

TWO BANDITS ARE SHOT IN BANK HOLDUP

Daring Attempt Frustrated by Woman's Screams Coupled With Prompt Action by Residents of Nebraska Town

DECATUR, Neb., (AP)—Three bandits were captured, two of them being severely wounded and $50,000 recovered by a posse that came upon the men as they were robbing the State Bank of Decatur Friday afternoon.

Norah Connelly, cashier, was alone in the bank shortly before 3 o'clock when a touring car drew up at the rear of the bank and two of the trio entered. When commanded to throw up her hands, the cashier screamed and attempted to escape, but was caught and held by one of the men, while the other began shooting currency and coin into a sack he carried.

Miss Connelly's scream had been heard by a nearby stockman and he hastily organized posse rushed into the bank while the robbers were still at work. The two fled, followed by a volley from the posse. One of the robbers was wounded and both dropped their loot.

RUSSIANS MAY FAIL TO FARM

Fear Entertained that Peasants May Refuse to Take Chances with Soviet Rulers

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The question whether organized American relief in Russia will be continued after the present summer under the present soviet administration supervising the work has not been decided, it was said Friday at the White House. The attitude in administration circles is that reports on the situation in the country have been too conflicting to be used as the basis of a decision, especially insofar as they bear upon the attitude of the Russians toward the relief work.

There are many ominous signs, it was said, that the Russian farmer is again hesitating to take his land and now crop less to the effort and the labor he lost to him by the policy of the soviet and the results of his labor he confiscated without remuneration to him.

President's Secret Critics American relief workers in Russia were characterized as "unknown, untried, untested" on the firing line of relief work in the country.

White House discussion today. President Harding has just written a letter of condolence to the mother of one young man who has been killed in the light of sacrifices made by men of the American relief administration, to the unknown soldier, and to the relief men, and to the nobility of their service, with charges of graft and dishonesty.

Too Much Criticism The reference was presumed to be to recent criticism of the relief effort on the part of the Senate in the form of attacks on Secretary Hoover.

President Harding it was said, felt that the relief work was being hampered by newspapers' "black-guarding" of it and a similar sort and that it might be "time to put on the brakes" on what was characterized as "national criticism of men who are devoting their times and in some cases, their lives to humanitarian efforts.

ONE BALLOON OF WHOLE FIELD IS STILL UP ALOFT

Twelve of Thirteen Starters Land Safely but Last Unaccounted for; One Grounds in Province of Quebec

CHICAGO, (AP)—Incidents Friday were that a navy, army and independent balloon will represent the United States in the international balloon races to be held in Switzerland.

The navy balloon, piloted by Lieutenant W. F. Reed, was the only one of the 13 contestants that started in the national race from Milwaukee Wednesday still unaccounted for Friday night and was believed to be aloft somewhere in the Great Lakes region. Of the 13 balloons, 12 were competing for the right to be selected among the three to represent the United States in the international races.

Dr. H. H. Henshaw of St. Louis, an independent pilot, reported that he had landed about 20 miles south of Joplin, Mo., Friday, after covering about 550 miles, while Major O. C. Over of Washington, piloting an army balloon, came down near Lake St. John, province of Quebec, Canada.

No Word of Pilot.

Nothing has been heard of the balloon piloted by Lieutenant Reed since Thursday night. If he makes a successful landing, it is thought that his balloon will be one of the winners, unless it runs into winds that force it back in its course.

Lieutenant Commander J. P. Norfleet, piloting a helium-filled navy balloon, landed at Hancock, Mo., Thursday, while Captain Louis E. Bess of the army came down near Witt, Ill., and Ward T. Van Orman, Igron, Ohio, civilian, landed Thursday night at Fayette, Mo.

LACK OF WATER IS HELD VALID CAUSE FOR DAMAGE

Idaho Irrigation Project Settles With Suit in State Supreme Court

BOISE—W. J. Tappan and S. H. Hopkins were awarded damages against the Idaho Irrigation company of Richfield, in a decision handed down Thursday by the state supreme court.

The suit was brought by the two settlers on the company's project because of alleged injury suffered by their crops on account of shortage of water during the irrigation season of 1918.

The company contended that because there was a shortage of water that year, it was unable to furnish the required amount to any of its users and that all were out in proportion to the amount to which they were entitled under their contracts. The court, however, held that this constitutes an infringement of the contract and that the required amount of water should have been delivered.

IDAHO FALLS CITIZENS VOTE DOWN BOND ISSUE

Twenty-two Turn Down Proposed Indebtedness of $250,000 for Filtration Plant

IDAHO FALLS—A majority of the taxpayers of Idaho Falls are not in favor of such a bond issue. That fact was demonstrated Monday at the special election submitting to the people the matter of a bond issue of $250,000 for the purpose of building a filtration plant.

The vote was 437 for and 585 against, a majority against the issue, while a two-thirds majority is necessary to carry a issue of the kind.

Several elements entered into the election, one being the plan submitted, a filtration plant is not approved, and the other and the big element the tax situation of such a bond issue. The people generally do not feel inclined to vote for anything at the present time that calls for an expenditure of public funds which require taxes to meet the obligation.

There is some discussion at the present time of calling another election for the purpose of taking up the matter of a supply of water by means of wells.

SENATE PASSES ANNUAL BILL OF ARMY EXPENSES

Measure Carries Appropriation of Nearly $342,000,000 and Provides for 133,000 Enlisted Men

WASHINGTON, (AP).—Carrying an appropriation of $341,750,000 the annual army appropriation bill was passed late Friday by the senate. It fixes the size of the army for the next year at an average of 12,500 officers and 133,000 men.

Passage of the bill, which was with out a record vote, followed quickly after a test vote by which the senate accepted, 49 to 21, its committee's action in after a preliminary tangle on the size of the army from 115,000 to 133,000 enlisted men. The strength of 12,500 officers compares with 11,000 as voted by the house.

The senate disposed of the bill speedily, the measure being taken up for the first time and passed within six hours. All committee amendments except those affecting the size of the army were acted upon within three hours, constituting what was regarded as at most a record by the senate. The measure now goes to conference with the house but it is not expected that the discussions will begin before Tuesday.

Questions But Accepts

Next to the question of the size of the army, the proposition causing most debate was the amendment submitted by the agriculture committee appropriating $7,500,000 for continuation of work on the Muscle Shoals project, the senate accepted without a record vote after a preliminary tangle which lasted for an hour.

The Muscle Shoals amendment proposed for a time to reopen the whole question of the government's policy with respect to the power project, but Chairman Norris of the agriculture committee declared that no policy had been determined and that members work further on dam number two in the Tennessee river would be "an economic crime."

Although the army strength agreed upon by the senate was regarded as a compromise between the figure of 150,000 sought by the war department and that fixed by the house, senators expect a hard fight before an agreement is reached with the house.

Party Lines Broken

Party lines were broken when the test vote was taken. Nine democrats voted with the republican majority in upholding the senate committee while six republicans were counted in the negative. Democrats voting for the 125,000 army included Ashurst, Gerry, Griffin, Keudtke, Myers, Sheppards, Smith, Underwood and Williams. Republicans who voted against the proposition were: Borah, Capper, Ladd, La Follette, Norris and Willis.

TO BUILD COMBINED MUFFLER AND HEATER

Outline of Arrangement Not Easily Damaged.

Device is Made by Assembling Short Sections of Pipes Such as Are Used for Waste and Fairly Thin-Walled.

Starting a car in cold weather is especially hard on the muffler and sometimes muffler shots demolish the muffler shells. An arrangement that is not easily damaged unless through a collision or accident may be made by assembling short sections of pipe such as are used by plumbers for waste pipes, fairly thin-walled. These can be connected with couplings and secured on the end of the exhaust pipe to replace the muffler. Six or eight sections make a muffler as efficient as the usual type bought.

An advantage afforded by the use of these pipes, as shown in the illustration, is that the heat may be directed into the car through a perforated cover.

This arrangement does not encroach upon the foot room, and in summer the perforated section can be covered with a piece of sheet iron and the sheet-iron box cover about the improvised heater muffler removed to avoid unduly heating the foot—G. A. L., In Popular Science Monthly.

MECHANISM CARE LENGTHENS LIFE

Average Owner of Car Knows Just About Enough to Put Foot on the Gas.

PROPER INSTRUCTION NEEDED

Course in Driving and in Automotive Mechanics Will Be Money and Time Well Spent—Instruction Book Will Help.

With about 2,000,000 automobiles being produced in this country annually, it can be taken for granted that about 6,000 cars are sold every business day of the year. A lot of purchasers are fairly green when it comes to operating their cars, to say nothing of taking the proper care of them.

Of course the buyer receives a certain amount of instruction as to running the machine from the man who sells it to him. That is to say, the owner when he finds himself alone with his newly acquired possession is apt to alter the thing well enough to keep between the two curbs of the street, and to negotiate a corner by some "hobby" method. He may know how to step on the gas, where at least one of the brake apparatus is and something about shifting gears.

Should Know His Car.

But there are a lot of things about a car that he should know, and if he doesn't know them he should get busy at once to acquire some knowledge. The best thing for him to do right off the bat is to take a short course in driving from some experienced man or in some recognized school, and a longer course in automotive mechanics. This will be time and money well spent in the long run.

At any rate, he should take the instruction book that comes with his car and learn it by heart. A good deal of it will be Greek to him, and it will be necessary to consult an expert to get an explanation of this technical information and make it somewhat understandable. This book should be reverenced next to the Bible. It is indispensable.

Doubtless the owner will find that the manufacturer has, for instance, given certain instructions concerning lubrication, perhaps has specified certain kinds of lubricants. Now, no matter how much you may know about the subject of lubrication, rest assured that the manufacturer has had an engineer study out the lubrication of his car, and what he writes concerning it is the last word, and it should be followed implicitly.

Service Depends on Cars.

The same thing is true as to tires, brakes or steering gear, or any other part of the mechanism.

The owner, whether he possesses a low-priced car or an edition de luxe, has about as much money tied up in his auto as he feels he can devote to that particular form of pleasure or investment. It is an investment which will or will not bring commensurate returns in money or moments well spent. It can be made an indispensable aid to both business and pleasure or it may become an unaffordable nuisance. The actual value of a car depends not so much upon the amount of the purchase price as upon what can be gotten out of it; its service, its dependability and general reliability; that and the low cost of upkeep and operation.

It is reasonable, therefore, for the owner to give as much thought and study to the machine which propels him and his merchandise as to the machine in the factory which produces the merchandise. He ought to understand how and why and wherefore it propels him—or why not.

CRIME AS A BELL
 The marked increase in crimes of violence in this country is not only a source of worry to the citizen, but perhaps not even the chief reason why serious-minded men and women are giving their attention to this grave problem. What strikes many of these persons as the most baffling thing about the prevalence of crime is that in an age which is in many respects so advanced, crime should still prevail.

In primitive communities such a state of affairs is to be expected. Lacking both the high ideals and the defensive organizations to which we lay claim in our day, it is only natural to expect that in the primitive community men should resort more quickly than we do to the club or tomahawk. We are not shocked when we learn that in such primitive times men and even women frequently met death at the hands of their fellowmen.

But in our own day crime should be as archaic as would be the ships in which Columbus crossed the Atlantic. There is practically nothing else in life about us which so completely takes us back to primitive days. Our way of living, our schools and churches, indeed, the whole fabric of our social organization is modern. When he lives a normal life under modern conditions, the average man is today no more like the men of primitive times than the crimes of violence are relics, than the old papyrus manuscripts of the Egyptians are like our modern books.

It has been suggested that perhaps too much of our effort goes into the mere business of defending society against the criminal. We have given too little of our energy to the work of understanding what there is not only about the modern criminal, but about the modern community which can make it possible for this archaic institution to survive. We have brought our understanding of nature up to date; the next thing to do is to bring up to date our knowledge of man and the social groups in which he lives. When that is done we may come upon a more effective and less expensive method of crime prevention than we have tried up to now.

RATES COMING DOWN
 The interstate commerce commission has performed a valuable public service by cutting down railroad freight rates on non agricultural commodities. The time has arrived to give the people some relief. The railroads can well afford to accept rates which are calculated to yield them five and three-quarter per cent instead of six per cent. Money is cheaper, wages are coming down and the profits of five and three-quarter per cent are reasonable.

The cut is deepest in the east and lowest in the west, because of the cheaper cost of railroading in the east and the somewhat lower wages. The cut as a whole averages about 10 per cent. This, as the commission well says, will tend to stabilize all business. The rates have been too high, as was shown by the stagnation of many lines of business dependent upon rail transportation. Throughout the country the cry has been for a reduction of freight rates. Later, when business has developed its normal volume of freight and the cost of transportation becomes lower, rates should be cut still further.

MAKE ROOM FOR PEACE
 Everybody knows what "makes Jack a dull boy." But only recently has government taken a hand at helping the people play. Even the president of the United States is taking an interest in it. Mr. Harding writes to John Barton Payne, who is to preside at a convention held in one of the parks of New York state, that it is highly desirable to set aside ground to be used for recreational purposes. "Every year of delay in creating such resorts," says he, "is certain to increase the expense and the difficulty of securing the most desirable kind of property."

The nation and most of the states already have programs for developing park systems. They should be greatly extended. Cities, counties and other local units of public control may well engage in such enterprises until every community has abundant room for recreation.

Complimenting Mrs. H. G. Avery of La Grande, Ore., who recently clubbed her sister, Mrs. Oliver Harstad, Mrs. Hal Heiler and Mrs. Ray Logan entertained informally Friday. The party first centered in the "Nuts" which swimming was enjoyed, upon returning to town a delicious 1:30 luncheon was served followed by bridge at the home of Mrs. Heiler. The guest list included Mrs. H. G. Avery, Mrs. Oliver Harstad, Mrs. J. H. North, Mrs. John Smith, Mrs. Charles McCaulley, Mrs. Walter DeFusse, Mrs. William Macnealey and Mrs. Frank Magel.

The card party given Friday afternoon at the First Century club at the Parish hall was one of the most delightful social affairs of the season. Bridge, "500" and pinocle were played. The hall was artistically decorated with streamers of red, white, blue and yellow. Vases and bowls of spring flowers used in profusion about the room added to the attractive appearance of the hall. One hundred and twelve ladies were in attendance. At the close of the afternoon tea cream and coffee were served. A piano was rented for the building fund.

Mrs. Frank Baldwin was hostess this week to the Thursday Bridge club which meets at the attractive club at 15th avenue east. Mrs. P. W. McNeely was the club favor. After the card games delicious refreshments were served. Mrs. J. H. Hartsch, Mrs. Yvonne Hagar and Miss Fern Cameron were guests.

The American Legion Auxiliary held their regular meeting for the week Thursday evening in the Business Woman's club rooms. Mrs. O. L. DeLong, president of the organization, presided, and much business was transacted. The state convention will be held this year at Nampa to which the officers of the chapter are delegates. Mrs. Emma L. Warren was elected alternate. A committee was appointed (composed of Mrs. James Harvey, chairman, Mrs. E. J. Ostrander and Mrs. J. H. North) to confer with the Legion concerning a card party to be given in a short time, the proceeds to go to the Legion. This party will close the activities of the organization until September. At the close of the evening refreshments were served by the hostesses Mrs. A. J. Finkle, Mrs. James Harvey and Mrs. John Harvey.

At the business meeting of the Addison Avenue Social Club Thursday the matter of co-operating with the Blue Lakes Bowling club in the serving of hot lunches at the Washington school next fall was discussed. Mrs. Charles Bruggeman was the hostess Thursday afternoon, and during the social hour served delicious luncheon assisted by the Misses Eleanor and Agnes Stronk. Mrs. W. J. Mack will entertain the club on June 29.

Mrs. L. O. Evans entertained at the A. A. K. club Friday afternoon at her home on Addison avenue. The hours passed pleasantly with needlework and conversation. Twelve members were present and Mrs. Hansen and Mrs. Haglund were guests. At the close of the afternoon the hostess served dainty refreshments.

MODERN METHODS KEEP AUTOS NEW

Several Excellent Liquid and Wax Polishes on Market Give Admirable Results.

SPRAYER USEFUL ON SURFACE

Owner Must Not Assume That New and Helpful Aids in Beautifying Have Superseded Water-Care Must Be Washed.

The present-day owner using modern methods may keep his car looking new all the time, nor will he have to spend more than a few moments a day to accomplish this end. For instance, here are now on the market a number of liquid and wax polishes which will give admirable results if they are used as directed.

In the use of wax polishes the first step is to clean the body of the car thoroughly. The polish is applied to the surface with a piece of clean cloth and then another clean cloth is used to distribute the wax evenly all over the surface. Car owners commonly make the mistake of thinking that the more wax applied the better. As a matter of fact a very thin film is all that is needed. The polish will last for from four days to a week, and after it has been applied at the beginning of the week a little rubbing with a clean cloth will bring out the luster again. The wax polish may be used for fenders, hood and other untrous surfaces and it will also be found that if the under side of the fenders is cleaned and given a good coating of wax there will be less rust and what is there may be easily removed.

Spray Polish.
 The most recent type of body polish is that which is sprayed on the surface with a large sprayer. In using this polish the body must be thoroughly cleaned with water. If the body surface are merely dusty the polish need not be sprayed on and then be wiped off with a clean cloth. After spraying the polish over the surface a piece of clean cloth is used in wipe off the excess.

The present-day owner must not assume that these new and really useful aids to beautifying the motorcar have superseded plain water. The contrary is true. The car must be washed just as formerly, after which the new polishes will bring out the luster of the original finish.

Snap should never be used on the body except for removing grease or oil spots. A small piece of soft wool, well covered with castile soap suds, serves very well to remove grease from the panels. The hood should never be washed while it is hot, as this will result in discoloration. In cleaning the radiator send a stream of water from the rear instead of the front, to keep moisture-out of the mechanism.

Use a Chamiso.
 In drying the body a clean chamiso skin should be used, rubbing being done in straight lines. If spots of tar or road oil are found on the body it is best to treat them with soft, butter or kerosene. The butter softens the deposit so that it may be wiped off easily. Kerosene should be applied locally and wiped off with an indiarubber.

To keep pace with the improved appearance of the body it is necessary to give some attention to the top and the upholstery. A weekly brushing of the top inside and out will aid materially in its life. Fabric tops should never be cleaned with gasoline, kerosene or other oils, as they tend to destroy the rubber in the top. Castile soap and water applied with a stiff brush is the best cleansing medium for the top.

Society Girl To Wed Blacksmith's Son

Walker, of Lake Shore Drive, to Stanislaw Szukalski, of New York, a sculptor, who has known hunger many a time, given in the past year. At the death of his father, a Polish blacksmith, the boy used his body to dissect in his anatomical studies, being too poor to buy a cadaver.

INTEREST GROWS WITH ELECTION DAY'S APPROACH

Registrars at City Hall are kept busy as closing hours bring many citizens in to be registered

With the near approach of Twin Falls' first commission form election for mayor and four councilmen next Tuesday, sharp increase in the number of citizens registering at the office of the city clerk is taken to indicate growing intensity of interest in the result of the voting.

New Record Expected. It is expected that eleven-hour registrations, before the closing hour at 9 o'clock this evening, marking the culmination of the time for registering, will record by a considerable number the record of Friday when 97 citizens qualified for voting by registration.

Absentee Votes Bigger Factor. Absolute votes will not enter a larger figure in the coming election than in any prior election in Twin Falls' history.

Citizens Forecast Opinion. Citizens interested in the success of the ticket headed by William Graham as candidate for mayor, claim a large credit for the increase in the number of registrations for the coming election.
