OLD AGREEMENT IS WITHDRAWN

"The Lansing-Ishii agreement," said the demagogue leader, "recognized certain spheres of influence and of course all questions of influence in the region of the Pacific are settled by this treaty."

Senators Robinson, democrat, Arkansas and Brandegee, republican, Connecticut, suggested that the four-power treaty concerned only the Pacific islands, while the Lansing-Ishii agreement dealt with China and Japan.

House Committee on Military Affairs Told that No Muscle Shoals Proposition So Far Received is Any Good

C., in drafting Borah's proposal to take over the government's projects at Muscle Shoals, Ala., attacked the lease and purchase offers made to the government in testimony today before the house military affairs committee.

Mr. Lovering was called by the committee at the conclusion of a statement by Mr. Zeigler.

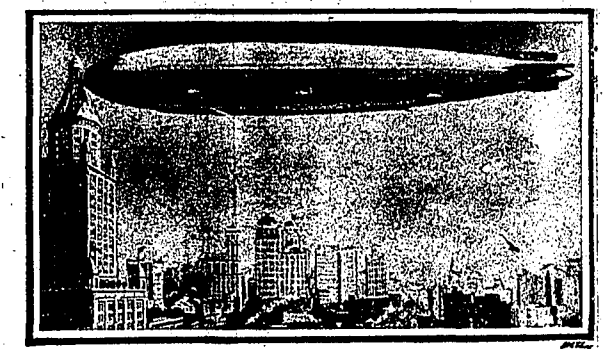

Mr. Lovering said the Engstrom offer was nothing but a cost plus contract, which would make profits of 15 per cent from the government, 10 per cent for the contractors who would do the work and 5 per cent for Mr. Engstrom.

LIFE SAVING IS UP TO RAILROAD

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The number of persons who will die in the famine stricken Russia is almost wholly dependent on the Russian railways now transporting grain for the American relief administration, Secretary Hoover declared today.

During the last thirty days 100,000 tons of seed wheat and foodstuffs have been delivered to seven different ports on the Baltic and Black Seas, Mr. Hoover said, but only 25,000 tons have been transported over Russia's demoralized rail system.

TROTSKY FOR SOLD FRONT IN NEW PLAN

Conference of All Socialist Internationales to be Called to Prepare Groundwork of General War on Capitalism

MOSCOW, (AP)—A conference of all the top world means the ultimate discussion the formation of a united front on world problems, affecting capital and labor, was recommended by the executive leaders of the third international in Moscow after a two weeks' discussion here.

The resolutions passed mentioned the various internationales with which the conference is favored—the second, or pre-war organization—a second and a half, as the organization formed at Vienna last year is termed, and the fourth international.

Some opponents, however, consider that the plan would mean the ultimate destruction of the third international, which would become only the left wing of a united body.

OPINION OF LEADERS WIDELY DIVIDED

The French, Italian and Spanish representatives voted against the conference with "the emphasis on the fact that Trotsky, Zinoviev, Budek and Lunacharsky and other Russian declared in favor of the meeting."

A group of 23 Russian communists, electrified at the new economic system which they describe as a "restoration of the bourgeoisie," presented to the conference a bill of complaint against the Russian communist party.

LIBERAL PARTY TAKES CONTROL OF GOVERNMENT

Canadian Parliament to Open with Old Laurier Followers Again in Saddle for First time in Eleven Years

OTTAWA, (AP)—For the first time since 1897 a Liberal prime minister will hold the reins of government when the 14th Parliament of Canada is opened by Governor-General Byng next Wednesday.

W. L. Mackenzie King, the new premier, is the first of his party to hold that office since Sir Wilfrid Laurier was defeated more than ten years ago on his policy of reciprocity with the United States.

While lacking much of the pomp and circumstance that mark similar events in Great Britain, the convening of the Canadian Parliament is accompanied by observance of many traditions. A few relics of medieval pageantry, borrowed from the "mother" of Parliaments at Westminster, have been retained and probably will continue.

The governor-general, in full dress military uniform, drives to the House of Parliament in the state carriage, attended by a guard of honor, mounted and afoot. He enters the senate chamber and occupies the speaker's chair.

PAGEANTRY IS IN ASENDAWY.

Then a functionary known as the gentleman usher of the black rod, clad in silk knee breeches, silver hose, buckled shoes, tall cut adorned with red and black, and a cocked hat, proceeds to the Commons chamber, where the members of Parliament are waiting patiently, and gives three resounding raps on the door.

The sergeant-at-arms of the Commons, who is also attired in the fashion of Cromwell's day, goes to the door and investigates the rapping. He returns to announce to the speaker of the Commons the arrival of the messenger from the senate. The speaker orders that the messenger be admitted.

In comes the gentleman usher who, after making three low bows to the speaker, announces that the governor-general demands the presence of the Commons in the senate chamber. Three more bows and the gentleman usher takes his leave.

After him comes the sergeant-at-arms with the great mace of the Commons at the slope on his shoulder. Behind the sergeant-at-arms marches the speaker of the Commons, in gown and cocked hat. Behind troop the members of Parliament. As many as can squeeze themselves into the senate chamber do so and the governor-general reads the speech from the throne. Then Parliament is open for business.

The task of a portion of a speaker, who always is a member of the dominant party.

For this office Premier King has selected Rodolphe Lemieux, of Montreal, a parliamentarian of 29 years experience. He served as postmaster-general in the Laurier government prior to 1911.

Election of the speaker by the members is the merest formality after he has been chosen by the premier.

DEFEATED PREMIER ON THE PAY-ROLL

The government commands about one-half of the members of Parliament. The official opposition group, numbering about 50 in a house of 233 members, is led by Arthur Meighen, the defeated premier, who is paid a salary as opposition chief.

An unofficial progressive group of 60 odd members is commanded by T. A. Grenar. This group is expected to support the government on most of its policies, but mainly on the tariff, liberal and progressive "infants" in their behalf in customs duties "for revenue only" as against the conservative program of protection.

Premier King, himself a veteran of the Laurier ministry in 1911, in which he served as minister of labor, has surrounded himself with seasoned advisers, many of whom had cabinet experience under Sir Wilfrid Laurier. Five of the King ministry were in the administration that went down to defeat in 1911 on the reciprocity pact with the United States.

Foremost among these is W. S. Fielding, of Nova Scotia, who negotiated the reciprocity agreement with the United States administration. Other advisers are Charles Murphy, of Ontario; George P. Graham, of Ontario; Henri S. Beland, of Quebec, and Jacques Bureau, of Quebec.

REBUSES COVETED HONOR. Miss Caroline Whitney of New Haven, a senior at Vassar college, has declined the membership recently offered her in the Phi Beta Kappa.

Miss Whitney, who is said to be the first Vassar student to refuse the Phi Beta Kappa, has never believed in awarding high honors to marks to students throughout her college course has protested against rating academic marks in that manner.

YEAR OF GREAT ACHIEVEMENTS

One year ago Saturday President Harding was inaugurated, his pledge summed up—being to restore the government to the people.

His was the job of reorganizing government that had been to all practical purposes inoperative for months...

That was one year ago. Last November there convened in Washington a great conference, at the call of the president of the United States.

Today this administration were to pack up and sail for the farthest part on the globe to spend a three years' vacation...

SEEKING HIGHER STANDARDS

The national conference of bar associations has adopted the recommendation of the American Bar Association that future candidates for admission to the practice of law be required to have at least two years of college work in addition to the law school course.

There have been able lawyers who never spent a year in college. And there have been college-trained men who did not prove a success in the law or any other line.

Much depends on the individual. A college course will develop and improve the fertile brain. Those possessed of sterile minds should not go to college or try to practice law without it.

time before there is uniformity in requirements. The resolutions of the bar association merely indicate a goal to be aimed for, but which may not be reached soon.

THE FORUM

LIVESTOCK SHIPPERS PROTESTS

To the Editor: I have just returned from a trip to Portland, Oregon, where I marketed a carload of hogs and found I had to pay full fare back to Idaho, while the shippers of single carload shipments of livestock in Oregon were getting free half return fare home.

There are a large number of livestock raisers in the state of Idaho who desire to ship their own livestock and must necessarily do so in single carload shipments, and I believe all will agree with me that they should have at least a five half return fare, as Oregon shippers have.

This is just one of a number of unfair practices that Idaho shippers are being subjected to by the railroads. The Northwestern Livestock Shippers' Traffic League, which has a membership of 1200 livestock shippers in the states of Idaho, Washington and Oregon, through its attorney, Arthur M. Jones, of Portland, Ore., has been making the matter of free return fare to the attention of the public utilities commission of Idaho.

The Northwestern Livestock Shippers' Traffic League is supported by 75 cents per car for the entire haul by each shipper to the Seattle and Portland markets. The league is controlled by a board of directors elected by the members.

Every livestock shipper should insist that the commission make a detailed collection of 75 cents a car from his shipments, as I learn the money is needed badly in this work of getting fair treatment for Idaho livestock shippers.

Also believe the livestock shippers should insist that the commission should appoint E. Brett Bagley of Boise, a member of the public utilities commission of this state, to get behind the livestock shipper and to have the commission show how it stands in this matter of transportation rates, which is so vital to the state of Idaho.

Chinese Students in Chicago. Take No Chances on Forgetting Early Training. CHICAGO, (P)—Chinese Students in America say that frequently on returning to their own country they find that after stepping through the portals of scholarship they are rusty on the intricate and extensive lore of China.

The Newberry library possesses about 20,000 volumes of Chinese, Japanese, Mongolian and Tibetan literature, history and philosophy. Several Chinese students at the University of Chicago, however, have found a way of keeping fresh their familiarity with Oriental literature. They come to a Chinese library to read of China.

No Defense By Gilbert Parker Author of "The Seats of the Mighty" "The Right of Way"

CHAPTER V. Dyck in Prison. When Dyck Calhoun awoke, he was in the hands of the king's constables, arrested for the murder of Ernie Byrne.

Driven through the streets of Dublin by a jaunting cab between two of the king's police, he was a mark for abuse by tongue, but was here and there cheered by partisans of the ultra-loyal group to which his father adhered.

The situation was not eased by his stay in jail. On the contrary, it became with a revulsion terribly repugnant to him. He had not long been lodged in the cell when he received a visit from Michael Clones, who stretched out his hand in an agony of humiliation.

"Ah, you didn't do it—your own dear father," he cried. "I'm sure you didn't kill him. It wasn't your way. He was for doing you harm if he could. An evil man he was, as all the world knows. But the way he was doing that'll be worse than anything else is to you. You never knew it, and I never knew it till an hour ago. Did you know your Ernie Byrne was well? I'll tell you. He was the father of the little boy."

"Michael, Michael!" he said, his voice hoarse, broken. "Don't say such a thing! Are you sure?" Michael nodded.

"I'm sure. I got it from one of the boys in the cell and his first wife and girl—one that was a servant to them both in past days. He's been down to Linn since he was a boy, and the beautiful daughter. I met him an hour ago and he told me. He told me more. He told me Mrs. Lynn spoke to him of your friendship with Ernie Byrne, and how she wanted to tell you when and what he was. She said her daughter didn't even know her father's name. She had been kept in ignorance."

Dyck sent himself on the rough bed of the cell and stared at Michael, his hands between his knees, his eyes perturbed.

"Michael," he said at last, "if it's true—what you've told me—I don't see my way. Every step in front of me is black with violence. To tell the whole truth, I'm as fit for a hanging upon Mrs. Lynn and her daughter, and not to tell the whole truth is to take away the only chance I have of getting out of this trouble. I see that."

"I don't know what to do, sir. But I'll tell you this. Now that you would believe you'd murder Ernie Byrne or any other man."

years since I entered that tavern? I can't get myself loose with all that's happened. That Ernie Byrne should be the father of that sweet girl at Limerick and the husband of Mrs. Lynn shakes me. Don't you see what it means? If I killed him, it spalls everything—everything. If I didn't kill him, I can only help myself by believing still more the life of one who gave being to—"

"Ave to a young queen!" interrupted Michael. "God knows, there's none like her in Ireland, or in any other country at all."

"Suddenly Dyck regained his composure; and he took the composure of one who had opened the door of hell and had realized that in time—perhaps not far off—he also would dwell in the infernal place.

"I don't believe they can do it, master. Dublin and Ireland think more of you than they did of Ernie Byrne. There's nothing behind you except the silence of my knowledge; but I'll see you to that."

"You're a lot of faith in me, Michael—but I'll tell you this: I never was so thirsty in my life. My mouth's like a red-hot iron. Send me some thing to drink, please. If you've got it, and send me some water. Then go to Will McCormick, and after that to my father."

Michael shook his head dejectedly. "Ernie McCormick's aye—oh, aye, aye," he said. "He'll be up at this hour."

"I'll fight—before God, I'll fight to the last!"

idea of defiance; but to him it wasn't pleasure in going to Miles Calhoun, for he's a hard man these days. Aw, Mr. Dyck, he's had a lot of trouble. Things has been all wrong with the farm since you were here. I don't know whether any of 'em'll last as long as Miles Calhoun lasts. There'll be little left for you, Mr. Dyck. That's what troubles me. I tell you I'd break my heart if that place should be lost to your father and you. I was born of it. I'd give the best years of the life house could stay in the hands of the Calhouns. I say to you that while I live all I am is yours, fair and foul.

"God and I!" he tumbled his breast with his right hand. "In here is the soil of Ireland that leps up on the heights for the things that matter. There's a song—but me and you about a song; this is no place for a song. It's a prison-house, and you're a prisoner charged—"

"Not charged yet, not charged," interrupted Dyck; "but suspended of and arrested for a crime. I'll be before God, I'll fight to the last! Good-by, Michael; bring me food and clothes, and send me cold water at once."

NEBRASKA MOTHERS ARE ENROLLED WITH CHILDREN

Seven in All Attending with the Young People, in Pursuit of Education

LINCOLN, Neb., (P)—Seven Nebraska mothers, carrying from four to ten credit hours, have become the schoolmates of their daughters at the University of Nebraska. In the case of two of the mothers it is the realization of a girlhood ambition to attend college. The others are enrolled for individual purposes, one to learn American ideals, another to study modern student life, and still another to theorize.

Mrs. U. C. Brecht is the mother of three children, all girls, and now her daughter. The entire family is studying daily and manual laboratory. "Daughter Emma and her mother, Mrs. Emma J. Koch, frequently are mistaken for sisters in university circles. Mrs. Koch is a sophomore, and besides has two step-daughters in College university. Art, romance history and economics are found on Mrs. Koch's card."

Mrs. Frederica Lau received her higher education in a German institution. So she entered the university with her two daughters to "be with Americans and learn their ideas." Philosophy, art history, federal administration, economics, business administration and kindred subjects draw the mothers of four other students to the university. Two of these mothers report it "rather hard to get back into the swing of school work—there is so much to learn that we learned by rote." These mothers report a change in theories—but to their liking. These seven mothers are regularly enrolled students.

QUIT MEAT WHEN KIDNEYS BOTHER

Take a Glass of Salts if Your Back Hurts or Bladder Troubles You

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well known authority. Meat forms uric acid which excites the kidneys. They become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood. Then we get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, head aches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and uric acid.

any disorders come from sluggish kidneys. The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage, or attended by a sensation of itching, stop eating meat and get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with bicarbonate and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate the kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine so that no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot hurt; makes a delightful after-dinner drink; water which every one should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.—adv.

FIGHT ON SMUT YIELDS PROFITS

State University Plant Pathologist Urges Treatment for Spring Grains

BOISE, Idaho.—"Many growers have the mistaken idea that spring grain does not need to be treated for smut," says Charles W. Hungerford, plant pathologist, University of Idaho, Moscow. "Unless he is sure that his seed came from a field in which there was no smut, every farmer should treat all his barley and wheat used for seed. This spent in treating grain is not wasted. Few other farm operations pay as large returns. The loss from smut, for example, in Idaho for a number of years has averaged about a dollar an acre. Formaldehyde treatment which will absolutely prevent this loss costs but 3 cents per acre. The loss from barley smut is about the same and for wheat smut is even greater. There is no easier way to increase your net returns. Why not stop these leaks in crop production?"

Careful attention to certain details are necessary in order to treat the best results from seed treatment. (1) Clean seed thoroughly to remove smut balls. If the seed is practically free from smut balls, it can safely be treated. (2) Sow as soon after treatment as possible, as grain which stands after treatment is liable to be injured unless thoroughly dried. (3) Increase the rate of sowing at least one-fourth after treatment to allow for swelling of the seed. (4) After treatment, do not allow grain to come in contact with flour, machinery or sacks which have not been disinfected with the infecting solution. (5) Measure sacks carefully. Do not guess at the amounts. A little difference in the strength of the solution may make the difference between success and failure.

The following methods of seed treatment have been thoroughly tested at the Idaho experiment station at Moscow and in many other places throughout the state and have proven successful.

ORDINARY FORMALDEHYDE METHOD

For all grains: Add one pint of formaldehyde (37-40 per cent) to 40 gallons of water. This equals one ounce to two and a half gallons, or four ounces to ten gallons. Use about one gallon of the solution for each bushel of wheat and a little over a gallon for each bushel of oats or barley. Wet all grain thoroughly, either by spraying or pouring loose into the solution; or by soaking ten minutes in gauze sacks filled one-third full. If treated loose, use well disinfected cans or barrels for two hours. Sacked grain should be drained and let the spread out in the sack until dry. Sow as soon as possible.

CONCENTRATED FORMALDEHYDE METHOD

For oats only: A new and promising method for treating oats with concentrated formaldehyde has been used successfully for the last three years at the Idaho experiment station.

Use one part of formaldehyde to ten parts of water. Spread the grain out on a clean floor, canvas, or wagon load. As the grain is shoveled from one pile to another, each shovelful is sprayed with a small quart hand sprayer held close to the grain. Three applications of the handle for each shovelful gives about the right amount. Use in the proportion of one quart of the solution to five bushels of oats. Cover grain with sacks or canvas which have been sprayed with the solution. Leave covered four hours.

Precautions.—Formaldehyde vapor acts as an irritant upon the nose and eyes, therefore: (1) Hold the sprayer close to the grain. (2) Shovel the seed onto the vapor. (3) Work from one side of the pile. (4) Have a circulation of air when grain is being treated.

Advantages of the new method: It does not wet the seed and therefore the seed does not swell. Oats may be treated any time before planting. For wheat only: Add one pound of bluestone (copper sulphate) (blue vitriol) and one ounce of salt to each five gallons of water. Suspend the bluestone in a small muslin cloth bag in the water until it is dissolved. Immerse wheat in the solution until every kernel is thoroughly wet. Then dip it out and allow it to drain by shaking a pound of lime and making up to ten gallons by adding water. Dry and sow as soon as possible. This lime bath helps to prevent seed rot.

The above treatments are not effective for the loose smut of wheat or the loose smut of barley. Special methods are required for their control.

TWIN FALLS TO GIVE ITS TO GIANT PROJECT

Committee Recommends Joining in Plan to Form Irrigation District to Finance Building American Falls Reservoir.

Recommendation that lands under the Twin Falls Canal company's irrigation system be included in the proposed irrigation district to be formed to assist in financing the American Falls reservoir project was presented at a meeting last Saturday afternoon of the committee designated by public meetings here Friday to formulate an answer to a call for the Twin Falls district as to the American Falls project.

The committee further recommended that meetings be held as soon as possible at various points in the Twin Falls district in which the whole subject will be discussed and petitions for the formation of the district presented for signature. These petitions would later be circulated generally in each community. All arrangements for these meetings would be left in charge of the board of directors of the Twin Falls Canal company.

PERSONNEL OF COMMITTEE

The committee was composed of directors of the canal company, members of the board of county commissioners, members of the Idaho Reclamation association advisory committee, members of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce board of directors and reclamation bureau. H. Sonner, Wort West, J. A. Cross and others. Its organization was effected with the election of Ivan O. Lincoln, president of the canal company, as chairman, and Carl J. Miller, Canal committee, state representative, as secretary.

Recommendations of the committee, which were adopted generally by the dissenting vote, were made public in the following resolutions:

GIVES GROUNDS FOR CONCLUSIONS

Whereas, three years ago the stock holders of the Twin Falls Canal company, in reply to a questionnaire, voted unanimously in favor of the purchase of 100,000 acre feet of storage water in the proposed American Falls reservoir; and

Whereas, in pursuance of that object the Twin Falls Canal board entered into a contract with the government for the purchase of such amount of water and paid $100,000 on the purchase price thereof; and

Whereas, the deplorable financial conditions which have since arisen have rendered it extremely difficult for the stockholders to meet subsequent payments under said contract through assessments; and

Whereas, it has been proposed to organize some sixteen improved irrigation tracts into a single big irrigation district for the sole purpose of financing their share of the cost of constructing the dam; and

Whereas, we are advised, and believe that our proper share of the cost of such construction can be more easily obtained, and at a lower rate of interest, through sale of bonds of such large district, than by any other practical method; and

Whereas, the purchase of the desired additional water through the proposed district will supersede the present contract between our canal company, and the government; and

Whereas, after full investigation we are thoroughly satisfied that the Twin Falls project will not be called upon to pay more than its just proportionate obligations assumed by said district; and

Whereas, the inclusion of the Twin Falls tract in said district will not interfere in any way with the present management and full local control of the Twin Falls canal system;

Now therefore, we recommend that the Twin Falls tract be included in the said big irrigation district; and we further recommend that meetings be held as soon as possible at various points on the tract at which the whole subject will be discussed and the petitions for the formation of the district presented for signature, said petitions to be later circulated generally in each community, and that all arrangements for such meetings be left in charge to the board of directors of the Twin Falls Canal company.

BEATLE, Wash., (Special to The News)—Doubled because of service in the war, the monthly compensation of Carl E. Ritchey and Rex C. # EXPERT CALLED TO NEW DUTIES

R. H. Smith Leaves Twin Falls to Direct Entomological Investigations

Dr. R. H. Smith, since May, 1919, entomologist of the University of Idaho extension division resident in this district, with his family, left Sunday for San Francisco, where he is to become head of the entomological research laboratory of the California Citrus Experiment station.

Mr. Smith's work in his new position will be in connection largely with development and application of the casein sprayer which he has perfected for use in spraying citrus. This device, experts consider, promises to reduce by 50 per cent or more, the loss of orchards caused by disease and insects.

Mr. Smith came to Twin Falls from the University of California in Mexico, to take charge of clover aphid investigations. He Smith is director of all experimental work in entomology under the Idaho experiment station.

DISCOVERS AN IMMORTAL PEST

In the course of his investigations here Mr. Smith determined that the cause of winter killing of red clover is a tiny parasite now introduced from Europe. This winter attacks all the common cultivated crops in Europe. It has recently been discovered as the cause of a serious disease of alfalfa in western Oregon. Mr. Smith is disposed to believe that the pest worm is the most important pest in southern Idaho for, he believes, it is almost certain to attack alfalfa here.

His month started investigation and practically completed work on the dusting method of controlling the alfalfa weevil, which method, it is asserted, is destined to supersede the old spraying method. Mr. Smith is now spraying alfalfa with orchard sprayer.

He discovered the plum cut aphid and determined ways to control it.

BULLETINS CONTAIN WORK RESULTS

Mr. Smith is the author of the following bulletins which are now being printed by the Idaho experiment station:
