TALES OF HANGINGS MULTIPLY

Stories of Witnesses as to the Executions of American Soldiers in France Deal in Ghastly Details

PHOTOGRAPHS SHOWN OF ALLEGED CRIMES

Little Evidence Adduced Tending to Show that Sentences Were Carried Out Without Courtmartial Sanction

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Further testimony relating to the hanging of American soldiers at 18-Sur-Tille, France, was presented today to the senate committee investigating charges by Senator Watson, democrat, Georgia, that soldiers had been executed without trial. He-belted a California soldier, William, a former service man declared he had witnessed "ten or twelve" executions at 18-Sur-Tille while engaged in transporting German prisoners by truck in the vicinity of that place.

Washington records previously presented to the committee show that two soldiers were hanged at 18-Sur-Tille after conviction by general court martial and gave the trial execution in the A. Z. P. at 17, all after formal trial before military courts.

Not Sure About Trials. Cadenhead did not know whether any of the men he saw hanged had met their death without trial. He described in detail the execution which he claimed to have witnessed, one of them being of a lieutenant who, Cadenhead said, had been charged with assaulting a sergeant.

Cadenhead produced several small photographs of "supposed" hangings. "I have seen nothing about the execution, as set forth in your letter to Senator Watson," was that the French people should not have been permitted to see them," Chairman Brandegee asked.

"Yes, sir." "Yes, sir, barbarity."

Condemned Man Doped. "No," the only thing I say was that some of the men were doped," Senator Overman, democrat, North Carolina, wanted to know who was with Cadenhead when he looked at the execution.

"How many were present at the first five hangings that you saw?" asked Colonel Brien. "About 300 French people and 800 soldiers."

"You saw the other five or seven executions from a truck while hauling gear?"

"Yes. When we saw a hanging from the road we stopped to look."

Cadenhead declared he had no feeling about the matter and that he voluntarily offered to come forward after seeing the statement printed that there were only two hangings at 18-Sur-Tille.

"I had seen more than that," he said, "and it seemed to me that some officers were guilty of witness."

Senator Brandegee asked if Cadenhead could produce witnesses to support his statement. He mentioned "Charles Eaton," but explained that the spelling was "Chelme" and that he lived at Elmhurst, L. T. Chelmo will be summoned.

After a session adjourned Senator Watson suggested that inasmuch as the witness Dunder had come forward of his own expense it might be proper to send a committee to pay his traveling expenses.

No Warning Given as Bandits Open Fire Upon Banker

One Man Is Killed and Two Wounded in Daylight Robbery

CHICAGO, (AP)—John Stoffel, president of the Maywood State bank, was shot and killed, and Louis Brecony, chief of police of the suburb and Arthur Bosson, a bank messenger, were wounded today when five bandits robbed them of a $15,000 payroll for the Maywood plant of the American Gas company.

The bandits did not give the banker and his two guards a chance to hold up their hands. They ordered the payroll car to stop and as it came to a halt opened fire, killing Stoffel almost instantly.

Chief Sweeney was shot under the right arm and Bosson in the side. The latter's injury is not serious.

The holdup occurred two blocks from the bank and the robbers escaped in an automobile.

Sweeney, deputy sheriff, ran to the bank two blocks away and turned in the alarm. Chicago police dispatched three rifle squads and placed guards on all roads from Maywood.

DEADLOCK IS UNBROKEN IN IRISH TANGLE

Day's Session is Adjourned Without Progress of Any Kind; Hope of Eventual Settlement Still Lingers

DUBLIN, (AP)—The situation in the Dail Eireann was deadlocked today, adjourned shortly after 3 o'clock this afternoon, having met and immediately adjourned this morning.

During the recess, Irish troops and favoring the Anglo-Irish treaty held a meeting and canvassed various possibilities for reaching an agreement, but without result.

The Dail Eireann adjourned into this afternoon until tomorrow morning when it will meet in private session to hear the report of the committee which was set up to find a basis upon which an agreement might be reached.

May Try Collins' Plan. One member of the Dail said shortly after the adjournment that an effort would be made to report an agreement on the part of the other side.

Michael Collins—that the opponents of the treaty should abstain from voting and permit the treaty to pass.

When the Dail met William Cosgrave rose to protest against a letter he had been sent on behalf of the Sinn Fein to a Dublin business house asking for the loan of the largest available Dublin Jack-in-the-box building for an office for the university building which the Dail is now using, when the treaty was ratified.

APPEAL TO PRESIDENT TO ESCAPE STARVATION

West Virginia Coal Miners Claim Destination Grows and Aid Necessary

WASHINGTON, D. C., (AP)—West Virginia coal miners who say their families are starving have appealed directly to President Harding for government aid. Letters the miners have sent to the president contradict the statement issued by Governor Morgan of West Virginia, that there is no organization among the miners' families.

"The majority, or practically all of the miners, who number about 200, are in a destitute condition, some not even having a meal ahead nor the means of obtaining such," said a letter to the president from the Marfork, W. Va., local union, which has been working only three months this year, that mines still were idle and money must be had.

A similar letter from the Mascot, W. Va., union was received.

BURCH PREFERS INSANITY TO PENALTY FOR MURDER

Extraordinary Statement by Witness Hurl Bombshell Into Defense

LOS ANGELES, Cal., (AP)—Dr. Thomas J. Orbinson, dentist, was under prosecution by the defense when court was resumed today for the trial of Arthur C. Burch, charged with the murder of J. Bolton, Kennedy. Dr. Orbinson handled the defense a surprise when in reply to a question asking to repeat a conversation he had in the jail with Burch, he said the defendant had told him he preferred to take his chance of being found insane rather than being tried for murder. The defense which closed Tuesday was largely predicated on a claim of insanity.

Dr. Orbinson also testified that Burch said he would rather spend ten years in an asylum than be hanged. Burch talked the alleged testified of being released from the murder charge and permitted to return to his home near Chicago with his family. He said, according to the witness, that he thought there he could gradually drop from public view and get a new identity.

The physician said he told Burch that should he be found insane, he might have to remain in an institution in California instead of being placed in the Federal Reformatory. Dr. Orbinson's statement was continued after this account of the conversation.

Flat Failure Is Predicted As Outcome of Negotiations

Forecast Indicates Defeat by Narrow Margin of Treaty Between Great Britain and Ireland

LONDON, (AP)—J. J. Walsh, member of the Dail Eireann, is quoted in a Central News dispatch from Dublin today as saying in a statement: "I can definitely state that, as the position stands, the treaty will be defeated by at least two votes."

"I take full responsibility for making that statement," continued Walsh. "The decision will likely be taken late tonight, and I feel that it is of the greatest importance and of vital interest for every constituency to realize the exact position."

The Central News correspondent says other deputies who were queried in regard to Walsh's statement said they would not attempt to contradict it, that their manner of saying so confirmed the serious fears generally entertained.

SUPREME COURT TO HEAR ABIBON NORMAL ISSUES

Controversy Over Removal of State School to be Carried to Higher Tribunal; Advanced Hearing to be Asked

An immediate appeal to the state supreme court will be taken in the case of Charles D. Dunson and other residents of Albion brought against the state board of education to prevent the removal from Albion to Burley of the Albion state normal school under terms of an act of the last session of the legislature.

Law Basis for Appeal. The state supreme court was today made by H. P. Perry of the firm of Walters, Hodgins and Bailey, attorneys for the Albion citizens, who appeared with Dean Driscoll, first assistant attorney general, as attorney for the state board, and Morris and Griswold, attorneys for Burley citizens, before Judge H. B. Hildreth, chief justice at Burley where foundation for the appeal was laid.

A formal judgment was entered by Judge Lee in accordance with his previous decision in which he overruled the state board's general demurrer to the Albion citizens' complaint and ruled that the removal of the school for a temporary injunction to restrain state officials from removing the school.

All parties to the suit, at Burley yesterday, agreed to request the supreme court for an advanced hearing in the case.

CLOSE PRIVACY AT FUNERAL OF LATE SENATOR

Hearse and Four Autos Constitute Cortege Which Follows Body of Boies Penrose to the Last Resting Place

NEWSPAPER REPORTERS EXCLUDED FROM SCENE

Nature of Arrangements Brings Up Old Story of Similar Precautions During Funeral of Senator's Father

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., (AP)—The funeral of Senator Boies Penrose was held this morning. The same strict secrecy that attended the making of arrangements for the funeral was maintained until the body of the senator was lowered into the brick lined crypt in the St. Peter's cemetery. No information was forthcoming whether there were any religious services at the house or at the cemetery. Newspaper reporters were not admitted to the burial grounds.

The fact that the body of the senator would be buried today became known late yesterday when the bureau of vital statistics issued a permit for interment for January 5, 1922.

The immediate family of the senator, today, was a bachelor, consists of three brothers. No information was given out regarding the funeral beyond the brief obituary notice that the funeral be strictly private.

Newsman's Story Reported. Newspapermen regard the burial of a United States senator who had figured so largely in political history of the country as an important event. It was reported that practically the same plan as death watches are set on prominent persons who are believed to be dying.

A report that Senator Penrose's father was buried years ago at midnight in order to avoid making a public spectacle of the funeral, a report which was "all-day" affair.

After 7:30 a. m. today the three brothers, Charles L. Richard and Spencer, arrived at the Spruce street home where the late senator was born. Four automobiles parked a short distance from the house about the same time. A little later the three brothers, the senator's brother, came out on the front steps and waved his arm and seemingly from nowhere a hearse approached the house.

Hours and Four Autos. A few minutes later the body of the senator was brought out and the hearse, followed by the four automobiles, was followed by the three brothers started for the cemetery yesterday were not admitted today and the newspapermen followed the funeral party through a steady rain to the last resting place of the dead senator, were warned that the hearse and automobiles were not to be at their own. Guards were stationed all around the place. The funeral party in the cemetery about 15 minutes after 10:30 a. m.

Outside the cemetery. Thus was enacted the final scene in the career of a man who could have had one of the largest funerals in the United States. The senator's body was taken to Philadelphia within the last few days to do the last rites. The senator's father was invited to the bachelor home of the senator where many political conferences have been held.

Questions had been asked why the family desired secrecy in the burial of the senator and the answer of close political friends was that Penrose had not one was invited to the bachelor home of the senator where many political conferences have been held.

PATENT OFFICE OFFICIALS DESIRE INCREASE OF PAY

Conditions Unfavorable to a Degree Through Failure to Advance Salaries

WASHINGTON, D. C., (AP)—Conditions in the United States patent office are so unfavorable that officials are desiring that a salary increase be made. The result, it was asserted, from the inadequate rates of pay, formed the chief subject for discussion before the American Engineering Council, the Federated American Engineering societies which convened here today for a two-day session. The council has voted to send a resolution to the patent office, a national-wide campaign in behalf of reform which it declares to be necessary for the protection of American industry from foreign competition.

Resolutions regarding the examiners of the patent office, according to Edwin J. Prindle, chairman of the council, are being considered. The council is more than 100 in number and is composed of young men from throughout the country who have no knowledge whatever of either general or patent law.

COR FIELDS OF KANSAS UPSET FOR TWO YEARS

Industrial Relations as Between Operators and Miners Show No Signs of Any Settlement As Yet

SMOLDERING TROUBLE MAY BREAK ANY TIME

Entry of Women into Plot Declared to Constitute a Situation Unique in Annals of Labor Disturbances

PITTSBURG, Kan., (AP)—Long the scene of industrial conflict, the Kansas coal fields have been in a virtual up-ear for more than two years as result of the miners' union fight against the state law creating the control of industrial relations.

Began by Alexander Howat, president of the district union, United Mine Workers of America, the campaign has been waged relentlessly. The international miners' union supported the district and proceedings designed to test the constitutionality of the law were held. They were through the state courts when the law was upheld, to the supreme court of the United States. The case is still pending before that tribunal.

The situation came to a climax last September when Howat and August Dorsey, vice president of the district union, were sent to jail at Columbus for six months terms for violating the law by calling strikes.

Two Factions Developed

Meantime, developments were shaping themselves which were to result in the district into factions. In April and May of 1921 strikes were called by the district board at the Dean and Bonanza mines. Only a few miners were affected. Efforts to settle the strikes were unsuccessful and after an investigation by an international union committee, the international executive board held the strikes were in violation of the contract between the district union and the operators and directed that the men be sent back to work. The strikes were not held before and the matter found its way before the convention of the international union at Indianapolis late in the summer. That body held the district board and directed that the strikes should end. The Howat administration announced they would be continued.

Leaders Sent to Jail

The Howat and Dorsey were sent to jail for violating the industrial law. Immediately the 12,000 miners of the district, which includes several Missouri counties, held down their tools and announced there would be no more coal mined until Howat and Dorsey were released from jail and the industrial court law wiped off the statute books. The Missouri miners were permitted to go back to work, the district union holding that in as much as the controversy was over the Kansas industrial court law the Missouri members were not affected. From his jail cell Howat issued statements reasserting the Kansas position and attaching state officials and officers of the international union.

All Quiet for Weeks

For several weeks the situation was unchanged. No coal was mined, the men held their positions, and the incarceration of their leaders and dwell upon what they regarded as the inequities of the court law.

Shortly John A. Leach, president of the international union, issued an order overruling the Howat administration and creating a provisional board, headed by George L. Beck, local member of the international executive board. The deposed administration refused to recognize the new body or to give up the district headquarters. Both organizations attempted to direct the affairs of the district and the miners themselves were divided into two host factions—one loyal to Howat and his policies and the other supporting the international officials.

Men Ordered to Work

Shortly afterward Lewis sent Van A. Bittner of Pittsburgh, Pa., into the district as his special representative. Over Bittner's signature an order was issued directing the men to go back to work. A time limit was included in the order and it was announced that all miners idle after the specified time would be dropped from membership in the international. Bittner issued a statement announcing that Howat, Dorsey and other leaders of the suspended board had been automatically removed from membership in the international union. There was a general return to work on the part of those men supporting the international but those supporting Howat continued idle. The situation changed along until early in December with international officials reporting more men at work each day and those of the Howat administration claiming the estimates were too low.

Women Take a Hand

In mid-December an angle developed which, officials said, was unique in coal field annals. Women, wives, relatives and acquaintances of the striking miners, undertook to bring about a stoppage of work at the mines by demonstrations, which at their climax, included the beating of non-striking. The women hounded work at the mines but grew so unruly that local authorities found themselves unable to cope with the situation. Delegation of men loyal to the international called upon the operators and demanded that they be given sufficient protection to work. The county officials sent a request to the governor's office for assistance and several units of guardsmen were sent into the district. There were no further demonstrations by the women and the county officials began wholesale arrests of women said to have been leaders of the marching crowds. Prohibition enforcement officers also became active and numerous places were raided and liquor found. Federal officials announced that steps would be taken to deport alien agitators and other foreign undesirable.

Courts Appealed To

In their efforts to prevent their removal from office by the international union, officials of the district union brought suit in circuit court at Kansas City, Mo., to restrain international officials from taking charge of district affairs and from leading miners to coal operators regarding collection of "check-off" fees, the "check-off" being the system by which certain per capita dues of the miners are collected at the mine by union officials. The deposed board was granted a temporary injunction and a lengthy hearing was begun late in December, whether the order should be made permanent. Many witnesses, including International President Lewis, were heard.

PORTUGUESE MINISTER ON IMPORTANT MISSION

Dean of Diplomatic Corps in Shanghai Seeks to Avert Promise of Trouble

SHANGHAI, China. (AP)—Following a clash that has developed into open warfare between the Canton government and the Macao government, M. Batalha de Freitas, Portuguese minister to Canton, who is also dean of the diplomatic corps at Peking, has gone to Macao to confer with the governor of the Portuguese colony concerning the recent developments. It was announced at the time of his departure from the northern capital that he would make a full report of the incident to the Portuguese foreign office. Difference of the Macao government with that of Canton originally developed many months ago when the Macao authorities set about reclamation work on the water front. More recently Dr. Sun Yat Sen's new administration has set out to deny to the Macao authorities control of waters near the port. The recent clash developed when Chinese soldiers fired on a Portuguese police launch and those in the launch returned fire.

Demands Are Presented

When the trouble was at its height, Canton presented a list of demands to the Macao government. In these demands Macao was called upon to punish the occupants of the police launch who had crossed the line of the Chinese, recognition of Canton's control of the waterways was demanded, Macao was called upon to apologize for the incident and to require all that the Macao government enforce a prohibition of gambling in the Portuguese colony. The Portuguese government of Macao refused to grant these demands and when further fighting seemed imminent and a call for help had been sent out from Macao to Portuguese residents of Shanghai, a renewed outbreak was prevented according to reports sent to Shanghai, by negotiations carried forward at Canton by Portuguese representatives.

Canton Changes Position

Since the departure of the Portuguese minister it is reported that Canton has receded in the matter of the demands to certain extent, particularly that requiring that gambling be prohibited in the Portuguese territory. Officials of the Peking government contend that it has been the purpose of Sun Yat Sen's administration to oblige the Portuguese minister to negotiate with the Canton government, thus giving the government some measure of recognition.

NEWSPAPERMAN IS KIDNAPED IN CITY OF DUBLIN

London Times Correspondent Is Taken From Grocery Store and Forced to Accompany Captors at Point of Gun

RECENT WRITINGS ARE BELIEVED TO BE CAUSE

Protest Against Action Signed by English and Irish Press Representatives Alike Will Be Presented

DUBLIN, (AP) — A. H. Kay, correspondent for the London Times, was kidnaped last night by three men in a grocery shop. There has been no word of him since his disappearance, and an explanation of his capture is being sought by his friends.

The correspondents attending, this morning's session of the Dal-Eireann, demanded his immediate release and the punishment of his kidnapers, and the publisher of the London Times has written from Dublin recently saying that some of the leading fighting men of that city favored the kidnapping of Kay, as a possible reason for his abduction. They said he was wanted at that time to leave work on the threat that he "put in a vault with a corpse and a possible reason for his abduction."

Kidnapers Enlist Violence

It was declared later that the kidnaping occurred during the afternoon and that it had been expected Kay would be returned by night, but that the night and the greater part of this forenoon had gone by without his reappearance.

Kay's companions said three armed men entered the grocery, presented revolvers and carried Kay off. They promised Kay's companions, the latter declared, to bring him back unharmed in the evening, warning them to say nothing in the meanwhile.

Before the Dal met the correspondents here held a meeting and formulated a protest to the Dal against the kidnaping. The English and Irish correspondents joined the English newspapers in signing the protest.

Protest If Overruled

After adjournment of the Dal had been moved, Desmond Fitzgerald rose to read the press protest against the kidnaping, but was overruled by the speaker, who declared the adjournment motion had been carried.

Michael Collins told the correspondents later he had sent two of his best men to Cork to rescue Kay, but that the kidnapers would be severely punished if they were not responsible for the kidnaping.

MENACE TO NURSERYMEN IS APPARENTLY REMOVED

New Method of Identifying Young Trees Perfected by Eastern Orchardist

AMHERST, Mass., (AP) — How to know apple trees by their leaves and not alone by their fruits bids, said E. H. Loomer, part of the business of the successful orchardist as a result of several years' study of the young trees of the Massachusetts Agricultural college here.

Systematic study of the leaf characters of young apple trees conducted by Loomer, an expert pomologist, has enabled him to announce a new method of identifying nursery stock that promises to remove one of the most serious risks of buying nursery stock.

"For no one who has not purchased and set out a block of trees labeled 'Melrose', only to find eight years later that the supposed Melroses were all Wolf River, a variety almost worthless in New England, can appreciate what it means to the fruit grower to have a method of identifying nursery stock from the purchase of his nursery stock," says a statement issued from the experiment station.

Easy to Identify

This fall, with the support of the Massachusetts Fruit Growers' association, Dr. Shaw applied his identification method to 2000 apple trees in the nurseries in this state. To the amazement of the nurserymen, he discovered that 90 per cent of the young trees for sale were of a false name.

Dr. Shaw's investigation involved studies of leaves of 20 varieties of apple trees collected from orchards of distant states as well as in New England. He discovered that always there were certain characters invariable in leaves of the same variety and a great many points of difference between the leaves of different varieties.

Missed Only Once

"During his years of research he applied his method to 100 young apple trees as he set them in his own experimental plots. Only one tree turned out, when it came into bearing, to be different from his markings. Dr. Shaw does not pretend that anybody can identify fruit trees by their leaves. But study he says will enable the fruit grower to distinguish, any given variety in the nursery.

Gastly Spelling Like a Foren Cifer

NORMAL, Ill., — Illinois has a "foren cifer" president that spells "wer" and "ar." He is none other than the well-known Dr. David Estlin, president of the Illinois State Normal university here.

Student spelling, yes, of course. And here are some more of them from a list printed at the school:

Crum, dum, num, thum, lam, ham, bur, nyr, gnt, gasty, tham, capanna, foren, cifer, fongrat, teleforn, blid, gerd, det, doug.

And, respectively, av, subpna, yogg, slon, slonca, letib, quire for choir sent for, alonca, to, quire no thing of: Wo, ake, tise and ee.

Simplified spelling has languished since the outbreak of the World war, and many of the foregoing are novel and amusing. And that is the origin of this list was published ago five to ten years ago, for the guidance of such students and teachers at Normal who were interested in the simplified spelling movement.

Relative to the use of simplified spelling in the normal university, President Feinley said:

"In 1906, when the simplified spelling board was formed, it issued a first list of 300 simplified spellings that it recommended for general adoption. At that time this institution, like many others throughout the country, adopted the recommendations in all its printed matter and in the work of the office. As the second and third lists of the simplified spelling board appeared these, too, were adopted. The fourth list, involving many radical changes, these have been partially adopted in the institution.

"No teacher or student is required to use simplified spelling. Only a few do so. In our spelling classes the simplified forms are regarded as 'variants' of the conventional spellings.

THE BIG WHITE STORE'S ALTERATION SALE

We are going to make new improvements in the store; change the location of different departments so that they will be more accessible; and remodel the interior. This will make it necessary to move a lot of the merchandise around and rather than do this we are going to put prices on it so that they will be moved out of the store.

Thus you will benefit by the ridiculously low prices and we will benefit by having less stuff to move and be in our way while we are remodeling.

This advertisement is just a simple statement of facts. The prices speak louder than red ink. No hollow phrases and meaningless expressions such as "The Biggest Sale Event of the Year," "No Sale Like It," "The Only Genuine Sale," etc., will be used. The phrases are over-worked and mean nothing. Progressive merchants everywhere have discarded them. So do not be surprised when you fail to see them used by us.

One of Whittlesey's "Go to H-I Boys"

UNANIMOUS consent to proceed for three minutes out of order was granted to Representative Curry of California the other day. He then told the house that in the gallery was Capt. Nelson M. Holderman, a hero of the World war. He went on to say Captain Holderman was awarded the congressional medal of honor, the croix de guerre with palm, of France. The French cross of war was conferred upon him twice, and the Order of the Union of Belgium, and he was cited for valorous and meritorious conduct. Captain Holderman directed the army by way of the National Guard of California. He served overseas through the entire war. He was wounded seven times, and was in command of Company K, Third Hundred and Seventh Infantry, under Colonel Whittlesey, at the battle of the Argonne. Colonel Whittlesey's regiment was known as the Lost Battalion. Eleven hundred men went into that action under Colonel Whittlesey. They were on the front of the fighting line, were cut off from their command for five days and five nights, and were surrounded by the enemy, refused to surrender, and fought their way out. Of the eleven hundred men of that battalion only entered that battle but 100 returned alive or wounded. All the rest were either killed or wounded. In that little Captain Holderman was wounded three times, and while wounded led his men. Captain Holderman stood up in the gallery amid the applause of the house. He is at present detailed to the command of an Infantry company at the Presidio of San Francisco. Captain Holderman's citation reads, among other things, that he was wounded on October 7, but throughout the entire period, suffering great pain and subjected to fire of every character, he continued personally to lead and encourage the officers and men under his command with unflinching courage and with distinguished success. On October 9, in a wounded condition, he pushed through enemy machine-gun and shell fire and carried wounded men to a place of safety.

UNIQUE DIVORCE CASE IN COURTS OF CHINA

First Decree Ever Granted British Subject in Won on Commonplace Charges

SHANGHAI, (AP) (By Mail).—Under the recently extended divorce act of Great Britain, Mrs. Lena Blinger, formerly wife of William J. Singer was granted a divorce in the British supreme court of Shanghai by Judge Skinner Turner.

This is the first decree of divorce ever granted in a British court in China and in granting the decree late in October Judge Skinner Turner said that parties who seek the aid of the court in matters of the kind must prove residence in China and he added that the court would demand the same degree of complete evidence that the highest courts in England demand. The decree in the Blinger case was granted on grounds of infidelity and cruelty. What is unique to you may be valuable to others—advertise it in this classified column.

IMPORTANT CARE OF LUBRICATION

One Part of Car That Must Be Right and Needs Special Care in Cold Weather.

KEROSENE IS GOOD-CLEANSED

When Freezing Weather Arrives Test Oil to See if It is Adapted to New Conditions—Do Not Permit Water to Accumulate.

Do not neglect to overhaul your lubrication system until winter has advanced. It is a job which the ordinary man avoids because it gets his hands dirty. But serious trouble may follow if the work is not done in time.

Writes Albert N. Atkinson in the New York World: "Winter, with its low temperature, brings unusual conditions, and the various lubricants used on a car must be adapted to the change."

Doublets the oil in the crank case has been changed every 1,000 to 1,500 miles during the summer, a rule which should be followed all winter. But frequently the motorist neglects to clean out the crank case when changing oils and so the dirt and grit remains in the bottom of the sump to contaminate the new oil.

Use Kerosene Method. Properly the oil sump should be removed and the strainer, pump and pipes thoroughly cleaned. A new gasket must then be fitted around the joints. This is more of a job than the average man wishes to undertake, so the kerosene method may be considered fairly satisfactory.

Before putting in the new oil let us consider whether it is adapted to the new season or not. The working temperature will be the same, but the oil sump is exposed to every blast of cold air coming through the radiator and the oil may be chilled to a point where it cannot flow. As soon as freezing weather arrives make a cold test of the oil as follows: place half a tumbler of the oil in some exposed place where it may be acted on by the outside temperature. Watch it from day to day. If it thickens up and refuses to run at any time it is not suited to your engine. The a slight change in the engine has run ten minutes or so and warmed up the oil. The hot oil flowing back into the sump soon brings it to a temperature where the cold will have no effect upon it. If obliged to let the car stand any length of time with engine not running, you will of course block the radiator which not only protects the cooling system but the oil as well.

Danger Often Overlooked. There is one danger which is frequently overlooked and that is an accumulation of water at the bottom of the sump or oil well. This comes from the products of combustion leaking past the piston and also from occasional leakage of the cooling system. If the sump is exposed to freezing, temperature this water will freeze. If there is enough of it, some may freeze to the oil pump, wrecking it. So draw off a little oil from the bottom of the sump at least once a week, carefully draining out all water. If found, change the grease in the gear-end and differential case to a heavy oil. A semi-fluid grease or gear compound will penetrate in winter and will not penetrate where it should.

So pay careful attention to these details, as lubrication of the car is a matter which simply MUST be right.

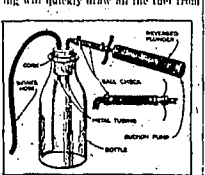

To Remove a Tight Can Lid. Can lids are often difficult to remove. Here is a plan by means of which they can be loosened easily. Tie a piece of stout twine loosely about the lid, then cover, then thrust under the twine a pencil and start to twist this. When the twine is tight, the cover of the can comes away readily.

DRAINING FUEL FROM CARBURETOR CHAMBER

Suction Device Illustrated Does Work Easily.

Not Necessary to Remove Tank or Disconnect Heating and Feed Connections—Any Water or Particles Drawn Out.

In some six-cylinder automobiles no provision is made for draining the carburetor, or vacuum tank, without removing them or disconnecting the heating and feed connections and allowing the fuel in the vacuum tank to run off through the disconnected feed pipe. All this makes a lot of work and trouble merely to remove the few drops of water or particles of dirt that interfere with the operation of the carburetor.

The little device shown in the drawing will quickly draw all the fuel from the vacuum tank.

When Draining the Contents of the Carburetor Float Chamber and Vacuum-Fuel Tank of an Automobile, the Suction Device Illustrated Makes It Unnecessary to Disconnect the Fuel Chamber.

The carburetor and vacuum tank without removing anything but the cover of the float chamber.

Two pieces of waxed tubing are inserted through a tight-fitting cork fitted into a quart bottle. One tube leads to a common type of small bicycle pump, in which the leather vane on the plunger has been removed to produce suction instead of pressure. A BB-nut is dropped into the short rubber connection between the pump and bottle, to serve as a check valve.

By removing the screws holding the cover of the float chamber it can be lifted off, then the second rubber tube is inserted so that the end will reach the lowest part of the float chamber. Upon operating the pump, the contents of the carburetor and vacuum tank are sucked into the bottle without spilling a drop, and any water or particles of dirt that may be present will be brought along—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Good Art always consists of two things: First, the observation of fact; secondly, the manifesting of human design and authority in the way that fact is told. Great and good art must unite the two; it cannot exist for a moment but in their unity.—Ruskin.
