

FAME OF GRANT STRONGER WITH PASSING YEARS

Character and Personality of Great Leader Used to Draw Powerful Lesson in Speech of President Harding

"It is 57 years since Grant gained victory with magnanimity. It is 37 years since he laid down the weary and autographic pen and made his only surrender. His fame is secure. The republic was not forgotten and will not forget."

"What of the republic itself? It will not be unwise to say that American principles and American concepts of justice and liberty since then have influenced the world little less significantly than Grant's service to the union shaped the course of our land."

Onward March Resumed.

"He saw union follow disunion, but it was not his to see complete conquest, where abroad had flourished. I wish, he somehow might know that in the more than a third of a century since his one and only surrender, the indivisible union have been more firmly riveted and in the shared burdens and triumphs of American progress, we have indeed continued at present pace. Geographical sectionalism is only a memory now, and Mason and Dixon's line remains only a historical record, where an ambiguity in the federal constitution was wiped out, and the nation resumed the onward march on its destined way."

"Specially, it was a long time in which to establish a complete and manifestly essential to the nation's greatness, but the understanding of the magnificent Leo was not universal throughout the south, the magnanimity of Grant was not manifest throughout the north. Wounds to be healed, and partisan politics temporarily profited more in irritation than in healing. But the war with Spain concentrated north and south to a common cause, and the sacrifice and nationwide service in the world war revealed the common American soul."

Sectionalism Is Past.

"I do not mean to say that everywhere in our land we are all in complete accord about fundamentals of government, or the basic principles upon which society is founded. But the sectionalism of Grant's and Lee's time has been effaced, and the geographical divisions which hindered the formation of the union and later threatened its disruption, have given way to the far less menacing divisions which have challenged all civilization, and which make the ferment out of which never progress the human progress inevitably one people, with a common purpose, universal pride, nation-wide confidence, and one flag—contends which here, as it is not ours alone, they are the irritants to civilization throughout the world. They are not to be ignored, but they have never hindered the progress of this freely founded republic."

Was Great Example.

"Grant was himself the supreme example of American opportunity. Standing before his humble birthplace, amid the surroundings of his obscure boyhood life, one doubts if three quarters of a century ago any one should have sought here for the military chieftain of a century. We have not a few, even today, who think small careers are pitifully circumscribed. And yet this little Clermont county furnished in Ulysses S. Grant and Henry C. Corbin two of the chief leaders of a century who have been commissioned in all our history."

"Grant had even less of likelihood to continue than his amazing rise to appropriate beginning. There was the suggestion of mediocrity in his development, and even the steel fastness of the early manhood was stamped with failure. But there was the inheritance of quality, and he dwelt and grew rugged in the freedom of democracy."

No Political Connections.

"Even the beckoning opportunity of war left him seemingly unfavored by fate. Politically, he was out of accord with the master martyr, who became his commander in chief. But he believed in union and the nation supreme. He brought to the armed service professional to command, sincerity of purpose, patience, and forbearance, great generosity of soul, and a confidence never to be shaken. The seizure of opportunity, more to serve than to achieve made him victor, and the quiet man, garbed in failure at Galena, marched to the surpassing heights of military glory. All conquering in command and magnanimous in his triumph the world saw the soldier and the man, the soldier adored and the man beloved."

SHEEP BURNED TO DEATH.

FAIRFIELD, Utah, (P)—Four hundred sheep were burned to death, four men were painfully burned and a quantity of wool was destroyed as a result of a fire which destroyed the stock and corral of the American Wool Growers' association here recently. The fire was caused by a gasoline explosion.

WE WILL contract your wool; reasonable cash advance. Phone 531 Brown Bros. Sheep Co.—adv.

GOPHERS HAVE TO GO. SHOSHONE, Idaho, (P)—Gophers in Lincoln county lead a hazardous life and the crew of 35 men working under direction of E. B. Perkins of the United States biological survey is making great strides in the effort toward extermination of the little animals. Before the extermination campaign in the county is complete, it is estimated, 20,000 acres will have been gone over at an estimated cost of 55 cents per acre.

The cost of the campaign is being borne by Lincoln county.

"WILD BIRDS" NOT SO WILD. SAN FRANCISCO, (P)—"Wild Birds," the University of California prize play, has been amended so as to pass censorship by San Francisco's police force. It was presented last night at the Grand Opera House, with Irving Pichel, police censor, withdrew his protest that it was an "immoral dramatic performance."

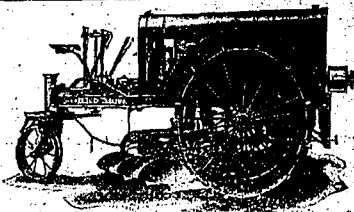

GOOD PRICE FOR WOOL. SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, (P)—One hundred and six woolgrowers in Utah who sold their 1921 clip through the marketing pool of the Utah State Farm bureau and the Utah State Woolgrowers' association received $7,054.66 in increased prices over what the wool would have brought at the time of shearing, according to figures made public here.

The average gross price per pound was slightly more than 24 cents and the net average to the grower who pooled wool was 17 1/4 cents, compared with 14 cents which was offered by wool buyers at the time of shearing.

BUPERT PLANTS LETTUCE. BUPERT, Idaho, (P)—One hundred acres of lettuce, contracted for by a Los Angeles firm, will be planted on the Minnie Irigoin project lands this summer. The planting will begin next month and the harvest, it is expected, will be made in October or September. The ranchers holding the lettuce contract are Wesley and Bruce Acuff.

WILL TAKE UP ALLIED REPLY TO RUSSIANS

Answer to Soviet Delegation's Counter Proposals to be Closely Checked Up Before Final Official Filing

GENOA, (AP)—Representatives of the big and little ententes and Foreigners expected to have before them in final form today the answer to the Russian delegation's counter proposals for the economic restoration of Russia, which the allies found unacceptable.

This statement is being drawn up primarily to satisfy England, France and Belgium, Russia's bravest creditors. In their answer, the Russians appear to have made a history by reason of the war debts which the allies said they were ready to "scale down."

In the English text of the allies' proposals, the phrase "the allies" is used. In view of the serious economic conditions in Russia, the allied governments are prepared to write down the war debts owed by Russia to them. The Russians apparently interpreted the words "write down" as "write off"—in other words, complete cancellation. They therefore ignored the war debts in their offer.

SPORTS AROUND THE BASES
(By Hiram)

The team went to Kimberly this afternoon to give the Kimberly fans a chance to see the local boys in action. Coach Evans has a much better team than he had last season, and it is to be expected that some big games will be brought here before season ends, so that the fans can see what they will do against the Twin Falls boys. So far this season the boys have had things their own way, piling up enough runs to beat the average team a whole season.

The team shows up better each game, and the flitting against Hazelton was of the highest order. From three men to work on at the start of the season, Evans has worked up a team that will make any high school team in the state sit up and take notice.

The game with Buhl next Tuesday should be a humdinger as Buhl has a real team this year, and if there is one thing that Buhl wants to do, it is to beat the Twin Falls. From all reports, the west end school has a team that is also well over the average high school team, and it looks as though it will be between the two that the Falls will decide the championship of this section. There will be two games this season with Buhl, one here and a return game at Buhl, so if the fans want to add Buhl in action they had better take in the game next Tuesday. It will start at 4 o'clock sharp.

It is going to be a real busy season as arrangements are being made to have two games each week, with a possibility of three. The more the boys play the better they get.

A week from tomorrow the team goes to Pocatello for a two-game series with the Pocatello boys. The Pocatello boys visit here a week ago, they lost the two games played, but showed so much improvement in the second game, that there is a possibility that the Twin Falls team will have its hands full when they meet for the third game. Erickson, the big southpaw of the Pocatello team is apt to prove a stumbling block for the locals.

BUENOS AIRES, (AP)—In the midst of the popular interest in the report that four mummies of prehistoric apes have been seen alive in Patagonia, workmen near the town of Los Rios in the northern province of Santa Fe have accidentally excavated fossilized parts of the skeleton of what was evidently a prehistoric mammoth.

The bones are being brought to the Museum of Natural History at La Plata, where there are many fine skeletons of animals of the geologic epochs found in Argentina.

A Business Statement that is a Great Human Record

HOW WAS IT DONE?

Records kept by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company show an extraordinary decrease in the death rate among its Industrial, or weekly premium, policy-holders. Comparing 1921 with 1911, for example, there were 55,000 less deaths in 1921 than there would have been if the 1911 death rate had prevailed.

What brought about the great saving of life?

The general public health movement—progress in medical science and sanitation—other causes, perhaps. But a very great factor has been the tremendous health campaign carried on by the Metropolitan itself. This page tells a part of the story.

FOR THE NATION'S HEALTH

144 health exhibits and emergency hospitals at county fairs last year; 295 "Clean-up" campaigns; agitation by Agents for health legislation; nationwide campaigns against special diseases; sickness and sanitary surveys; a study of municipal health departments; leadership of practically all American research work relating to influenza—these are some instances of the Metropolitan's activity in the interest of public health.

HELPING 10,000,000 PEOPLE

About 19,000,000 people are insured in the Metropolitan—over 16,000,000 under weekly premium policies. The weekly calls of Agents at the policyholders' homes provide a wonderful opportunity for health and welfare work.

The Company has accepted the opportunity and to-day it is the forefront of public health work in America.

14,000,000 VISITS BY TRAINED NURSES.

Free nursing service is given to Industrial policy-holders in 2,800 cities and towns. Trained nurses not only heal the sick but teach right living. About 14,000,000 visits have been made—2,116,875 in 1921 alone. Numerous letters tell of lives saved.

DISCOVERING DISEASE IN TIME

Free medical examinations often disclosing latent disease in time to cure it, are granted to Ordinary (annual premium) policy-holders, subject to reasonable conditions.

HELPING THE EMPLOYER TO HELP

Employers insuring their employees under Group policies are advised regarding health conditions and accident prevention, while the employees receive the benefits of nursing service and welfare literature.

218,000,000 PERCES OF LITERATURE.

Attractive booklets and pamphlets in great variety, dealing with the important phases of health and disease, and prepared by leading experts, are distributed broadcast. So far, 218,000,000 copies have been distributed—25,000,000 in 1921.

In addition, 18,000,000 copies of The Metropolitan, a health magazine, are issued annually.

The Company issues policies from a Hundred to a Million Dollars of Insurance. In fact, its Ordinary is now larger than its Industrial. The Company also issues Health and Accident Policies—minimum $5,000.

HOMES FOR 17,744 FAMILIES

In the investment of its funds, the Metropolitan is now giving preference to loans which will aid housing. During 1920 and 1921, the Company made and pledged loans of $48,080,011, on new dwellings and new apartment houses, providing homes for 17,744 families.

GREAT DECLINE IN DEATH RATES

The death rate among Industrial policy-holders reached its lowest point in 1921—31.9% lower than in 1911. The rate from typhoid decreased 71%; tuberculosis, 49%; Bright's disease, nearly 30%; infectious diseases of children nearly 37%. The "Expectation of Life" of white males (reckoned from age 10) increased 4 years.

PUBLIC APPRECIATION

The American people have made the Metropolitan the greatest life insurance company in the world, with $7,005,707,839 insured in force.

It leads not only in Industrial but in Ordinary. More than half of its business is for its Ordinary—$3,892,267,274— which is more than that of any Company in the world.

THE FUTURE

The Metropolitan will continue its endeavor to offer the best there is in life, health and accident insurance, in life, health and accident insurance, to save human life. Continued growth will give the Company still greater opportunities to serve the American people in insurance protection and in the conservation of life and health.

TODAY'S MARKETS

Chicago Grain Market CHICAGO, (AP)—Now setbacks in the price of wheat took place today after a brief showing of strength at the opening of business.

Buying on the part of houses with aboard congestions forced an advance in wheat prices near the end of the season. It was current gossip that export sales had been of liberal amount, and that Germany was paying the best premiums of the season.

The descent of values carried the market to the lowest level touched at $1.25 3/4 for May delivery, but then, unchanged by the day, the market was irregularly upward the remainder of the day.

Unfavorable weather gave comparative firmness to corn and oats. After opening unchanged to 1-4 cent lower, July 30 7-8 to 6-4, the corn market showed slight further gains.

Subsequently the seaboard sent word of good short sales of corn.

Provisions were weak in line with hog values.

New York Stocks NEW YORK, (AP)—The recent reversal in the stock market made more substantial progress today. Every division, notably rails and representative industrials, were subject to extensive liquidation.

Scaling assumed widest proportions in the final hour. Leading rails, oils, steels, motors, equipments and shippings then showed extreme losses of 2 to 3 points.

Initial dealings were characterized by further free selling of rails, oils, steels and utilities. Canadian Pacific lost 2 1/2 in the first few transactions and declines of 1 to 2 points accompanied the offerings of Illinois Central, Western A. Mexican Petroleum, DuSchem Steel, Kelsey Wheel, Manhattan Elevated and Pierce-Arrow.

Other reactionary issues included Pan-American Petroleum, American Tobacco, Wilson and Company and American Ice. The market's stronger side was represented by New York Air Brake at a six point gain and Lake Erie and Western papers.

DEMPESEY GETS BIG OFFER

Champ May Meet Carpenter Providing Lattor Defeats Lewis in Match

PARIS, (AP)—Jack Dempsey has received an attractive offer from a group of prominent English sporting promoters to meet George Carpenter, the French champion, in London sometime in the summer, providing Carpenter defeats Ted "Kid" Lewis on May 6.

Neither Dempsey nor Manager Jack Kearns would disclose the terms of the offer, but Kearns said it involved an immense purse and that Dempsey would probably accept.

Dempsey plans to leave here Saturday for Berlin, where he will remain four or five days. He may stop at Colobez on his way back and give an exhibition for the American Bilingual tourists. He will then proceed to London where he will attend the Carpenter-Lewis fight, after which he will go to Manchester for an exhibition bout.

Warped Doors. Doors and drawers often swell to the damp weather, making it impossible to open them. Light a large lamp and leave it in front of the swollen article for about an hour, and at the end of that time the wood will have absorbed so that the drawer or door will open easily.

WHAT'S THE MOTIVE?
It is difficult to avoid the suspicion that clamor at this time for the Twin Falls Highway District and Jerome county bonds over and improve roads in Snake River Canyon at Blue Lakes is prompted rather by a desire to administer a slap to Twin Falls citizens who have entered into negotiations for the purchase of the property than by its real desire to benefit the general public.

In this connection it might be taken into consideration that it would be no more expensive for the county and highway district to take over the property from the new than from the former owners.

So that as it may, the fact remains that purchase or improvement of the grades by the highway district and Jerome county cannot possibly be done without adding to the tax burden of the district and county. And it is highly desirable at this time that the tax burden should be reduced rather than increased. There is pretty general agreement among real taxpayers on that subject.

It is highly questionable whether the highway district is in position to finance any such proposition, without resort to issuance of additional bonds.

And so far as bond issues in general are concerned, The News stands unequivocally against any proposition for increasing the public debt unless it can be shown conclusively that profit will be derived thereby, not only in a general way to the community as a whole, but to each and every individual who has that debt to pay.

GASOLINE RESERVE GROWS.
The prediction was made a few months ago that the price of gasoline might be advanced to 50 cents a gallon before the expiration of another year.

Such an advance is possible, but it is not probable in the light of figures given out by the United States bureau of mines.

The recent report of the bureau shows that on March 1 there was a gasoline reserve of 818,000,000 gallons in the United States, an increase of 18,000,000 gallons over the stocks held on May 1 last year. It is estimated that the reserve stock may reach a billion gallons before the summer demand is on.

Officials of the bureau do not give any indication of the source of this huge stock of gasoline, the largest ever held in this country, and consumers generally will probably be satisfied to believe that there is not likely to be a shortage of gasoline for uses in their automobiles and trucks this year.

Experiments have been made and are being made to secure substitutes for gasoline in combustion engines, but they have only been partially successful, and there is little reason to believe that gasoline will be displaced soon by any other motor fuel. This fact makes it important that the supply be maintained at as large a level as possible.

The report of the officials of the United States bureau of mines seems to be encouraging as far as this year's consumption of gasoline is concerned, and the production may be expected to meet a considerable part of the current needs, thereby conserving a portion of the surplus stocks now held.

The supply may not have everything to do with the price, but it is another factor.

Collis Whitford was of the West himself. He had lived his rough-and-tumble life for years before he made his lucky strike in the Black Case. He had moved from Colorado to New York only ten years before. The sound of Clay's drawing voice was like a message from home. He began to grin in spite of himself. This man was too good to be true. It wasn't possible that anybody could come to the big town and import into it so naively such a genuine touch of the outdoor West. It was not possible, but it had happened just the same. Long before the cow puncher had finished his story of hog-tying the Swede to a hitching post with his own hose, the mining man was sealed of the large tribe of Clay Linbur's admirers. He was ready to hide him from all the police in New York.

Whitford told Stevens to bring in the fifty-five-dollar suit so that he could look over it. He let out a whoop of delight at sight of its still sudden appearance. He examined its sickly hue with chuckles of mirth.

"Insured not in fire or theft," murmured Clay sadly.

He managed to get the coat on with difficulty. The sleeves reached just below the elbow.

"You look like a fiver from Sing Sing," pronounced Whitford joyously. "Get a hair-cut, and you won't have a chance on earth to fool the police."

"The color did run and fade some," admitted Clay.

"Worth every cent of mine thirty-eight at a bargain sale before the Swede got busy with it—and he let you have it at a sacrifice for fifty-five dollars!" The millionaire wept happy tears as a climax of his rupture. He swallowed his cigar smoke and had to be pounded "on the back" by his daughter.

"Thinkin' came to the door and announced 'Mr. Bromfield.'"

Almost on his heels a young man in immaculate riding clothes sauntered into the room. He had the assured ease of one who has the run of the house. Miss Whitford introduced the two young men and Bromfield looked the westerner over with a suave tolerance in his dark handsome eyes.

Clay recognized him immediately. He had shaken hands once before with this well-satisfied young man, and on that occasion a fifty-dollar bill had passed from one to the other. The New Yorker evidently did not know him.

It became apparent at once that Bromfield had called to go riding in the park with Miss Whitford. That young woman came up to say good-bye to her new acquaintance.

"Will you be here when I get back?" "Not if our friends outside give me a chance for a getaway," he told her. Her bright, unflinching eyes looked into his. "You'll come again and let us know how you occupied," she invited.

"I'll certainly do that, Miss Whitford."

"Then we'll look for you Thursday afternoon, say."

"If the police don't get you."

"They won't," he promised serenely. "When you're ready, Ben," suggested Bromfield in a hoarse voice.

She nodded casually and walked out of the room—like a young Diana, straight as a dart in her trim slender dress.

Clay slipped out of the house by the back way.

Huge Apple Tree.

At Elbeth gardens, Helston, Cornwall, England, is a remarkable apple tree planted over seventy years ago. It needs a 25-stave ladder to reach the top branches, and the tree is dome shaped, with branches reaching to the ground. When underneath the tree it looks like a room capable of holding over 200 persons. It is reported to be the largest apple tree in Cornwall; Devon and Somerset, and this season was loaded with fruit of very fine quality estimated to weigh over two tons.

Low Germans Are Not Dutch.

The Low Germans are not Dutch, but are one division of the old Teutonic family, and are erroneously called Dutch. The Low German division is so called because it was composed of the Teutons living in the lowlands and along the shore of the Baltic sea. The Low German languages are: English, Dutch, Flemish and Frisian.

LOSING FIGHT IS WAGED TO HOLD SUGAR FACTORY

Business Men Exert Themselves in Final Effort to Increase Production

Thirty Twin Falls business and professional men, working with a common object as members of nine committees each in a district assigned to it, this morning entered upon a campaign to increase sugar beet production to a point where closing of the sugar factory here may be averted.

Committee members assembled at 9 o'clock at the offices of A. L. Swin and company and set out at once upon work in the field.

No comprehensive report on the results of the campaign were available at noon, but statements of individuals suggested that the work was in effect that but little additional acreage was being secured.

James Scelley, district manager for the Amalgamated Sugar company, at a luncheon meeting of chamber of commerce members, said that the situation for his viewpoint looked hopeless.

John W. Graham, chairman of the committee in charge of preliminary arrangements for the campaign, today urged committee members to make a determined effort to save the sugar factory in Twin Falls.
