bowen was entered divorced from Mary Alice Bowen, whom he was married to six years ago and with whom he never lived, as husband, a single hour. The plaintiff in this case, represented in court by J. P. Martin, attorney, is a resident of Twin Falls some 26 years of age, fair education, of a type that makes for good citizenship, cleanly, driving and devoted to the ordinary duties of life.

Range Drying.

The low range, especially on the south and west slopes, is drying fast, but the high range is still in good condition and the alfalfa harvest is being moved from the range in Owyhee county in considerable numbers owing to the shortage of feed on the low range.

Plaintiff in Bowen Story.

Bowen appeared in court when his petition for divorce came up for hearing today. He gave testimony that two of a most singular romances of his a few days, culminating in marriage to the woman of his choice, the loss of that woman a few hours after the wedding, and the fact that she had returned to her former life later to ever consider him her spouse, or even to permit him the privileges of her apartments in a distant city.

Field Reports.

Twin Falls, Twin Falls County—Clear and hot most of week; harvest under good headway; threshing of all alike slower will begin next week; fall advancing fast; potatoes and beet-look fine; plenty of water for irrigation.

Progressive Romance.

Grant R. Bowen was formerly foreman under Manager Donald McLean on the Roseworth ranch. Mary Alice Greenleaf Bowen was and is at present secretary to the assistant cashier in a large bank at Berkeley, California. She is an intimate friend of the McLeans, and at the time of meeting with Bowen, was about 22 years of age. As Mrs. Greenleaf she was a guest on the Roseworth ranch for July, 1920. It was about July 12 or 13 that she reached the ranch, fresh from the city and its influences.
