DAIL PROPOSES NEW BASIS FOR NEGOTIATIONS

Rejects British Terms but is Willing to Continue Parleys on Principle of Rule by Consent of Governed

LONDON DISSATISFIED WITH NOTE PROVISIONS

Lloyd-George Convenes Meeting to Frame Reply to Message Received by Government from Irish Leader.

LONDON, (AP)—Information obtainable here relative to the tenor of the message received by the British government yesterday from Eamon de Valera confirms early reports that the way was kept open for a continuance of negotiations between England and Ireland. It is stated, however, that the British government regards the Irish note as unsatisfactory in other ways. Prime Minister Lloyd George planned to meet his cabinet today, and it was understood that during the session of the ministry the reply to the Sinn Fein note would be framed.

Notes Unanimously to Reject Proposals

LONDON, (AP)—The British government's peace proposals were laid before the Dail Eireann, which rejected them unanimously but is willing to negotiate on the principle of government by consent of the governed, Eamon de Valera says in the reply to Mr. Lloyd George, the British prime minister.

Suggests Negotiation

The letter proposes that Great Britain and Ireland should send representatives with plenary powers to negotiate details of the principle.

"We have not sought war, we do not seek war, but it was made upon us, we must defend ourselves, and we shall do so," says Mr. De Valera's letter.

"We long to end the conflict between Great Britain and Ireland, on equal terms, which bears the date of August 24, reads:

The anticipatory judgment I gave in my reply of August 10 has been confirmed. I laid the proposals of your government before the Dail Eireann, and by a unanimous vote it has rejected them.

"From your letter of August 13, it is now clear that the principle upon which you asked to accept was that the geographical propinquity of Ireland to Great Britain imposed the condition of the subordination of Ireland's right to Great Britain's strategic interests, and we do not accept that, and that the very length and persistence of the effort made in the past to compel Ireland's acquiescence in a foreign domination

United States to Share in Loss of Ill-Fated Airship

Contract of Sale Provides for Equal Division of Disaster Expense

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The United States government will lose a million dollars through the destruction of the dirigible ZR-2 under terms of an agreement entered into with the British government.

The agreement, according to a statement issued today by the navy department, "provided that in the event of the total loss of this airship (the ZR-2) while under construction or during the trials, the two governments would jointly bear the loss on an equal basis."

BOSTON, Mass., (AP)—The steamship City of Atlanta of the Ocean Steamship company, inward bound from Savannah, with passengers and freight, went aground on Cape Island in the inner harbor today.

LONDON, (AP)—An airplane carrying mail from London to Brussels fell into the English channel a few miles off Calais, France, today as the result of the explosion of its petrol tank. It is not known whether there were any fatalities.

MINNEOLA, (AP)—A new type of air mail plane, which the builders claim will carry 32,000 letters from New York to San Francisco in 30 hours, began its test flight from here to Chicago last yesterday by making a stopover at Minneapolis, Pa., two hours and five minutes after taking off.

DOVER, England, (AP)—Henry Sullivan, of Lowell, Mass., who started yesterday to swim across the English channel from Cape Gris Nez, near Calais, to this city, failed to accomplish the feat. He was obliged to abandon his attempt after swimming fourteen hours and ten minutes, by which time he had but reached the middle of the channel. Sullivan abandoned the swim because of the choppy sea.

GERMAN PEACE LEADER TARGET FOR ASSASSINS

Mathias Erzberger, Former Vice-Premier and Minister of Finance, is Instantly Killed by Shots in Head

TWELVE BULLET WOUNDS ARE CONTAINED IN BODY

Tragedy Occurs During Foot Tour Through Black Forest; Two Young Men are Reported Slayers

BERLIN, (AP)—Mathias Erzberger, former vice premier and minister of finance, was murdered today. He was shot in the head by two young men who were accompanying him on a foot tour of the Black Forest. He was killed instantly by a bullet in the head. Deputy Thilo also was wounded.

Once Before Shot.

Mathias Erzberger, German vice premier and minister of finance, was shot and wounded on January 25, 1920, as he was leaving the criminal court building in Berlin after attending a hearing in a libel suit he had brought against Dr. Karl Helfferich, the former German vice-chancellor. His assailant gave his name as von Hirschfeld, a former cadet officer, 20 years old, a student, and son of a Berlin bank official. Von Hirschfeld was arrested and was quoted as saying he considered Erzberger dangerous to the empire. The criminal file was signed at Erzberger as the minister was entering his automobile. One bullet glanced off the minister's watch chain and another entered his left arm.

Peace Move Boister Storm

Erzberger moved a storm in Germany in July, 1917, more than a year before the armistice, by proposing a resolution in the German Reichstag in favor of peace without annexations and for parliamentary reform. Chancellor Bethmann-Hollweg declared the formula unacceptable and Dr. Hoffert subsequently blamed Erzberger's peace proposal for the moral collapse of the German people. His former vice-chancellor accused Erzberger of high treason, denounced him as "a menace to the purity of our public life" and invited him to living still for libel. He declared that Erzberger would be removed from public office "if our political life is again to become healthy and normal."

Erzberger accepted the challenge and instituted suit for libel. The hearing

MINERS' LEADERS TURN BACK MARCHING BAND OF ARMED MEN

Representations of Military Authorities Bear Fruit in Activities of Union Officials

THREATENED CLASH IN MINGO FIELD SEEMS AVERTED BY MARCHERS' HALT

MADISON, W. Va., (AP)—The march of miners from Marmot to Mingo, in protest against martial law, came to an end today when President C. F. Keeney, of district 17, United Mine Workers of America, induced 500 or 600 of the men to agree to return to their homes. Keeney said that special trains would be provided for the men here while the thousands along the road between Madison and Peyton had already taken the back track.

MADISON, West Virginia, (AP)—The advance guard of the marching miners on their way from Marmot to Mingo as a protest against Governor Mingo's martial law was turned back by Charles F. Keeney, president of district No. 17, United Mine Workers, and Fred Mooney, secretary, after it had passed through Madison shortly after noon today.

The men, numbering some 200 or 300, had camped in a hollow here for dinner and then pressed on their way toward the Logan county line.

Keeney and Mooney, who left Charleston early today, with the avowed intention of stopping the march, reached Madison when the marchers were about half way.

After a brief conference with the county officials they hurried down the road and overtaking the party induced it to march back to Madison.

Arranges Assembly

The men camped in the court house yard and Keeney said he was arranging for automobiles to take them to the unusual grounds where he expected to address them.

"I have never seen a long distance, and am not feeling very good about this situation," said President Keeney. "I shall return in my power to turn them back and just as soon as the rest of the men come in from the mountains I'll talk to them. It is no easy job."

"I never saw so many men on the march before. From Mingo to Madison this morning there must have been nine thousand or ten thousand men. There are at least two thousand excessive men among them."

Calls Advance Squad

Secretary Mooney said: "It would be suitable for the men to advance. General Bandholtz seems to command the men. He summoned us—Keeney and me—at four o'clock this morning and the rest of the men we left Charleston, to stop the men."

General Bandholtz Urges Halt of March

CHARLESTON, W. Va., (AP)—C. F. Keeney, district president of the United Mine Workers, and Secretary Fred Mooney left here in a motor car today for the camp of the marching miners in Boone county, with the avowed intention of advising the men to abandon their march to Mingo county with out delay. The men were taken after Keeney and Mooney had conferred with Brigadier General H. B. Bandholtz, U. S. A., who arrived this morning to investigate the situation under orders from the war department.

General Bandholtz, told the union officials that he was reluctant to have federal troops enter West Virginia to take the general and his men. But it would be necessary unless the men abandoned their enterprise and dispersed. No half way measures would be taken, he declared. He had pointed out to the union officials that in his opinion the men assembled for the march without realizing the seriousness of the step and without knowing the possible consequences. The situation, he told them, had already become more serious than the men had anticipated.

War Office Awaits Further Information

WASHINGTON, D. C., (AP)—Acting Secretary of War Walbridge, after receiving a report today from Brigadier General H. B. Bandholtz, the war department representative in West Virginia, said that the department would await further information before recommending use of federal troops in the local fields of that state.

Des Moines Street Cars Run for Fair

RIGHTS OF U. S. GUARANTEED BY GERMAN TREATY

Pact Signed at Berlin Recognizes and Reaffirms American Claim to Advantages of Versailles Agreement

WASHINGTON, D. C., (AP)—In limitations were given in high official quarters today that withdrawal of the American troops from the Rhine will be seriously considered, as soon as the peace treaty signed yesterday in Berlin has been ratified by the senate and the German Reichstag.

WASHINGTON, D. C., (AP)—Full title of the rights, privileges, immunities, reparations or advantages specified for the United States under the unratified treaty of Versailles is reaffirmed in the separate treaty with Germany signed yesterday at Berlin. Both by blanket declaration and specific enumeration the treaty recognizes the claim of the American government to these benefits and at the same time gives up on the part of the United States any responsibility for provisions of the league of nations covenant, the Rhineland settlement, or the political status of Europe.

By state department officials the treaty is considered a full settlement, making possible not only a resumption of diplomatic relations but a large measure of commercial intercourse.

There was every indication today that efforts would be made by the administration to secure senate ratification as soon as possible after congress reconvenes late in October. Such commercial and supplemental treaties as may be found necessary can then be negotiated through the ordinary diplomatic channels.

With the treaty signed and awaiting senate action, there was a renewal of speculation here regarding the issuance of a possible peace declaration to carry into effect the declarations of the congressional peace resolution. "No official word indicates whether the proclamation should be expected to precede ratification."

Another question which remained unanswered from any authoritative source related to the probable duration of the American occupation of German territory.

Impose War Responsibility

The title of the United States to benefits described in detail in ten of the 15 sections of the treaty of Versailles are reaffirmed by the new agreement. It is stipulated that no reparations "shall be imposed" by four of the 15 sections, and one section, that arranging Emperor Wilhelm and indemnification of violators of international law is not mentioned at all. Neither is there a specific provision holding Germany responsible for the war but such a responsibility is implied by the confirmation of the topographical section, in whose opening clause Germany accepts responsibility "for causing all the loss and damage" resulting from the war.

The United States specifies in the treaty that "she is not bound to participate" in the various international commissions created by the Versailles treaty unless she shall elect to do so.

CONTINUE HUNT FOR VICTIMS OF AIRSHIP CRASH

Workmen Use Powerful Cranes to Lift Wreckage of Ill-Fated Dirigible from Waters of Humber River

LONDON, England, (AP)—Workmen engaged in salvaging the wreckage of the ill-fated ZR-2 from the turbid waters of the Humber, where it fell with its human freight on Wednesday evening, employed powerful cranes today to lift the skeleton of the airship. It was believed that as soon as the twisted and tangled framework of the dirigible was raised, it would be possible to recover the bodies of many of the men who died when the dreadnought of the air collapsed and caught fire.

Eleven men, however, believed that the bodies of some of the victims of the disaster had been borne away by the tide or the river's current, and it was reported that fragments of the dirigible's covering fabric had been found ten miles up the river from the scene of the accident.

Official Inquiry Launched.
Official inquiry into the cause of the disaster will begin tomorrow morning at Howden where the ZR-2 was stalled before she started on her last voyage. The United States will be represented by a naval attaché. It seemed probable today that the findings of the court would be influenced by the result of examinations by experts of the framework of the airship after it had been lifted from the Humber. There seemed to be a general agreement that the accident was caused by the collapse of a longitudinal girder in the middle of the dirigible.

It was expected that the coroner's inquest to be held today would be adjourned, probably for several weeks, after formal identification of the three bodies which were recovered, and the issuance of permits for their removal. The English law does not permit embalming until after the coroner's inquest, but in deference to the wishes of the American authorities here, the bodies of Lieutenants Little and Eberly were embalmed a few hours after they were recovered.

Spending Parties Active.
Every effort is being made to recover bodies of the victims and searching parties are maintaining a constant lookout on both sides of the Humber for miles above and below Hull.

John H. Grouse, American consul here, planned to accompany representatives of the American embassy in London to the coroner's inquest.

BRINGING HOME THE LIGHT
 Residents of Twin Falls and vicinity who have not yet familiarized themselves with the plan and purpose of the Southern Idaho Traffic Association, now being developed to fight the battles of the shipper and consumer for downward freight rates revision, ought not to overlook the opportunity presented at the public meeting scheduled to be held this evening in the high school auditorium here. Wherever apathy and indifference has been encountered by the organizers of the association, it has been found to be coincident with lack of information concerning the association's plan and purpose. There is a pretty general appreciation of the necessity for relief in the direction of freight rates, and wherever the association representatives have gone there has been born new hope of obtaining this relief.
 People who attend tonight's meeting will have no difficulty in understanding why the association's plan has taken like wildfire wherever it has been presented.

MAKES FOR FRIENDSHIP
 Twin Falls has nothing to lose and a whole lot to gain through carrying into effect the plans for a playing tour for the Twin Falls All-Star baseball team through part of the state.
 From the standpoint of community advertising alone the project is worth while, but more than that, there is to be considered the fact that there are few influences making for better relationship as between towns than fair and square baseball games between teams in which each can feel so sincere a pride as does Twin Falls in the All-Stars.
 It is to be hoped that the undertaking can and will be carried through to a successful conclusion.

HARDING'S WISE SELECTIONS
 President Harding's selection of Sumner Henry Cabot Lodge as a member of the American delegation to the disarmament conference was expected by people familiar with the president's practical devotion to principle. There has been not a little chortling among certain circles of the administration who thought they had discovered signs warranting a conclusion that the Massachusetts senator was to be snubbed in this connection. But it was foregone that there would be senatorial representation on American delegation and the logical thing was to invite the chairman of the foreign relations committee to sit in the conference. There are other senators, members of that committee, notably well equipped by learning and experience to serve the nation in this important matter, but there will be no dissatisfaction on the part of any of them that the honor, which will entail immense labor, is to go to Mr. Lodge.

The Republican conception has been that there should be no partisanship in the consideration of foreign relations and that responsibility for them being divided between the executive and the senate, the most satisfactory results in the negotiation of treaties are to be achieved through consideration and consultation between the departments concerned while negotiations are pending. President Wilson committed a grave error in attorney ignoring the senate when he undertook to commit the country to the German peace treaty to which he subscribed. President Harding adopts the wiser course which sensibly may be expected to result in agreements, if any are made in the forthcoming conference, which the senate can sanction.

It is expected that another senator will be chosen to sit with Messrs. Hughes and Lodge. There are predictions that Senator Underwood, leader of the minority, will be favored by the president. Selection of the Alabamian would be appropriate and in keeping with the Republican ideal of excluding partisanship from foreign affairs.

A WELCOME ANNOUNCEMENT
 Announcement of success attending the negotiations of the Elks lodge in Twin Falls to obtain funds with which to complete the building of the lodge home started here some time ago comes as a matter of gratification not alone to the members of the order but to the community at large.
 As an evidence of the growing disposition to release capital for building projects, the announcement is most significant, and may be regarded as a forerunner of the resumption of other large scale construction operations hereabouts.
 Besides that there is something of a community need for some such structure as the Elks lodge home will provide.

SUPPLY AND DEMAND
 The contention of Governor Strong, of the New York federal reserve bank, that it is not the business of the government financial institutions to regulate prices, but to exercise supervision over credits, is a sound position. This banker was testifying before a joint congressional commission, investigating the industrial and financial situation, and he gave it as his opinion that the farmers have suffered most in the recent price collapse, and resumption of prosperity for them "depends on reduction of their retail costs and lowered wages." Governor

Strong explained his views of the topping of the structure of advancing prices. Large numbers of consumers found it impossible to obtain increases in their incomes and were compelled, therefore, to economize. It was the cessation of purchases by men and women whose incomes did not go up, when the cost of living kept attaining higher altitudes, which brought about the decline. It is really the law of supply and demand which operates in the long run.
 Emma Goldman is described as so afraid of her life in Russia, to which she was deported from this country on account of her anarchy, that she scarcely dares open her mouth. It certainly must be torture for her not to be able to talk.
 Once Geraldine Farrar wrote a piece for the paper telling how to keep a husband. The question now is whether the same press agent wrote the piece about how to put the skills under hubby.
 The soviet government has ordered a superfluous letter strikers from the Russian alphabet. We are led to regard most everything about Russia, alphabet and otherwise, as superfluous.
 A five-day week in industry is better than a three-day week, but as a promoter of prosperity it never will take the place of the week of six days.
 No reports to the contrary having been published, it may be presumed that the pumpkin pie crop will be as bountiful as in the past.
 Speaking of disarmament, the swivel chair forces of the army and navy at Washington were reduced by 5,000 persons last month.
 When we hear so much about railroads needing money we wonder what they did with all that we paid on our last short trip.
 You have probably noticed that it is the wage slaves of the world who are asked to give bread to socialist Russia.

OPINIONS REPRINTED
THE FARM BUREAU
 The excursion over the county staged by the county farm bureau was productive of good results, affording as it did an opportunity for people of one part of the county to see what those of other parts of the county are doing and promoting the community spirit and fostering the spirit of co-operation between town and county.
 For that the local county farm bureau is to be commended and for many other good things is the organization to be commended, and the work accomplished along many lines is good and will become better, but that the organization has even a greater work before it has been amply illustrated very recently, particularly throughout southern Idaho, when the information regarding the potato situation was in the hands of others days and weeks ahead of the potato growers, giving others a decided advantage and permitting them to capitalize their knowledge.
 It is just as important—more so, in fact—to market a crop than to produce it, for without a proper market, the production is largely labor lost.
 Certainly an organization as great and nation-wide as the farm bureau should be able to have the information at hand which will protect its members and the farming community generally. Until the farm bureau is able to do this it will fall to live up to its usefulness.—Idaho Falls Times-Register.

More Truth Than Poetry

A BAD KISHER
 By B. E. KISER
 This night was hot he sat alone,
 He did his wife in the glow,
 Far off a great clock's mellow tone
 Rang: "One hour nearer to the tomb!"
 Six stories lower, in the street,
 Were children, playing blind man's bluff,
 "Undimmed by the August heat—"
 He had no spirit for such stuff.
 He flung his shirt across a chaise,
 And got a drink and then returned
 To sit beside his window, where
 His head drooped and his temples burned.
 Across the street McCormack sang—
 "I hear you cav-haw-shalling met!"
 He did not seem to care a hang;
 He had no heart for song—not he.
SIREN screamed; with clatter and roar
 An engine passed, and others came;
 He sat in silence, as before,
 And had no wish to see the flame.
 The lights went out across the way;
 He did not notice that they had;
 The phonographs had ceased to play,
 The world was hot and still and sad.
AT last he kicked his shoes aside
 And flung his trousers in a heap,
 Then tossed upon his bed and tried,
 Without success, to go to sleep.
 The girl he loved had kept a date
 That night; with some one else; dimly
 Was mingled in his heart with hate;
 How strange that men will get that way!

GERMANS SNUB FIGHTING MEN

Berlin Crowds Look Coldly Upon Reviews of Veterans of Great War

BERLIN, (AP)—Great crowds looked coldly on white thousands of soldiers who fought during the great war marched before General Ludendorff, Prince Eitel Friedrich, Count von Waldersee and General von Der Goltz at the old Berlin stadium Wednesday. The lack of enthusiasm among the spectators was notable, only a few persons unconcerning when "Die Wacht Am Rhein" was played by a veteran band.
 Kaiser Pius XII, Emperor William was read.
 "With proud and warm gratitude I think today of my brave comrades, never forgotten in the field," he said. "With true German loyalty they achieved against a world of enemies deeds such as history never has known before. The heroism of the dead will live on forgotten to the honorable memory of the dead and for the imitation of the living and future generations. May the halo of the great days of the past be the beacon for the victorious illumination still in the dark future. God protect the fatherland and its people."
Makes Fiery Address
 Count von Waldersee was the principal speaker at the demonstration, which was characterized by radicals as a "songwritten attempt to revive the dying war spirit." His address was long in character, the old military chieflain declaring:
 "There will come again a day when we will stand together for the Kaiser and the fatherland. Hatred will stand guard in Germany. We must train our children to use the rifle and sword. So long as Germans suffer under a foreign yoke, and the French stand guard on the Rhine, we must prepare for revenge."

 The demonstration made a brilliant spectacle, with the vari-colored uniforms, the fluttering flags, the clanking swords and the silver, gold and black helmets of the officers, but the only enthusiasm shown during the day was brought forth by the appearance of General Ludendorff, and the outburst on that occasion was but slight. The band which played was attired in long-tailed coats, civilian trousers and silk hats instead of uniforms. The young sons and daughters of the soldiers, nurses and nationalistic labor organizations followed the veterans as they goose-stepped along.
Boots From Bleachers
 The only incidents that threatened trouble were a few bores from the bleachers, who were disregarded by the police.
 The government had forbidden officers and soldiers in the government service to participate. Field Marshal von Hindenburg, who sponsored the demonstration, telegraphed his regrets that he could not attend.
PAGE MAKES RECORD
 OTTAWA, Ont., (AP)—Bomala, a seven-year-old bare mare, established a new Canadian pacing record of 2:03 on a half mile track at Chatterville yesterday. She was owned and driven by James Stewart of Ottawa. The former Canadian record of 2:05 1-2 was held by The Ed, a grey stallion.
