THE FINAL SCORE R. E. B. Giants ... 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 2 3 Yankees ... 0 0 1 0 0 2 2 3 0.

POLO GROUNDS, New York, (AP)—The youngster, Waite Hoyt, came from this home in Brooklyn today and beat the Yankees in the second game, while the Yankees walked off the field with the second game of the world series by a score of 3 to 0.

The late running of the Yankees was again a feature. Bob Meusel, stealing home in the eighth before the at-batted game of John McGraw, manager of the Giants, while Babe Ruth, who had been passed by three times in his appearances at the plate, showed he could do something besides hit home runs by stealing second and third bases in the fifth inning.

Notch pitched a fourth game but his own error in the fourth inning and an error by Frisch in the eighth inning was the hole in the Giant defense through which the American League champions puffed over the winning run.

The cold figures show the plight of the hapless Giants in the second game.

OFFERS SCHEME FOR TARIFF AND TRADE BUILDING

Los Angeles Man Tells-Bankers' Association Free Port Plan Will Harmonize Apparently Conflicting Policies

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—The methods by which the United States can develop foreign trade and at the same time maintain a protective tariff were outlined here today, when Henry M. Robinson, formerly commissioner of the United States Shipping Board and now president of the First National bank of Los Angeles, placed the question of free ports and free zones before the bankers' association in an annual convention through the discussion of the trade zone bill which Senator Jones of Washington now has before congress.

"Apparent Inconsistency"
Mr. Robinson spoke as one interested both in protective tariff and foreign trade. He pointed out "the apparent inconsistency" of attempting to develop both at the same time, declaring it was only through the establishing of a free port and a free zone policy that the foreign trader and the protectionist could meet on common ground and the ends to which both were working could be accomplished.

He said that the Jones bill, as now amended, provided necessary machinery for the creation of foreign trade zones in or adjacent to American ports of entry, and authorized the secretary of commerce to grant to states, municipalities and their legal subdivisions the privilege of establishing such zones. He summarized the provisions of the bill, and declared that, whereas, under its present terms, both foreign and domestic merchandise might be brought into a free zone and there broken up, assembled, mixed with foreign or domestic merchandise or otherwise manipulated for re-export, direct manufacturing, as such, could not be carried on within the proposed districts—in order to meet the wishes of interior communities and allow their access as to seaboard manufacturing competition.

Free Trade With Limits
"Under the terms of this act," Mr. Robinson said, "no duty is to be applied to merchandise delivered from ship to wharf within a free zone except, less some part, or all, of its cost or for domestic consumption, at which time it will pass through the customs house and be subject to regular duty. In other words, we wish to maintain distinct districts within our ports of entry, as a free trade nation and at the same time protect our own domestic markets from a free market, and thereby reduce the earnings of our manufacturers, the profits of our merchants and the earnings of American labor."

Surplus Controlling Factor
Economists generally agree that a surplus is the controlling factor. It is not, therefore, reasonable, to assume that it is the backing up of our manufactured surplus and our inability to sell abroad that has brought about our unemployment situation?
"Since the beginning any nation which has engaged in any appreciable degree of success, in international commerce has been maintained on a free trade basis, or has maintained one or more free ports or free zones."
"For years, however, we, as a nation, have maintained a high tariff and most of the time a very high protective tariff, and for half a century our flag has been a comparative rarity upon the seven seas."

Since the maintenance of a merchant fleet is obviously predicated on work done on shore, any appreciable degree of success, in international commerce has been maintained on a free trade basis, or has maintained one or more free ports or free zones."

CAN'T BE STOPPED, SAYS "HUG" WE WILL WIN, COUNTERS RIVAL

Managers of Contending World Championship Teams Confident of Carrying Off Honors—Yankees Get the Start, but Giants Sure to Come Up, is McGraw's Prediction

NEW YORK, (AP)—"We are on our way and we won't be stopped," Manager Huggins of the Yankees, said today. "We are going to win. I feel confident of that," Manager McGraw, of the Giants.

These predictions of the rival managers before the second game of the world's series were backed up by the players on the respective teams. There is joy in the Yankee camp, yet no gloom in the Giants' stronghold.

Speaking of the first game of the series, Manager Huggins said his club played great ball.

"With remarkable pitching by Carl Mays, and brilliant offensive work by Peckinbaugh, who played the game of his career, we clearly had the edge," he said. "The boys were in there fighting hard—determined to win and showed a lot of stuff which the general public probably thought they could not flash. They had not only ability to hit and fine pitching, but they had more speed than the fastest club in the National league."

McGraw Allibis.

Declaring that everything broke right for the Yankees, Manager McGraw admitted he was greatly disappointed at the result of the first game.

"That defeat on the first day does not mean defeat in the series," he said. "They did not quite rise to the occasion in the field and they certainly fell down with the bat. It was a day such as I feared and such as followed most of our days of idleness during the season. Every time we get a day off, the team was sure to slump. But it always came back strong. So look out for the Giants today."

Mouset Family.

The whole Mousel family is sure to have a good Thanksgiving dinner, but the question of who will foot the bill remains an issue between the two brothers, Emil and Bob—to be settled by their battling in the world's series.

Emil, the older of the two, left fields for the Giants and a National league batting star, let it be known today that he had proposed to brother Bob, hard-hitting Yankee right fielder, a little war on the lawn, the one to make the least hits in the series to supply the dinner for the whole Mousel family next month. The younger Mousel willingly accepted.

Today, the brothers enter the second game of the series on even terms, officially, each with a batting average of .000.

He's Right, at That.

A writer declares that while we talk a lot about having money we practice it only indifferently. He evidently thinks there is too much "con" in our economy.

HARVARD MEN WATCH A REAL STRONG CHAMP

Super-Strength is Demonstrated by Ignatius Neubaum in Cambridge Gym

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., (Special)—Harvard has seen a real strong man. He can lift a 217 pound weight over his head with one hand; he can lift 2,900 pounds on his back; he can hold a team of horses on his chest.

The name of this man of super-strength is Ignatius Neubaum. He is an ex-GO. He is 25 years old.

The other day Neubaum shyly edged his way into Hemenway gymnasium where Dan Kelly's class in physical education was assembled. After witnessing several athletes tug away at a 217 pound weight with little success, Neubaum picked it up as if it was a feather and with one hand lifted it over his head.

Lifts 2,900 Pounds on Back

But that wasn't all. Neubaum went on breaking Harvard records. He crawled under a table and lifted 2,900 pounds off the floor on his back! Then he raised a 200 pound weight over his head nine times in half a minute.

Neubaum weighs only 160 pounds and the dull dumbbell he uses weighs fifty-seven pounds more than he does. It reaches three feet above his head when standing on end, for he is only 5 foot 6 inches tall.

The new strong man is popular, and the students say that he isn't one of those "strength nuts." He believes in leading the natural life and enjoys it. He eats what he likes best, but not in excess. He drinks coffee and enjoys an occasional cigar.

Teacher of Kids

Neubaum is superintendent of physical education in the public schools of Saranac Lake, N. Y., in the Adirondacks. During the war he was a plain salt water job and earned the reputation of being the strongest man in the navy. Under Admiral Benson's orders he trained thousands of jacks at the Polkham Bay station. While in the navy he acquired a course in physical development which is now a standard work of its kind.

Mathewson Gets Special Baseball Returns Service

Wireless Tells Former Great Pitcher World's Series Play Details

NEW YORK, (AP)—A special wireless from the Polo grounds is carrying details of the big series to Christy Mathewson, at his Saranac lake home. Unable to attend the contests, the former Giant pitching star, who once led his team to three straight games in one world's series, listened attentively as Carl Mays of the Yankees turned back the Giants scores in inning after inning yesterday. The wireless was installed by the Giant management.

Before the contest yesterday, Manager McGraw called Mathewson on the telephone to say that he was never more confident of victory. "I hope to be well enough to see the next series," Mathewson said, "and I feel confident you will bring home the bacon."

SOARING PORTAL RATES CAUSE PROTESTS BY PORTUGUESE

LISBON, (AP)—Portal rates in Portugal have been increased since May last to eight times the former rate. This has aroused protests from publishers and members of parliament who charge that the new rates virtually prohibit the exporting of books to Brazil and that this will destroy Portuguese influence in that country.

Brief Bits of Sport

Anyway the Yankees took the first one.

Puns now coincide that though the Giants played errorless ball they did not class with the American league rivals.

When one batter makes four pitches of a team's hit there is not much chance for scoring, unless the pitcher is walking folks.

Pitch third baseman of the Giants was the hitting fiend of the game, but the real hitting heroes were on the other side. They batted in runs.

Seventeen putouts for Wally Pipp without a slip-up, is some record.

But George Kelley had some days, too.

Peckinbaugh had a field day of his own at shortstop for the Yanks. The loss erases credits him with ten chances without error.

The News' gratis series service for the fans is far excellent. While the regular N. Y. operator copies the stuff from the wire another telegrapher "listens in" and wires what the player to a megaphone man at the front of the News building. The "barker" tells the folks just what is happening and at the conclusion of each half round reads the copy details.

An expert sign writer is in charge of the score board, which hangs in full view of the crowd.

Not a detail of play is missed and not a minute is lost in getting it to the fans.

Tomorrow afternoon, Clint Brown's football squad will have its first tryout of the season.

The Wendell eleven is scheduled to play here. The north side are rated "first class," the team being composed of top speedy boys.

And those White Sox!!!!

Had a "Gambler's" team was regarded among the American league clubs it was good enough to beat the Cubs

In the first game of the Chicago series the count being 2 to 0 with Midget Dick Kerr pitted against Giant Grover Alexander.

Statistics of the season show the Yankees and Giants an evenly-matched battling organization, with the latter edging in fielding.

Each team batted .303 points during the season, but the Giants fielded .377 while their rivals had a mark of .367. Both pitchers did better work than the Giants' staff, though.

"Get your cameras ready," yelled a Yankee roofer to the crowd of newspaper photographers, as Babe Ruth went to bat in the eighth inning yesterday. The picture men were ready but Ruth struck out. Though they fanned the noted home-run hitter during the game, but Babe had the pleasure of driving home a run with a single in the first inning.

One's palladium unit in centerfield, close to the Grant memorial monument, didn't think much of the first game. He spent snugly half the contest reading a newspaper. It was noticed, however, that he looked up from his reading when McNally stole home in the fifth.

A drowsy statistician announced that if the Giants all batted like Frank Frisch who made four hits in as many times at bat, the team would still be playing the first inning.

Orioles Defeated in First Contest Against Colonels

LOUISVILLE, Ky., (AP)—Victorians in the opening game, the championship Louisville club of the American association, was out today to make it two in a row from Baltimore, pennant winners of the International league in the second game of the junior world's series. The 10 to 1 defeat Louisville's famed Baltimore yesterday was the worst beating the Orioles have taken in four years. Nick Callup, the veteran left hander, displayed cunning ability in holding the Orioles in check. The Colonels humiliated the trio of Baltimore pitchers, Groves, Frank and Hawks in a total of 19 hits, four going for extra bases.

LIGHT-SIX TOURING CAR NOW $1150

This is a Studebaker Year

The car that is converting thousands to the SIX

The popularity of the six-cylinder automobile is universal. Everyone admits that there is great pleasure in driving a Six, and the six-cylinder motor is now recognized as the most satisfactory unit of power.

- The Studebaker LIGHT-SIX motor embodies the most advanced engineering developments—
- it is powerful. Its 40-horsepower motor supplies much more than the usual power per pound of car weight.
 - it picks up quickly and smoothly, affording a quiet getaway in traffic; it throttles down to a snail's pace in high gear.
 - it is freer from vibration, up to 55 miles per hour, than any car of its size and weight yet produced in Europe or America.
- The LIGHT-SIX is the most evenly balanced car you can buy. Its light weight (only 2500 pounds) is so equally distributed that if the chassis were halved or quartered each section would weigh practically the same. This means a low economy, and steady road-holding at high speeds.

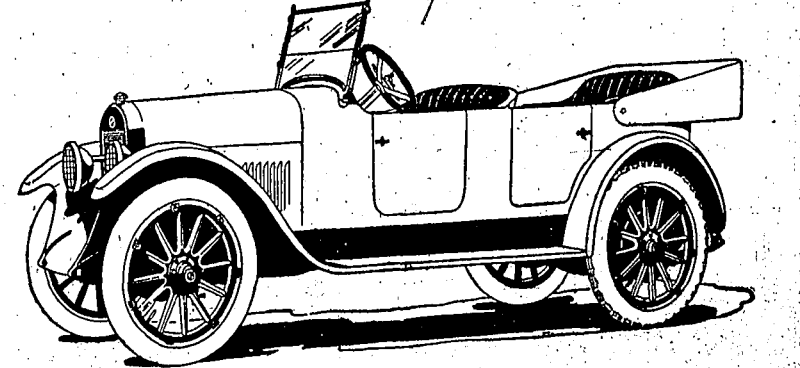

See this car—drive it—test it. You will be won by it. You will understand why it is the Studebaker ideal of what a light, six-cylinder car should be.

POINTS WAY TO BIG SAVING AT PANAMA CANAL

Investigating Commission, in Report to Secretary Weeks, Outlines Re-organization to Save $5,000,000

WASHINGTON, D. C. (AP)—Thorough reorganization of the administrative machinery of the canal zone with radical change in existing policies affecting employment of labor, physical operation of the canal and railroad, pay of employees and other important subjects is recommended in the preliminary report submitted to Secretary Weeks by the commission which recently investigated conditions in the canal zone at its request.

The commission estimates that an annual saving of five million dollars would result from adoption of its suggestions.

Law World Regulate Wages.

Chief among the recommendations is that the government exercise its power as directed "not to make agreements or understandings with the canal employes or any class thereof, for any period of time, but that the wages be periodically adjusted in accordance with the law, which bases the canal wages on the pay of similar employees in the government service in the United States," and that the governor shall "not deal with labor organizations or organizations, but shall deal with committees of employees."

"It is further recommended," the report says, "that the open shop principle be actually put into effect on the isthmus and that in all departments a substantial proportion of non-union men be employed."

Asserting that it has failed to find anything to justify continued expenditure of canal funds to maintain a naval base at the canal, the report recommends that operation of various facilities for naval purposes "cease immediately, and that hereafter the canal be operated entirely as a commercial agency, until congress shall otherwise indicate."

Would Employ White Citizens

Finding the employment of United States white citizens "more than offset" to another item of expense, the commission recommended that tropical workers be employed "to the extent possible, taking into consideration the fact that the canal is, to a certain point an element of national defense and that there may be certain positions in which aliens could not be employed." The commission firmly believes that if the recommendations are adopted, the return to the government will increase year by year and that within a period of ten or fifteen years the canal will return to the government. Investment of the federal government therein, "but the report adds and estimates the total cost to date of the canal at approximately $500,000,000.

Comor Heads Commission

The commission was headed by Brigadier General W. D. Connor, chief of staff, Captain A. B. Fry, of the treasury department, F. A. Moller, New York engineer, and H. F. Wilson, New York banker and business man.

EXPORT TRADE REVIVAL SENDS WHEAT PRICE UP

House with Eastern Connections Buy Freely While Talk of Demand of Orient Causes Upturn

CHICAGO, (AP)—Although new low record prices on wheat were touched in the wheat market today, advances later were scored. Offerings appeared to be passing into strong hands.

The big decline of late in all grain, together with the fact that liquidation has been heavy, was said to have led to belief in some quarters that a reaction was due. Opening quotations which varied from unchanged figures to 1 1/4c lower, with December $1.10 3/4 to 1 1/2c and May $1.16 to 1.15 3/4, were followed by an upturn to well above yesterday's finish.

House with eastern connections bought freely, and considerable domestic wheat was reported as having been taken for Europe and the Orient. The close was strong, 1 1/4 to 2c not higher, with December $1.10 to 1.13 1/4 and May $1.17 3/4 to 1 1/8.

Corn and oats paralleled the action of wheat. Corn 1 1/8 to 1 1/4c lower, including December at 48 1/2c, made a moderate advance.

Disappointing hauling returns counted as a bullish factor. The close was unsettled, 3-8 to 1-2c to 7-8c not higher, with December $9 1-2c.

Oats started unchanged to 3-8c off, December 35 to 35 1-4c, and then hardened all around.

Lower quotations on hogs weakened provisions.

PHYSICIAN IN DOUBT

"Yes; he insisted at the post mortem examination of the body. I asked Mrs. Meyer for her permission. I was dissatisfied about this case. Dr. Bieler had already examined the body and wished to determine whether death was due to typhoid or possibly poisoning. I opened the abdomen examining the kidneys, liver, small intestine and stomach. There was no evidence of typhoid in the small bowel. I also examined heart, bladder and spleen. Dr. Bieler examined the gall bladder and removed some specimens from certain organs and gave them to Dr. Bieler. Dr. Bieler reported next morning, September 8, by telephone that the witness signed the death certificate on the basis of Dr. Bieler's report. The death certificate was placed in evidence. It bears the initials of the witness and gives the cause of death as typhoid fever.

Bieler Finds Typhoid

"Dr. Coughlin said he signed the death certificate, giving the cause of death because Dr. Bieler had found evidence of typhoid in the patient's blood prior to death and in the colon bacilli after death. 'I was not fully satisfied with my own or Dr. Alexander's diagnosis,' said the witness, 'when I signed the death certificate.'

What symptoms did you find indicating typhoid fever in the patient?

"None," answered the witness. "Did you personally note anything in the way of typhoid symptoms?" "Not that I saw myself." "The certificate was based entirely upon Dr. Bieler's report," said Dr. Coughlin in reply to a question by Prosecutor Stephan.

What is mild carditis?

"An inflammation of the muscles of the heart," Dr. Coughlin explained.

Second Post Mortem Made

"A second post mortem examination was made on the evening of September 8, Dr. Wilson, Bieler and myself and J. J. Grossman and some others were present," said Dr. Coughlin. "Further specimens were removed by Dr. Bieler from liver, gall bladder, kidneys and bowels."

Did you ever administer arsenic to Mr. Meyer?

"No, sir." "Regarding Mrs. Meyer's statement that canned beans had been eaten at the ranch on the night before Meyer's illness, did this throw any light on his sickness?"

Illness, did this throw any light on his sickness?

"I naturally looked for a cause for his illness. Meyer's symptoms were not compatible with typhoid but his death was."

With arsenical poisoning?

"The symptoms were compatible with arsenical poisoning," Dr. Coughlin said. "The witness said that arsenic could not be produced by any chemical or metallurgical process."

When you noted the symptoms of Meyer about 4 o'clock on the day before his death were they similar to his previous symptoms?

"I would say that the same positive factor was back of each." "Yes, sir," replied the witness. "Dr. Coughlin said he believed the patient was out of danger when he first saw him on September 6."

Upon cross-examination by Attorney Mills, Dr. Coughlin said examinations of urine had been made by Dr. Bieler on the evening of the day of Meyer's arrival at the hospital or on the morning following.

"The witness said he never examined the urine for arsenic and did not know of any specimens being taken. The witness said he had treated Meyer some three years previously for an infection of the soft tissue of one ankle."

People who have religious scruples sometimes fail to follow physicians' directions,

"The witness said that he followed hospital attention was sometimes recommended by physicians. The witness said that typhoid was generally regarded as reliable and that specimens of blood taken from Meyer about 20 hours before his death rejected to the test was drawn from Dr. Coughlin by Attorney Mills just prior to adjournment."

PROTECTION JOB INVESTORS
Autumn brings the harvest season not only to the farmer but to the 'farmers of the farmer,' among whom the vendors of stocks that are worthless or of questionable value have heretofore figured too prominently.

Bitter experience in many instances has taught caution in dealing with those periodically-appearing Walling-Fords, but the State of Idaho is unwilling that experience alone shall guide the would-be investor in the disposition of his money. So there has been written upon the statute books what is commonly known as the 'Blue Sky Law,' and there has been created an agency for the enforcement of the terms of this measure.

This 'Blue Sky Law' is properly regarded as one of the most beneficial laws on the statute books. It provides that before offering any stocks, bonds, or other securities for sale in this State, the corporation or individual selling same must procure a permit from the State Department of Finance authorizing such sale. In addition to this permit which is issued to the corporation desiring to sell the securities, each agent or salesman offering the securities for sale must be licensed by this Department. When an application is received, the Department endeavors to investigate the proposition as closely as possible. If there is any reason to believe that the securities which are to be offered for sale do not provide a just and equitable plan of financing, the application is refused. After the permit is granted, the corporation must file a semi-annual statement with the Department showing its true condition. The law makes it a felony if any false statement is made to the Department.

The whole purpose of the law is to protect the investor, and it is interesting to observe in the report of the Commissioner of the Department the statement that almost fifty per cent of the applications to sell stock in this state during the past year have been refused, while a great many permits have been cancelled when it was found a company was not making a proper showing.

Still the unscrupulous promoter, and get-rich-quick artist will occasionally slip through and the only safe course when approached by some promoter or stock salesman is to ask to see his permit or license from the State Department of Finance. If he has no such license it is safe to assume that his proposition is not a legitimate one, or he would have complied with the law and be in position to exhibit the necessary document.

GROUND FOR HERITANCE

Although the railroad unions so far canvassed have voted by decisive majorities to reject the wage cut authorized by the federal railroad labor board and to empower their leaders to order a strike in case the pre-July wage rate is not restored, there is a quite general conviction that there will be no tie-up of the transportation lines. Union chiefs are more than reluctant to order a walkout. When the case has come up to them they have referred the question of strike to committees who are to recommend what action may be taken. There is a prospect that there will be no concerted movement by the organizations concerned, one waiting on another to take the first serious step. This attitude makes for public trust that sober councils will prevail, it favors confidence that something worse is not in store for the railroad workers. Assuming that the transportation systems could be tied up by strikes at a time when there is a great deal of unemployment, what logically would follow? In one form or another the government would take charge of the situation, for it is imperative that the railroads be operated. However, the government might undertake to operate the lines, it would not repudiate its agency for determining fair rates of wages, the railroad labor board. So right there, it is reasonable to conclude, would end all hopes of restoring the rates in effect before July 1 last. Some other method than a strike will have to be relied on to alter the existing condition. This is the conviction in high union circles and it forms the basis of the reluctance to order a strike.

A FUNERAL DEFERRED

By R. E. KIBER

LISTEN to the lean old fogey, as he sadly shakes his head; Evermore he sees some bogey that is filling him with dread. 'All the world is goin' crazy; things are rot-ten!' he asserts; Girls are either wild or lazy; see the way they wear their skirts! Every boy's a reckless rouser; deceezy's gone out of style; Virtue's leader than a flounder; nothing pays unless it's vile!

'LIVE to-day, there's no tomorrow—that ap-pears to be the aim; Back to Babylon and Gomorrah; all around us sin and sham; Recklessness and sin and scandal; every sacred thing defiled; Vice has got too strong a handle, and is simply rampant' wild; Naked women out cavortin' and pretenda' that it's art; With the devil up and smortin' and the churches far apart!

POOR old, hopeless fogey, peering into slimy, filthy pools; Dost to all that's cheerful, bearing the complaints of hopeless fools; Judging by an outworn measure, and forgetting Youth's demands; Horrified at healthy pleasure he no longer understands; He can see the evil only, as his anopheles and sniffs about; Poor old fogey, lean and lonely! Doad, but hasn't found it out.

HAVE YOU EVER MET HIM? Happy the man who doesn't feel that it is necessary to apologize for driving a Ford.

'Awful Near Killed'—and Twice, Too!

She was only a bit of a six-year-old with a primor in one hand and a rapidly shrinking all-day socker in the other. Her pink sweater was held across her one button that had snapped the button hole that was designed for her brother button's use and one pocket suffered from a permanent enlargement, due to a rubber ball of generous proportions.

She passed on the corner for a few blissful last sucks of the delectable sweet, and to smile engagingly at a toddling baby that had wriggled from the confining strap of his go-cart and was embarking on a life of adventure by himself. He returned the smile, then feeling that he must be about his business, he turned and with the exaggerated care of the two-year-old toddler, started across the street.

One instant she watched, her face frozen with horror, then dropping book and candy, she leaped after the baby. Her chubby arms were outstretched and she dragged him back to safety, screaming at his frustrated ambition. Two cars passed slowly over the crossing. 'My! she breathed, "wasn't he awful near killed! Twice, too!"

KU KLUX KLAN IS DENIED WEST VIRGINIA CHARTER

Secretary of State Refuses Authorization for Incorporation but Points to Court's Powers

CHARLESTON, W. Va., (AP)—Informal application for a charter of incorporation was made yesterday by the Ku Klux Klan, according to Houston G. Young, secretary of state. Young declined to issue the charter, but said he made it plain to the applicant, who did not give his name, that the organization "will not be granted a charter in this state."

Secretary Young did not give his reason for the refusal. He added, however, that he had informed the applicant that the laws of the state are such that the state supreme court can issue a writ of mandamus compelling the secretary of state to grant the charter."

Americans Received by Empress of Japan

Cameron Furber and their party were received today by the empress, after which they were given a luncheon presided over by Hagiwara, in the absence of the emperor, who is ill. Later General Wood received the members of the American colony at the American embassy. In the evening Charles H. Warren, the American ambassador, gave a dinner in honor of the American visitors, the guests including Premier Hara, Foreign Minister Uchida, Minister of Marine Kato and Prince Tokugawa, who will head the Japanese delegation to the Washington conference on Far Eastern questions.

China Makes Reply to Shantung Proposals

PEKING, (AP)—The Chinese reply to Japan's proposals concerning Shantung was transmitted to the Japanese minister here Wednesday. The contents of the communication were not indicated, however.

A circular note to the foreign legations here says that the reply will be made public Friday. Dr. Yen, the Chinese foreign minister, has edited the entire contents of the reply to the Chinese minister in Washington.

The passive scenic beauty of China is in strong contrast to the active cruelty of which her people are sometimes capable, as Gouverneur Morris reveals in his latest Embroid' Artists photoplay, 'A Tale of Two Worlds,' which was made at the Goldwyn studios.

The story begins in China during the Boxer uprising in 1899. In this native rebellion, a young American girl has lost her parents and their priceless collection of Chinese porcelains and jewels. The girl is brought to America by a Chinese servant and reared as a Chinese.

Involved in the plot is the quest of the jorrelled sceptre of which it had been said "that it is hatched in the tears of women and the blood of men." During the unfolding of the story, the lovely girl learns the truth of the sceptre's motto; but in the end, she finds peace and happiness, as well as her real identity, through the courage and the cleverness of an American lover.

'A Tale of Two Worlds' is regally produced and splendidly directed by Frank Lloyd. It will be shown at the Lavington theater for three days, beginning today.

THREE OLD BATTLESHIPS WILL BE SOLD AS JUNK

Maine, Missouri and Wisconsin, Former Pride of Navy, Now Declared Obsolete

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., (AP)—Three obsolete battleships, a cruiser and two monitors, will be sold as junk at the Philadelphia navy yard. The vessels are the battleships Missouri, Maine and Wisconsin, the Cruiser Columbia and the monitors Ozark and Tonopah. They represent an aggregate tonnage of 52,000. All stores and machinery worth salvaging will be removed before the sale.

The battleships and monitors carried main batteries of twelve inch guns now declared obsolete as effective fighting units, though they still served on active duty during the war as station or training ships. The cruiser Columbia, one of the fastest warships in the Spanish-American war, was used on patrol and convoy duty.

The Maine and Missouri were commissioned in 1901. The Maine replaced the old Maine blown up in Havana Harbor in 1898. The Wisconsin went into commission in 1907 with the North Pacific and Oregon. She was turned out by the Union Iron Works on the Pacific coast. The monitors Tonopah and Ozark went into commission in 1900.

Wick Will Clean Greasy Hands. That old round Wick from the oil stove that your wife usually throws away when it burns too short, if split in half and laid flat, makes an excellent mop. Dip it in the motor oil, and as you're working the grease and grime out of his hands, asserts Motor Life.

Virginia's Veterans Rapidly Passing On

RICHMOND, Va., (AP)—Virginia's confederate pensioners now number 9,575 about one-half of whom are women. The state auditor declares it is becoming increasingly apparent that the veterans are passing away far more rapidly than their wives, due to the fact that in nearly all instances on record the wives are considerably younger than their husbands. Many of the veterans were married before Virginia pays its Confederate veterans $200 a year in case of total blindness, $100 a year in case of total disability, and pays $50 a year to widows and orphans of veterans who were married before May 1, 1880.
