

Studebaker

The reason why

This Is a Studebaker Year

What Automobile Buyers Generally Want:

In a recent poll of 20,000 car owners by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, Inc., of New York (the automobile manufacturers' trade association), each owner was asked to name the quality which appealed to him most in buying a car. The results showed as follows:

1. Endurance	15.0%	8. Flexibility	6.5%
2. Economy of operation	14.0%	9. Endorsement of car by others	6.5%
3. Comfort	9.5%	10. Specifications	6.0%
4. Price	9.5%	11. Speed	5.5%
5. Appearance	8.0%	12. Appointments	5.0%
6. Service facilities of manufacturer	7.5%
7. Hill climbing or power	7.0%
	70.5%		29.5%

This poll confirms Studebaker's experience of seventy years in building vehicles of all kinds. Studebaker Cars have been and always will be designed and manufactured to meet the qualifications demanded by the public as emphasized by the Chambers survey.

The Proof of Studebaker Quality:

1. Endurance. Studebaker Cars are daily giving satisfactory service to 400,000 owners in all civilized countries. Proof of their dependability rests upon the fact that our sales of Repair Parts, covering repairs from accidents as well as service, for the past seven months averaged but $7.00 per car. Up to August 1, 1922, we produced and sold 550,000 Studebaker Cars, and are now producing and selling at the rate of 425,000 cars per year, practically double last year's volume, and yet our total sales of Repair Parts this year are less than they were for the first seven months of 1919.

2. Economy of Operation. Greatest economy results from minimum repairs and high resale values of second-hand cars in proportion to list prices. Gasoline and oil consumption are next important items of economy. The records of Studebaker Cars in all these respects stand out strikingly well.

3. Comfort. Correct design of weight distribution, spring suspension, seats, upholstery, etc., determine largely the question of comfort. Comfort is not a matter of extra cost and high prices, but is a matter of design. Comfort is characteristic of Studebaker Cars. Heavy weight is neither essential to comfort nor an assurance of it if design is faulty. The weight of Studebaker cars is borne almost equally by the four wheels, which is ideal distribution. With bodies resting without overhang on frames, semi-elliptic springs, seats of generous proportions, and best upholstery, Studebaker Cars are necessarily comfortable.

4. Price. With $78,000,000 of actual net assets, including $38,000,000 of plants, and an organization of able, experienced men and workers who participate in the profits of the business, Studebaker stands unsurpassed in resources and ability to manufacture economically and give maximum intrinsic value for a given price. By manufacturing complete motors, transmissions, axles, frames, bodies, tops, castings, forgings, and stampings, parts makers' profits on such items are eliminated, and no profit only is included in Studebaker prices. The South Bend plants formerly devoted to the manufacture of horse-drawn vehicles, with recent additions, now manufacture sedan and coupe bodies, at minimum costs (without middlemen's profits), and buyers benefit accordingly.

The materials and workmanship in Studebaker Cars measure up to the highest standards known to the automobile industry. Substantially better intrinsic values cannot be obtained at any price. The theory that high prices necessarily mean fine cars is fallacious, simply because prices are not based upon intrinsic values but upon the production costs of different manufacturers, which vary widely according to their individual manufacturing facilities, ability, and output. Everybody in the automobile industry knows that standardized cars manufactured complete in large quantities give the greatest intrinsic values, or stated otherwise, the most actual car, per dollar of price. Assembled cars, which constitute eighty-five per cent of the hundred-odd makes of American cars, are assembled from parts purchased from many sources, which precludes harmonious co-ordination in design and inevitably increases costs and selling prices about 25 per cent.

5. Appearance. An automobile should never be bought on appearance, although seemingly 8 per cent of buyers are influenced by appearance alone. An automobile is a highly developed mechanical instrument from which hard, satisfactory service is rightly expected. Studebaker executives and engineers give much attention to appearance, style, and distinctive beauty in the matter of tops, hoods, radiators, and fenders (the dress of an automobile). Our bodies are masterpieces of fine craftsmanship, and are unexcelled for comfort and durability.

6. Service. Studebaker has 3,000 branches and dealers in the United States, and is widely represented in all foreign countries. These branches and dealers carry in stock $4,000,000 of Repair Parts for all models of Studebaker Cars. The prices of parts for Studebaker Cars are lower (or as low) as those of any cars of their price, and much lower than those of high-priced cars. Studebaker branches and dealers are obligated to render prompt and efficient service to buyers. Studebaker is in business to sell motor cars and not parts. The accessibility of Studebaker Cars for quick discounting and repair work is common knowledge in the garages and among chauffeurs and mechanics all over the world.

7. Power. In acceleration, power delivered at the point of traction, and hill climbing ability, all three models of Studebaker Cars enjoy unique reputations.

8-12. Sundries. The other qualities which seemingly influenced the selection of 29.5% of buyers are flexibility, endorsement of others, specifications, speed and appointments. Studebaker Cars stand high in all these respects. Studebaker Cars have set many precedents in quantity manufacture, particularly in the matter of appointments and equipment, such as crown fenders, cast en bloc six-cylinder motors, cord tires, one-piece windshield, cow ventilator, cow lights, tonneau lamp with extension cord, windshield wiper, transmission locks, beveled plate glass windows, etc. Satisfied owners are Studebaker's greatest asset.

The broad principle upon which Studebaker business is conducted and upon which it has prospered for seventy years, now grounded upon tradition, insures satisfaction to everybody who deals with the House of Studebaker, and we solicit your valued patronage on this basis. This policy protects you better than the ordinary guarantee.

BORAH PLACES VOTE AGAINST REVENUE BILL

Administration Tariff Measure Passed in Senate with Three Democrats and One Republican Opposing Passage

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19 (AP)—With only one republican, Senator Borah, of Idaho, voting against the measure, the administration tariff bill was passed today by the senate after four months of debate. The bill, known officially as "the tariff act of 1922," now goes to conference.

Three Democrats—Broussard, Kendrick and Randall—voted for the measure. It was stated that had Senators La Follette and Norris been present, they would have voted against the measure, while the other 12 republican absentees would have voted for it.

Senators Lenroot, and Jones, of Washington, republicans, announced that they supported the bill because of the provisions giving the president broad authority to increase or decrease rates and in the hope that the senate and house conferees would reduce rates which they considered excessive. Senator Lenroot said that if there were not done he would vote against the conference report.

Senate Conferees

Immediately after the passage of the bill, Senator Cummins of Iowa, president pro tempore, announced the appointment of the senate conferees; Chairman McCumber, and Senators Smoot of Utah, and McLean of Connecticut, republicans, and Simmons, North Carolina, and Jones, New Mexico, democrats. Senator McLean is the fourth ranking republican on the finance committee and was named in place of Senator La Follette, who, under the usual rule, would have drawn the assignment, but who is opposed to the bill.

The measure will be returned to the house Monday with a formal request for a conference. Republicans of the house ways and means committee, at a meeting today, decided to have the measure sent to conference under a special rule, instead of to the ways and means committee for preliminary consideration, a course that was suggested some time ago. American valuation will be the biggest issue in conference, but the general belief at the capital is that the house will yield on this, accepting the senate's "flexible" tariff plan as a substitute.

For American Valuation. Chairman Fordney said today he would hold out for American valuation, asking instructions from the house. Under this plan the house would decide the issue by a direct vote and the conferees would then proceed with their work of adjusting the 2,000 odd points in dispute between the two houses. Mr. Fordney thought the work could be completed within a month. The same view was entertained by senate leaders.

There still was gossip at the capital that the bill might get into a deadlock in conference and there die, but majority leaders declared the conferees would report the measure out and that it probably would be ready for the president next month.

The general judgment of leaders, however, is that it will be rewritten in conference. If so, it will be the third rewriting since it passed the house on July 21, 1921.

STUDEBAKER CARS TAKE SUBSTANTIAL PRICE CUT

J. A. Barrett Auto Company Announces Big Reduction in All Types

Important reductions in the prices of all Studebaker cars, effective August 1, are announced by the Studebaker Corporation of America, through President A. R. Erskine. The reductions range from $70 to $200 on the light-six models, from $175 to $300 on special-six models and from $135 to $255 on big-six models.

"Although we have on hand unfilled orders for 15,000 cars," said President Erskine, "it is a Studebaker policy of long standing that our manufacturing savings be shared with our customers—hence the reductions. The quality of Studebaker cars has not been decreased one iota. On the contrary, they are better than ever and offer the greatest values in the history of Studebaker."

Heavy Car Production

"Studebaker plants," representing the investment of $55,000,000, operating at capacity, produced 60,000 cars the first six months of this year, and broke all records. Everybody knows that standardized cars manufactured in complete in large quantities reduce the cost of manufacturing and marketing and therefore give the greatest intrinsic value per dollar of price.

"By manufacturing complete motors, transmissions, axles, frames, hoods, tops, castings, forgings and stampings parts make a specialty of such items in Studebaker cars are eliminated and one profit only is included in Studebaker prices. Buyers benefit accordingly." With $75,000,000 of actual net assets, including $38,000,000 of plants, and an organization of able, experienced men and workers who participate in the profits of the business, Studebaker stands unsurpassed in resources and ability to manufacture economically and give maximum intrinsic value for a given price.

Always Dependable

"The world-wide popularity of Studebaker cars rests upon their dependable performance in owners' use. Proof of their dependability is found in the fact that our sales of repair parts, covering repairs from accidents as well as service, for the past seven months, averaged but $7 per car for the 400,000 Studebaker cars now in operation. In the 30 months since January 1, 1920, we produced and sold 180,000 Studebaker cars and are now producing and selling at the rate of 125,000 cars per year (practically double last year's volume, which was the greatest in the history of Studebaker), and yet our total sales of repair parts this year are less than they were for the first seven months of 1919."

Social Notes

Edited by Mrs. E. B. Williams Telephone 396.

The graduates of the 1921 class of the Twin Falls High school are celebrating their reunion in the form of a dinner at the Hotel Oregon, Friday evening. The dining room and ballroom were beautifully decorated in the class colors of blue and gold. Placed at each cover were small sprays of golden glow tied with the ribbon. J. C. Lewis, president of the class, acted as toastmaster. Superintendent Atchell gave a talk and letters were read from instructors and alumni. Present among them were Mrs. Spillinger Evans, formerly Miss Mary Spillinger, who was instructor in public speaking a year of their graduation. The dinner was enjoyed until 12 o'clock. Fifty-one were in attendance at this charming affair.

The American War Mothers met Friday afternoon in the parlors of the Methodist church instead of in the city park as previously announced. Mrs. A. A. Smith presided and during the business session plans were made for the entertainment of delegates to the national convention which will be held in this city Sept. 1. At that time delegates are expected from Mountain Home and Shoshone and who the state delegates will be. Mrs. J. C. DeWitt, Mrs. J. C. DeWitt were elected delegates from the Twin Falls chapter. After the business meeting a social hour was enjoyed by Mrs. Anna Branson and Mrs. Mary served refreshments.

The W. O. T. U. held a mothers' meeting Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Charles W. Rank, 311 Third avenue north. The White Ribbon rally was the opening number and Mrs. Estling led the devotions, reading from First Timothy, 2-5, and the story of the child Samuel, found in First Samuel, third chapter. She also talked on the duties of motherhood. Fifty-five mothers responded to the roll call with verses from Scripture and Temperance news. A beautiful song was given by Mrs. Gladys Carlson, soloist. The program was followed by an interesting program led by Mrs. J. W. Deake, who gave the poem, "The Children of Men." President Mrs. Grieve, conducted the business session and a number of matters were discussed and voted upon. The annual election of officers resulted in the selection of the following: President, Mrs. C. W. Rank; vice-president, Mrs. G. W. Rank; treasurer, Mrs. Elizabeth Hilliard; recording secretary, Mrs. Mary Vail; corresponding secretary, Mrs. May Blake. A social hour followed and the hostesses and her assistants served refreshments.

The Worthy Amateur.
There is no excuse for amateur work being bad. Amateurs often excuse their shortcomings on the ground that they are not professionals. The professional could plead with greater justice that he is not an amateur. The question is, what is the amateur an amateur of? What is he really in love with? Is he in love with other people, thinking he sees something which he would like to show them? . . . If this is his position he can do no wrong. The spirit in which he works will insure that his defects will be only as bad spelling or bad grammar in the pretty saying of a child.—Samuel Butler.

Help Wanted.
He—Two can live as cheaply as one and we could stand by doing light housekeeping. She—That would be fine if we only knew where we could find a vacant lighthouse.

Saxophone Advent Has Bad Effect on Squaws and Braves

Indians Insist on Dancing All Night; Leader of Reservation Band Objects

SARNIA, Ontario, Aug. 19 (AP)—Dancing, squaws, with elegant shoulders, and braves whose feet have learned the tricks of the Broadway dance palaces, must go back to the old-fashioned drum, by simple vault, says an edict of the council of Walpole Island, which goes into effect today.

Chief Red Knife, incidentally manager of the island band, has protested against the invasion of the saxophone on the island. "They want to dance all night," says the chief, "and no one wants to work the next day. Once they were satisfied with an ordinary band. Now they want caterers."

SOLDIER BONUS NEXT JOB

Senate Takes Action Deferring Consideration Until Middle of Week

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19 (AP)—The soldiers' bonus, as a consequence of passage of the law, will today become the pending legislation before the senate. It was listed to come up today before the senate automatically, but debate was deferred until next Wednesday, the senate taking adjournment today to give members a brief rest after the long tariff fight. A number of senators objected strenuously to open the brief recess ordered.

When the senate reconvenes Wednesday it was said that an effort would be made to adjourn again until the following week to decide the supplementary bill which says a motion would prevail over the wishes of those demanding immediate consideration of the bonus bill.

Homing Ducks.
An Inverwick (Scottland) farm servant sold six ducks to a busy farmer three miles away whether the birds were conveyed in a hamper. Next day, however, the six ducks turned up at Inverwick again, having traversed the three intervening miles of rough and hilly country, etc. How did they find their way all that distance about?

HANSEN TO PLAY JEROME

Hot Battle Expected This Afternoon When Northriders Mix with Hansonites

The game between Hansen and Jerome this afternoon at Hansen has all the earmarks of being one of the angriest fought of the season. Jerome lost two games this season, one of them being with the fast Shoshone team.

Hansen, too, has a team well over the average, and with Frank Fuller in condition, the Northside sluggers will have their hands full. Frank has a large assortment of curves and a fair amount of speed. An outfielder no doubt will be on the mound for Jerome, and "Ash" is no slouch when it comes to chucking.

Both teams are confident of winning, and in the event of Jerome winning, another game will not be played, but should the Hansen ball-tossers come out victorious, another game will have to be played to decide the supremacy of the two teams, as Hansen lost a close game to Jerome earlier in the season.

A large crowd of fans from Twin Falls are going over to Hansen today to help our eastern neighbors.

The game will be called at 2 sharp.

AUSTRALIA PLAYS AMERICA

Davis Cup Tennis Team From Antipodes Will Contest in Challenger Round

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 19 (AP)—Australia's Davis cup tennis team will be America's opponent in the challenger round for the international trophy at Forest Hills, N. Y., Sept. 1, 2, 4. The "down under" racket wilders earned a place in the final bracket by defeating the Spanish combatmen on the courts of the Germantown Cricket club here this afternoon in the two final matches of the "three day" play.

It was Pat O'Hara Wood who actually clinched the victory by defeating Count Manuel de Gomar in a gruelling five set match by scores of 6-3, 3-6, 6-0, 6-4, 6-1.

DEMPSY GOES TO CHICAGO

Champ Quits Training in Disgust; Michigan City Rout is Definitely Off

CHICAGO, Aug. 19 (AP)—Jack Dempsey left Michigan City, Indiana, in disgust and came to Chicago today when he learned efforts to stage the bout between Bill Brennan and him had finally failed. He arrived here in a fine, successful frame of mind, particularly in view of the fact that the preliminary preparations have cost him about $5000.

Jack Kearns, his manager, was left at Michigan City to gather up the loose ends and join Dempsey here later. Since Governor McCreary has prohibited the bout at the Indiana summer resort, there have been reports here that Charles Murray, Buffalo promoter, was making efforts to have the fight transferred to that city.

Dempsey said he expected to remain here for a day or two and then go to California to visit relatives.

CHAMPION WON'T APPEAR

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., Aug. 19 (AP)—Jack Kearns, manager of Jack Dempsey, issued a statement tonight that the heavyweight champion would not appear in an exhibition match against Bill Brennan here on Labor day.

Kearns said he had talked over the telephone with Governor McCreary tonight and that the governor had informed him that he had received word from the local post of the American Legion withdrawing their support. Promoter Floyd Fitzsimmons, Kearns said, had been given 24 hours yesterday to learn definitely whether the match could be "staged" and "staged" means not certain that it could, Kearns had decided not to allow Dempsey to appear. Kearns said he had heard nothing from Charles Murray, Buffalo promoter, who was reported to be desirous of transferring the Dempsey-Brennan go to the eastern city.

GOLF MATCH ARRANGED

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 19 (AP)—Gene Sarazen, professional and open golf champion of the United States, will meet Walter Hagen, British open champion, for the world's championship October 8 and 9, Sarazen announced here tonight. Part of the match of 72 holes will be played here October 8.

A STATE UNIVERSITY BUILDER

HOW IS YOUR HEALTH?

We have all of us speculated on what would be the three best wishes we could make if some fairy godmother gave us assurance that they would be fulfilled. In perhaps every case good health is one of the wishes. We all feel certain that without good health nothing else would be worth much.

But however firmly we may cling to this conviction, our actions do not always indicate that we grantly desire this blessing. We are not always willing to make the little sacrifices in time and thought which we must make if we are to remain in good health. The individual is rare indeed who gives any thought to his physical welfare until he finds himself falling in health, and the farther we have gone into a state of ill health, the more firmly we resolve to guard ourselves against ailments in the future.

This situation is serious enough to demand attention, both from the individual and from the social group. "It is very unusual today," said a health expert recently, "to find an adult of forty years who is normal physically." And although not all of us may admit it in our own case, this assertion confirms a belief which is not only common among health experts, but which is possible of proof.

"We are trying to educate the public to give their bodies the same careful attention that they give their automobiles," said Dr. John Dunwell, University of Michigan professor of hygiene.
This is all the more remarkable because all of us appreciate what a fine thing good health is. We never tire of praising the individual who is blessed in this way. "The very picture of health" is a phrase in common use among us. We glory in what this or that individual can do at fifty or sixty years of age, and are discouraged when our own physical body does not respond so readily at forty-five as it did at an earlier age.

We may need an imaginary godmother to grant us whatever other things we crave, but in a great many cases the securing of good health is within our own power. For most of us there is little more required than the habit of looking after ourselves much as we look after anything that we treasure and intend to keep.

IN EUROPE

Europe reminds one of a kettle that wants to boil over but can't raise enough steam to lift the lid.

The perplexed and harassed governments are growing and snapping and snarling at each other, but never reach the point of an open rupture.

Someday the fires will become warmer, and more steam will be generated, and the lid will fly off—and the millions makers will be happy again.

Even in the midst of misery there is much joy to be found.

Russia finds that something must be done about her financial system. It will seem odd to see the slogan, "Buy a bale of rables."

When a woman tells a fellow that her heart is broken it is time for him to duck. She is looking for the repair man.

Washington reports a lead for president boom. The senator's victory seems to have gone to somebody's head.

One thing America learned from the war is that it cannot lend money without borrowing trouble.

Of course your neighbor has his faults. How else could he keep pace with you?

VI
September.

The office of Dwight Herbert Denson, Dentist, Gold Work a Specialty (sic) in black lettering, and Justice of the Peace in 1914, was above a store which had been occupied by one unlucky tenant after another, and had suffered long periods of vacancy when ladies' aid societies served lunches there, under great white signs, badly lettered. Some months of disuse were now broken by the news that the store had been let to a music man. A music man, what on earth was that?
Warbleton inquired.

"The music man arrived, lashed with three pianos, and filled his window with sheet music, as many by many ladies who hang in hammocks kissed their hands on the music covers. While he was still moving in, Dwight Herbert Denson wandered downstairs and stood informally in the door of the next store. The music man, a pleasant-faced chap of thirty-odd, was rubbing at the face of a piano.

"Hello, there!" he said. "Can I sell you an upright?"

"If I can take it out in pulling your shirt, you can," Dwight replied. "Oh," said he, "I might marry you from either one."

On this their friendship began.
Thenceforth, when business was dull, the idle hours of both men were believed with little gossip.
"How the dickens did you think of pianos for a store?" Dwight asked him one day. "Now, my father was a dentist, so I came by it natural—never entered my head to be anything else. But pianos—musical men—his name was Nell Cornish—threw up his chin in a boyish fashion, and said he'd be juggled if he knew. All up and down the Warbleton main street, the chances are that the answer would sound the same. "You standing here what I get the chance," said Cornish, as one who makes a bid to be thought of more highly.

"I see," said Dwight, respectfully dwelling on the verb.

Later on, Cornish confided more to Dwight: He was to come by a little Later on, Cornish Confided More to Dwight: He Was to Come by a Little Inheritance Some Day.

timepiece some day—not much, but something. Yes, it made a man feel a certain confidence.

"Don't it?" said Dwight, heartily, as he knew Cornish.

Every one liked Cornish. He told funny stories, and he never compared Warbleton save to its advantage. So at last Dwight said tentatively at lunch:

"What if I suggest that Nell Cornish up for a brother one of these nights?"

"Oh, Dwight, do," said Ina. "If there's a man in town, let's know it."
"What if I brought him up tonight?"
"I'll wait till his eyebrows. Dwight took potatoes and meat loaf and bread and butter."

Cornish came to supper. He was what is known in Warbleton as dapper.
This Ina saw as she emerged on the veranda in response to Dwight's informal halloo on his way upstairs.
She herself was to white muslin, now much too snug, and a blue ribbon. To her freshly met guest replied in that engaging aliveness which is not awkwardness. He moved in some pleasant web of gentleness and friendliness.

They asked him the usual questions, and he replied to each of them with a faint undulating motion of head and shoulders. Warbleton was one of the prettiest little towns, that he had ever seen. He liked the people they seemed different. Ina was sure to be the first to notice that Lulu came to the door in Nina's thin black-and-white gown. She shook hands with the stranger, not looking at him, and said, "Come to supper, Miss Ina was already up there, sitting singing under the eaves. But she hovering in the kitchen door, entered; but they forgot to introduce her."
"Where'd Dill" asked Ina. "I declare that daughter of mine is never away

A brief silence ensued as they were seated. There being a guest, grace was to come, and Dwight said, unintelligibly and like lightning, a generic appeal to bless this food, forgive all our sins and grant us grace. "There was something tremendous in this ancient form whereby all stages of men bow in some now unrecognized recognition of the ceremonial of taking food to nourish life—and more.

"At times Dill fixed his eyes on offices at the mirror fresh upon her-perfect hair, silk dress turned up at the hem. She met Cornish, crimsoned, flattered to her seat, joggled the table and "Oh, dear," she said audibly to her mother, "I forgot my ring."

The talk was saved alive by a frank effort. Dwight started, making jests about everybody coming back for more. They went on with Warbleton banter, improvements and appellings; and the runaway, Cornish tried hard to "make himself agreeable," not ingratiatingly, but good-naturedly. He watched profoundly that before coming he had looked up some more stories from the back of the book.

Lulu surreptitiously pinched of an ant that was running at large upon the cloth and thereafter kept her eyes steadfastly on the situation, so as to see if it would be from this. "Dill pretended that those who were helping a second time were getting more than their share and facetiously landed on Dill about eating so much that she would grow up and be married, first thing she saw." At the word "married" Dill turned away, blushed heartily and lifted her glass of water.

"And what instruments do you play?" Ina asked Cornish, in an unrelated effort to lift the talk to a neutral level.

"Well, do you know," said the music man, "I can't play a thing. Don't know a black note from a white one." "You don't? Why Dill plays very prettily," said Dill's mother. "But then, how do you tell what songs to order?" Ina cried.

"Oh, by the music houses. You go by the sales." For the first time it occurred to Cornish that this was ridiculous. "Do you know, I'm really studying the law," he said, stiffly. "Law!
How very interesting, from Ina. Oh, but won't he bring up some songs some evening, for them to try-over?" Her and Dill? At this Dill laughed and said that she was out of practice and lifted her glass of water. In the presence of adults Dill made one weep, she was so slender, so young, so without defenses, so intolerably sensitive to every contact, so in agony lest she be found wanting. It was amazing how unlike was this Dill to the Dill who had ensnared Bobby Larkin. What was one to think?

Cornish paid very little attention to her. To Lulu, he said kindly, "Don't you play, Miss?" He had not caught her name—no stranger ever did catch it. But Dwight now supplied it: "Miss Lulu Bett," he explained, with loud emphasis, and Lulu burned her slow red. This question, Lulu had usually answered by telling how a fellow had interrupted her lesson and she had stopped "taking"—a participle sacred to music, in Warbleton. This vignette had been a kind of epitome of Lulu's biography, but now Lulu was heard to say, solemnly:

"No, but I'm quite fond of it. I went to a lovely concert—two weeks ago."

They all listened. Strange, indeed, the kind of faint, unobtrusive, unconscious of which they did not know.
"Yes," she said. "It was in Savannah, Georgia." She flushed, and lifted her eyes in a manner of faint defiance.
"Of course," she said, "I don't know the names of all the different instruments they played, but there were a good many." She laughed pleasantly as a part of her sentence. "They had some lovely tunes," she said. She knew that the subject was exhausted and she hurried on. "The fellow was real large," she superadded, "and there were quite a good many people there. And it was too warm."

"I see," said Cornish, and said what he had been wanting to say, "But he, too, had been in Savannah, Georgia." Lulu lit with pleasure. "Well," she said. And her mind worked and she caught at the moment before it had escaped. "Isn't it a pretty city?" she asked. And Cornish assented with the intense heartiness of the provincial.
He, too, it seemed, had a conversational appearance to maintain by its own effort. He said that he had enjoyed being in that town and that he was there for two weeks.

"I was there for a week." Lulu's superiority was really pretty.

"Have good weather?" Cornish solely next.

"Oh, yes. And they saw all the offspring—flushed and was flattered. She was coloring and breathing quickly. This was the first bit of conversation of this sort in Lulu's life.

HUDSON HAS NEW SEDAN

Johnson Auto Sales Company Will Offer Improved Type of Closed Car

A new seven-passenger sedan, entailing all the recent Hudson improvements of body and motor design, including the new super-16 motor, and several additional new features, is announced by the Hudson Motor Car company. Dealers in practically all parts of the country are already displaying it. The new sedan is being produced in strict conformity with Hudson details of fine manufacturing precision.
Its price is $2295, f. o. b. Detroit.
Several changes have been made in the body as compared with the previous sedan, according to E. S. Johnson, of the Johnson Auto company, local Hudson-Excess dealer. The new model is three inches longer, is lower and of lighter weight. Both front and rear seats are wider. All body panels are aluminum.

The increased length has been given to both the front and rear compartments, especially between the rear and auxiliary seats. Additional space has been given the driver and the front passenger, along the general lines of the touring limousine, makes the driver's position even more restful than heretofore. The contour of all other parts has likewise been changed to afford greater comfort. The rear seat is deeper.
Even better ventilation than on previous models is provided for by a larger coil ventilator, equipped with a de-flector. The rear window glass is also larger. The triangular panes of glass which form part of the windshield add to the distinctiveness and, together with the wider door glasses, afford the driver a greater range of vision.
The new sedan is of high quality construction throughout. Upholstery and floor rugs are of a deep, rich blue, the former being a long-wearing, broadcloth. Interior accessories include rear quarter shades, dome light with switch so located that it may be reached easily well from the front or rear compartment; smoking set, rear vision mirror and other similar improvements. All doors have the regulation Hudson substantial four hinge supports, insuring perfect alignment. Entrances to and exit from the rear are facilitated by wider doors, which also open wider.
Drum type side lamps at the base of the windshield are standard equipment.
Body and body panels are finished in valentine blue. Chassis parts are black.

ADVANCE PLANS FOR IRRIGATION SEASON'S CLOSE

Canal Company Directors Order Flow Water in Ditches After October 20 Limited to Domestic Requirements

Irrigation of lands under the Twin Falls canal system will close for the season on October 20, when water flowing through the system will be cut down to a quantity sufficient only for domestic use, according to decision of the canal company directors made public Saturday through a notice to waterusers issued by J. Repair Work Necessary

Reduction in flow of water through the canal system on and after the date designated, the notice says, has been ordered because "It is vitally important that adequate provision be made for the lower embankment of the main line canal should be protected by permanent rip-rap work this fall, and in order to do this work properly channels must be as empty as possible."

COURT RELEASES LAUNDRY AGENT

Dismisses Charges of Embezzlement—Preferred Against Former Employee

Prof. Carson of Bull, formerly agent in the west end of the county for the Twin Falls Steam Laundry, was by Probate Judge O. P. Davitt ordered released from custody Saturday after his appearance at trial on a charge of embezzlement, at the conclusion Saturday afternoon of two days' preliminary hearing in the county court.

Give Grounds for Ruling.

Judging in the case was pronounced immediately after the close of attorneys' argument. The court held that there was considerable conflict in the evidence as to the amount of money Carson was alleged to have embezzled; that the laundry's system of bookkeeping was such that Carson's alleged deficiencies should have been known to the laundry management long before the charges were preferred against Carson; and that Carson's attorney had asked for a settlement with the laundry management after leaving his employment.

Counts Alleged Shortage.

In summarizing the case for the prosecution, W. Orr Chapman, who appeared as associate counsel with C. A. North, assistant prosecuting attorney, said Carson was short approximately $178 in his accounts with the laundry, and denied that Carson ever had been held liable for accounts where collection was not made upon delivery.
