REVIVAL OF BUSINESS IS NEARLY HERE

Annual Report of Federal Reserve Board Lends Strength to View that Worst of Present Depression is Past

WASHINGTON, D. C. (AP)—Business conditions in the country, progressing through well defined cycles, is nearing the point of the upward swing of the economic pendulum, according to the annual report of the Federal reserve board transmitted today to congress.

"There are those," the report said, "who believe that the beginning of revival is not far ahead. When it does, definitely set in it will be followed in due course by a new era of prosperity."

Doubtless, in one of its long swings from prosperity, the report said, has followed the usual pattern. This condition is described as follows: Business activity and increased production, excessive expansion and speculation followed by panic and forced liquidation, a long period of stagnation and the revival.

"In the light of recent experience," the report warned "we should remember that we again enter into a period of recovery, a reaction will follow sooner or later; and if the flow of the incoming tide can be controlled so that the crest may not be reached so rapidly as in the case of the sub-sequent reaction will be less severe and the next period of industrial and commercial activity and general prosperity will be marked by sane methods, greater achievement and constructive lines and by a longer duration of which any which we have had before."

BIRTH CONTROL AUTHORITY CANNOT LECTURE IN JAPAN

Mr. Margaret Sanger May Visit but Propaganda Will Not Be Permitted

TOKYO (AP)—The instructions of the Japanese foreign office to the Japanese consulate in San Francisco that it refuse to give the passport of Mrs. Margaret Sanger, head of the birth control league, were on the ground that propaganda along the lines it was understood she proposed was illegal in Japan and an improper subject for public discussion.

The foreign office's action, however, it was stated by an official today, did not mean that Mrs. Sanger would be denied admission to Japan.

Yonaka Akamatsu, chief of the immigration section of the foreign office, said today the action taken was intended as a warning to Mrs. Sanger that she would not be permitted to lecture in Japan were she interested. He declared, however, she would undoubtedly receive permission to enter the country upon the condition that she would not attempt propaganda.

ROBBERS TAKE GOODY SUM IN BOLD HOLD UP

M. F. Rice of Twin Falls, 68, Relieved of Cash to Amount of $150; Money Saved to Buy Tombstone

Two unidentified men at 4:50 o'clock this morning held up and robbed M. F. Rice, aged 68 years, of $150 which he had saved to place a tombstone over the grave of his wife whom he married 35 years ago. The robbery occurred on Third street west between Fourth and Fifth avenues. Mr. Rice was on his way to work at the Poppy confectionary and lunch room owned by his son-in-law, F. F. Varnay.

Mr. Rice was not injured by the hold-ups. He watched them running off in a vehicle from the scene of the robbery and then notified police headquarters. Police officers have been detailed to investigate the case, and hopes are expressed that the robbers will soon be taken custody.

Discussing the occurrence this morning Mr. Rice said: "It was dark and I could not see either of the men who snatched me. In fact, I did not see either of them until they were running away. One was a tall man. He wore a soldier's overcoat. The other was of average size."

TERMINATED HIM WIFE REVOLVER

"They came upon me from behind just as I reached my pocket. The smaller man snatched me by the coat collar and held the muzzle of a revolver against my neck. He said, 'Put up your hands and don't say a word of any kind. Then he spoke to the companion and said: 'Over, go through him.'"

"The larger man, standing behind me, put his arm around my body and said: 'Give me that money, give me that money.' I put my pocket and took out the money, which I had in a two-dollar sack and a bundle of corn. There were six twenty-dollar bills, two ten dollar bills, and one one dollar bill, and four silver dollars. I had taken the money from my bank where I had been keeping it Saturday, to buy postage money orders."

"When the larger man took the keys and snatched out of my pocket, the other one asked him, 'If he had found anything, 'Over, said, 'You bet I did. Here is a bunch of keys.' The other one told him to put the keys back."

"Then they gave me a push and I fell and slid along on my hands and knees. When I got up they were a pair of men and snatched my coat and six dollars. They ran like young men, and had talked like young men. Mr. Rice's wife broke and he choked her a while, as he said, "I want hurt me the most as they took the money I had been saving to buy a tombstone for my wife whom I lost a year ago."

NEW ACCOUNT OF FINAL DAYS OF RUSSIAN RULE

Official Version Authorized by Soviet Government Adds Little to General Information as to Murder

EKATERINBURG, Russia, (AP)—A Bolshevik account of the execution of the late Emperor Nicholas and his family which took place here on the night of July 16, 1918, has been made public in a pamphlet written by P. Bykoff, former chairman of the Ekaterinburg Soviet.

The book was obviously prepared carefully before it was published, as it lacks many details of the execution which ordinarily would have been given by eye-witnesses. It attempts to justify the execution by explaining that the Obenskoy Cossacks were then threatening Ekaterinburg from the south; Czechoslovak forces were ready to break from the east and had been received-aboving that plots were being formed to deliver the imperial family to the counter-revolutionists. Two extracts from letters are quoted as evidence of the existence of these plots.

FAMILY STUNNED BY ANNOUNCEMENT

According to Bykoff's account the last words of the emperor when he and his family were led unexpectedly into the basement of the house were: "I am sure that all the Romanoffs must die, were it not for us we would not be taken any where."

The emperor and her four daughters (the Grand Duchesses Olga, Tatiana, Anastasia, and Marie) and the little Czarévitch and the remaining members of the household of 11 were so taken by the news that they were ordered them to line up against the basement wall and pronounced the sentence.

Bykoff says that a firing squad of four shot the former imperial family with revolvers. "The identity of the members of the execution squad is not recalled."

The pamphlet places the responsibility for the execution of the Romanoffs directly upon the Ural district soviet, which decided early in July, 1918, that the Czar and his family must die, and entrusted the execution of the sentence and the destroying of the bodies to Peter Ermakov, an old workman of the Ural railway works.

ONLY FOUR WITNESSES

DAVID DEED

David, commandant of the house, read the sentence according to Bykoff's story; and there were only four witnesses. But it was not indicated whether David shot or even witnessed the death of the imperial family.

There were no statements by Bykoff's account which indicated that the Ural district soviet carried out the execution under direct orders from Moscow.

The Romanoffs were in their ordinary clothing when shot. It was not their custom to retire until long after midnight at night. Consequently all were still dressed when they were ordered to line up unexpectedly ordered to the basement and shot.

Bykoff's story says the guards outside the house and the public were kept in ignorance of the shooting by a noisy automobile outside which drowned the pistol reports.

At 1 o'clock the next morning the 11 bodies were secretly removed from the house and taken to a neighboring wood. There the clothing was removed. The bodies were buried first and the clothing, Bykoff says, was jeweled and fragments of jewelry which Admiral Kolchak's officers later claimed to have found in the robes were probably recovered in the clothing and everlinked to the men who disposed of the bodies.

OTHERS ALSO

DEATH

In addition to the Czar and Czarina Alexandra and their four daughters and one son, the persons who met death in the basement were Prince Dolgorouff, Dr. Bodkin, who was physician to the Romanoffs, a lady-in-waiting, and a man who was nurse to the Czarévitch. The names of the last two are not given in Bykoff's pamphlet.

Grand Duke Michael, brother of the late Czar, was shot at Perm in July 1918, according to Bykoff's account, and the late Duke Dmitri Mikhailovich, Igor Konstantinovich, Konstantin Konstantinovich and Ivan Konstantinovich were killed about the same time at Alapskoye, north of Ekaterinburg. These members of the Romanoff family had previously been held as prisoners in Ekaterinburg, but were transferred because of the uncertain position of Ekaterinburg with the approach of the Czechoslovaks.

GET PREDATORY TYPES TO KILL VEGETABLE EATERS

Elaborate Study of Destructive Animals to be Commenced at Once

NEW HAVEN, Conn., (AP)—Some very little animals which play a very big part in human existence are to be given the "once-over" scientifically in Yale University laboratories during the next few months, in order to add information about them to the sum of human knowledge. Miss Helen Isten of the Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., has been detailed to assist Dr. Goodhold Steiner of Cornell University, Research Fellow at Yale, in microscopic study of the Nematode, described as an animal that annually does millions of dollars worth of damage to plants and vegetables.

"These tiny worm-like animals are to be found in human beings as well as in the earth. There are 40 or 50 varieties of them. Ten per cent are classified as predatory, that is, they eat animals, while the remaining 90 per cent eat vegetation.

WILL STUDY MEANS OF REPRODUCTION

Dr. Steiner and Miss Isten are to study means of reproduction of the predatory types so they will eat the plant eaters and eradicate them. One predatory type will eat 30 types of the vegetable eaters.

The plant nematodes anchor to a root of a vegetable and eat the substance there, causing it to wither. A great colony makes a "root knot." The laboratory work is to be done in the "hot conditions" suited to the growth of the predatory nematode.

Dr. Steiner came to Yale from Switzerland to study this nematode. He has raised male and female, or brought them to the laboratory stage. The progress of new forms to retain the characteristics of the parent.

AFTER BURIED TREASURE

JUNEAU, Alaska, (AP)—Buried treasure on the ship Islander which was wrecked off the coast of Douglas Island, near here, in 1901, is the lure for F. W. Walters, sea diver, who has been to search the wrecked treasure. Although, according to Mr. Walters' observations, made last summer, the lost treasure is a depth of 300 feet and is almost completely covered with sand and sea growth, he claims his search will be successful because of a patent made diving suit which he has patented which allows the diver to breathe in 16 feet of water. Mr. Walters claims to be the only person who has found the ship.

The sand covering the Islander had been removed by means of dredge pumps. Mr. Walters has purchased the boat Sumas and will be here with his crew early in the summer to begin the search.

BATHERS MUST NOT PARADE ON TOWN STREETS

Kentucky General Assembly Passes Unique Law and Has Similarly Weird Measure Before it for Consideration

FRANKFORT, Ky., (AP)—Now that the Kentucky general assembly has made the streets of White Mills, Harlan county, safe for pedestrians by passing a bill which says whoever goes on the streets of an unincorporated village with no police protection, clad only in a bathing suit, is subject to a fine, its attention has been called to other public matters. Among the recent bills introduced in the senate is one to require moonshiners to attach whistles that can be heard two miles to their stills, and to blow them every thirty minutes from 1 a. m. until 11 p. m.

Scantly-clad summer boarders are given as the reason for the passage of the anti-bathing suit bill. The principal industry of White Mills is catching summer guests. Its main asset is a small river, and swimming is its greatest outdoor sport.

BATHING FACILITIES ARE LIMITED

But the bath house facilities, consist of willow trees under whose drooping branches one may park the bathtub. These facilities, however, have failed to appeal to the visitors, which include a goodly number of young women.

Representative Charles A. Nelson, who introduced the bill, is legislator that the youth of his village home is being corrupted by the sight of women clad only in bathing suits strolling down the street to the river. The vote was 60 to 20, notwithstanding the fact that Representative James Park, former big league baseball player, called the bill an effort to legislate the morals of the people and said the average bathing suit contains more material than the average evening dress. The bill has been reported favorably by the alcoholic liquor committee, which it is referred to.

Senator Bannie Tabor of Carter county is pushing a "still" bill. Senator Tabor, in his bill, consisting of five sections, proposes that it shall be unlawful for a person to operate a still without a whistle that can be heard two miles; that it must be blown every half hour from 1 a. m. until 11 p. m.; and that roadways or well-known paths must lead to the still. It creates the office of "moonshine still inspector" to see that the law is obeyed, under heavy penalty for failure.

Mother of Ballooning

A washerwoman was the mother of ballooning and it all started in France about 1780. The washerwoman wished to dry a shirt more rapidly than could be accomplished by air and sunshine, so she rigged it up over the fireplace. The hot air soon dried the cloth and the woman was astonished to see it round out into a ball and float up to the ceiling. A neighbor named Montgolfier saw the strange occurrence and it gave him the idea from which he made the first balloon.

MARTIAL SPIRIT IS ENCOURAGED

Japanese People Warned Not to Accept World Peace at Face Value

TOKIO, (AP)—If the Japanese nation is to hold its own in industrial competition which is sure to result from establishment of world peace, Japan's martial spirit must be developed in proportion to the armament is required, said Lieut. General Yamazaki, minister of war, in a statement to the Japanese press.

"A serious mistake is being made by some of the political leaders of Japan," he said, "in their efforts to disregard the martial spirit of the nation which is as essential to the peaceful expansion of the people as it is in time of war."

"The Washington conference has met with the success that was suspected of it. Opinion seems to be divided on the law for the proposed naval limitation, which is the chief of the problems before the assembly of nations; but all are of one accord in the spirit of world peace, which called them together to deliberate on these questions."

MARTIAL SPIRIT

LOST SIGHT OF

"It is a matter for regret that in their attempt to win appreciation for this spirit of world peace and in their anxiety to remove from Japan the charge of militarism, some of our political leaders have apparently lost sight of the martial spirit of the nation."

It is wrong to consider that a martial spirit is incompatible with the limitation of armaments. In a certain sense, armament is an expression of national power, which is the sum total of various kinds of individual energy. Modern warfare, for instance, demands national industry besides shells and bayonets. Therefore, if a nation is to advance and hold its own in the industrial competition that must necessarily follow on the establishment of world peace, its martial spirit should be expanded to just such a degree as the actual armament is reduced."

FORSDON TRACTORS

SOME weeks ago there appeared in the newspapers of the country as well as our home papers an insinuation said to have been made by Attorney General Daugherty to the effect that many of the retail merchants of the country were robbing the people or, to use his own words, "getting unconscionably high prices." Again in The Twin Falls News of Thursday, February 16, there appeared another reference to this insinuation.

It seems to the writer most regrettable that any such aspersions should be cast upon the rank and file of retail merchants of the country when most of them are tolerably honest. Possibly there are imperfect ones in the bunch just as there are imperfect seeds in each sack and imperfect apples on every tree. This seems to be one of the immutable laws of nature, that all are not perfect and we are not sure that Nature overlooked politicians. At any rate, any insinuation of this nature, especially in times such as these can only tend to retard progress toward the normal. Confidence is the basis of all business. Without this the spectre of stagnation stalks through the marts of commerce.

The balance sheets of the merchants of the country for the year 1921 show many or most of them in even worse condition financially than our average farmer. Does this condition indicate that they have asked unconscionably high prices?

We have all lost heavily, the only exceptions being in the case of those who had nothing to lose.

How could it be otherwise, with our interests interlinked as they are?

WOULDN'T the preaching of a little confidence and mutual trust in such times of trouble and strife leave a sweeter taste in the mouths of the people than the preaching of suspicion and distrust? Which is the more valuable man to society, he who sows wheat and reaps therefrom sustenance and life for the needy and unfortunate or he who sows tares and weeds and by so doing reaps thorns to tear the already torn feet of humanity?

IN his statement in The Twin Falls News of February 16, 1922, Mr. H. E. Hart, of Long Prairie, Minn., asks if Mr. Daugherty's propaganda was inspired by the mail-order house interests, and wouldn't the mail order houses profit by having the retail merchants discredited? Without commenting on by whom or why the statement was inspired, we invite the attention of the people of this vicinity to our advertisements in our home newspapers and a comparison of our prices to those shown in the latest Sears and Roebuck catalogue, a copy of which we have just received.

We select Sears and Roebuck as they are probably the leaders in their line of business. They are good people and they sell good goods but they do not sell good goods as cheap as we do add buying from them the consumer has not the wide choice of merchandise offered by his local merchant. As to prices, please judge for yourself. In figuring freight we use the rates used by Sears and Roebuck themselves to this point, from their western branch.

COMMISSIONERS SEEK ADVICE ON PROJECT PLANS

Twin Falls County Board Asks Public Opinion on Appropriation for American Falls Reservoir Project Financing

Twin Falls county commissioners are anxious to obtain expressions of opinion as to the desirability of their making an appropriation of funds for carrying out a plan for making possible construction of the American Falls reservoir project through organization of a general irrigation district which would include lands for which water would be obtained from the American Falls project. The plan is to issue its bonds to assist in financing payments on the part of canal companies and irrigation districts included in the district on their contracts with the federal government for water from this source.

Representatives of the boards of commissioners of 14 counties extending from Teton to Teton Falls at a meeting convened Thursday at Pocatello by Governor Davis, pledged their unequalled support to the project in every way within their means and agreed to recommend to their respective boards the appropriation of $1000 to the Idaho reclamation project for carrying out this plan.

REBELLIOUS RESOLUTIONS

The Twin Falls county board was requested at the Pocatello meeting by its chairman, W. W. Parish, who served there as a member of the resolutions committee. At his instance the resolutions adopted provided for the recommendation to the commissioners rather than a pledge on their part to make the proposed appropriation. "The attitude of the Twin Falls county board was to be made known to the Parish with the statement that 'we want to play our full part in any undertaking that works to the advantage of all of our people, while we want to be sure that this will be the result of our decision.'"

Governor Davis, after calling the Pocatello meeting to order, mentioned the resolution and the attitude of the board of the federal government in retaining arid lands and making flood waters of the Snake river available for this purpose. He discussed the efforts being made in the states of Washington and Colorado to secure federal aid for irrigable reclamation projects, and dwelt upon the fact that the American Falls project is being proposed for the same reason—the consideration of federal officials.

GOVERNOR PREDICTS COSTLY DELAY

The governor predicted that it would be at least ten years before federal aid would again be available for the American Falls project if it were allowed to fall at this time.

He noted boards of county commissioners to appropriate $1000 each to the project, to cover the Snake river work, out plans whereby funds would be made available at an early date to insure completion of the American Falls project.

The following resolutions were adopted by the meeting without dissenting vote: (1) Whereas, the proposed general irrigation district to cover the Snake river valley in relation to land reclamation storage water, is to be formed exclusively for the purpose of buying water in a storage reservoir and not for the purpose of operating or in any way interfering with the operation or maintenance of any existing irrigation company, district, or other unit, and Whereas, it is the desire of the commissioners in said irrigation companies and units would welcome assistance from every city, town and village;

Be it resolved, That we recommend to the county commissioners that in the petition to be presented for the formation of the district, that all said cities, towns and villages be included, with an agreement that the authors of the petition and the county commissioners that any city, town or village shall be withdrawn upon proper advice showing being made.

(2) Be it also resolved, That it is the sense of this committee that this meeting recommend to the respective boards of county commissioners the proposed appropriation of $1000 to the Idaho Reclamation association at once, and in the event such appropriation shall be made, that it is agreed by the committee present that it would be the policy to make such appropriation payable on the following basis: Five hundred dollars, ($500) to be paid on sight draft of the treasurer of the Idaho Reclamation association after notification has been given said association that the appropriation has been made, and the balance on sight drafts of the treasurer of the Idaho Reclamation association as may be required in the opinion of the executive committee in charge of the American Falls project campaign, to carry on the work.

(3) Be it further resolved, That, whereas, the county commissioners represented in this meeting, having been fully advised regarding the peril resting on the American Falls project, and realizing the importance of the American Falls project as the most gigantic factor in the development of our state and appreciating the gravity of the present situation, as well as the benefits that will accrue from the completion of said project; hereby pledge our unequalled support to said project in every way within our means.

BIG FISH AT BALMY LONG KEY, FLORIDA, WHILE NORTH SHIVERS

While the North is shivering and the grip of winter, enthusiastic fishermen who have saved on their winter coal bill by the speedy journey to the balmy Florida Keys are taking advantage of the phenomenal run of fish at the famous Long Key Fishing Camp. Tarpon, barracuda, sailfin, amberjack, groupers, bonefish, kingfish and scores of lesser fry appeal irresistibly to the disciples of Isaac Walton. Fishing this year has been sensational and many big catches are constantly made. The season runs from January to May. But some catches are caught throughout the year.

The famous author, is president of the 150 pound fighting tarpon or a 100 pound sailfin, give the most thrilling battle in the world. Long Key, 100 miles below Miami, is a splendidly equipped fishing men, women and children, with many attractive bungalows and ample accommodations. It is a coral island with a long white winding shore of coral sand, bordered by palms. Visitors come by way of Florida East Coast of the world, the Key West extension of the Florida East Coast Railway, which runs from reef to reef on massive arches, rising out of the ocean, for 107 miles from Miami to Key West, the southernmost city in the United States. One of the strangest sights on earth and most beautiful is afforded from the windows of the sleeper with the Atlantic Ocean on one side, and the Gulf of Mexico on the other. The fine new Casa Marina, has been built in the quiet old town of Key West, famous not only for its clear many factories, but for the wonderful fishing in its surrounding waters. It is up to the standard of the famous hotels of the East Coast of Florida, and is near Long Key Fishing Camp. From Key West steamers quickly bridge the 80 mile gap to Havana. This ancient city, founded in 1519, has a picturesque old Spanish-Moorish type of architecture, with narrow streets, stately old buildings and quaintly grilled windows.

RUSSIA FACES CANNIBALISM

Head of Swedish Relief Commission Paints Terrible Picture of Famine Area

STOCKHOLM, (AP)—Sweden's premier, Hjalmar Branting, has received a telegram from Consul General Ekstrand, head of the Swedish relief commission at Samara, Russia, telling of cannibalism in the Volga, famine district, previously reported by Dr. Fridtjof Nansen. He says: "The terrible afflictions of the population here force us to address a flaming appeal to Sweden's government and people to help still more in fighting one of the cruellest and worst disasters in the history of humanity. There are places in the famine district where the people endure such misery that it leads to cannibalism. Corpses have already been eaten. They are now beginning to kill people to eat them. In spite of Sweden's present difficulties I beseech the Russian government in the name of human charity to grant the support requested. "The reward will come."

A report from the Swedish relief expedition announced that 19,000 people daily are being fed in the famine district. Field hospitals have also been established in the villages of the same district. The head of the expedition expresses his hopes sufficient support from home is forthcoming to increase the number fed daily up to 40,000. The cattle in the district are dying from starvation in large numbers every day and have decreased since 1920 from about 35,000 to 7,500.

Robin Hood's Proper Name. The proper name of Robin Hood was Robert Fitzooth. The first he was called Robin, and the second into Robin, and the second into Hood, ousting the Fitz, which is Norman for son (modern French being 'fils'), since having been declared an outlaw, he was not unwilling to renounce his claims to Norman descent. That he was really the earl of Huntingdon, as some historians assert, cannot be proved.

FREIGHT INCOME GOES TO ROADS

Effect in the Case of California Railroad

FALL RIVER MILLS, Calif., (AP)—Fall River Mills is on what is probably the only railroad in the United States which turns over all its freight revenues to county officials for road work in this section.

The road, an electric line, was built some time ago by the Pacific Gas and Electric company to haul supplies from Bartlett to its big hydro-electric development work in this section. The company, as highways and usable roads are few in this section the residents asked that the company haul their freight during the winter when the roads cannot be used. The company agreed to this and arranged to charge shippers but to deposit the money received in a local bank for highway work.

Oiled Axle Stop Friction.

Wheels with ordinary axles actually run on films of oil. When the axle is placed under the microscope its surface, which to the eye is smooth, really is covered with depressions and bumps. So, too, with the inside of the hub of the wheel. If the wheel were allowed to run without oil the bumps on the axle and on the hub would rub together and cause friction. This would cause the axle and hub to become heated and expand and slip

FORMER COMMANDER IS NOW A NIGHT WATCHMAN

One Time General in Russian Army is Studying Transportation Business

SAN FRANCISCO, (AP)—Gregory John Ognoff, formerly a commander in the Russian navy, is starting a study of the American transportation business by watching a fourteen hour shift each night at docking lanterns for an Oakland, California, street car company.

Ognoff, a graduate of the Russian naval academy and the Imperial university of Kazan, commanded a fleet of Russian submarines on the Baltic and later was in command of a gunboat on the Amur river. "When the revolution came he was arrested, condemned to death, and released by his own story, he later was released by his family, went to Yokohama, finally coming to San Francisco about four years ago. He is a trichologist on a torpedo boat being built here, later he worked as a motion picture operator, then as a night watchman, and finally as a lantern tender. Ognoff believes that some day he and other Russians of the old regime will be back in Russia and so he is studying a study of the transportation business here while he is working. "When the time comes," he said, "I will be prepared to tell my fellow countrymen of modern America, ideas."

IF BACK HURTS BEGIN ON SALTS

Flush Your Kidneys Occasionally if You Eat Meat Regularly

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which clogs the kidney pores so they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood, then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headache, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness bladder disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts or if you are unable to urinate, or if you are troubled by a sensation of swelling, get a quart ounce of and salts from the famous Wallingford's. It is a reliable pharmacy and take a teaspoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithin, and has been used for generations to flush kidneys and stimulate the system, to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder discomforts.—adv.

TODAY'S MARKETS

WHEAT STRIKES NEW LEVEL
Highest Price for Season Reached Today—General Tendency Steadily Upward

CHICAGO, (AP)—New high price records for the season were reached today in wheat market. Crop damage reports from the southwest, together with the fresh reports of Liverpool quotations appeared to be chiefly responsible. According to field advices, each day without rain or snow in Kansas has been adding to losses and it was indicated that conditions in Oklahoma were worse than had heretofore been generally believed. Opening prices which ranged from 1 1/4 to 2 1/2 cents higher, with May 11 1/4 to 1 1/4 and July 11 1/4 to 1 1/4 were followed by decided further gains and then a moderate reaction.

Corn and oats advanced with wheat, corn starting 5/8 to 1/2 higher, May 63 1/4 and 63 1/2 and then making a slight further advance.

Corn, as well as wheat touched a new high price record for the season. Announcement of a decided increase in available supply of corn failed to check the upturn of the market. Corn closed firm 7/8 to 1 1/8 net higher, with May 63 1/2 to 63 1/2 to 63 1/2 to 63 1/2.

In oats the opening was 1/4 to 1/2c.

higher, May 41 5/8 to 41 7/8 and later there were some additional gains.

Provisions followed the upward course of hogs and cereals.

The fish market was resumed and closing figures were the highest of the day. Reports that Germany was purchasing huge quantities of Argentine and Canadian wheat and that Japan also was in the market as a buyer, did a good deal to accelerate the upward swing of values, especially for May delivery. The fish were strong, 46 to 0 1/4 net higher, with May 11 1/4 to 1 1/4 and 1 1/4 to 1 1/4 and July 11 1/4 to 1 1/4.

Exports Get Setback

NEW YORK, (AP)—The short interest in the stock market, sustained an advance in the grain market, buying of rails and the popular industrial and specialties. Sales approximated 800,000 shares.

Foreign data were the outstanding features at the active and firm opening of today's stock market. Adjustment of export taxes between the Mexican government and American oil companies resulted in an opening advance of 1 1/4 points for Mexican Petroleum, this being doubled in the next few transactions. The strength of foreign exchanges, with British and French receipts at new high levels, prompted further covering of spot contracts in rails, equipments and other specialties.

Exporting the six per cent money rate in the final half hour investment rails 62 1/2 to 63; high class industrials made further gains. Elsewhere selling for profit was indicated. The closing was easy.

COPPER OPENS PROSPECT

Copper is again to be king of industrial realm if indications of enthusiasm in the Montana copper camps and refining centers are a correct index...

Reports from the big copper camp of Montana indicate a tremendous influx of miners, with prospects that in the next six months the entire camp, with its hundreds of copper workings will be as industrious a place as it was in the palest of bygone days.

This means that through the operation of Montana copper mines, the big smelters, reduction works and electro-lytic plants the Treasure state should, in the present year, be the employment success for many men following lines of occupation kindred to copper production.

It also means that territories neighbor to Montana are to have a fair participation in the results of the Treasure state's prospect, for it is but reasonable to expect that dollars drifting into one community will naturally, in some measure, carry over into another...

VISUAL EDUCATION FOR ORPHAN CHILDREN OF YEOMEN HOME

PICTURES ARE SUGAR-COATED LESSONS

JACKIE COOGAN

DES MOINES, Ia. — Jackie Coogan moves than in any other city of the cinema. He is to other children an invitation to a liberal education.

The movies have been called the greatest educational force of modern times. Vivid pictures remain in the memory when printed lessons are forgotten. Educators recognize that the visualization of an idea is the most effective form of teaching. Moving pictures are invading the class room. Their value has been demonstrated in kindergarten instruction. The movement to install them in general school work has become nation-wide.

"Visual education," said Mark T. McKee, an official of the Yeomen and a prominent corporation attorney in Detroit, will be a part of the program when the Yeomen for orphans and half-orphans to be established by the Brotherhood of American Yeomen. It is the most enduring form of education for impressionable childhood. What the child sees in attractive objects, he never forgets. Moving picture machines will be in every class room and will be an important factor in the scientific educational program of the home.

CLAIMS POLICY WILL ALENATE NATIVE PEOPLE

British Government Warned in Indian National Congress that Repression of Population Will Give Trouble

AHMEDABAD, India, (AP)—Mohandas K. Gandhi warned the British government in the meeting of the Indian National Congress just held here that it would alienate the people of India by its present policy.

"I think being and take care what you are doing. Three hundred and fifteen millions will be your enemy," he said. Yet Gandhi was speaking as the leader of the moderates of the congress. Glad only in a lone cloth, Gandhi was the central figure among the 12,000 people, including many women, who attended the 56th annual session of the congress.

Resolutions were adopted condemning the recently inaugurated policy of the British government, which was characterized as a "policy of repression"; reaffirming the non-cooperation movement and calling for more national volunteerism.

Besides voting the suspension of all other activities and "concentration upon civil disobedience," as called at that time, the congress appealed to all its supporters to "quietly and without any demonstration offer themselves for arrest by belonging to the volunteer organizations to be formed throughout the country."

YOUNG IS NOT DOWNTOWNAGED. "The congress called upon all students of 18 years old or more to join the National Volunteer Corps, but stipulated that they must sign a pledge promising to "remain non-violent in word and deed."

Gandhi's passionate dislike of the caste system in India was incorporated in a demand that the National Volunteers should promise to endeavor to remove the "evil of untouchability" and to come into personal contact with and render service to the submerged classes.

Mohandas K. Gandhi, leader of the nationalist movement in India, is the central figure of the remarkable "passive revolution" which has stirred 313,000,000 people of the Indian empire as, perhaps, never before since the days of the Sepoy mutiny.

He has been called a philosophic anarchist, a new Edison. He became more dominant than ever in the campaign against British rule in India when, in December last, the Indian national congress in its annual session at Ahmedabad invested him with sole executive powers of that congress with authority to appoint his successor "in any emergency."

The congress has voted to suspend all other activities in order to concentrate upon civil disobedience, a feature of which was the enlistment in the National Volunteer Corps, but included also a refusal to pay taxes and an attempt to boycott British goods.

ARE YOUR JEWELS NEAR?

Many Precious Stones Now Are Imitated So Closely That Detection Is Difficult.

Rubies, sapphires, emeralds, many other stones can now be imitated so beautifully that it is no longer easy to detect the difference, upon a casual examination. Pearls are made in a number of varieties, and imitation pearls are plentiful and often worn.

While only an expert can determine whether your gems are genuine, there are certain simple methods by which stones may be judged; other physical properties must be taken into consideration by the jewel expert.

The structure of the stone is a more certain test. The optical properties of the stone, however, are the most certain test—generally known as its "refractive property." This can be ascertained by means of a small instrument, known as a "refractometer."

Reflection means simply the bending of the light rays out of their normal course when passing through certain solid objects. The degree to which these light waves are bent is called the "refractive index." In most transparent bodies, including gems, the refractive index is constant and known. Hence a degree of refraction which differs from that established for the species leads to the certainty that the stone under examination is not a genuine one, but an imitation.—Hereward Carrington, Ph. D., in Leslie's.

A DAY IS A DAY.

A day for you and a day for me—sunshine, flowers and breeze—What, at dusk, shall the answer be? Wrought from the blend of these: A dreary look, or a cheery smile Born of the thought that are worth one's while.

A day is a day the same for all. The whole wide world around. The voices of nature pure and call. And beautiful face around; But one must whimper and stoop to sigh. While another climbs on toward the sky.

A day is a day for you, for me, And we can make our day; It holds great possibilities. For all who do not fear it; It may be gold or it may be gray.—That rests with us, for a day's a day.—Grace L. Hall, in Portland Oregonian.

LET EGGS TIME THEMSELVES

Really ingenious Contrivance Assures the Perfect Cooking of the Staple Breakfast Dish.

Since very ancient times eggshells have been used for timing the boiling of eggs. Even nowadays they are in common use for this purpose in hotels and restaurants.

A new twist is given to the idea by William A. Corbett of Winnipeg, Man. He makes the eggs time themselves and, when they are cooked, lift themselves out of the boiling water.

What, at dusk, shall the answer be? Wrought from the blend of these: A dreary look, or a cheery smile Born of the thought that are worth one's while.

Lifts Eggs From Water.

It is attached by a little bracket to the edge of a sauceman, and from the end of it is suspended a wire basket to hold the eggs in the boiling water. A brass or wire tube contains a sandglass, in such a position that the upper bulb of the latter causes the lead balls in place. But this upper bulb is made of rubber and, when the sand has run out of it, it collapses, allowing the balls to run down into the hollow within the help tube. The transfer of their weight to the handle causes the end of the tube to rise and lift the egg-containing basket out of the water.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Chicken Care for Pups. A big Buff Orpington hen that adopted a litter of six pups is owned by a Saskatchewan farmer. Early in the season she hatched and reared a brood of ten chicks. After she left them to shift for themselves she hid a few more eggs and went to work again, when "her attention" was attracted to the pups, who were bewailing the temporary absence of their mother. The hen then forgot all about setting and went over to comfort the pups. When the mother dog went to suckle her young, they reluctantly approached her one by one. When the hen would find herself deserted she would go and hover over the dog and pups. "The dog, a medium-sized mongrel, raised no objection but wriggled away from under her as soon as possible."

Australian Sheep's High Jump. A high-jumping sheep was discovered in Sydney, Australia. He had been picked out for the butcher, and was in a horseyard when a couple of kelpie pups started chasing him. The sheep only went around the yard twice; then, selecting the lowest part of the fence where the top rail had been knocked out, he took a short run and cleared it. The correspondent measured the fence, and it was six feet three inches. The jumper was put at it again, but each time he touched.

Vineapple Man in 1858. The oldest English-made clock known is in the tower of the palace at Hampton court, where it was placed in 1551. It was so complete it showed the motions of several of the planets, in addition to measuring time. Part of the original mechanism is still in place.

TURKEY GOBBLER ACTS AS MOTHER.

A turkey gobbler in Hamilton adopted a whole crowd of young turkeys that had been hatched by hens. He took good care of the brood, following them around all day and attending to their feeding as would their natural mother. If the hens dared to interfere with the turkey brood he would fight them. The youngsters made quite a flock for the gobbler to cover with his wings and it was funny to watch him fight, but he does his best.

Woman's Life Saved by Dog. Joe, a shepherd dog, saved his mistress from probable death, when her dress caught fire the other day, in Dunn, N. C. When the woman attempted to start a fire with gasoline, the dog barked and the woman started to flee. She ran screaming to the back porch. The dog leaped to her aid, tearing the burning garment from her body.

Grandmother's "Kindness" Fatal. At an inquest held at Newport, Eng., on a two-year-old baby, the mother's mother stated she gave the child some food. A doctor said he found blood crumbs all round the infant's mouth, and he thought it was suffocated by them. The coroner said no doubt, the child drew in these crumbs and died from asphyxiation.

Nature in a Frankish Hood. A huffing with the coat of a rat has been caught at Parkville, Conn. Joe Welch, who has caught huffings of all colors and sizes, captured it, according to reports. Why nature engaged it with her own care he leaves for others to determine.

WIG TOO SMALL FOR FRANKLIN

Representative From the New America Had to Appear Before French King in Hat

Benjamin Franklin was about to be presented to the French king on the occasion of his first visit to France in the capacity of representative from the new America. The court custom of the time demanded that one going to an audience with the king must wear a wig of the proper fashion. A court, who had Franklin in tow, sent a wigmaker the day before to take that wig measure. The court custom of the audience. The wigmaker arrived at Franklin's lodgings, measured the poll of the great American fore and aft and around and about and took his departure. An hour before the audience the wigmaker returned with the wig. But when Franklin attempted to put it on it would not fit; he could not begin to get it on his head. "Sir," said Franklin to the wigmaker, "your wig is unfortunately too small for my head."

"Perforce not, monsieur," replied the wigmaker, "your head is vastly too large and quite beyond the fashion of the court."

Franklin appeared, therefore, at court with his bald pate and shaggy gray hair.—Detroit Free Press.

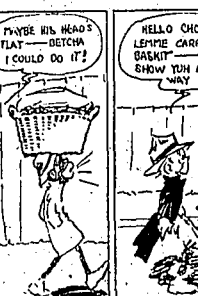

Ideas in the Stars

Some time ago it was reported by a distinguished astronomer that the star called Xi Geminorum, which has long been known as a variable, is in reality double, but its two components are so close that no telescope is able to separate them, and their existence is proved by the wobble in the spectrum. The variations in brightness, it is thought, can only be due to the attraction between the two stars raising immense tides in their molten or vaporous globes, which, through the efforts of compression or other means, displace the spectral lines.

Birds Like Old Homes

Birds have in common with man the "homeing instinct," although of course in man the instinct is not so highly developed. Just how Mr. and Mrs. Bird return to the nest after their winter in the south had their old nests each spring is not known. Their ability to locate the "old home" is simply a part of their homing instinct. Without charts or compasses to point the way the birds are able to return to their old haunts each spring.

ASSOCIATION TO MARKET WHEAT HELD IN POOLS

Proceeds of Sale Today Would Bring More Than $200,000 Into the Twin Falls County Growers' Hands

Approximately 700,000 bushels of wheat grown in southern Idaho last season and remaining under control of the Idaho Wheat Growers' association will be placed upon the market a little at a time during the next two months, according to a decision reached at a meeting of the marketing directors at American Falls, Idaho.

The plan to be used by the association in marketing the wheat remaining under its control, Mr. Alworth said, is to hold it in pools, which is not primarily to hold wheat for high prices, but to feed the crop to the market as the market demands it.

TRAFFIC EXPERT SHOWS IDAHO'S DISADVANTAGE

Way Argues Before Commerce Commission for Freight Rate Relief

Leonard Way of Twin Falls, before the interstate commerce commission Friday, showed in considerable detail how existing high freight rates are cutting down the market for Idaho products and giving an advantage to growers in states closer to the large consuming centers, says telegraphic advices from Washington to the Idaho State Farmer.

Way argued that under existing freight rates Idaho growers would be compelled to take heavy losses on 1922 products.

Political Leanings of Husband Offered as Reason for Dissolution of Bonds

AUTOISTS GIVEN FINAL WARNING

March First is Positively Last Date on Which Cars May Run with Old Tags

Idaho will no longer issue tags after March 1 for motor vehicles owners who have failed to pay 1922 license fees. Under that time, Robert O. Jones, secretary of state, indicates in a letter received today by R. Claudi Stewart, county assessor.

The secretary of state advises an intensive campaign of publicity to notify motor vehicle owners of the near approach of the automobile license "cutoff" date.

"Hullies have been sent to all of the police officers in the state," Mr. Jones says, "and assurances are being given that a red tag will be started the first week in March."

Payments of motor vehicle license fees have taken a decided dip at the county assessor's office during the past few days. Receipts on this account Saturday totaled more than $5000.

RIG HOIST AND TACKLE TO ASSIST MAN FROM CANYON

World War Veteran, Sick in Home, Presents Difficult Problem to Officers

W. H. Daley, a veteran of the world war, was today to be removed from his home in Snake River canyon four miles north of Curry, where he has been laid helpless by an attack of rheumatism following scarlet fever, and brought to a hospital here for treatment.

The veteran's home is on a bench in the canyon 700 feet below the sign rock and is reached only by a narrow and difficult trail. On account of his condition, no effort was to be made to bring him out of the canyon over the trail, but H. G. Jackson, county health officer, and E. W. Hingstler, who undertook the mission, took along 700 feet of heavy wire and planned to hit the sufferer out of the canyon over an aerial tramway, which is used to carry heavy articles to and from the bench.
