

FIVE DEAD INTRAGEDY OF THE SEA

Two Women Succumb to Exposure While Two More Passengers Crazy by Experience End Lives

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Two of the five passengers of the fishing boat Miami, which was wrecked Wednesday for the island of Bimini and was forced down in the open sea by a broken propeller, died of exposure and two other passengers, crazed by experience, jumped overboard into the sea, according to the story told by Robert Moore, pilot of the craft, yesterday. The crew of the steamer Williams Green, which rescued him last night from the wrecked hull of the boat.

The fifth passenger, a man whose name as well as those of the others Moore could not give, slipped overboard into the sea early yesterday after having become exhausted from clinging to the craft. Passengers aboard the Miami were Mr. and Mrs. August Bulte and Mrs. Lawrence Smith, all of Kansas City, and Mrs. J. S. Dickson of Memphis.

Moore, more dead than alive, was picked up by the Williams Green after 60 miles off shore and about 100 miles north of Miami.

The sub chaser 154 arrived in port shortly after 10 o'clock today after having transferred the delirious pilot from the steamer Wm. Green, which picked him up. He was rushed to a hospital.

Tells Awful Story

According to his disconnected story told during intervals when he was rational, two women died in his arms from exhaustion and one of the passengers became panic-stricken and jumped overboard to her death and the remaining passengers were flung flying into the sea by the steady surge, Friday morning, as a result of their exhaustion.

The incident story of the accident as told by the members of the crew by the pilot before he was taken to a semi-conscious condition, is to the effect that shortly after the Miami left this port last Wednesday morning a broken propeller forced her to stop and she was in the waves in a safe, drifting northward in the Gulf stream.

Leak Opens Hull

Nothing happened until Thursday morning when the hull of the fisher began to leak. Men and women gear took turns at the pumps until all became exhausted and one of the women on Thursday night jumped overboard. A man who was thought to be the husband, leaped after her and both disappeared, never to be seen again. The fate of the man and woman depressed the other two women and they gave way but were supported by Pilot Moore for seven and a half hours, when they died in the arms of the pilot and he gently dropped their bodies into the water which had now claimed four passengers.

Take Turns at Pump

This left until Pilot Moore and August Bulte, vice-president of the Lavaline Flour mill corporation of Kansas City, who took turns manning the pump in an effort to keep the floating boat afloat. They kept this up until Friday morning.

Two-Gun Man Gets Rapid Action by Use of Artillery

Variety of Charges Filled by Police Against Stranger who Shatters City's Peace

LOS ANGELES, Cal. (AP)—Jeter Farrington faces trial in police court today on a variety of charges. Shortly after noon yesterday he stepped into the street at Third and Figueroa, a busy downtown corner, drew two large revolvers and sent a double file of bullets into the air, accompanying the shots with wild yells. He walked quietly into a pool hall and sat down while police sped to the spot in response to a dozen telephoned calls.

STEPS TAKEN TO ENSURE FURTHER UNION SUPPORT

Workers in Unorganized Fields to be Depended on for Co-operative Action; Brotherhood Chief and Lewis Confer

SILVERLAND, (AP)—Leaders in the coal union made deal strike of union miners, set for April 1, turned attention today toward winning 200,000 non-union miners to the walkout, which, seemed assured by the coal operators of the million union men. Calls for the non-union men to be met by the unionists were made Monday.

The plan was decided on yesterday by the general policy committee of the United Mine Workers of America, which also affirmed the union's policy of a general suspension of work with no wage contract being made for any soft coal district until an agreement had been reached for the central competitive field. Deals that the policy could long be maintained in some unorganized fields was expressed by Frank Farrington, the Illinois leader, who voted to support it, but declined to give assurance of work on a contract with operators whenever the strike began to crumble.

Ohio's In Season.

The committee meeting also was marked by a private conference between John L. Lewis, the miners' president, and Warren S. Lester, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. Mr. Lewis announced that Mr. Stone had "proffered assistance," but the union declined to discuss the nature of the proposed aid, and Mr. Stone refused to make any statement.

Mr. Lewis said he had no other conference plans with the leaders of the three other "big four" rail brotherhoods which have headquarters in this city.

INCREASE HOURS WORKING WEEK

Ford and Other Detroit Plants Rearrange Schedules for More Employment

DETROIT, Mich. (AP)—A material improvement in the employment situation here is expected generally as a result of action taken within the past few days by industrial heads and which included arrangements for night shift at all employes of the Ford Motor company, many of whom have been working not more than three days a week, would be placed on a straight five-day work schedule. Heads of other factories have joined the movement to find places for idle ex-soldiers, many of whom have been put to work this week.

The report adds that a natural shortage of certain highly skilled workers faces the automotive industry. The Detroit Automobile Manufacturers Association's adoption of the 46-hour week stated that approximately 3000 additional men would be employed under the new plan.

It was announced here today by Isaac H. Hammar, Captain Amundsen's agent here.

Nine-Passenger All-Metal Airplane Is Scheduled for Prominent Place

Captain Roald Amundsen in the Forthcoming Dash for Pole will Depend in Emergency on Specially Constructed Flying Machines

SEATTLE, (AP)—Captain Amundsen, noted arctic explorer, who returns from New York from a visit to his home in Norway next Tuesday, may attempt to fly from New York to Seattle in one of the metal airplanes recently purchased for his new polar expedition. It was announced here today by Isaac H. Hammar, Captain Amundsen's agent here.

Mr. Hammar stated that Captain Amundsen had purchased two flying machines to be used in his forthcoming expeditions, and that one of them, an all-metal plane capable of carrying nine passengers, would be thoroughly tested by the explorer before being finally accepted.

To Test Out Plans

Captain Amundsen will make several experimental flights in the vicinity of New York, according to Mr. Hammar, after which he plans to start on his transatlantic flight. Mr. Hammar said Captain Amundsen would be accompanied on the trip by two Norwegian aviators, and other of his countrymen who he had recruited to man the team.

Captain Amundsen is understood to be having a smaller flying craft shipped to Seattle which is to be used in making short flights in the vicinity of the ship. The largest plane is to be provided for a dash to the nearest settlement in case of any mishap to the armistice.

ARMISTICE PROPOSALS NOT WELL RECEIVED

Distress Expressed by Press with Respect to Settlement of Turkish Dispute

CONSTANTINOPLE, (AP)—The proposal for an armistice between the Turks and Greeks in Asia Minor, advanced by the allied foreign ministers, was received here with indifference. Distress is expressed by the newspapers of all shades of opinion, which they say the Turks were deceived by the very statements which offer to settle the present trouble. They say there is danger of the Greeks not fulfilling the armistice terms, but instead using the interval to complete their preparations for further warfare.

It is stated that the Turks at any rate cannot accept the idea of an armistice as long as the Greeks retain the lines occupied by their troops in last year's offensive which was started despite a warning from the powers.

TEN BODIES RECOVERED FROM MINE

Seven Men Unaccounted For and Hope of Rescue Following Explosion is Abandoned by Searchers and Officials

TRINIDAD, Colo. (AP)—Ten bodies have been recovered from the Sopris No. 2 mine, wrecked by an explosion of undetermined origin yesterday. According to check, seven more remain in the mine and all hope has been abandoned that any are alive. The bodies recovered so far are burned and blackened and identification is possible only by means of the brass check the men carried into the mine.

At an early hour this morning accumulation of bad air temporarily halted the work of rescue. By daylight this difficulty was most overcome and confidence was expressed that the crew would reach the remaining bodies today.

State Coal Mine Inspector James Dalton is directing crews engaged in rescue work. According to a check of the employes list by mine officials, the 17 men now numbered as dead and missing were the only ones in the mine at the time of the explosion, more than 200 members of the day shift having left the mine but a few minutes before the blast. It was first stated that 18 men were missing, but one of the men listed as being in the mine at the time of the blast appeared during the night.

No attempt has been made as yet to ascertain the cause of the explosion.

VALIDITY OF RATIFICATION IS QUESTIONED

Senator Hitchcock Tells Colleagues that Failure to Act Along Technical Lines on Treaty, Destroys Action

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Validity of the senate's ratification yesterday of the four-power treaty was challenged in the senate today by Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, ranking democratic member of the senate foreign relations committee but was defended vigorously by Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, republican leader, and Senator Lenroot, republican, Wisconsin.

By failing to act yesterday on the "declaration" relating to domestic questions of the delegates who signed the four-power pact, Senator Hitchcock said the senate had not complied with legal technicalities for ratification of the entire treaty. He contended that Mr. Lodge denied that the declaration was a part of the four-power measure. Senator Lodge, however, said he would offer a resolution later, after he had the senate ratify the declaration.

Senator Hitchcock questioned the legality of Mr. Lodge's plan to have the declaration ratified, Senator Lodge replied that there were precedents. Senator Hitchcock said that the legal technicalities were that a simple majority document was a part of the original contract and he thought it was too late to consider the declaration.

Senator Hitchcock emphasized his point that the declaration was "attached" in a part of the four-power treaty. This was denied sharply by Senator Lodge. The Nebraska senator asserted that Senator Lodge had "lost his opportunity" yesterday to have the declaration ratified.

EXPLAINS IDEA BACK OF STRIKE OF COAL MINERS

President Lewis Rests on Proposition that if Sufficient Coal Can Be Mined in Six Hours, Why Work Eight

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., (AP)—President John L. Lewis, of the United Mine Workers of America, today gave his interpretation of the miners' demand for a six-hour day, five day week, being a part of any new wage agreement affecting the soft coal industry. In a formal statement he said: "There has been so much misunderstanding among the people as to the real meaning of the position of this United Mine Workers of America with regard to the proposed six-hour day and five-day week that I believe something should be said that would set the public right on the subject. It has been charged 'by coal operators that the miners are demanding more pay for less work. The principle of the shorter work day does not mean anything of the kind. It does not ask for the six-hour day as the maximum, but they do ask that they be given reasonable assurance that they will have reasonably steady employment six hours a day throughout the year."

Only Part Time Work.
"Under present conditions the miners work eight hours a day only a small part of the time each year. In 1921 they were employed only about 40 per cent of full time and were idle 60 per cent of the time. They were employed only an average of about 125 days in 1921, out of the 350 or more work days of the year. They cannot make a living for their families under such conditions. Last year they earned an average of approximately $700 per man."

The bituminous mines of the country have a capacity of 700,000,000 to 800,000,000 tons a year. In normal times the demand for approximately 500,000,000 tons a year. If the mines had reasonably steady employment they could and would easily produce in a six-hour day enough coal to fill every possible requirement. If it can be done in a six-hour day, why should the miners be required to work eight hours a day only a part of the time?"

Longer Hours Forcibly.
"Many years ago miners were compelled to work ten, twelve or more hours a day, and when they made their fight for shortening of the work day to eight hours they were met with the same kind of fight they are now facing in their request for a six-hour day. But they won, and the country has had all the coal it could use ever since. "The six-hour day is not a scarce commodity, nor is it a menace to the country as some employers would have us believe. It is simply a humane principle."

ANTI BLUE LAW LEAGUE IN NATIONAL SESSION

GAVEL FROM FRANCE FOR IDAHO LEGION COMMANDER

Nampa Veteran in Germany to Send Wood from Zone of Hottest Fighting

NAMPA, Idaho, Special to The News)—When Commander R. D. Leeper of Lewiston taps for order to convene the state convention of the American Legion here the last week in July, he will hold a gavel made from historic wood sent from the battlefields of France.

Boyd Baumgartner, a member of the Joseph Murray post of the American Legion of Nampa, has been commissioned by the Idaho department and national headquarters of the American Legion to secure some splinters of wood from the scene of hottest fighting by American soldiers, from which gavels will be made for presentation to all post commanders of the Idaho department.

Baumgartner, who returned to France about a year ago to represent an American manufacturer, is now located at Wierbuden, Germany, where he has gone into the exporting business for himself.

"I want to be able to function for the American Legion though I am a few thousand miles away," wrote Mr. Baumgartner to Commander Clifton of the Nampa post.

Writing of living conditions in Germany at the present time, Baumgartner states: "For one whose money is in anything but marks, life is very cheap here. We have a very fine five-room furnished apartment for the equivalent of 40 per cent. One may keep a good maid for two dollars per month. The famous German beer is two marks the bottle, or about one-half cent in American money."

ELECTRICITY LARGELY UTILIZED IN SWEDEN

Whole Sections of Country are Spanned by High Power Lines Serving Farms

STOCKHOLM, (AP)—Electricity has conquered one-third of the entire cultivated area of Sweden, according to the Swedish official reports.

If Sweden continues electrifying at the present rate, it will only be a few years till almost the whole country will be run by electricity.

Most of the farms within the electrified area are now tapping the new source of energy, and nearly all the power used in the daily labor on these farms is derived from the high-power lines which span whole sections of the country.

Rural Folk Benefitted.
Large power stations deliver most of the electric energy used in the rural districts, but in many places the farmers themselves have installed turbines and built private power stations, harnessing for this purpose swift streams and small waterfalls on their own properties. These enterprises, however, are generally co-operative.

A great deal of the most arduous farm labor is performed by electrically driven machinery at cost far below the cost of machines propelled by steam or horse-power or of hand labor. Water is pumped for cattle by electricity, throwing machines are driven by electric current, timber is saved by motor power, and farm hands are no longer ordered to cut firewood by hand, because it is cheaper to have even that labor done by electricity. Candles have almost disappeared.

Has Wide Utility.
In many cases grain is dried and cleared by being passed through electrically-driven hot-air fanning machines. It is not uncommon to find on the larger estates electric elevators which lift entire wagon loads of hay or grain and dump them where desired in the barns.

One Swedish estate owner has installed an electrically-operated irrigation system whereby a large field can be watered in times of drought. It is now only a matter of a short time till plows and harrows will be propelled by electric power.

Aristotle in Error.
Before anything was known about the laws of gravitation, it was commonly believed, on the authority of Aristotle, that every body had a "natural" place, and that its normal state was one of rest in that place. Thus a stone was supposed to sink in water because its natural place was at the bottom of the water.

Two Ounces OF MIRACLE OIL

poured in the fuel tank to each five gallons of gasoline or kerosene, by living through heat of the combustion chamber, will lubricate the upper cylinder walls, valves and valve stems, reducing friction where friction is greatest; prevent carbon formation, maintain compression, and save at least 15 to 25 per cent in fuel which is three to five times the cost of MIRACLE OIL.

Considering the facts, can you continue to operate your car, truck or other combustion engine without this upper lubrication when every stroke of the piston against dry upper cylinder walls is grinding away the most vital parts of your motor?

Think this over now even if your motor is in good condition.

PLANT BEETS EARLY

A number of farmers are busy hauling manure, as some of the land is now dry enough to get on to. Moisture should be conserved by harrowing freely.

Where land was in potatoes last year, a good seed bed can be secured by spring-tilling, harrowing, flaking and then harrowing again with the teeth well slanted, to roughen the ground before seeding, so beets should never be planted on a smooth surface.

The farmers are pleased with the beet contract, and are signing up freely. This is as it should be as the prices named in our contract are based on the anticipation of enough sugar beets for a full run at all our factories.

Every farmer should have an acreage of potatoes and beets. The market is here for the beets, no freight, no carting for manure and the initial payment on the first month of the month following delivery. The cash payment from beets will enable you to hold your potatoes and other crops until prices are satisfactory. The beet crop is considered the best crop for putting the ground in condition and larger yields of other crops will be obtained following beets.

GET YOUR BEET SEED EARLY. Early planted beets give the best tonnage and sugar content. On the present contract we do not know of anyone that will not return more than sugar beets, and after all it is money that counts. Conditions point to a bumper crop if we get started in time, so PLANT EARLY!

Our drills have been overhauled, new shoes on most of them. When planting be very careful to see that seed is not being deposited too deeply; one inch in very early planting, and later not over one and one-half inches.

It is not too early to begin to plan comfortable quarters for your labor.

Bill Hart Is Travelin' On After Round-up with Cupid

"TRAVELIN' ON!" William B. Hart's latest Paramount picture coming to the Idaho isn't his pictorial biography. But when you stop to think about it, isn't Bill "Travelin' On," thought?

This is no inimitable reference to the passing years. Bill admits, with out the suspicion of a sigh, that he lived safely through frontier days. He's proud of it.

But Bill has traveled some, from those old days. Youthful cowboy galloping across the plains. Then West Point candidate. Next, by a whim of the Three Vacillating Sisters; appear before in "dramatic production." By sheer force of will and genius, leading man for the most famous actresses of the stage. Because of sincere horror at the way the west was represented in early films ultimately the star that he is today!

Bill was luckier than most, perhaps, but the fate has turned queerer tricks than that.

The really unusual element about his career is the fact that whatever else might happen to him, Bill never married. And bachelors are rather rare in spite of the prevalence of misogyny. The latter implications can be married, you know.

Bill was stunning in his romances.

He rather looked the cave man type with his eyes glinting and his grim determination. Surely a hero to whose cave any girl would climb, were it sequestered in Paleozoic terranents.

But Bill didn't figure that way. He must needs go out, wrestle with the world and landlady, and get a life lease on a commodious office.

We put Bill back several centuries without any hesitation. He has such thoroughly wholesome and old fashioned ideas about matrimony. The modern adolescent on a shoe clerk's salary who proposes to the first blonde slipper who captures his fancy and brings up a family of litter box clerks on the same salary is a creature of foreign psychology to Bill.

For Bill is a Westernized Sir Raleigh. And when he once spread his coat for the lady fair, he wanted to be quite sure he had the wherewithal for more velvet should the muddy weather continue.

So Bill remained a dashing celibate. And even the millennium comes. And Bill suddenly traveled on again—straight towards a marriage license and a minister. The whole world read that Bill Hart had joined the ranks of the benedicts and was properly surprised.

"Travelin' On" is the first Hart picture that has been released since Bill's marriage a few months ago.

THOMAS MEIGHAN, FAMOUS SCREEN STAR, HERE

Ten Minutes With L. Chaney, Famous Character Actor

Lon Chaney, whose remarkable work in "The Penalty," where he played the crippled master of the underworld, stamps him as one of the best—if not the best—character actors on the screen. Compared his work in that picture with the characterization he played in "The Night Rose," the Leroy Scott story, which comes to the Star theater, Kimberly, for two days, commencing Sunday and Monday.

"The characters in 'The Penalty' and 'The Night Rose' are much the same," said Chaney. "That is, both are masters of the underworld. As Blizard in 'The Penalty,' it was more a physical performance than anything else.

"But I think my role in 'The Night Rose' was much more difficult. "It is that characterization I am called upon to express a variety of emotions—jealousy, cunning, amusement, desire, tenderness, satisfaction, etc. I had no artificial appliance to assist me as I did in the former picture. I mentioned that it was more a physical performance in 'The Penalty'; in 'The Night Rose' everything comes from the brain. I am the man who is responsible for everything and whose cunning schemes form the plot of the story. I dominate all the characters in the story because I know them and understand them—from the weak candidate for mayor, to the bravest gunman."

BETTY COMPSON, UTAH GIRL Star of "The Law and the Woman" Has 2nd Interesting Career.

Betty Compson, star of "The Law and the Woman," her new Paramount picture, which comes to the Idaho theater next Monday and Tuesday, was born in the mining districts of southern Utah and as a child played in the vicinity of the great salt and the alkali flats. She was educated as a violinist and went on the vaudeville stage. While in Los Angeles she was seen by a producer of film comedies and asked to come to his studio for a test. She was engaged and thereafter went ahead rapidly. It was not until "The Miracle Man," however, that she made her real success. Since then she has had many flattering offers and finally became a Paramount star. Miss Compson is beautiful and talented. Her hobby is swimming and outdoor sports.

Interesting Comment on Men, Women and Shows with Personal Comment on Lives of Leading Figures of Stage and Film

Charles Ray is going to play the title role in "The Tailor-Made Man." The screen rights to this popular stage play were originally purchased for Jack Pickford, but it has since been decided that the role is not quite in keeping with the personality which Jack hopes to create. On the other hand it is ideal material for Mr. Ray. Jack wants to be a human being, as to speak. He wants to things like "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come," and "Bill Appero's Boy."

It will be the attraction at the Idaho theater next Wednesday and Thursday. Theodore Kosloff and Mahlon Hamilton are the chief players in Miss Ayres' support.

"There has been no announcement of new stars in a long time. However, Bill Montana has been elevated to a star's estate. Just what his first picture will be has not yet been announced, but it is said that it will be adapted.

SUCCESSOR TO LATE PRINCE TO BE CHOSEN

Citizens of Hawaii Vote Today for Representative in Congress—Four Candidates, Including One Woman

HONOLULU, T. H., (AP)—Voters of Hawaii—went to the polls today to choose from four candidates a successor to the late Prince Jonah Kūhiō Kalanianoʻe, who died in January in his twentieth successive year as delegate to congress from this territory.

The presence of four candidates in the field made the election in one of the warmest campaigns in the islands' history.

The candidates are: Territorial Senator Harry A. Baldwin of the island of Maui, capitalist and business man, who was selected as the republican nominee at a territorial convention last month.

Lincoln L. McCandless, business man of Honolulu, who was endorsed by the democratic territorial central committee. This is the ninth time that McCandless has entered for the democratic party, the forces of Prince Kūhiō having been too strong for him at the eight previous elections.

Jonah Kūmalae, supervisor of the city and county of Honolulu and manufacturer of ukuleles, the Hawaiian musical instrument, and pork the Hawaiian food, made his campaign as an independent democrat.

May Not Be Eligible. Mrs. Mary Hanako Atehortu, private tutor in the Hawaiian language, also made her campaign as an independent democrat. Mrs. Atehortu contested for the position in the face of the ruling by the territorial attorney General Harry Irwin that she was not eligible, inasmuch as the organic law of the territory provides that the qualifications for delegate are the same as those for a member of a territorial senate, who must be a "male citizen."

Both parties expressed the view that Hawaii should be included in federal aid appropriations for roads, schools and other public improvements.

REHABILITATION ASSURED Future of Hawaiian Race is of Splendid Promise, Declares Former Mayor

HONOLULU, T. H., (AP)—Rehabilitation of the Hawaiian race is assured and will come within a comparatively short time, declared a leading authority at the late Prince Jonah Kūhiō Kalanianoʻe, whose last official act as delegate to congress was obtaining the passage of the Hawaiian home-ownership law which provides measures for the restoration of his people, John C. Lane, former mayor of Honolulu and one of the acknowledged leaders of the Hawaiian people, held a combination of Civic club and Ad club luncheon here recently.

He declared that the success of rehabilitation depends entirely upon the determination of the Hawaiians to achieve that success.

"Follow Kūhiō, Hawaiians," he counseled. "Only by determination and firmness can our race carry itself back to its old position. Hawaiians (there were 450,000 of our race in these islands when Captain Cook came here. Now there are only 25,000. We must solve the problem of rehabilitation and it is on the shoulders of the Hawaiian race itself. Every kamaaina (old resident) must help also, if he loves Hawaii and is interested in its growth and its future."

TODAY'S MARKETS

Chicago Grain CHICAGO, (AP)—Wheat was under pressure at the opening of the Chicago board of trade today and the July spread was narrowed to around 16c. First prices saw May 1 to 1 1/2c lower at $1.31 1/2 to 1.31 3/4. July was off half at $1.17 1/2 to 1.17 5/8 and September was 3/8c lower at $1.10 7/8.

The trade took notice of Liverpool's decline in the face of yesterday's local advance and was inclined to disregard a big falling off in Australian shipments and orders.

The market broadened with a large trade on both sides. Commission houses and Chicago traders sold on the bulge but July received good support on all breaks.

Some encouraging export news led to several sharp rallies but the market sagged in the closing half hour and final prices were $1.30 3/4 to 1.30 7/8 for May; $1.10 to 1.10 1/8 for July, and $1.10 1/8 for September.

Corn was weak at the opening and May broke to under 53 3/8, which was below last week's inside figures. Wheat prices were 1-4 to 1-2c lower with May 53 7/8 to 59 1-8; July 61 7/8 and September 49 1-8.

Adoption of the Commission Form of Government Would Increase Taxes

Let us not be fooled. Let us not delude ourselves in the matter of the proposed change in the form of our city government. Neither of the changes proposed will lessen the number of public servants. Both forms will increase the cost of city government. Under either there would be increase in the bills to be paid by the taxpayer.

Too Many Elections It is an old complaint that there are too many elections now. If we adopt the commission form of government at the election next Tuesday we will have as many elections as petitions may call for—elections called to enact ordinances, elections called to repeal ordinances and elections called to recall officials who do not please a minority of the people. These elections will not only add to our tax burdens, but they will also divert our attention from our orderly business pursuits, consume our time and create dissension among our people. The time to think of this is NOW. Vote "NO" Tuesday.

Today Is the Last Day for Registration If you did not vote at the last city election, you must register if you would vote. Citizens Committee

BOTH SIDES TO BE HEARD UPON WAGE QUESTION

Premier Hughes of New South Wales Calls Session to Take Up Matter of Industrial Situation in Australia

SYDNEY, N. S. W., (AP) — Premier Hughes is convening a round table conference of representatives of employers and organizations of employees to consider the reported danger of industrial chaos in Australia, which employers' content has arisen through unduly high wages.

"The trouble is that production costs are excessive because of the goods produced," Premier Hughes said in convening the conference. "High wages and short hours are asserted to be the cause of this. The workers have a high standard of living. This is very good, but it is well that they and everybody else should face the facts. High wages can be paid only if the goods produced can be sold."

He expressed the opinion that a satisfactory settlement could be reached if both parties discussed the situation without reserve and if all the facts are disclosed.

Steel Industry Affected

The steel industry has been affected most adversely by high production costs, it is declared. The Broken Hill Proprietary company, employing several thousand men at its Newcastle works, has declared that it must cease operation unless wage reductions of approximately 33 per cent are allowed, as its products are being sold below the cost of production. The union officers replied that if the company cannot pay reasonable wages, they must either shut down or reduce profits. In the same city, John Lyaght, Ltd., largest Australian manufacturer of galvanized iron, has indicated its intention to close this month, involving unemployment for hundreds of men.

The Wallaroo and Moonta Mining company also announced its intention to close its extensive mines in South Australia because the price of standard copper is 67.68 pounds a ton, while it costs the company 85.50 pounds to produce and realize on one ton of the metal.

The colliery proprietors of New South Wales also stated that present wages are in "high gear" and asked for a conference with representatives of the men in an effort to consider the question of wage reductions amicably.

Dallas Grocery Clerks Up in Arms as to Working of Ordinance Passed

DALLAS, Texas, (AP) — Objection of employees of Dallas grocery stores to blood tests for evidence of communicable diseases required under a law passed by the last legislature, was placed on the grounds of the constitutional right of every man to refuse to testify against himself in an injunction suit brought against the city by W. H. Langley here.

The Dallas law party and other famous precedents are cited by lawyers for the plaintiffs in an effort to convince the court that the men who handle food in the city should not have their ears unwillingly pierced by the surgeon in order to examine their blood for evidence of disease that might be communicated through the foodstuffs they handle.

FIVE DEAD

When they were so exhausted they could no longer man the pump. About 10 o'clock a huge wave came along and overturned the pier.

Bolto and Moore scrambled over the side of the boat and Moore fastened a buoy around himself to prevent him in case he became unconscious. Standing on his feet he waved a white handkerchief, keeping this up all day long.

After praying for help, Bolto realized the situation. He took a roll of money containing $2,000 from his pocket and handed it to Moore, saying: "Hand it to a younger man and may be able to come through but I cannot hold you any longer."

Then he, too, dropped into the waters.

Rescue Close at Hand

Moore said also he saved the Miss Miami after she was down, one so close that he could read her name but they did not see the wrecked craft. He said that on Wednesday and Friday he saw planes flying overhead but saw none on Thursday.

Mrs. J. Stewart Williams, wife of a consulting engineer of the Pan-American Petroleum company, was aboard the Wm. Green and took charge of the stricken pilot when he was rescued.

"My dearest darling," Moore said, "I was his mother and kept repeating 'Mother, you made me give up the automobile racing game, but don't take my plane away from me.'"

That divine providence had something to do with the rescue is the firm belief expressed by Captain W. Wachsmuth of the William Green. He said that something happened to the boat on his regular course and that when he did this he sighted the wrecked ship with its sole survivor.

It was dark when he came from the boat for the first time. The pilot might be going below and as he looked out over the waters he noticed an object. Using his glasses he saw that it was a man waving his arms and pointing toward the object and although a big sea was running, lowered a small boat.

As the craft reached the side of the overturned liner, Moore fell exhausted into the arms of his rescuers.

MURDERS SHOCK DECENT ELEMENT

All Ireland Horrified at Latest Wave of Crime

LONDON, (AP) — Michael Collins, head of the provisional Irish free state government, was reported as preparing to leave Dublin for London today in response to the imperial government's invitation to a discussion of the situation growing out of the recent grave events in Ireland.

The invitation called the heads of the two Irish governments to bring with them such colleagues as they might deem necessary parties to the discussion.

The London morning newspapers comment at length on the situation, especially expressing horror at the murder in Belfast of five members of the family of Gen. MacDonagh. They term the tragically worst murders in Ireland since Dublin gunmen slaughtered 14 British officers there in November, 1920.

Recent reports from Belfast say the crime has profoundly shocked the conscience of every decent element of the city, and it is feared more murders will occur as reprisals. Meanwhile nothing has been learned, so far as known here, which will identify the murderers.

Some of the newspapers which in no wise condone the outrages committed by southern extremists and explain that the north has given much provocation, roundly denounce the continuance of violence in Belfast. They are disposed "to hold the northern government responsible to a great extent for having, as they say, failed to exercise sufficient repressive measures.

PACIFIC PACT YET DOUBTFUL

Eventual Operation Depends on Action by Foreign Powers and Diplomatic Agents

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The four-power Pacific treaty to which the senate gave its approval yesterday has still to run the gauntlet of another executive.

Diplomatic representatives of three foreign powers in Washington have been keeping their home governments closely advised of every development in the contest over the pact in the United States senate. Without any formal admission on the point it has been tacitly understood in diplomatic circles here that because of the genuine doubt that existed up to the last moment as to the fate of the treaty in the senate, some of these diplomatic representatives have rather advised their governments that it might be well to defer their own action on the treaty pending developments in Washington.

The British government, if it follows the ordinary course, can give its assent to the treaty without reference to parliament by a mere order in privy council. The Japanese government is clothed with similar power for the ratification of that country may be given by the council of peers, a very limited body of high officials.

"At sea," he answered, with his eyes full of intense feeling. "at sea, was free at last, doomed as I thought, and free in spirit, and yet with a wild hope that out of it would come deliverance. I expected to lose my life, and I lived each day as though it were my last. I was chief navigator in a ship of the line, chief signalman in a fleet of liners, and yet I had no remorse and no regret. I had done all with an honest purpose, with the good of the sailors in my mind; and I lived in daily touch with death.

"I was in the boat for ten long hours, in a shelter of ropes, chief signalman in a fleet of liners, and yet I had no remorse and no regret. I had done all with an honest purpose, with the good of the sailors in my mind; and I lived in daily touch with death.

of nothing? I would go with anything. What was to be, and what I was to do, was in the hands of destiny. No, I repeat nothing, yet here now I give you this to read while still my story of the days of which you know is in your ears. Here it is, it will tell the whole story, for all that I have to say, and understand, then we part to meet no more as friends. You will go back to Virginia, and I will stay here. You will not regret coming here; but you will desire our friendship to cease; and you will not see me more, while the tincture of life is in your veins. Sheila, read this thing, for it is the rest of the story until now."

He handed her the papers, and she took them with an inclination of the head which said: "Give it to me. I will read it to you while my eyes can still bear to read it. I have told you my heart the nettle of shame, and while it is still burning there I will read all that you have to teach me."

"No, do not do, she urged. "Sit here on the bench—at the end of it here," she said, and she held out her hand. He shook his head in negation. "No, I will go and say to your mother that I have told you, and ease her mind, for I know she herself meant to tell you."

What is the lesson of the Master's temptation to the Christians of today? Does it have any meaning to us in the twentieth century? Supporting His disciples, the tempter; supporting His disciples, the tempter; supporting His disciples, the tempter.

He told her the story of the manuscript, and added that Sheila had carried herself with courage.

Presently the woman said to him: "She never believed you killed Ernie Brown," he said, not getting help for him. "But I say, too, that I do not believe you did. I cannot understand why you did not deny having killed him."

"I could not deny. In any case, the law punished me for it, and the book is closed forever." "But you never thought that same one?" "Yes, I have thought, but who is there? The crowd at the Dublin hotel where the thing was done, were all there. I am good; I am good; I am good. I do not believe you did. I cannot understand why you did not deny having killed him."

AGRICULTURE IN FAIR SHAPE
Agriculturally the Pacific northwest has been doing very well. Like California, associations have been made for the betterment of the land in every city in the country, and are the only people that I know of which are sold under the brand name, which the public has been advertising and has been taught to ask for. The strong point in favor of the coast farmer is that the cost of raising the crops and it is not crippled by a sharp decline in any one line. Small herds of cattle are seen everywhere. During his prolonged stay in this section, in scientific potato farming is almost universal. Just at present general business in Washington and Oregon is about 90 per cent of normal compared with California, which is producing crops in a normal condition, favor the two northern states because they have been through the worst of their depression and should see a gradual and steady improvement later on this spring. California, while relatively in a better position just now, must meet the worst of the depression about as soon as the western states. If California manages as well as she has started in stemming the decline she will stand as an unique example of the power of advertising and collective marketing. The stand that she has made so far is a distinct factor in keeping her from falling into the same old groove below its present level of millions 11 per cent.
