Pennsylvania Railroad Announces Agreement With Men Providing for Reduction of Existing Wages

PHILADELPHIA, (AP)—Wage reductions to be effective July 1, have been agreed upon by the Pennsylvania railroad and representatives of its employees...

The new wages, according to the announcement, "involve reductions which have been mutually agreed upon to conform with the lower cost of living..."

Didn't Ask Reductions. No figures were given out by the company. The Pennsylvania was a reply to the reductions asked by other railroads and granted by the United States railroad labor board.

The Pennsylvania's statement further said: "The successful outcome of this wage negotiation with the maintenance men by word and telegraph and sign employees, constitutes one of the most notable achievements thus far recorded for the Pennsylvania railroad's employees representation plan."

HUGE AMOUNT OF LIQUOR IS SEIZED

Raid on Vessels in New York Harbor Yields Cargo of Alleged Whiskey

NEW YORK, (AP)—Customs inspectors late Tuesday raided three vessels in port, two flying the American flag and the other a Norwegian freighter, and confiscated 2,460 bottles of alleged liquor, all of which was declared to have been smuggled aboard. The ships searched were the United States steamer shipboard steamer President Arthur, operated by the United States Lines; the Ward liner Siboney, and the Danforth, a Norwegian cargo ship.

Reports that the President Arthur's cargo of liquor intact, but when they searched the hold and other parts of the ship they found 160 cases of alleged liquor, most of it said to be of German manufacture, which they said, had been smuggled aboard. Officers and members of the crew denied any knowledge as to how it was brought aboard. None of the liquor seized was sealed or on the ship's manifest.

Despite the statement of customs inspectors, one mystery attached to the seizure. Post Surveyor Thomas W. Whittier, in the chief of the customs inspectors' professed ignorance of the raids but admitted that the searching squad had authority to act on its own discretion. They declined to comment on the action before receiving official reports.

WOODMEN OF WORLD WILL HOLD PICNIC AT TRUDE

Officers and members of Twin Falls camp, Woodmen of the World, have received an invitation to attend the annual picnic under auspices of the Eastern Idaho association, Woodmen of the World, to be held July 10 and 11 at Trude, Idaho. Special trains will be run from Pocatello for the occasion of the lodgemen attending the event and a program of games, races and dog and team competitions has been arranged.

The Woodmen of the World of Eastern Idaho gathered at last year's picnic at Roxburg in great numbers. Luncheon were served for more than 1200 persons.

CHICAGO SOCIETY LEADER VICTIM OF GRAFT

MRS. NABORS N. THORNE, wife of James Ward Thorne, Chicago millionaire, testified she was victim of graft at the hands of Chicago labor leaders when she was forced to pay cash to avert a strike of union men who refused to work on lamps made by the anti-union Women's Exchange, sponsored by Mrs. Thorne as one of her many philanthropies.

HERRIN PEOPLE HAVE GAY TIME AT LODGE WORK

Merriment Reigns in Streets of Camp Which Last Week Was Scene of Tragedy Unique in Annals of Mining

HERRIN, Ill., (AP)—Herrin's men and women and its babies in camp Tuesday night held a carnival across the street from the hospital where the wounded strike-breakers of Tuesday's massacre lay confined, one or two dying—from their wounds.

Laughter and jokes floated across the summer night; paper caps adorned the heads of the gay throng and last week's "incident" was forgotten in the happiness of social hilarities.

The occasion was the installation of a local chapter of an international club. It began with a parade and band blaring dance music from a truck. The mayor was there, and the chief of police and all the local dignitaries.

Reports reaching Herrin Tuesday that policemen and firemen were being urged to leave their posts at several mines, were denied by union officials and miners.

The punishment and maintenance employees at one mine owned by the Leadbetter Coal company, were discharged Tuesday morning by the company officials, according to Fox Hughes, sub-district vice president. The men, members of the union, had been put to work yesterday relieving office employees and mine bosses who had operated since the strike was declared. After working at hours, according to Mr. Hughes, the union men were dismissed.

SUMMER CABINS CRUSHED UNDER WEIGHT OF SNOW

Outdoor Resorts at the Easley Springs Damaged by Winter Storms

Weight of the snow during the winter crushed the cabins at Easley Springs in the upper Wood river region, according to the report of George W. Wilcox, who with Mrs. Wilcox, has just returned from a trip to their cabin there. Twin Falls owners of wrecked cabins were B. Chad Stovary, W. E. Morgan and F. W. Neale. The cabin owned by B. Brown, reportedly, also was crushed by the snow.

Water in Wood river continues high, Mr. Wilcox reports, but in the backwaters of the smaller tributary streams opportunities for fishermen are most favorable. Boats are in good condition.

SETTLEMENT OF COAL STRIKE IS NOT ABANDONED

Negotiations Looking to Calling of Joint Meeting of Operators and Workers Moving Steadily Forward

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Assurance multiplied Tuesday that the attempts of the administration to bring about a settlement of the bituminous coal strike have neither been dropped nor stifled. From the White House came word that President Harding felt delicate negotiations to be necessary before the spokesmen of the striking miners and the representatives of the mine owners could get together for a wage agreement and resumption of work. Further, there were intimations that government intervention now confined to persuasion and suggestion might in some way be eliminated and forcible demand for public safety and welfare demand early settlement and the present move prove futile in bringing it about.

Meanwhile, John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, remained in Washington, although there was definite intimation that his prolonged absence from Monday meeting with the president was at final suggestion.

There were intimations that officials were considering a plan to bring few representative operators together with Mr. Lewis and other responsible leaders of the miners' union for the purpose of discussing informally proposals for holding a conference authorized by the government.

California Town Again Visited by Destructive Fire

Mexical Scene of Widespread Conflagration for Second Time in Few Days

MEXICALI, Lower California, (AP)—Fire belched at incendia Tuesday night destroyed the Owl safe and gambling house, part of its liquor stock and the segregated district, at an estimated loss of $500,000, and was threatening other parts of the city at a late hour Tuesday night.

YUMA, Ariz., (AP)—Mexicali, Lower California, is in flames for the second time in a week, according to a telephone message received Tuesday night by J. F. Quigley, local agent of the Southern Sierra Power company, from M. B. Morgan, the company's Eastern California representative.

Yuma was without electric power because, Mr. Quigley was told, "all electric energy of the Southern Sierra Power company on the circuit extending through the Imperial valley to this district was used in combating the fire."

DEAD OFFICIAL INTERRED

Impressive Scenes Mark Ceremonies in Reichstag in Honor of Dr. Rathenau

BERLIN, (AP)—The body of Dr. Walter Rathenau, foreign minister of the German republic, who was assassinated last Saturday, was buried Tuesday in Reichstag. In the presence of only the members of his family. Prior to the interment, impressive ceremonies were held in the chamber of the Reichstag, where the casket rested in the place usually occupied by the desk of the president of the chamber. Two simple wreaths lay upon it, one from the mother of the statesman and the other from a sister. Those inside the chamber were strikingly representative of all walks of German life. In the former imperial bar at the mother of Dr. Rathenau, surrounded by the diplomatic corps, among them Alanson B. Houghton, the American ambassador.

President Eder delivered an eulogy of the dead statesman, in which he declared that the assassin's bullets had robbed Germany of one of her ablest champions of rejuvenation.

Mystery Surrounds Attack on Auto by Ohio Coal Miners

John H. Major Shot to Death and Two Men Are Seriously Wounded

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, Ohio, (AP)—Investigation by county officials of the alleged attack of striking miners on an automobile carrying workers to the mine of the Union Coal Stripping company, near Laferriere, Tuesday, in which John H. Major, 44, was shot to death and his nephew, Clyde Major, and Clark Story, all of Hamiltonburg, were wounded, so far has failed to disclose names of any of the attacking party.

DUTY ON CATTLE SUPPLIES TOPIC OF SHARP DEBATE

Senator Gooding Takes Prominent Part in Defense of Agricultural Schedule of Pending Measure

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The agricultural schedule in the administration tariff bill was attacked Tuesday in the senate by Senator Walsh of Massachusetts, a democratic member of the finance committee, and Senator Gooding, republican, Idaho, chairman of the republicans' committee on tariff bills. The debate continued for several hours, with the result that some of the committee amendments in the schedule was voted upon.

The paragraph dealing with duties on cattle and fresh beef and wool finally came under consideration and, without a record vote announced by Senator Walsh of Massachusetts, to reduce the committee rates were rejected. It sought to substitute 8 1/2 cents a pound for 1 1/2 cents a pound on live cattle weighing less than 1000 pounds; 1 1/2 cents a pound on fresh beef and 2 cents a pound on fresh beef and wool in place of the committee rate of 1 1/2 cents.

Asserting that the bill was "an attempt to make a raid on the consumers of the country such as never before has been dreamed," Senator Walsh declared that the duties proposed on cattle, corn, potatoes and apples alone would increase the cost to the consumer by $1,216,000,000 annually, or about 481 for the average family of six. This did not take into account, he said, the increased costs that would follow from the duties on butter, eggs, poultry, fruit, fish and the many other goods in the schedule.

Discussing what he denominated "the influence of the republicans' tariff bill on the senate finance committee majority in the framing of the bill," Senator Walsh said that this "influence" was successful was shown by the fact that the committee increased from 20 to 250 per cent the duties on commodities in which the bloc was interested and reduced the house rates on all other products in the agricultural schedule. He asserted also that rates were lowered agricultural products of the domestic states of the south and said it was "inconceivable that a political party would carry partisanship to such an extent."

To Take His Share. Senator McComber declared he was willing to take the share of the responsibility for the increase on the house rate, adding that they would have been made, blue or no blue. He said he was glad of the assistance that the bloc had rendered "in doing justice to the farmer."

Senator Gooding expressed surprise that an attack on the agricultural schedule had been made by a senator from a state the industries of which, he said, had been protected for 100 years. He said this was the first time that New England had not written the tariff bill because it was the first time that the West had had enough men on the finance committee to give "a square deal to the farmer as well as to the manufacturer."

WINGFIELD WILL SERVE

RENO, Nev., (AP)—George Wingfield, well-known Nevada sheep and goat as a republican national committeeman for Nevada, owing to ill health, withdrew his resignation Tuesday when the state convention adopted a resolution requesting him to do so.

RAILROADS GIVEN FINAL CHANCE TO AVERT STRIKE

Nation Wide Walkout of Shop Men Will Take Place July First Unless Terms of Final Ultimatum are Complied With—Continuation of Present Wages Main Demand of Workers

DECISION ON STRIKE CALL FOLLOWS SECRET SESSION LASTING TWO DAYS

CHICAGO, (AP)—A strike of the 400,000 railway shopmen of the country will be called for July 1, unless the railroads agree to stay the $60,000,000 wage out for the shopworkers on that date and to restore certain working conditions formerly in effect, it was made known Tuesday night through a telegram from B. M. Jewell, head of the shopcrafts, to the Association of Railway Executives. Decision to call a strike came late on Tuesday after discussion by the executive committee of the six-shopcrafts unions, based on the strike vote of the men thus far received.

The committee left but one loophole to avoid the strike. If the railroads arrange an immediate conference, agreeing meanwhile to continue present wages, the strike working rules modified by the railroad labor board, and discontinuing farming out railroad work without a call to avert the strike, the telegram said. Otherwise, "a sanction of withdrawal from employment on July 1, 1922, as voted by the employees, will be unavoidable."

The 2500 word telegram, addressed to T. Dewitt Cuyler, chairman of the Association of Railway Executives, threw no light on the actual strike vote beyond saying it was an "overwhelming majority."

No Concessions of Any Character Will Be Granted

Chicago Great Western Announces Indefinite Continuation of Present Policy

CHICAGO, (AP)—A flat refusal to appear before the United States railroad labor board and announce the contents of its intention of pursuing its policy of contracting railroad shop work, constituted the answer of the Chicago Great Western railroad Tuesday when cases were called before the board on contract disputes with the shopmen and maintenance of way unions. The two unions filed their charges against the road which is alleged to have contracted shop and track work at various points along its entire system. No answer was filed by the road.

BIG PARADE OF VETERANS HELD

Convention of Disabled Soldiers Opens With Impressive Appeal by Commander

SAN FRANCISCO, (AP)—Gratitude to the men who came home from the world war with crippled bodies expressed at the second annual convention of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War, began here Tuesday in a gala ceremony as the veterans marched in a parade through the streets and in spoken tributes in the convention hall.

The veterans, themselves, as they gathered on the convention floor, gave vent to shouts, cries and laughter that might have signified victory over either the German or the company cooks, but hilarity quickly gave place to silence as an invocation was delivered by their blind chaplain, Rabbi Michael Aarocso.

Then for a full minute the soldiers, sailors and marines who had come through shell fire and gas clouds alive stood in reverence to their comrades who had given up their earthly existence in their country's defense, while the call of "taps" sounded from the bugle.

Next came the keynote of the convention, "The need of urging the country to repay in hospital care, in employment and vocational training its debt to the flag's defenders." This was sounded by Robert S. Mary, Cincinnati, national commander of the organization, in his opening speech to the convention.

COUNT OF STRIKE VOTES GOES STEADILY FORWARD

Situation Unchanged, Membership Generally Strongly Favors Walk Out

DETROIT, (AP)—Approximately 85,000 votes had been tabulated Tuesday in the strike referendum conducted by the United Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees and Railway Shop Laborers, according to information forthcoming from the general headquarters of the organization here, where the count is in progress, and it was announced the situation is unchanged, the membership generally favoring a walk-out in protest against the maintenance cut, provided other unions join in.

While the votes counted Monday were principally from surrounding districts, Tuesday's count, it was said, was over a wide area, leading union officials to believe that the sentiment of the organization is overwhelmingly in favor of a strike, if it is supported by other unions, who also are faced with wage cuts ordered by the United States railroad labor board.

TO REOPEN MINES

WALLACE, Idaho, (AP)—Operators at the Hercules and Tamarack operations will be resumed early in July, it was learned Tuesday at the Wallace office of the two companies. The mines succeeded work in April, 1921. Wallace announced the resumption of operations has been made, orders have been received at the mines and mills to make all necessary preparations for operation of the properties.

CASH PROVIDED FOR WORK UPON MUSCLE SHOALS

Army Appropriation Bill Passes with $7,500,000 Set Aside for Construction Upon Government Project

WASHINGTON, (AP)—President Harding's signature was all that was required Tuesday night for authorizing the appropriation of $7,500,000 for new work on the Muscle Shoals dam at Muscle Shoals, Ala. The army bill containing authority of congress to spend the money on that project, effective Oct. 1, next, was passed Tuesday by the senate with a change in the language already approved by the house and by conference of the two legislative bodies.

During final senate consideration, however, the measure at certain stages was threatened with being sent back to the house for further consideration. Senator Norris, chairman of the committee on the bill, moved that the senate disapprove with the house provisions delaying expenditure of the money until October. It finally was approved by the senate by a vote of 29 to 32.

Action Termined Unfortunate.
The Nebraska senator led the attack on the house amendment and was joined by Senator Williams of New York, chairman of the military committee in charge of the bill, and by Senator Underwood of Alabama, the democratic leader, in declaring the house action "unfortunate." The latter two senators, however, differed with Senator Norris on his motion, disapproving, declaring that if it prevailed, the bill would be returned to the house and the appropriation probably would be jeopardized in that procedure.

MEXICAN RELATIONS ARE NOT AFFECTED

Seizure of Americans for Ransom is Not Officially Charged Up to Obregon

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Seizure of 40 American employes of the Cortez Oil Company at Tampico, Mexico, reported to the state department Tuesday, as security for a ransom of 15,000 pesos, created a stir in official circles in Washington.

Lacking further information as to what has happened behind what is apparently a tight censorship at Tampico, however, there was little to indicate Tuesday night, whether the incident would lead to any change of attitude here toward the Obregon government in Mexico.

To fact at the White House it was said that relations between the United States and Mexico were not likely to be affected in any way by the bandit outbreak and the recent kidnaping for ransom near Cuernavaca of Bruce Binham, formerly chief of the bureau of investigation of the department of justice.

Until the Mexican government has been proved unequal to according such protection to Americans and their property as the occasion demands there appears to be no disposition here to move in any other than a dignified way.

Beyond a brief report stating that in addition to the two score American employes, a quarter of a million dollar's worth of destructible property of the Cortez Oil company was being held as security for the payment demanded, no other word has reached the state department concerning the bandit action in Tampico.

Aboriginal Europeans.
The European aboriginal man was the Neanderthal. The three races of Caucasian stock, Aryans, Alids and Semites, are invaders. Of these only the Aryans claim to be in any way European. The earliest traces of Aryans show a race of blond savages inhabiting the part the marvages of western Russia. They did not dwell at that time in the West or in the Baltic basin, because these places were under ice, and looked like Greenland does today.

Hickory in Demand.
Hickory, with its marvellous strength, elasticity and resilience, is used for tool handles, for the spokes of automobile wheels, for golf clubs, and for many other purposes. There is increasingly keen competition among the industries for this wood, although there are still 10,000,000 feet of standing hickory throughout the country. Manufacturers have to go farther for their supply, and, really select stock is already very hard to obtain in the required quantities.—Scientific American.

LETTERS STILL MAIN FEATURE

High Lights of Mrs. Obenchain's Correspondence are Given to Jury

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—More love letters of Paul Roman, convict, to Mrs. Madalyn Obenchain, on trial for the second time for the murder of J. Bolton Kennedy, were read to the jury Tuesday.

Roman, who is undergoing cross-examination, and had previously testified that Mrs. Obenchain had sought to have him give false testimony in her behalf, admitted writing the letters. Those in evidence were written about the time of Mrs. Obenchain's first trial, in which the jury disagreed.

In one letter he wrote "Heart of My Heart, be brave. I am with you always, consequently no harm can befall you."

Roman was an inmate of the county jail with Mrs. Obenchain and he now is serving a sentence for felony at the Folsom, Calif., penitentiary. He was called as a "surprise" witness by the prosecution.

There were several references to Kennedy in the letters, one of them being: "Perhaps it was meant he should stop aside for me," while another read, "You loved him and he merely played with you."

Tells Warden of Letters.
The letters covered a period from January to May, last. Roman testified that in the latter part of March he told the warden at Folsom that he was corresponding with Mrs. Obenchain and then wrote to District Attorney Workman about it. Later the district attorney went to Folsom and took a statement from Roman that Mrs. Obenchain had tried to get him to give false testimony for her.

The witness was asked if he was as much in love with Mrs. Obenchain after his talk with the district attorney as he had been before.

"I never was very deeply in love with her, but I guess I was just as much then as I ever was," replied Roman.

Letters written by Roman during April and May contained expressions of affection similar to those in his previous letters. "What ever you do, treat me to be truthful to you," he wrote in May.

Her First Love Adventure.
I was sixteen then. It was after midnight when my girl friend and I left a dance, and we were afraid to go home. Two young men asked us if they might escort us home, and we consented. The young man who took me, asked me to call him up the next day. My affair was love at first sight, but ended when I called him up. He asked who was speaking and I said, "I'm the girl you escorted home last night." "Jungle how I felt when he said, "Which one?" I hung up the receiver, and that ended my love affair. I haven't seen him since.—Chicago Journal.

WIFE TELLS OF LAST STAND OF DEPOSED CHIEF

Madame Sun Yat-Sen Gives a Graphic Description of Final Hours of Chinese President in Canton

SHANG HAI, (AP)—Madame Sun Yat-Sen, wife of the deposed president of South China, who arrived here Tuesday from Canton, described in an interview with the Associated Press her husband's flight and her last stand in the presidential palace with a bodyguard of 50 soldiers against Chen Ching-Ming's troops.

Madame Sun declared that a scant 500 men under her husband's command were opposed to an army of 25,000 led by Chen Ching-Ming, and that the bodyguard of 50 soldiers left with her in the presidential palace when her husband, after her repeated urging, took refuge in flight, was killed almost to a man.

The wife of the fallen southern leader said she was awakened at 2 o'clock in the morning of June 16 by her husband who told her that she must flee. He informed her he had been warned by telephone that General Chen's troops were looting the city with cries of "kill the president," and that they were planning to attack his residence.

In Care of Guard.
Madame Sun insisted that she would be safe in the presidential palace and finally Dr. Sun agreed to leave her in the care of a heavily armed bodyguard of 60 of his retainers.

Half an hour after Sun had departed the valleys from Chen's soldiers began pouring into the palace from the hill sides surrounding it. The palace guards replied volley for volley, the staff of servants of the official residence aiding them. Many of the soldiers fell but the remainder continued the unequal battle even after portions of the palace had been destroyed over their heads by shells from a mountain gun which Chen's men had posted on a near-by hillside.

The remnant of the bodyguard stuck to their rifles until it o'clock in the morning when their ammunition gave out.

At this juncture, Colonel George Bow, aide to Sun Yat-Sen, made his way to the palace from the president's office, a third of a mile away. He traversed a narrow footbridge under heavy fire and when he found Madame Sun he urged her to take instant flight.

In Hall of Bullets.
With Colonel Bow and two members of her decorated bodyguard, Madame Sun crossed the footbridge on her hands and knees while a hail of bullets from rifles of Chen's troops poured about the little party and tore away sections of the flimsy bridge.

Once across the bridge, they clambered over roofs in their dash for the protection of the presidential offices. Colonel Bow dropped with bullets in both legs and Madame Sun and her two Chinese guards crawled him the remainder of the way into the offices and barricaded the place as best they could.

Human Nature Changes Little.
The children now live luxury, they have had manners, contempt for authority, they had disrespect to elders and love clutter for place of exercise. Children are low tyrants, not the slaves of their households. They no longer rise when an elder enters the room, they contradict their parents, chatter before company, gobble up the dainties at the table, cross their legs and tyrannize over their pedagogues. "Another Package From Booth's"

EIGHT BODIES ARE FOUND ON MEXICAN SOIL

Grotesque Discoveries Along American Border in California Indicate Renewed Revolutionary Activity

CALEXICO, Cal., (AP)—Twenty-one men have been killed in and around Mexico's Lower California in the last two weeks, according to official reports in Calexico, just across the international line. This compilation was made Tuesday following the discovery early Tuesday morning of eight dead Mexicans lying on a small island east of Calexico, one of the many bodies in an irrigation ditch on the American side of the boundary.

Several of the dead are said to be agitators and revolutionists executed by Mexican army officials in Lower California. After the bodies were found Tuesday morning, American ranchers living close to the line reported continual firing in the vicinity throughout the night.

American authorities concerned themselves Tuesday only with the bodies found in the irrigation ditch on the American side of the eight bodies were the first of the eight discovered. Marks on the bank of the ditch led to the belief the body had been dragged from the Mexican side and thrown into the water.

All efforts to identify the dead man failed but when the other seven bodies were found on the Mexican side and reports of the American ranchers received, the authorities concluded there had been a pitched battle of a revolutionary nature east of Mexicali during the night.

TROOPS PREPARE TO REPEL ATTACKS ON FOUR COURTS

Situation in Dublin Regarded as Critical—Government Demands Ultimatum

DUBLIN, (AP)—The dissident troops holding four courts are strengthening their defenses in the evident expectation that their capture of Lieutenant General O'Connell, assistant chief of staff of the regular republican forces, will stir up the provisional government. They seized General O'Connell, they announced as a protection against their own leaders engaged in executing their orders and in reprisal against the arrest by the provisional government authorities of Commandant Henderson, director of the boycott against Belfast goods, in a belief that such reprisals would cause future arrests of the irregular chiefs less likely.

A strong manifesto was issued Tuesday evening by the provisional government calling attention to "grave acts against security, peace and property," and declaring that the duty of the government is to protect and secure all law respecting citizens without distinction will be resolutely performed.

Attack Believed Imminent

LONDON, (AP)—Dispatches filed in Dublin after midnight indicate that an attack on the four courts building by regular republican army troops is imminent unless the O'Connell committee complies with the government ultimatum is reported to have sent to Rory O'Connor, their leader, demanding the evacuation of the building within a few hours.

Meanwhile the men under O'Connell have taken in fresh stores of provisions and increased their garrison. At midnight they began tearing up granite paving blocks and street car tracks to provide barricades.

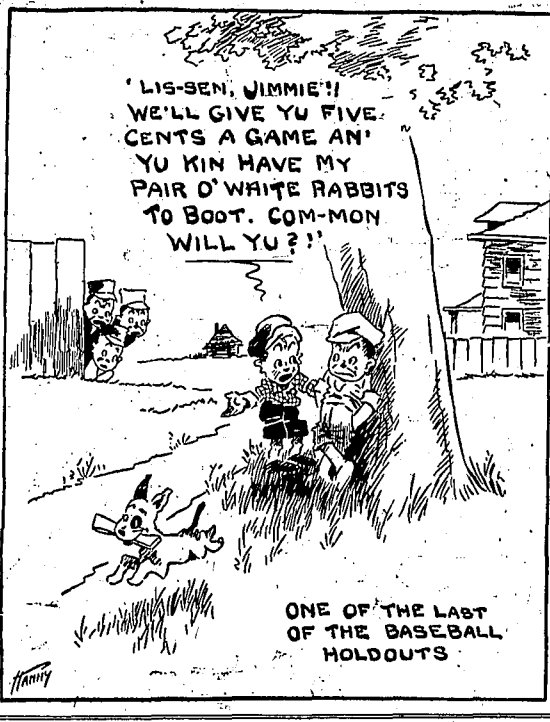

No Surrender

The following notice was posted on the door of the office by the postmaster of a small southern town: "All parties expecting mail are hereby notified that they better come around for it in advance any day before next Thursday, that being the day we have appointed to go hunting, not having had a holiday from the government since July 4th, said government expects to forget that being only human, we need rest and recreation occasionally. There's some little mail here for the Hankinses and for Joe Robertson, but we guess it doesn't amount to much, seeing it's all got one-cent stamps on it. There ain't nothing much in the business notice. There's a newspaper 'Times-Sun' here for Steve Tuttle. It says Gus Lorus left his wife. Otherwise it ain't exciting." —Buffalo Express.

Sentence "Stumped" Wise Men

The following sentence reads, says Douglas "Facts and Figures" dictated by Lord Palmerston to eleven cabinet ministers, every one of whom made some mistake in spelling it: "I is disagreeable to witness the embarrassment of a instructed pedant regarding the symmetry of a peated potato. Notice To All Water Users!

Due to the extraordinary demand on our City Waterworks System for irrigation water during the present hot, dry weather, the capacity of our filter plant is overtaxed. In order to protect our supply of filtered water, it will be necessary to restrict the use of filtered city water for irrigation purposes to alternate days of the month.

Effective at once, and continuing in force until further notice, consumers at even numbered street addresses will use city water for irrigation only on even dates of the month. Consumers at odd numbered street addresses will use city water for irrigation only on the odd dates of the month.

Example: No. 100 Fourth Ave. East will use water for irrigation on June 28th, 30th, July 2nd, etc.

No. 161 Sixth Ave. North will use water for irrigation on June 29th, July 1st, July 3rd, etc.

These restrictions do not apply to the use of domestic water, nor to public buildings.

INTEREST HIGH IN NOMINATION

Fate of Senator P. J. McCumber Chief Consideration in North Dakota Primary

FARGO, N. D., (AP)—One of North Dakota's most perplexing political campaigns—termed by many a "campaign of silence"—ended Tuesday night with interest in Wednesday's statewide primary centered in the fate of Senator P. J. McCumber, chairman of the finance committee of the United States senate.

In a measure too, the election will give the verdict of the people on the half year record of the independent state officials, chosen in last fall's general election that unseated Governor Lynn J. Frazier and two other state officials who had Non-Partisan league endorsement.

McGovern Frazier is again in the political scramble, this time for the republican senatorial nomination in opposition to Senator McCumber and Ormsby McAllister, the latter McCumber's former private secretary. The Non-Partisan league state convention endorsed Frazier.

Nominate Full Tickets

Republican and democratic candidates will be nominated for all state offices as well as for the senate and congress.

There are contests in both parties, all down the line, but as the Non-Partisan league is making its fight for return to political power through republican nomination, first interest is naturally there with the senatorial contest acting the part.

For the first time in the recent campaign, there is no well defined battle line as between the leaguers and anti-leaguers on the outstanding contest—this time the senatorial fight—and this has made the campaign an unusually hazardous proposition.

IDAHO'S THIRD PARTY GRANTED RECOGNITION

Qualifies for Participating in Primaries and Holding of Conventions

Idaho's third political organization, styled the "Progressive" party, has been "recognized" under the election laws of the state, according to messages wired Tuesday by Secretary of State Robert O. Jones to county recorders throughout the state.

The message recites county records to accept the filing of candidates on the "Progressive" party on the same basis as of those heretofore recognized under the statute.

Recognition of the third party will permit of its participating in the primary elections and holding county and state conventions.

Leaders of the party here said Tuesday that petitions for recognition of the party had been filed in the office of the secretary of state bearing 15,000 signatures, or double the number of names required for this purpose.

It was stated the basic progress was being made toward completing the selection of candidates for county offices and that a full ticket would be filed this week in the office of the county recorder.

State Commissioner to Confer with Grimm Growers; Demonstrate Weed Control

C. B. Ahlon, state seed commissioner, will be here July 10 to spend two days in the county conferring with growers relative to certification of Grimm alfalfa seed, and conducting demonstrations in the control of weeds, according to announcement Tuesday at the county farm bureau. A schedule for the weed control demonstrations which are to be held July 11 at various points in the county is being worked out by farm bureau agents with Marshall Barnhouse, county weed officer.

Conference with wheat growers of the county who are applying for certification of their seed wheat will be here sometime in July to meet with the growers relative to certification of the seed potato crops.

Beautiful Ceylon. Drooping in the Indian ocean, and about three times as large as our state of New Jersey, lies the beautiful tropical island of Ceylon, an island of Asia, known as far back as the time of the ancient Greeks and Romans but conquered by Great Britain in 1790 and now one of her colonies, ruled by a governor chosen by the crown. Its name means "the Island of Lions," but in its jungles today wild elephants live and roam at will.

Wireless Communication With Other Worlds Not Impossible

Radio Stations in Recent Years Report Signals Apparently Coming from Planets—Cost of Communication Would Be Enormous—Hope Is Entertained

WASHINGTON, (AP)—It may not be entirely impossible to open wireless communication with worlds other than our own, says Dr. C. G. Abbott, assistant secretary of the Smithsonian Institution in the annual report for 1922 recently made public; but the cost would be immense.

If there are any other stars or planets inhabited by intelligent beings, and communication could be rendered possible with them, what a fund of knowledge might be tapped for! "If we could talk freely with intelligent beings on another world, having history, social customs and laws, and religious faiths developed also, and religiously independent from those of this world, our conversation would not only be of surpassing interest to science and the human race," Dr. Abbott says, "but what a guide it might prove to statesmen and sociologists."

Signals From Another World

Great interest has been shown within late years in reports that wireless stations were receiving signals which could come only from another world he continues. However, the best information refers to be that the wireless indications appeared to be merely disturbances introduced by solar or terrestrial causes and not perfectly understood, and not the work of intelligent beings trying to communicate with us. At the same time, Dr. Abbott declares, computations have been made which seem to make it within the limits of possibility that wireless communications might be exchanged with the nearer planets, if it were worth while doing so.

"Proposals have also been made from time to time," continues the scientist "of communicating by searchlights or mirrors in the ordinary methods of photography. To me these latter proposals seem altogether too unpractical."

Mirror Signals Not Feasible

"Certainly for a planet like Venus which is almost wholly covered by fog the chance of a beam of sunlight or searchlight beam penetrating to the surface where it could be observed by the supposed inhabitants, notwithstanding the glare of the sun at the atmosphere and the glare of the whole relatively immense surface of the earth as compared to the surface of the reflector or searchlights employed, is quite beyond probability. If it were the case of communicating with the moon, there would be little doubt but that it could be accomplished.

"If it were Mars or one of the still more distant planets that were being considered, there seems to be not the slightest probability of success by the use of lights.

Original "Merry Andrew"

The term "merry Andrew," which is today used more or less sarcastically to designate someone whose appearance is not one of the most attractive, has its origin in a street song of the time of Henry VIII, and who was also a very learned physician. His name was Andrew Burde, and he died in 1545. According to the historian Hearne, the original "merry Andrew" frequented markets and fairs "where a number of people used to get together, to whom he looked rather the more readily, he would make humorous speeches, couched in such language as caused mirth and merriment upon his face." Later on the expression was applied to any clown or buffoon, and more specifically to a jester in attendance on a traveling mountebank.

How Gods Became Men

The "Hermes" have a myth that heavenly beings came down from the skies to the earth and there ate rich food, a particular kind of rich food, which gradually made them gross of habit, so that they were unable to make their way back to the higher heavens again and had to become men and women, says the Detroit News. The Chins have a story of the tower of Babel to account for the various clans that inhabit the range of hills leading down on the bay of Bengal, and traditions of a deluge are found everywhere. The Kechus tell a story of the passage over a bridge to the afterlife, which recalls Addison's "Vision of Mirza," and there are many more of the kind that suggest these folk myths came down from a long-ago past.

Carter when you made that statement? "Not quite at all," Blondin persisted.

"You believe that Nina would be wiser not to marry me?" he asked Harriet.

"You—?" She cleared her throat. "You know that thing so?" she said.

"And now, Mr. Blondin, you will kindly leave my house!" said Richard.

The other man was watching Harriet, with a menace in his narrowed eyes.

"One moment, Mr. Carter. Why don't you ask your wife what makes her think I won't make Nina a good husband?"

Richard was back at his desk; he smiled and rose as she came in.

"A dizziness and sickness came over her as she went slowly to the chair opposite Richard; she touched the desk for support as she sat down.

"Mr. Blondin has come to talk to me about Nina," Richard said.

"I see!" Her voice sounded horribly choked to her; she could find nothing to add to the meaningless words.

"Nina," he said, tenderly, "is warm-hearted. And a chance admission by my fiancée, that she had to marry me, I loved her, had distressed her unnecessarily.

"God help me!" she breathed in her soul. "God help me!"

"Well," said Richard with weary impatience, "we did not call you down to bore you with this! I asked to see you, Harriet, because Mr. Blondin has made the statement to me, just now, that you were heartily in accord with his plans for Nina and that you approved of the affair!"

"The prayer in Harriet's heart did not stop as she moved her wretched eyes to Blondin's.

"I believed that you and she had not seen each other since December," she reminded him. "I lost no chance to advise her against the engagement! I thought it was all over!"

"Well," Richard said, with a breath of relief. He had been watching her closely, now he settled back in his chair and moved his contemptuous scrutiny to Blondin.

"One moment!" Richard Blondin said, gently. But he was also pale. "You fred anxiously upon her. He had trusted, he was beginning to admire her, and like his wife and his daughter and his mother, she had failed him.

"Harriet!" he said in quick unsteady tones. She raised her head now, and looked at him with weary eyes.

"Yes," she said, simply. "That is all—quite true. It sounds—she hesitated, and groped for words—"

An innovation in the form of practice teaching has been introduced and accepted by the teachers with much avidity, 75 teachers having enrolled for practice teaching.

CHAPTER XIII.—(Continued) "Yes, you are just now. You wouldn't be a real true woman if you weren't!" she accused a reluctant dimple tucked at Nina's smiling mouth.

"If I offered a check to Royal, do you suppose he'd accept it?" she asked, after that amusing. She was sitting on the edge of her bed now, and Harriet was brushing her hair.

"I'm perfectly willing to try it!" And as a great concession she added, with a sigh: "All I tell him what Father thinks."

"He's coming over especially to see Father tomorrow," Nina said. "I suppose I might as well go down," she said, looking at her watch.

"I'll be there," Harriet said, with a breath of relief. He had been watching her closely, now he settled back in his chair and moved his contemptuous scrutiny to Blondin.
