HARDING WOULD MAKE FETISH OF RAILROAD BOARD

Gompers Declares Executive Proclamation Overlooks Fundamentals and Misses Vital Issues of Strike Situation

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The executive proclamation warning against interference with movement of interstate transportation in connection with the railroad strike, and particularly against interference with the United States mails, was issued, Wednesday night by Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, "to be calculated to make a fetish of the transportation act and of the railroad labor board."

Referring to the injunction against interference, Mr. Gompers' statement declared that "railroad workers will withdraw their services" necessarily "afflict" "this movement of equipment." "The president's proclamation," the statement continued, "implies that workers have not proceeded in accordance with the law and that in stopping work they have gone outside of the law. This is not the law. The law specifically gives to the workers the right to cease work in the event that they cannot accept the award of the railroad board or the board of arbitration. The law does not contain any declaration which must be obeyed. They are awarded which the board accepts, but which neither is bound to accept."

Cites Case of Roads

"I call attention to the fact that 92 railroads, in 204 cases, have refused to abide by awards of the board. It is not a single case has the railroad labor board of the federal government considered the railroad into acceptance of an award. The courage and solidarity of the workers in their resistance to arbitrary and autocratic orders is most commendable and ought to be applauded by every liberty-loving American."

It is desirable that American railroad operators understand that not at the price of the sacrifice of manhood and of justice. . . .

The president's proclamation overlooks fundamental issues. It is to effect, specifically and crown with power the railroad labor board. It is a denial of domestic methods. It is an effort to operate the industry in the same way to operate the railroads in safety. It is to receive joint negotiations, bring justice to the workers and thus make possible a condition of safety of railroad equipment."

Well Known Motion Picture Actress May Be Witness in Will Contest Case

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Testimony tending to show that Matthew P. Burns, stepfather of Gloria Swanson, motion picture actress, was of unduly undue influence exerted by her in favor of his wife, was introduced by contestants of the will in local superior court Wednesday.

The contestants, who are relatives of Burns, a former merchant, charge that he married Miss Swanson's mother and made a will in her favor as a result of undue influence exerted by Miss Swanson.

The witnesses Wednesday were relatives and friends of Burns and they related many instances in which he acted "peculiarly" and from which they said they formed the opinion that he was "fraternal."

Afraid to Sleep Alone

Mrs. Margaret A. Graham, his sister, testified that Burns was afraid to sleep alone in his room following the death of his first wife. She said that an occasion she heard Burns in the back yard whistling and calling as if to a dog and upon going to the back porch saw Miss Swanson's mother carrying a pair of axes and following Burns around the yard. This, she said, was prior to their marriage.

The contestants are expected to complete their case Thursday. It could not be learned from attorneys for Mrs. Burns whether Miss Swanson would be called to refute the charges made against her.

BILLINGS, Mont., (AP)—Members of the National Editorial association find their families, 200 strong, who arrived here from the east Wednesday morning, about their special train, en route to the association's annual convention to be held at Missoula this week, Wednesday night were the guests of Billings citizens at numerous theater parties and a club supper.

Wednesday was replete with entertainment for the visitors, which began at 7:30 in the morning when the Billings Elks drum corps marched to the depot and gave reveille. More than a hundred automobiles driven by citizens of this city then transported the guests to downtown hotels for breakfast, following which the entire party was taken on an auto tour over the rimrock drive and to other sections of the surrounding country, which occupied the entire morning.

MYSTERY AS TO NEW MRS. GOULD IS CLEARED UP

Identity of Woman Recently Married to Well Known Millionaire Established by Theatrical Acquaintances

NEW YORK, (AP)—Broadway and its show people, and Fifth and Park avenues and their society folk consulted their best memories Wednesday to find out who is the Mrs. Alice Sinclair, who became the second wife of George J. Gould in Paris last week.

It finally was established that she came here in the east of the English musical comedy some years ago, and thereafter had lived in West End avenue and at a country home on an island in Long Island Sound off New York. She was a familiar figure in that village and residents there said she was the mother of two children. She seldom mingled in the society of the place. For several years, it was said, she and Mr. Gould had been friendly.

Mr. Gould's first wife, and the mother of his seven children, Mrs. Edith Kingdon Gould, died less than a year ago while getting with him on their country estate, Georgian Court, near Lakewood, N. Y. In her will she bequeathed to Mrs. Gould their splendid mansion in Fifth avenue and another residence in the Sixties "during the life and until he remarries." Now that has remained these properties, valued at almost $3,000,000, go into a trust fund in which the children share equally.

Announcement Confirmed

Mrs. Carroll Livingston Walworth, who was Edith O. Gould, confirmed the announcement of her father's marriage, which was attended by but one of his children, Mrs. Anthony J. Drexel, Jr., who was Marguerite Gould.

A son, Jay Gould, sailed for Europe on the Mauretanic last Saturday and will meet his father and step-mother overseas. Mr. Gould has leased a castle in Invernesshire, Scotland, where he and his bride will spend their honeymoon until November.

FORMER TESTIMONY USED

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—The reading of testimony given by Mrs. Matilynne Oberhaus at her first trial for the murder of J. Delton Kennedy, local broker, occupied all of Wednesday's court session. Mrs. Oberhaus sat under her head in her hands during most of the reading, apparently still suffering from the effects of her sudden illness Tuesday, which necessitated an early adjournment of court.

Papal Hat Worn in 660.

Originally the tiara or triple crown of the pope, was a plain high cap much like those in which ages of Venice are so often represented in oil pictures. It was first introduced by Pope Nicholas I, in 860. Just when the first coronet was added is a matter of uncertainty, but the second was placed by Pope Boniface VIII in 1293 and the third by Pope Urban V, about 1369.

Peculiar Reckoning.

When Harry de Vint visited the Siberian Ostiak he found that they calculated "quite long distances" in terms of kettles, an almost identical custom at the other end of Asia. If a journey was five kettles long an explorer found them that it would take as long as it would to boil five kettles of cold water in succession.

ANTHRACITE MEN IN REASONABLE FRAME OF MIND

Government's Arbitration Offer in Coal Strike Brings Gratifying Response from One Element of Situation

WASHINGTON, (AP) — Anthracite mine owners, Wednesday admitted a response to the government's offer of arbitration in the coal strike. President Harding said, to regard as a complete acceptance.

Meanwhile, the miners' union, and, to a degree, the bituminous coal operators continue to pursue a policy which officials declared was intended to evade or delay an immediate response, and in which officials saw a disposition to resist the government's settlement plan if public opinion would approve such a course.

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, and other officials of that organization called on Secretary Davis Wednesday and were understood to have endeavored to induce the government to accept the arbitration proposals apply to all the partly unionized territory as well as the mining area shut down by the bituminous strike. "So far as the willingness of anthracite operators to settle was concerned, Mr. Lewis said, "arbitration in the anthracite fields would be considered by the union along with the bituminous arbitration proposals at the general policy committee meeting Saturday."

Delay Unavoidable.
Responses from the bituminous industry, it was evident, would not be in the president's hands before Monday.

Two conditions were attached to the anthracite employers' acceptance of arbitration as a means of ending the suspension of operations in their territory, one that a separate commission consider wage scales in that industry and second that the commission be required to return a decision about August 10. Meanwhile, they agreed to the president's suggestion of paying the usual rate of March 31, but insisted that this "would embarrass rather than assist the efforts to restore normal conditions," because public demand for "decreased prices of anthracite is imperative."

Work Conditions Different.
Declaring that the anthracite industry had no problems of part time employment, but had entirely different conditions of work and living than in the bituminous area and that a commission now appointed to operate should be required "to set up a permanent method by which wages and working conditions in the future can be automatically adjusted," the operators asked the president to name three representatives of the public on the board and one miner and one operator. This, it was held, would assure a non-partisan adjudication. A decision from such a commission, they declared, they would accept "without reservation or qualification."

OLD INDICTMENTS QUASHED

Mingo County, West Virginia, Action Against United Mine Workers is Brought to End.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., (AP) — Indictments against members and officers of the United Mine Workers, pending in Mingo county, were quashed by Judge J. H. Bailey of that county, Wednesday, according to word received here. Wednesday night from William son.

The action was taken at the request of the prosecuting attorney, who claimed insufficient evidence.

Prosecuting Attorney B. D. Stokes told the court he could not find a man against them for lack of evidence.

Among the indictments which were stricken from the docket were those against David Bobb, international district officer of the United Mine Workers; Frank Kenney, president of District 17; Fred Monoy, district secretary-treasurer; A. D. Leavelle, and G. H. Workman, district board members, and about 65 others.

Cubs' Ace Unable to Stop the League Leaders; Boston Beats Pittsburgh

CHICAGO, (AP)—Grover Alexander was unable to stop New York Wednesday and Chicago took its second defeat. The league leaders outplayed the locals on the defense and their attack was effective. Fred Toney had little difficulty holding Killifer's men safe, as the folding behind him was perfect.

NEW YORK, (AP)—St. Louis retained the American league lead Wednesday by defeating New York in a bitterly contested game.

The Browns held up play in the fifth inning for 10 minutes in protesting umpire Chitt's decision permitting Mueller to score on a ball thrown into the St. Louis dugout. Umpire Connolly, however, refused to forfeit the game after Chitt had indicated he wanted to go and St. Louis resumed play. Manager Huggins later was put off the Yankee bench.

Prueck, college recruit, fanned both three times in the pinch, once with the bases full. Slater's single in the eighth with the bases full won the game for St. Louis. Williams hit his 21st home run.

ST. LOUIS, (AP)—The Phillies defeated the Cardinals in both ends of the Wednesday's doubleheader. The loss of the first game broke the local's winning streak of eight straight. Suzanne Lenglen Nearly Mobbed by Admirers Following Victory in Final Games

JOHNNY DUNDEE WINS BOUT

New York Man Declared to Have the Best of Four Round Exhibition with Shamus O'Brien

WIMBLEDON

Suzanne Lenglen was almost mobbed by admiring crowds after her two victorious Wednesday games.

She told that Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory, the American woman champion, before retiring Wednesday had explained she "recoiled" by saying she was not up to form and that the whole thing had been spoiled by rain. The world's champion laughingly refused to say anything, and apparently was anxious to avoid any further controversy. She left the impression on questioners that she was anxious to abstain any statement that might cause difficulties.

NEW YORK

Johnny Dundee, of New York outpointed Shamus O'Brien, also of New York, Wednesday in a four round exhibition bout. In the first round Dundee won by a decision of a series held under the auspices of the National Sports Alliance.

Jack Malone, St. Paul middleweight, received a decision over Jack Stone of New York, and Jimmy Mars of New York, who from Andy Chaney of Baltimore, are two other four-round bouts.

Harry Greb, light-heavyweight champion, also was slated to box, but did not appear in the ring because of injuries sustained in a contact with Tommy Langhran of Philadelphia; injury left.

TWO BOXERS SUSPENDED

Joe Lynch and Johnny Buff and Managers Must Explain How It Happened to Boxing Commission

NEW YORK, (AP)—Joe Lynch, banamweight champion Johnny Buff, who lost the title to the former World's night, and their managers, Eddie Mead and Low Diamond, Wednesday were suspended by the New York state boxing commission until an investigation is made of the contract under which they met.

The commission acted on allegations that the state law was violated when Lynch guaranteed Buff $30,000 to make the match and an additional sum if he lost his title. The crowd was smaller than expected, and it is related, Lynch must pay nearly 10,000 to make up the deficit.

The New York law provides that the boxers in any match may split 50 per cent of the gate receipts any way they choose, but it prohibits guarantees. No date has been set for a hearing of the matter.

TEXTILE DUTIES ARE CONSIDERED

Senate Opens Inquiry Which May Take Several Weeks to Complete

WASHINGTON, (P)—Completing consideration of committee amendments to the agricultural schedule after two weeks work, the senate launched Wednesday into what is promised to be several weeks' fight over tariff duties on textiles—cotton, wool, linen and silk. The cotton schedule was the first to be ordered but only one amendment was disposed of, this providing for a duty of seven cents a pound on Egyptian cotton designed to protect the growers of long staple cotton in Arizona and Southern California.

A flood of amendments to some sections of this schedule were offered by Senator Smoot, which were taken up on behalf of the finance committee majority, those representing the work of the committee in re-writing rates.

Reductions Are Substantial
Senator Smoot explained that the reductions approximated four per cent on thread and fabric and nine larger decreases in the duties on hosiery and gloves, representing a cut of fifty per cent in the case of the cheaper grades of long staple cotton.

Under questioning from the democratic side, Senator Smoot said that the committee majority would propose some reduction on the wool tariff, but said that these could not exceed more than five per cent.

HANDFUL REPORTER ROUGH

Pickets at Tulsa, Oklahoma, Escort Newspaper Man From Promises

TULSA, Okla., (P)—Pickets doing duty about shops of the St. Louis and San Francisco railroad in west Tulsa Wednesday night attacked a reporter for the Tulsa World, who disguised as a laborer, sought to enter the shops with the avowed intention of seeking a job.

The reporter got past the first group of pickets unharmed, after being threatened and warned that "rough guys" were behind him. He was told, according to his story, he had gone but a few steps when he again was stopped and this time one of the pickets without warning, struck him a blow on the jaw that "knocked him down." He then was taken aboard an Interurban car and "escorted" to Tulsa.

The reporter said he did not receive his dignity to the pickets.

Radium's Remarkable Power

How radium, costing $120,000 a pound, can be used in "light" clocks and watches is a puzzle to the average man. Properly understood, it is a demonstration of the remarkable powers of this substance. The point used is a combination of delicate devices with an intellectual quantity of radium. Examine a luminous dial through a magnifying glass after the eyes have been in total darkness for a few minutes, and they flash, at light may be seen, these are caused by the explosion of hundreds of millions of radium atoms, and occur at the rate of about 200,000 a second, the more radium in the paint, the greater the number of flashes a second, and the more durable the luminosity. Since every flash means a blow upon a crystal of zinc sulphide, the crystals gradually break under the strain; the zinc breaks down in about five years, but the one-millionth gram of radium on the average watch dial is practically as energetic as ever.—Scientific American.

Hard on Both

In the early days in Missouri, when a judicial circuit covered many counties, the circuit judge, including horseback, was often prevented by high water and other causes from reaching the court at the opening of the term. For this emergency a statute was enacted (still on the books) authorizing the lawyer to elect to elect a special judge to hold the term of court. Col. Jeff Jones, a noted character of Callaway county, was selected a special judge under this statute. When Colonel Jeff mounted the bench, a newly elected sheriff received the court to a loud voice with the following appropriate announcement: "O yes, O yes; the Circuit court of Callaway county is now in session, the Hon. Jeff Jones presiding; God save the state of Missouri!"

WIMBLEDON, (P)—The closing here Wednesday of the international grass court tennis tournament was marked by two of the most spectacular doubles contests ever seen at Wimbledon. In one of these Miss Suzanne Lenglen and Pat O'Hara Wood of Australia, won the mixed doubles championship by defeating Miss Elizabeth Ryan of California, and Randolph Lycett of Great Britain. The other feature was the winning of the men's doubles title by Lycett and J. O. Anderson of Australia, over Wood and Gerald Patterson of Australia.

Early Lawmaking Bodies

One of the earliest of popular assemblies, the beginning of the modern parliament or legislature, was the "shire-mote" of Anglo-Saxon England, a gathering of the county or shire, held twice a year and presided over by the shire-reeve, the ancestor of the present-day sheriff. In this assembly all disputes about land were settled and all the rights of the crown and church connected with the shire were adjudicated. The shire-mote was often held under a tree in the open air. It was the "witenagemot," which was the council of the wise men of the kingdom. The witenagemot was the supreme court of justice, made up of and treated, levied taxes, regulated military and church affairs and ordained the king's succession. It was called every Christmas, Easter and Whitnights.

Northern Lights

The fact has long been recognized that the splendid phenomena of the Northern lights, or aurora borealis, are due to electric action producing luminosity in the upper regions of the atmosphere, perhaps 75 miles or more above the earth, where the density of the air is exceedingly slight. But the precise manner in which the electric energy acts in such a case remains to be explained.

Explosion Something of a Puzzle

A queer sort of an explosion occurred in a small glass tube having walls but a millimeter in thickness and containing 25 milligrams of the purest radium bromide as reported by a French physicist. The tube had been in use for 18 months. At the time of the explosion, it had just been removed from a bath of liquid air. A loud report accompanied the explosion, which occurred in a dark room and the glass was scattered all through the room in almost microscopic particles, and the scattered radium alone in the darkness like a starry sky. It was calculated that the pressure in the tube must have been equal to at least 20 atmospheres, and it is supposed to have been due to the evolution of gaseous decomposition products from the radium.—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

TEN NIGHTS

Churches are acclaiming this picture as a triumph over the "Ten Nights" of the most remarkable features accompanying the presentation of this great picture "Ten Nights in a Barroom," which will be shown at the Laving Theatre tonight, Friday, and Saturday. It is the interest which has aroused among religious teachers all over the United States of America. It appears they agreed to forget their differences and tell the people to go and see "Ten Nights" and what it did in the past; what it would continue to do in the present if the old condition of things which led to the passage of the Eighteenth Amendment remained in force.

THE MOUNTAINS ARE BOWING

If anything on earth can attract as much attention as a circus, it is The Northwest Mounted Police, who will appear at the Orpheum Theatre on the nights of Thursday and Friday. When these world famous man trackers appear on the streets with their natty purple and gold uniform, it is the signal for everyone to stop dead in their tracks and admire them, for the Mounted Police uniform has the name of being the prettiest worn by any organization in the entire world.

Their performance is entirely different from anything ever seen on the stage—and they are creating an "infectious" interest, the trend of popular opinion all along the line being that it is one of the most unique and best attractions ever seen in the entire world.

In addition to a complete description of the innermost workings of this famous force, you will be treated to a 10,000 mile tour through Canada, Alaska and the Yukon, showing the "Mounties" both at work and at play. Their introduction of "Arctic Vandeville" to the night-geese of this country has filled long felt want for "something new under the sun!"

Famous Husband Unappreciated

The famous signature of John Hancock was noticed to at least one important document besides the Declaration of Independence. In 1743 it was affixed to the license of the marriage between himself and Dorothy Quincy, thus joining two of the most celebrated of American families. Dorothy was the daughter of Judge Quincy, a staunch patriot; and the daughter inherited the political beliefs of her father. Young Hancock was one of the heroes of the country, and this undoubtedly laid its part in making Dorothy look favorably upon his suit. Hancock was very much in love with his beautiful and aristocratic bride, but she failed to return his ardor with much enthusiasm. Whenever he was obliged to be away from home he wrote her every day, and in every letter complained of her negligence in not writing him.

English Statesman's Nicknames

Lord John Russell's diminutive stature earned him other nicknames besides the inevitable "Johnny." The name is the one given by Creevey, which was substantiated by some wing upon him when he married the widow of the second Lord Biltchdale—"the Widow's Mill." John Russell was a frail and delicate child from the first, and his diminutive nature has been helped by the harshness of his school days. He had to be taken away from Westminster because he could not stand the fatigue and unwholesome food. And his delicate nature has been helped by the harshness of his school days. Spiritualism Among Savages

Spiritualism is in a flourishing condition among the black tribes of Uganda. Belief in a future life is universal among these primitive Africans, and they are quite given to attempted communications with the Great Beyond. They regard the cow with great reverence, and many varied ceremonies accompany the milking of cows and the consumption of the milk. When twins are born special ceremonies are held in celebration of the event, but triplets are treated as mischievous and are got out of the way as soon as possible. The "medicine men" are accomplished hypnotists, and wield great influence by the display of their powers. They are reputed to be great healers, and this also, it is believed, can be traced to hypnotism.

KING OF FEATHERED TRIBE

The Eagle Has at All Times Been Recognized as the Undisputed Monarch of the Air.

Sometimes as you roam amid the wild scenery of a mountain district your eye will catch sight of a tiny speck that floats high in the air above fell and crag.

You wonder for a moment what it can be, and then the thought comes to you that you are watching the strong upward flight of the nobles of all feathered creatures, the stately King of the Air.

Not many years ago eagles were quite common in all the high parts of England and Wales, but farmers, keepers, and collectors waged war against them, and now they are rare.

Even there they were falling into disfavor, and now they are rare. It is now found that they are increasing in numbers.

But it is no light task even for the bird of choice to reach an eagle's eyrie. For their nesting places the parent birds choose a narrow ledge, jutting out only a few inches from the sheer face of a high cliff.

The golden eagle is entirely a bird of prey. Only royal geyser will suffice for food. Their prey are the birds of the air in their menial life.

The little girl rose started, but her breeding was too fine for betrayal, and she went to him with hand outstretched. The boy took it as he had taken her father's, lumpy and without rising.

The boy looked uncomfortable, and shook his head, but the little girl was smiling, and she told him to come with her sweet impudence that he rose helplessly.
