SUPREME COURT
REVIEWS CASE OF HIGHWAY BOARD

Verdict of District Court in the Ouster Proceeding Against Channel, Larsen, and Steel-smith may be Reversed

ANNOUNCEMENT REVIVES
KEEN PUBLIC INTEREST

Original Finding of Idaho Tribunal Said to Have Been Based Upon a Three to Two Decision by Justices

The supreme court of Idaho has decided to review the entire case of the ouster proceeding in the case of the highway board. The case was decided by a three to two vote. The majority opinion was written by Justice C. B. Channell, and the dissenting opinion was written by Justice J. M. Steel-smith.

The case as tried in district court here last summer attracted much attention because of the nature of the proceedings and public interest in the outcome was high. The finding was in favor of the prosecution and immediately after the sustaining of the decision by the supreme court a new board of control was appointed by the governor, consisting of Arthur B. Wilson, president, and Nick Smith and A. E. Mann, commissioners.

The trial of the case and its outcome proved to be the beginning of a series of almost identical proceedings were brought against the members of the board of the independent school district, No. 1, the trial of which resulted in the removal of those officials. Although it is now pending in district court here against the members of the Castleford school district. The final ruling in the Channel case it is felt will have a vital effect on the outcome of these cases.

Attorneys for the former commission are now out on a second trial. For findings by the supreme court would constitute a violation for the ouster members of the board and express their opinion and approval of the decision. The case is now pending in district court here against the members of the Castleford school district. The final ruling in the Channel case it is felt will have a vital effect on the outcome of these cases.

Members of the old board are non-committal as to their attitude. The case is now pending in district court here against the members of the Castleford school district. The final ruling in the Channel case it is felt will have a vital effect on the outcome of these cases.

COFFEE PLAYS PART IN ANTI-AMERICAN DEVELOPMENT OF CENTRAL AMERICAN FEDERATION IS SHAPED BY RELATIONSHIPS BASED ON THE WORLD'S NEEDS

Development of Central American Federation is Shaped by Relationships Based on the World's Needs

WASHINGTON, D. C. (Special).—Coffee made for the Central American states a profitable neighborliness, and vociferous fertilizer for the soil for the new republics of Central America. Such generalizations leave many facts unnoted, but this one point is undeniable: the coffee industry is one of the essential factors in the development of the three states, Guatemala, Honduras and El Salvador, which now make up the Central American confederacy, according to a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic society.

This new nation has an area approximately that of Colorado and a population greater than that of Massachusetts. Its mapped outline resembles nothing so much as a long, thin, pointed triangle on the Pacific coast. Central America is bordered on the north by the United States, on the south by the Gulf of Mexico, on the east by the Caribbean Sea, and on the west by the Pacific Ocean.

The edge pole of the Guatemala Andes, as the central American cordillera sometimes is called, lies much closer to the Pacific than to the Atlantic. Along this range, which is only 100 miles long, it is remembered that an east and west line running through the new republic would touch the equator at the Atlantic to the Pacific means a trip of 4000 miles.

FIGURES 75,000 POILUS KILLED BY OWN GUNFIRE

General Forein Draws Remarkable Comparisons in Book on War

PARIS, (AP)—General Forein, in a book describing more than 500 battles in France and Belgium during the last year, concludes from data collected by him that 75,000 French soldiers were killed by their own artillery through defective tactics.

The losses, he says, were higher by 50 per cent in the French army than in the German army. The losses of the French infantry, he finds, were comparatively four times greater than those of the artillery. He fixes the French losses from the enemy's fire at 5,000,000 killed and wounded.

General Forein was military governor of the fortress of Lille just after the outbreak of the war. He evacuated the fortress on orders received from the government which were to be approached the frontier and was, for a long time, supposed by the general public to have evacuated the place of his own volition.

DEFIES GERMAN SOLD FINANANCED RUSSIAN REVOLT

Bolshevik Writer and Propagandist Gives Interesting Sidelights on Developments Leading to Red Regime

RIGA, Latvia, (AP)—Karl Radek, the bolshevik writer and propagandist, has published an article in the Moscow Pravda's edition celebrating the fourth anniversary of the Russian revolution in which Radek details the widely circulated story that the bolshevik revolution in Russia was financed by German gold.

Radek's article is devoted to a description of the historic return of Nikolai Lenin to Russia in the spring of 1917, with the permission of the German government. This was the beginning of the revolution and of Russia's withdrawal from the war.

Radek asserts that Lenin and his party of 40 set an embassy to the German minister in Switzerland asking free passage for all emigrants who wanted to return to Russia and insisting that the Russian revolution was the German government should not attempt to enter into competition with them.

"On our side," Radek asserts, "we promised to furnish the slightest support the revolution of German prisoners of war in Russia and also to expedite the return of German invalids from Russia to Germany."

After a little time, the German government agreed to our conditions. Of course, it was quite clear to us that the German government intended to speculate on this episode, reckoning that after our arrival in Russia we would work for peace. But the correct course interested us very little for we knew that in Russia the revolution would be a proletarian one.

The party, says Radek, had an escort of German officers and when it arrived at railway stations, secret agents surrounded it to keep the German soldiers and other persons away from the dangerous revolutionaries.

The returning emigrants were so hilarious that Lenin had to take over executive authority, and bring about some order.

One attempt was made while the train was pausing through Germany, says Radek, to sound out the party on the question of working for peace with Germany. This was made, he declares, by a German who said he wanted to greet the Russians in the name of the Central Commission of German Trade Delegation.

The bolshevik, Radek says, refused to deal with him.

The Bolsheviks then went to Stockholm, says Radek, "we received 300 Swedish kroner which apparently was that vast sum which was figuring in all talks of French prisoners German gold demands applied for the Russian revolution."

HONOLULU, T. H. (AP)—The arrival of "Cal Margee," short for Calometer Manglepiper, had been a source of interest to the staff of the Bishop museum here, for 12 specimens placed in a virtually hermetically sealed glass jar 11 years ago have grown to a colony of between 25 and 30 without air or water and on a diet of wood.

Dr. Otto Sweeney, of the museum's entomological department placed the 12 "Cal Margees" in the bottle in order to ascertain how long they would live without air or water.

Dr. Sweeney explained that the rather porous diet of wood was perfectly satisfactory to "Cal Margee" who is, he better known as the common wool borer out of the Hawaiian Islands.

GERMANY AGREES TO PAY AMERICANS WITH MARKS

New Plan is Devised for Meeting Current Expenses of Army of Occupation in Rhineland

COBLENZ, (AP)—Current expenses of the American forces in Germany, which amount to approximately one billion marks a year, are to be met hereafter by the German government direct in marks, it was announced recently at army headquarters in Coblenz. This idea was suggested by Major General George T. Allen, commander of the American troops on the Rhine, as a substitute of the previous plan whereby the United States government would pay the expenses of the occupation troops, the funds to be collected later from Berlin.

The flexibility of the electric locomotive is much greater than that of the steam locomotive, as stated in a report issued by the United States Geological Survey as the result of a survey covering the industrial region between Washington and Boston, called the "Electric Locomotive Study."

The availability of the electric locomotive for service, it is also stated, is at least twice that of the steam locomotive. After a trip it can be thoroughly inspected in less than an hour, whereas the thorough inspection of the steam locomotive requires from four to ten hours.

The repair shop especially required for electric locomotives consists of a negligible amount of space, and the electric energy can be regenerated where the profile permits it, thus saving some energy and much wear of the engine.

As a result of these and other advantages of electric locomotives, the Federal Railroad Administration has ordered that all new locomotives per locomotive year. As a matter of fact, on the North and West coast railroads it actually handles three times as many ton-miles. This gain is not possible where the traffic is great and the tracks, yards and terminals are congested, as they are in the superpower zone.

POLICE DETAIN WIFE OF SWINDLER SUSPECT FEDERAL INVESTIGATORS BELIEVE FRENCH SENT PAPERS AND STOCKS TO HIS SPOUSE IN CALIFORNIA

CHICAGO, (AP)—Certain papers and stocks are alleged by federal investigators to have been sent by Charles French, charged with having engineering services regarding the handling of his wife who yesterday was arrested on her ranch 18 miles from San Diego, Cal.

The arrests of French and John W. Washington as leaders in a clearing house for what the federal officials charged were killed checks and bogus notes a number of months ago, are followed by numerous daily newspaper articles of efforts by French and his associates to obtain control of several small city banks and other enterprises. Nearly a dozen representatives in other cities were arrested after French and Washington were taken into custody.

Letters from Mrs. French to her husband, found in his effects after his arrest, indicated that she attempted to keep her own and her husband's financial affairs distinctly separate.

It is interesting to note that many contract sewerage and recover from them without taking any precaution or treatment, and that the same is true of many cities to take their chances instead of giving their citizens the needed attention. It should be borne in mind that every time the system is allowed to deteriorate, it weakens the lungs, lowers the vitality and the system less able to withstand such succeeding attack, and leaves the way for the more serious diseases.

When you find that you have a cough, it is a warning that your system is being attacked. Cough Remedy, famous for its cure of bad colds, may be had for a trifling advance.

AIR CAMERAMEN OPEN NEW FIELD

Photographic Maps at Army Schools Give Ideas to City Planners

ARCADIA, Cal., (AP)—New fields in engineering studies are being opened at the army aviation and airship school at these field here, in the department of plotting from photographic maps according to officers of the recently reorganized school. The plotting study room is equipped with an enormous photographic map embracing 250 square miles of territory, almost to Los Angeles, which Arcadia is the center. The map is a mosaic of several thousand aerial photographs taken by balloons at an altitude of 500 feet.

As a result of these studies by the Langley field, Virginia, and Arcadia school, the two great airship schools of the army air service, a number of cities are planning to use aerial photographic maps in connection with any planning, construction, street widening and fire protection work, according to army officers.

Other uses to which photographic maps are being put are preliminary investigations of waterbeds, hydroelectric developments, highway, railroad and canal location, forest surveys and various engineering works.

Army air officers have perfected an automatic timing of exposures to cover the proper ground area and at the same time secure the necessary overlap for the accurate fitting together of individual negatives. This permits taking of pictures from the moving airship. Lenses have been discovered especially adapted for this type of work, and the officers have developed the technique covering such details as the best height from which to take pictures for specific purposes, speed of airplane and maintenance of level flight to insure verticality of view. The maps now produced by air service photographers, according to officers, attain a high degree of accuracy and control, and are of high value.

Aerial photography is among the subjects taught at the Ross field school. Air service officers point out that among points of particular value to be engineered is to be found in aerial photography are the speed with which such maps may be produced, ability to cover territory inaccessible on foot, compar-

BRITISH ATTACK FRENCH CLAIMS

London Newspapers Express Impatience with Demand for Submarines

LONDON, (AP)—Frazer's claims for a large fleet of submarines, made by the Washington conference after the London conference, which resumed publication today after the Christmas holidays.

Dobbing any class of naval tonnage during this time is a strange proposition, at a conference assembled to reduce armaments," declares the Daily Chronicle. "We cannot pretend to fathom the French motive for such an aggressive attitude."

Impatience with the French demand also is expressed by other liberal newspapers.

Arthur J. Dalfour, head of the British delegation in Washington is given warm praise by several newspapers, and the American offer for a reduction in the number of British London newspaper is extolled as the next best thing to abolition which Great Britain desired.

WASHINGTON, D. C. (AP)—In order to confer with friends, Eugene V. Debs, the socialist leader, whose term of prison sentence for violating the espionage act was commuted on Christmas day, was spending another day in Washington before leaving for New York to attend the London conference. He had first planned to leave here immediately after concluding his calls yesterday on President Harding and Attorney General Clegg, but he has changed his arrangements. Breaking the silence he had maintained from the moment of leaving the federal penitentiary at Atlanta from where he came direct to Washington yesterday, Debs declared after his conference with President Harding that he would devote his time henceforth to the freedom of the world.

Debs, who is 54 years old, has discussed his opinions with the president in order that there might be no misunderstanding as to his principles and ideas.

KEEPING TAB ON THE FARMER

When he talks of how industry has been organized the average individual has in mind little more than the manufacturing, transportation and mining industries. He seldom thinks of the need of organizing the farming industry or of the fact that this has been accomplished.

An important feature of the department's work is the gathering of crop reports from all parts of the country. Aside from innumerable trained officials scattered all over the country, there are 220,000 crop reporters located in all parts of the United States, whose activities are supervised and checked up by field agents and trained statisticians.

The monthly reports gathered in this fashion cover acreage, condition, yield, total production, stocks on the farm, progress on farm work, wages, supply or deficiency of farm labor, fertilizers and seeds. Reports are made for about 60 crops, which represent about 95 per cent of the total agricultural production in the United States.

There is a touch of the romantic in the dissemination of this news from Washington. Obviously it must be given out to all parts of the country at the same time. Advance information would serve the interests of speculation. On the evening before crop report day all telephones to the department are disconnected. The next morning all doors are locked and guards are to it that no one enters or leaves the building while the crop-reporting board is in session.

The tremendous importance of this work is little recognized by the average individual. It is little known, too, how much patience and ingenuity were required to bring it to its present state of perfection. For most of us it is sufficient to know that at the last meeting of the general assembly of the International Institute of Agriculture at Rome, it was freely conceded that we had developed the most complete and accurate system of agricultural statistics ever devised.

MAKING THRIFT RASY

The opportunity for saving is not so great as was the case two or three years ago, but the urge is stronger, so it may well be that a thrift campaign would be as fruitful today as at any other time. We shall soon have demonstration whether our people, less abundantly prosperous but sobered, can just into reserve any such great sums as were poured forth so magnificently such a short time since.

Certainly the rewards of saving will be made obvious by the government's plan, even more clearly than by the widely sold war savings certificates. Eighty dollars invested in one of the new certificates will be redeemed as $100 in five years; $500 will purchase a $1,000 five-year obligation; and $20 will accrue to $25 in the same period. There are no fractions or odd cents to compute. The interest on the investment, if left to maturity, is about 4 1/2 per cent, compounded semi-annually. The program signifies that Uncle Sam will continue to keep in close contact with the average man, counselling him to thrift, and offering him the means.

NEW IDEAL IN ATHLETICS

A decade or two ago the idea would have met with but scant approval that the aim of university athletics should be the development of a few intercollegiate athletes, but rather the physical development of all students. The intercollegiate football becomes so easily a spectacular contest actively engaged in by not more than 30 players to the enjoyment of thousands of onlookers, that it is difficult to think of football and athletics as serving any but this one purpose.

We are always inclined to look on university and college athletics only from the point of view of games won and seats sold. And even though we may exaggerate the importance of college games from this point of view, these contests no doubt play a justly vital part in university life.

Nor need they be crowded out entirely because of the fact that we are finding it expedient to widen the scope of college athletics. The 95 per cent of the students who have little and but little emphasis given to their physical development may come in for their due share without necessarily furnishing the intercollegiate athletes with less training than they need.

The point is that the demand of the 95 per cent is growing. We are realizing that mental vigor is dependent on physical vitality, and that good health is a prime requisite not only in the life of the student, but also in the life of all men and women. The growth of physical education departments in our public schools, the development of playgrounds and recreation centers in our cities—all these are evidence of the spread of the idea that the individual can get no exercise by letting someone else do it for him.

MILDS OF FIRE

Figuratively speaking this world is all cluttered up with things laid end to end around the equator and back and forth from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Whenever anyone wants to impress us with the extensive multifariousness of something he spreads it out before the human imagination in long strings parallel to the zodiac.

Well, anyway, the total length of our electric and steam railways is 417,000 miles. If we were to lay alongside of this track the cigars consumed annually in the United States, we would have enough cigars left over to encircle the earth five times. But vast as is this cigar mileage—545,145 miles—it is less than one-third the mileage of a single year's consumption of cigarettes in America.

That is quite a lot of fires to kindle in one country every year and we need not wonder that some of the matches and burning ends go wrong. These mishaps cause an appalling waste of life and property through fires. Last year 16,219 people were burned to death and 17,641 were seriously injured by fire in this country. The annual property loss is estimated at $242,000,000. Such figures should make both smokers and all others who handle fire thoughtful.

Being legally hanged does not invalidate a life insurance policy, a Georgia court decides, thus removing from policy-holders that source of worry.

Some newspaper correspondents in Washington seem to imagine they are the persons who are making history.

Developments at Washington plainly indicate that world-wide peace is nearer than it ever was before.

It might be suggested to those in doubt that it may be their last chance to give military hair brushes.

More Truth Than Poetry

SINS OF OMISSION

By S. E. KISER

JAMES H. TULFORD thinks he's living
As a Christian ought to live;
When he comes to Christmas giving
He's never known to give.
But his prayers are not neglected,
Every night he kneels to say:
'O Lord, keep your son protected
Till the coming of the day.'

I ASSURE you that he never
Stole a dollar in his life,
And he plays no pranks whatever
That would shock his pious wife;
Daily he avoids temptation,
When saying, "Gaten, get behind!"
His immortal soul's salvation
Is the thing he keeps in mind.

HE can see a child in tatters,
Or pass cripples in the street
Without thinking that it matters;
"God is in His judgment seat,
And if people starve or shiver,
It's His providence and will,"
So says Tulford; "the great Giver Watches well from heaven still."

I POSSESS no information
From headquarters, I confess,
As to how to win salvation,
But I'll risk a little guess:
If you're a man and things you don't do
Will suffice to get you through
You'll discover that they won't do
When the record's pulled on you.

SOVIET ADOPTS VARIOUS TAXES TO MEET COSTS

Government and People Alike Scramble for Foreign Currency as Value of the Ruble Continues Decline

MOSCOW. — (By the Associated Press).—The soviet government is devising all sorts of taxes in an effort to meet its expenses. It is reducing the number of employees and cutting for everything which used to be free. A state bank has been opened to facilitate trade. Bills of exchange will be handled. Deposits will be accepted and interest paid on them. Loans will also be made. The capital of the bank is 3,000,000,000 rubles and the total issue of paper money to date is said to be 7,500,000,000.

The ruble continues to fall, and the government and public alike are scrambling all the time for foreign currency. Chicherin's offer to recognize the pre-war foreign debts if the entente powers will grant soviet Russia recognition and a stabilizing effect on Bolshevik money.

Hastens Toward Capitalism.

It is clear that the soviet government is retreating to capitalism as rapidly as it can without losing its communistic support. But Lenin, Kautsky and other leaders frankly admit in their addresses to the soviet organization to supply food packages on drafts sent from abroad have not checked the rising price of bread and economists say it will continue to rise unless the government and the famine will be far worse next spring than it is now.

With this threat ringing in his ears, the American or British business man who is in Moscow trying to establish commercial relations, does not have much heart in his negotiations. So far foreign business men are not permitted to rent offices. Neither may they rent apartments. They must live in the guest houses conducted by the government. All mail and telegrams for foreigners not attached to some official mission must pass through the foreign office.

Odessa Asks Concession. Odessa has appealed to the Moscow government for permission to have insurance, written in foreign companies so it can resume its export trade. After failure to get foreigners to operate the iron industry in the Donetz basin the government has organized a trust combining several of the big works and will try to run them with the aid of loans from the state bank. Shipping in the Black sea has been over a year active than in the Baltic. Small craft have taken flyovers in the import and export trade but the turnover has been almost negligible.

Five Members of Suite of Exiled Former Emperor Arrive at Luxembourg Temporary Respite

LUXEMBURG, Grand Duchy of Luxembourg, (AP)—Five members of the suite of former King Charles of Hungary, who was exiled to Madeira, have arrived here. The former monarch's private secretary is with the party. The Hungarians have been granted a temporary exile pending their definite disposition by the allies. The inhabitants of this little duchy are not very enthusiastic over their new guests because they fear that, under the protection of Prince Felix of Bourbon Parme, husband of the Grand Duchess of Luxembourg and brother of the former empress Zita, a new monarchist plot may be developed. The intense affection existing between the former empress and her brothers justifies this feeling, the Luxemburgers say.

STUDENT BODY STRIKES - HARD BLOW AT SOCIETY

Economy Necessity at University Results in Curtailment of Social Activity

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow. (Special).—The cost of being a social lion at the University of Idaho was given a violent push backward normally, in fact, beyond "normality," when the student body adopted resolutions requiring that admission to dances be restricted to 25 cents.
