

RAILROADS FACE BIG PROBLEM IN AUTO ACCIDENTS

Baltimore and Ohio Official Gives Interesting Conclusions From Road's Campaign to Reduce Motorists' Risks

BOSTON, (AP)—Automobile accidents at grade crossings is the most important of all accident questions that confront the railroads of the country at the present time. C. W. Galloway, vice president of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, told the Steam Railroad section of the tenth annual congress of the National Safety Council here today.

"It is now necessary for engineers to consider all construction from the standpoint of safe operation," Galloway said. "Even before the human element enters a plant, science has done its part to make conditions safe and sanitary. This came about primarily because of economic necessity.

Traces One Road's Progress
"I have watched the progress of the safety work on the Baltimore and Ohio particularly for many years, and it is with no little pride that I point to some of the accomplishments for safety." In 1916 the casualties among employees totaled 9,529; in 1920, the casualties among employees totaled 6,941, or a decrease in casualties of 28 per cent. In 1916 the gross ton mileage was 32,855,710,000; in 1920 the gross ton mileage was 49,507,602,000, or an increase of 28 per cent. That means that in 1920, compared with 1916, the increase in train mileage, both freight and passenger, was 15 per cent, and at the same time our casualties decreased 28 per cent.

Carelessness on Increase
"With each recurring year the increase in the number of automobiles and the growing carelessness of the drivers make it very important that we devote some extraordinary effort to lessen accidents at grade crossings. We are confronted with the fact that there are five million motor vehicles now in use in the United States.

"It was with alarm that I noticed the reports of grade crossing accidents showing increases month by month in 1919, and I determined to apply a remedy. I felt that if the drivers of cars could be reached intimately they would heed warnings. We started the campaign by placing observers at a few crossings where travel was heavy. When the observer notified the driver of an automobile approaching the crossing and dash over it without taking any precautionary measures to secure himself that there was no train coming, the license number of the machine was placed on the card. These cards were forwarded to automobile commissioners according to the state which bore the license. The commissioners forwarded the cards to the owners of the machines.

Cards Warn Drivers
"These cards, after reciting the facts of the observation, warned the drivers or owners of automobiles that their lives and property had been risked unnecessarily, and that a repetition might bring disaster. In the great majority of cases the recipient of the card realized that he had been careless and a great many even wrote, their appreciation of our efforts to save them from injury. There was a gradual decline in percentage of failures to take precautions.

"When we inaugurated the observation plan, we found that 84 per cent of automobiles failed to take proper precautions when crossing tracks. In the three months of November, December, 1919 and January, 1920, we made 1023 observations and there was a total of

Let the Wedding Bells Ring Out

494 failures to take safety precautions, or 23 per cent.

"During the year of 1920, we extended our observations. In the 12 months of that year there were 49,655 observations with 9236 failures or 16 per cent.

"In 1921, our observers became even more active and in the first six months of this year, there were 248,988 observations made, and the failures reached only 8716 or 3.5 per cent.

Resorts to Printers Ink

"The results of our observation tests ranged us to have printed more than four million warning leaflets, showing on one side a key warning an automobile driver to stop before he crossed a track. On the reverse side is a photograph of a machine run over to splinters when struck by a train at the crossing. We arranged to send out the leaflets in mail that would reach the autoists. It was found that every business house appeared to gladly consented to cooperate in the campaign. The automobile commissioners of the different states also cooperated.

"There was one other means to reach the owner and driver of the automobile. That was through newspaper publicity. One story telling of the dangers careless automobilists expose themselves to was sent out and reached 2,000,000 readers.

"With genuine and sympathetic cooperation by all the railroads in some definite plan of campaign, the accidents at grade crossings in this country can be cut to less than one per cent of the machines used for crossings.

Wednesday's Toll Highest

"Were I to ask the average railroad man what day in the week he believed the greater number of accidents happen, he would say Sunday. One hundred thirty-eight accidents happened on the following days of the week: Sunday, 15; Monday, 25; Tuesday, 16; Wednesday, 27; Thursday, 17; Friday, 19, and Saturday, 20. It would seem to indicate that the automobile truck is more likely to accident at crossings than the pleasure car for there are more of them in use on week days than on Sunday.

"Another surprising fact was that nearly all the accidents happen while the weather was clear. This seems to indicate that persons take more chances in clear weather than when it is raining or snowing.

"The question of automobile accidents at grade crossings is, I consider, the most important one the railroad have to deal with, and I cannot impress upon the body of safety men too strongly the necessity of insuring a vigorous educational campaign against accidents of this character both for humane and economic reasons.

2,000 POUND BOMB ENDS CAREER OF BATTLESHIP

Alabama Goes to Bottom when Aerial Bombers Rain Explosives on Hulk

NORFOLK, Va., (AP)—A 2000-pound bomb ended the career of the old battleship Alabama at 12:15 Monday. A Martin bomber flying over the old warship anchored off Tangier island in Chesapeake bay, tore off her mast, destroyed the superstructure and turned her over on her side in shallow water. Six other planes almost simultaneously rained 1000 and 2000-pound bombs on the hulk as she went down. Four lit the vessel as she tumbled over and the remainder landed in the water within 20 to 30 feet.

Wine Making Season Opens in California

LOS ANGELES, Cal., (AP)—The wine making season is on in the Sixth Internal Revenue district here, and indications are that only two million gallons of wine will be manufactured under permit compared with four million in 1919. Manufacture of wine by large concerns will be limited to two or three wineries, others have arranged to dry the grapes. There have been many applications by private families under the 200-gallon limit.

Police in Search of Crippled Bandit Trio

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The police today are looking for three highwaymen cripples, two on crutches and the other hobbling on a cane, who on Sunday held up Thomas Payne, of this city and robbed him of $25, according to Payne's complaint. Payne told the police he was sitting in his automobile, accompanied by a young woman, on a road about 100 yards from the Walter Reed army hospital when at pistol point he was commanded to leave the machine by three men who hobbled across the road with him, two on crutches and the other on a cane, appropriated the $25, and then, ordering him back to the car, threatened to shoot unless he drove away slowly. He described all three as hatless and coatless.

VETERANS ASK MEMORIAL DAY CONSECRATION

Grand Army Commander, Addressing National Encampment, Calls for Reverence to Memory of Soldiers

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., (AP)—Protection of Memorial day from commemoration and consecration of the day to the memory of the soldiers of all the wars that were should be an aim of the Grand Army of the Republic and its allied organizations; Commander-in-Chief William A. Ketchum declared at his address today at the first business session of the fifty-fifth national encampment. Failure to protect the day from desecration will be a reproach to the Grand Army, his leader said.

Grand Army's Holy Day
"The 30th of May is our Holy Day," said the commander-in-chief. "We instituted it and for fifty-three years we have, in rain or shine, stood at the shrines of men who died that the nation might live and paid tribute to their memory. No day in the year should be more absolutely free from commercialism or any sentiment except that of reverence and devotion to memory of the dead. We still have a few places that in too many localities sports of one kind or another are taking away the attention of the rising generation from the observance of this day. In many places by legislators are protected from desecration, and in all it should be. If, with the assistance of our clubs and devoted auxiliary and allies, we are not to be included in the reverence for the memory of the dead, it will be a reproach to us."

Scored Ku Klux Revival
Revival of the Ku Klux Klan was condemned by Commander Ketchum along with other organizations. While the Grand Army has scant influence in the state in which the Klan is incorporated the commander declared the G. A. R. "should see to it that any organization with no reference to the glorified name should not be permitted to invade state lines where we still have influence and strength."
"We ought to get together like this," said Commander Ketchum, "against all the evils of the modern day that are threatening—Bohemia, I. W. W., anarchy, Ku Klux Klans—whatever their name may be—and to throw a blanket on the fair name of the land that we saved and still love."

Death Takes Heavy Toll
Death has taken a heavy toll of the Grand Army members during the last year, the commander said, having taken two past commanders-in-chief, forty-five past department commanders, the assistant adjutant general, three members of the council of administration, and 9,281 of the members.

DISPUTE ON BURGENLAND MAY YIELD TO MEDIATION

Czecho-Slovak Foreign Minister is Believed to Have Influenced Hungarians

PRAGUE, (AP)—Dr. Eduard Beneš, Czecho-Slovak foreign minister, has returned from Brno, where he conferred with M. Banffy, former foreign minister of Hungary, relative to the Burgenland controversy between Austria and Hungary. It is believed that mediation has been successful unless the allies object to the general lines of the agreement.
It was reported that the proposals would involve the retirement of Hungarian forces from west Hungary, with a treaty by which Austria would return to Hungary the town of Oedenburg in exchange for economic concessions.
This settling together of Hungary, Austria and Czecho-Slovakia is regarded as the most important development in central Europe since the war, reflecting, according to some views, emancipation from the tutelage of the allies.

FREAKY PLAYS IN PAST SERIES INJECT SPECULATIVE INTEREST IN APPROACHING TITLE BATTLES

Unusual Plays and Brilliant Performances in Other World Championship Games Starts Fan Thinking of What May Happen This Year—Features Tending to Bring Glory and Renown to Individuals are Recalled.

NEW YORK, (AP)—Unusual play, brilliant performances of individual players and freaky things have entered into many of the series of world's baseball championship, which occurrences are recalled each year in fanfare and lend to the speculative interest in the championship games about to be played.
The outstanding feature of the series in 1918, in which the Chicago Cubs defeated the Detroit Tigers, was the hurling of pitchers Overall and Brown of the Cubs. Overall won two games, the second, in which he allowed Detroit four hits and six runs, and the fifth, in which he allowed three hits and won two to nothing. Brown shut out Tigers in the fourth game, three to nothing. The Cubs getting four hits off his wretched delivery.

Adams Was a Star
In 1909, "Dubs" Adams, the veteran Pittsburgh hurler, won three games for the Pirates, the first, fifth and seventh, against Detroit. Hans Wagner, the Pirate shortstop, played brilliantly, an old story, the Detroit third-sacker.
Bender and Coombs pitched and won the entire series for the Athletics against the Cubs in 1916. Coombs won all three games in which he started and won one and lost one. Eddie Collins performed brilliantly and at bat for the Mackmen. The Cubs were favorites to win in the series.
The home runs of Frank "Home-Run" Baker contributed largely to the Athletics victory over the Giants in the series of 1911. In the second game Baker's homer put the Athletics in the lead and his home in the third game tied the score after the Giants appeared to have the game on ice.

Fans Get Thrills
Thrills aplenty were had in the 1916 games between the Boston Red Sox and the New York Giants. In the eighth game at Boston, on October 16, the score was tied in the ninth. The Giants scored one in the tenth and led. Harry Hooper robbed them of a run that may have staved off defeat by leaning over the fence and taking Doyle's long hit which would have been a homer. The disaster befell the Giants in Boston's ball. Snodgrass muffed a long fly by Engle who batted in place of Wood, the Boston hurler, whose hand was injured in the previous inning when he stopped Catcher Meyer's hot line. Engle took second on the muff. Snodgrass then made a magnificent catch of Hooper's fly which seemed good for three bases. Mathewson tried all his cunning to strike out Yerkes, but failed. Yerkes walking, Speaker hit the first ball pitched for an easy foul which should have been caught.

Box won in the ninth on his single which drove in a run. More than 43,000 persons witnessed the game.
Senators Again
Harry Hooper, of the Boston Red Sox, the same player who saved his team the series in 1912 by catching Doyle's long hit as it went over the fence, played a brilliant game for his team in the series of 1916 against Brooklyn. He batted .333 and played occasionally afield. His hits were all timely and contributed to the Red Sox victory.
"Dubs" Ruth, now the home-run champion and a member of the New York Yankees, pitched the Red Sox to two victories over the Chicago Cubs in 1918. Tyler's pitching and hitting also helped the Sox to win the series. Carl Mays, who also is a member of the Yankees this year, won two games for Boston by his airtight hurling.
Last year the triple play made by Wambegans of Cleveland in the fifth inning of the fifth game against Brooklyn, Elmer Smith's homer, with three on in the first inning of the fifth game and Dughey's homer with two on in the fourth inning of the same game were features. Speaker, the Cleveland manager played well.

off during the examination of Venueman G. McClinton. The witness was asked by Attorney Guthrie, chief counsel for the defense, endeavor to get the prospective juror to admit that he had read certain newspaper interviews given out by County Prosecutor Frank L. Stephan and published some weeks ago.

Mr. Stephan rose indignantly, stating that he desired to be heard on the matter. The witness was interrupted by Mr. Guthrie with the statement that probably Mr. Stephan was as well qualified as anyone to comment on the case.

The incident while of no importance in itself served to create a break in the monotony of the long drawn out job of examining witnesses.

Montana Attorney Here. E. E. Collins, county prosecutor of Yellowstone county, Montana, arrived in Twin Falls yesterday afternoon and will remain in attendance upon the trial.

Examination of the premises occupied by the then Mrs. Lewis in Hillings at the time of the death of Lewis by Idaho authorities is said to have disclosed evidence of an incriminating nature which evidence is declared to have constituted in part of a quantity of poison material and which will be brought into the present case if the court permits the introduction of any evidence against the defendant outside the case of the death of Meyer.

GANDOR AND JUDGES
Misanthropists might glory in records of trial courts showing the extent to which citizens called as prospective jurors will solemnly assert that they labor under firmly established convictions with respect to the cause on trial, which convictions, formed oftentimes as a result of a mere recital of some of the salient features of the case, cannot be shaken by testimony given under oath.

A sad state of affairs, certainly, would be revealed if in a majority of these cases the exact truth were told by every candidate for the jury, and justification might indeed be found for the belief that American citizenship by and large is pretty much a hide-bound, narrow-minded lot.

Most of us, however, prefer to believe, that the average juror who says that his convictions cannot be swayed by evidence is not actually telling the exact truth, although they may, and probably do believe implicitly that they have correctly disclosed the state of their own minds.

There is always to be remembered in this connection that the admission of an unshakable conviction is a quick and easy exit from service as a juror, and too often the candidate for this service will perhaps unconsciously permit himself to be influenced by this consideration.

It would be a depressing thing to believe that so great a degree of prejudice exists as might be surmised from observation of these cases. The man who makes this sort of admission of every likely "but he first to recognize that the country and its citizenship would be in a bad way if all men were so minded as he professes himself to be.

Perhaps, a little more candor with his own conscience on the part of the prospective juror would bring about a more satisfactory state of affairs.

ELDRIDGE'S

An Exhibit All Ought To See

The true story of genuine Virgin Wool clothes versus mere "all wool" clothes stuffed with shoddy, is clearly visualized by the Educational Display now on exhibit in our show windows.

You will discover that even the most inferior shoddy may be "all wool" or "pure wool," ("pure shoddy")! You will see why very few, very few woollens can be truthfully described as Virgin Wool. And you will know that Virgin Wool can be only the genuine, unused Fleeced Wool, right from the sheep's back.

Don't fail to see this remarkable display. It has created keen interest throughout the land, because the issues it discloses are vital to all of us.

While we're on this important subject we want to emphasize the fact that we feature clothes made of—

Each and every one of these genuine virgin wool fabrics is guaranteed by the maker—Strong, Hewat & Company, Inc. They attest to their worth—they stand behind them—squarely and unequivocally—And that means a lot to you these days, when dollars must do their work in every suit you buy.
