LENGHTY DELAY ON TARIFF BILL IS ANTICIPATED

Administration—Measure—Consented to Conference Committee by House—Work To Be Commenced at Once

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—By a vote of 198 to 39 the house sent the tariff bill to conference today for its re-consideration. The six republican conferees, three from the house and three from the senate, probably will have a preliminary meeting tomorrow and go down to work Thursday.

The size of the task ahead of the conference committee was revealed today with the re-printing of the bill as it was approved last Saturday by the senate.

In the hour's discussion, which preceded the house vote, democratic leaders predicted that the tariff bill would not be reported out of conference until after the November elections, arguing that the republicans did not want to have to defend it in the coming campaign.

Republican leaders made no prophecy but Representative Mottell of Wyoming said the measure would be reported out of conference at an early date.

Representative Campbell of Kansas predicted that the measure would be reported out of conference at an early date. He said that the measure would be reported out of conference at an early date.

Both in the matter of specific and of value duties he stated, "The senate rates are generally higher than those fixed by the house; in some instances much higher and in certain specific instances 100 per cent to 600 per cent higher."

Must Accept Senate Plan Representative Garner, Texas, ranking democrat on the ways and means committee, predicted that the measure would be reported out of conference at an early date.

Representative Poy, democrat, of North Carolina, shared the house was in a conference with the senate on the tariff bill.

In the vote to send the measure to conference, three democrats voted with the republican majority.

Bones and Teeth. The existence in infants and older children of simple meningitis of the bones, a common malady in young farm animals, is not well established; and the prevalent imperfections of children's teeth are not certainly related to deficiency in the diet, but seem rather to be caused by fits of exercise (due to the fine mulling of our cereals and the chewing of our meat with a sausage mill), the increasing use of sugar (a really fermentable, acid-producing food) and increasing use of fruit (the organic acids of which neutralize the lactic acid).

LOWER FREIGHT RATE ON IDAHO SPUDS PROBABLE

Utilities Commission Head Expects 20 Cent Out to Missouri River

BOISE.—With commission men promising they would see that any reduction in the freight rate on potatoes would be made directly to the grower, the public utilities commission and local rate men were hopeful Monday that the new rate would be ordered into effect soon.

George E. Bob, president of the utilities commission, said he thought the rate to Missouri river points would be lowered 20 cents. He did not know what the reduction to Texas would be.

Optimism in the ranks of growers and shippers came following receipt by Joel L. Priest, general agent for the Oregon Short Line Railroad company, of a telegram from H. M. Adams, vice president of the Union Pacific system, stating that Mr. Adams favored the reduction provided it could be satisfactorily shown to him, first:

"That the reduction would move the potatoes and increase consumption, and second,

"That the reduction will accrue directly to the grower."

Mr. Priest immediately held conferences with Caldwell commission men, and others in touch with the situation, and they were agreed that the reduction would increase the consumption of Idaho potatoes.

Commission men also promised that any reduction would go direct to the growers, as far as they were concerned, Mr. Priest said. This information was dispensed to Mr. Adams.

Mr. Adams telegraphed that the new tariff would be in the nature of an emergency rate and would be effective until September 15 or 30, depending on the movement of the crop.

He also said that he was afraid the reduction might not be of much benefit because other roads might grant the same comparative rate, and the resultant situation would be the same as now exists.

PREDICTS TRIUMPH FOR IDAHO CANNING TEAMS

University—Extension—Leader Pays High Tribute to Twin Falls Girls

BOISE.—Idaho stands a good chance of winning the trip to Paris offered to the best team of the canning clubs of the United States and described in an Associated Press dispatch in Monday's Statesman, according to Miss Amy Kelly, they will be the team from the west.

"If it had not been for lack of funds last year, I feel sure the Twin Falls girls would have won the west in their contest at Spokane, where they carried off the national championship in the contest at Chicago. There they made a team of 11 girls."

"The rural clubs of Twin Falls had raised the money to send the team to Spokane."

According to Miss Kelly, this team will be eligible for the national championship contest this year. The girls will go on to Portland, where they will contest the northwest club at the Pacific International Livestock exposition. Should they win in this contest, their expenses will be paid to the Chicago Livestock exposition at Chicago December 2 to 4. The girls will compete in all against 55,000 other girls in canning clubs.

To Exhibit at Fair "Twin Falls clubs under the county club leader, A. I. O'Reilly, and Gooding under Miss Eva Hill, have wonderful canning teams," said Miss Kelly.

"The teams with several girls who may be just as efficient, but whom I have not seen work will be present at the state fair September 25 at Boise."

"The girls who win think they know how to save time, let them come out and witness these girls canning and then know the meaning of the word efficiency. Every step they take counts."

"These girls," continued Miss Kelly, "have to fill the family canning jars last year they went out into the orchards and canned fruit which would otherwise have spoiled. I hope Boise women will invite these girls in groups to their homes during fair week. It will be a pleasure to the girls and the women will be glad to know them and hope the club women of the county will help to plan some kind of entertainment for them."

Anxiety Over Pet Dog Costs Life of Son of Frontman New York Man

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 22.—Efforts to rescue from danger a pet dog yesterday cost the life of a 12-year-old son of Owen D. Young, chairman of the board of directors of the General Electric company of New York. The accident occurred at a construction camp on Hood river, where the young man was spending his vacation as a material checker.

Young, an only child, had been riding on the footboard at the front of a small yard locomotive when the mascot dog of the camp came frolicking across the tracks. The dog seemed in peril of being run down and the youth hoped down to rescue him. In some way Young was overthrown by the mascot and crushed beneath the footboard and crushed back against the front axle.

OPPORTUNITY FOR EMPLOYMENT Oregon Short Line Railroad

The Oregon Short Line Railroad Company announces its intention to give preference to young men residing on its lines in employing men, as far as possible, in all places in all classes of the railroad service and advances the following reasons therefor:

FIRST—it will eliminate the "Floater" among our employes and subordinate officials as well as the "Bump."

SECOND—it will create a mutual interest and a common understanding between the railroad and the people they serve whereby each will be able to understand and appreciate the problems and difficulties of the other, and with a common end, viz: the welfare of the country generally as the interests of the railroad and the communities they serve are identical. To this end they extend a special invitation to young men who live in the country and towns along their lines to apply for the position.

At the present time their greatest need is for rough carpenters and experienced shop men and mechanics, and while they prefer men who have had some mechanical experience that would enable them to finish their training at an early date, they are willing to employ, for a certain extent, young men who are ambitious and willing to learn, and teach them the various trades or professions which enter into railroad work.

There are also a number of advantages which railroad employes enjoy which do not obtain in other lines of work, and employment offers will be glad to explain these matters by personal interview with prospective employes.

Following is a list of positions and rates of pay now in effect for shop employes:

Table with 4 columns: Position, Rate, Position, Rate. Lists various roles like Classification Fr. Hr., Car Inspector, Foreman, etc., with corresponding rates.

Any additional information desired may be obtained by writing to, or personally calling on the undersigned.

"Pigs is pigs" to most persons; but not to the boys and girls who will exhibit pigs at the Twin Falls county fair. Piler, September 12 to 15, says Secretary J. M. Marzel.
When children first become interested in pig-club work in this territory their only idea was to raise better pigs. Now that they have learned how to grow good pigs they are eager to show everyone how good these pigs are by exhibiting them at the fair.
The pigs which the boys and girls enrolled in the pig-club work, are going to exhibit at the fair are being selected and made ready. Balanced rations are being fed the animals to put them in good physical condition; the pigs are being exercised frequently to keep them active and make their legs strong; and they are being led and driven about to train them for the show ring.
Figures just issued by the department of agriculture prove a remarkable growth in the pig-club movement in this state and other parts of the country. More than 40,000 boys and girls are raising pigs under the pig-club rules. Nearly 12,000 more children are

Made It Easy to Understand.
A grave and dignified D. D., after listening to the recitation of the catechism by a class of children, was asked to make a few remarks to them, whereupon he arose and said: "I desire, my young friends, to express an unqualified appreciation of this catechism. I regard the catechism as the most admirable epitome of religious belief extant." The superintendent pulled his sleeve and asked him to explain the word epitome for the benefit of the children. He elucidated as follows: "By epitome, children, I mean that is—it is synonymous with synopsis."
Much less courtesy is needed to muster out a defiance before our enemies than is needed to simply state the truth as we see it, and quietly stand by it. After all, quiet steadfastness can always be trusted to carry conviction.

STORY TOLD BY RESCUED CREW IS SUSPICIOUS

Men Picked Up Following Wreck of Seaplane Made Subject of Investigation by Federal Prohibition Forces

NEW YORK, Aug. 22. (AP)—The story told by three men landed at Long Beach early this morning by a suspected rum-running schooner after having been rescued off the Long Island Ambassador II, tonight attracted the attention of prohibition headquarters.

State Director Parsons announced that all circumstances surrounding the plane's adventures would be thoroughly investigated. Major Bernard L. Smith, operating head of the Aeromarine Airways, which owns the Ambassador II, and other commercial planes, promised every possible aid.

The fate of the plane, abandoned, it was said, when the unnamed schooner, an mysterious as the Flying Dutchman, had been reported off the Long Island shore. It is reported that the small boat had been swamped on touching the beach in the high sea, and also had been abandoned.

Investigation ordered. "I do not yet read the entire story," said Mr. Parsons, "but I have enough to believe that an investigation is necessary. It will be started at once and we will complete it before we make any reports."

The latest drama of the sea which attracted nation-wide attention when the United States navy was directed to assist in search for the missing schooner for 43 hours, was full of action. But the story was told to the press, not by the pilot, mechanic and passenger who figured in the trip, but by officials of the company in a prepared statement, which told of the hardships they presumably encountered in fighting the waves after the schooner had been taken into the sea with motor trouble. Late today none of the trio had been located.

Ancient and Modern Coinage. Many find it surprising to call "heads or tails" more than 2,500 years ago, when the practice of stamping a head on coins was instituted by the Greeks, with the likeness of Alexander the Great.

Some of these ancient Greek coins are valuable as art objects alone, the embossing being of rare workmanship and surpassing anything to be seen on the coinage of today. It is naturally an example of the great height to which the art of coinage reached in that day. The course of civilization, in fact, can easily be traced in these ancient coins. Roman coinage, some of which bears the head of Nero, is not equal in beauty to that of the Greeks, but nevertheless shows a high quality of art. But the money of the succeeding Dark ages is crude in the extreme, and even the English 10-cent piece of 1000 A. D. childishly primitive in comparison. —Yeaman's Weekly.

Mrs. Kendrick Dodds Upon Legal Action for Alienation of Affections

OAKLAND, Aug. 22. (AP)—Mrs. Edith Spreckels Wakefield, divorced wife of the late John D. Spreckels, Jr., capitalist, wants Rodney Kendrick Young, San Francisco artist, who will have to pay Mrs. Nellie Kendrick, wife of the artist, $25,000, or whatever the court will fix in an alienation of affections suit, Frank M. Carr, Mrs. Kendrick's attorney, said here today. Mrs. Wakefield, who is suing her present husband, Frank Wakefield, San Francisco business man, for divorce, has expressed her love for the artist. Reports from San Diego said that Mrs. Wakefield is in an alienation of affections suit, San Francisco in his private yacht, the Yonida, and should arrive into today or early tomorrow to investigate the charges involving Mrs. Wakefield, particularly in connection with his relevancy to the estate of his deceased son, J. D. Spreckels. It is reported to have an $300,000 interest in the estate.

Suit Succeeded Upon. "Mrs. Kendrick decided today to go through with the alienation of affections suit," Carr announced. "The court could not be because of Mrs. Kendrick's 14 months old child. Kendrick tried to see his wife in Alameda Sunday night in her hotel room, but she is trying to protect Mrs. Wakefield's interests. My client will also fight any divorce action brought by Kendrick in the proposed suit. When informed of the proposed suit, Mrs. Wakefield said: "I do not see how any suit can be filed for the alienation of Kendrick's affections when Mrs. Kendrick spoke freely to every one of the fact that she wanted to divorce him." Carr expects to file the suit in Oakland Friday.

The latest drama of the sea which attracted nation-wide attention when the United States navy was directed to assist in search for the missing schooner for 43 hours, was full of action. But the story was told to the press, not by the pilot, mechanic and passenger who figured in the trip, but by officials of the company in a prepared statement, which told of the hardships they presumably encountered in fighting the waves after the schooner had been taken into the sea with motor trouble. Late today none of the trio had been located.

The credentials committee seated delegates as certified from the various county organizations and only minor contest developed. When the convention adjourned at 5:30 o'clock to permit delegates from the first and second congressional districts to caucus for candidates for congress, the platform and resolutions committee had not reported.

prices. The other, it was stated, would follow the suggestion of the president to use of funds by a specially created agency to stabilize coal prices. Members of the house interstate commerce committee, to which the bill would be presented, said, however, that it would contain no provision for any government agency to buy or sell coal.

The Winslow bill as finally re-drafted, provides for a commission of not more than nine members, to be appointed by the president, "with the advice and consent of the senate." The commission would elect its own chairman, make its first report January 1, next, and continue in life for one year only. The Borah bill proposed a membership of five and there were reports tonight that the house might cut its bill to that number, since mine owners and miners would be denied representation.

REPUBLICAN RECORD IS MAIN DEMOCRATIC ISSUE

Ohio Democrats Also Pronounce in Favor of Reduction in Taxes

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Aug. 22. (AP)—The records of the republican administration both in national and state affairs and the reduction of taxes in Ohio, were set forth by democrats in their state convention here today as the main issues of the coming political campaign. The platform, adopted speedily and without amendment, touched upon other issues, but dwelt in the main upon alleged mismanagement of both state and national affairs by republicans.

The appearance at the convention of Senator Alice Pomorene, candidate for reelection, and of A. W. Donohy, the party's standard-bearer on the state ticket, was the signal for vociferous cheering by the assembly. Mention of the names of Woodrow Wilson and James M. Cox also brought enthusiastic demonstrations, and that for Mr. Wilson was particularly protracted.

Beyond reaffirmation of the national platform of 1920, the state platform today did not mention the league of nations. One plank provided for "proper recognition" of the services of veterans of the world war by the national government.

Charges against the republicans, both at Washington and Columbus, included statements that "they have been utterly unblameable in the problem of government," that they were "more intent on personal aggrandizement and on plunder for a return of corrupt hands-on than on good government," and that "they failed in their obligations and pledges by a policy of vacillation, halfheartedness and even lack of sincerity."

Great Seaplane Bound for Brazil Comes to Grief in Attempted Landing

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22. (AP)—Lieutenant Hinton, and "the members of the crew" of the seaplane Sampalo Corrie, which left Nassau in the Bahamas today for Haiti in its flight from New York to Brazil, were picked up by the U. S. S. Denver at 7 o'clock this evening in latitude 20 north; longitude 74:38 west, according to a wireless message to the navy communications service here tonight from the Guantanamo station. All those aboard the craft were understood to be included in the report that "the members of the crew" had been rescued.

Upon a report being received from the cruiser Denver, it was added, a station tug was sent to assist in salvaging the airplane. No other details were contained in the brief message received here.

According to the latitude and longitude, it was said that the seaplane must have come to grief in or near the windward passage.

It was different. He was like a bad boy with a grin. About that photograph which he found a dozen ways to torture her called attention to it, showed it to Cornish...

Strolling home that night, the Plovers were overtaken by some one who ran badly, and as if she were unaccustomed to running...

Next day there came a message from the girl who had brought the "Dwight" inside him what he was, he often complacently accused her. It was a note on a postal card...

"Of course not. How should I tell?" "Dwight" said that letter might come when she was alone.

"Conceivably. Letters do come while a man's away!" "Dwight" thought if you wouldn't mind if I opened it!

"I should have said that I'll be about my brother mostly." "But you know what I mean? You wouldn't mind if I'd open it?"

"Don't let it see much of Bobby Larkin. And, Lulu—if it occurs to you to have Mr. Cornish come up to sing to you, you may as well let him ask you to supper. And don't let mother over-ride. And, Lulu, no do wash Monna's handkerchief—the child will never take a clean one if I'm not here!"

read that one letter in her hand all through the streets. She put those things away and went down to the right was who were telling on another or what they had heard. But she passed hardly more than that. She passed Cornish in the doorway of his little shop, and she spoke to him, and in those words she let it go so that Dwight's foster mother's postal card might have looked on its way to be mailed.

Cornish stepped down and overtook her. "Oh, Miss Lulu, I've got a new song or two—" She said absently: "Do. Any night. Tomorrow night—could you?"

It was as if Lulu were too preoccupied to remember to be ill at ease. "Come for supper," Lulu said, "that he could indeed." "Come for supper?" Lulu said, "Oh, could he? Wouldn't that be nice?"

"Well, yes!" Such was his acceptance. "I came for supper. And Di was not at home. She had gone off in the country with Jenny and Hobby, and they merely did not return."

"Kind of a relief, I think, to have her gone," said Mrs. Bett, from the fulness of something or other. "Mother?" Lulu said, twisting her mouth. "Why? My aunt, I love her."

"Cornish never would, despite the slightest offer, to take a straight-up piece of the sweetest floss she had found."

"Well! Lulu thought. "It can't be so very much in love." And again she thought: "He doesn't know anything about the letter. He thinks Nintan got the letter, and he thought he heard there about her certainty that this was not so."

"Lulu looked at the postal card. "There's some of these I can play with one hand—by ear. Maybe—" "What?" said Mrs. Cornish.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK, Aug. 22 (Special)—The stock market today gave another remarkable demonstration of strength, overcoming an early reactionary trend, bringing several new favorites to the fore and carrying more active issues to their highest prices of the year.

Several unexpected days of rising prices had resulted in a weakened position, which the shorts were quick to recognize. Selling pressure began to express itself as soon as the opening rang and it was given impetus by realizing sales on the part of recent buyers, but a sustained investment demand set in, especially in copper, electric oil, oil equipment and tobacco, shares, which reversed the course of the market and attended the whole list.

United States Steel corporation's announcement of an advance of 20 percent in the wages of its laborers was generally unexpected in view of opposite indications in other industries.

United States Steel common, which opened at 104 1/4, 1 1/8 below last week's close, advanced to 106 1/2, 1 1/2 above the close, sympathetic declines taking place in the independent steel.

Members of yesterday's leaders in the rail group yielded slightly today, but others, like Northern Pacific, Union Pacific, Great Northern Preferred, Santa Fe Preferred, and Chesapeake and Western, Rock Island, Chicago Great Western and Chesapeake and Ohio moved to still higher ground.

Complaints against the St. Paul issue was attributed to pool operations. Copper shares showed indications of being aroused from their recent lethargy by Anacosta, Utah, Kennecott, Amer-

WAVES MOVE FAST

Average Speed of More Than Forty Miles an Hour

Fortunately, Their Velocity and Power Are Materially Reduced as They Near the Shore.

When the wind blows fiercely most dwellers in towns, particularly in those near the coast, think of the storm waves that are coming on and that will be having, says a writer in a London paper, according to the Montreal Herald.

Storm-waves around the shores of the islands frequently have immense force behind them, tearing blocks of stone and heavy timbers asphyxiating, smashing like match sticks apparently the most substantial structures.

During one storm in the Solent, near the mouth of the English Channel, the force of the waves was so great that stones weighing 300 pounds or more were torn from their resting places and hurled on the beach, together with heavy masses of seaweed attached to them.

It is in the deep ocean where the storm-wave is seen in its full majesty. Forty and even sixty feet in height, to which the billows of the Atlantic, the Indian ocean, and the Pacific are taken at once.

In pre-storm days a British merchant vessel encountered an unusually heavy gale of wind just outside the Bay of Hecly. Between two seas her masts were so heavily heaved, within the crest of each sea was abey the level of the center of her mainmast.

The mainmast was sixty feet above the water-line. The water from a wave—so distinct from the body of the wave itself—was known to do serious damage to vessels of great height above the deck. One notable instance of the kind was the smashing of the port lifeboat of a Hamburg-American liner, smashed on the British coast eighty feet above the surface.

Giant storm-waves of the ocean have an average speed of rather more than forty miles an hour. Their length is the distance from crest to crest. This is about 400 feet for the Atlantic waves. It is much more, however, for the waves of the profoundly deep Pacific ocean.

Of course, it has to be remembered that giant waves in an open ocean can move with perfect freedom. It is when they begin to "touch bottom" in comparatively shallow water that their great speed is reduced—luckily for the fronts of the British coast resorts.

The velocity of the storm-wind in the Atlantic is frequently several miles an hour greater than the velocity of the wave. This results in a good deal of "spray" which in very severe weather sometimes seriously thickens and obscures the air.

At the seaside in summer we may sometimes see spraying caused by a stiff breeze blowing against an advancing wave. This is very different from the spray that is seen when the wind is not so strong.

During a gale on the British coast it will be noted that the waves begin to break a long way out. That is because these waves, being big ones, touch bottom the sooner. Their lower part moves forward at its old speed.

The result is that the upper part curls over and breaks. In a very deep water a giant wave has been known to touch bottom and strip the sea sand there at a depth of 1,200 feet.

On a hot autumn day we may sometimes see a procession of big "groundswells" coming shoreward and breaking on the beach with the boom of distant thunder. They represent the disturbance of the sea caused by a storm far out to sea. By closely observing the direction from which these swells come one can form an idea of where the storm is situated. Sometimes the waves travel faster than the storm and even give warning of its approach.

Supertitions of Japan

In Japan a nursery is still protected from the terrors of measles and other infections by means of an inscription over the nursery door stating with exquisite urbanity "This child is not at home." In the Williams Hospital Medical exhibition is on view, illustrative of Japanese charms, amulets, talismans, fetters, and objects of medical utility.

Slept Seven Months

The young Sicilian who is now gradually awakening from a seven months' sleep, apparently holds the world's record as a sleeper, but England has in her time had slumberers of note. There was the case of Samuel Chilton, the Somersetshire marl of the seventeenth century, who attracted the attention of many of the learned, and spent "testing" him with "large quantities of castile-ammonia"—in the fashion of the day. Chilton fell asleep in August and slept on into January, in spite of the large pile of incensing in front of his bed.

Brush Finish for Brass

Steel wool will be found to be a very useful material for giving brass and smaller metals a brush finish by rubbing them with it. Care should be taken that the rubbing is done in one direction, otherwise a scratched surface will result. A lacquer should be applied to prevent tarnishing. A thin solution of white shellac in alcohol applied with a brush is satisfactory as a lacquer for large work, and small pieces may be dipped in the solution. An ancient plant called a "marrubium" was employed as a polish, and as many a sportsman has found by experience with a rusty gun, provides a very fair, and not exceedingly "scratchy," polish.

CONVENTION AT WALLAGE FACES PRIMARY ISSUE

Resolutions Committee's Report to Take Center Stage Wednesday and Will Be Followed by Selection of Ticket

WALLAGE, Idaho, Aug. 22 (Special to The News)—With Clancy St. Clair of Idaho Falls selected as permanent chairman, the Idaho state republican convention adjourned at nine o'clock tonight until tomorrow morning, when the report of the resolutions committee will be taken center stage.

An effort in tonight's session to have the rules committee report changed to permit nomination of candidates before the report of the resolutions committee was dropped out in a great chorus of "noes." The change would have permitted delegates to leave tomorrow noon.

The direct-primary issue was also injected into the argument, and a demonstration of several minutes in favor of the convention system was followed by the direct primary opposed.

Following reorganization of the convention at 7 o'clock this evening, the credentials committee reported, and telegrams were read from Congressmen Burton L. French and Addison T. Galt, and from Frank R. Gopling, and Governor Davis.

L. E. Glennan of Salmon City was named permanent secretary of the convention.

Opposition to Moore Falls

At an early hour this evening the Adm. county delegates and delegates at the republican state convention here took it desired to move that the nomination of Charles C. Moore for governor be made by acclamation.

This is believed in and possible of opposition to Moore's candidacy and following efforts which continued today to secure another candidate who might defeat Mr. Moore. Adm. county delegates sponsored the nomination of the state in the hope of securing opposition to Mr. Moore. In some cases the opposition to Mr. Moore, which was regarded as complete, was not, however, favoring full direct primaries, claimed to have 80 votes out of a total of 202.

Direct primary advocates are understood to have about 35 votes in the convention.

Digesting Radical Planks

Radical planks are being digested by the committee on resolutions, and are favored by the sub-committee.

The convention appointed a committee on resolutions composed of one member from each county delegation. This committee named a sub-committee on resolutions consisting of the following ten delegates: Joseph H. Peterson, George Bates, John Shook, Mark Meade, C. C. Gagnan, John H. Lloyd Adams, Guy Bissell, P. J. Evans, Edward Daugherty.

Direct primary advocates, in the sub-committee, first offered a plank in favor of nomination of all state and county officials by direct primary. This was defeated, 41 to 4.

A plank in favor of return to the old convention system for nomination of county as well as state officers was defeated by vote of five to five.

A plank in favor of the present nominating system, with recommendations for simplification of the present law, was adopted by vote of six to four.

Opposes State Constabulary

The sub-committee also adopted planks favoring abolishment of the office of commissioner of education and the state constabulary. It recommended that the office of state inspector be abolished and inspection of mines be performed by the state industrial board.

Another resolution adopted by the sub-committee commends President Harding's administration, Senator Doak, for his services to the state in international affairs, and Senator Gooding for his stand in favor of tariff legislation.

The sub-committee will present a resolution opposing any appropriation by the next legislature for new state highways.

The convention met at noon and unanimously elected C. H. Potts of Coeur d'Alene temporary chairman. After appointing regular committees it adjourned until 7 o'clock this evening.

The committee on permanent organization recommended Clancy St. Clair of Idaho Falls for permanent chairman and he was unanimously elected.

Telegrams extolling felicitations to the convention were received from Senator Gooding, Congressman French and Smith and Governor Davis.

The committee on resolutions being confronted with a heavy volume of work, the convention adjourned until 7 o'clock this evening, and probably will finish its work in the afternoon.

Forecast of Nominations

This evening it looked as though the republican ticket would be:

C. G. Moore, governor.

W. H. Gibson of Mountain Home, or H. H. Budge of Parma, lieutenant governor.

W. A. Leo of Moreau, justice of the supreme court.

Burton L. French and Addison T. Smith, congressmen.

P. A. Jeter of Coeur d'Alene, secretary of state.

Robert L. Conner of Sandpoint, attorney general.

D. F. Banks of Caldwell, state treasurer.

E. G. Gallett, of Pocatello, state auditor.

Elita Brown of Nez Perce, superintendent of public instruction.

Stewart Campbell of Holey, mine inspector.

Robinson Declines Post

C. A. Robinson of Twin Falls has been urged to become chairman of the republican state central committee, but has declined. I. H. Nash, state land commissioner, may be selected as state chairman.

The Twin Falls county integration named John W. Graham chairman; C. Peck on the committee on resolutions; and A. J. Swelley on the committee on permanent organization.

The Fight between convention and primary forces among the delegates last night took many surprising turns. Many declared in favor of scrapping the entire system and returning to the old methods of county conventions to nominate county officers and state candidates. Delegates especially were outspoken in favor of return to the convention system.

Ada Turns to Swelley

Ada county delegates last night were fighting hard to secure control of the committee on organization, but it was understood that they had been able to sign up 28 of the 202 delegates. Ada was understood to have offered a temporary chairmanship to M. J. Swelley of Twin Falls. Organization forces and convention advocates last night agreed on C. H. Potts for temporary chairman.

The idea of leaving blank the nomination for justice of the supreme court was practically abandoned last night. Marvin H. Sandquist, C. P. B. Hurd and James E. Babbs of Lewiston were then mentioned for the place.

Music reproduced at public radio concerts here is not transmitted from broadcasting stations at Denver, San Francisco or other distant points, but from a phonograph operated within three or four feet of the reproducing apparatus, according to statements of persons presumed to know the facts figuring in discussion here this evening on the subject of general conversation here Tuesday.

Isolation of Twin Falls from the standpoint of radio telephony, necessarily for use of a machine costing not less than $5000 to produce successful concerts here, and the improbability of making such a distinction to furnish radio concerts at designated hours were factors pointed out as indicating that the source of the radio concert music here was not a machine.

Belles on Informants

When questioned in regard to the matter, C. D. Thomas, who appeared Monday night before the city commission with respect to the appropriation for the band he kept insisting, said that he had no positive information on the subject, but that he had been informed by a number of persons who he considered reliable witnesses, that the music reproduced at radio concerts here was transmitted from a phonograph through a distance of three or four feet, where concerts have been given.

"If that is true," Mr. Thomas said, "I consider the description of the music as being reproduced by the teaching of the boys engaged in the enterprise to deceive the public, most reprehensible."

Another person who claimed to be an informant in the radio telephony pointed out that from that standpoint Twin Falls is probably the most isolated point in the country, and that music reproduced at public concerts here was transmitted from a nearby station or that the reproducing apparatus must be an investment of not less than $5000.

Manager Maintains Silence

Howard E. Sablin, business manager for the Boy Scouts interested in the enterprise, said Tuesday night that he had no statement to make on the subject of the music reproduced at public concerts here, but he had something to say later on.

Interest in the question apparently has been heightened by reason of the indefinite status of the appropriation made for the support of the Twin Falls band by the city administration lately received. Various of the present administration to divert a portion of this appropriation in payment for the radio concert music when he appeared Monday before the city commissioners, expressed his apprehension that such a reduction in the appropriation for several days, in the dissolution of the organization.

Movement of wheat to market here has been in progress for several days. The price quoted here Tuesday was $1.20 a hundred pounds.

Chamber of Commerce Makes Request to Company and Utilities Commission

Copies of a resolution requesting the American Express company to improve present delivery service and extend the area in Twin Falls or to establish an up-town office "which is sufficient and adequate to handle the trade" have been sent by the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce to the express company and the Idaho public utilities commission.

The resolution is submitted by the chamber of commerce through "united action" of its utilities bureau and local of streets.

Adoption of the resolution followed the abandonment by the express company of its up-town office on Shoshone street south and establishment of offices at the Shiori Lane station.

The text of the resolution follows:

The American Express company has maintained an up-town office in Twin Falls for the past seven years, during a part of which time the population of the city and business was less in quantity than at present date or for the year just past.

The up-town office of the company just closed on August 1, 1922, was small and inadequate to handle express in any quantity.

The delivery service (both for collection and delivery, although the latter, infrequent and restricted to only a portion of the city of Twin Falls) and conducted by the slowest method of the business was less in quantity than at present date or for the year just past.
