TESTIMONY UNDER FIRE BY DEFENSE

Court Disposes of Motions to Strike Statements of Certain Witnesses from Record in Rapid Fire Style

EVIDENCE ON DEATHS OF OTHER MEN IS ATTACKED

Counsel for Mrs. Southard Seeks to Confine Case to Specific Charge of State's Information

Expense of Southard Case Much Less Than Original Estimates

Actual Cost to Taxpayers Will Probably Run from $12,000 to $14,000

Compilation of the expense to the taxpayers of the trial of Lydia Meyer Southard is now going forward by county officials.

The total expense to date is declared to amount to between $12,000 and $14,000 after allowing for witness fees and expenses in connection with the taking of testimony in the case of the witnesses for the defense.

The expense includes witness fees, jury fees, traveling expenses of witnesses and court officers, bail, fees, expenses of expert testimony and every item of special or general cost entering into the case. The total expense is declared to be much less than was indicated by earlier estimates.

Motion by the defense for an order of acquittal in the case of Lydia Meyer Southard was denied today along with each of the several motions introduced during the day's session. Court adjourned at half-past 2 o'clock to permit of time for the preparation of a general statement by the defense which will be offered at 8:30 Saturday morning.

Many Witnesses Coming

According to Mr. Mills, witnesses will be here from Montana and Missouri, at least one from Virginia, two from Utah, a number from Peacote, as well as local witnesses. The defense will ask that the expenses of all these be made a county charge and that the right to take depositions also be permitted. Time asked is necessary to permit of a detailed showing.

The first mention of Mrs. Southard's status as a typist carrier was brought into the case through a motion by the defense setting forth that no evidence had been adduced by the state to negative the allegation. The motion further recited that in the case of some of the deaths offered in testimony were the symptoms inconstant with death from natural causes.

All Motions Denied

All motions during the entire day's session were denied, including those taken under advisement at the morning session. The lawless the evidence of the state intact except as to the specimens from the body of Robert C. Dooley.

Motion by the defense to strike from the record various parts of the testimony of certain witnesses and the entire evidence of certain other witnesses were disposed of in rapid fire.

BRITISH WARSHIP GOES TO LISBON

Apprehension Over Result of Political Developments Prompts Navy to Act

LONDON, (AP)—The admiralty, it was announced today, is sending the warship Calypso from the Mediterranean to Lisbon in consequence of the representations of British firms and British residents of the Portuguese capital. They express apprehension over the result of the recent political developments there.

News received in official quarters reports quiet prevailing in Lisbon today, despite, however, had occurred on a large scale previously, causing the British interests to request the presence of a warship.

Spainiards at Lisbon also are apprehensive and have requested the Spanish charge d'affaires to afford naval protection.

The new foreign minister at Lisbon, when approached with regard to possible disturbances, replied reassuringly to the effect that the government had adequate forces to maintain order.

TEXANS IGNORE BOARD'S ORDER

Leaders of Railway Employees Say Strike is Called and Must Proceed

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, (AP)—On being advised of the United States labor board's declaration today that there would be no strike of railway employees it was done in open defiance of the government, E. B. Thompson, general chairman of conductors of the International of Railroad Employees, declared: "It won't make any difference; the order to strike has been issued and we are preparing to strike."

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, (AP)—Approximately 600 members of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen employed by the International and Great Northern railway today completed final arrangements for a strike scheduled to begin at noon tomorrow, one week in advance of the date set for the general walkout of railroad men.

Brotherhood officials went to a meeting of members carrying official word from W. G. Lee, grand president of the organization, directing that the strike take place in accordance with the vote of the men, who favored October 22 as the strike date.

Company officials have not divulged their plans for operating trains. However, almost simultaneously with notice of the strike order came an announcement that the road would inaugurate an additional train service between San Antonio and Fort Worth on October 30.

CAPITOL TAKES HOPEFUL VIEW

Government Faces Now Phase of Rail Strike Situation with Optimism

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Use by the government of its war powers to avert the threatened nation-wide railroad strike, while suggested in some quarters, will not be exercised if it was stated today in high administration circles.

The impression was given that the administration holds other avenues are open by which a settlement may be reached.

WASHINGTON, D. C., (AP)—A new phase of the railroad strike situation faced the government today with the news that the conference in Chicago between the railroad labor board and the five leadership leaders had been terminated without having resulted in any definite plan for averting the nation-wide tie-up scheduled to start on October 30.

The optimistic atmosphere which has pervaded discussion of the situation was not entirely dispelled, however, by the overnight setback and the general opinion expressed was that the situation was far from hopeful.

SPEED UP STRIKE ORDERS TO FORESTALL COURT ORDER

New York, (AP)—Official strike orders from officers of the big four railroads and the switchmen's union of North America were being communicated today to railway employees in the New York district. The orders, received late last night, were promptly passed along down the line, local union officials said, in order to forestall possible injunction proceedings by the government.

In the meantime the railroads, spurred by the failure of the railway labor board to bring forth any hope of settlement, began plans to accept as nearly as possible what proportion of their employees intended to obey the walkout order.

The railroads continued yesterday to receive applications for employment necessary to official announcements, as well as offers of volunteer service from commuters and college men.

Push Railroad Legislation

Senate leaders agreed finally today to proceed with pending railroad legislation despite the strike situation, but before October 30, the date set for the strike-wide walkout.

ORDERS UNIONS AND OPERATORS INTO HEARINGS

Solemnly Warns Employees Not to Walk Out Until Their Grievances are Heard and Decision Rendered

STEP IS BACKED BY ALL GOVERNMENT AUTHORITY

Assumes Jurisdiction Conference Failed, Agreement and Dispute Pending as Result

CHICAGO, (AP)—The United States railroad labor board today called all the authority which the government can place at its disposal called the railroads of the country and the five big unions to appear before the board and solemnly warned the unions not to strike until the board has heard their grievances and rendered a decision.

The board's action practically means that there will be no strike October 30 unless the unions should choose to openly defy the government, for it is hardly probable that a decision will be rendered by the board before that date.

While the transportation act gives the board no power to enforce its decisions, it is understood that last week's conferences between President Harding, members of the board, Attorney General Daugherty, Secretary of War Weeks and the interstate commerce commission, placed all the departments of government in accord as to what should be done if either side moved in open defiance of the labor board.

Government Would Act

Should the unions refuse to abide by the board's order, it has been pointed out, "no board order, under the law, is a violation of any statute to that effect, and the president and his advisers could then proceed to take such action as they considered necessary. There has been some doubt whether the board could intervene and summon the roads and unions to a hearing prior to the actual walkout on the roads, but the board apparently has evaded that question by its reference to the conference held a week ago by union leaders and railroad executives. The board assumes jurisdiction because that conference failed to reach a decision, and a dispute is in the result."

Sets Date for Hearing

The board at 1:15 this afternoon passed a resolution which set the four brotherhoods, the switchmen's union and all railroads named in the wage reduction order of July 1 to appear before the board next Wednesday morning, October 25, at 10 a. m.

They are cited to appear so that the board may determine whether or not they have been or are violating the wage reduction order.

On Strikefront Circled

The board also set as a matter as the threatened strike is the result of a dispute between the carriers and their employees concerning wages, rules and working conditions. "This board hereby assumes jurisdiction of all disputes on the statutory ground that it is likely substantially to interrupt commerce."

Meanwhile both parties to the dispute are urged to stay out of the streets on the statutory ground that it is likely substantially to interrupt commerce. The action by the board followed a conference which began at 10 o'clock. Board members declined to comment.

Bolshevism Stakes All Upon Re-establishing Capitalism

MOSCOW, (AP)—Nikolai Lenin, the Russian soviet premier, in a speech here Wednesday on Russia's new economic policy, declared:

"We must face the fact that we are re-establishing capitalism and also, the question of whether the peasantry will follow the capitalists or the communists. If the capitalists are quicker and better they will send us communists to the devil."

"Our problem," continued the soviet premier, "is to make the future capitalism subject to the state and serve it, not the re-establishing of private ownership, but of personal communism interests. In order to organize our economic life we must interest every capitalist, and in this we have failed so far by direct attack. Now we must make a turning movement. If we actually fall, everyone of us will go to the devil and be hanged, and will deserve it."

"If you say: 'Go into business. Work with the capitalists by your side. Join Russian and foreign, who will get 100 per cent out of you. Let him get rich, but learn from him, and only then will the true communistic republic be created. It is hard, difficult, wrenching, but, but of us must do it, as there is no other way out.'"

PROVINCES ON YANGTZE STILL CONTINUE WAR

Gunboats Guard Traders in Cautious Movements Along River Menaced by Hostilities of Obscure Origin

PEKING, (AP)—The inter-provincial "war" in the Yangtze valley continues notwithstanding the withdrawal by the Peking government of Wang Shung-yuan, the unpopular high inspecting commissioner of Hupeh and Hunan. The war cry of the southerners when they invaded Hupeh was that Wang must go. Now it is autonomy for Hupeh.

Real Motive Obscure.
Whatever the real motive lack of the invasion, it is being effectively opposed by General Yu Peifu with his Chihli and Shanung troops. Several severe battles have been fought with several thousand casualties all told, and the southerners are reported to have occupied Yu Chow, in Hunan, and to have control of the Yangtze. The southerners have retired on Changsha without attempting to defend Yu Chow.

Both sides appear to be seriously hampered by lack of funds. Yu Peifu immediately after his appointment as high commissioner, sending Wang Ching-yuan and being charged with the defense of Hupeh, confiscated the revenue from the Peking-Hankow railway district where he was operating and to raise a loan from chamber-commerce and guilds.

Ching brought him into disrepute the people of Hupeh and he is reported to be chased in flight with the general run of military. He was formerly, and still is reported here as an exalted type of military leader whose acts are guided by high patriotism.

Southerners Await Help.
On the other hand, the southerners are alleged to have put out a cry for help from Dr. Sun Yat-sen and to be working time until such help arrives. Traffic on the Yangtze above Hankow is perilous on account of indiscriminate firing by soldiers on all craft, foreign or Chinese.

Formal notice has been sent to all consulates against such navigation and such steamers as continue to move are conveyed as a rule by gunboats, which have occasional brushes with troops on the shore.

ADMIRAL BEATTY COMES AS GUEST OF VETERANS
British Naval Commander Arrives with Escort of American Destroyers to Attend Legion Conclave

NEW YORK, (AP)—Escorted by a squadron of American destroyers which picked the liner Aquitania up before dawn off Ambrose Lightship, Admiral Beatty of the British navy arrived here today at the guest of the American Legion. The admiral will attend the legion convention in Kansas City.

The batteries of Forts Hamilton and Wadsworth thundered a salute of 10 guns as the liner bearing the commander of the grand fleet during the world war slipped past on her way to quarantine. Admiral and Lady Beatty were to be greeted at quarantine by the members of the state and municipal governments, and taken off on the navy cutter Vigilant.

The Vigilant was scheduled to land at the battery shortly before noon when the visitors would be escorted to city hall to receive formal greetings from Governor Miller and Mayor Hylan. After the legion convention Admiral Beatty will return to Washington, where he is to serve in an advisory capacity to the British delegation at the armistice conference.

Soviet Superior Economic Council Restricts Liquor Trade in Russia for Five Years

MOSCOW, (AP)—The superior economic council has decided to permit the manufacture of alcoholic beverages in soviet Russia, partly for export, with a government monopoly, it was announced late last night. Establishments for the purpose, it is stated, will soon be offered for lease to private concerns.

Vodka and other liquors have not been manufactured in Russia for five years and at the present time such beverages, except for Georgian wines are unobtainable throughout Russia. Even alcohol for medical purposes is scarce.

FEDERAL AGENTS SEIZE HOME BREW MATERIALS

Bald on Store Rooms of St. Louis Etc. Seizing Company Results in Confiscation of Malt Extract and Hops

ST. LOUIS, Mo., (AP)—Federal prohibition agents yesterday seized large quantities of malt extract, hops, bottles, coppers, crocks, siphons and other commodities which could be utilized in the manufacture of home brew in the store rooms of a local importing company. The seizure was made by Andrew McCampbell, general prohibition agent, and his assistants.

McCampbell said similar seizures would be made in several other cities. The seizure is the first of its kind here. The manufacture of home brew is not permitted under the recent ruling of the prohibition commissioner Hays.

Members of the importing company said the seizure was reported as a plan of the government to make a test case to determine whether dealers may sell hops and malt extracts, and similar necessities for home brewing.

Powdered Fish Good Food.
A great many fish are caught merely for the recovery of the oil contained in their bodies and after this is pressed out, the residue or what is called "cake," is used for fertilizer. A Japanese investigator has succeeded in making this available as a food and it is said to be very nourishing after the treatment which he gives it. It takes the place of "stock" in making soups and gravies.

ORDERS MINERS INTO HEARINGS

Where Conference Failed.

Lack of any provision by the unions for suspending the railroad strike called for October 20 made it impossible to accept the plan offered by the United Brotherhood of Carriers and Employers yesterday, it was said today in official circles.

The board, it was said, presented three proposals to the presidents of the big four unions who were to discuss the men's union. They were:

- 1. The railroads to make a reduction in freight rates corresponding to the wage reduction of July 1. No such reduction has already been made since that date.
- 2. The railroads to refrain from asking the United States railroad labor board for a further wage reduction until the last cur cur has been translated into rate reductions.
- 3. The unions to suspend or withdraw their strike order.

The five union presidents will be in to accept the first two, but declared they had made no arrangements for suspending their strike, and any settlement must be made before October 20, or the railroad would automatically become effective.

Brotherhood Disappointed.

The board, it was reported today, assured the union leaders that the railroads could not get a decision for the Brotherhood of Carriers and Employers request for a ten per cent wage reduction immediately.

Brotherhood leaders, who had already expressed their disappointment, made no effort to conceal their disappointment that the board had nothing else to offer.

TESTIMONY UNDER FIRE

style by the court this morning in the case of the state against Lydia Meyer Southard, charging first degree murder.

Thirteen such motions were disposed of without argument in addition to a general motion covering the testimony of witnesses touched upon the case of each of the first three husbands and the brother-in-law of the defendant. Typ motions were taken under advisement and further authority asked for the case of one more.

Delays Defense Testimony.

It is understood that still further motions will be introduced by the defense and that extended argument will be offered upon one at least of these. Following the disposal of this case of the case the opening statement of the defense will be in order and it is anticipated that this will come until Saturday at the earliest.

Grounds of Objections.

Objections of the defense upon which was based the motion argued this morning group themselves generally, as follows:

- 1. Symptoms as described in the testimony of the state's witnesses in the Edward Dooley case not identical with those of Edward F. Meyer, with whose death the defendant is charged.
- 2. No motive was shown for the killing of Edward Dooley.
- 3. Evidence in support of the alleged death of Edward Dooley is insufficient to prove the alleged offense of the defendant.
- 4. Testimony does not conform to the "best" proof by the state in connection with the Meyer case.
- 5. Objections heretofore urged at the time of the admission of the testimony are still valid.
- 6. Evidence has failed to show the remains were those of Edward Dooley, the body had not been tampered with by strangers, and the post-mortem examination conducted in such a way as to exclude possibility of poison being introduced between the time of death and exhumation or after.
- 7. Evidence shows that symptoms during the illness of Edward Dooley were controlling facts in determining whether death was from disease or poison and is insufficient to negative everything but arsenical poison as to the cause of death.
- 8. Similar motions framed to strike out the testimony on the cases of Harlan C. Lewis, third husband, and Gordon Melville, second husband, followed. On the success the defense meets in these attempts will depend the effort to strike testimony of individual witnesses.

Insurance Man Summoned.

Edward S. Chadwick, of Boise, president of the Idaho Life Insurance company was subpoenaed on a duces tecum, writ issued Thursday by counsel for the defense. Mr. Chadwick will be required to produce all records and correspondence of the company bearing on deaths involved at the Southard trial. The defense is particularly interested in communications between the insurance company and the county officials relative to the case.

Stressful Difference in Symptoms.

Argument by Mr. Mills was based upon a number of points set up in support of his contention. In the case of Edward Dooley, the symptoms were declared to be different in many particulars to those of Edward F. Meyer. The case of U. F. Meyer, the temperature obtained practically during the entire course of his illness, whereas, according to the development of the illness of Edward Dooley, the temperature which prevailed much of the time during course of his illness. It was also contended that no motive was shown for the killing of Edward

Dooley in that the insurance policy was a joint policy on Edward Dooley and Robert, as joint beneficiaries, and Robert having full charge of the money as paid, as community property.

All the objections made at the time the evidence was introduced were urged as reviewed basis for the striking of testimony.

Denies Proper Identification.

It was further contended that the remains of Edward Dooley had not been properly identified and that no sufficient evidence had been shown by the state to preclude the possibility of tampering with the body by outside interests or the introduction of poison into the remains between the time of death and the taking of the specimens.

The motion was denied except as to the testimony relating to Robert Dooley, which will be ruled upon by the court.

The non-appearance of C. J. Crowley, undertaker who had charge of the Robert Dooley body is responsible for the ruling out of testimony pertaining to the extent to which evidence is to be given as receiving perhaps the most important element in the testimony will respect to this particular phase of the state's proof.

Would File Place of Crime.

Extended argument ensued as a result of the motion to have the court require the election by the prosecutor as to whether the crime in the case of Meyer was committed in Jerome county or in Twin Falls county, to-wit, at the Twin Falls hospital. Argument by Attorney Walters and Attorney Stephens for the state cited the general rule that death caused as a result of a series of acts or offenses and not specifically as a result of one offense committed in Twin Falls or Jerome county. Attorney Hefke addressed the court in the interim of the defense. A second and similar motion putting the same general thought into slightly different form was taken under advisement by the court.

Doctors' Testimony Stands.

Motions to strike the testimony of Dr. Wilson, Dr. Wermland and Dr. Rose, general thought being slightly different from was taken under advisement by the court.

Motion to Strike the Testimony of Frank Ward.

Motion to strike the testimony of Frank Ward, and this also under advisement of specimens and all testimony pertaining to the evidence of expert witnesses and the chemical analyses in each case met the same fate.

A number of motions, directed towards the proposition of the exclusion of evidence as it now stands will be in order and it is anticipated that this phase of the case is finally disposed of.

the organization transgressed and occurred. Such was the condition in district in Kansas) and by the same token, the international union has intervened in the case of the two miners, or that the union was acting in sympathy with the Kansas industrial court law.

Pledges Attack on Law.

Further the letter asserted it was "deliberate falsehood" to say the international union would permit changed working conditions at the two mines, or that the union was acting in sympathy with the Kansas industrial court law. Legal attacks on the law by Hoyt and other deposed Kansas union officials were said "not to strike at the heart of the measure" and the letter added that the international union would soon institute legal proceedings to challenge all the law's provisions which labor regards as unconstitutional.

the government on Wednesday, which resulted in the setting up of a new administration. Newspapers here print an official note from the junta directing the national movement which placed the new government in power, vehemently protesting against the assassination of these two public officials and other devoted republicans.

It is asserted that such acts of violence must be considered due to the animosity of the "generous national movement" which is declared official news to have established its government without bloodshed. The note adds that these guilty should be delivered to justice.

SHARP PRICE UPTURNS

Optimism Over Prospect for Harvest Strike and Reported Increase in Foreign Purchases Cause Advances

CHICAGO, (AP)—Active buying resulted largely in a professional speculator here had a bullish effect today on the wheat market. Offerings were readily absorbed, and the rising prices made some early sellers run to cover. Bulls appeared to be biding their operations more or less on expectation that the president and his cabinet would find a solution for the threatened general railroad strike. Opening quotations, which ranged from 1-4 to 1-4 1/2 higher, with December $1.04 1/2 to 1.06 and May $1.09 to 1.10, were followed by a material further advance.

Wheat in Europe was said to have taken 1,000,000 bushels. It was said also that, for several days the market has been acting oversold, and that today's upturn was not surprising. Prices closed strong, 3 1/2 to 4 not higher, with December $1.08 to 1.08 1/4 and May $1.12 1/4 to 1.12 1/2.

Corn and oats shared in the strength of wheat. After opening 1-3 to 1-3 1/2 higher, Dec. 40 1/4 to 40 1/2, corn closed steady, 5-8 to 7-8 not higher, with December 46 7-8.

Oats started unchanged to 1-4 higher, December 35 5/8 to 35 3/4, and later scored several additional gains. Higher quotations on hogs helped to strengthen provisions.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK, (AP)—Heaviness of rails and strength of oils and equipments were the conflicting features of today's dull and professional stock market. Finer money rates also serving as a deterrent. Sales approximated $25,000 shares.

Selling of railroad shares on a moderate scale attended today's early dealings in the stock market. The refusal of the railroad labor organizations to cancel their strike order invited a removal of professional operations. Losses among the more prominent transportation companies from large fractions to a point, Northern Pacific and Great Northern sharing equal pressure.

Stocks also were heavy on the poor statements issued by several of the independent companies for the third quarter of the year. Shipplings, sugars and tobaccos recorded fractional recessions.

Pressure against transportation relaxed in the final hour when Mexican Petroleum became active at an extreme gain of nearly five points. The closing was firm. Bonds, including Liberty Issues and convertible rails, were steady.

Potatoes

CHICAGO, (AP)—Potatoes—White weak; red steady; receipts 143 cars; total U. S. shipments 1,543 cars; Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan Round White, sacked $1.75 to 1.85-cwt; bulk $1.85 to 1.95-cwt; Red River, Ohio unchanged.

Social Notes

Phone 32

About 30 young people enjoyed a "backyard" social at the residence of the Methodist church last evening, arranged by a committee from the Christian Endeavor society, assisted by the Mesdames C. M. Hall, D. M. Easton, J. A. Johnston, Lena Holderman and Frank Dawson. The games and maces, the dances and the mock wedding were all arranged to proceed in regular order and the social was much enjoyed. Refreshments were served by the assisting hostesses at the close of the evening.

The Episcopal Guild met at the home of Mrs. J. R. Bothwell of Tenth avenue north yesterday afternoon, with about 30 members present. Continuing the work outlined for the year was devoted to the study of the women of the Bible. Mrs. Bothwell read a paper on "Eve" and Mrs. J. W. Weidling on "Sarah." The business part was devoted to plans for a rummage sale to be conducted by the guild on October 28, and for a waffle breakfast on November 1. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. C. B. Clift on October 27.

The Presbyterian Aid Society met at the home of Mrs. Fred Spencer on Sixth avenue north Thursday afternoon. The time was spent in sewing for the bazaar which will be given in the church parlors on December 8. Various articles will be offered for sale and a cafeteria luncheon served.

A Halloween party for the children of the Beguners' department and the Childs Roll department of the Methodist Sunday school given yesterday afternoon at the parlors of the Methodist church under the direction of Mrs. B. L. Hughes and Mrs. H. D. Stover was a very enjoyable affair. The party was attended by the little people and their mothers. Kindergarten games appropriate to the season were played and a candy table was supplied. Refreshments were served to the small guests at the close of the afternoon. About 50 members were present.

Church business and recreational diversions occupied the members of the Baptist Ladies' Aid society at the parsonage yesterday afternoon. Music by Mrs. George Perry, Miss Edna Graham, Mrs. Grace Vlier and Miss Ruth Toller, with readings by Miss Freda Blak, C. H. Hancock, Mrs. E. M. G. Clift, Grace P. Wurster, and Mrs. F. A. Wilbur, the hostess served refreshments at the close of the afternoon. About 50 members were present.

The "Cheerful Workers" class of the Baptist Ladies' Aid society, Mrs. C. L. Goggin, teacher, held a box social at the parsonage last evening to which all the young people of the church were invited. Music and games provided the diversion of the evening, and the sale of the fund boxes netted a goodly sum for the class treasury.

Mrs. C. E. Wright was hostess on Wednesday evening at her home, commencing Miss Leslie McFarland's birthday of November. The house was decorated with Hallowe'en colors, and the centerpiece of the luncheon table was a pumpkin filled with nuts and flowers. Little Jane Wright presented the honor guests with a box of gifts appropriate for kitchen use. The guests included the Misses Lyle, Foster, Roy, Kilmer, Shipman, Guesen, Threlkeld, Ruth and Leslie McFarland, and the Mesdames Tibbels, Clark, Campbell and E. C. McFarland.

"Don't Neglect Your Wife," the picture that is holding the boards at the Lavering theater today and tomorrow, is a real picture to say the least. Its plot is different than the average run of pictures and gives one something to think about, especially the men.

It deals with California (San Francisco to be exact) right after the Civil war, and shows us high society as it was in those days.

"The husband is one that we see so often in real life, one that no time for his wife, and spends most of his time at the club.

The third member of the triangle (the hero) is a little different, owing to the fact that he forgets that he is loved and falls pretty low.

We could tell you more of this clever picture, but not even as well as the screen would show it to you.

Our advice to married women would be to treat their husband to see this picture, and then perhaps he would do things as you see them.

The show at the Idaho for today is a Low Weber production, and is told about it would spoil your enjoyment of it.

"The Plot" has a beautiful love story running through it, and the training of the poor girl and the rich man are wonderfully portrayed in this, one of the most wholesome pictures shown here in a long time.

The Orpheum is showing Edgar Jones in "The Timber Wolf" today. This picture deals with the frozen North, and you who like real rot-bloated action will be accommodated at the Orpheum. The usual Friday vaudeville will consist of a blackface comedy team, which is guaranteed to be the original chaser of blues. The other act is a dancing and singing novelty, which is sure to be a winner.

The Golden State has long been famed in song and story but the greatest of the lyric acrobats resting forth the good qualities of that commonwealth can be credited to Charlie Abot, who, besides being the star humorist of the Marcus Show of 1921, composed the score for "Chuck, Chuck!" the big extravaganza's current offering in California. I Am Coming Back to You." Abot has conceived a melody that haunts the brain and makes the vendor of phonograph records happy. Mr. Abot wrote the music and Jack Lait the lyrics. The Marcus Show of 1921 will be at the Lavering theater, Tuesday, October 26.

Origin of "Strut" A stiff piece of wood used as a support is called a strut; so also a person who walks stiffly and pompously about is said to strut. Both words are of Scandinavian origin and the Middle-English word was "strouten" to swell or spread out. There was a German word, strouten, to be puffed up.

Use for Ultra-Violet Rays. For some years ultra-violet rays have been used for sterilizing water, milk and other fluids. The idea has now been applied to the disinfecting of barrels and casks.

Their Smart. "Tell 'em nothing, eh? What about that advice in managing wives?" "It won't work. You fail to tell 'em, they guess."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Full instructions. A traveler in Japan tells of curious notices he saw in shop windows, and especially an official municipal notice to motorists: "If a cow obstructs foot or sooblingly; if she continue to obstruct, test 'er with vigor; if she still obstruct, wait till she pass away!"—The Christian Advocate (New York).

SEED GROWERS' OPPORTUNITY
Opportunity is presented to Idaho seed growers by a situation in respect to dealers' marketing practices that apparently was wholly bad.

In past years, according to H. K. Wilcox, president of the Idaho State Seed Growers' Association, the highly-colored Idaho seed has been blended with the poorer grades of seed produced in the eastern states.

There are just two things that the Idaho grower can do about it. He can sit and hope and hope unprofitably for a change in this practice and the dealers responsible for it.

Indications point to disposition to adopt the latter course, and opportunity lies this way. There is abundant precedent in this direction among the activities of growers of other products, and there is every reason to believe that through a determined effort on the part of Idaho seed growers, the high degree of success that has attended these other similar enterprises will be duplicated here.

Explanation of Name "Canada."
There are various theories as to how Canada came to be called one which means "with wide approval is that the word Canada is derived from an Indian word, "Kanata," meaning a village or collection of huts, and it is supposed that Jacques Cartier, hearing this word used by the Indians, mistook its meaning, and applied it to the whole country.

SUNDAY SCHOOL MAKES ENTRY INTO IOWA TOWN

Unusual Interest Attaches to Establishment of First Religious Organization in Community

DAVENPORT, Ia. (AP)—Unusual interest has been aroused in Walnut, Ia., 13 miles west of here by the establishment of a Sunday school, the first in the history of that community.

Walcott's religious sentiments have been said to be unique. Although a progressive business community with fine homes, schools and banks, the town has been without a church since its founding about 50 years ago.

Until a few years ago Walcott had no religious organization. Since its founding about 50 years ago, Walnut citizens are declared to have refused to support or tolerate a church.

The town doesn't want churches and the majority of its citizens have boycotted all church movements, according to a prominent citizen who today made this explanation.

The new Sunday school starts with 25 pupils.

Halloween or Pagan Origin.
Halloween, or All Hallows' eve, is clearly a relic of pagan times, for there is nothing in the church observance of the ensuing day of All Saints to have originated such extraordinary notions as are connected with this celebrated festival, or such remarkable practices as those by which it is distinguished.

LOYD GEORGE DECIDES ON DATE OF DEPARTURE

British Premier to Leave for Washington November 5 to attend Armament Limitation Conference

LONDON, (AP)—Prime Minister Lloyd George has decided definitely, it was stated today, to leave for Washington, November 5, on the liner Aquitania, arriving in time, it is expected, for the afternoon session of the armament conference on its opening day, November 11.

It is expected A. J. Balfour, of the British delegation, will accompany the prime minister. Mrs. Lloyd George probably will sail with her husband.

The premier's plan is naturally subject to change if unforeseen circumstances should arise.

Mr. Lloyd George expects to be absent five weeks, including the time required for the journey to and from America.

The Aquitania is due to arrive at New York the morning of November 11. The secretary of the delegation and most of the other members of the entourage will leave England next Wednesday.

TEACHER CALLS PRESS POTENTIAL PEACE FACTOR

National Education Association President Points Out Possibilities and Responsibilities of Newspapers

HONOLULU, T. H., (AP)—The press of the world can materially aid in the movement for permanent peace, E. E. Brodie, of Oregon City, Ore., president of the National Editorial Association, told the Peace Congress of U. S. World delegates here today in speaking on the subject "International Comity Among Journalists."

"On the next anniversary of the close of the World War there will meet in Washington, at the call of President Harding, a conference which we, all of us, hope will be the beginning of the biggest news story that newspapers of the world have ever been privileged to print," said Mr. Brodie. "This news story, if events work out as we devoutly wish, will tell of the first general peace of the nations not alone peace, but to end war for all time."

It therefore seems fitting to me that perhaps one of the most important subjects that the editors of the world gathered here can discuss is what can the press of the world do to materially aid in the movement for permanent peace.

Give News Fairly and Squarely

"We can do many things, fellow editors. Not only can we print the news of the gathering at Washington, and spread among our readers fairly and squarely the aims of the disarmament congress, explaining the difficulties that must be overcome, the jealousies that must be stilled and the distrust that must be quieted, so giving support to our national representatives at this meeting, but we can do more."

In short, we can make peace permanent in the world, or we can nullify the accomplishments of the Washington conference, whatever they may be. I do not speak hastily, for I am not a idealist. Nor am I endeavoring to say something nice to you, something "timely," something that sounds well in an address.

The world has it in the power to stop war; and the plea I want to make before you is that we not only support the efforts for permanent peace that are being made in Washington, but that we, as editors, endeavor to do our part in making war an impossibility in the future.

"You will admit, I think, that without the tacit consent of the press, war would be a very difficult thing to carry on. War is no longer declared by monarchs, but by the people. War is no longer declared by monarchs, but by the people. War is no longer declared by monarchs, but by the people."

War is no longer declared by monarchs, but by the people. War is no longer declared by monarchs, but by the people. War is no longer declared by monarchs, but by the people."

War is no longer declared by monarchs, but by the people. War is no longer declared by monarchs, but by the people. War is no longer declared by monarchs, but by the people."

Russian Soviet Government Uses Movies in Propaganda Work

To bring the movies to the villages of Russia, the soviet government has cinema cars attached to its propaganda trains. Red literature is distributed to all who attend the free movie shows. On the right are two Russian youngsters laughing at a caricature of capitalism, painted on the side of one of the soviet propaganda trains which tour the country for the distribution of their literature. Michael Kalinin, president of the Russian soviet republic, is shown on the left. Kalinin was a farmer and toolmaker before the revolution. He has long been associated with the radical movement in Russia.

But every question has two sides, and it should be the duty of the press, in an international dispute, to not only present both sides, but to point out the terrible costs of war, so that the people may judge whether the most is to be gained. However, if the press does its duty towards world peace, as I see it, and as I want you to see it, disputes will not develop to crisis, and we will not have to plead for peace. What, then, must we do?

"In the first place, let us insist on accurate, uncolored, news. Let us handle the events of the day that our readers will see that the world is a great family of peoples, interdependent on one another for their common success. Let us begin with good will towards all, and world brotherhood. Let us refer to the prosperity of the world depends on common sense; that an nation can dictate to another what it shall do or shall not do."

"We now have to give some quiet politics for the general good of all. There may, for instance, be an old boundary dispute between two nations, never satisfactorily settled, in the liking of either. If a boundary has been established, and has been respected for a number of years by both nations, what good will it do for the newspapers of the two nations to continually hurl upon the question? How much better for them to drop discussion, and so cease engendering unkind feeling in the matter."

World Book Good Points

"Perhaps one of the greatest opportunities to bring about mutual understanding is for the press of each nation, to devote its attention to the good points of other nations, rather than to the few deplorable features. Before the other fellow's necessary, print the press when it has a national birthday, celebrate his house of representatives when it passes a good law—flatter the other fellow a bit, instead of poking fun at his mistakes or glorying in his misfortunes. Let the news you print about other countries be the sort of news you want your own people to read about your own country—and very soon you will build up an exchange of good feeling that will not only be a step for peace, but that will be mutually advantageous in lines of trade and other relations."

"When international disputes do arise, treat them sanely. As the saying is, 'don't make mountains out of molehills.' Look for truth in the matter and present it fairly, and 'play down' rather than 'play up' the news concerning the difference of opinion. Don't aggravate either, rather do your best to solve each difficulty as may arise."

"All this you can do, as editors. You can make your papers more chronicles of news, rather than partisan sheets shouting for a party policy. But the welfare of your nation first—but remember that welfare means peace and not war. Remember that justice is a part of national honor—but that justice applies to the other nation as well as to your own. In short, let your press reflect the Golden Rule in justice and national questions as well as in lower matters—and you will be creating a public opinion that will make war impossible."

This sounds much simpler than it is. It is easy to be fair and magnanimous and to put the other fellow on the back in times of peace and quiet and happiness. We are, all of us, good fellows then. We are normally, friendly people, desirous of peace.

Can Prevent War

"But to you, editors of the world's press, will fall the duty of being fair and magnanimous and four-square in times of stress, so that your reading public may not be led astray by grossly misused over some misunderstanding incident. It is then, in times of present crisis, when the press of the world can do its greatest work for peace. It is then that we can prevent war by the use of good judgment in soundly public opinion by wise counsel and by accurate news of what is going on."

We have a heavy responsibility to carry, fellow editors. Here in the middle of the Pacific ocean we are today meeting in what has been termed the theater of the next war. Gracious it is we can bring on this war, if we let our papers voice and magnify the justest and misinterpretations of the people whose homes ring this ocean. But if we do that we will have on our hands the blood of those who will perish in the conflict, and charged against us will be the loss that we will bring to the world."

"But I do not believe we will permit this war to occur. I know we can prevent it, and I hope I have convinced you that we can prevent it. Let us realize that we're all neighbors in the world, and make the best of it."

The Hall an Index

"The furnishings in the hall are like the window decorations, they are the first index of the people who live there. The furnishings in the hall should, first of all, be simple, practical, cheerful, hospitable and in perfect taste. As one writer puts it: 'If your hall you are known.' Therefore, the lighting fixtures, floor coverings, hangings, and the furniture itself must be selected with great care."

CHECKS UP RECORDS OF WOMEN AS MINISTERS

Commission Investigates Situation for Guidance of Methodists

OMAHA, Neb., (AP)—An effort to determine just what success women ministers have had in church organizations that have authority to permit them to preach is going to be made by the Methodist Episcopal church, according to Bishop Homer C. Stuntz, of Omaha, chairman of a commission named by the church's last general conference at Des Moines, Iowa, to investigate the question of ordaining women to serve in various pulpits.

What recommendations, if any, are made by the commission, will depend entirely on data which it is to lay before the next general conference, to be held in New York early in December to hear the report of Doctor J. M. M. Gray of Scranton, Pa., who has been doing a great deal of research work on the subject.

Any recommendations the commission may make, however, will not be made public, as the desire to avoid publicity while the question is pending, both in the public and religious press. Under the rule of the Methodist church the commission's recommendations will be referred to the church's committee of revision, which, in turn, will submit them to the next general conference in 1924.

The next general conference meeting place, however, has not yet been selected, the choice under church rules having been left in the hands of its bank committee.

"The commission," said Bishop Stuntz, "feels that its first need is to ascertain from churches that have ordained women as ministers just how the plan has worked; how many of them are serving; how long they have kept to the work; and other details that will help determine how much success women have been having as ministers."

Bishop Stuntz, who recently returned to Omaha after five weeks of conferences in Iowa and Nebraska, has jurisdiction over the church's Omaha area, which comprises Iowa and Nebraska.

Many corporations and business men have been able to weather the late year of strain because of reserves which they had built from previous years. Such a reserve is useless unless it can be turned to account when needed.

The Twin Falls tract is now harvesting what will probably be the largest crop it has produced. There will be many farmers again in possession of surplus funds. Now is the time to start such a reserve.

INDUSTRIES OF RUSSIA CENTER IN GOVERNMENT

All Comprehensive Character of Bolshevik Activities is Apparent on Every Hand to the Foreign Visitor

Note to Editors—Staff correspondents of The Associated Press are now located at the chief centers of Russia and have made extensive tours through the Volga, Kamchatka and the sections of arctic in central and southeastern Russia. Their mail reports are now being received, supplementing cables, and will be given in a series of stories in the mail service, geographically describing conditions.—The Associated Press.

MOSCOW (By a Staff Correspondent of the AP)—Government everywhere, nothing but government! Such is the impression that a foreigner who has known Moscow of old is entering the Bolshevik capital today. All the hotels are government-owned and operated. The same is true of department stores, office buildings, clubs, cafes and larger private houses. All theaters are government theaters. Quotas of Russians and foreigners are being set in the streets for larger buildings for permits to buy railway tickets, or perform some ordinary transaction such as a New Yorker would sign up for over the telephone in five minutes.

The motor cars are all government-owned and are monopolized by government employees. The street cars are run by the government and government employees, especially workers, have a call on the few cars which run chiefly at times when workmen are going to or from work. They take the few cabs which ply the main streets for hire at prices beyond the reach of ordinary government salaries.

Halfway trains are few and seem to be crowded largely with government employees and soldiers. Passenger trains are crowded, but on all lines and every coach has a red soldier or two to keep people from mousing on the trains at stations.

Factories which are in operation are run by the government and work chiefly on government supplies, such as railway repairs, motor repairs, airplane repairs and other army supplies. The Kremlin, formerly the ecclesiastical center for Russia and the historic shrine about which the Romanoff traditions center, is all government. Its churches are closed. Red army units are in the barracks of the old imperial army and prominent Bolshevik officials occupy the quarters formerly given over to church officials and other dignitaries of the Romanoff regime.

Hospitals and orphanages and schools are run by the government. The government hospitals are filled to overflowing and employ who want the government ration and its consequences seem to be an excess of personnel in Moscow institutions as well as the physician.

Attendant for Every Orphan. Many of the orphanages have nearly as many attendants as they have orphans. To American eyes, the railways seem to be overstaffed. Trains and stations are alive with officials and guards, many of whom wear uniforms merely because of the general quiet that prevails.

Russia always was a document-mad, and it seems even worse now than it was under tsarist regime. Red offices of employees are busy making documents and reports in nearly every government building. Statisticians are at work everywhere.

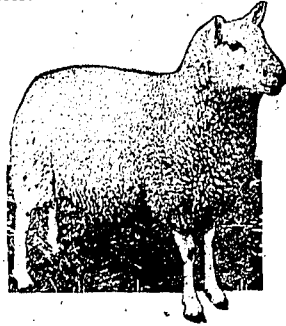

Bolshevik officials are not blind to the overstaffing of the departments and the inefficiency of many of the workers. They fill the Moscow and provincial papers with appeals for greater diligence on the part of employees and a reduction of force; no engaged in productive labor. They also complain bitterly of the rigidity which slows down all government business and the slow for simplification and decentralization.

But, after all, the railways and telegraphs and telephone and posts are in much the same hands they were before Bolshevik triumph. The men who know the technique of the various public service organizations had to be recalled very largely. Many of them make no profession that they are communists or even socialists and their work is done in an extremely perfunctory manner.

Years Bring Change in Army. There never have brought about a remarkable change in the attitude of Red army men and all government employer toward the general public. There is a great modification of the acerbity which characterized the early days of the Bolshevik control. In the frenzied first year of Bolshevism, officials seemed to regard anyone who approached them as an enemy. They were cruel and harrassed from top to bottom officialdom was nervous, irritable and generally unpleasant to deal with.

This spirit has dissipated. In a very large degree, the officers of the government in overhauling its activities has given a feeling of security and it now functions much as other governments do. The Guard, messengers, bureau chiefs and higher officials are more cordial. Bolshevik legations abroad also reflect this changed attitude to the marked degree. White collars are no longer banned. Black leather coats are not regarded as the only suitable uniform for a Bolshevik official. Experienced minor officials of the old regime have been restored to their places in many of the

Champion Ewe at Live Stock Exposition

The Pacific International Live Stock Exposition which will be held at North Portland this year, November 6-12, will probably contain the largest sheep show in its history. Manager O. M. Plummer believes that there may be 1000 head. In view of the fact that all the fairs and shows in the Northwest this year are showing greatly increased sheep exhibits, his prophecy is apt to come true.

Western Oregon has long been famous for its middle wool sheep, and already this year notable winnings have been made by exhibitors from this section at fairs and expositions throughout Canada and the eastern part of the United States.

Perhaps it was not altogether a fable about Jason adventuring his life in search of the golden fleece. While the wool growers of the Northwest have had a hard time since the war, the ultimate future of wool and mutton production is certain to be financially profitable. The day will come when no farm will be considered fully stocked without a small flock of sheep.

There is bound to be a great demand for breeding stock and the Pacific International will furnish an opportunity unequalled for securing foundation stock.

Officers and their example has greatly modified the brusque manners of the soldier, sailor and workman element which originally monopolized most of the government posts.

How Rainfall is Recorded. The government gauge for recording rainfall consists of a cylinder two feet high, eight inches in diameter, upon which a funnel of the same diameter fits. Within that is a brass cylinder of the same height, the diameter a little over two and one-half inches. In it is a measuring tube, the area of which compared with the area of the funnel is as ten to one, so that when a one-hundredth of an inch falls in the funnel it becomes one-thousandth of an inch in the measuring tube.

MIDDLEWEIGHT BOXING CHAMPS ARE POOR LOT

None in Recent Years Compared with "Fitz," Ketchel, McCoy and Others

The eleventh anniversary of the death of Stanley Ketchel, has just passed, and in that period no world wide fighter has arisen to replace Stanley or one who can be mentioned along with Nonpareil Jack Dempsey, Bob Fitzsimmons, Tommy Ryan, Kid McCoy and Billy Sullivan, real middleweights and real champions.

Old timers say that Frank Klaus was only fair, George Chip not so good, Al McCoy anything but a champion, Mike O'Donnell who is said, won his title in a suspicious looking bout, and he is the limit.

Tex Dickard, fight impresario extraordinaire, brings upon the public a disgrace to the sport and states emphatically that Johnny can never appear in a match he promotes. Those who know Downey best give him credit for little save his willingness to bat.

Oregon College Has Strong Grid Team This Year

CORVALLIS, Ore., (AP)—Boiler that the Oregon Agricultural college 1921 football team right now can defeat any college team in the west. The Oregon Agricultural football has been expressed by James J. Richardson, athletic manager at the college here.

RUPERT BEATS BURLEY

BURLEY, Idaho—Burley high school football team went down to defeat yesterday afternoon, at the hands of the fast team from Rupert, by the score of 26 to 17.

DADDY CREDITED WITH MAKING OF WORLD CHAMPION

Jesse Barnes, Winner of Two Big Series Games, Says Father Taught Him

TOPSNA, Kan., (AP)—"I want to get up in the country where I can take my gun and forget all about baseball," said Jesse Barnes, New York Giant pitcher and winner of two games in the world's series, as he stopped in Topsna today on his way to his home in Circleville, Kan.

Barnes will return to Topsna to pitch Sunday, if he finds Judge Landis, commissioner of baseball, willing. "The credit for my being a winning pitcher goes to my father," said Barnes. "He is an old-time ball player and it was from him that I received my first instruction. He also taught my brother, Virgil, who belongs to the Giants."

PUNTS AND PASSES

(By FULLBACK.) A week from Friday, Nampa comes to Lincoln field for a lattle, and I sure look for a real tussle. Nampa is the team that Twin Falls has to beat for the state championship.

It must be remembered that Nampa has more pupils to draw from, and should have a first team, and no doubt they have, but I think they will find Twin Falls just as fast. Clint is getting fine results from the boys, and each game will find them faster, and more steady.

Nampa beat Weiser, 13 to 0, and from all reports they stuck to straight football. That is what we did with Weiser, and made 133 points. Use your own judgment.

Tomorrow is the time set for the big game with Jerome, and everything is in readiness for the fray.

After a real hard-fought yesterday morning, the squad was given a rest in their own room, and tomorrow will find them out again for the final touches.

The lineup for tomorrow's game is still unsettled. Last night we have it depicted out as follows: Tucker or Denton, center; Leiser, left guard; Niholson, left tackle; Jamison, left end; Scelley or Scott, quarterback; Flynn, right guard; Purdie or Puckett, right tackle; Thometz or Brown, right end; Houghtling, left half; Robinson, right half; Scott, fullback.

Of course, this is only a guess, and we don't know any more about it than you folks, and one of Clint's best rules is that no one ever knows his lineup until the team goes on the field, so your guess will be as good as mine.

If Purdie goes to the backfield, the chances are that Puckett or Frazelle will fill in at right tackle.

If Scilley goes to quarter, it looks as though Scott or Robinson will be at right half. So you see the dope this time is the bunk, and we all will know more about it when 2:30 arrives tomorrow afternoon.

Jessie sends word over that they are better now than when they played Weiser at the start of the season, which means that they are going to try and take the Twin Falls team into camp. Well, we don't know so much about that, but we do know that Twin Falls will be out there trying all the time. The game will be worth watching to say the least, and you can count on us to be right there on the side lines.

Rupert took the Burley team down a peg yesterday afternoon and now we have to play Rupert for the Southern Idaho championship. The score was 23 to 17, and it'll bet that it was some game. From all reports the Rupert school has one of the best teams they have located in years, and they have a chap by the name of Beatty that seems to be a wonder. He is a fast runner, a good punter, and a real kicker. What more does a fellow have to be to qualify as a star?

The game was hard fought, as both teams wanted a chance at Twin Falls. Never since the start of time, have any of the surrounding towns had any brotherly love feeling for the local team, and they all go into the game with just one thought, namely, to beat Twin Falls and keep them from winning the state championship. Of course, it is just one of those good football games that feeling that makes good football games where there wasn't a bit of enmity shown between the two schools.

The game will repeat will be played at Rupert on the 18th of November, providing that Twin Falls wins the right to play them. We still have Jerome and Burley to deal with, and then we can at least take a flip at Rupert.

Both Burley and Rupert resorted to open plays yesterday, and it was only through end runs that either team was able to gain ground. The result was the big ground gainer for his team.

The game tomorrow will start at 2:30, and all the fans are requested to be there for the opening kickoff. When we need lots of rooting, and the fans as a rule can yell just as loud as the students can.

Emery Bennett will referee the contest tomorrow, which in itself means that a good fast game will be played. "Speed" is Emery's middle name.

FILMS FOR GRID MEN

BURLEY, Cal., (AP)—Slow-speed football motion pictures have been adopted by Head Coach Aubrey Smith of the University of California here as a part of the "variety" (teaching) course. Players in the various departments of the game have been filmed and the pictures are being displayed on the screen while members of the squad look on and study the methods used.
