CORN production forecast 2,032,000,000 bushels, condition 84.5. Last month, while last year's crop was 2,262,567,000 bushels and the average production of the five years, 1915-19, was 2,218,000 bushels. The condition of the crop on July 1 was 91.1 per cent of a normal, while on August 1 last year it was 80.7 and the ten-year August 1 average is 78.1. This year's average is 108,001,000, or 4.1 per cent more than last year's.

OATS production 1,137,000,000 bushels, condition 64.5. Last month, while last year's crop was 1,238,937,000 bushels and the average production of the five years, 1915-19, was 1,432,697,000 bushels. The condition of the crop on July 1 was 77.6 per cent of a normal, while on August 1 last year it was 87.8 and the ten-year August 1 average is 81.6. This year's average is 44,829,000, or 1.6 per cent less than last year's.

DEPUTIES SORTIE IN CORRIDORS OF ILLINOIS CAPITAL

Meanwhile Governor Small Talks of Legal Action and Remains at Large

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., (AP)—Sheriff Meier and several deputies went to the state house today with the expressed intention of arresting Governor Leo Small, recently indicted on charge of embezzlement during his term as state treasurer. They waited on the lower floor for the governor to appear. The governor yesterday declared he would protect against arrest and indicated he would start legal action against the sheriff and his band when the arrest was made. The situation developed into a stalemate. The sheriff waited in a corridor on the ground floor of the state house leisurely smoking a cigar. Governor Small's outposts stationed near the door of his office kept the executive informed of the sheriff's movements and members of the governor's cabinet and close political friends peered the second floor corridor waiting for the climax. The governor's secretary announced that the governor was not going out to lunch and planned to leave the capitol not before 5 p. m. Finally Sheriff Meier entered the governor's office at 2:30 o'clock. The governor agreed to permit the sheriff to arrest him at 3 p. m.

Migration from Russia Carries Starving to Siberia and Volga River Country

MOSCOW, (AP)—On the eve of the arrival of representatives of the American relief administration and soviet Russia to discuss American relief plans the soviet government today issued a statement tending to show a gesture of relief to combat hunger than in other famine years. According to these statistics, soviet relief is progressing well and claims are made that it is possible, with limited facilities, to transport food. From June 20 to July 20, it is claimed, 50,000 peasants, who have been forced to live on grass, have effected migration to the Volga river, while 41,000 already have been transported on the Volga river.

Sheriff Tells of Fruitless Search for William Carver on Sunday Trip

ANSWERING a hazy call Sheriff E. R. Brennan and Deputy Sheriff V. H. Stranahan spent part of Sunday in the Bliss district seeking William Carver, a missing rancher. The man was not discovered but the authorities found evidence sufficient to warrant his return to Twin Falls without completing their quest. Carver, it will be recalled, a year ago last spring, was arrested for the killing of a horse steward whom he claimed had attacked him after having been ordered from Carver's ranch in the Bliss country. Carver was freed last fall and found guilty of murder. He was sentenced to serve a term of years in the state penal institution at Boise, but this spring was pardoned in order that he might return to his farm in the care of his family, which is large. On Sunday the sheriff was notified that the man, after a family disturbance, during which he whipped several of his household with a rawhide whip, snatched up a shotgun, and after announcing he would "end it all," left the house and disappeared. It is understood Governor Hays, in a like manner, and made similar threats on other occasions of this nature. The authorities satisfied themselves that he was safe before they gave up the hunt.

PARIS, (AP)—With today's meeting of the allied supreme council here to settle the Upper Silesian question all activity between the French and British delegations to the Silesian boundary apparently had disappeared. Both sides were agreed that the unity of the Silesian province must be wrecked over a matter so relatively unimportant. Mr. Lloyd George, the British prime minister, is quoted as having remarked that the mere presence of the American delegation all activity between the French and British delegations to the Silesian boundary apparently had disappeared. Both sides were agreed that the unity of the Silesian province must be wrecked over a matter so relatively unimportant.

TO DIVIDE SILESIA

PARIS, (AP)—Premier Briand of France and Mr. Lloyd George, prime minister of England, today decided at a private meeting up here, a compromise partition of Upper Silesia. It was declared here today on good authority. The compromise boundary line is understood to have been drawn approximately as follows: Beginning west of Pless on the Vistula river and running west of Olda north, west of Tost and Gross-Siehrlich north, west between Rosenberg and Kreuzburg, and thence to the frontier of Poland.

Must Be Ratified

The ratified agreement must be formally ratified by the supreme council and the possibility of this action at the late afternoon session today was forecast. At this time the international geographical experts were expected to have reported their findings.

Without Reinforcements

It was upon the private settlement being reached, it is understood that the council decided not to send reinforcements to Upper Silesia. The British and Italian and Italian delegations voting against the sending of French troops for this purpose, as France had desired.

Revised View Stands

The conviction of General Lordon of France, head of the commission, was that tonight might occur even if there were an immediate decision. The British and Italian view proposed to send reinforcements to Upper Silesia and to the German army the sending of reinforcements for the time being.

Book Lending Peace

At the opening of the session Mr. Lloyd George announced to declare the position of the British government upon what he called the menacing proposal to the peace of Europe. Silently, he said and belonged to the German army for 700 years—part of that period in Austria, but for 177 years to Prussia—and the British government would not consent to any division not based explicitly upon the votes of the Poles and the Germans in the disputed region.

PARIS, (AP)—General Lordon, head of the inter-allied commission for Upper Silesia, appeared before the supreme council here today to explain views leading up to the Non-fungible insurance there last spring. He was bitterly attacked by Germany for his alleged failure to foresee the attempt by the Poles to take over a large part of the Upper Silesian plebiscite area and there were hints that he did not take proper measures to meet the situation when it developed.

NEW SOURCE OF OIL IS SEEN IN WESTERN SHALE

Geological Survey Reports Tremendous Potential Reserve Locked Up in Formations of Rocky Mountain States

WASHINGTON, D. C., (AP)—Recent investigations by the U. S. geological survey are held by its experts to indicate that in the Rocky Mountain states "there are enormous quantities of oil shales which can be made to yield hydrocarbon oils to a much greater extent than we can hope to obtain from our oil wells."

The shales are said to constitute a tremendous potential oil reserve.

"The oil shales of this country," says the report, "contains enormous quantities of oil, but large amounts of money will have to be invested before the oil shale industry becomes of commercial importance. Estimates by various engineers of the cost of a complete retorting plant, handling 1000 tons daily, are between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000.

Development Slow Process.

"In this country the oil shale industry cannot be developed overnight and probably cannot attain success until large sums of money have been spent in perfecting mining, retorting and refining methods. A company to be successful, whenever oil shale operations become commercially feasible, must be able to employ the best technical, business and engineering skill available, to be prepared to operate on a large scale and be financially strong enough to wait several years for any large return on the money invested."

The report declares that it is "unfortunate that a large number of the many companies organized to deal with oil shale are devoting their efforts to stock selling rather than to actual building a firm basis for the industry."

No Plants Operating.

A summary of the report follows: There are no commercial oil shale plants operating in this country at the present time, although there is a well established industry in Scotland.

Many American shale deposits are richer in recoverable oil than Scotch shales now being worked, and probably nearly equal in nitrogen content, which is a measure of recoverable ammonia.

Market conditions for shale products are less favorable in this country than in Scotland.

Great quantities of American shales are of greater thickness and better suited for mining than Scotch shales.

As yet no process for obtaining oil from oil shale has been used in actual commercial practice in this country.

Must Be Used Economically.

Indications are that the United States cannot continue long to depend on domestic petroleum production to supply completely the demand for petroleum products, and that sooner or later our oil shales will have to be used to help supply the deficit.

The oil shale industry cannot hope to supplement the petroleum industry in a large way for many years, but will probably grow up from local industries in favorable places.

Costs of oil shale operations cannot be reliably estimated until commercial practice in this country furnishes the necessary basic data.

The quantity, quality and value of products to be obtained from oil shale in this country are not known with any degree of certainty.

The oil shale industry is a large scale, low-grade raw materials manufacturing enterprise, requiring large capital, high technical and business ability, and probably making slow returns on the investment. Once economic conditions become favorable for the development of the oil shale industry and satisfactory mining, retorting and refining processes worked out and markets established, there should be no ordinary business risk connected with the industry.

GENERAL ROBLES SHOT WHILE DRIVING IN CAR

Dismissal of Army Officers Leads to Tragedy on Streets of Mexico City

MEXICO CITY, (AP)—General Jose Altesio Robles, brother of the Mexican minister to Spain and to the editor of the newspaper El Democrata, was shot and killed last evening as he drove in his automobile through one of the main streets in the residence section of this city. Five armed men took part in the attack.

Following the tragedy, General Jacinto Trevino, director of the federal commission revising army service records, placed himself at the disposition of the police.

General Trevino, who has been instrumental in dismissing many army officers whom he alleged the records showed were not entitled to their rank has been bitterly attacked in El Universal, the newspaper publishing correspondence with him and his threat to investigate the editor, Senor Felix Palavicini, who announced that he carried a gun and would shoot Trevino on sight or any of his friends who made him unwise moves.

General Robles was quoted in the newspaper this morning as saying Trevino is an official and as declaring the general had refused to fight a duel with him.

General Robles, once instructor in seamanship at the Chapultepec military academy, was stationed at El Paso for a time during the Huerta administration.

You don't care how much your gasoline weighs, do you?

THAT is really all the gravity "test" tells you, accurately. The belief that it affords a reliable indication of quality is as erroneous as it is widespread.

The Baumé hydrometer for testing gravity gives you the density, or weight, of a liquid as compared with the density, or weight, of distilled water at a certain temperature. Knowing the weight of a gallon of distilled water, it is possible to compute with very great accuracy the weight of a gallon of any natural liquid including gasoline by taking its "gravity" with a hydrometer.

Only under special conditions, when considerable is known beforehand about the source of a sample of gasoline—what kind of crude it came from, how it was refined, etc.—is the hydrometer of any value in estimating its quality. Even then it is a mere rule-of-thumb method.

Boiling points determine the volatility of any gasoline

And, to quote a noted authority on the subject of gasoline, "Volatility is the basic property that determines the grade and usefulness of gasoline."—Mr. Stephen O. Andros, A.B., B.Sc., E.M., author of The Petroleum Handbook.

Unlike water, gasoline has many boiling points when properly refined, a whole chain of them in fact.

Conoco is a good example, as it contains this chain of boiling points unbroken. Various "blends" and "mixed" gasoline contain only groups of them. This difference, which materially affects the usefulness of gasoline, can be detected only by a distillation test, which discloses its boiling points, and hence its quality.

GERMANS PRESS THEIR WARES ON WORLD'S TRADE

Exporters Making Overtures to American Manufacturers, Suggesting Scheme to Keep Factories of Fatherland Busy

BREILIN. (AP)—German export manufacturers are laying plans to win control of one per cent of the world's commerce by the time the war indemnity is liquidated and to do this, which they consider essential if Germany is to meet promptly her obligations to former enemy countries and remain economically sound, "feeling" have been put out for negotiations for extensive credit loans in virtually every country interested or now attracted by German trade possibilities.

The German manufacturers, who are understood to be closely cooperating in many respects with American manufacturers, are hoping for special agreements with American manufacturers which would not take into consideration any restriction on the export of proposals of the American Finance Trade Corporation to establish a $1,000,000 buying fund in the United States for Germany.

Unstable Exchange Hinders.

Already a number of tentative agreements have been made between German and American firms on pre-war acquaintance and post-war money values, but the fluctuating mark and the high value of the dollar have retarded any large deals on a strictly cash basis out of the question.

The delay in declaring the status of war is any restriction on the export and also has embarrassed manufacturers in both countries, and even now, that peace has been declared, the situation is uncertain inasmuch as the German war debts must elapse before the negotiations of either country know approximately what the new relations will be.

The Germans are placing their principal hope for favorable relations with American concerns in a scheme by which they would act as "European agents" for the American raw material manufacture in Germany raw material sent from the United States and sell these manufactured goods to the American customers here on a percentage basis. This scheme already has been proposed to certain American manufacturers. Concerning this plan an informant in the raw material and German industrialists said:

"Many German factories are now working only half-time not because there is no market for their goods, but because they are unable to secure raw materials at reasonable prices. The cost of production in Germany is so much less than it is in America that the Americans, as well as the Germans, could co-operate profitably in meeting the European demand for manufactured articles. The market for cotton goods for agricultural machinery, for automobiles, in fact for all sorts of machinery, will not be over-supplied for many years.

"This proposal is particularly timely now, when it is estimated that the world's surplus cotton crop this year will exceed last year's by five and a half million bales. The German demand for cotton goods has been decreased by the substitutes which Germany especially have been forced to manufacture, but it would promptly revive if the goods could be placed cheaply before consumers. The high cost of labor and the high value of American money abroad makes it next to impossible for the Americans to meet this demand. The Germans feel they could do it."

Pope Appeals For Help For Russians

ROME. (AP)—An invocation to Divine Providence for the end of the tremendous scourge that is afflicting Russia is contained in the appeal of Pope Benedict for aid for the starving, plague-afflicted Russians, made in his letter to Cardinal Gasparri, the papal secretary of state, inviting all Christians and civilized peoples to contribute generously to this cause. The pope in his letter instructs Cardinal Gasparri to lay the subject before the governments of the various nations for their "prompt and efficacious common relief in the name of the love of the divine Redeemer, who gave His blood to make us all brothers."

ELECTRICS TURN AGAINST FIX AND WALLOP OUT AN 'ALMOST' VICTORY IN WEEK'S 'OPENER'

Banker's Twirler Compiles Big Lead in First Five Innings but Goes Lame and, with Bad Support, Provides Opposing "Sparkers" Opportunity to Come Up and Nearly Tie Score

AFTER going along steadily, twirling almost a tight ball against the dangerous Electric for five innings last night Phil Fix, for the Bankers, weakened and got into serious trouble before the game was over. Good hitting, coupled with some good fielding, saved him and finally pulled him out of harm's way. But the contest was won only by one run, the score at the conclusion being 8 to 6. It was dark when the hostile demonstration ended.

The first round went by without account. The Bankers' twirler, "shanty" Dingle in the second for three runs. Errors by infielders helped the winning.

Each inning in the fourth but the Bankers capped off their runs in the fifth, sending them into the lead, 7 to 1. With this commanding edge against them the Electric opened their big game against Fix and launched the onslaught round closed the lead had been shaved to one count. The Bankers added two in the seventh, but these were offset by the Electric who scored a pair in the first half of the seventh.

The game toward the last, at least, was sleepily played by both parties to an affinity, infield and outfield errors being numerous and earthy. Dingle was hit hard throughout.

The Score.

SPEED DEMONS WILL COMPETE NEXT SUNDAY

North Bay Speedway to be the Scene of Fast Automobile Races

SANTA ROSA, Cal., (AP)—Eleven automobile race drivers, most of them well-known for their work on the nation's noted speed tracks, will compete Sunday, August 14, in the first regular race on the new North Bay county speedway at Contati, near Santa Rosa.

Tony Milton, who is leading all automobile 200 drivers this year for the American Automobile association national championship, and Reacore, who is second to Milton in the year's running, will be the wheels of two of the cars next Sunday. As the race will start toward the championship, it is expected the two will make a hard fight for first place.

Other drivers entered are Eddie Jeanne, Joe Thomas, Eddie Miller, Tom Alley, Alton Soules, John A. Thiele, Ira Vail, M. J. Moosie and Jim Crocker.

A prize of $5000 goes to the winner, $3000 to the second best, $2000 to the third, $1500 to the fourth, $1000 to the fifth, $500 to the sixth, $250 to the seventh, $700 to the eighth, $600 to the ninth and $500 to the tenth.

The Contati hotel is located 45 miles north of San Francisco and hundreds from the bay cities are expected to attend. It is the third automobile racing track to be built in California, the first being at Beverly Hills, Los Angeles and Fresno.

Racing drivers say the Contati hotel is one of the finest in the United States. In preliminary speed trials some of the drivers made 112 miles an hour, sustained speed, for ten miles and the drivers' records will be broken in competition.

In reliability it is traditionally Studebaker. And the measure of public appreciation of this and other Studebaker models is indicated by the fact that Studebaker (with the exception of one manufacturer of a well known and very low priced car) led the world, during the first six months of 1921, in the number of automobiles produced and sold.

FINANCES OF STATE LEGION SUBSTANTIAL

Convention Votes Reduction of Dues Instead of Expense Assessment

Despite general outcry the country over against financial stringency, the financial standing of the Idaho Department, American Legion, is so strong that instead of finding a need for special assessment to meet extraordinary expenses the department, at the Kellogg meeting last week, found itself in position to reduce the annual dues.

The excellent condition of finances, Paul R. Taber, convention delegate just returned, claims, is due to the untiring efforts of L. F. Albert, state adjutant during the past year, who administrative and executive ability the building up of the department's general fund in his hands.

Plenty of Funds
Since organization of the state legion section individual dues per capita have been $2. It was proposed at last week's convention to assess every member a certain amount to meet expenses incident to sending delegates to the forthcoming national legion convention. A review of the department's funds proved not only adequate to meet all present demands, but it was found that the department can conduct all of its business on a reduction of 50 cents per capita in the future. This makes the annual dues $1.50 per member. On this basis dues will be paid the coming year.

Andrews Issues
The convention, besides electing H. D. Leeper of Lewiston, department commander, endorsed the legislative program of the national executive committee, involving the four-fold bonus scheme, which included cash compensation for world war veterans, loans and land options. This is the first time the legions have ever taken an official position on this important issue. The vote was overwhelmingly in favor of the bonus plan. It is the general idea to be submitted to all state legion conventions for vote as a means of pushing it through congress. The next state convention will be held in Kansas. Leo F. Bracken, former state commander, left the main body of delegates on the return trip to make an official call in Boise. He will be in Twin Falls some time this week.

BUSINESS IN THE EAST SHOWING BIG INCREASE

W. S. Parish Tells of Conditions in the Middle States—Potato Crop Falls

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Parish, of 936 Shoshone street east, are home again from an extended trip through the middle states. They were accompanied by their son and daughter, John and Miss Hazel Parish. The trip, which included visits to old friends and relatives in Illinois and Indiana and several days in the scenic portions of Colorado. Mr. and Mrs. Parish report that business activity all through the east, but says that there is no place that compares with this locality in the matter of crop prospects and general prosperity.

The potato crop in the localities passing under his observation is a failure this year, owing to the dry hot weather, and the wheat and oats suffered much damage from the same cause. Corn is an abundant crop, though the price will be held down by the reserve supply still on hand from last year.

The itinerary had been planned to include the Yellowstone park on the return trip, but hard rains and bad roads through Wyoming resulted in their earlier return home.

JUST A STEP FARTHER
It is rather a pity that, while we are at it, arrangements can't be made to provide for a light under each of the intersection traffic markers.

A very little more work would be required to connect a wire with each of these markers and the expense of making them with holes or slots instead of solid would not amount to much.

AS THE TWIG IS BENT
Complaints are constantly reaching The News office of alleged delinquencies by boys of high school age and over in the residential sections of the city.

Screen doors are broken, locks and bolts smashed and woodwork damaged in order that the gang may play a happy prank by stealing the refreshments intended for use by the guests at a party.

Mischief in the child does not, always develop into crime in the youth, but the average no-account citizen in later years, nine times out of ten, is one who in his youth enjoyed petty thievery in the guise of fun and later grew less particular about the fun part of it.

It is not necessary to raise children by a standard so rigid as to curtail and check every natural impulse, thwart initiative and destroy every last vestige of animal spirits which is the heritage of every normal child; but it is rather a pity to allow the youngsters to grow up in the belief that petty thievery is smart, property destruction a clever trick and property rights something at which to stand back and throw dubs.

Hallow's eve will soon be here with its traditional temptations for every red-blooded boy. It might be well to begin very soon to explain to the town's young hopefuls that breaking down fences is in no sense funny, that moving outhouses, defacing property, destroying trees and shrubbery, carries with it more of pain than pleasure; that it is wasteful and silly besides being expensive, unpatriotic, and, quite simply, mean.

What do the Boy Scouts think about it?
AN OLD ONE ANSWERED
This is a true story, intended for the enlightenment of Twin Falls people—if such there be—who think that the consumer pays for advertising.

A man went into a hardware store—the proprietor of which does not advertise—to purchase a patented device of brass which he wished to use as a drawer handle. The dealer asked 85 cents for it.

The customer denounced because he had paid but 25 cents for the article in the same store before the war, and he thought the new price was excessive.

But the dealer explained that the price was legitimate, and that, anyhow, the price couldn't be beaten, so he was able to do business on small profits because he didn't advertise.

The customer was unconvinced. He decided that he could do without the article, but as a matter of curiosity he went to another store, whose advertisements he had noticed at various times in the newspaper. And there he found the very thing on sale—for 20 cents.

Advertising costs money—but it sells goods. Do not believe the merchant who argues that he can undersell others because his sales are smaller than theirs and his method of doing business proportionately less expensive. Common sense should teach you that the greater number of sales a dealer makes the cheaper he can afford to sell.

And common sense should also convince you that if advertising doesn't increase sales hundreds of thousands of merchants would have quit it years ago.

It begins to look as if the coming conference to discuss reduced armaments and related questions might develop into a real peace conference, resulting in a plan to prevent war based on sound principles of justice and permanently suppressing the discredited league of nations.—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

The call for a conference to discuss disarmament is one of the greatest steps for humanity that the world has ever seen, a world that at times forgets the words of Him who said, "All they that take the sword shall perish with the sword."—Jersey Journal.

The question is by no means so complicated as some statements would make it appear. If two or three nations an agree upon treaties for their common welfare they can agree upon treaties for anything. Nations can agree not to make war as easily as they contract with each other to fight for each other.—Pittsburgh Leader.

That such a policy (disarmament) may be successfully contemplated none should doubt. Its failure might be a world calamity; its possibilities for the good of humanity are so vast that it would seem as if it could not fail.—Wall Street Journal.

Former President Wilson and Colonel House are reported as having resumed diplomatic relations, although it was not generally known that any breach existed. And anyway, what difference does it make now?

Bolshoi had having come to stay, according to the professional hindruster, the Scriptural injunction might be made to read, "She that hath ears to hear, let her hear."

What has become of the old-fashioned writer who could make a paragraph without asking what has become of the old-fashioned something-or-other?

The fainter news that is coming out of Russia just at present doesn't look like very good propaganda toward the world revolution.

The proposal to reduce the size of paper currency raises the question, whose pockets are o'er full of the stuff?

OPINIONS REPRINTED

New York is now enjoying a visit from delegates from 23 western states—California, Oregon, Utah, Nevada, Washington, Arizona, New Mexico, Idaho, Wyoming, Montana, Colorado, Nebraska and Oklahoma—who have come here to make up eastern public opinion to support plans for putting water on arid lands.

These energetic Americans know exactly what they want and they do not spare any pains to go after it. They are loaded with statistics, facts and well-considered deductions. They are convinced they have a good thing for themselves and for everybody else, and they are not afraid to tell how good they think it is, or to ask help to put it through. They are ready to exhaust or to submit to cross-examination. They are men with a mission, who take pride in being known as boosters, and want no fancy name-knockers. Nobody will hear from any of them the admission that any of the thirteen states they come from is not a fine, rich, glorious community. Any of them will admit, however, if closely questioned, that his own state is considerably better, in soil, climate, scenery, transportation facilities and people than any other state, but he will be careful to point out that this means simply an average excellence on the part of his state, not that the others are lacking in admirable natural and acquired characteristics. We salute these sturdy, upstanding, two-fisted gentlemen with affection and respect. We wish we had some plunger like them to go after the reclamation of agricultural districts which have fallen into decay in the east. Their spirit and their temper would be a fine thing in a number of Atlantic seaboard states.—New York Herald.

OUR LAD AND THEIRS
In reading the story of the awful conditions that exist in that unfortunate land of Russia where thousands upon thousands of innocent people are suffering the untold miseries of starvation and plague, we really wonder if, after all, our predicament is a serious one.

We hear from the lips of a few right here in our own little city that the country is "going to it"—"an over-the-top"—"we must get out of here, or we shall die." But we are living in a land of plenty, where the sun shines every day in the year, and where every man is free to go and come as he pleases.

But the sad and gloomy tales of those unfortunate human beings in that far-of land of Russia run try and resolve that there may be no hear whimping because of your "hard" times. We venture to say that the people of Russia would believe themselves transferred into heaven itself could they become owners of houses on the Twin Falls tract.—Buhl Republican.

ARE REPUBLICANS UNGRATEFUL?
By R. E. KISER

World war veterans are to receive no preference in Civil Service appointments. Bonus bills are being shelved. Heroes die unattended and are buried in paupers' graves.—Extracts from the news.

Turn them away, with a shrug or a nod;
Let 'em go hungry, and, after they die;
Cover them over with Potter's Field sod;
Never mind marking the spots where they lie!
Why let 'em prey you, pleading for aid?
Tell them you're busy and show them the door;
Cast from your mind any promise you've made;
Nobody's back's to the wall any more.

When will they learn that our danger is past?
Can't they perceive that the war has been fought?
Let them go where their lines have been cast,
And kindly refrain from disturbing us thought!

There are serious problems that have to be met,
We mustn't be held back by trifling affairs;
It's a lot to be having to say we regret,
That we can't putter over such troubles as theirs.

Who cares a rap how they grieve or complain?
The harrah is over, the big scare is dead,
So let them crawl into their holes and remain;
The past is behind us, we are looking for aid!
Why let 'em prey you, pleading for aid?
Tell them you're busy and show them the door;
Cast from your mind any promise you've made;
Nobody's back's to the wall any more.

Blind and consumptive and amless and lame,
Turned from the places they left at the wall;
Well, that, of course, is a part of the game—
Merely a bit of hard luck, after all.

CARBURE TRACK LEADS SLEUTHS TO BURGH GLOVE

Inquest This Afternoon Expected to Yield Solution in the Mysterious Killing of Kennedy

LOS ANGELES, Cal., (AP)—An Inquest over the body of John Belton Kennedy, slain at his summer cottage in Beverly Glen, near here, Friday night, is scheduled to be held here at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Following the inquest it was said indictments may probably be asked of the county grand jury for either one or two persons having to do closely connected with the case and able to throw light on the mysterious slaying.

Midnight Arthur C. Burch of Evanston, Ill., and Mackleyne Obenchain, former college uncle of the young man, and fiance of Kennedy, are being held in the county jail, incommunicado.

Following his return from Las Vegas, Nev., where he was arrested by Los Angeles, Burch yesterday admitted to investigators that he had rented an automobile the night of the slaying of Kennedy, the peculiar lines of which conformed to the tire tracks made by a car which had been parked in a deserted lane at the supposed time of the killing, near the Beverly Glen summer cottage where Kennedy was shot from public money.

Complaining this admission with others which Deputy Sheriff Nolan, who arrested him, says Burch had made, Nolan said he did not anticipate any difficulty in securing an indictment against Burch. "Of the indictment of Obenchain," he said, "the deputy sheriff, I am not sure."

During questioning yesterday Burch admitted, according to Nolan, that he had sat in a hotel across a downtown street from Kennedy's office watching Kennedy for ten days before the slaying, had been absent from his room when it occurred, and had left for his home in Extonston the following morning.

Certain discrepancies in Burch's statements as compared with those made by Mrs. Obenchain, divorced wife of a Chicago attorney, had not been cleared up this morning by those investigating. One of these was the statement that he had come to Los Angeles at the request of Mrs. Obenchain, who, he is said to have told the deputy sheriff, waited for him and her statement, that she had not seen for him. Mrs. Obenchain's office was according to the officers, that she had never visited Burch's room across the street from Kennedy's office. Burch told officers that she had visited him, wearing a colored wig and together they had watched Kennedy.

Burch denied ever having a shotgun in Los Angeles when questioned yesterday by the deputy sheriff, but he was unable to furnish a pleasure drive.

No trace of the shotgun, a volley from which struck Kennedy from behind and tore away the back portion of his skull, has so far been found, according to Nolan, who has instituted a county-wide search for the missing weapon.

When the bowels are constipated, the lower bowels or large intestines become packed with refuse matter, that is made up largely of germs. FOREST-SERVICE MAKES A RECORD TIMBER SALE

The largest timber sale negotiated in a number of years by the forest service was made on June 2, when 697,000,000 feet of timber in the Sierra National forest, California, were awarded to a San Francisco lumberman, with the approval of the forester. The bid prices for 1000 feet are Western white pine, $3; sugar pine, $4.25; white and red fir, $1.50; incense cedar, $1.50. A price of 50 cents per 1000 feet is also fixed for unmerchantable timber removed at the option of the purchaser. The purchaser has a two-year construction period, and a 23-year operating period fixed in the agreement. This sale will also make possible the removal of about 700,000,000 feet of privately owned timber.

An initial investment of approximately $2,500,000 is required for development, especially for the construction of a standard gauge railroad, to open up the area, which has hitherto been inaccessible for logging operations. A provision in the contract will secure the use of a portion of this road in an equitable manner as a common carrier, and it will be well to utilize the additional national forest timber. Since the timber involved in the sale is mature and has been subject to recurring insect infestation, its sale at this time, together with the general opening of the area, is considered very desirable.

Why a B. P. Frost Proof Silo is the Best

- 1 Made entirely of wood. Double walls with dead air space between, offering perfect insulation, which eliminates loss from frost.
2 Walls are made of flooring run perpendicular, giving a smooth surface inside, insuring even settling of silage. (Silos with horizontal wall construction are rough inside and result in loss of silage around edges, because the air gets in, due to improper settling.)
3 Round shape of B. P. silo gives maximum capacity and stability and makes better silage.
4 Simple and economical to construct. All materials available at B. P. yards.
5 Wood makes most succulent silage; 1 5/8 inches of wood gives frost protection equal to 33 inches of concrete.

Insure Against High Winter Feed Costs

The farmer with his B. P. silo filled with nourishing silage need not worry about high winter feed costs. It pays for itself in a short time. Build your new silo NOW and be sure of plenty of the best feed obtainable. Ask any B. P. sales manager.

Brief Bits of Sport

Time of calling games in the Twilight League has been set 15 minutes earlier. All conflicts now start at 8:15.

Last night's bill was well under way on the patrons of the game arrived.

Contrary to usual mode Phil Fix started off well. But he showed weakness after the fifth.

Bobbles were more numerous than hits, some players making so many errors they could not keep track of them.

One of Gene Thometz's muffs was excusable. He went after a long fly and had to race between the goal posts in hot field. The ball came down near one of the uprights, interfering with the catch. Another miss was a clean muff, though.

Battling at will ones was the order among hitters last evening. On one occasion Johnny of the Electrics, reached for one that rared far over his head. He caught the ball on the end of the bat and gave the shortstop a reaching first base. "Joe" won out building first base.

Dingle was not half right in his pitching until he got vexed with Umpire Whitte. Then he shot the ball over with telling effect, and pitched sterling ball after that.

There was considerable grandstand and player roaring against decisions, but without reason in most instances.

Errors had a lot to do with the counting on both sides.

The newly kid nuisance at the ball park is most ignorant than ever.

Threats of punishment, unbacked by action, have lost their effect, and the paying populace is suffering from the laxness.

Denny Leonard has cancelled two bouts in succession. The first, scheduled against Walter Freedman of Chicago for July 4, was called off on claim of illness. A later bout between the champion and Joe Welling for this week has been postponed to a later date at the will of the titleholder.

Rush, of the Bankers, deliberately fouled Lewis when the latter was attempting to make a catch in the fifth. The latter was "out."

An official reprimand is due the Banker player for the interference.

In the fatal sixth all the scoring by the Electrics was accomplished after one man was out.

A long argument followed Whitte's "safe" decision on Petroski at first base in the sixth. Webster claimed a double play was completed with Klimes out at second, when Lewis threw to first base. The umpire ruled differently, however.

Some talk has been heard today that the Electrics intend to protest the game claiming unjust umpiring rulings.

It was too dark for safe playing when the seventh inning opened.

SHIDENARA DISAGREES WITH LONDON EMBASSY

Issues Statement Emphasizing Discord in Expression of Views of Japanese

WASHINGTON, D. C., (AP)—The Japanese ambassador, Baron Shidenara, disagrees with the official statement issued by the Japanese embassy in London last Friday, saying there was "a certain current of opinion" in Japan unfavorable to the American proposal for the disarmament conference and predicting "that the practical result cannot be reckoned upon with any degree of confidence." The ambassador emphasized the rather unusual situation of disagreeing with the Japanese embassy in London by issuing the following statement: "The Japanese embassy, whose attention was called to this information by the Press dispatch from London, disavows any knowledge of the statement said to have been issued by the Japanese embassy at London. They stated that the settled decision of the Japanese government to enter the conference wholeheartedly and with confidence was already made clear beyond all misapprehension and that this information from Tokyo indicated that this attitude had the substantial support of the Japanese people and press."
