Formal Signing of New Quadruple Treaty to Preserve the Peace in Pacific Takes Place Without Ceremony

WASHINGTON, D. C., (AP)—The new quadruple treaty to preserve peace in the Pacific was formally signed today by the plenipotentiaries of the United States, Great Britain, France and Japan.

PACT DEEMED LIKELY TO BE GIVEN SENATE SOON

American Signature is Affixed Subject to Understanding with Japan Covering Yap; Soon to be Negotiated

WASHINGTON, D. C., (AP)—The new quadruple treaty to preserve peace in the Pacific was formally signed today by the plenipotentiaries of the United States, Great Britain, France and Japan.

The signatures were affixed in the anteroom of the office of the secretary of state. There was no formal ceremony and no one was present except plenipotentiaries, their secretaries and advisers.

The American delegates, the first to sign under an alphabetical arrangement of the powers, were formally signed by the plenipotentiaries of the United States, Great Britain, France and Japan.

The approval of the United States treaty regarding Yap must be consummated before the four-power agreement is binding.

Except for this reservation which is expected to be cleared within a few days by the plenipotentiaries of the United States, the treaty is now only a preliminary ratification by the various governments to make it effective.

The American official copy of the document now goes to the White House to be signed by President Harding to the senate.

The American delegation began signing at 11:14 a. m. At 11:18 the British followed, Arthur J. Balfour signing twice, once for the British empire and once for the dominions of South Africa which has no delegate here.

The French followed the British and the Japanese, the last to sign, completed the signing at 11:55 a. m.

The signing was wholly without ceremony and without historic significance, except for the portraits of a score of former secretaries of state which looked down from the four walls of the anteroom.

The long table which usually occupies the center of the room had been removed and a smaller one put in its place.

The American delegates first took their places at the table and signed their names while the other delegates stood about helplessly chatting. There was a murmur of surprise throughout the room as the secretary of state signed.

When the Americans were through they gave up their places to the British and the Japanese, who followed in order. At the shoulder of each was an aide signed Eddie Savoy, the picturesque "goose" of the secretary of state's office.

The business of affixing the official seals had been performed before hand and each delegate signed, merely touching the crest of each with his name to formally signify that his seal had been officially executed.

Only one copy of the treaty was signed on parchment was signed. Authenticated duplicates will be given to each delegation and the official copy will be deposited in the archives of the state department.

ADJUTANT ASKS PUNISHMENT OF DRAFT DODGERS

Recommends Appropriation of $250,000 to Pay Rewards for Delivery of More Than 100,000 Men

WASHINGTON, D. C. (AP)—Energetic pursuit and punishment of the more than 100,000 men who evaded the draft during the world war is urgently recommended by Major General Harris, adjutant general of the army, in his report made public by the secretary of war. The general is of the opinion that it is imperative that the government exhibit the greatest possible energy in pursuing the war and in punishing all who are found guilty. If the government permits these deserters to escape the punishment provided for their offense, consequences of the gravest import will certainly ensue.

Sets Bad Precedent.

"Inaction of this sort would tend to set a precedent on evasion of military service, with the inevitable result that should another such emergency arise and another selective draft be put in operation, the number of men attempting to evade the performance of military duty will amount to a figure so large as to impede the nation through interfering very seriously with the rapid building up of an emergency army."

General Harris says the publication of the "slacker lists" by the newspapers "proved highly useful for the purpose of straightening out the records of a number of military deserters whose names were included therein, despite all the care and effort expended in an attempt to include none but those of willful deserters." He says that less than one-half of one per cent of the names published have been found to be those of non-willful deserters, and says these have been removed from the list.

Desertions Run High.

General Harris' report shows that reported desertions from the regular army in the fiscal year ended last June 30, totaled 145, or 127 per cent, the largest percentage since 1000, and nearly four times as great as that in the preceding fiscal year. He says the marked increase notably was accounted for "by the fact that the vast majority of the deserters were new recruits who found the army discipline more irksome than they had anticipated."

LAND READY FOR COLONISTS

Northern Rhodesia, Rich and Fertile, is Capable of the Highest Degree of Development.

With the ever-increasing overflow of civilized populations, northern Rhodesia soon may be pre-empted by colonists. Indeed, the movement of natives back to reserves may indicate that such an inflow already is taking place. Though it lies across the equator the Rhodesian plateau is adapted to the white man by reason of a climate that has no extremes. Moreover, its boom cities of Bulawayo and Salisbury possess hotels, clubs, business houses and apartments, built in the faith of hope that it would be a second Rand, then deserted by the former hunters, and now waiting the coming of a more sober and sustained development.

Much of northern Rhodesia is suitable for farming; there are vast tracts of grazing land. Maize and tobacco are at present principal crops. Wheat, cotton and citrus fruits may be grown successfully. The timber awaits transportation facilities. Gold, copper, tin and iron are also abundant.

ILLINOIS FARM IS SCENE OF DESPERATE BULLFIGHT

Impromptu Torero, Armed with Pitchfork, Wins Fight for Woman's Life

NAUVOO, Ill. (AP)—A bull fight worthy of the best Spanish tradition took place on a farm near here recently.

Cos Marzoff, the landlord in the case, fought, not for the cheers of a crowd, but for a woman's life. A lonely pasture hillside was the arena, a pitchfork instead of a sword was the weapon, and instead of a holiday throng two or three scared women watched the fight. Marzoff won.

Miss Agatha Wellner, a nurse tending an invalid, was the victim of a charge by her father's farm, where the bull was kept, but he had never made any unfriendly overtures. This day no charge for her. For some time she dodged him among the trees of an old orchard, then ran for the fence where she fell between a stretch of wire netting and a thorny hedge. The bull could just reach her by stretching the netting. Each time she tried to rise he knocked her back among the thorns. A woman neighbor came with a pitchfork, but was unable to make effective use of it against the bull, who was now genuinely angry. Marzoff arrived and, fork in hand, climbed the fence. Each time the bull charged he sidestepped and jabbed. In one of these leaps he drove the fork so deep into the animal that it was jerked from his hands and carried some distance before it worked loose and fell out. He recovered it in time. Finally the bull had enough of it.

COMES FROM NORTHLAND TO FIGHT IN WORLD WAR

Arctic Adventurer Gets News of Conflict Three Years Too Late to Take Part

NOME, Alaska, (AP)—An Arctic adventurer, B. D. Seaman, sailed into Nome from the frozen north this month and, not knowing that the war was over, tried to enlist in the American army to be sent to France. Seaman said he had been three years getting to Nome from the Coronation Gulf country, which lies far east on Canada's Arctic coast, and during his journey had received no news from the outside world. He left the gulf, he declared, in October, 1917, when he first heard the United States had entered the war. Seaman was formerly a member of the Iben Boyer Northwest Mounted Police.

Soon after Seaman started for Nome the small schooner on which he was journeying was wrecked in the ice, he said, and he and his companions were forced to walk twenty-seven days before they came to an Eskimo village. On their way they lived on roots.

Seaman gave an interesting description of the life of the Eskimos on Coronation Gulf. The natives, he said, still use the bow and arrow but are gradually getting accustomed to the use of firearms, which were introduced recently. The natives live on caribou and seal.

A rifle in the Coronation country sells for $100, cartridges for 50 cents each, sugar is $1 a pound, butter $1.50 a pound and milk $1 a can, Seaman said. The cost of clothing, however, is lower, a "parka" cape being sold for $4, mukluks, or native shoes, for 50 cents a pair and five fur mittens for three boxes of one-cent matches.

Mounted police in the Coronation country get mail sometimes three years old. Once, before he left, a conscript got quick service on a letter, it being delivered from England in 13 months. Seaman said he probably would go back to Coronation Gulf, "where a big pot of trouble like a world war doesn't reach us until it is all over."

ECONOMY STILL WATCHWORD OF SCHOOL BOARD

Trustees Decide Against Extended Vacation Proposal When Costs Figure

Economy is still the watchword, although to the schoolboard last evening in considering the length of the Christmas vacation. Proposals to close the schools Wednesday evening that teachers wishing to spend the holiday season at distant points have time to reach their destinations before Sunday, was declined adversely, suggestion being made that the superintendent release from duty those wishing to make an early departure, and place substitutes in positions so vacated. Argument was based on the statement that for instruction in the district schools approximately $800 a day, and that such a sum was not to be lightly diverted.

Bus Ban on Drives

All drives for money in the school area, by order of the school board, discontinued in the future. Action on this proposition was unanimous, the board protesting made in the case, that the inability of many children to contribute to the many funds led to an undemocratic attitude among the pupils an attitude adverse to the best interests of the school. Resolutions were received and accepted from Miss Gertrude McCarthy, teacher in the Washington School, and Miss Elizabeth Beck, teacher in the school. Miss McCarthy was called for her home in Montana recently by the death of her mother, and writes that she will be unable to return. Superintendent Mitchell states that he finds no difficulty in supplying the vacancies that occur.

Depend on Fiscal

The conservatism of the school board in its expenditures was again uppermost in the consideration of the expenditure of a total of $113 for the equipment of the biology classroom. It is suggested that the school board department should take care of the expenditures for the year, those fees coming in cash semester.

Water Reduced Helps

The city reduction of water rate being made retroactive, resulted in a satisfactory saving to the district, which saving was related on the monthly bill. Taxes for the district this year amount to $3,224.35 according to statement presented last evening. Half of this sum was ordered paid during the month. Bills aggregating $5,007.03 were presented, the most conspicuous in point of size being the tax bill, Idaho Shot Metal company for $438.10; bill for the chair installed in the dental clinic rooms, $100; Standard Printing, $120; Fred Pass, work on the school wagons, $338.15; Power company $225.50. Disbursement of the bill for $500 presented by the office of the county superintendent for the trustees disburse was argued to the final conclusion that the board was unwilling to charge such expense to the district, and would meet it personally. Misunderstanding of the arrangements made by the county superintendent's office led to the aforementioned payment.

Accused of Illegally Hunting and Trapping These Men Enter Denials

Arraigned in the probate court today on a charge of violation of the state fish and game laws, M. Wacholitz, W. M. Liverand and J. W. Vance, all denied guilt and have been ordered to appear in court next Monday for trial. The three men were arrested last Wednesday by Deputy State Game Warden Joseph P. Stizmann who prosecutes the charges in each specific instance. Complaint against Wacholitz involves illegal possession of a pheasant. It has been shown that Wacholitz, Howard and Vance are accused of trapping without having provided themselves with a license for such operations. A female pheasant was introduced in evidence against Wacholitz, ten muskrat and one mink skin against the other two defendants. All arrests were made on Rock creek.

former ambassador to Italy. It will be placed by Mr. Johnson in the American academy of arts and letters in New York. After the signing, Senator Lodge went to the White House for a conference with President Harding, presumably regarding the president's transmission of the treaty to the senate. Any action before January was regarded as improbable.

Two More Treaties Likely

It is the opinion of American delegation members that besides the former and the Yip treaties two more pacts probably would come out of the conference, one to deal with the agreements relating to China and the other on armament limitation.

Today's Markets

WHEAT MARKET GATHERS STRENGTH AT LATE HOUR

CHICAGO, (AP)—Absence of buying orders led to a material setback in the wheat prices today during the early trading. Uncertainty as to the European financial situation together with downturns in foreign exchange seemed to have counteracted the bullish effect. Estimates of a large exportable surplus in Argentina tended also to weaken the market despite reports that harvest weather was unfavorable. Opening quotations were 1.10 to 1.12 for No. 1 white, with May $11.35 3/4 to 1.12 3/4 and July $10.1 3/4 to 1.02, were followed by a further decline.

Something of a rally took place later owing to reports that Europe had bought 1,000,000 bushels. The close was unsettled, 1-4 to 1-8-8 net lower, and July $11.1 3/4 to 1.11-7-8 and July $10.1 3/4 to $10.7-8.

Liberal arrivals of corn put corn and oats both on the downgrade. After opening a shade to 1-22 off with May at $3 to $3 3/8, the corn market continued to sag.

In the late dealings prices showed but little power to recover. The close was easy at 8-8 to 7-8-8 net decline with May $2 3/4.

Oats started unchanged to 1-4 to 8-8-8 net lower, May $1 5/8 to $1 3/4-4 and later showed a moderate general decline.

or in the armament conference, will go to the nation "here represented that is able to mobilize in support of its position the sober, second thought of a majority of the American people."

At first glance one might be tempted to say "Then the question is already settled; for a majority of the American people strongly approve the position already taken by their delegation, as announced by Secretary Hughes." But there is that word "mobilize."

The "battle of Washington," we are told, is "a contest primarily among the London, Washington and Tokio governments for the favor and support of American public opinion." It is not disconcerting to the foreign governments represented at Washington for the people of America to insist that the stand taken by its own delegation is eminently fair and just and ought to be adopted in its practical entirety without weakening modifications and reservations.

If the delegates are merely waiting on a full and emphatic expression of American public opinion, then they should have to wait no longer. Let there be expressions unmistakable, expressions through the usual channels; the newspapers, the pulpit, public meetings, letters to the delegates. America is back of the American plan for scrapping battleships and limiting armaments. Let it say so.

has been neutralized in large measure by a reverse movement; and that the shifting of the population affected the totals for certain states, thus influencing the apportionment of representatives in congress."

Commerce Secretary Approves Congressional Committee's Plan for New Count WASHINGTON, (AP)—Because of a "considerable dissatisfaction" with the result of the count in this census taken last January, the house census committee is considering legislation providing for another enumeration of the population of the United States in 1926 or some other year prior to the next decennial census.

Many Complaints Made "Many complaints have been received from manufacturers and others concerning the numerous requests made by the federal bureau for statistical and other information," Mr. Hoover says. "I feel confident that in many instances the periodic investigations of the bureau of census are all that is necessary to make and that the investigation of the other bureau could, with advantage, be discontinued."

Would Change Procedure Mr. Hoover also says that the new director of the census, William M. Stewart, is of the opinion that it is better to advance the work of subsequent censuses. It will be necessary that changes be made in methods of procedure, if not in the scope of some of the figures.

It would hasten the publication of the figures of the total population, the census says. "If the supervisors in the various districts make the routine report and announced the population, subject to correction, for the population of their districts."

Suppose the majority of men today were each in his place and putting forth his best effort to do his duty—what would happen? Just this: there would be many strange lines of conduct, no doubt, but no one can question that this would be a better world.

Inter-class basketball series started off with bang yesterday afternoon at the high school gymnasium when the juniors and sophs teamed. The thirty-year men got away on the long end of a 17 to 11 score, after giving the fans a real thriller.

Seniors Take Easy Victory

In the window, the seniors took an easy victory from the freshmen, winning by the lopsided score of 34 to 3. The older boys were too much for their younger opponents. It was pretty hard for Coach Evans to get a line on the Senior team as they did not have to exert themselves enough to show any class.

Baseball Chatter

With perfect spring weather to edge the fans on, there has been quite a bit of baseball talk going on, and pretty so, for if the fans want to see baseball here this coming summer, now is the time to get busy and see what can be done.

be willing to start the ball a-rolling. There must be a president, and a board of directors. There must be a manager elected for the team. There must be an umpire, and a groundkeeper, and many other things too numerous to mention. It isn't a bit too early to start getting these things straightened up, and assured, and then when the season starts, and there may be a few changes, it will be far easier to make those few changes than to try and get the whole thing together at a later date.

HARD SCHEDULE FACES VARSITY BASKETBALL FIVE

Coaches Worry when They Glimpse Games Planned for Vandals Christmas Week

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow (Special). — University of Idaho basketball coaches are slightly worried. It is believed that the Vandals are scheduled for a much harder Christmas vacation run than anyone anticipated. Ten games, against five of the strongest professional teams in the north-west have been arranged for the winter, but some of the teams to be met during the holidays are of considerable strength.

On the second squad, Arnold Cebovy of Boise, Harold Toliver of Coeur d'Alene, Gene Ostrander of Twin Falls and Cobb Curtis of Moscow are the most promising. From this quartet probably only two will be chosen and competition will be keen during the coming few weeks. Idaho is beginning to miss the mighty playing of "Squinty" Hunter, who will appear in a professional team against the Vandals during their Christmas vacation tryout. Squinty is playing with the Walla Walla, W. M. C. A. and whose team Idaho is to play January 2 and 3.

The Vandals have so far this season been able to traverse the frosh opponents at every meeting and, incidentally, these first year men have one of the strongest teams ever formed at Idaho. Both teams play good fast ball and the Vandals are getting some valuable experience battling with the yearling men. In the last game the varsity was able to score a 40 to 12 victory over the frosh.
