Superintendent of Illinois Central Car Department is Victim of Vicious Assault—Shooting Follows

NEW ORLEANS, (AP)—Fred J. White, superintendent of the Illinois Central department of the Illinois Central railroad at Harahan, a few miles north New Orleans, was assaulted at Harahan street and the Tennessee and Mississippi Valley railroad crossing, and one white man and three negroes were shot and wounded as the result of two clashes Friday night between men said to be railway strikers and company workmen.

Superintendent White was set upon by two men who were known to the police as Conrad Hadenbale and George Lonsener, when he alighted from a suburban train. He was only slightly injured.

The three negroes, employed in the Illinois Central shops at Harahan, who were on the same train, were attacked as they came off the train. The first clash occurred there the first night they left the train by a crowd of 20 white men, two of the negroes retreating to a nearby street.

When the wounded negroes fell in the street, police say, they began to return the fire. About 25 shots were exchanged. Police disarmed the negroes and dispersed the crowd. No arrests were made.

CONFERENCE NEAR TOP OF URU

Treatment of Complicated Property in Russia Threatens a Serious Split

THE HAGUE, (AP)—The Hague conference on the treatment of confiscated property in Russia.

What Russia proposed to do in the way of facilitating, as explained earlier by Maxim Litvinoff, the Russian spokesman, fell like a cold shower on the expectant delegates. Sir Philip Lloyd-Dreame, the British delegation member, said he was perfectly absurd to continue the discussions unless more satisfactory assurances were forthcoming. Only Mr. Kravtchik, the conciliator, who is beginning to be called "saved" by day by suggesting mild that controversial matters be left aside so that the Russian and the conciliator could find a common ground based on mutual advantage.

CONCESSION LIST BRED

The difficulty started at the afternoon session of the conference when M. Litvinoff read a long list of oil and gas concessions. He said he was ready to give to foreigners, M. Catter, Belgium, suggested it would be also for M. Litvinoff would explain which of the concessions he was under foreign ownership previous to their confiscation, and what foreign properties were excluded from the list.

M. Litvinoff replied that he could not say whether the properties belonged previously to foreigners or Russians. It was difficult for Russia to identify its sources and whether fighting in the neighborhood of Canton between Sun's forces and those of Chen Chiang, which he deposed Sun June 10 is inevitable, in the view of the delegates' information.

RAIN INSURANCE COMPANIES ARE LOSING GAME

Month of June Costs Underwriters Over Half Million Dollars Due to Weather on Atlantic Seaboard

NEW YORK, (AP)—Rain insurance companies that guaranteed fair weather for baseball clubs, resort hotels, dog vendors, golf players and vacationists got an awful wallop throughout June and an even worse blow during the prolonged wet-weather which many stretched to celebrate the Fourth of July.

The four big companies engaged in this business paid out more than $500,000 to policyholders protesting against bad weather on the Atlantic coast during the period, brokers admitted. Yet, they feel that the June rains were good advertising, stimulating interest in their policies.

On Sunday, July 2, the government charts reveal that every square mile of land within 200 miles of the Atlantic coast, from Florida to Maine, was rained upon. The entire Ohio and Kentucky was sprinkled, and considerable parts of eastern Texas, Arkansas, Kentucky, southern Indiana, Ohio and Middle Tennessee were drenched.

July Fourth was almost a day. Draw a snake line from New Orleans to Maine and then look at the map. It rained over 90 per cent of the country east of that line. Baseball games were postponed, people who would have visited resorts abandoned their plans, open air concerts were canceled, and umbrella dealers were the only ones who had a kind word for the weather man.

Hotels Buy Protection

The big hotels on the board walk at Atlantic City had nearly all taken out rain insurance for the holiday period. The contracts were made before the 1917 protection. The hotels, as a rule, insured themselves of receiving 5000 receipts of a certain amount, and where those hotels were not insured, the insurance policy covered the difference. The Giants at the Polo grounds had a $30,000 policy last Tuesday.

The wet weather of the first week of June in New York when the weather was fair. The rest of the month it was either raining or threatening. The precipitation for the month was 7.88 inches, was the heaviest that has fallen in June since the weather bureau began keeping records here, 51 years ago. There was just one rain after another that the heaviest rained out in the nation with the lights of Broadway. Thursday the sun came back from its vacation and the sky, which had literally been a leaden curtain, withdrew beyond an aerial three-mile limit.

MORS IN CALAIA MARE MINDOKA DISTRICT TROUBLES

RUBERT — Any present difficulty in getting water through on schedule time to users on this side of the project is due to unusually heavy growth of moss in lower ends of canals and laterals. The Moss is a species of Chara, which is found in the Mindoka Irrigation district, where it has a crew of ten men working with disks since June 10 to cut it out.

Prevalence of frog moss, the long green variety, floating on top of the water and extending sunlight, had kept the tree variety, a growth extending from the banks, from spreading. From extensive growth. On removal of this upper layer, the other had shot up within a few days to such an extent that water could scarcely be gotten through the canals.

It was found impracticable to use disks to clear out both varieties as the moss gummed up the machinery within a short time, too much to cut out the longer growth. To obviate this difficulty chains have been used to remove the "frog moss," with disks following after to cut out the tree moss.

NORTH SIDE INN MAY BE CONVERTED INTO HOSPITAL

FROM—Purchase and remodeling of the North Side Inn converted into a structure into a hospital to be operated by Catholic sisters, was considered at a meeting here last week of about 20 persons interested with the Rev. Daniel M. Gorman, Boise, bishop of the Catholic church in Idaho. It was estimated that about $15,000 would be required to purchase the building and make the necessary alterations to convert it into a 20-room hospital. Bishop Gorman told the meeting that the Sisters would ask for no honorarium or special assistance, but that they must have assurance of the co-operation and moral support of the community. I. E. CROPS THRIVING UNDER DITCHES

Week is Marked by Splendid Growing Weather in Irrigated Districts

BOISE—The week ending Tuesday was marked by splendid growing weather in the irrigated districts, where heavy rains were made on irrigation water, and all crops made rapid growth, according to the weekly summary of weather and crop conditions in Idaho, just issued by Clinton E. Norquay, meteorologist. In the dry farm sections, the summary continues, the heat was too intense for best development and crops will probably be shortened as a result of the prolonged heat and drought. Cultivated crops, corn, beans, potatoes, peas and beans, made phenomenal growth. Fruit is developing rapidly. Commercial cherries are being marketed in the Boise-Payette valley. The wheat harvest is beginning. It is less than harvest weather and farmers took advantage of it to hurry their cutting of alfalfa into the stack. The crop is fair to good and is being secured in excellent condition.

MOVIE SCREEN AS AID TO TEACHERS

Will H. Hays, Head of Industry, Points Out Possibilities of the Plan

BOBTLIN, (AP)—The ice operation of the motion picture producers with the National Motion Picture Association in finding a way to make pedagogue pictures, which are scientifically, psychologically and pedagogically sound, was offered by Will H. Hays, president of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, in an address before the convention of the educators' organization, now in session at Madison, Wis. Hays already has a great demand for pedagogue pictures," Mr. Hays said. "I propose that we jointly study that demand and that we jointly find a way to make pedagogue pictures. A committee be appointed of the association, made up of the very best talent within your ranks; let them meet with me and make a plan of action. We will aid you and to let me let you be the study of the whole problem of the use of the motion picture as a direct pedagogic instrument."

To Develop Full Value Mr. Hays assured the delegates that the motion picture industry accepted the challenge. "In the great demand of the motion picture as a direct pedagogic instrument, the address pleased interest on the day's convention program with the action of delegates in emphatically endorsing the Turner-Stearling bill. Only two states were recorded in opposition to this measure. The convention's attitude was made known after the presentation of the report of the association's legislative commission, which declared that creation of a department of education was justified on the basis of the present educational activities of the national government as well as the great educational possibilities of the constitution and the historical development of the national government."

Before the Golden Age. Archeology has, in our day, become one of the most vividly interesting and thoroughly alive of pursuits, continually opening up new avenues of inquiry, and giving light and inspiration to the whole field of art. Archeological discoveries of the last fifty years have shown that the golden age of Greek art was more than two thousand years in the making. It is strange enough to think that the word "classical" was originally used to designate a spontaneous growth, with origins veiled in impenetrable mystery. Now, the adventurer into the great regions of knowledge, where the story of Greek civilization unfolds itself, may become possessed by at least the main factors of prehistoric epochs long before Greek art became Greek.—Scribner's Magazine.

SCHOOL FIGURES SHOW MATERIAL CUT IN EXPENSE

Preliminary Statement Issued by Board of Independent Dis- trict No. 1 Indicates Gratifying Money Saving

That the special levy of 20 mills voted and collected last year for school expense in Independent District Number 1 is definitely a thing of the past and will not be again called for is set forth in a preliminary announcement of the financial situation of the district just issued by the Board.

Expenses, according to the figures given, have been materially reduced and a substantial reduction in school taxes is assured. (The statement, as issued in full, is as follows:

With the beginning of the week the Financial Report of the Twin Falls Public Schools for the year beginning July 1, 1921, and ending June 30, 1922, will be issued to the public. The Members of the Board of Education desire to call the attention of the patrons of the schools and the taxpayers in the district to the outstanding features of this report. They believe that a comparison of the report of the year just closed with those of former years will indicate clearly that the policy of economy which has been followed since when they set before themselves, a year ago, has been adhered to.

During the past year the cost of General Service was $11,468.19. In the preceding year it was $11,468.19. During the past year the cost of Instructional Service was $131,477.25, whereas in the preceding year it was $174,675.92.

During the past year the cost of Operation, which includes janitor service, fuel, light and power, janitor's supplies, draysage, etc., was $51,702.62, whereas in the preceding year it was $52,375.22.

Items entering into the budget show a corresponding comparison as follows: In 1921-1922 the cost of maintenance, which includes repair of school property and equipment, was $43,603.63 and the previous year was $43,435.82. Fixed charges in 1921-1922 were $402,000 and the preceding year $477,450.

The main item involved in Fixed Charges is insurance of the school property, a large amount of this amount which was paid in 1920-21. The total Capital Outlay in 1920-1921 was $176,603.37 and in 1921-1922 $46,109.12. The main difference is that the Intermediate School building was being constructed in the former year. Auxiliary Agencies cost $251,100 in 1921-1922 and $251,100 in 1921-1922. The main item in this is the transportation system whereby approximately one-fourth of the pupils are transported to school. This Service cost $45,850.91 in 1920-1921 and $45,851.38 in 1921-1922. The grand total indicates a cost of the School System in 1920-1921 of $449,141.24 and in 1921-1922 of $282,538.07, which last named amount is very nearly the exact budget agreed upon by the Board of Education in July, 1921. During the cost of Capital Outlay from the expenditure for each year so as to strike a fairer comparison we find the expenditure in 1920-1921 of $236,353.81 and in 1921-1922 of $236,353.81 during the school year just closed.

When figures are set forth in comparison for no other reason than to show that the administration of the Twin Falls Schools during the past year has been according to a policy of strict economy which was adopted and adhered to it is needless to say that the formulation and adoption of a detailed budget one year ago was a great assistance in achieving the results of the past year as set forth.

During the past year bonds of the School District have been retired to the amount of $9,000.00. The retirement of bonds according to schedule and as required by both law and sound economic principles has been regarded and will continue to be regarded.

Also, careful regard will be given to the inspection of the securities of the School District such as in the requirement of a sufficient bond of the treasurer, bonds of banks of deposit of the school funds, etc. In the matter of insurance of the school property the amount of insurance was scaled down to as far as possible, but so that all the property is still amply insured, according to approximate present valuation.

A general financial statement such as that above has a close relationship to a statement concerning the organization and administration of the schools. This will be issued to the public by Superintendent M. C. Mitchell later in the summer, immediately prior to the opening of schools for the coming year.

It is to be noted that the same number of pupils received their schooling in Twin Falls during the year just closed as in former years. There is a growing belief that the expenditures of the past year have been carefully and wisely made and that they have produced satisfactory results. One school will be added to the staff administrative staff next year as during the past year. A much higher percentage of the old teachers will be back for another year than were the previous year. The outlook for an efficient school during the next year is bright and all should remember that the extra levy of one mill paid during the past year is not required during the coming year. The Board of Education is making all reasonable effort consistent with the welfare of the schools to reduce the regular levy this next year. They have entered upon a policy that seeks to recast the best interests of the School District from all angles and are working it out.

"Oceanics" Played Under Five Flags

Noted Women's Orchestra Has Appeared in France, England, New Zealand, Canada and the United States

Here's a musical organization with a history, and, if you please, an honorable record of service under five flags and in two hemispheres. It's the Oceanic Quintet; and it will thrill Chautauque folk with two delightful programs; just as it has thrilled audiences all over the United States, Canada, France, England and New Zealand. Doughboys will remember their work in France, entertaining the soldiers as "The Western Four." Three of the original four are still with the company, Miss Amelia Carstensen, Miss Eileen Ferguson, and Miss Beulah Truitt. The program ranges from operatic to the semi-popular, including descriptive numbers and light opera selections, into which they have interpolated solos, duets and talk songs. The personnel and instrumentation follows: Miss Amelia Carstensen, violinist; Helen Ferguson, cornet soloist; Beulah Truitt, reader and drummer; Lois Brown Dorset, soprano and pianist; and Esther Sanford, cellist. Remember Chautauque—the fourth day.

MINDOKA PUMPS' BURNING AT FULL CAPACITY
BURELEY — At the present time the pumps which supply water for the pumping unit of the south side Mindoka plant are running at full capacity. On July 1 an additional supply of electricity for power purposes was secured from the Twin Falls plant of the Idaho Power company through a trade with the reclamation service in the Boise valley.
This enabled the local reclamation service to increase the speed of the pumps and the amount of water being delivered. However, the demand for water for irrigation purposes is extremely heavy on account of the hot weather and the fact that the potatoes and sugar beets are on for water for the first time. The hardest period for the farmers of this project with their water problems is now at hand and will last for the next three weeks.

POLISH MENACE MAY MEAN WAR

Scrapping of Defenses by America Deplored in Speech by Army Man

CHICAGO, (AP)—Major General George Bell, Jr., commanding the sixth corps area, U. S. A., declared in a speech before several hundred addressing men in session here that the present Polish situation is the growing menace of another war that will draw in the United States. Maj. Gen. Bell, national commander of the American Legion, another speaker, judged every member of the 1,000 posts of the American Legion to take up arms again whenever called upon.
There never was a time in the history of this country when we needed the services of red-blooded Americans more than we do today," General Bell declared. "An officer high in the army of Germany is now inspecting Russian troops and it was announced today an army of 350,000 is being mobilized on the border of Poland and Rumania."
"We have scrapped our defenses. Our present enormous public debt is due to unpreparedness, as were many of the debts in the past. It is like scrapping our police force and imagining we will be safe as the streets."
No Funds for Practice
"I have a telegram from Washington saying that the national guard representatives cannot attend our national target practice because of a lack of funds. Of 10,000 reserve officers, only 500 will be in the fifteen-day school. Our organized reserve is virtually destroyed."
Commander MacNider called attention to the coming conference of the inter-allied war veterans at New Orleans. "The first time in the history of this country," he announced, "all of them coming together with the thought that what we fought for once we would maintain. We feel that it is going to prove as strong, if not stronger in fact, than any international covenant or agreement toward the prevention of future wars."

FIREBOMBER EXPLODES IN THE BURELEY — Max Gudmundsen, the eleven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Irel Gudmundsen narrowly escaped the loss of the sight in one eye the evening of July 4, when he held a firecracker up to the lighted fuse and the firecracker exploded in his face. Although the eyeball was badly discolored and burnt, it is now clearing up in good shape and no permanent injury to the eye is expected by the doctor in charge.

STRIKER MAKES EMPLOYMENT FOR MINDOKA GOVERNMENT MEN

Camels are made for Men who Think for Themselves

Such folks know real quality—and DEMAND it.
They prefer Camels because Camels give them the smoothest, mellowest smoke they can buy—because they love the mild, rich flavor of choicest tobaccos, perfectly blended—and because Camels leave NO CIGARETTE AFTERTASTE.
Like every man who does his own thinking, you want fine tobacco in your cigarettes. You'll find it in Camels.
And, mind you, no flashy package just for show. No extra wrappers! No costly frills! These things don't improve the smoke any more than premiums or coupons.
But QUALITY! Listen! That's CAMELS!

NORTH RANDALL, CLEVELAND, Pa.—Lon McDonald, the Indianapolis Reinsman, drove his record stake up as many days when The Great Rose, owned by T. D. Taggart, Jr., Frenchlet, Ind., annexed the Taverz' "steak" purse of $5,000, the feature event of Friday's Grand Circuit racing program. In negotiating the first mile in 2:05 3/4, the Peter the Great filly clipped one-half second from the record set by Taverz, which was held jointly by Jeanette Rankin and Grand Chimes. McDonald was behind Jeanette Rankin when she equalled the record for the event last year, Princess Etawah, which finished second last year, also finished in that position. Fredrick K. driven and trained by E. G. Perry, Oskaloosa, Iowa, made his debut in a race an auspicious one, by winning the 2:21 trot. He led the race from the start to the end, won the $100 class pace. He was the third favorite of the day to win.

BIG MATCH IS SCHEDULED

Tennis World's Championship in Women's Singles to be Decided on Saturday

WIMBLEDON, England, Pa.—With Molla Bjurstedt Mallory's convincing victory over Mrs. Denshill of England and Mrs. E. Miller, Suzanne Lenglen having triumphed over Mrs. Pescoc, the center court at Wimbledon is ready for Saturday's dramatic occasion when the American and French tennis stars will meet to decide the women's tennis championship of the world. Both Mrs. Mallory and Mrs. Lenglen, who through Friday's semi-finals with decisive scores, the American defeating her opponent 6-2, 6-2, and the French woman winning by 6-4, 6-1.

Saturday's meeting is looked upon as a decidedly auspicious one as apart from interest in the match itself, it is the first time that America has sent abroad a woman player since the war who has succeeded in reaching the finals at Wimbledon, and this result, it is pointed out, fully proves the claims repeatedly made in the past month's tournaments that Mrs. Mallory this year has been showing a form ahead of anything seen in England on her previous visits.

Mrs. Lenglen's play in the tournament and in her match Friday has been as accurate as I wonder to those who witnessed the tournament play.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa.—Ralph Greenleaf, holder of the world's pocket billiard title, Friday night made a high run of 114, exceeding the world record held by himself by 14 balls. The performance, which was made in an exhibition match with Charles Harman, will not stand as a record, billiard experts said.

The run made under the new rules with one ball always on the table, unfinished, and Greenleaf will endeavor to add to it in the next block of the 500 point match Saturday.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Pa.—Jimmy Sisco of Boston was given the decision here Friday against Able Mishkind of Salt Lake City at the end of a ten-round bout. They are lightweight. Joe Egan, of Boston, earned a decision over Joe Wilson of Vancouver after six rounds of biding. They are welterweights.

Chinese Compiment
In China, if one desires to express high compliment of a person, the right thumb is stuck up above a closed fist. To extend the little finger, though, is to suggest that the person is beneath contempt. When the Chang-shan man refers to the "Yellow" citizen, he always resembles a patient about to have his thumb bandaged. Long before Yale established the "Yale in China" college in Changsha, the city was closely related to America, for it was here that many of the American missionaries which formed the American independence day celebration were made. Among the great men who have been among Changsha's chief products was Gen. Tseng Kuo Pan, whose cooperation with "Chinese Gordon" was largely instrumental in putting down the Siping rebellion.

YEAR by year, for a long time past, enormous sums of money have been spent by residents of this section for book binding. And one hundred per cent of each dollar of expenditure has been sent away, for the most part to cities clear outside the state, for the reason that there was no place close at hand where book binding could be done.

The News has changed all that. Now it is no longer necessary to send away to have books bound or re-bound. The work may be done right here at home.

In line with its general policy of increasing its scope of service just as rapidly as conditions warrant, The News has installed a department in which this particular work may be done, with an expert manager in charge and every facility available for the proper performance of Bindery work of all kinds.

It will pay anyone to obtain estimates of cost at The News office on Bindery Work before considering sending it elsewhere.

CLOTURE RULE AS IN DISCARD

Republican Move Defeated by Margin of Nine Votes Below Necessary Number

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Defeat of the republican motion for cloture on the administration tariff bill and a dramatic attack on that measure by Senator LaFollette of Wisconsin, a republican member of the committee that reported it, featured Friday's proceedings in the senate. The vote to revoke the existing cloture rule was 45 to 35, or nine less than the necessary two-thirds majority. The democrats were a unit against the motion, which was opposed also by five republicans. Taking up specifically the cotton schedule in the bill, Senator LaFollette declared the rates reported to congress in many instances were from 11 to 90 per cent higher than those in the Payne-Aldrich law and from 100 to 200 per cent higher than those in the existing statute. He said the committee majority had removed "one of the many shreds slipped into the rotten fabric" and declared the rates "not tables of commerce, but tables of prepared war, not exactly accurate. He added, however, that he understood the committee majority did not intend to lower the rates on the level of the Payne-Aldrich law and presented many tables to show that the cotton manufacturers had prospered under the Underwood rates.

Smart Defends Schedule

Senator Smart, of Utah, making republicans on the finance committee defended the cotton schedule, declaring that the average of the rates was not above the average in the Underwood law, though some were higher than others, he added, were lower. He said the committee majority still was working on the schedule and would bring in new amendments and at the proper time would present an analysis of the schedule to the senate. Returning to his attack, Senator LaFollette expressed an idea that senators would consider the tariff bill not as owners of stock in cotton mills, woolen mills, and other industries, but as representatives of the people, giving attention to the effect of the rates on the consumers. If this were not done, he warned, sooner or later, all the present tariff makers would be driven to the revolutionary way—the ballot box, of course.

Art of the Story Writer

Story-writing is always experimental, just as a water color is, and that something might do, itself, is the vitality of it. I think we must know what good work is before we can do good work of our own, and as I say, I think that the best judged being called good and see why it is good; whether it is, in that particular story, the reticence or the bravery of speech, the boldness of suggestion that is in it, or the absolute clearness and finality of the conclusion, whether it sets you thinking, or whether it makes you see a landscape with a live human figure living its life in the foreground. —Sarah Ome Jewett.

Cuckoo Lays Eggs of Any Size

For ingenuous village, the cuckoo holds the prize among birds. It lays eggs in the nests of other birds; that is, as soon as the young cuckoos hatch, it fits the other nestlings on its back and throws them from the nest. It is the only bird that has been known to do the cuckoo brought back by their parents. The cuckoo seems to have the ability to lay eggs of the same size as those already in the nest, whether they are large or small.

Edict of Dead King Still Valid

The dead hand of a King who reigned more than a century ago is still venting many exercises on a dozen miles out of London, from earning a livelihood as salesmen. They proposed to open a popular market there, but found they were barred by a charter granted by King John to the neighboring town of Kingston giving that town exclusive market rights within a radius of seven miles, which embraces Teddington. Finding that living conditions have changed in the past 600 years have been met by the Kingston authorities with an announcement that they intend to stand by their charter.

His Beginning in Life

Having made his money, Mr. Golding became the usual target for questions on "How to Make Cash Quickly" and such topics.

Who'll Send 'em a Barret?

Everybody's money. "I'm willing that I'll send 'em a Barret," said the man who had just been asked. "You dear, sir," he replied indignantly. "You have been misinformed. I began life in the usual way—as an infant."

Always Something

And if they can find nothing else to disagree about, a happy married couple quarrel for hours over whether it is worse to put the nickel in the brush in the locker or the pen in the wash.

UNEMPLOYMENT VANISHING
A bulletin issued by the national industrial conference board, which states that unemployment has almost entirely disappeared, comes as a welcome surprise.

The survey reports labor shortages in the Colorado and Arizona mining regions, in the Oklahoma oil fields, in the states of Wisconsin, Michigan, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Western Pennsylvania, in New Jersey, Connecticut, Massachusetts, and to some extent in North Carolina.

There is no more accurate index of returning prosperity than the demand for labor. The public wants the product of labor. So long as labor produces goods at a price consumers can pay, there is hardly any end to the demand. It will continue to "boogie" as consumers feel that they are given a dollar's worth of value for every dollar expended.

"Oh, Brazil—Brazil—Brazil!" the youth said, dispirately. "I hate the sound of it."

"These clothes are for the ranch," Nina said, smiling. Both her father and Harriet agreed well from the youth's instantly transformed face.

"Say—honestly?" he asked, innocently with an irrespressible grin.

"I think so," Nina murmured. The rest of their conversation was inaudible; they presently wandered forth to meet it on the tennis court.

War followed his grandmother upstairs, and Harriet and Richard were left to finish their breakfast alone.

"You look tired," Harriet said, frowning, as his omelette came in, and pausing beside the head of the table for an instant on her way to the pantry.

"I had a bad night," Richard admitted. "But that's not all you're going to have for breakfast?" he protested.

"I never have more!" Harriet smiled. "I'm sorry about the bad night," she said, and looked young again.

"I couldn't help thinking," Richard began. "What is it, Mollie?" he added, harshly, to the hovering maid.

"Nothing—no matter—air," Mollie stammered, retreating. "It was just that the man about the sheep came in," she faltered.

"The sheep?" Richard echoed, frowning. Harriet laughed gently. "Oh, yes," she said. "I told you I had a bad night—two or three young sheep," she explained, "but they soon lay down. They are less so now than when they were in the pen."

Richard pushed back his plate and looked at the answer, readily. "You—you'll like them?" And he heard her joyous voice following Mollie away.

for a moment she was a dancing pair, but there were only riding boots at Giovanni's now, and three of these were looking over the wall at the grandmother's maid. And Richard found Richard here.

"She was on her knees, in the pleasant green shadow of the old symphony man; her back was toward him, but she was looking into the face of the old stableman, who stood before her, his crooked, dwarfed old figure still further bent, as he held two strong young ewes by their thick, woolly shoulders.

"Frother gave him a respectful good-morning. Harriet sprang to her feet and whirled about, and Richard saw the woolly still legs of a very young lamb dangling from her arms and the lamb's meek little black-rubber face close to the beautiful face he loved.

"Oh, Richard!" she said, looked at her by her own delight. "Lark! It isn't! It's the sweetest darling baby that ever was! Oh, you sweet!" she said, putting her lips to the little woolly head.

"You are!" Richard said quite without premeditation.

Harriet laughed, surrendered the little lamb to Trotter and followed the old man's departure to the stable with an anxious warning.

"They're to have this little ewe close to themselves," she explained to Richard when they were alone.

"He's going to build them a little sheep," said Richard, his back bent against the low brick wall, made no immediate attempt to move, she looked at him expectantly. "Ball we go back?" she suggested.

"That sounded very pleasant to me," Richard said with deliberate irrelevance.

Harriet looked at him in puzzled silence.

"I mean your calling me Richard," he said.

"Did I always think of you as Richard?" she explained.

"So you abandon me on the Brazil trip?" he asked, watching her nervously.

"I thought you had to go," she added. "To—I'll confess I'm disappointed. But to have Nina want to do anything is such a relief to me that I'm only going to think of that."

"I have seen you Richard said slowly. I must be there for a month at least. But I'm disappointed, too. I don't think of it, in the night—I go thinking I'm disappointed, too. He fell silent. "I wish," he said hesitatingly, "that you had not told me that you—you don't feel that you're going to love me!" he said. "I love you with all my heart and soul. I well, it's all I think of now. I want—"

He turned and picking up his hat he went to the door. "I'll be back for a moment and if it appears before he let it fall. However," he said philosophically, smiling at her, "we'll let that wait!"

"Harriet, close to him, laid one hand upon his shoulder. "You misunderstand me!" she said sternly. "What I said was that I could not love you more than I do!"

Roman Rafala, England: In constructing a certain building which is to be the beginning of the present business of the town, workmen have made interesting discoveries of the Roman occupation. A little below the street they came across the remains of a Roman wall, the foundations of which were trenches down out of the bank were revealed. The articles of pottery found included two water bottles and an urn, undoubtedly preserved, and a piece of earthenware which showed signs of having been decorated by the regular application of a thumb nail. One of three brass coins found was of a period of the Emperor Vespasian, who died A. D. 79—London Times.

PROPOSE AUDIT FOR DECADE IN COUNTY OFFICES

Commissioners Confer with Accountants with View to Authorizing First Scrutiny of Books of Its Kind Since 1913

Members of the board of Twin Falls county, commissioners conferred Friday with Edwin A. Wilson and James Munro, certified accountants, relative to plans for an audit of all county offices to be made before the expiration of the fiscal term ending Oct. 1.

Always Under Supervision The fact that no audit of the kind ever known has been made for almost 10 years does not mean, it was said, that county affairs have been conducted without supervision, because regular reports from each office have been scrutinized both by the board of commissioners and the county auditor, who in turn is answerable under the law to the state auditor.

No Definite Arrangements No arrangements have been made with any accountants for making the audit, and those contacted Friday were called in because of their familiarity with county affairs. The board also recently made for highway and school districts.

SUES FRUIT GROWERS FOR VIOLATION OF CONTRACT

Dealer Asks Judgment for Damages and for Recovery of Money for Supplies

Claiming damages in the sum of $3092 for non-fulfillment of a contract to deliver peaches during the season of 1921 and asking for the recovery of $1425.42 for supplies alleged to have been advanced to the defendants, C. G. Fargo, fruit and produce dealer, through his attorney, E. L. Tyler and Sons.

It is alleged in the complaint that under terms of a contract entered into in May, 1921, the Tylers were to deliver to Fargo all of the peaches grown by them during the season. Delivery was to be made at Peavey and the price to be paid was $1.75 and $1 a bushel. It is alleged that the Tylers in August delivered to Fargo seven carloads of peaches under this contract, and that payment was made for them, part of the money being paid directly to the Tylers and part to the Twin Falls bank for their benefit. Thereafter, it is alleged, the Tylers refused to deliver any more of their peaches to Fargo.

BUSINESS MEN ENDORSE FREIGHT RATE PROPOSAL

Chamber of Commerce Bureau to Recommend Co-operation with Traffic Association

Details of a plan for co-operation between the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce and the Southern Idaho Traffic association in the presentation of arguments for establishment of class and commodity freight rates in northern Idaho on an equal basis, were worked out at a meeting Friday evening of members of the chamber of commerce, railroads and utilities bureau with Leonard Way, secretary of the traffic association.

Way explained in detail the showing he expected to make before the state public utilities commission at a hearing August 7, for establishment of rates on an equal basis. The bureau voted to recommend to the chamber of commerce that plans be endorsed, and that active support be given.

Mr. J. H. Taylor, who has moved to Salt Lake City, has been named a member of the chamber of commerce railroads and utilities bureau, the other members of which are E. A. Dumke and J. W. Brown, E. S. Johnson and G. H. Self.

BOARD WARMS ON NOXIOUS WEEDS

Landowners Must Act or County Will Do Work and Charge Up the Cost

Landowners of Twin Falls county must comply with the provisions of state law requiring them to exterminate noxious weeds on their property. If the work will be done by workers in the employ of the county and the expense will be charged against the property to be collected along with the taxes, according to statement issued Friday at the office of the board of county commissioners.

The board has also considered, but has declined, to take action on a petition for the removal of a building, dock and wild morning glory. Where they have been permitted to grow, these weeds are now attaining maturity, and it is important, the commissioners said, if an effective campaign is to be made against them that it be begun at once.

Under the law, landowners are made responsible for the extermination of the proscribed weeds on their own property and along the highways to the extent of their ability.

"We are reluctant to resort to use of county employes in combating the weed pest in conformity with the law, because the average landowner can do the work more economically than can the county," W. W. Parish, chairman of the board, said Friday, "but the board will do it if we are not able to see that it is done."

Members of the board cited examples where approval of the seed of these noxious weeds had involved loss of thousands of dollars to individual landowners.
