RAILROADS ARE GIVEN PRIORITY RIGHTS ON COAL

Interstate Commerce Commission Issues Order for Fuel Distribution on Basis of Greatest Good

COAL STRIKE SUMMARY

INTERSTATE commerce commission declares emergency exists east of the Mississippi river on railroads as first step by the government toward control of coal distribution.

John L. Lewis, head of the striking miners, declares that government's "fantastic solution" to the coal mine has contributed toward impeding "the nation's interstate activities to operators to settle the strike by joint conference."

Washington, July 25 (AP)—Support of the railroad labor board as the only agency created by law for handling the transportation tie-up, acceleration of coal production under federal protection and control of coal distribution today was the administration program today as the three fundamental of the government's policy to end the industrial crisis involved in the coal and railroad strikes.

Restatement of the government's position followed the regular Tuesday meeting of the cabinet which, for nearly three hours, devoted its attention to the coal and railroad strikes and the country's economic situation. The cabinet's economic situation in fuel and interstate commerce.

Toward control of coal supply came sharply afterward in a statement from the interstate commerce commission declaring that an emergency exists east of the Mississippi which required the commission to direct the routing of all essential commodities and to fix priorities and priorities to control movement of food and fuel.

The priority order was followed by a "general service order" from the commission notifying the railroads and coal operators that an emergency existed which required them to disregard usual routing practices, freight rate divisions and other arrangements to obtain the most expeditious movement of essential freights.

Railroads Come First. Becoming effective tomorrow, the commission's order gives the railroads first priority in the movement of coal, gas, water and power, light, gas, water and power, work, to plants serving the public, and other commodities required in preservation of food, following in the order named.

Proposed appointment of a federal commission to investigate the coal industry received further support today as the cabinet decided to appoint as chairman Benoit of the labor committee.

Outlining the government position in the railroad strike, an administrative spokesman said it had been decided that the railroad labor board's statutory authority to determine who should be considered a carrier, and who should be recognized and upheld, and that the attempts to operate mines in spite of the miners' union, strike must be continued until it is demonstrated that not enough men are willing to work under state and federal jurisdiction to bring out an adequate tonnage.

Will Deal Fairly. It was added that the administration was struggling to deal fairly with the widespread rights of all parties to the entangled industrial controversies, but intended above all to uphold the maintenance of the dignity of the government of the United States.

Meantime, in the fuel crisis resulting from the coal strike, the power is limited to an official circle that in the concession of security rights to strikers who have left service, would permit in their return to work, the railroad management ought to yield the point.

Five Companies of National Guard Ordered to Proceed at Once to Town

The martial law becomes effective at five o'clock tomorrow morning. The governor also issued two other proclamations placing the strike situation at Childress and Sherman, under provisions of the open port law.

Proclamation is Attacked. The directing agency for the emergency machine—a presidential commission, as now called, the interstate commerce commission, the departments of commerce, justice and interior and Secretary Hoover as chairman—will be asking for protest and holding hearings, according to administration officials.

Two Orders Issued. Two orders, both based on its declaration that an emergency in transportation existed, were issued by the commission. The first restricted railroads all over the United States to disregard usual or questioned routing of shipments in favor of such routing as would expedite movement of coal and emergency food, livestock, perishable products, and coal and other fuels, all of its details were devoted to facilitating the government plan for distribution of coal.

Cannot Divert Shipments. Railroads were forbidden to divert or to make special runs for coal as they might be needed for superior use under the order of classification set forth.

HANDS OFF POLICY IS STRICTLY ADHERED TO BY THE LABOR BOARD

Executives of Western Roads Declare Freight Moving as Offered and Transportation Conditions Normal—Labor Leaders Decline to Comment on Developments in Rail Strike

CHICAGO, July 25 (AP)—Adhering strictly to its "hands off" policy in the railway stoppage's strike, the United States railroad labor board today turned its hands to routine matters, making no statement from Washington that any government action in the rail controversy must come through the labor board, the body took no action today and from officials it was learned that news is in prospect.

SUMMARY OF STRIKE

The administration announced that it would support the United States railroad labor board as the only agency created by law for handling the rail strike.

Have Nothing to Say. At strike headquarters here tonight, R. M. Jewell, head of the railway executive department of the American Federation of Labor, said the shipment of freight was being handled as normal and "transportation conditions are normal everywhere."

Disorders Are Few. Few disorders were reported during the strike. A fire was declared at Denison, Texas, where 1000 men of the Pennsylvania National Guard were being mobilized tonight by Colonel Walter E. MINERS' CHIEF ISSUES BID TO JOINT SESSION

John L. Lewis Urges Renewal of Conferences of Operators and Workers in Settlement of Strike

NEW YORK, July 25 (AP)—Declaring that the government's "fantastic schemes" to reopen the coal mines was a complete failure, and that the delay had contributed to a pending coal famine, John L. Lewis tonight urged a national union, tonight renewed his invitation to operators to settle the strike conference.

The attempt to reopen the mines by sending and parading engineers and other workers to the mines, Lewis said, would be a national farce, did it not possess the national character.

His plea for immediate resumption of negotiations between operators and miners was based on what he termed the complete failure of the government's efforts, which he asserted had led to the result of governmental attempts to avert a fuel famine.

None Back at Work. "Ten days have elapsed" since the president directed operators and workers on strike to resume the production of coal, said Mr. Lewis, "following which he telegraphed the following: 'The government has directed the military protection to all companies employing strikebreakers.'"

Despite this policy, "the statement issued by the government that a single union miner was returned to work. It must now be obvious to all that the American miner will not be driven back to work under conditions by any means of troops or of military protection."

British Co-operation is Cheerfully Given. WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP)—An agreement has been signed at Chattanooga, Tenn., between officials of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks and the Southern Railway which definitely averts the threatened walkout of clerks on the Southern and its affiliated lines, local officials of the brotherhood announced tonight.

The agreement affects some 6000 clerks throughout the Southern system. The annual vacation privilege has been generally granted, according to the terms of the road, but now will be placed in writing for the first time. The deduction accepted by the clerks was described as an advance to the provisions of decision 1074 of the railroad labor board.

USE POWDER TO COVER MORALS

School Official Reaches Harsh Conclusions with Respect to Teachers

COVINGTON, La., July 25 (AP)—In the report of E. L. Lewis, superintendent of public education for St. Tammany parish, to the school board, filed, appeared an arraignment of women who admit and the standard of morality is given precedence over literary qualifications in the selection of teachers.

The report contained the following: "In the selection of new teachers, I have tried to consider the teachers' moral qualifications first, and secondly their educational merits. I have found up under that old Puritanical doctrine that those women of low moral standards past their faces and walk the streets to make impressions."

"While I realize that it is not safe or just to judge all women by the standards of today, I will firmly believe the opinion that the women with low moral standards still hide their shame under paint, powder and lipstick."

The original gorget was a breastplate. Then followed a small plate like an amulet, worn round the neck. This developed into the gorget now worn by staff officers on the collar.

VIPONT TO PLAY HANSEN

Second Game of Series to be Played on Sunday—Both Teams Confident of Winning

Hansen will cross bats Sunday afternoon in the first game of the series with the fast Vipont brigade. Vipont has a team that is a little over-the-average for a mining camp, and lost a hard fought battle to Hansen on July 9, in a 10 inning 2 to 3 affair.

ONE-TIME FAVORITE IN LINEUP

Several old time Twin Falls favorites are in the Vipont lineup. "Murphy" Morley, ex-Twilight league twirler, and outfielder on last season's Twin Falls All Star team, is playing center field for the miners. His old friend Harry Blies is doing the bookkeeping for the same squad. In last Monday's game Blies catching for Oakley against Hiansen pulled out a home run with the bases loaded, paving the way for an 8 to 5 victory.

There will be a large crowd of Twin Falls fans to witness the game with Hansen Sunday, to see what promises to be a game well worth going to see.

Bates and Blies will form the battery for the miners. Morley is to serve for box duty, with Frank Fuller and Patton as the main events for Hansen with Walton ready to take his turn in the box in case of a calamity. The game will be called at 3 o'clock.

NO GAME FOR TWIN FALLS

Inability of Hansen to Play This Week Causes Postponement of Proposed Game Here

The Twin Falls All Stars will not play Hansen this week owing to the fact that Hansen is scheduled for a game with Vipont next Sunday at Hansen. There is hope that a game will be arranged the following week, so that the supremacy of the two teams can be decided. The series now stands one nipote, Twin Falls having won the first tilt on July 14, by a 6 to 3 score, while Hansen won last Sunday's game 13 to 3. Hence claims that they are the fastest bunch on the branch, while on the other hand Twin Falls figures that they are by far the best, so there you have it, and when the teams do line up, there should be a lot of fun flying.

GOVERNOR OF KANSAS TURNS LOOSE ON PALE

Speech of Executive Directed to Friendly Criticism of Point of View of William Allen White

EMPORIA, Kan., July 25 (AP)—The barrage of "Henry and Me" heard on the battle front of France were mere echoes compared to the bombardment Governor Allen unleashed on the platform of the Kansas State Normal auditorium this morning. Mr. White introduced the governor in a speech on the Kansas State Normal auditorium platform this morning. Mr. White introduced the governor in a speech on the Kansas State Normal auditorium platform this morning.

In a friendly manner the governor took his political friend and war-time comrade to task for his defiance of the governor's and state's general interpretation of the industrial court regarding the posting of strikers' placards which resulted in White's arrest last week.

"If trouble should arise in Emporia," Governor Allen said, "I will White would be a brigadier general in the army which would be out to protect law and order. I've been with Bill under all conditions and I know he is not dangerous. He wouldn't hurt a flea."

"The only time Bill White is dangerous is when he sits down before a double-action typewriter at a time like this and writes out his emotions."

No Question of Right

"Bill, or any one else has the right to put up a sign in his window if he wants to. But when Bill put that sympathy card he was joining in the movement to break down the efforts of the railroads to keep the trains running. He became the most dangerous figure in that movement because of the faith so many have in his judgment. And so we had to single Bill out because he is a leader. His arrest is a great compliment to him."

Governor Allen made it plain that the action taken against Mr. White was in the purpose of enforcing the law, not to deprive anyone of his constitutional right.

"What we need in this country now more than anything else, added the governor, is a feeling of obligation to our government, to our laws and obedience to authority. It is the duty of every citizen to obey the laws. It was the ruling of the chief law officer of this state that the posting of the signs constituted a violation of the law, in that they tended to intimidate those who wanted to work."

HAD HEARD IT ALL BEFORE

Mr. Peeter's Pessimism Interrupted by Memories of His Grandfather's Remarks Concerning Time's Trend.

"This boasted progress of ours is mere illusion," grimly said old Festus Peeter. "Corruption permeates our entire social fabric. Selfishness has supplanted generosity. The process of disintegration is going on at an alarming rate. Our sole God has come to be money. Vice is tolerated, and we make obeisance by hypocrisy. Patriotism has disappeared. Waste and idleness abound. Humanity is decaying at heart. Criminally, moral obliquity, class hatred, the destruction of the family sentiment, pessimism and skepticism are evident on every side; and so on and so forth."

"In fact, I would mention that a crisis is at hand, and also that it is a pretty kettle of fish. If I did not recall that my venerable grandfather held practically the same opinion of the world and his fellow men at his stage of the game and there are still in existence letters written by his grandfather whereby it is as forth a like estimate of the folks and affairs of his day, and there is a tradition to the effect that his ancestors felt the same way about their own times and mores. And very likely I might run for office on the strength of the awful condition of everything if I hadn't always been fairly respectable and reasonably able to earn an honest living."—Kansas City Star.

A GREAT ACHIEVEMENT

Unheralded and uncelebrated though it was, July 17 marked another long step forward in human progress. On that day the United States air mail service completed a year of operation unmarked by a single fatality.

It doubt still remained in the mind of anyone that the mails of the future will be moved through the air, swiftly and safely, this remarkable feat of the pioneer air mail service should dispel it.

The record of the air mail service for the past year proves more conclusively than any other test ever made, the reliability and the efficiency of the airplane in commercial service.

Writer Warns of Pernicious Effects That May Be Exercised by the Stiff Collar.

We are once more threatened with the stiff, tight, pre-war collar. Doctors have repeatedly warned parents against the dangers of allowing their sons to wear collars of this type.

Although the effect of wearing a high, stiff collar is not so deleterious in the case of an adult, it is not good for the general health, and also leads to disease.

The old-fashioned stiff collar with turned-down corners is still worn by boys of every age. It is not good for the general health, and also leads to disease.

KNEW MUCH OF SANITATION

Explorer Points Out Error in Claiming People of Old Times as Absolutely Sanitary.

During a protracted stay in Arabia and other parts of the Near East, Col. W. G. Archer of Evansville, Ind., master plumber and past president of the National Association of Master Plumbers, made a study of ancient sanitation equipment.

We praise of our great civilization, and we discount the ancients, because we know next to nothing of their methods or their customs.

"I know a number of Englishmen who are 'digging' in the ruins of the island of Crete, and find recently received pictures of ancient habits and toilet fixtures that they have unearthed there."

Traces of Old Civilization.

Five miles from Dardford, England, on the Old Dover road, the modern roadworkers are making great discoveries. Just ahead of them is a Roman camp. Under their feet are traces of Celtic, even earlier, civilization.

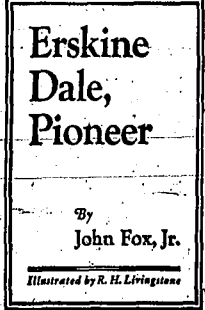

The biggest find so far has been the skeleton of a woman, six feet three inches in height, crouched with hands clasped in a praying attitude. Clearly not a Roman burial, for the pose is Celtic and there was no trace of a coffin.

The road makers are keeping careful watch for more of these "finds," which are a thousand year-old, more or less, characteristic ornaments of the period, and other signs that the area covered by the camp is being approached.

Boat Driven by Water.

A life boat invented in Holland is driven by water and has no engine, and expelled from two others by a pump, steering being done by controlling the outlets.

Erskine Dale, Pioneer

By John Fox, Jr. Illustrated by R. H. Livingston

Meanwhile, at a wild gallop Firey was skimming along the river road. Grey had kept his word and more; he had not only ridden slowly but he had stopped and was waiting at an oak tree that was in conversation between two plantations.

"That I may not kill you on your own land," he said. Erskine started. "The consideration is deeper than you know."

"They killed their horses and Erskine followed into a pleasant glade—a grassy glade through which murmured a little stream. Erskine dropped the reins on the ground.

"There is none," said Grey, "kicking up the one nearer to him. 'I know you both.' Grey took off his coat while Erskine waited. Grey made the usual moves of courtesy and said Erskine waited, wondering.

"Ready!" answered Grey, and he lunged forward. Erskine merely whirled at his blade as the point of it whizzed on the air to the breakpoint and sprang backward. He was as quick as an eyelash and like a panther, and grey almost laughed aloud. Erskine did not leap out of danger like a flash of light. It was like an insect's foot falling according to rules unknown.

Grey's face flamed and actually turned ashen. Erskine, as he had foreseen, would have hit Erskine's hand caught in Grey's guard by accident, and the powerful wrist behind it seeking merely to wrench the weapon from Erskine's hand.

Again a kindly face intervened. Even as Grey raised his hand, Erskine heard the beat of horse hoofs. As he snatched it from the ground and turned, with a wicked snarl over his grinding teeth, came Harry's shout and as he rushed for Erskine, Colonel Dale swung from his horse. The sword-blades clashed, Erskine whipping back and forth in a way to make a swordsman green—and Colonel Dale had a fine time by the wrist and was between them.

The Sword-Blades Clashed, Erskine Whipping Back and Forth in a Way to Make a Swordsman Green.

"How dare you, sir!" cried Grey hotly. "Just a moment, young gentleman," said Colonel Dale calmly.

"It is all yours, Uncle Harry!" "Just a moment," repeated the colonel sternly. "Mr. Grey, do you think it quite fair that you with your skill should fight a man who knows nothing about it?"

"There was no other way," Grey said softly. "And you could not wait!" "I promise!" Grey did not answer.

"Now, hear what I have to say, and if you both do not agree, the matter will be arranged to your entire satisfaction, Mr. Grey. I have but one question to ask. Your country is at war. She needs every man for her defense. Do you not think your lives belong to your country and that it is selfish and unpatriotic just now to risk them in any other cause?"

"Colonel Dale, your nephew grossly insulted me, and your daughter showed me the door. I mean no defense to him, not to her, but I will to you. I merely repeated what I had been told and I believed it true. Now that I hear it is not true, I agree with you, sir, and I am willing to express my regret and apologies."

"Perhaps you may meet when you return to the States," said Colonel Dale heartily, and he turned to Erskine, but Erskine was crying hotly.

J. W. TAYLOR Candidate for Republican Nomination for Prosecuting Attorney

Mr. Taylor has for the past six years carried on a very successful practice in the district court of this county and in the supreme court of the state. His friends point to the fact that during this time no attorney in the county has won a larger percentage of his criminal cases. At a recent term of the district court here, when a considerable number of criminal cases were tried, Mr. Taylor was the only defending attorney to secure a verdict of "not guilty" for his client. He is pledged to a program of impartial enforcement of the law against all offenders, and the great economy that is possible without loss of efficiency—adv.

BIG BROWN TOP-OF CHAUTAUQUA GIVEN LOCATION Canvas DOME That Is To Be Twin Falls Community Center to be Raised on Grounds Occupied Last Season

The big brown top of the Chautauqua tent which for seven inspiring days beginning Wednesday, July 19, will be a real community center for Twin Falls is to be raised, according to present arrangements, on grounds next to the city park at the corner of Fifth avenue and Second street east, where Twin Falls' Chautauqua course was held last year.

Various committees from among guarantors of the course have been assigned to duties in connection with the event, and a $10,000 campaign is under way to make the course an entirely successful one.

Trust for Music Lovers

It is safe to say that there has never been a more important Chautauqua opportunity from a musical standpoint than that of Francis Ingram, artistic director of the Metropolitan Opera and of the Chicago Operatic Association, who is to give an artistic concert on the evening of the second day.

The "Oceanic" guitar, a ladies' orchestra of rare virtuosity, will delight Chautauqua folk with selections from Eliza Platts, two famous French composers and novelty artists, are also scheduled to appear, as are the Watsons, Gledits, and Young, with their "Jazz" and "Jazz-Ricks" which are of outstanding entertainment value.

The appearance of the Gilbert Olson company, a group of five distinguished artists, presenting "Buddiesque," and a melodramatic program of scenes and music from standard opera, will be a musical feature of importance.

Lecture List, Stand Out

The lecture list, which stands out, is almost striking anomaly. One holds, in fact, will philosopher and lecturer, will discuss "Human Nature and Politics," Dr. Edgar Lynn, will speak on "The Human Fighting Paradox," will discuss "The Big Game," and J. C. Robinson, western lecturer of note, will discuss "The Life of the American West." Norman Allan Irwin, a brilliant Canadian orator, is bringing Chautauqua folk to a real inspiring talk, "Working for Billions," which will be given in the Edna-Eugenia-Lewis health school, and others, whose discourses will be instructive and inspirational.

PROPERTY VALUATION IN TWO TOWNS SHOWS FALL

Assessor Places Values in Twin Falls and Buhl at $800,000 Less

Valuation placed by the county assessor upon property in the corporate limits of Twin Falls for purposes of 1922 tax assessment, is $873,900 less than that assessed for the year 1921, according to figures compiled at the office of the county auditor, where work on the adjustment is being progressed since the adjournment of the board of county commissioners as a board of equalization.

The decline in valuation is attributed principally to declining value and extent of mortgage loans, and is considered as a reflection of a disposition on the part of lenders to confine buying to immediate necessities.

SKINNER ADMITS HE IS BURGLAR

Man Caught Taking Electric Drill from Blacksmith Shop Pleads Guilty

Taken in custody as he was emerging at 8 o'clock Tuesday morning from the W. N. Skinner blacksmith shop, 320 Second avenue south, carrying in a sack an electric drill valued at $200, James Skinner was arraigned Tuesday afternoon before Kennedy Packard, justice of the peace, and entered his plea of guilty to a charge of burglary. He had spent the day in the city jail, but was thereafter turned over to the custody of the sheriff to await the action of the district court in the case.

Skinner, who is said to be not related to the owner of the blacksmith shop, was arrested by Patrolman W. C. Grigg, who passed the premises just as Skinner was about to leave with his haul.

The complaint against Skinner was issued by the prosecuting attorney's office, J. E. Ores, chief of police, signing as complaining witness. Skinner served a term in the county jail January for theft of four sacks of clover seed from C. W. Strickland on December 6, records of the prosecuting attorney's office show.

WATERWORKS OF CITY ENDS ANOTHER BIG TASK

Water Consumption Almost Nothing While Second Basin Undergoes Cleansing

Cleansing of the second of the big water settling tanks at the municipal filtration plant was completed at 1 o'clock Wednesday morning after a force of 25 workmen under the direction of T. Krivanek, street and waterworks superintendent. Accumulation of mud and slime about four feet deep, collected since March when the basin was cleaned, was removed with shovels and rakes through sluices provided for that purpose. When the basin had been thoroughly cleaned, E. R. Dooney, electrician, personally specified the floor and walls by application of a disinfectant.

During the time the work was in progress, water consumption was practically negligible, indicating, the waterworks superintendent said, a gratifying response on the part of city users to published notices calling for restricted use of water while the work was going on. The first basin was cleaned last week.
