

BERLIN WOULD LEAD FASHIONS OF NEW WORLD

German Capital Putting Forth Best Efforts to Win Back Pre-War Position in Men's and Women's Wear

BERLIN, (AP)—Berlin is out to contest Paris' claim to the throne as queen of fashion.

The arrival of American buyers for advanced autumn sales is stimulating the agitation among fashion designers of Berlin who are redoubling their efforts to regain for the German capital her pre-war rank among the centers which set the pace for the well-dressed world.

The revived effort by Germany for reinstatement in the world's fashion markets is evidenced in men's wear as well as women's.

Germany manufactured a total of 10,000,000 light gray suits and jackets during the year, according to statistics just made public, besides hundreds of millions of tons of munitions. Enough barbed wire alone was produced to encircle Germany with a barricade 68 meters deep.

The year 1917 seems to have seen the high water mark in the volume of war supplies turned out. New tank designs appeared during the winter of 1918-1917 at the rate of 9,000,000 monthly.

In 1917, also there were produced 2,540,000 shells and 310,000,000 rounds of ammunition for close action, more than 100,000,000 kilograms of powder, and more than 255,000,000 kilograms of other explosives. At the same time 4300 trench mortars were manufactured monthly, and during the same year 75,000,000 illuminating bombs and 103,000,000 signal cartridges were delivered.

Five months after the beginning of hostilities, 1800 guns were being turned out daily, and later this figure was increased to 250,000 monthly. Machine guns were delivered at the rate of 2300 monthly in the middle of 1916, at the rate of 4000 in the spring of 1917, and at the rate of 10,000 in 1918. Light artillery numbered 1640 batteries in 1918. For light artillery the monthly production of guns was 1500 in 1916, 2000 in 1917, and later the production was raised to 3000.

Twenty million hand-grenades a month were required during the war, and approximately 200,000 steel helmets and gas masks were manufactured every month.

The army printed 1,800,000,000 maps during the war.

In the summer of 1918, owing to a shortage of rubber and other materials, the Germans had barely 40,000 automobiles on all continents. The estimate, according to these statistics, were using 200,000 on the western front alone.

MEMORIAL PLANNED FOR EARLY FRENCH SETTLERS

Establishment of First Huguenot Villages in America to be Commemorated

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., (AP)—A movement for the erection of a suitable memorial near the mouth of the St. Johns River, about twenty miles from here to commemorate the establishment of the first Huguenot settlement in the New World, has been launched by historic, civic and social organizations in Florida. Jean Ribault and a small band of Huguenots landed near the mouth of the St. Johns May 2, 1565. The settlement was named "River of Male" by which it was known for many years.

After trading with the Indians, Ribault and his followers moved to Fort Royal, S. C. where they remained a year, returning to France in a ship of their own construction because of failure to receive support from their native land. Ribault sent a large party from France in 1564 in two ships under the leadership of Laudonniere and his followers were established at the mouth of the River of Male. The colony was in existence only two years, the Spaniards, who in the meantime had settled on St. Augustine, massacring the entire party in 1565.

HAILEY'S HOSPITALITY IS OFFERED IDAHO AUTOMOBILE TRADES SESSION

COL. LYNN M. SHAW, representing the National Automobile Dealers Association, who will attend sessions of the Idaho Automobile Trade Association at Halley July 14 and 15.

HAILEY.—The committee, headed by Mayor Fowler, in charge of arrangements for the third annual convention of the Idaho Automobile Trades Association, to be held here July 14 and 15, has arranged an attractive program of entertainment for the two days, with the well known Hailey hospitality.

The number of hotel reservations spoken for indicates the largest attendance by far in the history of the association, although several dealers say they will make camp at Hailey and then go on a trip in that section, where the climate is the best this time of year. Others will outfit here for trips after the convention.

National Leader Coming
For the first time in the history of the organization the National Automobile Dealers' association will be represented in the person of Col. Lynn M. Shaw, who is coming to Idaho especially to attend this convention, which he will address.

The state government will be represented as to its executive, law enforcement and highway department. The safety department of the Oregon Short Line will also be represented by W. L. Hill. The auto dealers have co-operated closely in the railroad crossing campaign to minimize accidents and deaths.

A film of interest to the trade and the public, dealing with auto traffic, will also be shown as one of the features of the convention.

Legislative Subjects
Considerable of the time of the business sessions of the convention will be taken up with legislative matters affecting protection to car owners and to the trade in general. The legislative program of the association will be outlined at this convention, a free conference with the outgoing and incoming, that is a strong magnet in drawing attendance of members.

Because of the important bearing of the session on the convention on legislation will have on the trade the most representative attendance possible has been urged by the executives of the association.

STUDEBAKER BIG SIX IS WINNER OF PARK PRIZE

After three days of bucking the snow drifts and dynamiting fallen trees that blocked the roads, Hart L. Weaver with three passengers in a Studebaker Big Six, led the way into the Yosemite National Park, winning the Yosemite National Park company's cup for the first car in 1922 to make its way over any of the three roads that lead from the valley from the Pacific coast.

The feat of the Big Six is all the more striking from the fact that last year another Studebaker was the first to penetrate the valley; and also because the second car, this year, was also a Studebaker—a Light-Six driven by William J. Smith of Modesto, Cal.

The Yosemite National Park company awards this trophy to the first car of the season that breaks its way into the valley under touring conditions. Every car must come in absolutely under its own power without the use of block or tackle or any towing assistance.

The start was made from Modesto, Cal., at midnight on Thursday, May 4, and the Big-Six crew reached Wawona at 3 o'clock Friday morning. A few miles beyond Wawona the crew met their first obstruction, a tree five feet in diameter that had fallen across the road. So deeply was it lodged that it took four separate charges of dynamite to clear the way.

Dynamite Freely Used.
From this point on, the car charged snow drifts and the crew dynamited trees until they arrived in the valley on the afternoon of May 7, after a day of rain and night traveling. At Bishop creek snow between five and six feet deep was encountered. Here in other places, it was necessary for the crew to shovel a path for the car. At no time did the party resort to rope, block or tackle, for by the rules of the contest it was necessary to cover the fire distance under the car's own power.

Following the two Studebaker cars into the valley by various routes were seven other automobiles. The return trip was almost as difficult as the one going in, as a two-foot snow had fallen again, blocking the road. The trip at this season of the year always has its thrills and perils and is a test of the power of cars and the endurance of drivers alike. Many that try it each year are forced to turn back. One of the greatest difficulties is to find the trail over the snow-covered roads.

Time to Reach Ideas
It has to be said, also, that it will need five years of intensive training before you can sing as well as you think you can now.—Stockholm Songbirds Nisse.

The four miles west of Jerome Paul B. Kortzko, the contractor, is at work on the structure and likely the surfacing of this road will be in progress next week.

The road from the end of the Main street paving to the Oregon Short Line crossing a little over a mile, was built of these volcanic cinders last fall and it is standing up well. It is a perfect road so far and unopposed users of the highway state it is the best place for a highway in this part of the state.

HELICOPTER'S FINAL TYPE OF FLYING MACHINE

Recent Experiments Indicate
Vertical-Rising Air-Ship
Could Readily Be Perfected
on Short Notice

WASHINGTON, (AP) — "The helicopter, or vertical-rising air machine, is no impossibility, and should find use for such a type and successful ones may be seen before many years," according to Dr. Albert F. Zahm, aeronautical expert for the navy. "It has been a goal for the helicopter during the war, heralded, any of several types could have been perfected, of which working models have been flown."

Dr. Zahm is an expert on design and construction of all manner of flying machines. For years he has applied his line to perfection of the airplanes, and is well qualified to pass upon the capabilities of any.

Much interest has been shown in reports of successful machines of the helicopter type being perfected in both Germany and England. However, while some flights have been made, none of any consequence are reported by a machine equipped with helicopter propellers or revolving planes, designed to rise vertically from a confined space and descend on the same.

The helicopter is possible, Dr. Zahm says, is proved by the German machine, which, rising several times to moderate heights, has carried observers for a number of minutes. The machine, however, has made no extended flight, such as would prove its dependability, but was tethered to the ground by a mooring rope. At times when the motors failed, the machine dropped and the passengers saved themselves only by jumping with parachutes. The experimenters are continuing their work, with the purpose of perfecting a motor which can be depended upon to maintain the machine without sudden failure, and without exploding or falling soon after the engine stops, the machine cannot alight to the ground, as does an airplane, but drops vertically. In a proper descent the propellers should be whirled down to ease the landing.

Present hopes of attaining successful vertical flight rest mainly upon the endeavors of Ernst Berliner, Washington inventor, whose experiments with the helicopter have extended over a long time, and of Louis Brennan, of London, whose newest machine is reported as meeting competition. It is expected to win the fifty thousand pound prize offered by the British Air Ministry for successful flight.

Other experiments with a helicopter, in which the most advanced experimentation has been made, consist mainly of two or more propeller screws mounted horizontally on a vertical shaft, bearing engines, fuel and gas tanks. Each propeller is mounted in opposite directions so that the body of the machine may spin like a top. The motors, gears and body have been mounted in various positions, but the German machine has a sort of pupil car mounted at the top of the shaft over the propellers for the operator to ease the landing.

Whether or not this type of machine is brought to actual use, Dr. Zahm stated, at least two other types of planes that may fly vertically have been offered to the government. This fact is not widely known.

said, the "wash" of the air stream from the propellers pushing against the groups of vanes, caused the model to rise gently vertically. The model was held in mid-air by the action, and when the power shut off it returned gently to earth. A full size machine of the type, he said, would be equipped with engines of immense power in order to furnish sufficient air pressure, and when driven to a sufficient altitude, the vanes would be so adjusted that horizontal motion would result. The plane could then fly in the usual manner, finally using the vanes again to descend vertically.

The other type offered to the army, he said, was of the present type, but equipped with three propellers, two placed far out toward the wing ends and with vertical rudders and ailerons similar to those in use. The quick-lifting power was to be gained by having the wash of the central propeller act upon elevators on the tail of the body, while the side propellers would work against the special ailerons on the wing tips.

When in the air, Dr. Zahm continued, this machine could maneuver exactly as does the ordinary plane, cut figures and land in any desired position—vertical with nose up, if need be.

The best feature, he said, is that both planes of the new type are entirely feasible and can be constructed at any time. In fact, several European inventors and manufacturers are patenting designs of the second type, notably the Frenchman, Elbert, one of the pioneers of aviation.

Experts for the government studied the second type during the war, it was explained, but the matter was no further.

The general drawbacks of their construction, Dr. Zahm said, were, first, the great weight, second, the increased weight of the machines as compared with present engine efficiency; and, third, the need of developing motors with greater power and less weight per horsepower and with greater amount of dependability. As it is, he said, a successful helicopter may be flown to any height, but the operators will never fly in it, and the machine will give a rough and dicey ride.

The German experimenters, however, he added, have in part overbalanced this drawback and can be considered by experiment that a propeller of three or four narrow blades, caused to revolve by the air pressure resulting from a forward motion, will develop as much resistance as a solid disc of the diameter of the blades spread. In addition, the German machine is equipped with cushions on the landing bottom so that the landing, if forced, may be made comparatively easy.

Means of steering experimental helicopters, and of which one would undoubtedly be used in a successful machine, are two. The first is a means of tilting the propellers shaft, or the whole machine, when it will travel in that direction; the second being the use of vanes similar to those already described. With the latter, Dr. Zahm thinks a helicopter, perfectly powered, should be able to cut capers in the air as aviators do at present. Any of the types advanced would, he warned, be of great use in bombing or dropping or for observation. The main disadvantage, that of being a good target for artillery fire, will stationery, could be offset by quickness of movement from point to point, and short stops while hovering.

Dr. Zahm points out in some places on the fact that the war department was offered such machines at a time when all resources were being expended in better or more efficient means of fighting war, and he rejected them, although they are completely feasible, is sufficient indication of their war value. As to their being put to commercial use, he said, it is immaterial on the fact that it is immaterial to produce the possibility.

SWATTER IS IN OLD TIME FORM

Record in Day's Game Equal to Any and Better Than Most, Records Show

NEW YORK, (AP)—Babe Ruth's feat in knocking out three home runs in Saturday's doubleheader with the Philadelphia Athletics is the second time he has performed this achievement in his major league career and the tenth time he has made three homers in two successive games, but on different days. He did it seven times in 1910 and twice last year when he established his home run record of 59.

Kenzie Williams, of St. Louis, Ruth's chief rival this year for slugging honors, registered three homers in a single game early this season. The late Alvin Dark (Pop) Anson established the record for home runs in two successive games when he made five in 1894 when with the old Chicago National.

HARD TRAINING IS ABOUT OVER

Benny Leonard and Rooky Kansas Put Finishing Touches to Preparations

MICHIGAN CITY, (AP)—Benny Leonard, world's lightweight champion, and Rooky Kansas, the Idaho No. 1, no longer will wind up hard training on Sunday in preparation for their ten-day championship contest here in the city of the Four of July. Indications are that the contest will draw at least $75,000.

Kansas, who has been in training for six weeks, began to slacken Saturday, when he reduced his boxing to four rounds and limited his road work to about three miles along the Lake Michigan beach. He is down to 133 pounds. Leonard already is in shape for the dangerous—hitting—challenge. The champion, who fought faithfully for his contest with Jack Britton, the welter-weight champion, and, as a result, in such condition that only a day or two more of light work is all that is necessary to put him on edge. He said he would not weigh more than 137 pounds when he stepped into the ring.

THIBOUDAUX WINS EASILY

LATONIA, Ky., (AP)—Thiboudaux, surprise horse of the Kentucky special, when he ran a sensational second to Whiskaway and took the great, Marescent, back Saturday and won the Latonia derby from Yonahim and Olympus in the earliest kind of fashion. Withdrawal of Brommer and Margaret Wheeler had reduced the field to three starters. The race was run over a distance of a mile and one-half for a purse of $15,000 and $2,000 of which went to the second horse and $1,000 to the third. While the time was 4:15 seconds more than the track record of 2:59.3 for the distance, held by Minto II, there were many spectators who believed that had the Cincinnati-owned colt been ridden out, these figures might have been equalled, if not lowered.

SWIMMING RECORD BROKEN

NEW YORK, (AP)—The world's backstroke swimming records were broken Saturday by Miss Sybil Bauer of the Illinois Athletic club, Chicago, in the Olympic lagoon at Manhattan Beach. Making her first career appearance, she swam the 100-yard backstroke in 1:50 and 100 meters in two special invitation events.

PHILADELPHIA, (AP)—Dicson E. Williams, Yale, won the singles championship and Phil Neer and James Davies, Tulane State, the doubles title of the intercollegiate lawn tennis association at the Merion Cricket club Saturday.

REAL FISTICARNIVAL PROMISED FIGHT FANS

On Tuesday evening at the Laverne theater the local fight fans will be treated once more to a real fistic carnival, when "Billy" George of San Francisco ites into "Puggy" Reynolds of Seattle. George comes here with a reputation of being a fighter with a getting away that has no line in a boxing alley. "Billy" says the best he has ever seen west, and like his opponent, carries a sleep potion in either hand. The bout is scheduled for 15 rounds, and that the fight will be well worth seeing. It is proven in the fact that both fighters weigh within two pounds of the other and use the same tactics in the ring. A fast four-round preliminary between Wilbur Lester and Glenn Smith, both of Twin Falls promises to be a

CALDWELL WINS CLAIM TO WATER

Judge Lee Grants Writ Compelling Delivery to Excluded Salmon Lands

The Salmon River Canal company will be required to deliver irrigation water to lands held by A. E. Caldwell outside of the patented area of the Salmon River project under provisions of an order to be issued in consequence with the decision rendered Friday by Judge T. Bailey Lee in district court at Burley.

Copies of the decision were received here Saturday by John W. Graham of counsel for Caldwell, and by Bothwell and Chesebrough and James K. Blackman, who with Williams and Hays of Boise, represented the canal company in this action.

The suit involved Caldwell's application for a writ of mandamus to require the patented area and of a water right, for these lands in the defendant company.

SWEELY SEEKS TO BE SPEAKER OF IDAHO HOUSE

Former Senator Enters Race for Republican Nomination for Legislature with Purpose to Win More

As an avowed candidate for the speakership of the Idaho house of representatives, if elected to membership in that body, former Senator Marvin J. Sweeley of Twin Falls Saturday made formal announcement of his candidacy for nomination for representative from Twin Falls county on the republican ticket. There are five republican candidates in the running for representative, with four to be nominated at the primary elections August 1. In addition to Senator Sweeley, the republican candidates are W. O. Sampson, prominent farmer of the Hansen district, who filed Friday; W. D. Gillis, Filley, W. M. Hill, Bogerson, and W. P. Buffington, Buhl.

Monday, Saturday for the filing of combinations brought forth candidates in sufficient numbers to name a ticket at the primary elections of all candidates for county office on the republican ticket, filling in of the democratic ticket and entrance of additional candidates in several cases where contests already existed.

With four candidates to be nominated only two candidates for the legislature had their appearance on the respective side, nomination of D. L. Heamer, Filley, and E. C. Davis, being filed Saturday. Alan P. Seiler, Twin Falls, Friday became the fourth candidate for the republican nomination for county commissioner from the second district, competing with W. B. Wolfe, S. B. All and B. H. Hendahl, all of Twin Falls. Opposition to the candidacy of James Fitzgerald for the democratic nomination for commissioner from the second district developed with the filing of the nomination of O. E. Carlson, who retired in 1918 after serving several years in that capacity.

A. C. Burkhalter, Kimberly, announced his candidacy for the republican nomination for commissioner from the third district, and will not be opposed in the primary.

Arthur W. Ostrom, Buhl, former probate judge, became the third candidate for the democratic nomination for prosecuting attorney, filing papers Friday in competition with W. P. Wilcox, Twin Falls, for county superintendent of public instruction.

The progressive party brought forth one more candidate for county office of J. E. Pohlman, Amsterdam, for assessor.

COMPETITION DEVELOPS FOR JUDICIAL NOMINATION

Asher B. Wilson and A. E. Hicks of Twin Falls enter lists against incumbent. Competition for the democratic nomination for district judge of the Eleventh judicial district developed Friday with the filing of the nomination of Asher B. Wilson, attorney, and A. E. Hicks, Twin Falls, former prosecuting attorney and member of the legislature. The first entrant in the contest that has developed for the two nominations for district judge to be made by democratic of the district at the primary elections was William A. Babcock, senior judge of the district, who has graduated upon the district bench for eight years past.
