Ormsby, declares:

"I have never married my third husband, Mrs. Lydia Southard, my my brother. He was born in Whitewater and lived here until within a few years of his death. He was married to my brother, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Lewis, who lives in Whitewater.

"I notified by one statement that she had never married Marian Lewis. At the time of this marriage, my brother or sent us two photos of her which are identical to the name as some of these published in the papers. At the time of his death he sent us no telegrams, both of which were delivered at the same time, one telling of his illness, the other of his death.

"I have never married my third husband, Mrs. Lydia Southard, my my brother. He was born in Whitewater and lived here until within a few years of his death. He was married to my brother, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Lewis, who lives in Whitewater.

TELLS BANKERS CREDIT STRESS LIMIT REACHED

Association Commission Reports Situation on Mend and Natural Forces Making for Rapid Recovery

LOS ANGELES, Cal., (P)—The worst of the credit stringency seems to be over, but it appears that the country has borne the brunt of stress remarkably well, it was reported to the American Bankers association convention here today by its economic policy commission, headed by Paul M. Warburg of New York is chairman.

"Natural recuperative forces are now making for recovery," the report said, "and there is every reason to believe that when wages have been re-established and normal balance is re-established between industries and between nations, our country will enter upon a new career of prosperity and advancement."

"The commission again points to the dangerous attempt which are made so frequently at present to undertake to cure all existing economic evils by legislative action. The commission feels strongly that most of our troubles will be eradicated more quickly and cured more thoroughly if economic laws are allowed free play.

Oppose Reserve Changes

"The commission regards especially many of the amendments proposed to the federal reserve act as undesirable and calculated to lessen the benefits to be derived from the new system. The commission believes that so long as the federal reserve system is able to continue its work as successfully as it has begun, it should be left to function with the least possible interference.

"The commission approves the policy of the present national administration in respect to the control of government participation in private business undertakings, and is seeking to effect economies in administration wherever possible. It wishes, therefore, the inauguration of a budget system designed to bring about more coordination of governmental departments and a closer supervision over expenditures of the government. It believes that the desirability of repelling the excess profits tax which has proved so burdensome to business and industry.

Basis Soldiers' Bonus

"Since economy in government is one of the primary aims of the present administration, the commission hopes that the soldiers' bonus bill will be definitely set aside.

"An earnest student of coming economic conditions, the commission endorses the action of President Harding in proposing an international conference to consider a common program for the reduction of world-wide tariff and customs duties which still form one of the heaviest financial burdens borne by all the nations.

Approves Railway Reform

"The commission fully supports the purpose of the federal administration in bringing about a refunding of the railroads' debt to the government over a period of years."

IN VOLUNTARY IDLENESS COST OVER SIX BILLION

Economic Experts Prepare Statistics for National Unemployment Conference

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Losses in earnings of workers throughout the country during the past fiscal year, due to involuntary idleness, were put at more than $2,500,000,000 in an estimate prepared Tuesday by economic experts of the national conference on unemployment.

This estimate, it was explained, covered the loss in wages because of unemployment of all the jobs in the country from July 1920 to August 15, 1921, and was based on an approximation of normal pay levels rather than on the scale at the peak of high wages. Effects of the conference, it was said, would be turned toward a remedy for such economic loss to the country from the reduction of the earning power of its workers in the future by a more stabilized industrial plan.

DO YOU USE POISON?

You would not think of using poison, but you may, nevertheless, be permitting infected teeth and gums to poison your body. Rheumatism and other painful and dangerous conditions are often the result of neglected treatment of the teeth. It costs you nothing to learn the true condition of your teeth. POINTS OUT INCREASING RESPONSIBILITY OF BANK

Recognition for Need of Co-operation is Los Angeles Man's Theme

LOS ANGELES, Cal. (AP)—The banking profession has come within the last 50 years to feel the need for co-operating with business, declared J. N. Elliott, Los Angeles banker, in an address of welcome today at the opening of the annual meeting of the American Bankers' association.

"It seems to me," he said, "that the outstanding development during that period has been the growing recognition of unity of interest with all classes of business, with all sections of the country, and lastly with all parts of the world. Their prosperity is our prosperity. Their trials are our trials."

"While doubtless many bankers 20 years ago knew that no great prosperity could come to their institutions unless the country also prospered, there were some who felt that hard times could be utilized by the banks to exact excessive interest and otherwise take advantage of the situation. Under such narrow views of banking ethics, it is a wonder that the public was satisfied."

"But, of late years, the broader view of banking responsibility has permeated the whole fraternity and the banking field and has also spread to a large proportion of the public. This great American Bankers' association for the assistance of some particular day, as well as of more technical fields. It has made us feel more clearly the community of interest and the necessity of co-operation."

"Again the willingness of bankers all over the country, wherever they are able, to join in the formation of pools for the assistance of some particular day, is but an evidence of the wider view of things that we have at the present time. We also feel that the man we must assist is the producer, and I especially wish to bring to your attention for study the co-operative marketing associations which have developed in this part of the country to a greater extent than elsewhere."

"We might claim that the realization that we can only prosper as the country prospers has broadened our views and that while our opportunities have increased, the responsibilities we realize have increased at a greater rate, and that not only for our own country, but for the whole world. Think that to be true for all practical purposes, the world is smaller than when Caesar set out to conquer Gaul. Such is the interrelation of the different nations that we cannot, if we would, avoid the responsibility."

Washington College Expected to Get Into Conference Race This Year

PULLMAN, Wash. (AP)—Washington State college is expected to put into the Pacific coast conference football race this season a team that will put probably the hardest battle of the year to take the championship away from the University of California, according to students and football authorities here.

RATHBURN NAMED OREGON AGGIES' BASEBALL COACH

Former Hoosier Succeeded Richardson who Had Too Much to Do Anyhow.

CORVALLIS, Ore. (AP)—Guy L. Rathburn, who coached the successful University of Illinois baseball team for two years, has been named baseball coach at the Oregon Agricultural college here. Full baseball practice is planned.

Rathburn succeeds James J. Richardson as baseball coach. Richardson, in addition to handling his duties as manager of activities has been coaching the Aggie and has decided he has not time to give the team the attention it needs. Rathburn is also assistant football coach.

Brief Bits of Sport

What's your guess for tomorrow?

For us—well, we stick to the old saying—the American League.

It's going to be a great series, all right.

Country-wide interest centers for the moment in baseball through the medium of the world series.

For the nonce the Southern trial and the railroad bonus drive are relegated to the background of the local comic program—Baseball has the stage.

Henry Schuman, a Denver weight-weight scrapper, has been matched for a go with champion Jack Britton.

That may prove to be a fight, all right, but from this distance it looks like a walkaway for Britton.

What's become of Mike (Gibbons) the St. Paul phantom has been in the headlines so regularly of late that when he does not have a fight for three nights in succession folks begin to wonder where he is at.

Will Babe Ruth get more than an honor in the series? The question at present vies in vitality with that of guilt or innocence in the case of Lydia Bushard.

Coachers are the mighty slugs who get more intentional walks than hits of any kind throughout the championship title.

Clinton W. Evans' men will get their first tryout of the year on Friday. Wendell will be the visiting team and is expected to give the home team a run for the money.

Evans has been unable to decide upon a lineup for this tilt, but has material enough to form several elevens of more or less worth. After the Friday conference about the operative ability of his kiddie backs.

Miss Elsie Westcott thinks she might be a star on the gridiron, too. Witness this picture, which shows her, at the Oak Street bench, kicking a foot say he hasn't a football player on his team.

Ain't it fierce?

Pete Herman, retired bantam-weight champion, seeks another scrap for the title with Johnny Buff, his most recent conqueror. Pete says he was injured in the recent bout in which Buff bested him.

Babe Ruth says he does not pitch regularly any more because he can't. The bustling bambino of the Yankees says throwing from the outfield has ruined his hipper.

The News' baseball service has no equal.

WASHINGTON, (AP)—W. Averell Harriman, son of the late E. H. Harriman, applied to the interstate commerce commission Tuesday for permission to retain his place as a director of the Union Pacific system and at the same time remain a director in the Baltimore and Ohio and Illinois Central companies.

HARRIMAN ASKS PERMISSION TO RETAIN DIRECTORSHIP

The application was made under sections of the interstate commerce act forbidding interlocking directorates among railroad companies and Mr. Harriman accompanied his application with an affidavit to the effect that no public or private interests would be injured by his retention of the places in the organization of all three companies.

SULPHUR CLEARS ROUGH, RED SKIN

Face, Neck and Arms Easily Made Smooth, Says Specialist

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Mentho-Sulphur, declares a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation begins at once to soothe irritated skin and heal eruptions such as rash, pimples and ring worms.

It seldom fails to remove the torment and discomfort, and you do not have to wait for relief from embarrassment. Improvement quickly shows. Sufferers from skin trouble should obtain a small jar of Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like cold cream.

Several men who by their gridiron work, plained fame by their work on Pacific coast fields and in defeating Nebraska Thanksgiving day last will be on the Gange lineup this season.

Among them is Earl Dunlap, plucked by many as an all-coast center; "Mo" Sax, diminutive quarterback; Eldon Jenno, speedy halfback and kicker; Frank Sander, right quarter, and Harold Hahley, left end.

Lloyd Gills, the plugging fullback who did much of Washington State's offensive work last year, has not yet returned to school and Coach Welch is looking about for a man to take his place. Durrwachter and Powers are competing for the place. Both have played behind the Gange line before.

Halfback candidates include Jenne, Bill Winans, Milo Metcalf and Ray Sanderberg, all varsity veterans, and Hickey and Zweifel of last year's freshman team.

With Dunlap as the pivot, the line probably will include Dunton and Moker, tackle; McKay and Kean at guard and Bohanan and Hahley at ends.

Efforts are being made to develop backfield punters to help Jenno. Last season Welch had to take Dunton and Dunlap out of the line to kick when Jenno was not used. This year Jenno is putting from 40 to 50 yards and Sander, Hickey and O'Keefe of last year's first year men are being developed.

Washington State's "big game" of the year will be at Portland, Ore., against the University of California, October 29. Last year Washington State college went down to Berkeley expecting to give California a real test, but the Blue and Gold turned back the invaders, 49 to 0.

Jed Tunkins says a man's noblest and most philanthropic efforts often fall to attract as much attention among his friends as the fact that he has bought a new hat.

Me-o-my, how you'll take to a pipe—and P. A.!

Before you're a day older you want to let the idea slip under your hat that this is the open season to start something with a joyous jimmy pipe—and some Prince Albert!

Because, a pipe-packed with Prince Albert satisfies a man as he was never satisfied before—and keeps him satisfied! And, you can prove it! Why—P. A.'s flavor and fragrance and coolness and its freedom from bite and parch (cut out by our exclusive patented process) are a revelation to the man who never could get acquainted with a pipe! P. A. has made a pipe a thing of joy to four men where one was smoked before!

Ever roll up a cigarette with Prince Albert? Man, man—but you've got a party coming your way! Talk about a cigarette smoke; we tell you it's a peach!

Prince Albert is sold in tippy red boxes that are easy to carry and hold. The tippy red boxes are made of heavy cardboard and are lined with soft tissue paper. The boxes are packed in a way that the cigarettes are protected from damage and moisture.

Thousands Turn Out to See the Giants and Yankees in Contest for Baseball Championship of Universe

POLO GROUNDS, New York, (AP)—New York gloried today in an exclusive baseball family feud—a world's series between the Giants and Yankees fought out in its own backyard.

Some twenty found the upper unreserved stand only a quarter filled and it seemed very easily accommodated while there was still yawning gaps in the open stands behind the outfield.

IN LINE OF DUTY: They fired volleys and sounded taps yesterday over the last resting place of a young man who, with not more than an ordinary acquaintanceship, yet, through a life that was a striking exemplification of loyalty, fidelity and patriotism, exerted an influence that insures an abiding memory of him in the hearts of his fellows.

There was nothing spectacular in his brief career. He was a worker and he was sincere—a whole-hearted American. He engaged in no battles, never was "over there" and won no medals, but his life was as surely sacrificed for his country as were the lives of the men who fell in action. He enlisted in the military service some time before the declaration of war. A few days after war had been declared he was pronounced physically incapable of rendering further active service and dismissed from the nation's armed forces, bearing injuries from which he was destined to suffer to the end of his days. Many of his companions perished outright in the blast in which these injuries were received, but his work was not yet finished.

Rejected them, and again when he sought repeatedly to re-enter the military service, he was habitually to be found in and about the recruiting stations and many of the men who were thereafter accepted as volunteers in the service will bear witness to the effectiveness of his influence in that direction. Nor was his patriotism content with the duration of the war. Nobody ever had to ask his position on a question where America and Americanism was involved. He stood as a monument to devotion and fidelity to country that crowns American citizenship that was tested in the flame of war, and not found wanting.

And so it came that when death struck suddenly, busy business men and busy housewives joined with fraternal associates in paying the final tribute. There was a sort of pride mingled with sorrow in the opportunity to pay a last honor to William B. Troxell, in life and in death, "in line of duty."

PRICES THAT ARE RIGHT

The question as to what are right prices dates back many centuries. No doubt under the shadow of the pyramids of Egypt the seller and the buyer argued often on whether the price tag told a lie. In different periods men have had different ways of arriving at what they considered right prices. It is held that previous to the latter part of the nineteenth century the moral side of this question was given more consideration than it receives today when price is regarded perhaps too much an economic question.

We should face it, however, if so large an element as the moral element is felt to be, were left out of consideration. The economist may look on our social order as an industrial mechanism, but he will have difficulty in persuading the vast majority of our citizens that there is not a right and wrong even in matters that pertain to price.

Popular opinion is likely to agree with that of an expert who recently defined right prices as "prices which will make goods move". The mere possession of a commodity does not always give the possessor the right to charge whatever he pleases. He may charge all the traffic will bear, but the public has of late taken a somewhat wholesome interest in seeing to it that the traffic isn't made to bear too much. It has been known to do its buying in places where the traffic is made to bear a little less.

As the public becomes more and more exacting in its demands that prices shall be right, it becomes more and more the problem of the seller to convince the buyer of the reasonableness of his prices. Let once the public make efforts to acquit itself with the facts as to what is a fair price for any given commodity, and the seller will have a hard time to practice subterfuge and de-

AMERICANS TO CELEBRATE NORWEGIAN IMMIGRATION

Elaborate Preparations for Observance of Anniversary is Under Way... NEW YORK, (AP)—Elaborate preparations are underway for a centennial celebration in 1925 in commemoration of the beginning of the tide of modern immigration to the United States from Norway, the Foreign Language Information service announced today. The principal celebration will be at New York, but there will also be demonstrations in a number of other cities including New York and Chicago. Foreign Presses are generally recognizing from the father of modern immigration from Norway, said the information service announcement. He visited the United States in 1825 for the purpose of finding a suitable place of settlement in the new world for a group of Quakers who desired to leave Norway in order to escape religious intolerance. This group, 32 in all, set sail in a small ship, the Restauration, from Stavanger, Norway, July 4, 1825, and arrived in New York 14 weeks later after a strenuous and stormy voyage, the vessel having touched at Madeira and sailed to New York by way of the West Indies. "The arrival of the Restauration," added the statement, "was the beginning of the great exodus from Norway as well as from the other Scandinavian countries in the nineteenth century. A model of the Restauration will form an interesting historical part of the centennial festivities. As a background will be shown Leif Erikson's discovery of America in the year of 1000, Kristin Nilsen's first attempt to found a settlement in the new world several centuries before Columbus arrived in the West Indies, Norwegian settlers in New Amsterdam among the Dutch colonies in 1609-1674, the first navigation of the northwest passage and the first circumnavigation of the North American continent by Captain Amundsen and many other facts of interest to all Americans.

tion. As long as we can maintain flexible and competitive markets free from artificial control, it will be increasingly difficult for the seller to push goods at any but the right price.

ARE THEY "SELF-HYPNOTIZED"?

A writer in an automobile journal says a good many motor accidents can be attributed only to the "self-hypnotism" of the drivers, and he relates several incidents in point. According to his theory there is a mysterious something in the motion of the rapidly proceeding car that deadens the senses at a time when they ought to be unusually alert. He has seen an expert chauffeur allow his car to crash head-on into another coming from the opposite direction and yet the man had his eyes wide open and his attention apparently was not distracted from the job of driving.

Whatever there may be to this theory, certainly an increasing number of motorists are utterly oblivious to the rules both of the law and of common courtesy and exactness in the operation of their cars. A writer mentions the following classes of dangerous and inconsiderate drivers: The man who leaves his empty car stand in a busy street all day long; the man who turns a corner at 15 miles an hour after a single touch of the horn, giving the pedestrian no chance; the man who falls to stop back of the building line when halted by a crossing cop; the man who passes to the left of a trolley car whether the street is empty or crowded; the man who refuses to stay in the traffic line and persists in edging ahead of the man in front of him; the man who uses the left side of the street or roadway to get ahead of the line; the man who, intending to turn a corner, rushes up alongside the car on the right, thrusts out his hand, swings across the front of the other and compels the latter driver to make his car stand on its nose to prevent a collision; and the worst nuisance of all, the man whose passengers stick their hands out in all directions, leaving you to guess whether he intends going to the right or left or up in the air. There is no law to reach some of these offenses; others are amenable. Every careful motorist is interested in the observance of the ordinary rules of the road. The majority are careful. For the sake of the general safety there ought to be some way to make all too the mark.

More Truth Than Poetry

THE PRICE

By R. E. KISER: We worry over our defeats, We mourn the price we could not seize. And always the forbidding enemy, Leave longest cherished memories. We soon forget the easy ways, Where carelessly we moved along; The fierce whose million has been won, Should strive to make our courage strong.

We cannot learn to be resigned, When Fate appears to crowd us back; The joys that come to us we find, Much poorer than the joys we lack. We envy others who have done, The things we tried and failed to do; The man whose million has been won, Is grieved because it isn't two.

OUR minds are on the might-have-beens, The chances that we sought in vain; Defeat is where their strength begins, Who reach the heights we wish to gain. The great must learn to profit by, The pain that disappointment brings; We mutter sadly, you and I, When cheated out of little things.

OUR hearts and hopes are always set, Upon the present scheme or plan, And, failing, sadly we forget, Where courage died and doubt began. Perhaps despair has been the cost, Where laurels decorate a brow; If Dante had not loved and lost, He might not be remembered now.

IT MAY HAVE BEEN THE HEAT: A New York man offered a girl $5 for a kiss, and while he was getting it he took his purse, containing $75. They continue, however, to assure us that all the rubes come from the country.

ALAS, POOR DOBBIN! Suits made of hosiery are being worn by some of the fashionable men of London. It will be bad for the poor old horse when our Anglo-manics hear of this.

AMERICAN MINISTERS TO EIGHT COUNTRIES NAMED

Announcement of Selections Practically Completes Diplomatic Roster of New Administration... WASHINGTON, (AP)—Announcement of the selection of eight American ministers to Latin-American and old world countries was made Tuesday at the White House, virtually completing the diplomatic roster of the new administration. The eight ministers whose names were announced were: to Panama, Dr. John Glaver Smith, of Kentucky; to Nicaragua, John E. Cramer, Colorado; to Venezuela, Willis C. Cook, of South Dakota; to Guatemala, Roy Davis, of Missouri. To Czechoslovakia, Louis Binchell, of New York; to Bulgaria, Charles S. Wilson, of Missouri; to Finland, Charles L. Kenty, of Kansas; and to Siam, Edward E. Brodie, of Oregon. READ THE DAILY NEWS.

OUTLINES WORK FOR PREACHERS

Efficiency Expert and Dreamer in Ministry Come in for Criticism

DETROIT, (AP)—The minister who is "occupied from morning to night with 'business' of the church, which is called a good organizer, an efficiency expert, who 'sells' religion," fared ill by comparison with the old-fashioned parson for whom "there is no business except one great business of getting the efficient ministering to the needs of a suffering humanity and the strengthening of a weak humanity," Rev. Frank C. Dean of Lowell, City, told the General Conference of Unitarian and Other Christian Churches here today.

Makes Business Success: "There is the preacher who is a salesman and his job is to sell religion to an unwilling and unconvinced public," said Mr. Dean. "His study will, in filing cases, its card catalogues, its form letters and such things, look for all the world like the office of some up-to-date corporation business. His preaching even is colloquial and businesslike. It must be said for him that he succeeds far oftener than his less progressive brother. "On the other hand, here is a preacher who is a good deal of a dreamer. As a rule he has very little business sense to begin with and in the years of his ministry go by he loses what little he had. He grows more and more helpless in the face of the innumerable details in which the modern minister so often finds himself entangled. He does not like these things. And, to tell the truth, deep down in his heart he does not believe in them very much. To him the church isn't a business but what the old-fashioned preachers used to call 'a preaching station'—a station on the highway of life from which God's secrets and prophecies proclaim the will and love of God to the multitudes passing by. "This minister never 'builds up a church.' His life is too short for that and his strength is too limited. And anyway he doesn't know how. Once he is dead and gone, his church goes all to pieces; and all the king's horses and all the king's men, and all the masterful efficiency experts can't put it together again.

World Needs Preaching: "All honor to the minister who is not too stupid to learn the new ways of business, and not too lazy to put some of the methods into practice. But, after all is said and done, the present world is going to be saved not by the great organizing but by the great preaching of the forces that make for righteousness. It is going to be led out of the wilderness in which it has lost itself, not by any Moses with all manner of rules and regulations, even though these be enforced with a truly Mosiac efficiency, but by a Jewish who can simply say to this generation 'Thus saith the Lord.'

What Really Rules the World. It is brain force, combined with moral courage and sterling integrity, that rules the world—not self-assertion or brute force.—Uncle Henry's Sayings.

FATIGUE SHOWS IN SOUTHARD FACE GRIM VISAGE FURROWED WITH CARE

COURT SCENES TRY WOMAN'S NERVE

Alleged Borgia Displays Symptoms of Great Weariness During Moral Trial but is Buoyed by Determination - Question Arises How Long Can She Stand the Strain

If nature ever impressed the stamp of a buoyant spirit upon the face of Lydia Meyer Southard the tribulations, vexations and frots incident to her trial in the district court, to say nothing of the influence of a possibly guilty conscience, have successfully and effectually erased all such trace.

Here, as she sits in rapid diction through the long hours of testimony submission, is the expression of one in whose breast hope is seemingly at low ebb. Time, since last June, when she was apprehended on murder charges in far-off Honolulu, has traced lines of worry and self-fatigue upon face, forehead and breast, once plump and well rounded in health. Lines of deep furrow reach down her cheeks to chin while clouds of the neck stand out in well-defined relief against the death-white skin stricken skin.

About the woman's mouth is a noticeable appearance of determination, grim it may be defined, but determined nevertheless. The thin lips, kept ever tightly closed in straight line below a tilted and pliant nose, seem set in resolution to fight her own cause and carry on the battle to the end.

As the murder trial wears on and testimony, circumstantial though it be piled higher and higher by a relentless prosecution, the accused daughter of a Twin Falls district farmer, seems less and less encouraged. To all in tents and purposes the alleged Borgia is cool and prepared to meet any emergency and all of them that may arise.

When the witness concluded their testimony the district deputy, a quiet and unobtrusive man, left her, and she again yielded to growing fatigue, the face once more assuming the mask of insensibility which students of psychology and anatomy have thus far been unable to penetrate.

What there is a southerly grilling in store for this little woman whom the state accuses of cold-blooded murder more than one instance, seems assured from the great number of witnesses to be introduced in the case, and from the alleged importance of much testimony yet to come, and naturally in the face of these circumstances, the question arises: "Will she be able to withstand the strain?"

ANNOUNCEMENTS

A booster meeting will be held by the Odd Fellows on Thursday night. This affair marks the opening of the members' lodge after a quietest period through the summer. The district deputy will be present. A competitive contest for conferring degree will be started on this season before the report, Bull, Burley and Twin Falls lodges.

SALVATION ARMY IS READY FOR FESTIVAL

Captain Purdy and Corps Will Serve Roast Porker at Harvest Home Fete

Four young pigs, each weighing more than 70 pounds, will be roasted and served for the delectation and edification of hungry multitudes tomorrow evening.

The porkers are to be prepared and served at the center of culinary and gustatory attraction at the Second Annual Harvest Home festival of the Salvation Army corps, directed by Captain and Mrs. J. F. Purdy. The roasting will be done as a donation to the cause by W. Zena Smith, of the Royal Bakery, the owners of that place being loaned for this purpose. The dinner will be served from 9 to 9:30 p. m., in Parish hall.

For the past few days the pigs, dressed and ready for the sacrificial altar, have been on display at the Independent Meat market. They are fine specimens of Twin Falls juvenile porkers, milked and everything. They have been fattened for this especial fete, it is stated, and are expected, when served with the side dishes, to prove even more popular than did the chicken served at the first annual Salvation Army festival last year.

Tickets for this party are offered for sale at the Independent Meat market and also at the Majestic Pharmacy. In connection with the annual dinner there will be an auction of cakes and candies for the benefit of the Salvation Army corps. The auction will be conducted by H. R. Lue.

SHOE MARKET Saves you Money

Good Shoes--Fair Prices--Real Values

Ever since this little store was established it has been our aim to offer the people of Twin Falls and the entire tract the best materials obtainable in footwear plus FAIR PRICES at all times.

We have proven beyond a shadow of doubt that our idea of operating a small shoe store on the QUICK TURN-OVER SYSTEM WITH LITTLE OVERHEAD EXPENSE, has been the only solution to meet the demands of the buying public for GOOD SHOES AT MODERATE PRICES.

Our PRICES ARE ALWAYS RIGHT for we are constantly buying some shoes, and taking advantage of price reductions as they appear on the Eastern market.

Then, all we ask is a small profit. "WE WOULD MUCH RATHER SELL THREE PAIRS OF SHOES AT ONE DOLLAR PER PAIR PROFIT THAN SELL ONE PAIR AT THREE DOLLARS PER PAIR PROFIT."

We are after the big volume-of business, and we are glad to say we are getting our share. This little store is always busy and everybody knows it. THERE MUST BE A REASON.

Shoes for Men and their Sons; Shoes for Mothers and their Daughters. Hosiery for the entire family--at moderate prices
