Irish Are Offered All It Is Possible for Britain to Concede, Says Premier

No Hagging Terms Were Offered, Declares Lloyd George in Speech Before the House of Commons

FRESH CONFLICT WOULD BE ROBBED OF GLORY

Declares Plans Are Matured for Convening Parliament on 48 Hours' Notice Should Emergency Arise

LONDON, (AP)—The British government in its Irish peace offer has conceded everything it was possible to concede, Premier Lloyd George declared to the house of commons today in his expected statement on the Irish peace negotiations.

It embodied the largest measure of freedom ever offered Ireland, he said, and he hoped the Irish leaders would not reject it, "and that the responsibility of renewing a conflict which would be robbed of all glory and all gratitude by its overwhelming horror."

Ready for the Call. Provisions had been made, he said, for the summoning of parliament on 48 hours notice if negotiations broke down and the prospect of peace became hopeless. He hoped, however, that reason would prevail and the government's desire for an ending of the long misunderstanding between England and Ireland would be realized.

House of Lords Advised. The prime minister's words were paralleled in the house of lords by Lord Curzon, the foreign secretary, as to the government's offer having already gone to the limit. All that could be given without compromising the safety of the realm, the sovereignty of the crown and the dignity of the empire had been offered, he said.

Says Unity Is Reached. The British government, declared Premier Lloyd George today, in making its settlement proposals to Ireland, had decided not to put forth anything but the best possible terms. He said that the government was not going to keep anything back and the sequel had proved, he said, that it was right in adopting that course.

He had heard no suggestions from any part of the world except Ireland, he declared, that the proposals had not gone to the limit of possible concession.

Offer No Hagging Terms. "I want to make it clear," continued the prime minister, "that the government did not put forth hagging terms, but put forward everything they could possibly concede to purchase peace and the good will of the Irish people. In Ireland itself, so far as I can see, the doubt is not so much as to the terms, but as to whether the government really means to give. It is a question of working out the terms of execution and elaboration, and not a changing of the terms. The outline cannot be altered nor the terms changed."

Views All Contingencies. "In view of the fact that the house is about to separate, and the fact that very disquieting statements have been made, and even of a very disquieting fact, the government are here to take thought of all possible contingencies, however unpleasant they may be."

The first is the possibility of an agreement, in which case the details will have to be thrashed out, which will take time. There is always apt to be an atmosphere of suspicion surrounding relations between two countries—a suggestion of bad faith if there is a misunderstanding on the slightest particular."

It would thus be the duty of the executive, said the prime minister, to place a bill embodying the details and principles before the parliament before any agreement is reached. It is disastrous once an agreement is reached, "I wish it was not necessary to deal with the other contingency, but we are bound to take notice of certain things which have been said. This contingency is that our terms are rejected."

"Were that misfortune to befall the relations between these two islands, which would be a most unfortunate incident, we would be faced with a grave situation in regard to Ireland that this world which we have been confronted."

World Challenge Crown. "Whatever these terms may accomplish and may have done there is one thing they have achieved. They have defined the issues more clearly than ever before, and rejection would be an unmistakable challenge to the authority of the crown and the unity of the empire, and no party in the state would possibly pass it over without notice."

"I am using no language of menace. That would be indeed folly. Where (Continued on Page Four.)

200 Women and Men Charge Jail Demanding 3 Negroes

BARNSTABLE, Mass. (AP)—A mob of nearly 200 men and women carrying ropes early today stormed the local jail, threatening to lynch three Cape Verde island negro prisoners charged with highway robbery and criminal assault on a young white woman at Buzzard's Bay.

Ones in Autos. At 2:30 this morning 25 automobiles whose occupants included women as well as men, drove up to the local jail, where they demanded the three negroes, John Dies, Benjamin Gomez and Joseph Andrews, from Sheriff Irving L. Bowen.

There were shouts of "Let's get them!" as the mob approached but when the jail defenders fired in the air the crowd halted. Chief Warden James Boland warned the mob back, shouting that if they attempt to attack the jail they will "be shot down like rats."

The warning had its effect, but the crowd remained outside the jail nearly an hour and a half before dispersing. Three Are Identified. Dies and Gomez were held in $15,000 bail each yesterday and Andrews was to be arraigned today. All three have been identified by Miss Gertrude Butler and William Eldridge as the men who held them up and criminally assaulted Miss Butler at Buzzard's Bay. A crowd yesterday attempted to get John Dies from the Warden's lockup, but dispersed when the police fired over their heads.

VOLGA DISTRICT REPORTS 22,000 CHOLERA CASES

Famine Still Ravaging Section, but Plague Is on the Decrease—Quakers Will Offer Help

LONDON, (AP)—Famine is still ravaging the Volga district of Russia, but there is a decrease in the cholera epidemic there, says the Moscow correspondent of the Daily Herald. During July 22,000 cases were reported. The Soviet government has appropriated $20,000,000 rubles for the relief committee's initial expenses and has decided to levy one pound per head (30 roubles) on goods traded in the free food markets. Transportation of all relief materials is free.

WILL ADMIT QUAKERS. PHILADELPHIA, Pa. (AP)—American Quakers will be permitted by the Soviet government to send an unlimited number of workers into Russia to give relief to the millions of needy in that country, the American Friends Service committee was notified in a cable received today from Arthur Watts, its representative in Moscow.

The action will allow the Quakers immediately to increase their number of workers in Russia, and to begin on a large scale the relief of famine conditions which are reported to exist there.

The Friends will be the distributors in Russia for the funds of the Jewish Joint distribution committee, and also of the American Jewish Relief fund, which is now being raised in the United States.

BRAZIL WILL HELP. RIVEROX AIDES (AP)—Government officials would be authorized to send 10,000,000 pesos worth of food to relieve famine sufferers of Russia under programs of aid introduced in the federal capital by Senator Maximo, Socialist members of the chamber have endorsed the measure.

TOKIO, (AP) (Delayed).—Dispatches from Vladivostok to the Asahi and the Nishi Nishi report that according to official reports from Nikolai received by the headquarters of the Japanese army, a military train carrying Colonel Miwa and 50 other officers and men was blown up by partisans when the train was near a wooden bridge in the vicinity of Mazanov station north of Nikolai. The Japanese command has decided to take decisive measures against the partisans. A machine gun company has already been sent forward. HOMES OF ROOBE ARE MELTED BY FLOOD IN HATCH

El Paso Valley Cloudburst Wipes Out Entire Town, Compelling People to Flee for Lives

APPEAL IS MADE FOR HELP OF SUFFERERS

Procession of Men, Women and Children Streams Into Neighboring Foot Hills from Inundated Valley

HATCH, N. M. (AP)—The only relief that has come to the flood-stricken little town since the citizens were driven to the hills by cloudbursts Wednesday night and yesterday, is from San Antonio Army camp which reached here last night from El Paso with bread and meat.

Food stores in the town were emptied into heaps of debris by the waters which swept down upon Hatch without warning. Today the flood had swept down four of the five buildings which survived yesterday. The school house is the only building standing.

Outraged are taking turns standing on fallen roofs and guarding the houses and other collapsed buildings from possible appearance of looters.

BUILDINGS MELT AWAY. EL PASO, Texas, (AP)—Flood waters which wiped out virtually every building in the town of Hatch, N. M., yesterday, causing more than two hundred families to be made homeless and destroying thousands of dollars worth of property, caused the town to lie deep in the town today, according to messages received by the El Paso Herald.

Cloudbursts Cause Flood. Heavy cloudbursts throughout this section early yesterday and Wednesday night caused rivers and creeks to rise high and rushing torrents were sent through rich farm lands and through Hatch.

Women and children of the town are crowded from exposure, according to H. P. Fiddess of Hatch, who telephoned the conditions to the El Paso Herald today. He asked that provisions be sent to take care of them in medical aid.

But Five Buildings Left. Fiddess said after the telephone he was standing in a foot of water in a telephone booth in one of the five buildings yet standing in the town. "Over 200 people have been rendered homeless by the flood, and they are suffering," he said.

"We must have food and bedding from the outside, for our people were unable to do anything when they had to flee."

"The houses were almost all adobe and they crumbled rapidly when the water came down from the foothills and the flood waters. The water has receded only a few inches."

Hundreds of persons in the upper El Paso valley, who were forewarned, drove their stock from the lowlands to the foothills.

There was a continuous all-night procession of men, women and children moving from the valley into the hills, carrying food after food of provisions and household furniture.

Many slept on the hillside and along the high roadways without any bedding.

EL PASO, Texas, (AP)—While on his way to warn residents of the upper valley that higher water was expected, Graciano Roales, of El Paso, crossed a footbridge over the Rio Grande today which had fallen across the structure and was knocked off the bridge. The flood waters of the Rio Grande carried off his body, which was lost in the muck of the flood.

Administration Bill to Relieve Gen. Wood is Tabled in House

Military Man Must Resign from Army if He Accepts Civilian Post, Says Committee

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The administration bill designed to authorize Major General Leonard Wood to become governor general of the Philippines without resigning as an active officer, the army, was laid on the table today by the house military committee without a recent vote. Committee members were said to have held it would be a dangerous precedent to establish.

Practically all committee members were reported to have favored tabling the measure, which makes it certain that the bill will not come to a vote in the house without resigning.

No criticism of General Wood was expressed at the committee session. It was said, members agreeing that he would make an excellent governor general. The opinion was reported to be equally general, however, that it would be a dangerous precedent to permit army officers without resigning their commissions to accept civilian posts.

General Wood, it was argued, should retire from the army if he wished to accept the island post.

WIRTH SEEKS TO EVOLVE TREATY

German Chancellor Endeavors to Conclude Compact with United States

BERLIN, (AP)—Chancellor Wirth is endeavoring to secure the support of all political factions represented in the Reichstag for his plan looking to the negotiation of a German-American treaty with the United States. Conferences of an important nature have been held during the past few days, the one of Tuesday being especially important. At the last session Count Bernstorff, former German ambassador at Washington, was present as spokesman for the democratic party.

It is declared that the chancellor's efforts are being directed against the opening of general debate on the treaty in the Reichstag, for fears are expressed that the German-American treaty, which brought about American intervention in the war would again be dragged forth by those who seek to exploit it for partisan purposes.

New names are being mentioned as possible appointees to the ambassadorship to the United States. Among them Count Bernstorff, former ambassador at Washington, and Professor Dietrich von Schulze-Gaesens, who occupies the chair of political economy at Freiburg university.

SAYS GRAIN WILL MOVE BUT FARMERS TAKE LOSS

Salt Lake Expert Says Unusual Rates are Reduced Production Will Decline

WASHINGTON, D. C. (AP)—Heavy rail movement of grain will continue the fall in spite of high freight rates and low market prices, H. W. Prickett, of the Salt Lake City traffic bureau, told the interstate commerce commission today. Farmers will be compelled to sell and take a loss, he said, most long deferred debts. The testimony was given in connection with the investigation of rates on grain and hay in western states.

Unless carriers reduce the rate on grain, however, the movement will be curtailed greatly after this year because of the loss of farmers abandoning their farms, Mr. Prickett said.

In calculating future freight rates, the commission should figure on an increased grain movement during the next few years, provided freight rates are reduced, the witness contended. He presented figures on car earnings intended to show that the movement of wheat is more profitable to the carriers than many other basic commodities.

W. S. Hanson, a Utah farmer and bank holder in his town, exhausted their credit at the banks which as a rule are not forcing liquidation as they know it would bring about even more serious conditions.

Patent Medicine Tax is Cut by Committee

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Elimination of taxes on producers' machinery was agreed upon today by the house ways and means committee, which approved more than sixty changes into the revenue tax bill.

In the majority members of the committee voted to reduce the tax on cereal beverages from the proposed six cents a gallon to four cents. The bill also made it possible for companies under the 12 1/2 per cent corporation income tax on the same basis as life insurance companies.

TRIBESMEN BEAR BODY TO GRAVE

5,000 Indians File Behind the Cortege of First of Their Race Killed During the World War

USE SIOUX LANGUAGE IN FUNERAL SERVICE

Burial is Held Under Auspices of American Legion Post on the Rolling South Dakota Plains

WINNEB, S. D. (AP)—Followed by five thousand Christian Indians, including three thousand of his Sioux tribe, the body of Private Chasmony Baghorn of the A. E. F., first Indian slain in the great war, was yesterday carried to a hillside overlooking the grave in which the great convocation of red men marking the centennial of the missionary society of the Episcopal church in the United States is being held, and buried with all the ceremony of church and tribe combined.

Rites Language Used. The service was conducted entirely in the Sioux language, into which the burial service of the Episcopal church has been translated and Bishop Beffington, Winnepeg, was assisted by eight full-blooded Sioux priests who have been ordained during the progress of the missionary work at the Rosebud agency.

A contrasting note in the great crowd of red men, that gathered around the bier of the Indian hero in the tabernacle set up in the maharajah city of veterans, was the group of A. E. F. veterans, under command of Captain J. J. Glascock, commander of the American Legion post, under the auspices of which the funeral was held.

Honored for Gallantry. Baghorn was not only the first Indian but the first man from South Dakota to be killed in action in the late war. He received the Croix de Guerre from the French government for gallantry.

The convocation will be formally opened today by the Rev. Hugh Lathrop, missionary bishop of the diocese. For the past four days the Indians have been gathered at Winnepeg, where they are waiting for the service across the prairie in motor cars, in "schooners" and on horseback. Once more the "smoke of a pipe" marks the shining place of the Sioux on the prairie.

MAYFLOWER IS ENTERED FOR FISHERMEN'S RACE TRIALS

GLOUCESTER, Mass. (AP)—The schooner Mayflower, built by a Boston syndicate as a contender for the right to represent the United States in the International Fishermen's race at Halifax, in October, yesterday was formally entered for the elimination trials. It was the first entry made by the American race committee. The trials will be held off the Massachusetts coast, beginning October 1.

FREIGHT RATES OUT FARMYIELD

Agricultural Production Practically Stopped, Declares Secretary Wallace

WASHINGTON, D. C. (AP)—Present high freight rates have practically stopped agricultural production, Secretary Wallace testified before the interstate commerce commission today. If the present rates are continued, he said, agricultural production of the future is going to be greatly reduced.

It will take five years to restore to productive western farms which present conditions are forcing out of operation, Mr. R. Benedict, secretary of the South Dakota Farm Bureau federation testified before the commission.

Most South Dakota farms will go back into grazing lands unless conditions are improved, he said.

Bankers, he added, are much concerned and merchants hold little hope that farmers will be able to pay their bills from present crops, even if prices improve.

Mr. Benedict said losses on wheat land in South Dakota averaged $150 an acre, and freight rates on an average acre yield were $1.44. Oats, costing the farmer $0.34 a acre to produce sold for $5.70, leaving the farmer $1.24 out of pocket, without considering the freight rates, he said.

REDUCED EASTERN HAY RATES

WASHINGTON, D. C. (AP)—Railroads were authorized by the interstate commerce commission today to establish rates on grain and grain products, Chicago, Mississippi river, crossings and points in Illinois, Indiana and other states to Atlantic ports for export at 7 1/2 cents a hundred pounds less than the present rate. The rates may be established on ten days' notice.

NEW CUBAN LAW SAYS PROFITTEERING IS CRIME

Chamber of Deputies Takes Step in Advance of All Latin-American Countries

HAVANA, (AP)—Profiteering is branded a crime under the provisions of a measure approved by the Cuban chamber of deputies yesterday. This is the first time that it has been placed in the criminal category in Latin-American countries.

The bill would authorize the president to confer with stockmen and retailers, and to fix prices to be charged for meat. Penalties would be inflicted upon those violating the prices.

Cattle imported from other countries would be required to undergo a ten-day quarantine before being admitted to Cuba.

Home Rule for Welsh Plan of Lloyd George

LONDON, (AP)—An announcement in favor of Welsh home rule has been made by Premier Lloyd George, says the Liverpool Post today.

The premier, who made the announcement at dinner of Welsh nationalists, pledged himself, according to the newspaper, to support a measure of Welsh devolution if such were agreed upon by the Welsh members of parliament.

The home rule favored by the Welsh nationalists means a greater degree of local self-government.

BANKERS' ASSOCIATION HEAD OPPOSES EXCESS PROFITS TAX

NEW YORK, (AP)—Characterizing the excess profits tax as one of the chief reasons for continued high prices John S. Drum, president of the American Bankers' association, has sent to Representative Fordney and Senator Patmore, a vigorous protest against its continuance until 1922.

He stated that it was actually not a tax on profits but a diversion of working capital which is needed for full development of productive enterprise.

GOTHAM WOMEN ON TOUR OF COUNTRY STOP HERE

Twin Falls Country's Development Makes Deep Impression on Visitors

Mrs. F. Flagler and daughter, Miss Hazel Flagler, of New York are in Twin Falls today. They are making a tour of the country, and will remain here for a few days to visit the points of particular interest. Miss Flagler is driving and the two ladies report a very enjoyable trip to this point unmarred by any untoward mishaps. They will continue their trip to Boise, thence north through the Camas, Hooker and then down the coast to California, returning home by the southern route. They left New York on July 7.

Mrs. Flagler says that they have made the trip entirely to become acquainted with the country, and that she would gladly remain in the west if it could be so arranged.

"We have seen many wonderful places," she said, "particularly in Colorado, and we have passed over many hair-raising grades and mountain passes. But nowhere have I seen such a wonderfully dramatic thing as this town and marvellously fertile farming country. I wonder if the people who have done this thing appreciate what a really dramatic achievement it is. I can scarcely believe that so much comfort and beauty can have sprung from such desert surroundings."

Traffic Ordinance Violator Welcomes Capture by Police

W. J. DeSpain Mistakes Official Pursuit for Chase by Alleged Enemies

Pursued by police officers from whom he fled under apprehension that they were persons whom, he said, have made threats against him, W. J. DeSpain, a plasterer, driving a Ford car without lights, was last night brought to a halt by a well directed bullet which perforated one of his tires after a chase beginning in the center of town and continuing to the vicinity of the auditorium. DeSpain expressed relief when he learned the identity of his pursuers, and reiterated his satisfaction with the outcome of the affair this morning when he paid a fine of $5 assessed by Police Judge Paul R. Taber.

DeSpain said that he had not noticed his failure to switch on his lights while driving through the lighted streets, and was of the opinion when the police started after him that his pursuers were persons who were bent on revenge. Not aware of this suggestion DeSpain stepped on the gas, without regard for speed limits. When the chase continued beyond the city limits and after DeSpain had switched on his lights, he recalled, he noted the threats that had been made against him and was further convinced that his safety was menaced when the officers opened fire.

ANOTHER GOOD MOVE

It is a matter for congratulation that Twin Falls women are adding to their long line of beneficent and altruistic activities, that of Camp Fire for the girls. In spite of the need for economy in public expenditures, which we have felt and responded to all along the line, this tide fair to be the banner year in the matter of really beneficial social activities. This season has witnessed a successful launching of the Boy Scout organization in a large and comprehensive way. Business men have taken up the work in a hearty manner, and have not hesitated to give freely of their time and service in the successful prosecution of the work.

The Kiwanis club had taken cognizance of the long felt need for a public playground and placed their organization solidly behind the effort to make that one of the advantages of living in Twin Falls.

This week sees added to this growing list of worth while movements, a well stimulated effort to give the young girls of this vicinity the advantages that come from a continued course of Camp Fire instruction. Although Camp Fire is but 10 years old, it has members by the hundreds of thousands. It is a well thought out effort to give to girls that well balanced work and play that is at the same time combined with the finest principles of human conduct, that it has met with acclaim from parents and educators alike.

That men and women are ready to give their personal service to the young people of Twin Falls, is, we repeat, a matter for congratulation.

ENORMOUS INTERNATIONAL TRADE.

Some figures as to the enormous total of international trade in the year 1920 are now available, and they show that the commerce of the world, in round numbers, aggregated the immense sum of $100,000,000,000 in the twelve months. In the year which marked the beginning of the war the stated value of the world's trade was $40,000,000,000, and this had grown to $60,000,000,000 in the closing year of the war. One especially interesting feature of this comparison of world trade in 1920 with that of a few years ago lies in the increasing share which United States manufactures form of world trade. Prior to the war we supplied but about one-sixth of the manufactures entering international trade and in 1920 one-third.

Lately there have been printed statistics showing a large decrease in American exports in the last few months, as compared with a year ago. In the light of figures like those quoted above, the decline is only natural, and might almost be termed a movement in the direction of normal conditions. Foreigners reduced their purchase of foreign goods, much as Americans reduced their buying of goods, both domestic and foreign. The whole world was engaged in an orgy of buying, and this wholesale purchasing has ceased. Comparisons of present trade, made with the commerce of the big buying year of 1920, make the situation look much more serious than it really is.

"KAISER AND KING"

From a Berlin dispatch it appears that William Hohenzollern does not quite realize, even after his long exile from home, that he is not the occupant of a throne and the ruler of an empire. He still styles himself "His Majesty, Kaiser and King." It is true he is wearing no imperial edicts or kingly proclamations, as was his wont in days gone by. The designation quoted above appears on a circular letter which is being sent to persons who would partake of his imperial and royal bounty.

Begging epistles sent to the former ruler receive a letter of refusal, which reads: "His Majesty, Kaiser and King," has learned with the greatest sorrow of your case, but the means at his disposal for such ends are long since exhausted, and the economic conditions and the exchange rates are utterly destructive for his household. In view of the high costs of living in Holland it is barely possible to meet necessary expenses with German currency."

It is some comfort to know that the man who brought on the trouble which ails the world at the present time is not immune from the troubles of his creation.

The hot weather that damaged grain crops is said to have been so beneficial to the turkey crop that there will be an abundant supply of the Thanksgiving birds. Another of those "bright sides" that cheer us up!

In Mexico, as elsewhere, army officers are sticklers for the proprieties. A general was shot dead by his superior officer because the farmer had criticized the latter.

"Women want war," declares Congresswoman Robertson. Yes, as a rule, although now and then you meet one who preferred to remain single.

There probably are some opinions in Russia just at this time that, while the czar wasn't all that he should have been, he set a better table.

OPINIONS REPRINTED

New York Tribune—"Many manufacturers still complain that buying is of the hand-to-mouth variety; that the retailer will buy only what will move over his counters with celerity. So the wholesaler has to operate in the same way, and the manufacturer worries. There is nothing surprising about this if we recall what happened only a little more than a year ago. Then there were acute market shortages of goods. The wholesaler took what the manufacturer would give him on the manufacturer's terms. The retailer was in the same position with the wholesaler. It had been going on for months and months and seemingly would never end. So, believing that, every branch of business bought extravagantly at high prices and was able to sell sparingly at higher prices still. At the time that there were acute market shortages of goods there were great speculative surpluses held off the markets just because prices were rising. Then things turned. Prices fell a little and part of the speculative accumulations came on the market. Prices fell a little more—and then all at once everybody wanted to sell. With the vanishing of restriction of the markets for goods, production inevitably fell and there was unemployment and depression. But mark this—all the time that this depression has been under way the consumption of goods has outrun the production of goods. That is, the speculative surpluses accumulated during the fantastic post-war inflation have been steadily drawn upon to make up the difference between output and consumption. And there is much evidence now to show that these surpluses are approaching a state of exhaustion. Presently goods for production inevitably will fall and current production, rather than that of the production of a previous period. That means that business revival is not far distant."

Philadelphia Bulletin—"The Constitution of the United States provides methods for its own amendment, but the anarchistic doctrine that this justifies sedition is procured by the Connecticut court of errors in a manner that must commend itself to all citizens. This tribunal has just decided the bill of rights does not alter the privilege of attempting to change the form of the United States government. This authoritative ruling is in accordance with an imposing body of opinion by publicists, who have examined anew the fundamental basis of the constitutional guarantee of free speech. It is an unqualified right of American citizens when it conflicts with the exercise and authority of the police powers of the government in time of peace. In war time absolute freedom of speech is a utopian ideal. It is a right of citizens at any time to justify propaganda for the subversion of republican institutions is a travesty. No alien who claims to be identified with the United States government is required to live under it. So long as he remains a guest of the nation he should remember that he is here on sufferance. If he ventures to be seditious in his verbal assaults on the government he cannot successfully invoke the very instrument that he assails, excepting to be ejected from his own land."

Philadelphia Public Ledger—"There is a ring of deep confidence and strong faith in President Harding's predictions of the final success of the American move for world disarmament. In his recent speeches, formal and informal, there have been constant references to it, always with a gradual growing faith that it must and will come to pass. That faith is shared by millions of Americans. It will be the rock on which the cornerstone of the disarmament conference will rest in its beginnings. Faith, however, without works may come to little. The believer in the possibility of world peace, the foe of militarism and the friend of disarmament will do well to redouble his labors. The administration needs the help, the good will and the optimism of the nation back of it to aid in the fulfillment of that destiny believed in by the President."

National Republican—"The uselessness of the battleship in modern warfare would, of course, have been more convincingly demonstrated if the bombing planes had put the German warships out of business in the Kiel Canal instead of in Hampton Roads."

National Republican—"McAdoo, Cox and Bryan are all conspirators in the Democratic nomination for the Presidency in 1924. These gentlemen might be called the eternal tri-angel."

National Republican—"A government payroll is like an individual—a good deal easier to fatten than to reduce."

More Truth Than Poetry

SHORTSIGHTED BUCCANEERS

By S. E. KISER

THE pirates are spreading fear Across the wide Atlantic; Ships go to sea, and disappear— It's thrilling and romantic. A up and down sea-washed coast The buccaneers are busy. Their chiefest, Captain Kid's gray ghost, Their ship the Laxy Lizzy.

FROM Hatteras to Sandy Hook The terror is increasing; For ships long due the owners look, With sorrow, never ceasing. It cannot be that waves have torn The missing boats to pieces! Day after day, more often more The mystery increases.

WHY can't the buccaneers be taught To turn their buccannery To lanes where people might be caught With gains from profiteering? Those who are bound for Europe now, To squander cash ill-gotten, If they were captured, you allow, It wouldn't be so rotten.

THE girl who wants a slacker, The life-taking mother, If good luck should forsake them, And cease disturbing others, The dukes would wait, smiling sighs If good luck should forsake them, But buccaneers are foolish guys, And may the devil take them!

SOMEBODY MUST HAVE IT

A year ago the profiteers were wondering what they could do with it. Now they are busy trying to remember where it went.

WHY BE OLD?

Refuse to think that you are old, As long as you've a tooth; It isn't bad, but foolish fears And keeping young of all the years. That spoil the charm of youth.

JAPANESE OF IDAHO SEE COMPLICATIONS IN PACIFIC PROBLEM

Organization Executive Gives National View on Harding Proposal; Regards Question of China's Future as Crux of Far Eastern Situation in Which Life or Death of Tokio Government is Involved

Setting forth the views of Japanese residents of Idaho with respect to the conference for consideration of armament limitation and the far eastern question proposed by President Harding, Frank Y. Arima, of Butte, president of the Japanese Association of Southern Idaho, has addressed the following communication to The News:

Japan Deeply Concerned

The Pacific conference proposed by President Harding will have at least two important bearings on Japan. It will in all probability make the renewal of the Anglo-Japanese alliance wholly useless. It will also make attainment of armament among the powers a matter of feasibility.

Judging from the fact that China is invited to join it is likely that President Harding plans to make the conference a far-reaching one, attempting to find a proper and lasting solution of the Far Eastern problem. This is a rare opportunity for Japan. The matter is certainly a delicate one, and is beset with many difficulties.

China Crux of Problem

The crux of the Pacific problem is undoubtedly the Chinese problem. Divided and distracted, China can hardly shoulder the responsibility of putting into practice any agreement that may be reached at the conference. We are, therefore, at a loss to understand how China came to be invited to the conference. In the move of President Harding we can only discern how he is to be surprised and gratified by other powers concerning Japan's Asiatic policy. The coming conference will, therefore, afford Japan an opportunity to reveal the true nature of her policy in the Far East, and to bring to light the whole Far Eastern situation, and show wherein the real difficulty lies.

Furthermore, the Far Eastern problem is the most vital important issue of life or death to Japan, while it is to most of the European powers a matter of far-away concern, and not of great significance. We cannot very well, therefore, comprehend the motive of the American president in inviting such countries as France and Italy, which have no direct interests in the Far East, to the conference on the Pacific problems.

Japan's View of Committee Policy

As far as Japan's observation goes, it is quite certain that the United States will propose that China be placed under some sort of international management and that the economic expansion of Japan toward north and south Manchuria, southeastern Siberia be restricted.

China must maintain her political independence and her territory must be preserved. But economically China must be placed under international management. The nations can appoint a committee composed of representatives of the great powers. This committee should formulate every social and economic enterprise and maintain the open door and equal opportunity policy, not alone in name but in fact, and invite the capital of all nations to develop China's natural resources, manufactures, and at the same time stimulate a betterment of the civil life of the Chinese.

No sensible opposition can be offered this plan. China's government is in a state of bankruptcy. China herself must recognize her inefficiency in matters financial. But whether the minutes will be glad to submit to international management of her economic affairs is an entirely different question.

Verger on Internationalization

International economic management of a country is not very far removed from political internationalization. A country powerless economically, likewise is powerless politically. We fear that when China is placed under international management the people will feel anxious at the very outset. Then when the capital of other nations flows into China and many enterprises are undertaken by foreigners, perhaps the feeling of antagonism will be shown with great force. In the end it may bring about a re-ignition of the Boxer uprising of the past year.

International management of China might be accepted readily as a policy, but in the practice we must recognize that there is great danger. It seems impracticable.

We have our doubts as to what preparation American statesmen have in mind in the event of victory. Local administration of the government of China could not be relied upon in the event that the worst happened.

It is not practicable, on the other hand, to give the forces in various parts of China, if they are stationed now in Peking, Hankow, Tien Tsin. Therefore any international management must take some practical means to forestall Chinese feeling against the measure.

Not Objectionable to Japan

From Japan's point of view, international management would not be objectionable. If the capital Japan has advanced in China and the enterprises at present planned were safeguarded and Japanese were given equal standing with other nationals, Japan could stand the economic new world for she has a geographic advantage, as well as an advantage of civilization, which is akin to that of China.

Japan has a right to send immigrants into north and south Manchuria, Mongolia and southeastern Siberia, where the population is very sparse. It is not necessary to obtain the consent of the Washington conference especially. But Japan could just as well accept recognition of that right if it were offered without a string.

Japan's immigration policy with regard to that area should have been established long ago. The managerial policy of the Manchuria railway should have been in the way of conferring benefit upon Japanese farmers, manufacturers and merchants desiring to settle in the territory instead of excluding special consideration to soldiers and officials.

Retrospect Teaches Lesson

If Japan had sufficient foresight to expend the amount of money expended on the Siberian expeditionary force for the exploitation of natural resources, manufacturing and other business undertakings, while at the same time sending settlers, Japan could have avoided the complications of other nations and feelings of antagonism. If this wise policy had been carried out in the past Japan could there and then have constructed a strong economic foundation.

What has transpired is now beyond our reach. But for the future Japan must learn the lessons of the past.

Many were the guesses and rumormongers concerning America's Far Eastern policy. Some go so far as to believe that the United States is aiming at an application of pressure upon Japan. We hope this will never come to pass, but right now this is a mere guess and it is the plan of wisdom for us to wait and see what the future shall unfold to our view.

Same Old Story But a Good One

Mrs. Mahala Burns, Sarnia, Canada, Mo. writes expressing the hope that the same old story has happened in almost every neighborhood in this country, and which has been related by thousands of others, as follows: "I used a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough and Diarrhoea Remedy about nine years ago and it cured me of flux (dysentery). I had another attack of the same complaint three or four years ago and a few doses of this remedy cured me. I have recommended it to dozens of people since I first used it, and shall continue to do so for I know it is a quick and positive cure for bowel troubles."—Adv.

Opossum Pest.
The species of opossum native to New Zealand wears a very beautiful coat which does not resemble that affected by the opossum of this country. The animal which was introduced into Australia many years ago destroys fruit trees and is regarded as a pest, but opossum skins are so valuable that its value as a fur bearer outweighs any damage it may do to the trees.

GIVES VERSION OF MURDER CASE

Archie M. Parkinson Relates Own Movements in Relation to Kansas Shooting

Before his departure from Twin Falls last evening in company with B. T. Meyer, a Bureau agent detective, to testify at the trial of Curtis Wallace, returned self-confessed slayer of Arthur Hagan, a Great Bend, Kansas, attorney, Archie M. Parkinson dictated and signed a voluntary statement of his connection with the case as well as a waiver of all claim of reputation and court process to return from Idaho to Great Bend for this purpose.

Sheds Little Light
Little light is shed on the case of Parkinson's statement, which is a detailed account of his own movements from the time of his arrival in Great Bend where he was employed in Wallace's restaurant shortly before the murder and until his arrival in Twin Falls and visit to the sheriff's office here prior to the appearance of the detective when he sought the advice of local authorities with respect to returning to Kansas to testify in the case.

Parkinson says in his statement, that he arrived in Great Bend on June 23 and immediately entered the employ of Wallace. On the night of the murder, July 6, he continued, Wallace left his restaurant at about one o'clock in the morning, and was not again seen by Parkinson until about 10:30 o'clock on the following night. Wallace at that time asked if there had been discovery to the identity of the murderer, and also displayed a gun which he kept in his hand until he left in company with another man shortly after the discovery of the murder. Parkinson fixes the time of his departure from Great Bend a few days after the murder and traces his movements in detail until his arrival here.

Gives Motive for Action
His home, he says, is in Wagener, Oklahoma. He was promoted by a letter from his father before he arrived here to seek advice of local authorities as to his future course. This letter, he says, contained the word that Kansas officials were seeking him as a witness in the case.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS RAISE FUNDS FOR SUMMER HOME

Benefit Bazaar is Successful Both as Entertainment and Financially

The Camp Fire girls with Miss Geneva Stafford, guardian, gave a most successful bazaar last evening at the parlors of the Methodist church, last evening. Cooked food was sold, and for those who were disposed to dine, appetizing meals were served. Delicious candy made by the girls was offered, as well as dainty little baskets that were their own handiwork. The rooms were handsomely trimmed with a profusion of garden flowers and green and gold table streamers. On the stage, a camp scene was arranged where the interesting moving picture entitled, "A Day in Camp," was presented.

The affair is reported to have been a financial as well as a social success, and an abundant amount of the nucleus of a fund that is to be devoted to the building of a cabin in the mountains where the girls will take their annual outings. A letter of appreciation was written to the donors. A meeting will be held in the near future to perfect the organization of several circles. It is announced that all girls of 12 years or over who have not done so, may register with Miss Stafford at 212 Eighth avenue east.

BABY'S DEATH RESULTS FROM SWALLOWING PIN

Fatal Complications Follow Operation Performed in Effort to Save Life of Hazelton Child

James W. Wardell, seven-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Wardell of Hazelton, died at a local hospital on Thursday. The baby swallowed an open safety pin on Tuesday and was brought to the hospital the day following, where attending physicians decided that an operation would be necessary. This was done immediately, but death from general peritonitis resulted. The body is at the DeWitt mortuary chapel. Announcement of funeral arrangements is awaiting word from relatives in New York.

VALUATION INCREASE PROTESTORS BELIEVE EFFORTS ARE EFFECTIVE

Members of Twin Falls County Delegation Voice Optimism Over Probable Outcome of Effort to Prevent Boost of Basis of Taxation; Pin Hope on Attack on Robertson Evidence

Members of the delegation of Twin Falls county citizens who appeared before the state board of equalization in Boise Wednesday to protest a proposed increase in the valuation of real property of the county for taxable purposes are optimistic over the probable outcome of their efforts.

No decision was announced by the state board at the time the protests were heard, but one is expected early next week. It is the opinion of members of the delegation that the valuation increase, if one is decided upon, will be materially less than 25 per cent which is the figure reported to have been fixed for the raise.

Town Holes in Robertson List

This opinion is based on the belief that evidence presented to the board by John H. Robertson, its tax expert, which tended to indicate wide discrepancy as between the valuations placed on Twin Falls county property in comparison with property in other counties, was pretty thoroughly discredited by testimony adduced by the delegation.

The evidence presented by Robertson that a comparative statement of the assessed valuations and alleged sale prices of 100 pieces of Twin Falls county property. This statement indicated an average valuation of approximately 25 per cent of the reported sale price, as compared with an average valuation of around 40 per cent of the valuation of all of the assessed property within the state.

Quick Work Demanded.
The Robertson statement did not come into the hands of the delegators until after its arrival in Boise, and less than one hour elapsed between the time of its delivery to the delegation and the time of the hearing before the board.

Members of the delegation declare that it became plain to them after a few minutes study of the evidence that the Robertson list was made up largely of properties which were sold at peak prices or which were involved in trades and that it was not a fair representation of valuations fixed by the county assessor on property generally throughout the county.

In presenting its case before the state board, the delegation made use of a comparison of assessed valuation with sale valuation as taken from the exhibit of the railroads before the state board for all of the counties of the state. This exhibit showed that Twin Falls county an assessed valuation of 33.55 per cent of the sale value as compared with an average of 40.18 per cent for the entire state.

Graham Expects Small Raise

John W. Graham, spokesman for the delegation whose spirited word clash with Governor Davis convinced the proceedings before the board, said today that in his opinion the valuation lift, if it were determined upon, would not exceed 5 or 10 per cent. He said that Charles Arney, a railway representative who attended the hearing, had expressed the opinion that no raise at all would be ordered.

G. A. Robinson, another member of the delegation, said that a hopeful view of the outcome was taken by all of its members and that they were confident that their attack upon the Robertson evidence would not be without effect.

C. C. Higgins, county auditor, also expressed optimism and gave it as his opinion that the board had been favorably impressed by the showing made by the protesters.

Other members of the delegation were Carl J. Miller of Castleford, state representative, and Fred Graves of Piler. The trip to and from Boise, and the time of the delegation returned here last yesterday afternoon.

AGENT FOR FRISCO LINE MEETS LOCAL SHIPPERS

Col. Stevens Seeks to Route Twin Falls Products to the Middle West Points

Colonel A. H. Stevens, general agent for the Frisco line, with headquarters in Denver, was here yesterday interviewing shippers with the view of routing Twin Falls county products over the line of the company which he represents.

Colonel Stevens states that the traffic from this part of the country is of growing importance in the territory lying south and east of Kansas City, Mo., where these lines terminate. The shipments of flour, alfalfa meal, and potatoes are bulking large in the freight that passes through his company's territory and that he anticipates an even greater volume of business this year.

RUPERT MEN FAVORABLY IMPRESSED BY GUNITE

Minidoka District Officials Make Headway with Plans for Bettering System

Officials of the Minidoka irrigation district who yesterday inspected gunite lining of irrigation canals on the King Hill project with a view to determining the desirability of employing a similar process for the improvement of the Minidoka district irrigation system, are favorably impressed with the results of their investigation and will give the gunite method favorable consideration when completing arrangements for beginning improvement work within a month or two weeks, according to statement of Raymond L. Willis, district watermaster, who, with other officials of the district passed through here today to return to Rupert.

Minidoka district officials are of the opinion that between 14 and 20 miles of canal must eventually be lined by use of gunite or similar process to prevent loss of water through seepage and evaporation, and are making preparations to begin work on a program to this end as soon as possible. The gunite process is expected to consist of a mixture of sand and concrete upon poultry setting or other reinforcement by means of a device resembling a big gun.

District officials in the party include besides Mr. Willis, John Martin, secretary; C. W. Brannon and Otto W. Paul, directors, all of Rupert.

FORMER TWIN FALLS MAN IS OFFICER ON AIRSHIP

Bruce Anderson, Son of J. M. Anderson, Holds Important Position

From a connection with the Twin Falls News five or six years ago, to the position of weather forecaster on airplanes making international trips and would record, constitutes the step taken by Bruce Anderson, son of the late J. M. Anderson, who will be remembered in Twin Falls as one-time pastor of the First Presbyterian church, and for a time chief owner of the Twin Falls News.

Bruce Anderson, together with his brother Carl, spent some time here, the latter as local editor of The News. He is now employed in the war risk insurance bureau at Washington, while his father is serving as pastor of a Presbyterian church at Hyattsville, Maryland.

According to newspaper clippings, and other information reaching The News, Bruce Anderson has been making a record for himself along meteorological lines for at least some time having held the position of weather forecaster on the NC-4, which, it will be remembered, was the first heavier-than-air machine to cross the Atlantic ocean. He is said to have made a splendid record on this trip, and largely as a result of this was selected to fill the same position on the U. S. navy's airship ZR-2, which will leave England on her maiden voyage across the Atlantic, on Thursday, August 25.

The ZR-2 is the world's largest airship. She is an airship, but of the dirigible, lighter-than-air type. The description of this monster cruiser reads like a chapter by Jules Verne. She carries a crew of 12 officers and 30 men, has many of the accommodations of a first class hotel, and to date, is in every respect the last word in modern passenger-carrying airship construction.
