CASH VALUE OF CROP PRODUCTS BREAKS RECORD

Actual Worth of This Year's Agricultural Output One and a Quarter Billion More Than Last Year

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP)—This year's important farm crops will be worth approximately $1,250,000,000 more than their value last year. Production forecasts announced today by the department of agriculture indicate this year's important crops will aggregate approximately $6,600,000,000, calling their value on Sept. 1 farm price. Three crops—corn, cotton and hay—will exceed a billion dollars each in value, that aggregate crop value more than one-half of the value of all the important crops.

August growing conditions were especially detrimental to the bumper corn crop. Corn suffered a loss during August of 142,000,000 bushels, worth at Sept. 1 prices, $39,000,000. The government's forecast today placed the prospective production at 2,975,000,000 bushels.

Cotton had an almost equally bad August, an earlier report showing prospective production decreased 874,000 bales during the month. That amount of cotton at Sept. 1 prices would have been worth $88,100,000.

Present indications are that practically all of this year's crops will be worth more than last year, with the exception of wheat, rice and peanuts. Corn will be worth approximately $96,000,000 more, cotton $38,000,000, and hay $21,000,000 more. Peas, beans, (total) $47,000,000, and potatoes $30,000,000.

Unofficial Estimates

This year's indicated crops will have a value, calculated unofficially and based on Sept. 1 farm prices, as follows:

- Wheat—$2,700,000,000; corn, $1,957,900,000; oats, $1,041,100,000; barley, $58,500,000; buckwheat, $11,600,000; rye, $50,200,000; potatoes, $385,400,000; sweet potatoes, $116,200,000; hay, (total) $192,000,000; cotton, $1,100,000,000; seed $1,064,400,000; apples, $227,200,000; peaches, $9,100,000; peanuts, $30,400,000; flax seed, $22,100,000, and beans $49,600,000.

The forecast of production this year based on Sept. 1 conditions, follows:

(Production forecast in thousands of bushels)

- Oats—Condition 70; forecast 153,101, Illinois—82 and 177,723, Illinois—82 and 325,231, Minnesota—70 and 108,919, Iowa—04 and 423,009, Missouri—77 and 170,501, South Dakota—79 and 111,517, Nebraska—85 and 109,094, Kansas—40 and 100,349, Kentucky—80 and 98,155, Texas—70 and 120,534.

Spring Wheat:

- Minnesota—80 and 32,689, North Dakota—100 and 118,044, South Dakota—85 and 87,155, Montana—80 and 24,002, Washington—48 and 19,312.

Oats:

- Illinois—04 and 118,730, Wisconsin—22 and 105,780, Minnesota—89 and 148,052, Iowa—87 and 210,371.

Nebraska suffered heaviest in the loss in corn during August, the production forecast indicating 35,000,000 bushels less than a month ago. Other important producing states showed the following reductions.

- South Dakota, 10,000,000 bushels, Kansas 20,000,000; Iowa, 19,000,000; Kentucky, 14,000,000; Missouri, 9,000,000; Tennessee, 11,000,000; Minnesota, 8,000,000; Illinois, 4,000,000; Indiana, 6,000,000, and Ohio 4,800,000.

NEW GEYSER PERFORMING AGAIN AT YELLOWSTONE

Resumes Its Operations and Throws Up Spouts of Steam and Water

YELLOWSTONE PARK, Wyo., Sept. 8.—Yellowstone park's new geyser, which "blew up" several weeks ago, breaking all geyser records for height of its stream and violence of its eruption, is performing again. After the first few days of activity the new geyser, which has been unofficially called the "Bon-Continental," since it chose the fiftieth anniversary of the park's creation to assert itself, quelled, down and only gave occasional spouts of steam and mudly water to remind park visitors of its previous performance in flooding the automobile highway and scattering bouffants around about for a radius of a hundred feet or more. Last week, however, the geyser commenced operating again and has since been playing at irregular intervals several times a day. The spouts on these occasions reach various heights between 100 and 200 feet. Several times, also, it has thrown mud and water on the roadway which runs beside the muddy hot pool where the geyser has its source.

The new phenomenon is proving a great attraction to motor parties from cities nearby the park. Since the spouter resumed activities scores of parties have been driving in order to be able to witness the new geyser display before the close of the park season.

DEMOCRATIC NOMINEES PLAN TO STUMP STATE

Moses Alexander at Work Now in Eastern Idaho to be Followed by Tour of Panhandle

BOISE, Sept. 7.—Itinerary for the candidates for state and congressional offices on the democratic ticket have been completed by the offices of the committee at Boise and one of the most intensive campaigns in the history of the party will be waged. This statement was made by Will E. Hornbrook, state chairman, who declared that prospects for a complete victory at the November election were never more favorable in Idaho than at present.

Moses Alexander, candidate for governor, has left for the eastern and southeastern part of the state where he is scheduled at different places for two weeks following which he will begin a tour through the northern part of the state. He has already covered all counties, but expects to return to many of these before the election. Candidates for congress will take this field on September 16 and will stay in the field until the day prior to the election. George Waters of Weiser, in the first district, will open his campaign in Canyon county and from there cover the entire northern part of his district. William P. Whitaker of Pocatello in the second district will open his campaign on September 18th. Mr. Waters will be accompanied by Elmer O. Thompson of Idaho Falls, candidate for lieutenant governor. Both of these candidates will speak from the same platform. Mr. Whitaker will be accompanied by Lewis Williams, former interior revenue collector for Idaho, who will speak on state issues.

Other state candidates are planning to take the stump on September 18th and follow the itinerary mapped out at state headquarters. Lester B. Harrison, candidate for attorney general, will begin his campaign in north Idaho and will speak at the beginning with Moses Alexander. This candidate will go south later.

Campaign literature and plans for the next two months are being forwarded today to the various state and county candidates. The state chairman is arranging to visit county headquarters in all state candidates in the coming campaign and the three offices in the Yates' building have become headquarters of the democratic party in reality for a live campaign in every county in the state.

Memories

Alas and alack! How little we know what may stir our children's children. How little we know what simple thing may be our own memory's page-laport. It was a full and fine day, planted in the dooryard, a peony bloom by the garden path. Sufficient, if, in some later day, when we are gone and long forgotten, some one stirs vagrant memories by recalling us through the simple flower or stem in June to look deep into the heart of the peony; to see, once again, the visions of the old homes and old family crests which time has dissolved, leaving only the perennial of beauty in the flower and the hearts of children and of children's children—New York Tribune.

Indian Burial Places Preserved. It is said that all the graveyards used by the first white settlers were old Indian burial places which had been used by the aborigines for that purpose from time immemorial. Where these Indian burial places were on the homesteads of settlers they respected these graves and they were never disturbed. The whites continued to use them as burial places for their families and slaves. It was a custom in the early days to bury slaves beside their masters and a certain portion of the family plot was reserved for their use. The colonists in continuing to use these aboriginal burial places rendered this country a signal service in preserving from oblivion the best resting-places of a vanished race.

PLANS VANDALS' GRIDIRON WARS

Idaho Coach Takes Hold of Team at Critical Stage, but Backers Lose No Optimism

Idaho Coach Takes Hold of Team at Critical Stage, but Backers Lose No Optimism

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow, Sept. 7.—Matty Mathews, Idaho's new athletic director and head football coach, and his staff are bringing to a hurried close all preliminary preparations necessary to place the Vandals in the Pacific Coast conference. Candidates for the first season to turn out at Coast conference football has all been at the hardest schedule in the west—and coast sports writers, although applauding Idaho play, unless on paper as branding it veritably impossible.

Eight slashes on sheet

There are eight slashes on the sheet and one call against a year team. Seven of those are away from home. Mathews will have 14 members of last year's squad back for the pre-season work. Captain Brown, fullback; Armen athletes and also varsity baseball members.

Four Stars Missing

The Idaho squad will step into a Coast conference role this fall without the services of four of its foremost grid men. The greatest loss will be that of Nell Irving, but almost equal will be that of Captain Grover Evans and Jack Whitcomb, Healee Glanderman and Frank Brown, three year veterans, will also be among the missing. The sensational broken field running of Irving and his high-powered boot will be missed unless Captain Dube Brown is able to develop sufficient prowess to carry on the individual offensive work borne by the remarkable Irving. Fitzke has a kick above the ordinary, but he lacks Irving's ability as a consistent yardage gainer and Brown is of about the same caliber.

A glance at the string of material which Matty will have at his disposal this fall makes an Idaho backer feel proud, but at about face at the school's hurried close all preliminary preparations necessary to place the Vandals in the Pacific Coast conference. Candidates for the first season to turn out at Coast conference football has all been at the hardest schedule in the west—and coast sports writers, although applauding Idaho play, unless on paper as branding it veritably impossible.

Eight slashes on sheet

There are eight slashes on the sheet and one call against a year team. Seven of those are away from home. Mathews will have 14 members of last year's squad back for the pre-season work. Captain Brown, fullback; Ar-old Broshars, fullback; Howard Broshars, quarterback, and Bung Snow, halfback, are the only backfield men in the group. With the exception of Grover Evans, end; and Frank Brown and Healee Glanderman, tackles, the line will be intact.

The fresh material, coached by David MacMillan will be a big factor in rebuilding the Vandal crew. Last year the fresh were nearly equal to the varsity and some great players are expected to be developed from that team.

Coaching Staff Ready

Members of the coaching staff are all ready for the coming season. Mathews has not just decided how he will line up his assistants, but it is reasonably certain that MacMillan will continue with the first-year men and will probably be assisted by either Albert Knudson, graduate manager and assistant coach, or Ray E. Reidig, who helped him last season. Both Reidig and Knudson are the coaches and one of them will help Mathews with his varsity squad.

The Idaho schedule for the coming season is as follows:
 October 7—Whitman at Walls Falls.
 October 14—University of Washington at Seattle.
 October 20—Washington State College at Moscow.
 October 28—University of Oregon at Portland.
 November 11—University of Utah at Boise.

GOVERNMENT IS NOT A PARTY TO NEGOTIATIONS

General Feeling in Official Circles One of Growing Optimism, However, as to Strike Settlement

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP)—On the basis of personal reports to certain administration leaders, a more optimistic view of the railroad strike situation was apparent today in government circles than in the past.

Several officials, who have been in close personal touch with strike development, declared that settlement of the labor controversy on a number of roads was a "probable" result of the series of conferences which they understood to be in progress in Chicago.

The extent to which the negotiations might go toward affecting a national settlement was not forecast in these circles, but the hope was expressed that a partial peace with "key" roads might serve as the case in the impending coal settlement—a starting point for general settlement.

Willard Glenn Credit The Chicago meetings were said to have been largely a result of efforts on the part of Daniel Willard of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, who was understood to have assembled in Chicago representatives of about 75,000 miles of operated track.

Attorney General Daugherty in a statement tonight said the government was not a party to any negotiations between the railroads and their employees, but declared that such negotiations would be in progress in Chicago under the temporary restraining injunction issued at Chicago.

There was no development today in connection with the labor dispute started by the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers—one group of the striking crafts—through a petition for a restraining order to prevent enforcement of the government's temporary injunction.

No Official Reports Officially, the administration is doing nothing to further the negotiations between the railroads and their employees, as well as railroad executives and labor leaders, and it was indicated that any discussion by administration officials might embarrass them who are seeking a settlement.

Modification Not Offered. While the rail situation was understood not to have been extended in the subject taken up, for extended discussion at today's cabinet meeting, it was understood that some reference was made to the status of the government's injunction in view of official statements that a modification of the temporary order would not be issued when the case was called in Chicago Monday.

The cabinet was said to have discussed briefly also the coal situation, an administration spokesman later expressing confidence that the house and senate conferees would quickly reach a satisfactory agreement on legislation designed to cope with the present situation.

President Harding, it was stated, is particularly concerned with the setting up of machinery for ascertaining facts about the coal industry. The president, it was said, believes that establishment of a fact finding commission "would be a great progressive step" and would help to meet important in preventing future suspensions of work in both the bituminous and anthracite fields.

How Egyptian Think. I chanced to be at Ienalla, Egypt, when an aviator was to make what was considered at that time, an important flight from Luxor to Port Said. He was to pass along the route of the canal. Everyone was watching for him. Finally he appeared far to the south, a little dot in the air that gradually grew larger. The Egyptians expressed their enthusiasm by cheers and waving. Not far from me a Bedouin sat by the side of his camel, impassively watching the approaching airplane.

I said to him: "What do you think of that?" With a calm, contemptuous look he remarked facetiously: "An invention of your devil, not of your God," and stroiled on leading his camel by the nose.—By a French Resident in L'Opticon.

The Pony Express. Pony express was the name given to a mail service between St. Joseph, Mo., and San Francisco in 1830. At that time there were three transcontinental mail lines, but the greater part of the mail between the East and the far West was sent by way of Panama, in about 22 days. The demand for a more rapid service between the East and the West led to the establishment in the spring of 1830 of the famous "Pony Express," the mail being carried rapidly overland on horseback under the direction of the Central Overland California and Pacific Express company.

BORAH ACCORDED HEARTY THANKS

Strike Leader Declares Idaho Solon Has Performed Yeoman Service for Shophmen

NEW YORK, Sept. 8 (AP)—Senator Borah deserves the thanks of every liberty-loving American for his fearless criticism of the Daugherty-Wilkinson injunction," John O'Dowd, chairman of the central strike committee of the railway shopmen in the Metropolitan district, declared today in making public Senator Borah's reply to O'Dowd's request that the senator start in motion machinery for the impeachment of Attorney General Daugherty and Judge Wilton.

Senator Borah's reply said he was "thoroughly in sympathy with any plans to preserve unimpaired the guarantees found in our constitution."

Senator Borah has done more than any one man to make Daugherty eat his words," O'Dowd said. "The attorney general's reticence and side steps, however, merely check the case for his impeachment. He has proven by his own admission that he violated the law and the constitution. He stands self-convicted as an enemy of the people, guilty of gross misconduct in high office."

Tide Runs Thirty Feet. In the Kimberly district of West Australia there is only one tide a day but it has a range of over thirty feet. The ships tie up to the wharf at high tide and when the tide is out they are left high and dry on the mud. This contrasts very strongly with the southern coast, where the tide has a range of only a few feet. This great range of tide is not caused by the water piling up in a bay, for the ports of the northwest are situated right on the open coast.

PRAYERS FOR STRIKE PEACE

Shopmen's Walkout Injected Into 'Episcopal Convention by Resolution Offered

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 8 (AP)—Prayer for peace in the railroad shopmen's strike was held at the close of a meeting of a joint session of the house of bishops and the house of deacons of the triennial convention of the Protestant Episcopal church here today. The action was taken as a result of a resolution by Courtney Barber, a lay delegate from Chicago.

Mr. Barber's resolution called for prayers for both houses of the convention. It was adopted by a vote of 100 to 10. The impression that the prayers might then be too late the suggestion was made that they be said at once.

At the close of the service, James J. Freeman of Washington, D. C., who presided over the joint session of both houses, recalled the Episcopalian prayer for industrial peace at the beginning of the Lord, who has taught us that all our doings without love are nothing worth, said Thy Holy Ghost and pour into us the spirit of Thy servants that most excellent gift of charity.

Declared in his prayer that when Mr. Barber proposed his resolution the presiding officers asked the house whether it was in order and the house by a rising vote gave unanimous consent for its consideration.

Address endorsing the work of the church, and appeals for support of the new three-year program were delivered at the joint session this afternoon by John Stewart Bryan of Birmingham, Ala. and Bishop Johnson of Colorado.

Mr. Bryan's talk was in happy vein, mingling anecdotes which amused the convention with appeals for greater Christian efforts, which brought enthusiastic applause. He held up the financial report and declared it the most important document ever presented at a convention of the church.

Mr. Johnson delivered thrice at length, self-accusatory conceptions of religion. The general clergy in the church is an unfaithful and unlearned vestrymen," he said.

Schools Below Par. Bishop Charles H. Brent of New York, discussing religious schools, declared in answer to the criticism that they were below par.

Bishop H. L. Burson of South Dakota, told of missionary work in the domestic field, and Bishop Coakley of New York, spoke of Christian work in connection with state universities, urging direct help for local churches in carrying this work.

Bishop Henry St. George Tucker of Kyoto, Japan, said that next year two missionary districts in Japan would be established as parishes, with native Japanese clergymen.

U. L. Munson of Williamsport, Pa., a lay delegate, pleaded for tilting for support of the church's program.

AUSTRIA IN THE LIMELIGHT. Disarmament and Similar Questions Occupy Second Place Beside Economic Situation.

GENEVA, Sept. 8, (AP)—Disarmament and other old questions before the league of nations have been overshadowed for the moment by Austria and the economic situation in central Europe. Viscount Ishii of Japan, however, brought disarmament again to the attention of the members briefly, but the others made Austria the principal theme. M. Motta and Dr. Naussau both declared that the league must act.

An international force to guarantee the political stability of Austria has been abandoned, the Austrian delegation giving assurance that if the rest of the plans were carried out, Austria would be able to guarantee its own stability. The discussion has turned on the restoration of Austrian railways, and there was considerable optimism in both the Austrian delegates and the league council.

It is thought a workable plan can be completed here which can be improved by the allies and put into effect in a short time. It would be necessary, however, for the reparations commission to abandon its claims on the railroads, which thus far it has refused to do.

EUROPE STILL ARMED

The condition of Europe today goes to prove that the world conflict of nineteen hundred and fourteen, and a "war to end war" was the most conspicuous failure of any operation of modern times. The military balance sheet of the eastern hemisphere shows a military situation a hundred times more menacing than it appeared in the spring of nineteen hundred and fourteen. At that epoch the various nations merely suffered from the general malaise and a vague distrust of each other's policy; today every rifle seems at full cock on a hair trigger.
 France has forces massed, ready to occupy German territory if she fails to obtain satisfactory guarantees. Leon Trotsky, who asserts that the soviet army today numbers eight hundred thousand men, declares that it will invade Poland should France's action in Germany be backed up by that country. As the Moscow government may regard mere acquiescence by Poland as support of France's action, such a statement is a distinct menace. That Germany, if invaded by France, would leave no stone unturned to bring about such a movement on the part of Russia goes without saying.
 In southeastern Europe the threatened collapse of Austria is the cause of fresh complications. Any attempt on the part of the Vienna government to bring about an Italian protectorate would lead to energetic protest and probably active intervention by the "little entente," while Italy is alleged to have declared that any absorption of Austria by that combination would be regarded by her as "casus belli."

 An actual state of war exists between Greece and the Turkish nationalists. More than five hundred thousand men—three hundred thousand Greeks and two hundred thousand Turks—face one another in Asia Minor, while twenty-five hundred thousand Greek troops were recently landed at Haqoia, in Thrace, and only prevented from marching on Constantinople by the prompt action of the powers.
 In Syria, Mesopotamia and Palestine one hundred and fifty thousand French and British troops have their hands full preventing a general insurrection of the Arab race against European influence in those territories. Then, for good measure, possible military action by Roumania, Yugoslavia and Greece against Bulgaria, as outlined in their recent ultimatum, may be thrown into the balance. The total military forces under arms in Europe runs into the millions, while the possible causes of conflict may be counted by the score.
 And this, paradoxical as it may appear, in a Europe that is sick of wars and rumors of wars and literally hungers and thirsts for success of strife. But such has been the atmosphere of hatred and suspicion engendered by the world war that each country eyes its neighbor with jealous distrust. What the nations of Europe seem to need most is new leaders—men whose hands are not tied by outland palavers and conferences, the only result of which seems to have been to cause mutual distrust and to create personal jealousies and ambitions among the individual statesmen, detrimental to the general good.

Life Seen as a Dream.
 "And surely it is not a melancholy conceit to think we are all asleep in this world, and that the contents of this life are as mere dreams to those of the next, as the phantasms of the night to the content of the day. There is an equal delusion to both, and the one doth but seem to be the embryo or picture of the other. We are somewhat more than ourselves in our sleep, and the slumber of the body seems to be but the waking of the soul. It is the litigation of sense, but the liberty of reason; and our waking conceptions do not reach the fancies of our sleeps."—Sir Thomas Browne.

Character of Becky Sharp.
 "Becky Sharp was the chief character in Thackeray's 'Vanity Fair.' She was distinguished by her intriguing disposition, her selfishness, cool cunning, energy and cleverness, and utter want of heart and moral principle. At the close of the long story she is left alone, practically penniless, but she has not changed her methods of forever seeking an assured position in the world, and the reader feels that she will find no difficulty in securing another dope."

Women—the Greatest Buyers in the World

THERE are 22,000,000 homes in the United States. The women who buy for these homes spend on the average $500 each, or a total of $11,000,000,000, each year. That is more than $36,000,000 every working day. Every year it amounts to half as much as America's Liberty Bond issue.

Each woman is a part of this army of buyers, and each, if she will, may be guided to wise and economical purchases if she will but make up her mind each day to read as many as she can of the advertisements which manufacturers are printing for her benefit.

The advertising in every newspaper and every magazine is a buying guide for this greatest buying force in the world. This advertising makes it safe and easy for every member of this buying army to make her purchases.

It establishes in her mind a buying habit and gives her a preference of one brand of goods to another or an advertised article to one that is unknown.

It identifies for her a certain product as being standard, so that she may easily dodge the wiles of sellers who try to sell something that is not so good.

It fixes merit as an everlasting adjunct to certain articles.

It makes her know that the manufacturer who is proud of his product and jealous of his reputation and character cannot do otherwise than make his product at least as good as he says it is.

More than likely it is better.
 Advertising points out where this greatest buyer in all the world's history may find quality goods by showing her pictures of them over and over again which enables her to recognize them easily and quickly.

THE MARKETS

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Sept. 8. (AP)—Extensive short covering, coupled with a brisk movement in the market for gold, resulted in another substantial advance in prices in today's stock market. Profit-taking was in evidence throughout the session, but offerings were easily absorbed and caused little disturbance in the upward swing.

Most of the new favorites were brought to the front, including United Cities Stores, which was pushed up 25 points on sales of only 800 shares.

New developments appeared to have little direct influence on the market, but the virtual elimination of the threat of a general strike, increased car loadings and the return of more shipments to work all contributed to the optimism of the trading floor. Continuation of relatively easy money rates, however, is regarded as the most potent factor in the present situation.

Railroad stocks were a bit more lagging because the rest of the list, but some substantial gains were recorded, especially by the hard coal carriers.

Equipments were the favorites in the industrial division, gains of 1 to nearly 3 points being recorded by American Locomotive, American Car and Foundry, American Railway Steel Springs and other shares, most of them at new high prices.

Leather shares also displayed a buoyant tone. American Hide and Leather and Central Leather preferred being pushed up approximately three points each.

Municipals also recovered from their recent heaviness, but did not progress as much as the other standard industrials. Domestic oils, with the exception of Houston, which was up nearly three points, also rose slightly behind the rest of the list.

Total sales were approximately 1,900,000 shares.

Call money opened at four per cent and held at that figure throughout the day. There was a fair demand for time

CHICAGO CATTLE MARKET

CHICAGO, Sept. 8. (AP)—Wheat tend upward in price here most of the time today, chiefly as a result of higher quotations at Liverpool and because of gossip that France would require heavy imports of wheat before harvest. The close was unsettled at the same as yesterday's, 1.54 to 1.58, higher, with December $1.03 1/4 to 1.03 3/8 and May $1.07 1/2 to 1.07 3/8. Corn unchanged to 3/8c up and provisions unchanged to 1/16 down.

Large orders to purchase Canadian wheat for shipment to Europe were said to be in the market, and it was estimated that exporters took 750,000 bushels or more. Another bullish influence was the fact that owing to the wet weather in the northwest, hedging pressure was less in evidence than has been the case lately. Basis throughout the day seaboard house-grade good buyers of December wheat, obtainable below $1.05. Some notes was taken, too, of advice that fall plowing everywhere was being delayed.

Anticipations that the government crop report would prove better as to wheat, led to a reaction during the last hour, wiping out much of the early gains. Northwestern interests were conspicuous in the selling.

There was a broad trade in corn, but prices changed very little importance. The government crop report appearing overnight proved to be about as had been expected. Demand for oats was quite active on the part of shorts.

Provisions lacked support despite the higher quotations on hogs.

DUN'S REVIEW

NEW YORK, Sept. 8. (AP)—Dun's to-morrow will say: "Despite the holiday in territories and other impediments, the week has brought a turn for the better in business. Records of production in basic industries disclose the adverse effect of the labor unavailability, but the restraints are lessened as coal mining is more fully resumed, and the transportation situation. Evidence of recovery in iron and steel manufacture, following a decided setback, is encouraging, and there now seems reason to believe that fewer obstacles to progress will be encountered. In view of the scope of the strikes and the protracted duration, more stability has prevailed in business than might have been expected and it is significant in this connection that the monthly statistics show a further reduction in number of failures.

While mercantile and industrial activities have been considerably curtailed throughout the summer, the fact is not obscured that the outlook is one of good promise and that a solid foundation exists for subsequent expansion."

Weekly bank clearings $4,505,175,000.

GUilty DRIVER SUSPECT MAKES WAY TO DENVER

T. M. Moore, Alleged Offender in Auto Crash Resulting in Injury of Seven Persons, Makes Good Escape

T. M. Moore, driver of a large roadster car being Colorado license No. 12833, who is alleged to have overturned a lighter car on the highway west of here Sunday afternoon, seriously injuring A. K. Mallon, Knoll district ranchman, and seven members of his family, passed through Laramie, Wyoming, on his way to his former residence in Denver, according to word received Friday evening at the sheriff's office here.

Beyond Beach of Law
Warrant for the arrest of Moore on a charge of careless and imprudent driving was issued Wednesday by the prosecuting attorney at the instance of Deputy Sheriff V. H. Ormsby. The offense charged under Idaho is a misdemeanor and for this reason Moore cannot be extradited from another state to answer to the charge. Prosecuting Attorney Frank L. Stephens Friday evening expressed the opinion that no other charge under Idaho law could be preferred against Moore.

Moore was several days ago taken to his own way either to California or to Colorado. Deputy Sheriff Ormsby said Friday evening, "Letter I talked to a man in the Golden Rule addition to Twin Falls, with whom Moore stayed Saturday and Sunday nights and learned that Moore had invited this man, who also was a former resident of Colorado, to return with him to that state. On the theory then that Moore was going to Denver, we had all the points along probable routes covered" and learned this evening that Moore had passed through Laramie on Thursday morning.

Admits Crime to Friend
"My informant here told me that Moore had admitted to him that he was the man who was involved in the auto crash in the Knoll district Sunday."

Public sentiment here has run high against the suspected offender in this case because of the fact, principally, that he did not stop his car nor offer assistance to the injured persons, but drove away from the scene with all possible speed.

IMPROVEMENT IN POTATO MARKET SITUATION SEEN

Indications of Establishment of Cash Trade Appear Coincidentally with Making Effective of Freight Cut

With the making effective Friday of the emergency reduction of 20 cents a hundred pounds in the freight rate on Idaho potatoes to the United States system, to Missouri river and eastern points, indications of the establishment here of a cash market for the crop and of general improvement in the potato marketing situation were observed here.

Production Drop a Factor

Slight reduction in the potato crop reported announced by the department of agricultural crop raising bureau was regarded as one of the important factors making for optimism over the situation. The crop forecast was 325,000,000 bushels on August 1. It is expected that further reduction will be shown by the October forecast.

Short Linnette here said that the effect of the emergency reduction in the freight rate had not yet been reflected noticeably in an increased volume of outgoing potato cars, but incident with the making effective of the reduction there were indications of activity on the part of potato buyers that had been noted.

Make Details Offer

It was reported that one buyer here was offering 35 cents a hundred pounds for potatoes, and from Kansas district came word that a buyer in the fields there was offering 40 cents a hundred pounds and furnishing sacks.

Time for Optimism

"It is not a time for pessimism but for optimism," Mr. Harboe continued. "There was a marked increase in the demand today and all indications point to steady improvement in the situation from now on."

Shalley's Sense of Humor. He cared little for comedy, at least in his early years. He was so intensely, too deeply grieved over the imperfections of life. His sense of humor developed later than his other faculties. He was a serious man, but he always had, writes Gertrude Slaughter in the North American Review, he cared for serious books, just as he preferred serious discussions to jokes and banter. Yet he would burst into gales of laughter. He was the best of companions, a friend of the art of conversation, the master of children; and his pleasure in boats was an unfeeling enthusiasm, whether he made them of paper and sailed on them in the water, or pulled at the oars on the Thames or the Arno or floated on that fatal sea which nobody else had reproduced in such living forms.

Effects of frost Thursday night were observed Friday at many points throughout the district. Vines were nipped in several instances, and the observer said that several persons told him during the day that they had found ice on small rocks containing water Friday morning.
