RICH OIL MAN FINDS WIFE STRUGGLING IN EMBRACE OF ARMY OFFICER AND SHOTS

EART SILL COMMANDANT KILLED BY JEAN P. DAY

Murdered Man Guest at Fashionable Oklahoma Home of Friend When Tragedy Ends His Career

OKLAHOMA CITY, (AP)—Jean P. Day, assistant supreme court justice and prominent financial circles of the state, today was held under $5000 appearance bond pending an investigation by a coroner's jury into the death of Lieutenant Colonel Paul W. Beck, assistant commander of Fort Hill aviation station at Fort Hill, Okla., who was killed early today at Day's home here.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., (AP)—Lieutenant Colonel Paul W. Beck, commander of Post Field, the aviation section of Fort Hill, Okla., was shot to death early today in the fashionable residence of Jean P. Day, widely known oil operator. Day is held at his home in custody of a deputy sheriff pending investigation.

According to a statement issued by R. W. Dick, Day returned to his home after receiving a number of guests which his wife earlier had entertained at his home. Mrs. Day, struggling in the arms of the army officer, Dick, who is an intimate acquaintance of the family, said Day acquiesced in the situation.

Had Been Close Friend. Lieutenant Colonel Beck had long been a close friend of the Days and came here yesterday by airplane from Fort Hill. He was one of the guests at the card party last night, Dick said, and was left alone with Mrs. Day when her husband saw their friends home in his automobile.

Upon his return home, Dick said, Day peered through a porch window and saw his wife fighting to release the aviator's hold on her. He rushed upstairs and obtained his revolver, Dick asserted, and returned to the room where the couple were still struggling.

Beck made a motion as if to strike Day, continued Dick, and Day struck him over the head with the revolver, the gun exploding. Beck fell to the floor and was dead before the police arrived.

Mrs. Day Near Collapse. Mrs. Day this morning was in a state bordering on nervous collapse and was unable to make any statement.

Day had been prominent in political and financial circles of the state since Oklahoma was admitted to the union. He was a member of the supreme court commission and one of the two men who drafted Oklahoma's first code of statutes. He was active in the political campaign of former United States Senator Thomas P. Gore.

Day is 50 years old and president of the Fourmore Producing and Refining company, and vice-president of the Continental Asphalt & Petroleum company. His wife is said to be a few years younger. They have one child, a daughter, studying at the University of Oklahoma.

The family has resided in Oklahoma City for the last seven years. Lieutenant Colonel Beck was one of the first four aviators in the United States army. He has been in the service since 1889, according to the post adjutant at Fort Hill. Beck went to Fort Hill from Aresville, Fla., in July, 1921. He is said to have been a widower.

DALLAS, Texas, (AP)—A "law and order" mass meeting has been called for tonight by leaders of a movement disincanting "river bottom courtrooms" and clandestine applications of the law. General M. K. Crane, chairman, said the movement was an outgrowth of feelings here.

BOY OVERBROW GOVERNMENT

WEATHERFORD, Texas, (AP)—Expressing opposition to everything that the Ku Klux Klan stands for "as far as I know," Federal Judge James C. Wilson, addressing the chamber of commerce last night, declared that Senator Cullison "did not miss it" when he said "if permitted to continue, the Klan would soon overrow the government."

WEATHERFORD, TEXAS

Judge Wilson asserted that he was as strongly against the anti-Ku Klux Klan as he was against the Klan. "All mobs are bad," he stated.

PREMIER FINDS IT LONELY JOB TO KEEP ON HEIGHTS OF FAME

Lloyd George, premier of the British empire during its stormy days of the past five years. "The higher you climb, the colder and lonelier it becomes," he told his friends while enacting a few days of peace and quiet at his home at Orlicrest, Wales.

LLOYD GEORGE has its disadvantages, claims Lloyd George, premier of the British empire during its stormy days of the past five years. "The higher you climb, the colder and lonelier it becomes," he told his friends while enacting a few days of peace and quiet at his home at Orlicrest, Wales. "Also, it is necessary to deny yourself the comforts of peaceful home-life."

The picture shows the premier with his wife and daughter, Miss Moran Lloyd George, in a peaceful mood at his fireside. But the joy was short-lived, for the premier was forced to return to London to face the supreme fight of his career. On April 5 he will seek a vote of confidence from parliament, prior to his departure for the Genoa Economic conference. A faction of the liberal party opposes the confidence vote.

MAINTAINS HER RIGHT TO TINT LIP AND CHEEK

Arkansas School Girl Asks Court to Annul Rule of School Board—Forbidding Use of Cosmetics

CORNING, Ark., (AP)—The "lipstick" case of Knobel, Ark., in which Miss Pearl Pughley, 15 years old and pretty, seeks a writ of mandamus to set aside rules of the Knobel school board forbidding students to use cosmetics, was heard today by the state supreme court.

Is Dismissed from School. Miss Pughley was dismissed from the elementary school at Knobel because she violated the rules, according to N. E. Hicks, principal of the school. The girl and her friends claim that she only had talcum powder on her face.

National notoriety has been given the case, and Miss Pughley says she has received thousands of letters from persons sympathizing with her on the question. She also declared that a moving picture concern offered her $1000 a week to enter the movies. She has the offer under consideration, she added.

The rules were promulgated by the school board last August at the beginning of the school term at Knobel, and the case has been called up several times but each time something delayed it.

Board Claims Power. It is reported that the school board would contend in court that the question is not for the courts to decide but is solely under the jurisdiction of the board.

J. W. Moore, attorney for the girl, stated that "Miss Pughley has had no notice from the school board that her suspension has been withdrawn, and I do not believe that the contention of the board will be upheld in court."

SLIPPING SNOW HALTS TRAFFIC

Slides in Bitterroot Mountains Cover Northern Pacific and Milwaukee Railway Tracks for Miles

BUTTE, Mont., (AP)—Snow slides in Montana today had resulted in road death and in delay to railroad traffic. The death occurred near St. Regis, where a slide was reported to have covered the Northern Pacific railroad tracks to a depth of 18 feet in one place. Slides extending several miles stopped main line operations of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad and made impossible operation over the Wallace spur of the Northern Pacific between Saltee and St. Regis, Mont., according to word received here. The affected area is in the Bitterroot mountains near Montana-Idaho state line.

It was stated that no passenger trains were caught between slides but that probably several days would elapse before traffic could be resumed.

POLICE MEET TROUBLES IN STRIKE ZONE

Officers Called Out to Disperse Crowd Endeavoring to Influence Non-Union Men—Mines Wires Cut

PITTSBURGH, Pa., (AP)—First disorders in the western Pennsylvania coal strike district were reported from Fayette and Washington counties this morning when the authorities stated, high tension electric wires, carrying current for coal mines, had been cut, and a detail of the state police had been called out to disperse a crowd endeavoring to induce non-union men to leave their work.

WRECKAGE MINER'S HOME

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., (AP)—An explosion which police said apparently was caused by dynamite damaged the home of Carlo Chiraco in North Colorado Springs at two o'clock this morning. The explosion broke all the windows in the house and tore a large hole in the front yard but no one was injured. Chiraco is a non-union mine employed at the Pikeview mine near here.

WITHHOLD STRIKE BENEFITS

PITTSBURGH, Pa., (AP)—Payment of benefits to union miners on strike in the Pittsburgh district is a question for the future district officers of the United Mine Workers said today. Approximately 14,000 of the total membership of 43,000 miners in the district have been out of employment during the past year. It was stated, and considerable relief work has been necessary among them. This will be continued. All district officers, it was added, are now without salaries, having donated their services to the union for the duration of the strike.

REB RAY OF HOPE

NEW YORK, (AP)—Strike leaders announced here today that the anthracite miners' general scale committee would meet in New York tomorrow to act on the reported offer of several independent producers to grant the strikers' 10 wage demands immediately if they would return to work.

Acceptance of these offers, halted by union men as "the first break in the ranks of the operators" may result in the negotiation of separate contracts and re-opening of the mines affected, according to district presidents of the United Mine Workers.

Some of the 40 delegates to the three district unions composing the policies committee arrived here today. C. J. Golden, president of district No. 9, at Shamokin, said that at least one anthracite mine in the United States is operating, regardless of the strike.

It is the mine of the Philadelphia and Reading Coal company at Loust Gap, Pa., where for three months 30 men have been digging frantically in search of a mine, Stanley Zalkin, who disappeared in the anthracite hard coal strike early in January.

Knowledge of this violation of the suspension order became general when Mr. Golden, before the wage negotiations committee, asked the joint consent of miners and operators to continue the strike work while the strike is in progress.

Nine hundred tons of anthracite have been removed from the scene of the collapse of shaft walls in the effort to uncover Zalkin's body. Mr. Golden estimated that the work goes on, he said, "but the strike work will be the same work would continue at the rate of about 20 tons a day."

LEWIS CONTINUES TESTIMONY

WASHINGTON, D. C., (AP)—Miners' demands for a six-hour day and five-day week—issues involved in the international coal strike—were described by John J. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, in continuing his testimony today before a house committee, as largely a move to force regularity of employment.

Representative Black, democrat, of Texas, declared that "while wages of anthracite miners now can purchase 18 per cent more than they could in 1920, the purchasing power of the farmer in his territory has been cut 50 per cent since 1920," and that "the industrial and transportation workers can hold withstand. All pressure to have them take some of the loss too."

"It is well to remember that during the war farmers got the advantage of great inflation in their prices and Mr. Lewis replied, "while we contend that mine workers were never able to get the full increase in living

OFFER $250,000 FOR SEASON OF OPERATIC SONGS

Charles L. Wagner Bids High for the Services of Mary Garden, Director and Prima Donna

SAN FRANCISCO, (AP) — Mary Garden, director and prima donna of the Chicago opera company, which is appearing here, has received from Charles L. Wagner her former manager, an offer of $250,000 for a season's concert tour, and if the opera company would have her it must meet that figure, according to a statement received to Miss Garden's secretary by The Chronicle today.

The diva's secretary, according to the newspaper, stated for Miss Garden that she "had no plans for her operatic future." It was reported he would await the outcome of a conference with the directors of the Chicago Opera association to be held after April 23, when the company's tour will end. "In her present frame of mind," added the purported statement, Miss Garden is willing to continue with the Chicago Grand Opera company as a star and without the authority of a director general. In such a contingency, Miss Garden would meet the Chicago Opera association to meet the contract which has been offered to her by Mr. Wagner.

Miss Garden has been ill since her arrival here, but is reported practically recovered and is expected to sing later in the week.

CLEVELAND WRECKS HER FAMOUS OLD BUILDINGS

Razes Historic Structures to Make Room for New Five Acre Union Station

CLEVELAND, O., (AP) — The biggest wrecking job in Cleveland's history—the razing of every building, save one in the area bounded by Prospect avenue, Ontario street, Vinegar Hill, Canal road and West Third street, to make room for Cleveland's new union station on the Public Square—has been started.

When it is completed half a dozen famous old landmarks of historic interest and more than a score of other structures of various styles will have been demolished and more than five acres of land in the very heart of Cleveland will stand as barren as in the day when the cat bank of the Cuyahoga river was grazing land.

The wrecking job is the first step in the 1922 field program of the Cleveland Union Terminal company to construct the new station in the heart of downtown Cleveland, estimated cost of which ranges up to $20,000,000.

An expenditure of $12,000,000 during the first year of work on the new station is being contemplated, according to O. P. Van Sweringen, president of the terminal's company. Thousands of men will be given employment when the work on the depot gets well under way, he said.

DR. PARK TO SPEAK. KANSAS CITY, Mo., (AP) — Dr. Marian Edwards Park, newly elected president of Bryn Mawr college, Bryn Mawr, Pa., will be one of the principal speakers at the 1922 convention of the American Association of University Women, which will be held here April 5 to 9.

BAND PRODUCES SPURIOUS MONEY

International Organization of Counterfeiters Operating on Extensive Scale

BERLIN, (AP) — A band of international counterfeiters with branch offices in almost every European country, America and Australia has established headquarters in Berlin, say police and Peichelsbank investigators. Models of half a dozen countries are being manufactured here. A score of arrests have been made but authorities say the band is still functioning.

In addition there have been many arrests of counterfeiters operating alone, making either German or American money. American dollars and $10 notes are favorite productions of the counterfeiters. German 20, 100 and 1000-mark notes also are widely counterfeited.

Counterfeiters of the German money usually dispose of the German money counterfeited here in a foreign country—France, Holland, Belgium, Norway and Sweden. The foreign money made in Germany is marketed here.

One of the counterfeiters arrested was the proprietor of a large hotel in Amsterdam who posed as a pleasure-seeker and lived elegantly in the best hotels.

A German counterfeiter of 100-mark notes was employed as a mechanic in a big artificial ice skating rink here. He established his workshop in the attic of the "ice palace," and surrounded it with electric wires so arranged that unexpected entrance would cause an explosion in the "mint" and destroy the "evidence."

The proprietor of the rink watched him and informed the police who cut the wires, entered and found the mechanic busy printing money.

The Service Is Yours—

WHILE the plant of The Telephone Company belongs to the stockholders, the Service belongs to the public; and it is under the control of the public to a much larger extent than it could possibly be controlled by the Company independently of the public.

As a matter of fact, the telephone organization is simply an agency through which a community serves itself. If this agency is hampered by unreasonable legislation, restrictions or requirements, or by inadequate revenues, or by unjust burdens of taxation, the ability of the agency to properly function is impaired if not wholly destroyed.

Because of the requirements of the public for efficient and abundant telephone service, the public has a very vital interest in the financial health and general well-being of the Company.

With your whole-hearted moral and financial support the Company can continue to give you the quality and quantity of service you require.

Freedom's Dignifying

The free institutions of ancient Greece and Rome had long been dead when our Anglo-Saxon forefathers, on the little island in the North sea, began holding their whetstone assembly of the wise men of the Northland. In the early days of the Reformation, when freedom was in flower, national affairs were dealt with by a national council, composed of the high officers of state and feudal barons, and presided over by the king—Mount Pleasant Family Herald.

World's Debt to American Sailor. The famous Wind and Current Charts, published by Lieut. Glacier Movements Differ. The most rapidly moving glacier of the Alps, the Mer de Glace, travels at the rate of 35 1/2 inches a day. The slowest Alpine glaciers travel less than an inch a day. Much faster movements are found in the polar regions. The Upernivik glacier, in Greenland, travels 60 feet a day near the end where it reaches the sea.

Such folks know real quality—and DEMAND it. They prefer Camels because Camels give them the smoothest, mellowest smoke they can buy—because they love the mild, rich flavor of choicest tobaccos, perfectly blended—and because Camels leave NO CIGARETTY AFTERTASTE.

Like every man who does his own thinking, you want fine tobacco in your cigarettes. You'll find it in Camels.

And, mind you, no flashy package just for show. No extra wrappers! No costly frills! These things don't improve the smoke any more than premiums or coupons.

HOLD-OUT IS WILLING TO WAIVE THREE YEAR DEMAND

"This" according to dispatches received here, was the report Ivy Wingo delivered to Manager Moran yesterday when the team reassembled at Indianapolis.

Wingo, who had a long talk with Rowsh, eventually said the outfielder seemed to be set on this amount, notwithstanding the declaration of the team, through its board of directors, that no advance over the sum he received last season would be paid.
The hold is broken for games with the Hoosiers at Indianapolis today and tomorrow.

DODGERS ANNEX AN EASY GAME

Win Mason and Dixon Championship by Defeat of Yanks in 12 to 0 Victory

NEW YORK, (AP)—Baseball enthusiasts of Brooklyn today were convinced their National league team had won the Mason and Dixon championship. The Dodgers were at Memphis to resume combat with the New York Americans, whom they defeated 12 to 0 yesterday at Little Rock.
Ruehrer pitched four innings, being touched for only one safety. Grimes, who appeared for the first time this season, held the American leaguers to four hits. Carl Mays had the doubtful distinction of being the first Yankee pitcher to be batted out of the box. When Carl saw Lefty O'Doul coming to the rescue in the fourth inning he threw the ball over the grandstand. Babe Ruth went hitless again.

The Giants, having disposed of the Memphis team in five straight starts, were at Knoxville, Tenn., today for the continuation of their series with the Chicago White Sox.

SOX PLAY LIFELESS GAME

CHICAGO, (AP)—While the Chicago Nationals continued their slide back to the middle west from California, the scene of their spring training activities, the Americans were in Knoxville, Tenn., ready to resume hostilities with the New York Giants.
The White Sox played a listless exhibition game yesterday with Chattanooga and won, 8 to 3.

WANTED—REAL PITCHING.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., (AP)—After rain at Independence, Kan., yesterday necessitated the cancellation of a game with the southwestern leaguers, the Pittsburgh Pirates left for Miami, Oklahoma. Two games with the Denver Western league team, in training there, are booked for today and tomorrow.
The Pirates, who've stated, are anxious to stack up against some real flinging, but expect lively competition from now until the opening of the season at St. Louis April 12.

ASK WAIVERS ON YOUNG

DETROIT, Mich., (AP)—Waivers have been asked by Manager Cobb of the Detroit Americans on "Pop" Young, veteran second baseman.

In announcing this decision to drop Young, Cobb said he wished to fill the place at second permanently and was doubtful whether the veteran would regain his old time form. Young's erratic throwing which last season kept him out of the regular lineup for a time developed again in a game at Augusta Saturday.
Cobb called for waivers last night. Should he be passed up by the majors, Young says he probably will spend a season in the Pacific coast league if it can be arranged, then retire.

BRAVES TAKE GAME

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The Boston Braves and Washington took up for the ninth game of their series today at Columbia, S. C. Good pitching by Oeschger and Watson helped the Braves to their third win in the first game of their homeward journey at Charleston yesterday.
A demonstration of loss fielding in right field during the Braves series by Leon Spolin, the recruit of whom much was expected this year on the basis of his showing last fall, is causing much doubt in Manager Milan's mind as to whether he will be there in the opening game. It appears, in fact, to be better than an even bet that Earl Smith, who has made an excellent showing this spring, will fill that job.

FARMERS!

March 28, 1922.

TO OUR FRIENDS:

We are informed by the Sugar Company Officials that the farmers on this tract are not signing up beet contracts to any great extent, and that unless an acreage sufficient to operate to capacity is secured, the factory will not run this fall.

We do not know whether or not you are aware of the enormous advantage which the factory is to the community. The Sugar Company distributed locally last year approximately $700,000.00 in payment for beets and factory payrolls. The factory gives employment to a great many farmers and this employment comes at a time when they otherwise would be idle, in fact, it is the only payroll of any considerable size which we have locally.

The feeding of by-products (pulp and molasses) creates a market for our hay, and enables every beet grower to feed more cheaply dairy stock, cattle and sheep.

The Sugar Company pays locally about $60,000.00 in taxes yearly which is a considerable advantage to this district. The fact of having a Sugar Factory in our community increases the value of our land, consequently increasing your credit value.

From the above you can readily see that to lose the Sugar Factory would be a calamity.

The tendency this year is to plant an abnormal acreage of potatoes over the entire country. Our freight rate puts us at a disadvantage, and given a normal potato crop we believe that the Idaho potato grower will have difficulty in finding a market and the probable inability of the railroads to provide sufficient cars will necessitate the storing of a large part of our crop.

We believe it would be very much safer farming if part of the acreage intended for potatoes would be planted to beets as diversified farming is invariably more successful.

The Sugar Company informs us that they will arrange to finance the hand labor on the crop.

We would earnestly advise the planting of part of your acreage to sugar beets where good ground is available.

We do not assume to dictate the business of our customers, but hope you will realize the vast importance of retaining the Sugar Company in this community.

Very truly yours,

COUNTRY CLUB INCORPORATION PAPERS FILED

Non-Profit Corporation Formed by Twin Falls Men to Develop Blue Lakes Ranch for Recreational Purposes

Articles of incorporation for the Blue Lakes Country club, whose directors hold a contract for the purchase from Mrs. Florence Perrino of the famous Blue Lakes ranch in Snake river canyon just north of Twin Falls, were today filed in the office of the county recorder.

The directors named are C. E. Booth, L. L. Breckenridge, J. B. Busell, E. J. Osterander, John W. Graham, Leonard E. Smith, L. T. Wright, Arthur L. Swain and J. S. Reed.

No Capital Stock

Purpose of the corporation, which is organized on a non-profit basis with no capital stock, as set forth in its articles, are "to establish, maintain and promote certain improvements, articles and recreation."

It is authorized under its articles to construct and establish golf courses, both houses, dance halls, club houses, baseball grounds, hot-houses, lunch-rooms and other structures deemed necessary for the attainment of its objects.

Membership Limited

Membership in the club is limited to 150 persons, although this number is susceptible of being increased. At the time of the organization of the club, February 1, there were 12 members on its rolls. Since that time several additional applications for membership have been received. It is said to be the plan of the incorporators to limit the membership to 125 residents of Twin Falls and 25 residents of other towns.

Membership in the club does not convey to the member a possessory interest in the club's property.

The site of the corporation is to be about 50 acres. At the expiration of that time, it is suggested by members of the board of directors, the property may be turned over gratuitously to the city of Twin Falls.

It is the purpose of the directors to expend approximately $10,000 each year for improvement of the area leading down the canyon walls on either side of the river to the Blue Lakes property. Plans have been prepared for construction of roadways of minimum grade, 18 feet in width, and enclosed with rock.

Older Uses Acetylene Torch Enabling Fireman to Reach the Blaze

HOBOKEN, N. J., (AP) — The former United States army transport Mongolia veteran of many adventures on the seas escaped destruction by fire at a local drydock today through the efforts of firemen assisted materially by T. Waldron of Jersey City, an expert in the use of acetylene torch.

When the blaze was discovered in the engine-room, Waldron placed a wet towel around his head, grabbed an acetylene torch, plunged through clouds of smoke and burned a hole in a steel bulkhead through which a stream of water were poured by lighthouse firemen.

The prompt flooding of the engine-room prevented the flames from spreading to the great tanks containing thousands of gallons of oil.

TOMB RECEIVES BODY OF HENRY WATTERSON

Noted Journalist Laid to Rest in Vault Beneath an Undecorated Shaft

LOUISVILLE, Ky., (AP) — Honor to Henry Watterson, dean of American journalists and veteran editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal, who died in Jacksonville, Fla., December 23, was rendered at his funeral services here today. The body arrived last night. It was met by a committee of citizens and taken to a mortuary chapel where it rested, linked high with floral offerings from persons and organizations in many parts of the United States, until time for the funeral ceremony at the First Christian church.

A vault in Cave Hill cemetery, designed to rest a coffin for a thousand years, had been erected to receive Mr. Watterson's body. At the head of the grave stands a simple granite shaft chosen by Mr. Watterson several months before his death. It bore no inscription other than Mr. Watterson's name and that of his widow.

CALLS FREIGHT TARIFF UNJUST

Utilities Commission Orders Short Line to Revise the Branch Line Rates

BOISE—Proposed freight rates from distributing points on the Mackay, Aberdeen and Ketchikan branch lines are unjust and the Oregon Short Line must file a supplemental tariff correcting the discrimination, the state utilities commission decided at the conclusion of a public hearing here Monday.

The hearing was called as a result of a complaint filed by the Boise Chamber of Commerce charging discrimination against several towns in Idaho in favor of Poetelle. The hearing brought out that Idaho Falls was discriminated against in favor of Poetelle on the Mackay and Aberdeen branches and that Boise was treated unjustly as regards to the shipment of commodities on the Ketchikan branch from Shoshone.

The commission further decided that a hearing should be held at some time in the near future to consider the matter of effecting a scale of class and commodity rates for the state, and the secretary of the commission was instructed to give notice to all railroads in the state together with a general notice to commercial bodies and shippers.

Leonard Way, secretary of the Southern Idaho Traffic association, appeared as intervenor at Monday's hearing, to urge revision of intrastate freight rates to place all shipping points on a common basis.

The witness let his family and his flock in with Trina Handberg, a member of his congregation. They returned a few months later.

Then the parents of the girl sued him for $10,000 and he sold his home to settle the suit. He was relieved of his clerical post but it was testified in court today that many of his old congregation now attend services which he conducts at his residence.

BUILDERS MUST RID THEMSELVES OF UGLY TAINT

Secretary Hoover Warns That the Construction Industry is Hampered by Unfair and Unequal Practices

CHICAGO, (AP) — The practices of a small minority in the construction industry are unendurable and must be cleaned up, if business and commerce demand protection "from the steady invasion of regulatory bands of the government," said Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, in his address today before the fifth annual meeting of the National Association of Construction Industries.

The secretary said that during the past ten months the department of commerce has given intensive study to the situation in the construction industry and he made the comment: "This situation must be cleaned up."

Wastes A Lot of Money

Construction reached by the department, Mr. Hoover summarized, as follows: That the industry needs cleaning and the decent men in the industry must organize to do it; that the great indirect wastes which are beyond the control of any individual man or concern must be eliminated by associated action and to accomplish this ends there is needed a clearer organization of the trades, not the destruction of the trades organization.

"In the matter of business and labor practices of the industry," said Mr. Hoover, "I need not refer the repeated exposures, in all directions that have shaken the public during the past 12 months. There are other things that have not yet been exposed. I have no time for strong statements. I am glad to have an inspiration for constructive remedies."

"Let us take a single material—lumber. Several leading manufacturers inform me that the time has come when we must have a guarantee against short deliveries and fraudulent alteration of quality. The product of the honest mill must reach the consumer as the manufacturer wishes his product to reach the consumer. Also, he must have protection from the crooked competitor. Many commodities are measured by quantity and grade and the inspection and rules of our voluntary trade associations. If you think it wiser to do so we could probably secure the enactment of a pure food law in all building materials. I would much rather see the trade associations themselves establish their own standards."

"We need a cleaning up in the statistical work of the trade associations. Some kind of this work stand condemned in the courts as a restraint of trade and against public interest, yet that kind of statistics are in the interest of the public as well."

costs represented in their wage advances."

"Even if that is so," Mr. Lewis replied, "the minds never accepted the principle that wage increases should be tied-down to the bare cost of living. That theory would chain workers to a fixed economic level for always."

Minors' day wages in Mr. Lewis estimated at $2.04, while the "brandy wage" under present conditions was placed at $7.50.

MINES PRODUCE GOAL

CHICAGO, (AP) — Reports received by the Illinois Coal Operators association from 14 mining districts in sections from Kentucky, West Virginia, Virginia and Pennsylvania say that the non-union mines in those districts are working full speed and are in no way affected by the strike. Dr. F. C. Honold, secretary of the association, announced today. He said reports that the non-union men were joining the strike in any numbers, "appear to be absolutely incorrect."

CHARGES ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE VIOLATES LAW

Congressman Asserts No Report Made Under Provisions of Corrupt Practices Act

WASHINGTON, D. C., (AP) — Demand for investigation by the department of justice of charges that the Anti-Saloon League of America had failed to report campaign expenditures as required under the corrupt practices act, was made in the house today by Representative Tinkham, republican, Massachusetts.

Making the charges himself, Mr. Tinkham declared it would be "absolutely futile" to expect an investigation by congress because of the "complete control of the house by the anti-saloon league and its allied allies to the detriment of the league."

COMMONS VOTE DISPELS DOUBT

Lloyd George Ministry Receives Overwhelming Vote of Confidence in House

LONDON, (AP) — The overwhelming victory of Prime Minister Lloyd George in the house of commons yesterday, when he was given the confidence of the house by a vote of 372 to 94, has had the effect of a quick, violent thunderstorm in clearing the political atmosphere.

Apparently nettled by intimations that he was doing a direct vote of confidence in presenting his resolution calling for support of the government's policy toward the Genna conference, the premier early in the debate declared the cabinet would stand or fall on the result of the division. The result was no doubt as to the strength of the government.

The opposition entered its attack behind the laborite amendment, which would have declared lack of confidence in the government. When that went down in an avalanche of "aye's" the issue was as good as decided, and the subsequent debate was almost perfunctory.

The fight against the coalition, however, has not been abandoned, and Sir William Johnson-Hicks, unionist, plans to put forward in the house tomorrow a motion to the effect that:

"In the opinion of this house, lack of definite and coherent principle in the policy of the present coalition government can be remedied by the establishment of a ministry composed of men united by identity of political principles."

CHAPTER XVIII.

The Clash of Race. In King's house at Spanish Town the ringer was troubled. All his plans and prophecies had come to naught...

Messages had been coming from the great manor house of reports from the counties of Middlesex and Cornwall, that the Maroons were ravaging everywhere...

It was good thing he immediately did he threw up his hands and the wounded, and set the surgeons to work, thereby checking bitter criticism...

As he walked in the great salon or hall of audience, where he would lay over seventy feet long and thirty wide, with great height, to which beds and conveniences had been hastily brought...

"Your honor," said the Custos, "things have suddenly improved. The bounds have come from Cuba in the charge of ten men—ten with sixty hounds. This is the situation at the moment..."

"The hounds!" exclaimed the governor. "What hounds?" "The hounds sent for by Dyck Calhoun—surely your honor remembers? Surely his honor did, and recalled also that he forbade the importation of the hounds..."

Lord Mallow was at once relieved and complacent. No doubt the policy of the bounds was useful, and it might save his own goose, but it was, in a sense, un-English to hunt the wild man with hounds...

"It was last night about dusk that word came from the pilot's station at Fort Royal that the vessel Vincent was making for port, all sails set, and that she was from Cuba..."

During the Custos' narrative, Lord Mallow was perturbed. He had the common sense to know that Dyck Calhoun, ex-convict and mutineer as he was, had personal power in the island, which he was going to use...

never marry the man who had killed her father, however bad and mad her father was.

First, clearly, he must not think of applying the order to confine Dyck to his plantation; also he must give Dyck authority to use the bounds in hunting down the Maroons and slaves who were committing awful crimes. He forthwith decided to write, asking Dyck to send him an outline of his scheme against the rebels for comment and approval...

"How long will it take the bounds to get to Salem?" he asked the Custos presently in his office, with a dejected look in his eyes. He was an arrogant man, but he was not insane, and he wanted to succeed. It could only be success if he dragged Jamaica out of this rebellion with flying colors...

"Your honor, as we sent them by wagons and good horses they would be in Salem and in Dyck Calhoun's hands this evening. If they press they should be there by now almost for the best of going for hours, and the distance is not great." The governor nodded, and began to write. A half-hour later he handed to the Custos what he had written.

"See what you think of that, Custos," he said. "Do it in your mind, cover the ground as it should." The Custos read it all over slowly and carefully, weighing every word. Presently he handed back the paper. "Your honor, it is complete and masterly. But there is one thing that is the revolt into the hands of Mr. Calhoun, and nothing could be wiser. He will organize the business like a mutineer. We haven't forgotten his fight for the navy on the Arisande. This is not a mutiny, but a rebellion. We give him of how this revolt and mutineer, by sheer genius, broke the power of the French at the critical moment and saved our fleet. I thought it was only three-fourths that of the revolt."

"Go on with your talk of the bounds," said Lord Mallow. "Your honor, as the bounds went away with Michael Jones there was greater applause than I have ever seen in this island except when Rodney defeated De Grasse. Imagine a little stoop in the wash of the sea and the buccannery pling down on him, and no chance of escape, and then a great British battleship appearing, and the situation settling—that was how we were placed here till the bounds arrived. Your honor, this morning's, this early morning's, exit of the bounds was like a procession of veterans to Walhalla. There was the sun breaking over the tops of the hills in a crimson glow, glistening with soft spray or mist breaking away from the onset of the sunrise; and all the trees with night-lips wet sucking in the sun and drinking the night like an overcup at a Christmas breakfast; and you know what that light is."

"Then, suddenly, the sharp sound of a long whip and a voice calling, and there rises out of the landing place the procession—the sixty dogs in three wagons, their own drivers with their whips, and keeping order by the sound of their voices, low, soft and peculiar, and then the horses starting into a quick trot which presently would become a canter—and the bounds were off to Salem. There could be no fear with the bounds lost to see the hunting."

"But suppose that when they get to Salem their owner is no more." The Custos laughed. "Gim, your honor—his no more! Isn't he the man who shot the black dog, Lucky Bucks—morning lucky newcomer? If that's his reputation, and the ending of his bounds just when the island most needed them is good proof of it, do you think he'll be killed by a lot of dirty Maroons? Al, Calhoun's a man with the luck of the devil, your honor! He has the pull—no one here will make him back down. If you command your staff to have this posted as a proclamation throughout the island, it will do as much good as a thousand soldiers. It will stop the slaves from revolting; it will quiet the Maroons, and I'm certain sure Calhoun will have Maroon ready to fight for us, no against us, before this thing is over. I tell you, your honor, it means the way out—that's what it means. So, if you'll give us your order, keep a copy of it

ODESSA PROVES BARGAIN MECCA Persian Rugs, Paintings and Silver May Be Had for Pittance

ODESSA, (AP) - This port is said to be for a few months the paradise of the bargain hunter. A leather valise full of goods for London for $50 may be had here for $40.

Persian rug going for $15 to $20, rugs that in Persia would sell for $50 while the seller swore by his father's memory that he was robbing his family of daily bread.

Even the best of good artists sell for $5 or $3 with a frame thrown in worth $10 or $20. Silverware sells for fifty to ten cents per ounce.

A foreigner settling here for business reasons may rent a house for $50 a year, and possibly buy an indefinite lease for $200. The furniture, excepting the table dishes, may be had for another $50; but if there are any repairs he must pay western European wages for labor.

The reasons for these low prices of articles are that many of them were stolen from their owners, and the original owners are selling off all their home treasures for food.

To keep alive a family of five it takes 1,000,000 rubles, or $2 a day and the price of food jump as the ruble drops in value.

There has not been so brisk here as in Moscow as there are fewer strangers to buy. Fewer Russians can get into the city because the trains run only a few times a month owing to lack of fuel. At that, shops are opening daily, as the new economic policy of the Moscow government is applied. Diamonds and objects of value are covertly shown to prospective purchasers in these shops, the dealers still being in fear of the old laws against speculation and free trade.

for the provost-marshal. I'll see it delivered to Dyck Calhoun before morning—perhaps by midnight. It's not more than a six-hour journey in the ordinary way."

"At that moment an aide-de-camp entered, and with solemn face presented to the governor the last report from the provost marshal. Then he watched the governor read the report. "Ten more killed and twenty wounded," said the governor. "It must be stopped."

He gave the Custos the letter to Dyck Calhoun, and a few moments later handed the proclamation to his aide-de-camp.

"That will settle the business, your honor," said the aide as he read the proclamation.

DEADLY NEW GUINEA FEUDS

Whole Districts Wiped Out by the Ancient Doctrine Calling for Blood for Blood. Long years ago, one of Payeye's ancestors had committed murder. Murder in New Guinea is not a crime. On the contrary, a man is not considered a man until he has shed human blood. He must kill somebody, be it a strong man or a decrepit old woman or a little helpless child before he obtains the right to wear the feather headdress, and until he has that mark of manhood he may not marry, Merlin Moore Taylor writes in Asia Magazine.

Well, Payeye's ancestor, who lived in the village perched on a mountain peak, had ambushed a citizen of a village on a neighboring peak, and dispatched him with a club. That night there was a great feast at Payeye's village. And while the body of the victim was being skinned and the meeting stones were being made hot, strong-armed men shouted the achievement of Payeye's ancestor from the lip of their peak.

The relative of the dead man, stung by the insult, plotted revenge. The murder was a stain upon his pride—not because it was a murder, but because, as they knew, the dead man's bones would be thrown to the mongrel dogs that infested the village. That stain could be wiped out only by the shedding of more blood. The victim's relatives did not know just who had committed the crime, but there could be no doubt about the village he hailed from, so they directed their "pay-back" against the village.

That was all very many years ago. For generations, the enmity had persisted, until by the time Payeye was fifteen there was only a bandful left of his village. Since they were no longer able to withstand their enemies, the villagers—scattered to neighboring friendly villages, leaving their own stretched lulls and bamboo barricades to rot and fall to pieces. The explorer in New Guinea comes upon traces of countless villages that have been wiped out, like Payeye's village, by long and bitter feuds.

Of his own immediate family, Payeye is the sole survivor. He had no father or older brother to counsel him and to initiate him into the duties of manhood. So far as he knew, he had only one blood relation in the world—his mother's brother. Formerly, the village constable at Bari, in far-off Atkeo. Thither he made his way, and there we found him.

Would Change Calendar. Next April the Astronomical union is to meet in Rome to discuss calendar reform. The leader of the French delegation to the meeting, with support from England, will, among other things, propose a scheme by which the first of January shall always fall upon a Monday, with corresponding uniformity for every day throughout the year.

Three hundred and sixty-five divided by seven gives the 52 weeks of the year and one day. If that day, at present a troublesome disturber, were assigned a new name (Jour de la Paix, his French sponsors have proposed), and as long as allowed by Sunday, Monday or any other day of an ordinary week, the beginning of the next year could take place always on the same day of the week. In leap year the 29th of February would also have to stand outside the week.

In the matter of bills it would be a great convenience if international agreement were obtained, as maturing periods could be of even length, avoiding Sunday.—Christian Science Monitor.

JOINT HEARING UPON MERCHANT MARINE OPENED

Hope Is Expressed That Measure May Be Made Ready for Action in Senate at the December Session

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Joint congressional hearings on the administration of the merchant marine bill were begun today with republican leaders confident the house would be able to act on the measure before the close of the present session, but generally doubtful whether the senate would find time to dispose of it until after congress reconvenes in December.

Will Hear Laker. Sitting in joint sessions the senate commerce committee and the house merchant marine and fisheries committee plan first to hear the testimony of shipping board officials, with Chairman Laker as the initial witness, and then to ascertain the views of both proponents and opponents of the legislation. Members of both committees were generally of the opinion the hearings would continue for a month or more.

Bills Are Identical. Prepared by shipping board officials, with the approval of President Harding, identical bills proposing government aid for the United States merchant marine are pending before both committees.

Mr. Laker had announced that in his opening statement to the committee he would declare the shipping board believes that any free competition with privately owned shipping of the world, through successful government operation, is an impossibility. Government operation of ships, in the opinion of the shipping board head, is not only a costly failure, but is driving private owners off the sea without accomplishing anything else.

COREAN BOY MATURES EARLY

Youngster May Be Married at Age of Seven, According to Custom of the Country.

Any time after a Korean boy is seven he may be married, and he is seldom not married at 12 or 14. At that time he winds his pigtail—if he still wears one in these crop-headed days—into a topknot and swaggers a bit in the presence of the unbrothered. Formerly, if a Korean boy had any schooling at all he squatted alone during the schoolroom hour, learning to read and write, but not to speak Chinese, and he would have thought himself well educated if he acquired a vague knowledge of the meanings of Confucius. He often felt content to carry a "jerry" or to drive a pack pony or even to act as nurse to the lady while his older brother wrestled with the Chinese classics. Under the new regime the school hours are still long and strenuous, but the boys pursue a Japanese course of study in Japanese. They probably would vote their games more interesting than any curriculum whatsoever. Their national sport is stone-kicking, which they carry on during the quiet days of the New Year. At the same season they have sky tournaments, in which they cut the string of one another's kites and take the falling kites as prizes—Maricita Neff in Asia Magazine.

Preventative Medicine

The tendency of medical science is toward preventative measures. It is easier and better to prevent than to cure. Pneumonia, one of the most dangerous diseases that medical men have to contend with, often follows a cold or attack of the grip. The cold prepares the system for the reception and development of the pneumonia germ. The longer the cold hangs on, the greater the danger. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as soon as the first indication of a cold appears so as to get rid of it fully to risk attack of pneumonia when this remedy may be obtained for a trifle.—adv.

MICKEY FALLS AND HURTS HIS PRIDE

COUNCIL FINDS IRREGULARITIES IN VOTING COST

Disallows Claim Presented by H. H. Friedheim as Judge, for "Constable" Pay for Commission Form Watcher

Acting upon a statement of facts supporting assertion of H. H. Friedheim as a member of the election board and as a citizen and taxpayer against paying the election payrolls, the city council Monday evening disallowed a claim turned in by H. H. Friedheim one of the judges of election for $47.50 as compensation to H. H. Kinsey for services as "constable" at the second ward polling place in the commission form election March 28. Johnston served as one of the judges of election in this ward.

The council was advised that Kinsey had not been sworn in as an election official, but that when he had appeared at the polling place in the office he had been introduced by Friedheim as a "watcher" for the commission form committee hearing credentials signed by E. F. Walton and Homer C. Mills. Friedheim acting as judge for the commission form party, swore in all of the judges and clerks of election in this ward. The officials carrying in the payrolls included employing additional help because of expense involved.

"Kinsey did nothing during the day but sit in a corner and watch the election, as he was entitled to do under his credentials," the council was advised. Inspection of the payroll turned in indicated that the claims of Friedheim and of Kinsey were written in the same handwriting.

Solves Commissioner's Problems

Outside of its action on claims against the city, the council's attention was occupied by three problems presented through the office of the streets commissioner and in consideration of monthly reports of officers. Correction of house numbers and re-numbering of residences in districts east of Blue Lakes boulevard was decided upon by the council, with a vote to employ Charles W. Sedell, insurance surveyor for a San Francisco insurance concern who is just completing an underwriter's map of Twin Falls, to cooperate with the street commissioner in this work. The fee of the surveyor is to be $40 and includes delivery to the city of a map on which the proper house number for each lot whether vacant or occupied will be indicated. The new scheme numbering of houses on each avenue east of the boulevard will begin with 1000.

Residents of Yeatman addition whose property fronts on Heyburn avenue, appearing before the council with Edwin N. Day as their spokesman, were given assurance that the street commissioner and city engineer would inquire into their request for cooperation in this property. Evidently the district in removal of trees and grading of Heyburn avenue which is situated on the boundary line between the city and highway district.

Takes Up Water Problem

G. W. Dean, owner of acreage property in the Moorman addition, also was promised that city officials would interest themselves in an effort to solve his problem of obtaining irrigation water for this property. Evidently the ditch from which water is supposed to be delivered to this land had lowered the water level below the floor of the headgate. The question presented is as to whether the canal company or the city is responsible for delivery of water.

The council authorized payment of claims against the general obligations fund in the sum of $4,093.03, against the waterworks fund in the sum of $1,571.06, and against the street-sprinkling fund in the sum of $56.20.

POLICE COURT MADE SCENE OF POLITICAL MOVE

Defense of Cooney and Kings- wold, Charged with Being Drunk, is Based on Attitude in Election; Jury Disagrees

Scenes unparalleled in the history of the police court in Twin Falls were enacted Monday afternoon, and ending in Judge Paul R. Taber's court in the trial before a jury of six men of Tom Cooney and Andy Kingswold, who previously had pleaded not guilty to a charge of having been drunk on the night of March 28, following the commission form election in Twin Falls. After a long hearing, the jury at 10 o'clock reported its inability to agree upon a verdict and it was discharged. Repeated ballots of the jury are reported to have stood four for conviction and two for acquittal. Retrial of the case was set for next Monday afternoon.

An audience of about 100 persons, composed largely of sympathizers with the accused men, crowded into the court room while the trial was in progress, and more than half the number waited about the room and building until the jury was discharged.

Suggests Political Motive

Homer C. Mills, chairman of the commission form and Kingswold, as attorney for Cooney and Kingswold, developed the case for the defense on the theory that the accused men were the victims of an attack by the arresting officer inspired by disappointment over the election. The court ruled against the admission of testimony of M. S. Atkinson and P. M. Torr which, Mills said, would have tended to show that the accused men were in a street corner conversation had sworn to drive all the advocates of the commission form out of town.

Cooney, on the stand in his own defense, admitted having had "two drinks of poor grade moonshine" on the night of his arrest, and Kingswold said that he had had three drinks. The arrest was made at about 2:30 o'clock Wednesday morning in the vicinity of labor hall at Second street and Third avenue east.

The stories of Cooney and Kingswold developed freely. Cooney pleaded not guilty to charge of having been drunk, but before any arrest had been made. When Cooney re-narrated, he said, charging the officer with being drunk, the results of the testimony Cooney himself was attacked and struck four times over the head, he testified. Kingswold, however, had the impression that Cooney was struck first.

Officer Gives Version

The arresting officer, on the stand, said that the trouble was started by Cooney who, he said, made a play as though he had a gun. The officer struck Cooney, and turned about to find Kingswold, hearing down upon him. He felt that Kingswold was a blow of his club which Cooney then seized with both hands. The officer drew his gun and ordered Cooney to release the club. He started then to lead Cooney and Kingswold toward the police station. Cooney threatened to strike the officer and the club was again called into play, landing three times on Cooney's head. There was no further trouble and the situation was quiet when Patrolman W. A. Austin, responding to summons of women who had been awakened by the disturbance and of Rigby, arrived on the scene.

Residents on Stand

Testimony of several residents of the vicinity of the arrest was introduced both for the prosecution by City Attorney Taylor Cummins and for the defense.

Selection of the jury and presentation of evidence occupied almost four hours. Court recessed at 6 o'clock until 7:30 when a half hour was devoted to arguments of attorneys, before the case went to the jury.

Members of the jury were J. W. Leelson, G. O. Havens, G. S. Arant, P. L. Shenberger, T. J. Wallman, J. D. Ross.

A regular meeting of the city council convened before the conclusion of the trial in adjoining rooms of the streets and waterworks commissioner.

Two Ounces OF MIRACLE OIL

poured in the fuel tank to each five gallons of gasoline or kerosene, by living-through-heat of the combustion chamber, will lubricate the upper cylinder walls, valves and valve stems, reducing friction where friction is greatest; prevent carbon formation, maintain compression, and save at least 15 to 25 per cent in fuel which is three to five times the cost of MIRACLE OIL.

Considering the facts, can you continue to operate your car, truck or other combustion engine without this upper lubrication when every stroke of the piston against dry upper cylinder walls is grinding away the most vital parts of your motor?

Think this over now even if your motor is in good condition.
