CONFERENCE COMMITTEE ABANDONS HOPES FOR SUBMARINE AGREEMENT

France Definitely Rejects American Compromise Proposal and Insists Upon Larger Tonnage

AMERICANS TAKE NEW TACK WITH SCHEME TO LIMIT SIZE OF CRAFT

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Hope for an agreement to limit submarine tonnage was declared to have been abandoned today at the meeting of the arms conference.

A demand by France for a minimum submarine tonnage of almost 10,000 tons was declared by delegates to have closed the door to any agreement, the American compromise proposal having been rejected finally and completely by the French.

Take New Tack "Casting aside the possibility of harmonizing views on submarine tonnage, the American committee tonight put a new proposal to limit the size of submarines and other auxiliary craft to a maximum of 10,000 tons."

The presentation of the French viewpoint, based on objections of her naval experts and reinforced by approval of the French cabinet meeting yesterday in Paris, was followed by a demand by the committee for postponing the session after two hours' debate to meet again at three o'clock.

Barrett Views French Views "Alger Barrett, head of the French delegation, was understood, present here, to have said that the French believe that France could not accept less than 330,000 tons of auxiliary tonnage, in addition to a submarine tonnage of 50,000. The American compromise proposal would have given France about 31,000 tons of submarines."

The British and Japanese delegations were understood to have stated that, in view of the French attitude, they would not have felt compelled to reserve action on the tonnage plan for auxiliary craft allotted Great Britain and Japan under the American plan.

WOMAN LEADER OF PEASANT AT DEATH'S DOOR

Picturesque Character in Recent Lurid Events in Russian Annals Defies Soviet to Point of Endangering Life

MOSCOW, (AP)—Marie Spiridonova, the social revolutionary leader, who broke with the bolsheviks after the Brest-Litovsk treaty, is dangerously ill in the Cheka hospital as the result of a hunger strike which lasted for 12 days and was brought to an end through forced feeding.

Spiridonova is the acknowledged leader of the Russian peasants. She was hatched to Siberia under the czarist regime for bombing a provincial official, but returned at the time of the revolution and was an important leading factor in leading the peasants into the combination with workmen which made the bolshevik coup possible.

Denounces Lenin's Plan.
But the Brest-Litovsk treaty was too bitter a dose for her. She denounced it in the Fifth All-Russian Soviet congress because she said it robbed the peasants of food and clothing. She denounced Lenin's plan, whereby the arrayed poor peasants against more prosperous ones, and said it was putting a premium on abjectness.

Immediately after Spiridonova's sensational denunciation of the Brest-Litovsk treaty, Count Mierbach, the German ambassador in Moscow, was murdered and the revolutionaries uprising at Yaroslavl and other outbreaks against the bolshevik authority took place.

Spiridonova disappeared immediately after her inflammatory speech in the Fifth All-Russian Soviet congress. That was in early July, 1919. Bolshevist leaders caused the report to be circulated that she was mentally unbalanced and had been placed in a sanatorium.

Found by Cheka.
She was confined for a time in a building in the Moscow Kremlin, but managed to escape and was not heard of for a long while. The Cheka discovered her living quietly in an obscure section of Moscow and she was again imprisoned. After repeated attempts to get released, Spiridonova started the hunger strike which came near ending her life. She has been afflicted with tuberculosis for years as a result of her prison experiences under the old regime. The lack of food aggravated her malady and it was necessary to move her to a hospital and administer treatment forcibly.

Spiridonova was a school teacher at the time she became a terrorist and while still in her teens took up the defense of peasants against the oppressions of government officials and landlords. She is now about 25 years of age.

MEXICAN MINISTER TO GUATEMALA IS RECALLED

MEXICO CITY, (AP)—Luis Caballero, Mexican minister to Guatemala, is understood to have been recalled as the result of his attitude toward the new government of that republic. The foreign office refuses to comment on the report.

A New Face While You Wait

Woman must be beautiful no matter how painful the treatment, and the fashionable woman of today will go to extremes for beauty. A recent hospital from Paris told of prominent women having unslapely mouths beautified by the aid of plastic surgery. This is not new in this country, as Dr. W. Augustus Pratt of New York, known the world over as an authority on plastic surgery, has been performing such operations and has been successful in smoothing the features of numerous American women. Only recently Eva Tausky of "I Don't Care" fame resorted to an operation to combat the wrinkles which were detracting from her attractiveness. The operation has been quite successful and produced a wonderful change for the better. The top photograph shows Dr. Pratt making the incision smaller by sewing the corners. Below he is removing the flaps from under his patient's eyes by making a small incision removing a small piece of flesh and then sewing up the incision, which heals in several days. In the upper right-hand corner the fair patient is shown giving herself the once over after a successful operation.

DENIES COINS CARRY DISEASE

Scientific Tests at University of Illinois Refute Popular Theory

UDDANA, Ill. (AP)—There seems to be little hope for the belief that coins bear any close relation to the spread of disease, according to an announcement made at the University of Illinois here by doctors Charlotte H. Ward and Fred W. Tanner, of the university, following a series of tests made by the two.

"Coins of the lower denominations were examined for the types of bacteria which exist on them," says their report. "It has often been stated that money is a very dangerous article of commerce since it is handled by all sorts of persons and because it usually moves so quickly from one person to another. It has also been stated that cashiers and others whose vocations require them to handle money in larger quantities than the average person might be more susceptible to disease but this does not seem to be the case.

Metals Kill Germs.
"It seems that the very metals from which the coins are made act to destroy the bacteria which reach the coins. In the study only the more resistant of bacteria, the spore-forming bacteria, were found. This indicates that money need not be feared for bacteria cannot live long on it.

"These findings, however, do not justify

Savings Accounts

The habit of putting aside some income for a particular purpose, perhaps to buy an automobile, is of great importance in building up the ability to succeed in accomplishing other objectives. If you set yourself to reach one goal after another, you will find each goal attained makes the next easier. Saving on a checking account is subject to temptation of spending before the object is attained. A savings account makes you think twice before withdrawing.

Stockholders of Hansen-Kimberly District Favor Rigid Economy Program

Charles W. Colner of Hansen, was chosen as a candidate for director of the Twin Falls Canal company at a meeting at Kimberly Tuesday of about 300 canal company stockholders in the vicinity of Hansen and Kimberly.

Pass Resolutions. A number of resolutions were introduced and fully passed. These provided for the operation of the system along lines of rigid economy, the employment of fewer ditch riders and the extension of the territory covered by each as well as for the changing of the basis of payment from a salary to a mileage basis. Another resolution endorsed the proposition of a reductio in the salary of the general manager to a sum not to exceed $5,000 per year. The meeting also went on record in favoring the idea of hiring no few new men as possible and endorsing the promotion system among employees wherever possible.

Want Information. One of the resolutions which attracted a good deal of attention suggested the publication daily during the irrigation season of instructions to ditch riders and field officials generally, as to water distributions in order that the users of water might be familiar with the day to day changes in allotment.

W. H. Spence of Kimberly acted as chairman and the Hon. Charles Little, 78, pastor of the Welsh Presbyterian church for 60 years and former moderator of the Presbyterian church of the United States, died suddenly at his home here today.

Will Negotiate Own Wage Scale Without Provision for the Check Off

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—Announcement by the Southern Ohio Coal exchange that its members, operating mines in the southern Ohio fields, would discontinue negotiation of wage scales in joint meetings with other districts at the central competitive field and propose an individual scale for their employees which would not provide for the check off system of collection of union dues, was regarded in various lights here today.

The exchange officials said the action of their organization, taken at a meeting last yesterday, was not intended as a "blow to unionized labor" but they were "driven to the move" by the ability of operators in West Virginia and other fields to undercut them.

Canada Makes Use of Power

Recent Development at Niagara Brings Output Nearly to Million Horsepower

BUFFALO, (AP)—Completion of the 12 1/2 mile Chippewa Questionnaire channel in the Ontario Hills, which has brought to a total of about 1,000,000 horsepower, equivalent in steam generation electricity to a coal consumption of 40,000 tons a year.

Through earth and rock north from Chippewa and south from Question for a 1 1/2 years in a wide swing about the Falls, were removed 1,250,000 cubic yards of earth and 4,182,000 cubic yards of rock, a total slightly more than the French had removed from Cuibera Gorge at the time the Niagara route was taken over by the United States.

The maximum depth of the Chippewa ditch is 145 feet and at one point the engineers were confronted with a rock cut 85 feet in depth. They also had to change the course of Chippewa creek. Its natural course was southerly into the Niagara while the completed canal flows northerly.

The Chippewa Questionnaire canal cost about $25,000,000. An additional $15,000,000 will be required to complete installation of the 16-unit generating machinery.

The output of the super-power plant will be 650,000 horsepower. There are now three plants operating on the Canadian side of the river with a total output of 450,000 horse power, so that if all of them are continued in operation, Canada's Niagara production alone will be over the 1,000,000 horsepower mark.

Existing and projected development on the American side has a potential production of 420,000 horsepower from upper river sources. The light, heat and power company in control there has other hydro-electric and steam plants giving it a total marketable output of 810,000 horsepower, but from Niagara river alone the production is 420,000 horsepower.

The reaching and passing of the million horsepower mark has been accomplished in approximately a quarter of a century. For it was in 1925 that the wheels of the first industrial plant at Niagara Falls were turned by hydro-electric energy. The first turbine on the Canadian side was installed ten years later.

Power development on the Canadian side has been under government control, while on the American side it has been largely in the hands of one corporation. Canada's power has been scattered over a wide field, serving many municipalities within a radius of 200 miles with current for light, heat and power. In the United States the American side has been to concentrate users of power at or near Niagara Falls, Buffalo and others far east as Syracuse get sufficient power from Niagara falls to run street cars and for a few industries, but the bulk of power is used within a short distance of the generating plants.

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—Announcement by the Southern Ohio Coal exchange that its members, operating mines in the southern Ohio fields, would discontinue negotiation of wage scales in joint meetings with other districts at the central competitive field and propose an individual scale for their employees which would not provide for the check off system of collection of union dues, was regarded in various lights here today.

The exchange officials said the action of their organization, taken at a meeting last yesterday, was not intended as a "blow to unionized labor" but they were "driven to the move" by the ability of operators in West Virginia and other fields to undercut them.

Least Interest in Party. Many miners were attending their first party. Their idea of a party was tables of free cream, canned milk, etc.

CENSORSHIP NORMALCY

In the recent report of Postmaster General Hays there are few passages of greater interest to the general public than those in which he sets forth his views on the question of censorship.

In common with the opinion held by many people on this subject Mr. Hays has a wholesome dislike for censorship in general and for censorship in particular, although in his message he confines himself largely to mail censorship.

There are, of course, exceptions to this rule. With so many censors in the field it is very likely that there will always be a goodly number who bring to the work some thing besides personal prejudice and opinion.

Whether it is a question of scrutinizing the moral tone of a play or that of a book or a piece of sculpture, the individuals who pass judgment on these things must bring to this work a range of interest and experience in art and life which does not fall often to the lot of those ac-

In his efforts to put the matter of censorship less on a basis of personal whim and caprice but rather on compliance with the statutes governing each case, Mr. Hays voices the opinion of the great majority of people in this country.

THE GLORY WAMES

The worst foe of the soldier is the expert. Science has taken all the glory out of soldiering. Once there were elements of colorful adventure in war. The uniforms were gorgeous; there was much wild, free ranging of the open country; there was the fun of camping out and the charm of gaudy comradeship; a small percentage of fighting to the days spent in camp and on the march, and much appeal to the sense of honor even in the relations of foe to foe.

Uncommon Common Sense

THINKING OF THE OTHER OYAP By Charles Livingston Baker Copyright 1921. I went to see an old friend of mine the other day and as I walked into his private office, I received instead of his usual greeting a curt "How are you?" then a blank stare.

Dear Daddy: I want to thank you for your sweet letters. I like them much—I am tired of being in bed—I can't walk yet Daddy dear, so pray for me, as Mama does each night. I want to be like other boys and Mama says God will take care of us all if we love Him real hard, and that's what I'm doing Daddy. I ask Him all the time to make me strong again. Do you think He will?

I laid the letter on his desk and walked out in silence. There was nothing to me or my understanding was too deep for me. As I passed through the outer office, I overheard one of the stenographers say to the other: "The old fellow is biting our heads off neat." They did not understand as I did, so I only smiled, and passed on.

The young married couple had just returned from a honeymoon and the wife went to her best door neighbor. "Of course, she's a horrible person," she confessed. "And I want to learn. So you'll help me won't you, please? First, I want to know how to manage our finances. Do you budget yours?"

"Not yet," the older woman smiled. "When that first year is over, we will belong to the 'stretch it' rank of hospital and asked the convalescent soldiers what they thought of the use of poisonous gas in war. The soldiers didn't like poisonous gas. If there is any reason why a professional soldier should like war it is because it appears to him as a sort of sport. But no good sport would use poisonous gas. No hunter deserving of the name would gas rabbits that had succeeded in taking refuge in a hole in the ground. There never again will be glory in war so long as soldiers must burrow in the ground and await their hour of extermination by having their lungs burned out.

First year coeds at Wisconsin University want suitors to have the $20,000 income, but senior girls think $1,200 would do, thus showing signs of weakening.

More Truth Than Poetry

ALWAYS TOMORROW By S. E. KISER THE people who are running things Are always ready to remind us That if we cease to scold, and try To practice patience, by and by We will be left behind us. They have a cure for every care That interferes with life's attraction; Their promises are always fair, But seldom followed up with action.

WE listen while they mention how They plan to end all tribulation; They then go on to do it wait And calmly trust to them and fate To ease the burden of taxation; From year to year enduring peace Will be established, so they tell us; It may be when the nations cease To be cantankerous and jealous.

THE people whom we choose to sleep The Ship of State assure us lightly That pleasant sailing is about to begin; That we may rid ourselves of dread. The sun will soon be beaming brightly; We start each trip with eager hopes Which dwindle as the weather thickens, And, clinging to the raggy ropes, We fling assurance to the dickens.

THE people who step in declare "Be patient for a while," they say. "And trouble will be pushed away. You'll all be lucky and delighted." We halt the nerve, forget the old, And then discover to our sorrow, That nothing's gained; we're always told That something may be done tomorrow.

Sapphire With a History. The title appears on the top of the cross on the sapphire crown of the king of England once was believed to have the power of curing rheumatism, scalds and various other diseases which afflicted him a thousand or so years ago. It is not believed that the stone has lost any of the powers with which it began life, perhaps a million years ago, but a large part of the British public seems to have lost faith in its curative properties. This sapphire was once the setting of the coronation ring of Edward the Confessor, who was buried in Westminster abbey, and was taken out of his casket in the year 1101, since which time it has been on the English crown jewels.

THE IMPATIENT ROBIN

ROBIN had started too early from the South that year. His little wife told him so, but he would not listen. "I suppose you want all the nice ingredients to be taken when we arrive," he said to her. So they arrived one morning, and though the sun was shining, the air was chilly, and poor little Mrs. Redbreast sat shivering on a limb of a tree, huddled against the trunk, while her lord and master sat on the end of a branch singing lustily.

"What did I tell you?" said Robin. "We are not a bit too early; and now let us find a home." It was some time, however, before the warm spring days came, but the bird, and with them the blossoms and the leaves, and then the fruit began to grow—cherries and apples and berries and all the things that the robins like to eat.

Robin was impatient. He wanted a nice cherry pie, and when his little wife told him the cherries were green and hard he began to scold. "My mother used to make the best cherry pie I ever ate," said he, "and I know she used to use them when they were hard, because I used to stone them for her."

"Stone them?" exclaimed Mrs. Robin with wide-open eyes. "Whoever heard of stoning cherries for a pie? My mother never did. What did she do with the stones—make a soup?" inquired Mrs. Robin in rather a sarcastic tone of voice.

"Yes, she made a soup, now I come to think about it, and that cherry-stone soup was the best I ever ate!" replied poor Mrs. Robin, thinking that was a clever idea. "Well, will you make a cherry pie today?" he asked.

"But, Robin, the cherries are not fit to use yet," pleaded Mrs. Robin, fluttering about at the very thought of such a thing. "I can make a pie out myself," said Robin, bristling his feathers. "All right, make one," said Mrs. Redbreast; and off she flew.

When she returned late that afternoon everything was covered with snow—even I'm bill and wings—and Mrs. Robin, instead of something warm was in the air. "I made that pie all right," he said, nudging his head toward the party.

Making a Writing Pad. A writing pad, to be successful, must be solid and of good size. A board half an inch thick, nine by twelve inches, makes the best pad. Buy half a yard of black elastic, half an inch wide, the strongest you can get, overlap the ends and sew firmly together into the form of a belt. Slip this over the end of the board. It will keep in place both blunting and writing paper and can be moved up and down the board as you need it. On a windy day it is invaluable, setting both hands free.

BOY SCOUTS (Conducted by National Council of the Boy Scouts of America.) NEED HELP FOR FRENCH BOYS

Lorne W. Barclay, national director of the department of education, who was recently made a Knight of the Legion of Honor in consideration of his work in the devastated regions of France, sent the following communication to the national council headquarters:

"The Boy scout camps in France are now closing, and the French boys are cheering for the good times they have had. We have 64,000 boys who have not been adopted by troops in America. Here is an opportunity for your troop to have a representative in scouting in France. Expenses have been advanced by friends for these boys and we shall be glad to assign them to you for adoption on receipt of a contribution of twenty-five dollars per French boy. It is not too late for this work must continue. It is possible for your troop to co-operate in helping one of the boys in France? In so doing you will do a 'good turn' which will always continue to 'turn' for scouts and scouting. Send your communications to the American Committee for Devastated France, 16 East 38th Street, New York City."

NEW BRANCHES OF SCOUTING.

Thirteen Branch (N. Y.) scouts recently organized themselves into an Archery club, making bows and arrows for themselves. One of the most striking scout displays in connection with a sporting event at Grand Central was an archery demonstration given by a Manhattan troop, with old English yew bows. Archery is a fascinating recreation and is incidentally splendid training in accuracy, observation and co-ordination of mind, eye and hand.

In Breardus, Mont., twenty-eight boys have banded together as mounted Boy scouts. All of them have horses.

Harding Praibes Boy Scouts This is what President Harding has to say about the scout movement: "It is an organization teaching the spirit of our democracy, because in it standing is won only by taking the equal opportunities given all individuals to show their merit, capacity and worth."

Memorial Window Unveiled for Rev. Dr. Charles Townsend, for many years pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Orange, N. J., is believed to be unique in scouting annals, as it is the first to have the boy scout insignia wrought into its design.

University Adopts Scouting Two boy scout troops have been installed in the Minimum department of the University of Notre Dame, Indiana. Rev. James Burns, president of the university, has this to say: "The boy scout movement under Catholic leadership and realizing the good it is accomplishing among our boys throughout the United States by inculcating such virtues as kindness, obedience and giving, is a great pleasure in reviewing any endeavor which so graciously works and will do all I can in a practical way to further the movement here at the University of Notre Dame."

Doings of Boy Scouts. Boy scouts recently saved the Laurel Canyon (Cal.) home of Besse Love from destruction by fire. A questionnaire sent out to boys who had just returned from a scout camp brought out interesting information as to what the boys themselves considered that the experience had given them: Some of the answers were: "to be a better scout," "to stand straight," "learned working together"
