Mrs. Virginia Rehn at work on bust of Matty.

atives... Monday at... 1921... over the arrest of the... Thuku, says a Central... Thuku was arrested... trouble immediately followed. About one thousand natives armed with sticks assembled before the police station and demanded his release, but were dispersed by police forces, who used their bayonets. Early yesterday a strike of house-owners and other native workers was announced and further disturbances occurred in which large numbers from the surrounding district participated. Mobs halted rickshaws and forced all Europeans to alight and walk. The efforts of armed police to clear the streets failed.

Riot Act Read. When the situation became menacing the riot act was read and the demonstrators were exhorted to disperse quietly. Instead they resorted to force, ward the police pallade, waving flags and shouting. Women were used as shields by the men to delay the police fire. Meanwhile military forces had arrived. When the mob attempted to rush the pallade, the troops were ordered to fire. Seeing fifty of their number cut down by bullets, the remainder of the mob stampeded. The demonstrations then ceased.

MANY PENSIONS ARE PAID Over 72,000 Annually Taken Care of Through Government Support in England

LONDON, (P) — More than 72,000 persons in London are dependent on the old age allowance, according to figures just announced. In addition about 10,000 septagenarians are in workhouses or hospitals, receiving free medical treatment and clothing, or under the care of the guardians. More than two-thirds of the old-age pensioners are women. The total amount of a considerable decrease over 1914, although there is a marked increase in the number of women. A maximum of 10 shillings weekly is granted under the pension act. The minimum is one shilling a week. An income of 50 pounds a year disqualifies from the pension benefits. Few, of any, destitute people are nowadays allowed to spend the night in the open. From 1914, when hundreds of homeless Londoners slept nightly on staircases and under arches, the figure has declined to an odd case here and there.

Mystery Surrounds Strange Discovery on New York Farm Bar Silver Worth Between $3,000 and $4,000 Dug Up by Owner

BUFFALO, N. Y., (P) — The police and the sheriff's office today were trying to solve the problem of how bar silver worth between $300 and $400 came to be buried on the farm of Lewis Salmon, on the east bank of the Niagara river near a falls. Salmon called on a Buffalo jeweler yesterday with a sample of the metal which he had turned up with a spade. Learning that it was real bullion, Salmon reported his find to the police and accompanied by an officer, returned to the farm. They dug up 44 bars, each six inches long, three inches wide and half an inch thick. The soil showed no sign that the bullion had been recently buried.

CELEBRATE IRISH FREEDOM Irish Restaurant Keeper of Chicago Picks Original Method of Self-Expression

CHICAGO, (P) — A leading restaurant in the "loop" today is serving corn beef hash to 15 cents. This bargain menu of the celebrated Irish dish is the result of a wage made a year ago by Michael P. Maloney manager of the restaurant. He told friends that if Ireland became a free state within a year he would serve corn beef and cabbage on St. Patrick's day for 15 cents. Ireland has become a free state and thousands of Irishmen who knew of Mr. Maloney's promise today were sending their way to its establishment.

EMPLOYMENT OF SOLDIER IS OBJECT OF MOVEMENT Secretary of Labor Davis Asks Full Co-operation in Interests of Veterans.

WASHINGTON, D. C., (P) — "Full co-operation" with the American Legion in its "employment day" drive next Monday to find jobs for 700,000 unemployed veterans of the world was urged in a statement issued today by Secretary of Labor Davis. "During our emergency," he said, "they served us, offering their all and placed the national interest above their own. It is now the duty of all good American citizens to see that they are provided for. They ask no charity, but only a citizen's tender further service is honest employment. "Work makes the flag fly. Help the American Legion to hang it as high in peace as in war."

JOHANNESBURG, Union of South Africa, (P) — Joe Thompson, president of the augmented executive board of the South African Industrial Federation, has been arrested in connection with the mine strike. SINGLE MATCH SAVES SAILORS

Trip of Suffering and Privation Laid Bare with Rescue of Shipwrecked Crew

HONOLULU, T. H., (P) — A lone match, saved carefully in a tin can to prevent it from becoming wet was the instrument that resulted in the rescue of four of the five members of the Japanese fishing vessel Ebisu Maru No. 2, after they had been marooned 15 days on a wind and storm-swept coral reef in the South seas, with no shelter, few clothes and little food or water, according to the story they told when they were brought back to Honolulu aboard the Ebisu Maru No. 2, which had been sent to rescue them. The fifth member of the crew, M. Miyazaki, the engineer, was washed away and drowned. His body was not recovered. The fishing craft left here last year for Necker island considerably south of Honolulu and after unsuccessful calls sailed farther south on January 18. Ten days later in a heavy storm, she struck a coral reef off Sand Island, near French Frigate shoals. Under the battering of the heavy sea, the sampan broke up almost immediately. Lived on Raw Flesh.

A fruit raft was formed from the timbers and Captain Yamamoto, with a rope around his waist, swam for a bar some distance away. He made the small piece of land and succeeded in pulling the raft after him. Miyazaki was lost at this time. For the next 15 days the four men subsisted on birds they killed and a little fresh water. With their feet matted with mud and their clothes of driftwood, this thin line of smoke was sighted by the Ebisu Maru No. 2, the rescuing vessel, which proceeded to

TO FULFILL OBLIGATIONS

Premier Poincare Declares France Will Settle Allied Debt to the Last Penny

PARIS, (P) — Premier Poincare told the finance committee of the senate yesterday that France will pay all her debts as has been her custom. This declaration is interpreted by the press as intended to correct the impression made by Louis E. Loucheur's speech in Lyons last month in which he said it was his belief that France never would be able to pay a sou of her debt to the United States. M. Poincare's statement is commented upon as harmonizing with the declaration made by former Premier Viviani a year ago and the more recent assurance given by Minister of Finance De Lasteyrie that France will fulfill every obligation.

YELLOW FEVER IS ROOTED OUT FOR FIRST TIME

West Coast of South America Free of Scourge of Centuries Through Combination of Science and Common Sense

LIMA, Peru, (AP) — The Pacific coast of South America is free from yellow fever for the first time in history and a little fish locally known as "life" has been the most efficient agent in the battle to rid Peru of the dreaded disease.

The fish, which will have to be scientifically identified in Washington, was found by the late Dr. A. D. Hasler, a destroyer of mosquito larvae. More than 700,000 of them have been distributed by ones, twos and threes in all the water containers in the houses in the departments of Lambayeque and Tarma. For an ordinary water container of ten or fifteen gallons, two or three fish were sufficient.

No food was provided so that the hungry fish would live on the organic matter in the water. Every eight or ten days inspectors visited the houses to make sure the fish were still living and doing their work.

Bookkeeper Kelps.
The final chapter of yellow fever campaign is being written by Dr. Henry Hanson of the International Health board of the Rockefeller Foundation, which is spending large sums to help the government of Peru rid her territory of the dreaded pest.

Seven hundred miles of the coastal section of Peru have been the battleground of the campaign and the estimated number of deaths is 1000. For months Dr. Hanson and his associates have fought heroically to keep back the advancing lines of the enemy, for at times it was feared that the epidemic would spread south to Lima, the Peruvian capital, and to Guayaquil, Ecuador, but the campaign has resulted in a victory for the health workers.

There have been no cases since July, 1921, but the work is still going on as a matter of insurance. Dr. Hanson has about 20 men working in the coastal region in the south and will continue until about May. They do not intend to leave the faintest doubt when they have finished that there is any danger of yellow fever lurking here. This campaign is expected to be the last yellow fever campaign on the Pacific coast of South America.

TROUBLE STILL IMPENDS

Millionaire Son of Auto Manufacturer Will Step From Reformatory Into Court Room

DETROIT, Mich., (AP) — John Duval Dodge, millionaire of the late John F. Dodge, automobile manufacturer, today was serving the first day of a sentence in the house of correction for violation of the traffic laws. Dodge pleaded guilty to exceeding the speed limit last yesterday and was ordered by Judge Charles L. Bartlett along with 21 others convicted of the same charge to spend 30 days in the reformatory. A fine of $100 also was imposed on Dodge and his driver's license was revoked.

When Dodge completes his sentence he is to face a charge in Kalamazoo of illegally transporting liquor and to suit for $100,000 filed here on behalf of a highway operator to have been injured by his automobile.

Happenings of a Day In Sports

Fodder for Frenzied Fans
With every lot in town filled with kids playing ball, it is high time the fans of Twin Falls get busy and see what is to be done for the coming season.

With the hall park fixed up, the people of Twin Falls will be able to boast of what is called in the language of baseball, a home ground.

There are plenty of ball players here at the present time, and a snappy four-corners league could be formed. A team would be picked from the town on Sundays.

Several suggestions have been offered, but the one about having a mogul, who would be supreme, still sounds like the best of them all. Instead of the players playing on any team that they wish, they are suggested that all players should turn in their names with the position that they want to play.

It would be the official duty of the mogul to pick a team from Twilight League for a Sunday team, the Sunday team to be governed by the ability of the players only.

The mogul would be invested in the power to suspend any player or any manager for insubordination.

This manner of running baseball for the coming season, seems to be about the best submitted, and this column will be at the service of any fan that has a suggestion to offer.

Twin Falls should have some real snappy games this year as there are large numbers of players here at the present time that want to locate in this city.

WESTON VICTORIOUS AGAIN

Idaho High Team Defeats Greeley, Colorado, in a Hard Fought Match

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, (P) - Two basketball games were played here last night, the first of a three-day inter-mountain tournament to determine the regional high school championship.

Several suggestions have been offered, but the one about having a mogul, who would be supreme, still sounds like the best of them all.

It would be the official duty of the mogul to pick a team from Twilight League for a Sunday team, the Sunday team to be governed by the ability of the players only.

The mogul would be invested in the power to suspend any player or any manager for insubordination.

This manner of running baseball for the coming season, seems to be about the best submitted, and this column will be at the service of any fan that has a suggestion to offer.

Twin Falls should have some real snappy games this year as there are large numbers of players here at the present time that want to locate in this city.

Spring Suggestions From Booth's

A Talk On Shoes

By Booth Himself

How well dressed is a woman?

The mark of distinction is in the shoes and gloves. Her attire may be perfection throughout excepting these two things, and thereby the entire costume spoiled. Awkward, ill-fitting shoes or gloves discredit the most beautiful outfit. How often you have noticed this.

In choosing shoes I have, season after season, looked over America's best, which means the world's best, and over all have never found a make I consider equal in fit, workmanship and style to the famous Utz & Dunn. In years of selling shoes it is really remarkable how little trouble this store has had with shoes.

The children's shoe department I have stocked most completely, wide widths and narrow widths, always having in mind shapely shoes that give better wear. If your child or yourself is hard to fit it's you this store is looking for.

I don't think there is a place in the whole country where you can buy shoes of like quality for less price than right here. We have marked them extraordinarily low. I want you to come and try them on. I want you to see what really good shoes are and how a competent fitter can fit you.

"Wouldn't You Like To Be In Booth's Shoes?"

CHAPTER XII The Admiral Has His Say

The admiral's face was naturally vigorous and cheerful, but as he looked at Dyck Calhoun a steely hardness came into it...

He had had his high moment with the French admiral, had given his commands to the fleet and had arranged the disposition of an captured French ship...

"Captain Calhoun," he remarked mockingly, "Well, you've played a strong game, and you've plunged us into great difficulty."

"I dyck did not lose his opportunity," he said. "I've done what I planned to do when we left the French admiral here."

"The admiral nodded. 'We know of your breaking away from the mutinous crew, and of their firing on you as you passed, and that is in my favor,' he can also say this: 'That bringing the ship here was mastery work...'

"Dyck bowed, explained what reforms he had created in the food and provisions of the Aradne, and expressed a hope that nothing should be altered."

"Heidre, she's been badly hammered. She's got great numbers of wounded and dead, and for many a day the men will be busy with repairs."

"For a man without naval experience, you've done very well," murmured he, chiefly because of his reforms.

"Heidre, she's been badly hammered. She's got great numbers of wounded and dead, and for many a day the men will be busy with repairs."

"To be kept on the Beatitude on parole," exclaimed the admiral. "Land or horn, as the saying is, I'm not here to see you on parole or try you by court-martial..."

"I will say here, in the secrecy of my admiral's cabin, that the man I killed was my own son, my own brother, if I did kill him, he'd be damned death by whatever hand it came..."

"My eyes blackened with the dark fire of his soul," he said, "but you may as well say that you're a coward, or a hang me from the yard-arm..."

"I've brought a mutinous ship out of mutiny, I've saved her down the sea for many weeks, I've kept her from being captured by the enemy..."

keep my parole. If I have done you service, admiral; be sure of this, 'I was done with clear feeling... My object was to save the crew from being murdered and fed from admiralty control...'

"You're thinking came late. You should have thought before you mutinied," was the sharp reply.

"As a commander I acted on my conscience, and what was asked for the admiral has granted. Only by mutiny did the admiralty yield to our demands..."

"There was something so set in Dyck's voice that the admiral had a sudden revulsion against him, yet, as a sign of a man of thought, he made a sign to the captain..."

"I've, I transfer you to the Aradne. It's better that some one who understands the business should be in control after Calhoun has gone..."

"I'm an outside door on the north or west side of the house, and is protected by an outside storm door, always makes the room on which it opens uncomfortable in severe weather..."

"I know a man who is an enthusiastic worker for the uplift of the colored people, and I do not consent on your behalf..."

BLUE SLIPPERS

By MILORED WHITE

Copyright, 1922, Western Newspaper Union

J. Carlton Saunders came to himself with a start, as Elizabeth spoke his name. He knew from the tone of his sister's voice that she had spoken before, and had been ignored.

"You asked, my dear," he questioned.

"When you are going away?" Elizabeth retorted, "Isn't it about time for one of your trips?"

"Yes," Carlton answered, "I ought to be in New York this week."

He frowned; it was diplomacy to pretend these business trips a bore and a bother. Otherwise, the two elderly and dominating sisters who were his housekeepers and companions, would feel themselves cheated of the participation of a pleasure.

As a matter of fact, Carlton Saunders, in the great regions of the small town home, looked forward to these escapes into an outer world with secret anticipation and enjoyment. Elizabeth and Katherine were good sisters, annoyingly anxious concerning his welfare.

J. Carlton appreciated their solicitude, while he fretted under the constant surveillance. There were those who insisted that the kindly man might long ago have rejoined in a boat of his own with a wife to share it, had it not been for Elizabeth and Katherine's rule. But the brother in his heart refused this.

Were his sisters not bringing before him constantly possible applicants for matrimony?

"Yes," he answered Elizabeth again, "I must not be in New York this week."

"We will pack your valise," Katherine said, "and don't forget to wear your rubbers."

But when he walked into the New York hotel a few days later, he had left, unconsciously, his habitual address at home. His name on the register was signed merely Jack Saunders.

"Care to give me a greeting?"

"Care to give me a greeting?" he explained apologetically, "we are filled up."

The room the bellboy ushered him into was comfortable enough. But as he turned to place his hat on the lounge, J. Saunders stared at a blue cloud of something had forestalled him there. While all about the small room was the indefinable fragrance of that mystical room, which he had named "Lily," or the stiller room, as just sweet springtime, what was the alluring odor which enchanted his senses?

A tap on the door. Carlton turned guiltily. A woman's face was raised to his eyes and he saw a blue misty fluff cloud on the hanger, but they were not the eyes of a young girl—yet the calm gazing eyes that Elizabeth would have recommended.

"I am afraid I left some of my belongings in this room," the sweet-faced woman said. "I had decided to occupy it when the clerk discovered that the one I prefer was vacated. So they carried my grip in there. I am sorry," she pained, and then, as he bowed to place his hat on the hanger, she appeared and went on her way. But the breath of springtime remained. When J. Carlton went into the dining hall at evening, he saw the young woman seated alone at a small table. He liked the pliancy of her blue serge dress, which was such a different plainness from Julia Well's, or his sister's; and he liked the pliant hat that she also seemingly wore. As he passed down the corridor to his room, it gave him an unaccountable feeling of relief, to hear the woman at the hall desk address the lady of the blue cloud as "Miss Darby." Miss, then she was not married. He speculated about her, as he became his writing.

The usually matter-of-fact John Carlton could not write; he could not take hold of his work; he decided to retire. And there on the floor at his feet lay a pair of small blue slippers, quilted satin slippers with delicate ruffled pompons upon either toe. So, she had forgotten these. They were the sort of slippers a Cinderella of past dreaming might have chosen to slip on in the midnight. The following morning he sank into a chair in a cafe and joining "coffee house" and opened his paper, scrutinizing dotted printer's alively around him, lilac and lilac-of-the-valley springtime. Two very blue eyes smiled over a coffee cup, opposite.

"Good morning," greeted the lady of the blue cloud, "thank you for returning my slippers."

"I travel," she told him upon their third chance breakfast together, "for a linen company. Imported linens. My knowledge is that line was my one chance for self-support after my father died. It's a good business, but it leaves the houseless. That's—no drawback."

"I have a home," Carlton said mustily, "an old place, but it hasn't ground it."

"Not," asked the woman eagerly, "not lilac bushes?"

Carlton nodded.

"How I would love it," she exclaimed.

"I am old," he answered her irreverently. "It was mourning over my bald head this morning."

"So much," she said the lady opposite, "that you quite missed the clear young of your crest?"

When Elizabeth and Katherine received a telegram some days later, they stared at each other in speechless amazement.

"Married," read the brief message from their brother, "bringing my wife home with me."

Comparative Solitude.

"Yes, your honor," said the aggrieved woman, as she dimmed her eyes, "the applicant was absolutely. Why he was never at home."

"And I suppose you had to spend your evenings all by yourself with no companionship whatever?"

"My—well," she sobbed, "I had two goldfish,"—throughout Arc-Herald.

Delicate Revenge.

"You must have made a few enemies in your long political career?"

"More than a few," answered Senator Borghum. "I have forgiven them all."

"That is magnanimous."

"Not especially. For forgiving them I call their attention to the fact that they never succeeded in injuring me enough to earn my abiding resentment."

No Luck.

The Pneumonia Month.

March is the typical pneumonia month and usually brings a high rate of mortality for the disease after a long and hard winter, the system loses much of its resistance and people grow careless. These every cold or matter how slight is given prompt and intelligent attention, there is much less danger of pneumonia. It should be borne in mind that pneumonia is a germ disease and broods in the throat.
