DAY AND WIFE BOTH ATTEND BECK INQUEST

Curious Crowds Jam Court-room Hours Before Time Set by Coroner for Hearing—Interest Intense

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., (AP)—An hour before the time set for the inquest into the death of Lieutenant Colonel Paul Ward Beck, who was killed in the fashionable home here of Jean P. Day, early Tuesday, every available man in the district court room was taken by spectators and the corridors were filled with jostling crowds...

Principals Are Prominent Lieutenant Colonel Beck was one of the foremost aviators in the United States army and at the time of his death was assistant commander of Post field, the aviation section of Fort Sill, Oklahoma.

Beck was the guest of honor at a midnight party held at the Day home last Monday which ended in the army officer's death at an early hour Tuesday. Day, in his story of the affair admitted killing the aviator, declaring he did so in self-defense after he discovered Beck attempting to assault Mrs. Day.

Officers from Fort Sill, comrades of the slain aviator, were forced to abandon their contemplated flight from the army post to Oklahoma City to attend the inquest because of unfavorable weather but were expected to arrive by train in time for the inquiry.

The trial which began at 10 o'clock today was held by Mr. and Mrs. Day. They would tell the coroner's jury their story of the party and of the killing.

Mr. and Mrs. Day arrived 20 minutes before the hearing was scheduled to begin. Mrs. Day was pale but entered the courtroom calmly. Neither exhibited any emotion as they took their seats next to their attorney, Norman Pratt.

Mr. and Mrs. Day permitted a photographer to snap a flashlight picture of them. Justice A. W. Williams, the coroner, had to call deputy sheriffs to clear a path through the crowds filling the doorway of the courtroom.

NEWS CELEBRATES FOURTH BIRTHDAY AS DAILY JOURNAL

TWO YEARS ago today, on April 8, 1918, The Twin Falls Daily News first saw the light of day. The first copy of the little publication was carefully prepared and about 100 copies were offered for sale on the streets at about half-price 2 o'clock in the afternoon. There was no advertising and no subscription list.

Recognizing that the primary mission of a newspaper is to publish the news, the publishers have at all times endeavored to produce a better newspaper, month by month and year by year. Adhering rigidly to recognized and thoroughly legitimate methods in the printing of the news, the News has steadily and conscientiously become a newspaper which stands upon its merits as such, and upon this alone.

Today, The News is the only Associated Press newspaper, outside of Boise and Pocatello, in Southern Idaho, with a circulation of nearly 5,000 copies daily, over 90 per cent of which are delivered within Twin Falls county and its environs. Its growth has been slow but constant, and as rapidly as its patronage warrants The News will continue to improve as a newspaper and its publishers to produce a larger and a better newspaper.

Many hundreds of men and women buying copies of the first edition of The Daily News are still enrolled upon the subscription list and many hundreds more have since joined the growing circle and will join it, and all of them, The News today, upon its fourth birthday, is a daily newspaper, would offer an expression of appreciation of this evidence of faith upon the part of the people, without whose patronage The News could not have continued to exist.

To continue to serve Twin Falls, the Twin Falls country and Southern Idaho as a whole, with the best news and best news, in all prosperity and adversity, in fair weather and foul, and to aid at all times in every movement for the general good of the Twin Falls valley, will be in the future, as in the past, the ambition of The Twin Falls News.

March Building Activities In 109 Cities of Country Are Greatest in History

NEW YORK, (AP)—Building expenditures of 109 cities of the United States during March totaled $194,661,072, the greatest amount ever known in any one month in this country's history, according to a report from the Bureau of Economic Warfare, Washington, D. C., today.

The March expenditures, although taken from only 109 cities, were from 20 per cent in excess of the similar month of last year, and 10 per cent in excess of the previous month, April, 1921.

JEALOUSY RAGE CAUSES MURDER

Salesman Murdered as He Was About to Visit Estranged Wife of L. Zandt

CHICAGO, (AP)—With the police convinced that they had broken the alibi of Louis Zandt, the latter today was in jail in connection with the killing Tuesday night of Wm. Parson, salesman for a Boston concern, who was shot to death by two men as he alighted from his automobile to call on a girl known as Miss Long and said to be his fiancée, but who in reality was Zandt's estranged wife. She also is held.

The police are working on the theory that Parson was deliberately killed through jealousy and was not the innocent victim of automobile thieves fleeing from two detectives as had been supposed at first.

Abandon Early Clues. The theory that Parson was the "innocent bystander" victim of fleeing thieves was discarded when the police traced ownership of a car found by Parson's body to Zandt. When detectives walked into Zandt's home they found the girl known as Miss Long, with him. At first she said Zandt was merely a friend, but later admitted they were married.

Zandt said that he and his wife had been separated several times and that on the evening Parson was slain in front of the house where Mrs. Zandt—known as Miss Long—then was residing he was out with Miss Sarah Shum, 20, to 10-30.

Miss Shum was brought to the police station, where she denied the police said that she had ever been with Zandt.

Boston Police Grab Church Bond Thieves

BOSTON, (AP)—Three men arrested at about 10 o'clock yesterday when attempting to dispose of bonds valued at $25,000, were being held today as fugitives from justice at Aurora, Ill., pending the arrival of officers who sent word that the men were charged with theft of bonds from the safe of a Roman Catholic church there on February 8.

Cincinnati, Rochester, Louisville, Milwaukee, Fort Worth, El Paso, Oklahoma City, Atlanta, Baltimore, Washington, Denver, San Francisco, Seattle and Portland, Ore. The March expenditures, although taken from only 109 cities, were from 20 per cent in excess of the similar month of last year, and 10 per cent in excess of the previous month, April, 1921.

General Semanoff, who was in charge of the expedition, was killed by a bullet from the machine gun of the airplane which crashed into the French Goliath on the Paris-London aerial express route yesterday near Thillyguy, died in the hospital at Beauvais today without recovering consciousness. He was the only person in the British machine, owned by a Belgian, and his death brought the total of those killed to seven.

DEATH OF BRITISH VICTIM OF PLANE CRASH

PARIS, (AP)—R. E. Dako, pilot of the English plane which crashed into a French Goliath on the Paris-London aerial express route yesterday near Thillyguy, died in the hospital at Beauvais today without recovering consciousness. He was the only person in the British machine, owned by a Belgian, and his death brought the total of those killed to seven.

Low visibility, caused by low hanging clouds and mist, is given as the primary cause of the catastrophe. Both pilots were flying low at the time, brought the railroad tracks in sight so as not to lose their way, and this brought them together head on.

The French company operating the Goliath, which was carrying three passengers, has issued a statement declaring that their pilots have perfect knowledge of the route, which they have been covering for a year.

British machine, owned by a Belgian, had only been in the London-Paris service three days. It seems certain that those in the Goliath saw the English machine at least some second before the crash, as when the body of Mrs. Christopher Bruce Yule was found, a hand was pressed to her eyes as though to stave out the sight of the impending collision.

COBLENZ, (AP)—Six more units of the American forces in Germany said farewell to Europe today, 1,100 men and 25 officers leaving Antwerp on the steamship Cantigny. Eighty-five soldiers wives and 25 children also sailed on the Cantigny, the largest number since the departure of the "honeymoon detachment" last May.

This reduces the strength of the American forces on the Rhine to 2,600 or one-sixth of the number here a year ago.

LEVEE WORKERS BATTLE WATERS

BEARDSTOWN, Ill., (AP)—Breaking of three levees along the Illinois river, north of Beardstown, between Beardstown and Peoria, at noon today had lessened the pressure on Lost Creek levee, which is protecting Beardstown and gave Mayor Wesley Perry hope that the levee might stand. "But even the best work of our men will not stop the water," the mayor said. "It will spill our hope."

Prepares for Break. Laboring at a nervous pitch throughout the night, workers on Lost Creek levee, which still was intact at daybreak, had the satisfaction this morning of knowing they had minimized the danger of Beardstown's worst flood, and that when the momentarily expected break does come, it will find only empty houses in its path.

Only Creek levee in the one protecting Beardstown proper. Beards is there are two others which will be done. All the levees are constructed of earth, and the collapse of one, it is said, will not weaken the others.

In Beardstown proper the flood is being held in check by the diking of several thirty or forty foot levees which have been constructed, like enormous bowls, about the openings. It is declared here it is the first time equipment has been resorted to in the north.

Mayor Wesley Perry expects between 100 and 200 houses will be flooded when the levee gives way. Outskirts of the city are a solid sheet of water, dotted by isolated houses.

ORDERS BUREAU TO CLOSE DOWN

Government Printing and Engraving Department Lays Off 6,000 Men

WASHINGTON, D. C. (AP)—The division of the bureau of engraving and printing, engaged in the production of bank notes, bonds and postage stamps, will be closed tonight for an indefinite period for the purpose of taking an inventory of the plants from which James L. Wilmett and 28 chiefs, superintendents and foremen were removed by presidential order one week ago.

Melton Issues Order.
Disposition to close at least the principal sections of the big plant, the largest of its kind in the world, was disclosed today as having followed a conference held yesterday between Louis H. Hill, the newly appointed director, division chiefs of the bureau and treasury officials. The closing is to be effected under an order issued by Secretary Mellon of the treasury under which department the bureau operates.

The purpose of the closing order as stated today by officials is to enable the taking of an inventory, the repairing of machinery in use almost continuously since the entrance of the United States into the world war and to allow the transfer of equipment of the bureau to issue new steel plates, such as are used in the printing of the nation's paper currency.

Will Make Inventory.
The inventory, it was said, will be undertaken by the treasury accountants and department of justice agents. Hints also were given that during the closing the bureau would be further re-organized or "hazarded," as one official put it. The closing will be a matter of the new steel plates, it is said, will be for the purpose of preventing counterfeiting of the various bank notes and bonds printed in the plant as the old plates had become so worn that it was found that prints taken from them were comparatively easy to counterfeit.

The bureau employs about 6000 persons and it was estimated that about 4000 of the total would be affected by the closing. The total employees number about 1600 above the pre-war personnel and it was suggested in some quarters that during the suspension reduction in the pre-war level would be brought about.

VAUDEVILLE BILL OFFERS

RICK FLETCHER OF FOX
The Florenz duo of acrobats and dancers Monday at the Orpheum season before last was with the Mizta Hajas company of "Head Over Heels" with the junior members of the family also taking part in the act. The Florenz Duo man and woman provided a comely acrobatic oddity which would be hard to beat anywhere.

Fitch Cooper, the comedian at the Orpheum this week, who is not only a good funster but who is clever in evoking musical sounds from all sorts of queer instruments, plays on one very small violin which is of his own manufacture.

Byron & Aileen present an act which is altogether different from the ordinary man and woman turn. Novelty and laugh from the start, their drop is seen and their personality in putting their act over is not to be overlooked. Miss Aileen flashes several of the latest gown creations, and is an able assistant to Mr. Byron. Their comedy is especially written and is positively new and novel and prevailingly thorough.

With all points in their favor, they are wonderful, harmony singers, which act over in an easy bit on any bill.

NEW ORGANIST AT THE IDAHO.

Coincidentally with the opening Monday of Cecil B. DeMille's big production, "Saturday Night" at the Idaho theater, Manager Madsen will introduce to Twin Falls a new organist who comes with high recommendations in music.

UNEMPLOYED VETERAN IN IDAHO BECOMING SCARCE

American Legion's Campaign Results in Finding Jobs for More Than 1,000 Ex-Service Men

BOISE, Idaho.—The unemployed world war veteran in Idaho is rapidly being given a job, more than 1000 men having been placed in temporary or permanent jobs, according to reports received at state headquarters here. The American Legion campaign is national in scope and shows that since the start of the drive more than 450,000 of the country's total of 700,000 jobless ex-soldiers have been placed. Lemuel Bell, national adjutant of the legion, announced in a bulletin received here today that many more have been given temporary jobs to tide them over until the permanent place is found for them. Adjutant Bell also announced that the drive is not going to stop at the 30-day limit, as originally planned. It is going on until the legion's aim to make the country free of veteran unemployment has been attained.

JARMAN HEAVES NO-HIT BATTLE

Local High School Leads Open Season with 26 to 0 Victory Over Kimberly Team

Twin Falls high school 26, Kimberly 0.

This tells the story of the opening of the baseball season in Twin Falls yesterday afternoon at Lincoln field. Outplayed and outplayed in every department of the game, Kimberly yet tried hard. The local team looks like a real team, and with a little polishing, will make the other teams in the state hustle.

Laval Jarman, who did the throwing for the Blue and White, started the season in pitching a no-hit game. His work yesterday stamped him as a real chucker. Cool as a cucumber, he had the Kimberly boys completely baffled. The game was called in the eighth inning on account of the slight rain that had started to fall, and the growing darkness. In the eighth innings that Laval pitched to struck out 14 men, walked one and allowed but 29 men to face him.

The only sign of a possible hit for the enemy came in the first inning when Holden, second man up, lined out to right field. John Nye got both digits on it, and then dropped it. It was a hard chance, but John should have held it.

Coch Evans was elated with the showing made by the boys yesterday, and justly so, as all of them were in the game at all times.

The scoring started in the first inning after Gerald Jarman had grounded out via the third to first route, Mussel, who by the way looks awful good, singled to left. He went to second when Wilson juggled Laval Jarman's easy roller to pitcher's box. Putsler stayed to center, Mussel scoring the first run of the game. "Puts" is his anxiety to stretch his hit, was caught off first base. Thometz tripled to left, scoring L. Jarman. Harper singled, scoring Thometz. Nye ended the agony by whiffing the bases.

Three more runs came in the second, two in the third, two in the fourth, and in the fifth, nine more were added. The fifth inning shows one home run, three triples, one two-base knock, four errors, two walks and a double play. The sixth chased four across the pass while the seventh added three more to the total.

LORETO HOLY HOUSE RECEIVES NEW STATUE

Pope Will Bless Carving of the Virgin Mary Made to Replace One Burned

ROME, (AP) — The new statue of the Virgin Mary, which was destroyed by fire about a year ago in the celebrated holy house at Loreto, is to be conveyed to St. Peter's shortly to be blessed and crowned by the pope. It will then be returned to Loreto by Italian aviators, whose patron is the Madonna of Loreto. The statue is of cedar wood, as was the original and is of similar proportions.

The original Virgin of Loreto was a small, black image of Lebanon, originally adorned with jewels. It was said to have been carved by St. Luke. According to legend, the holy house in which it was enshrined was the home of the Virgin Mary, miraculously transported from Nazareth when threatened with destruction by the Turks in 1291.

TODAY'S MARKETS

DULL WHEAT OPENING FOLLOWED BY RALLY

CHICAGO, (AP) — The government crop report issued late yesterday placed a slightly bearish construction on the market here today and caused the wheat prices to open lower. There was a good class of buying on the decline which was followed by strong rally that carried values up to around the previous close. After starting 1-4 to 7-8 lower, with May at $1.20 to 1.30 1-4 and July at $1.18 7-8 to 1.10, prices soon took an upward turn.

A strong underdone later development when houses with eastern connections got on the buying side and prices advanced sharply, the July option touching $1.28 7-8, a new high for the week. Unfavorable crop reports from the southwest also affected the market, and the finish was strong with prices 5-8 to 1-2c higher, with May $1.32 1-8 to 1.32 1-4 and July $1.20 1-2 to 1.20 5-8.

Corn and oats were dull but about steady with a light trade. After starting unchanged to 3-4c lower, with July 62 to 62 1-8 corn scored slight general recoveries with wheat.

Trade in corn broadened later with some commission houses buying and the strength in wheat which led to considerable short covering with the closing strength 1-2 to 3-4c, net higher, July being 65 5-8 to 65 3-4c.

Oats started 1-8 off to 3-8c higher, July 39 3-4 and advanced all around with other cereals.

Provisions were somewhat firmer on postponed buying.

TROOPS INVADE TROUBLE ZONES IN NEW MEXICO

TROOPS START FOR GALLUP

Adjutant General Brown who went to Gallup last night has called a conference in Gallup for 2 o'clock this afternoon of mine operators, mine workers representatives and city and county officials when the governor's proclamation of martial law will be read and rules for its enforcement laid down.

ASKS FEDERAL TROOPS

WASHINGTON, D. C., (AP)—Senator Bureau of New Mexico today also called on the president and presented this telegram from Governor Mechem.

"Serious disturbances are in progress in the Gallup coal mining district. I am sending national guard troops into the district and although the state of New Mexico may be able ultimately to control the situation, yet we believe that the presence of federal troops in the Gallup district will prevent the destruction of life and property which will state troops alone would regard as nearly inevitable. Therefore I request that federal troops be immediately dispatched to Gallup, N. M., from Fort Bliss, Texas."

WITHHOLD FEDERAL TROOPS

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Secretary Weeks today declined to send federal troops into New Mexico in response to a telegram from Governor M. C. Mechem, who said he might need them to preserve order in the Gallup coal fields, where martial law was declared yesterday as a result of disorder incident to the coal strike.

The war secretary's telegram sent and made public after he had conferred on the matter with President Harding, said:

"Unless disorder develops to a point where state authorities are unable to preserve order, federal troops can not be used in connection with the coal strike."

MINERS DRAW PAY

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., (AP)—Idle coal miners of the country, starting today and continuing next week receive their last pay, estimated at $30,000,000 by union officials and regarded by them as a strike fund.

The big wage distribution, an important factor in the miners' ability to continue the general suspension of work that began a week ago on the order of the United Mine Workers of America, is for the final half of March—in all, 15 working days. The big sum is several times the total cash of the union organizations—national, state and local—and comes to the miners with an indefinite period of idleness ahead of them. It is the only big cash payment that will come during the suspension, the union war chest not permitting any general strike benefits.

As most of the anthracite miners were kept on full time in March and the bituminous miners generally operated about two-thirds of the time, the miners last pay is among the best sums the men have received for several months. The exact amount and its apportionment in various coal fields, not a certainty, but William Green, secretary-treasurer of the union, declared that $30,000,000 is a "very conservative" estimate. "Mine owners here agreed with this statement."

TO QUIT NEGOTIATIONS

NEW YORK, (AP)—Union representatives and delegates from the coal operators, who have been in session as a wage negotiations committee, suspended their conference today and returned to their respective districts. It was announced today they would resume sessions Tuesday, when their efforts to bring about settlement of the strike will be renewed.

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America and Vice President Philip Murray will continue to maintain strike headquarters in New York during their presence here, they announced today.

TO LOAD ALASKAN COAL

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, (AP)—The first collier to take a supply of coal out of the Matanuska coal fields of Alaska is expected to load here the first week in May. Preparations are being made to run five thousand tons through the Sattouf unloading plant, beginning May 1, according to word from the headquarters of the Alaska engineering commission. It is understood the cargo is to be a test to determine the ease of competition with Pechonost coal.

SPECULATORS ARE BUSY

PITTSBURGH, Pa., (AP)—Buying of coal for speculative purposes in the Pittsburgh district since the miners' strike reached considerable proportions. The railroads were reporting about 4,000 cars of unassigned coal awaiting purchasers in the district. These were strung out on sidetracks radiating out of the city in all directions.

JOBS MORE MINES

PITTSBURGH, Pa., (AP)—Pushing their way into the heart of the Connellsville coke region of Fayette county, organizers of the United Mine Workers today closed three more mines of the H. C. Frick Coke company and one independent mine. Operations at four other mines were curtailed.

There were no disorders.

AS A MAN THINKETH

Those who have been in the habit of allowing general business conditions to act as a depressant to an extent precluding every other interest in life should get their minds firmly fixed upon the fact that a man's thoughts are at once his worst enemy and his best friend.

The situation throughout the Twin Falls country just now is largely one of lethargy. In every walk of life men are waiting for but the general attitude is one of hesitation, on the broad ground that somewhere, somehow, something is going to happen to bring back the prosperity of yesterday.

A number of things may happen which will contribute to better times. If a railroad is built, if the American Falls reservoir plan goes through, if a power line is actually constructed into Contact—any one of these things will mean an impetus to business and a consequent advantage to all.

It is not always easy to remain cheerful in the face of facts which seem to walk the floor, but it is none the less a man's duty to look on the better side of whatever comes and endeavor to emphasize the good features and minimize the bad.

In this sort of a mental attitude lies safety. In the reverse, despair.

"As a Man Thinketh" was the title chosen by a novelist for a story of current American fiction and not in the entire volume occurs a more significant phrase, a more pregnant group of words than those composing the title.

As a Man Thinketh might well become the text of a thousand sermons, the title of a thousand books—As a Man Thinketh probably constitutes the biggest single element for success or failure, happiness or grief in the lives of men from the cradle to the tomb.

The long and short of the matter is simply this: grief and gloom and their attendant evils follow in the trail of the men and the communities who talk them, who by their attitude, encourage mental depression and physical inertia.

Look to a very large extent a cheerful outlook, an optimistic tone and a willingness to look upon the good rather than the bad, make for an enlarged viewpoint, a better business spirit and a more prosperous existence. Twin Falls and the Twin Falls country have much to be thankful for. Let him who doubts look beyond the limited confines of any physical vision. Let him glance for a moment in the direction of suffering Armenia and starving Russia—and then let him apply the lessons to the smallest happenings of his daily life, right here at home in Twin Falls.

Kabson Declares More Money Is Not Needed

By ROBERT W. KABSON. WELLSLEY HILLS, Mass., Special to The News.—Checking up the findings of his recent tour of investigation that the figures available at his home office, Roger W. Kabson, the statistician, today made a very interesting observation regarding our present supply of money.

"We win Europe today for example. They have followed this plan—meeting each new emergency with more money and more credit. As a result the franc has fallen from the par of 100 to 56, the mark from 23 to 1-3 of a cent, and the Australian dollar from 100 to one-hundredth of a cent."

"No, the farmers' trouble is not due to the supply of money," continued Mr. Kabson, "but to the fact that our machinery is out of gear. It is not a matter of joint. An increase of credit."

No Defense

"One can guess your honor. There is being fighting for the island." "Why should we not offer about lands. 'Will you sit down?' he said with a slow gesture."

"I prefer to stand, your honor." "This was the first time the two men had met since Dyck had arrived in Jamaica, or since his trial. Calhoun was dressed in planter's costume and the governor was in a officer's uniform. They were in striking contrast in face and figure—the governor long, lean, and specific in appearance; very intelligent save for the frown in his mouth, and very slick and spruce—though he had just stepped out of Jamaica; while Calhoun was tough and virile and with the air of a thorough outdoor man. There was in his face the look of a man who had done things and could tackle big affairs—and something more; there was in it quiet exaltation.

"You have done the island and England grant service, Mr. Calhoun," said the governor at last.

"I am glad to do for the land where I have made my home, where I have reaped more than I have sown."

"We know your merit, sir." "A sharp, satirical look came into Calhoun's face and his voice rang out like a bell. 'And because you know my merit you address the crown to confine me to my estate, and you would have had me shot if you could. I am what I am because there was a master man than yourself in Jamaica. I am what I am because you and I bought land and have helped to save this island and your place. What do I owe you, your honor? Nothing that I can see—nothing at all.'"

"You are a mutineer, and but that you showed your courage would have been about at the yard arm, as many of your comrades in England were."

"A cold smile played at Calhoun's lips. 'My luck was as great as my courage, I know. I have the luck of Calhoun's!'"

"It was not the luck of Calhoun's," said the governor, "it was the luck of Errol's. He was with me when I was shot, and he was with me when I was shot, and he was with me when I was shot."

"I was not the luck of Calhoun's," said the governor, "it was the luck of Errol's. He was with me when I was shot, and he was with me when I was shot, and he was with me when I was shot."

"I was not the luck of Calhoun's," said the governor, "it was the luck of Errol's. He was with me when I was shot, and he was with me when I was shot, and he was with me when I was shot."

"I was not the luck of Calhoun's," said the governor, "it was the luck of Errol's. He was with me when I was shot, and he was with me when I was shot, and he was with me when I was shot."

"I was not the luck of Calhoun's," said the governor, "it was the luck of Errol's. He was with me when I was shot, and he was with me when I was shot, and he was with me when I was shot."

"I was not the luck of Calhoun's," said the governor, "it was the luck of Errol's. He was with me when I was shot, and he was with me when I was shot, and he was with me when I was shot."

"I was not the luck of Calhoun's," said the governor, "it was the luck of Errol's. He was with me when I was shot, and he was with me when I was shot, and he was with me when I was shot."

—always a fool," said the governor sharply. "That so great a fool that I can't recover from it," was the calm reply. "Perhaps it was the best thing that ever happened to me, for now I can look the world in the face. It made a man of me. It was a woman killed him. Calhoun's added comment: 'Will your honor come with me and see her?'"

"The governor was thunderstruck. 'Where is she?' 'As I have told you—in the house of the general commanding.' 'The general commanding?' 'Well, I can go there now, come.' 'Perhaps you would prefer I should not go with you in the street. The world knows me as a mutineer, thinks of me as a murderer—it is fair to your honor?'"

"Something in Calhoun's voice roused the rage of Lord Mallow, but he controlled it and said calmly: 'Don't talk nonsense; say we shall walk together, if you will.'"

"At the entrance to the house of the general commanding, the man to whom this visit meant so much stopped and took a piece of paper from his pocket. 'Your honor, here is the name of the slayer of Errol Boyne. I give it to you now to see, so you may not be mistaken when you see her.'"

"The governor stared at the paper. 'Boyne's wife, eh?' he said in a strange mood. 'Boyne's wife—what is she doing here?'"

"Calhoun told him briefly as he took the paper back, and added: 'It was accident that brought us all together here, your honor, but the hand of God is in it.'"

"Is she very ill?" "She will live, I think." "Will you sit down and tell her story?" "To Miss Sheila Llyn." "The governor was nettled. 'Oh, to Miss Llyn! When did you see her?'"

"Just before I came to you." "What did the woman look like—Miss Noreen Boyne?" "I do not know; I have not seen her."

"Then how came you by the paper with her signature?" "Miss Llyn gave it to me."

"Singer after Lord Mallow's mind. 'She will live, I think. The way would be open to Calhoun to win—to marry her! It amused him but he held himself steadily.'"

"Where is Miss Llyn?" "She is in the tent, I think. She came back with me when I was shot." "Oh, she left you at my door, did she? But let me see the woman that's come so far to put the world right."

"A few moments later they stood in the doorway of Noreen Boyne, they two and Sheila Llyn, the curse having been sent out."

"Lord Mallow looked down on the haggard, dying woman with no emotion. 'Only a sense of duty moved him.'"

"What is it you wished to say to me?" he asked the patient. "Who are you? Can the response to a frayed tone."

"I am the governor of the island—Lord Mallow." "You want to tell you that I killed Errol Boyne—with this hand I killed him." She raised her skinny hand up, and her eyes became glazed. "He had used me vilely and I struck him down. He was a bad man."

"You let an innocent man bear punishment, you are atone by any word or act, but I'm sure, I've kept you from being happy, and you were born to be happy. Your father had hurt mine, had turned him out of our house for debt, and I tried to pay it all back when they suspected you I had money. I was a coward; I could not say you were innocent without telling the truth, and that I could not do then. But now I'll tell you I think I'd have told it whether I was dying or not though. Yes, if I'd seen you here I have told it, I'm sure. I'm not all bad."

"There's no good going on with that," said the governor sharply. "We must take down her statement in writing, and then—"

"Look, she is sinking!" said Calhoun sharply. "The woman's head had dropped forward, her chin was on her breast, and her hand became clenched."

"The doctor at once—bring in the nurse," said Calhoun. "She's dying." "An instant later the nurse entered with Sheila and in a short time the doctor came."

"When later the doctor saw Lord Mallow alone he said: 'She can't live more than two days.'"

"That's good for her in a way," answered the governor, and in reply to the doctor's question why, he said: "Because she'd be in prison." "What was her crime, your honor?" "She killed a man."

"What man?" "Him for whom Dyck Calhoun was sent to prison—Errol Boyne." "Mr. Calhoun was not guilty, then?" "No. As soon as the woman is dead, I mean to announce the truth." "Not till you, your honor?" "Not till then."

"It's hard on Calhoun." "She's 17, 18 years since he was tried and condemned. Two days cannot matter now." "Perhaps not. Last night the woman said to me: 'I'm glad I'm going to die.' Then he added: 'Calhoun will be more popular than ever now.' The governor winced."

"(Concluded in Monday's issue.)" "Says Uncle Eben. 'You kin get a heap o' benefit' said 'Uncle Eben' 'from de latest novels. After-looked over one or two you-will-see. 'Blessed thankful you got de Bible-oh-ah-happy readin.'"

THE NEWS SUNDAY SERMONETTE

By CHARLES GLENN BAIRD, M. A. Rector, Church of the Ascension, Episcopal

PALEM SUNDAY. St. Matthew 21:1-9. "Hosanna to the Son of David; Hosanna in the name of the Lord; Blessed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord."

Throughout the world of Christianendom, even among those who do not profess any religious belief, the Sunday before Easter is known in the calendar as Palm Sunday. It is the day when the many millions of Christian believers everywhere, mark that day on which Jesus Christ entered Jerusalem and was acclaimed by the multitude that greeted him as he rode in His palme. It is the day which marked the beginning of the end of the mission of Christ on earth, and which was to be followed later, in the tragedy of Golgotha.

There is a real meaning to the Palm Sunday, inasmuch as it has this intimate association with the end of the life of Him or not, with a man whose brief life to a greater degree than any other, has profoundly influenced the whole course of the human race. It is the day when Jesus rode into Jerusalem on the humblest of all the beasts of burden, symbolical of the meekness and simplicity of the doctrine which he preached, through the streets of the city, and which he rode in His palme, and which he rode in His palme, and which he rode in His palme.

With the day and its designation thus established, like many other Christian customs, which have taken their place in the lives of the people, has remained through the ages a fixed and a recognized event, which is observed in various ways by Roman Catholics, Protestants and Episcopals alike. Many quaint and interesting ceremonies have arisen in connection with Palm Sunday. Throughout the history of the world, the palm has been the symbol of the triumph of the good over the evil, of the triumph of the just over the unjust, of the triumph of the true over the false. It is the symbol of the triumph of the good over the evil, of the triumph of the just over the unjust, of the triumph of the true over the false.

As a Man Thinketh might well become the text of a thousand sermons, the title of a thousand books—As a Man Thinketh probably constitutes the biggest single element for success or failure, happiness or grief in the lives of men from the cradle to the tomb. The formal observance of Palm Sunday by the various churches and sects has been traced by historians back to the sixth century. The Greeks observed it with great solemnity, as did the Romans and the English. With the spread of Christianity to the west, some of the more rigid forms of the observance gave way, particularly in the West, and the day took on the nature of a floral festival second only to Easter itself. Among the Spaniards it is known as Domingo de Ramos, and in the United States it is known as Palm Sunday. In the United States it is known as Palm Sunday. CHAPTER XXI. With the Governor. Lord Mallow frowned on his secretary.

"One can guess your honor. There is being fighting for the island." "Why should we not offer about lands. 'Will you sit down?' he said with a slow gesture."

"I prefer to stand, your honor." "This was the first time the two men had met since Dyck had arrived in Jamaica, or since his trial. Calhoun was dressed in planter's costume and the governor was in a officer's uniform. They were in striking contrast in face and figure—the governor long, lean, and specific in appearance; very intelligent save for the frown in his mouth, and very slick and spruce—though he had just stepped out of Jamaica; while Calhoun was tough and virile and with the air of a thorough outdoor man. There was in his face the look of a man who had done things and could tackle big affairs—and something more; there was in it quiet exaltation.

"You have done the island and England grant service, Mr. Calhoun," said the governor at last.

"I am glad to do for the land where I have made my home, where I have reaped more than I have sown."

"We know your merit, sir." "A sharp, satirical look came into Calhoun's face and his voice rang out like a bell. 'And because you know my merit you address the crown to confine me to my estate, and you would have had me shot if you could. I am what I am because there was a master man than yourself in Jamaica. I am what I am because you and I bought land and have helped to save this island and your place. What do I owe you, your honor? Nothing that I can see—nothing at all.'"

"You are a mutineer, and but that you showed your courage would have been about at the yard arm, as many of your comrades in England were."

"A cold smile played at Calhoun's lips. 'My luck was as great as my courage, I know. I have the luck of Calhoun's!'"

"It was not the luck of Calhoun's," said the governor, "it was the luck of Errol's. He was with me when I was shot, and he was with me when I was shot, and he was with me when I was shot."

"I was not the luck of Calhoun's," said the governor, "it was the luck of Errol's. He was with me when I was shot, and he was with me when I was shot, and he was with me when I was shot."

PINKIE BEATS MORAN

WELSH TUNES HAVE SURVIVED

Traditional Melodist Bill in Use, Though They Have Not Been Committed to Paper.

Traditional Welsh music has found a place in the services of the Roman Catholic cathedral at Westminster. The attention of Dr. R. D. Terry, the organist of the cathedral, was drawn to the tunes some years ago by David Lloyd George.

"These old tunes have been wonderfully preserved," Doctor Terry told a London Daily Mail reporter. "Many of them date from the pre-revolutionary period. For centuries they were not written down, but they were saved by the Welsh colliers for unaccompanied singing. They were handed down from one generation to another. "Many of them have been recovered and published in Welsh hymnals, but unhappily in too many cases their harmonies and even their melodies were revised in accordance with the musical fashions of the last century. "It is still possible however to hear them sung in all the beauty of their original form in remote Welsh villages, and intelligent Welsh musicians of today are realizing how very much more beautiful these old versions are." Dr. Walford Davies, Welshman who is now professor of music at the University of Wales, may be trusted to see that good care is taken of them."

Unique Barometer. The natives of southern Ohio have a barometer in the form of a egg shell. The shell is white in fair, grey in weather, but shows small rain spots when the atmosphere shows indication.

WARD OFF DANGEROUS "COLD"

Much Sickness May Be Prevented by Adoption of a Few Preventive Measures.

A few precautions will decrease the liability of catching cold from exposure to the rains of winter - as well as in its snows. Some of the simplest preventive measures are those that nature herself furnishes. None needs to catch a cold when wet if he or she will walk or run home briskly. Wet clothing draws the heat from the body and lowers the temperature below normal. This is dangerous. But if the heat of the body is maintained by exercise, little or no harm results from the wet clothing. It obtainable, two or three lumps of sugar should be eaten. This helps the body's action and supplies considerable heat to the body.

Many decide the popular belief that it is impossible to catch cold from a wetting with sea water, but the statement holds much truth. The salt retards evaporation, and thus cutting the heat from the body. Obviously, that is an advantage. Further, the salt acts as a stimulant, and assists the circulation of the blood. That is another advantage. Thus, unless in unusual circumstances, there is much less chance of a cold resulting from an immersion in the sea than in fresh water.

Those who feel much depressed in wet weather should note the habit of increasing their rate of breathing. This depression is due to the increase of vapor in the air, and the consequent proportionate decrease of oxygen. Quicker breathing, as is obvious, pumps more oxygen into the system, and the depression departs.

ALLEGED CHECK ARTIST ROUNDED UP BY POLICE

Serious Charge to be Preferred Against A. E. Clemo, Held as Drunk

Charges of issuing fictitious checks will be preferred against A. E. Clemo, resident of South Park, according to the police, by whom he was arrested last evening while under the influence, according to the officers, of "a very bad jag."

More than a dozen Twin Falls business houses and a rooming at Bull are said to have been victimized by Clemo's bad check operations. Several of these checks are in the hands of the police. The amounts range from $1 to $50. Clemo has been identified as their author by persons upon whom they were passed. The police say further that Clemo has confessed to issuing large checks which have not yet been turned into the authorities. Clemo has used several different names in signing these alleged bad checks, the checks in the hands of the police bear the names of Frank B. Davidson, G. A. Dowell, George I. Ferris and H. B. Davis. All of the names used are believed to be fictitious.

Clemo became maudlin, the police say, when he was taken in custody after having locked up Clemo removed his belt, pinned it to his neck, and fastened the loose end to the cell door. "Well, good-bye, boys; I'm going now."

Clemo is a more or less familiar poor court character. He was sentenced some days ago to pay "the man a charge of having been drunk."

GRAND JURY BROADENS INVESTIGATIONS SCOPE

Calls for Information on "Other Matters of Public Nature"

MURPHY—Call for information as to "any other matters of public nature which should be investigated" has been issued by the grand jury convened here Monday to inquire into alleged circumstances connected with the holding of the Barber State bank, the Bank of Commerce and the Commercial State bank of Burley, and the DeLoe State bank of Declo.

Sessions of the grand jury are closely guarded. Two ballots are in charge of the jury. Beds have been provided for the jurors to take their meals in a body in the dining-room of the National hotel, so that they will be kept together and under the care of the bailiff at all times. Their work is completed. Night sessions of the grand jury will be held, and every possible effort made to finish the work at the earliest possible date.

"The jury," says the Burley Bulletin, "is considered a very strong one. It is believed to be the best in the county; men who have had experience along the line of their present duties and in whose findings the people of the county will have full faith and confidence."

The grand jury's request to the public for information as to conditions they are to investigate follows:

The grand jury called in Cassia county and upon its closing a investigation of the circumstances surrounding and connected with the closing of the four banks will welcome any information which will assist the jury in its work in dealing with these matters. Another matter of a public nature which should be investigated will be taken up by the jury if the facts are placed before it. Any person knowing of any matters of a public nature which should be handled by the grand jury is invited to appear before the jury with the information.

RUPERT MEN INSIST ON OPERATION OF PAUL PLANT

RUPERT, Idaho.—Receiving intimations here of intent on the part of the Amalgamated Sugar company to grind locally grown beets the coming season at the beet factory instead of Paul a meeting of Rupert business men was held the first of the week to take measures involving running of the Paul factory for the 1922 season.

Representatives of business men and farmers, called through G. E. Lund at the city offices, declined to send notices to very prospective beet grower insisting that in all contracts signed there should be a clause making it obligatory on the part of the company to keep Paul factory going.

To date approximately 1800 acres of beet land on the north side have been signed up for the coming year, and the campaign for acreage has scarcely more than begun.
