GOSSIP-BLAMED AS MAIN FACTOR IN MURDER CASE

Indictment of Mrs. Clara Phillips for Crime Has Many Strange Angles, According to Investigators

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 18.—That neighborhood gossip figured prominently in the slaying of Mrs. Alberta Meadows, 62-year-old widow, near Los Angeles, July 18, which resulted in the indictment of murder of Mrs. Clara Phillips, wife of Armour L. Phillips, local oil promoter, was the assertion of investigators assigned to the case. Mrs. Meadows' body was found late in the afternoon of July 18 alongside an uncompleted road, about two miles from the business center of Los Angeles. The skull had been crushed in several places and the features mutilated. Nearby was a handle of a hammer, the head of which had been broken off. Close to the victim's head was a large blood stained rock.

Twenty-four hours elapsed with no clue being discovered as to the identity of the slayer or the victim when Phillips walked into the office of Sheriff W. I. Troeger and told a story which resulted in his wife's arrest. According to the sheriff, Phillips said she had admitted to the slaying. She killed Mrs. Meadows at the place where the body was found, and that he had put her in a train for El Paso, Texas. Mrs. Phillips was arrested at Tucson, Ariz., and brought back to Los Angeles two days later. She was held in the police station of Mrs. Peggy Caffee appeared at the police station and said that his wife had witnessed the tragedy. Mrs. Caffee immediately was summoned to the station as a witness. Her testimony at the inquest was to the effect that she went with Mrs. Phillips to a store on July 17, and saw the accused woman purchase a hammer, and that evening went to Mrs. Meadows' apartments but did not find her there.

Witnessed Entire Tragedy.

Mrs. Caffee's testimony also brought out that she was an eye witness to the tragedy.

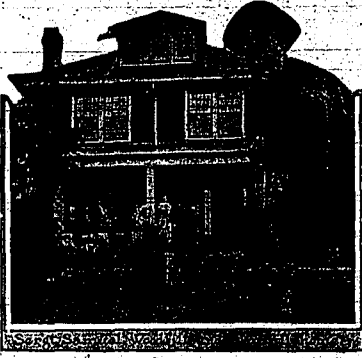

The next day Mrs. Caffee and Mrs. Phillips waited for Mrs. Meadows at a parking station where she kept a motor car while the latter was at work in a downtown bank, according to the testimony. When Mrs. Meadows came for the car, Mrs. Phillips asked Mrs. Meadows to drive her to her sister's home. The three women entered the car and Mrs. Meadows, under Mrs. Phillips' direction, drove to the hillside where the body was found later in the day.

Mrs. Phillips, Mrs. Caffee testified, asked Mrs. Meadows to stop and get a hammer. "Then she asked Alberta if Mrs. Phillips did not give her the tires for the automobile," Mrs. Meadows testified. Mrs. Caffee went on. Mrs. Meadows denied this and Clara said "he certainly did," and struck her with the hammer, which she pulled from under her cape."

Witness Brought Back

Mrs. Meadows started to run down the hill, but Mrs. Phillips pursued and brought her back, the witness said. Mrs. Meadows was beaten to the ground with repeated blows. Mrs. Caffee said she herself ran from the scene, and looking back saw Mrs. Phillips continuing to strike the prostrate victim. Presently Mrs. Phillips came down the hill, driving Mrs. Meadows' car, and told Mrs. Caffee to get in. The women parted at a downtown street intersec-

War's Greatest Hero Strives to Save Home

WHEAT IN GREAT DEMAND

Throng Climaxes to Buy on War Time Basis Notwithstanding Price Advances

CHICAGO, Sept. 18 (AP)—Regardless of price, wheat was in eager demand today on a war time basis. The home run from the crowded trading pit on 'change here had a volume seldom heard of except when military struggle of world wide import appears fairly in view and immense breadstuff supplies are apparently in imminent need. The market moved upward, adding just short of six cents a bushel to the value of hundreds of millions of bushels of the cereal, and resulting in a massive increase in the price which preceded the outbreak of hostilities with Germany. Soiling on the rise was practically confined to holders of wheat who were in a position to collect a profit. Under pressure from this source, the market receded somewhat at the last, closing 3 1/8 to 4 1/8 cents higher than Saturday, with the leading month, December, standing at $1.95 5/8 to 1.03 3/4.

Mr. Phillips said Mrs. Phillips said to her then: "Don't you dare tell of this. You are in it as much as I." A woman guard was assigned to remain with Mrs. Caffee until the trial. Another was placed with the woman who sold the hammer. Mrs. Phillips was indicted for murder before she reached Los Angeles from Tucson. She greeted her husband affectionately at the county jail and smiled almost constantly during her arraignment. Under advice of her attorneys she refused to discuss the case with anyone.

LEADERS PLAN TO OVER-RIDE VETO OF BONUS

Opinion General in Congressional Circles that Executive Will Decline to Sign Measure for Soldier Relief

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18 (AP)—Veto of the soldiers' bonus bill by President Harding was expected generally tonight by congressional leaders and administration officers. Some of Mr. Harding's advisers said his message practically had been completed and they looked for him to send it to the house tomorrow.

Leaders in congress were making plans with a veto in mind. "In the house it was the intention to defer action until Wednesday so as to keep a working program on hand for disposition tomorrow of important conference reports on other measures. A senate vote might be deferred until Thursday, depending largely upon the hour of the house vote. Many, however, both opponents and proponents were marshaling their forces with anticipation that the roll call would show the largest attendance in the history of the house since the war. It was at last, getting impatient at the way it ended me, I broke the bottle and the message was revealed: "Whoever signs this bottle will find all the beer gone."—London Post.

No Political Thrusts

Commander MacNider told Mr.

Harding that "We have no threats to make politically," but that the oration pleased the American people, as expressed by the action of congress, will be carried out.

Some members of the delegation quoted the president as saying that he would be glad to see a bonus measure enacted into law if he were convinced that it would not entail a greater cost to the government than $10,000,000,000, and would take care of the able-bodied veterans for the time. They said he added, however, his belief that there would be an ultimate outlay of $50,000,000,000. Apparently convinced that the house would vote a large majority to override a veto, some foes of the bonus redoubled their efforts today to obtain a safe margin there. They claim the 84 senators are certain with the 68 that would be the time a veto came, this number would be increased to 35, or four more than the one-third necessary to sustain a veto.

Adds One More Name

This added one to the 38 senators who were announced opponents of the bonus at the time of its passage by the senate. In addition, friends of the president claimed one other vote as certain. Efforts were made to gain for this senator and Senator Weller, which would mean the tying up of four senators favorable to the bonus, as on a two-thirds majority vote, two senators are necessary to pair off against.

Present expectations are that 16 senators favorable to overriding a veto will be absent with only four or possibly five of the opposers.

Experimental Work with Genium A. Falls—Expected to Show Extensive Crop Returns

HALLEY, Idaho, Sept. 18.—A new level of the Genium A. Falls, operated by the United States government, after three years of experimental work shows some very promising results in production of alfalfa seed, peas and potatoes, according to County Agricultural Agent T. J. Kilgier. "Ten thousand acres, isolated from other sections of the tract, are being made into an alfalfa seed section. Twenty-five men are interested in this land and are growing pedigreed Genium seed. These hundred acres are being seeded this season. One field of potatoes, sown May 15, promises a heavy yield of seed this year. The county commissioners have made a special road over eight miles of rough lava to this tract."

HAPPENINGS OF A DAY IN SPORTS

DECIDING GAME WON BY HANSEN

Homers by Fuller and Stollar
Pitching by Thompson Feature Champ Contest

Two home runs by Ernie Fuller and perfect pitching by Jimmie Thompson gave Hansen a well-earned victory over Jerome Sunday afternoon at Kimberly, by a score of 4 to 2. With the victory went the title of southern Idaho baseball champion for 1922.

Ernie Fuller was the stellar attraction, pulling out two long homers, the first coming with a man on base and tying the score, while the latter came in the seventh, putting the team mates ahead. His two "swats" were enough to beat Jerome, who could do as the best that the North Riders could do was two scores.

The largest crowd that ever witnessed a game at Kimberly was in attendance—450—rallying to witness through the carnage. Every available seat of vantage was taken, and the entire street was lined with spectators, making ground rules necessary.

Oliver Starts Off—Oliver started on the mound for South Riders team, and looked like a winner in the first inning when he struck Pathe, Ansell and Ahlenfeldt, to puncture the air. In the second frame Jerome took kindly to his offerings and when taps were sounded two runs had crossed the rubber. Jimmie Thompson was called upon to save the honor of natives living on the south side of Snake river.

and Jimmie responded in elegant style. For four innings the hard-hitting Pathe went hitless before his opponent's speed. Not a man reached first during these innings. In the seventh he was nicked for two singles, and the bases were loaded for a grand slam hit. This was the sum and substance of the damage done by the North Riders.

Thompson Hero of Series—Thompson was by far the main feature of the three-game series just finished. He won the first game labor day, letting Jerome down with a single score, but being a hothead run out over the fence by Brooks. In the second game after Frank Fuller had been knocked out of the box, Jimmie again came to the rescue, stopping the North Riders but the damage had been done, and Jerome took the second game; Sunday after Oliver hit the boy, Thompson took his place and showed that he is a big calibre. He added to his clever work in the box, he baited 465 for the three games, leading his team mates in this department.

Lee Venoman, a former Kimberly lad, was on the firing line for Jerome. Let him being a hothead run out over the fence by Brooks, and went to second on the throw to the plate. Hyboe walked, but Sparrow doubled to the left field foul line, chasing in Venoman. 2 runs, 3 hits 0 error.

Hansen Even-Score—Hansen tied the score in their half of the second. Goodnight singled to left—Zienke batted—Pattor went out to Venoman to Sparrow, Goodnight advancing to second on the play. Ernie Fuller picked one of Venoman's first pitches and hit far over the outposts stationed in left field. 2 runs, 2 hits, 0 error.

This ended the series until the seventh when Ernie Fuller sent his second home run of the game over the left field line of autos, after two were out. Barnard and Thompson followed with two singles, but Barnard ended the inning trying to steal third.

Another score was added in the eighth. After two were out Hughes singled to right, and Goodnight beat an infield roller along the third base line. Hughes scored when Lesh snuffed Zienke's high one to right field.

The missed fly in right field was the only ball that was sent to the six outfielders, and incidentally it was the only error made during the afternoon. The box score:

PLANS BEING MADE FOR HANSEN-BOISE SERIES

Negotiations Under Way for Three Game Series for the State Championship

Hansen's victory over Jerome Sunday afternoon gave them the right to play Boise for the state championship.

Negotiations are under way for a three-game series with the west end team, but at a late hour last evening "nothing definite" had been arranged. Boise wants the Hansen team to play the three games at Boise, the first to be played on Saturday with a double-header on Sunday. Hansen on the other hand wants the fans of this section to be in on the games and is willing to offer a real inducement for Boise to make the trip to this city. The games could be played at Kimberly, and would draw as large a crowd if not larger than they would in Boise. Boise is not nearly the baseball town that Twin Falls is, and then there is Hansen, Jerome and Kimberly to draw from besides. It is doubtful whether Boise would draw many fans from the surrounding towns of that section.

In the event that Hansen accepts Boise's terms or vice versa, the opening game will be played on Saturday, to Lowery. Left on bases, Jerome 3; it is getting late in the season and frost will soon be on the pumpkin.

BURR HALLS BURNER
ST. LOUIS, Sept. 18 (AP)—George Burr broke his string of hitting in consecutive games when he failed to get a hit in today's game with New York. He previously had hit safely in 41 consecutive games, breaking the modern major league record established by Ty Cobb in 1911.

SOMETHING GOOD IN LIFE!

DID you ever pick up a book or a magazine

AND glance carelessly over its pages, intending

ONLY to pass away a few idle moments and then suddenly

COME upon a story that at first grasped your interest,

AND then gradually held you until

YOU were unconscious of your surroundings, making you

FORGET your dinner, bed time and engagements, a story

THAT held you spellbound and amazed at its very magnificence;

THAT made you live every single word;

TOOK you as it were to another world, and left

YOU at the end with moistened eyes and parched throat,

SAYING to yourself, "Gad, what a wonderful story!"

FRIENDS, that's the way the picture over at the IDAHO will do, Thomas Melghan never had a better role, AND Theodore Roberts interprets his unique character PERFECTLY. If you are in search of entertainment that WILL live with you for weeks, come to the Idaho Theatre TODAY or tomorrow and see IF you believe it, its so.

WOMEN DENIED REPRESENTATION IN CHURCH BODY

General-Convention of Episcopal Church Votes Against Their Right to Seats in the House of Deputies

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 18 (AP)—Women were denied seats in the house of deputies of the Protestant Episcopal church in the United States by a vote of the general body in general convention here today.

The vote was taken after a debate in which those who opposed the proposed amendment to the constitution of the church, but made the point that if women were admitted the subject would eventually drop out, under plans of other business and men would be "abdicate their responsibility."

Rev. Dr. Herbert H. Powell of San Francisco, who was secretary of the joint convention appointed at the last general convention to inquire into the subject, made the original plea for granting seats to women.

"It seems to me that this is a matter in which the church is pleading for liberty. Granting it, liberty often solve a problem. There is no demand for women in the house of deputies but just because they are not allowed to sit in the house of deputies for agitation for the change." Summarizing the conclusions of the commission which investigated, he said there was no opinion in the house of change, that there was a strong, but small element favoring it, and that there was a large body in the church which was not open to the matter.

Arguments in favor, he said, were the example of the United States in granting women equal rights, and the stronger pronouncement of the Lambeth conference in favor of it.

Hold Lengthy Debate

The deputies engaged in a debate over a resolution encouraging the use of motion pictures in teaching the Bible, proposed by Rev. Henry P. Kloman of New York. Rev. E. B. Chalmers of Toledo, Ohio, proposed as a substitute that a committee make a study of the subject and report at the next convention. At the suggestion of the Rev. Dr. G. C. Stewart of Chicago the resolutions were combined so that the subject of the film might be encouraged, while the committee was making its investigation.

The house of deputies approved the final resolution providing the bishop and council for $21,000,000 for the next three years, a joint committee having endorsed the work and plans and the committee on suggestions for economies in combining of departments.

Old Question Is Up

An echo of the "second coming" controversy was heard in the house of deputies today when Dr. H. H. Powell of San Francisco argued against an effort to restore the word "second" in the prayer book commission and the bishops in eliminating the word.

"It is not correct to refer to the 'second coming,'" said the Rev. Dr. Powell. "Christ has come often. We have no money in the prayer book commission very near ranging among some denominations which teach the imminent view. The second coming of our Lord in the Bible is the day of judgment."

Rev. Dr. William H. Van Allen of Boston today put through an amendment to the prayer book that would eliminate the word "second" in the commission of the prayer book.

"Our brother departed," he said in another heated eloquent speech of our "distinguished" bishop.

Eliminate Old Rule

The house of deputies today concurred in the action of bishops in eliminating a rubric from the prayer book which forbids the saying of the burial service for the deceased or commended persons or suicides.

The convention today decided to remain in session until Saturday afternoon.

Inspired by the beauties of the west, a new prayer, imploring divine aid and that all may open their eyes to the beauties of the world, was proposed to the convention today and was referred to the commission on prayer book revision.

A prayer was proposed by the Rev. J. B. Dunn of Richmond, Va., who said he was moved in doing so by the beauties of nature he had beheld on the trip west and particularly in the vicinity of Portland. The prayer follows:

"O God, our Father, whose blessed are the angels who dwell in the bosom of the field, and for whom earth and sky mirrored the wonders of Thy will, open the eyes of our understanding to the beauties of Thy world; and give us grateful hearts for the rich bounty of Thy love; through Jesus Christ, our Lord."

Matters of Taste.

DEATH WITHIN FEW HOURS

carbon monoxide and the suffocating carbon dioxide had reached it and performed their fatal office before the 37 unfortunate could raise their heads for a barrier.

Miss officials said that death had come to the entombed men painlessly. The gases, they said, would produce first a lethargy, then a coma and finally death.

News-Gaily Accepted

Jackson as a whole took the tragedy very calmly and courageously. The general topic of conversation, except in the immediate family circles of the dead, was arrangements for the funeral which it was believed would be a joint affair.

The mine officials said that the actions of the men, as evidenced by the bulkheads they built and other matters, indicated they had died within five hours after being entombed.

"The officials declared the mine victims of the men's struggles showed they were at the end of the most cruel headed men imaginable.

Byron O. Pickard first reported he had counted 43 bodies behind the second bulkhead built by the entombed men on the 4,500 foot level cross cut in the Argonaut workings.

B. F. Harrington, a roofer worker, Pickard had counted 43 bodies and had declared he was positive there were others at this point.

Shortly after 7 o'clock tonight a message from the roofer workers in the Argonaut mine ordered rubber gloves, canvas and other supplies for the live, at least 47 of the men.

A crowd of newspaper people and miners gathered near the mouth of the Kennedy shaft, ropes being used to pass the supplies down from pressing too far forward. They were situated by a report that plans for underground treatment of any survivors had been changed and that the entombed party would be brought to the surface shortly. Officials credited the general public from the Kennedy shaft with the supplies.

Meanwhile word came from Pickard, far below, that a thorough inspection of the second bulkhead in the 4,500 foot cross cut revealed that it had been poorly constructed and that the air behind it was bad like that in front.

Bad Air Blocks Search

Pickard said he could see through beyond this bulkhead but could not see any bodies. He reported that he was working to improve the air supply at that point, and that when this was done, he would open the bulkhead and explore beyond it.

Telephone men were hurrying to establish a line to the station on the 4,500 foot level so he could communicate direct with the surface, he said.

The top of the body that was entombed atop of another were sliced together in little groups. Since death came approximately 23 days ago at the temperature in the cross cut where men took refuge averages about 100 degrees, it will be necessary to wrap each body in canvas prior to its removal.

Officials thought it likely some of the bodies, could be removed before they were moved below ground.

Relatives Remain at Home

The sad scenes customarily associated with removal of the dead from mine disasters were lacking here, because of the small number of entombed widows and sorrowing relatives at the mine's mouth. Among those gathered at the entrance to the great gallery workings, however, men, women and comrades of those entombed predominated. For days the relatives have remained at home under police guard of the mine.

Red Cross workers and tonight it was the Red Cross or sympathetic friends acting under its guidance that broke the sad news to those at home.

The entombed had given opportunity to all that came for the worst and when that party it was escorted without delay to the surface.

Most of the miners were of Austrian or Italian birth. Eighteen of them were married and these leave 25 orphans.

Bad Game Quickly

The second communication from the dead was discovered near the body of William Fuesel. Scattered on a timber were these words: "I'm a man very bad. Fuesel."

The hour indicated was only three hours after fire broke out in the Argonaut.

Word of the finding of a double bulkhead on the 4,500 foot level came to mining officials from Byron O. Pickard of the federal bureau of mines who is directing rescue work underground. Pickard telephoned from the deep workings of the Kennedy mine, whence the rescue work has been prosecuted.

Air Very Bad

No voices or other sounds were heard from beyond the bulkhead, reported the rescue workers and whether the men were dead or alive was not known. The discovery of the bulkhead was made at 5:12 p. m. The bulkhead in the crosscut where the men were broken down behind the bulkhead the air was very bad, they said.

After waiting a short time, the rescue crew proceeded through the crosscut where they discovered a second bulkhead. This bulkhead had been built by the entombed miners who stuffed their clothes in the air.

However, the air was so bad between the two bulkheads that the rescue crew feared breaking it down before they could reach air had been ordered to the part of the drift in front of the second bulkhead.

Air Station Established

A fresh air station was established on the 4,500 foot level at the same time about 5:30 p. m. to be used in recirculation of any of the men who might be found in the workings who needed fresh air.

Doctors and nurses were rushed to the Argonaut mine. Roads from all over Jackson were crowded with automobiles bearing the physicians and their aids.

WRIGHT'S

A GOOD PLACE TO TRADE

The cry went all over Jackson that the miners were caught and nervous tension reached a high pitch.

Mine officials declared the bulkheads found evidently were built by the entombed men as neither of them had resisted before the fire which began three weeks ago yesterday.

Worse in History

Jackson, Amdor county, the scene of the greatest mining disaster in California's history, lies 40 miles southeast of Sacramento, the state's capital. It has a population of 2,500, which includes a considerable number of foreign born. These are the workers in the Argonaut and Kennedy mines, which are among the deepest in the world—each extending under nearly a mile deep. Of the foreign born miners, the Italian element predominates.

Half a dozen miles to the south of Jackson is Calaveras county, made famous in the writing of Bret Harte and Mark Twain. This is the heart of the mother lode country and for more than 60 years its mines have produced a golden treasure. To the north of Amdor and adjoining it, is El Dorado county where gold was first discovered in California in 1848.

NEW STORIES

that "something big is going to happen soon."

A thorough search was made by detectives today of the Mills Hotel. When they arrived they found written on the front door in a round hand, which the police said, "might have been done by a woman," the quotation "Please see the departed" Number 151."

Of Recent Origin

The inscription was not on the door on Saturday, said the investigators, who thought they had the reference to a hymn and may have some bearing on the case.

The Right Rev. Albon W. Knight, Protestant Episcopal bishop of New Jersey, said more than a score of clergymen, conducted the funeral services for Mr. Hall, in the church which he served as rector. A vested choir assisted in the regular Episcopal service. There was no eulogy. The body was taken to New York for burial. Service will be held tomorrow for Mrs. Mills.

Spring in the Arctic

When one looks at a map of the Pacific ocean and Alaska, the Aleutian islands, struggling off toward Siberia, seem to be well up toward the North pole. It comes as something of a shock, therefore, to learn that spring is well under way up there near the arctic circle.

Proof of this has just been brought to Tacoma, Wash., by the American freight steamer West Nauset, which arrived from the Orient with a lot of big grasshoppers on board that were picked up 600 miles from land. The ship's officers report that besides the fleas that alighted on the decks the sea was dotted with quantities of them that had fallen from exhaustion. The grasshoppers are equipped with air sacs, in addition to breathing tubes. Tacoma biologists say the grasshoppers are able to fly long distances. They suggest that the water are buoyed up by the air sacs. These authorities also assert that the big insects came from the Aleutian islands, where they are abundant in the spring.—Christian Science Monitor.

Wealth of the Nations

An interesting study is to note the various methods in which men of different nationalities carry their worldly wealth. The Englishman usually carries a large portion of his wealth in a trouser pocket, pulls out a handful of the mixture and selects the coin he needs. The American carries his wad of bills in a "low usrow" pocket-book; in the greenbacks he fits. The Frenchman makes use of a leather purse, with no distinguishing characteristics. The German uses one gaily embroidered in silks by the fair hands of some Gretchen. The half-civilized capitalist from some torrid South American city carries his dollars in a belt with cunningly-divided pockets to buffle the gentleman with very light fingers. The Italian of the poorer classes ties up his little fortune in a gaily-colored handkerchief secured with many knots, which he secures in some mysterious manner about his clothing. A similar course has charms for the Spaniard, while the lower-class Russian exhibits a preference for his boots or the lining of his clothes as a hiding place for his savings.

Service That Earns Appreciation

Because clients have expressed emphatically their appreciation of efforts to serve them, this agency knows it pays to extend to the public complete consideration. Experience has endorsed the wisdom of this course of action.

Secretary of Labor Davis states that employment conditions have been restored to normal, and substantiates his assertion with facts and figures.

One year ago it was estimated that the army of unemployed numbered more than five million. Today that host is demoralized.

When it is borne in mind that the return of conditions to normal has been and is being obstructed by serious industrial conflicts, this evidence of returning prosperity becomes still more impressive.

HOW FRENCH TROOPS QUELL RIOTERS

THIS striking photograph, declared by experts to be one of the most remarkable action pictures ever made, was taken in the streets of Havre, France, when French mounted troops, with drawn sabres, quelled a riot of striking dock laborers.

"Thank the Lord!" cried Drace, and sprang out of bed. "That's what I say, friend Virgil! You will please address me as Colonel Shuttle. I am a free man, here!"

"What does this mean, Bob?" "I am Colonel Shuttle, sir, and not Bob."

"I beg your pardon, Colonel; not what does this mean?" Shuttle sat down and crossed the long legs. He took out a cigar and lit it.

"Virgil, I fought as long as I thought it was of advantage. The old circuit I had wouldn't do it, and I want to tell you that scolding dink heads with a piece of iron is hard work.

"So I went in with him. And then up I hops to a gambling-house with the money you'd paid me for introducing you to Nadine in Vite. The poker tables were full, so I slipped in modestly at the five-bank. That's not a very swift game, but sometimes it is as sure as buying houses and lots, if you've got the patience.

"I'm crushed," announced Drace. "So am I! But how does it happen that the drat-car drove over your foot?"

"Nadine is gone. The place is nailed up." "That's tough, all right. But what are you going to do about it? Are you going to come to your puritanic senses and give the whole thing up, or do you expect..."

"I expect to fulfil my sacred mission. I must find Stepho in Vite." Shuttle got up and shook hands with his friend. He was sure that he would meet him at the end of the day.

"Suppose you hire me by the day," he suggested. "A man always has fresh stimulus every time the sun rises."

"Very well—ten dollars a day." "That's liberal, Virgil, and I'll take it. But let me ask you, how do you fit in more of me acquainted with Stepho's habit?"

"Microbes. Hard to Destroy." The microbes of disease are loathed when kept in favorable surroundings. Dr. J. Danzay reports that a strain of paratyphoid bacilli kept in broth in sealed ampoules were alive and virulent after twelve years.

COMMISSIONERS TO WIN $65,750 FROM TAX BILL

Reduce County Levy From $1.16 on Each $100 of Property Valuation in 1921 to 95 Cents This Year

Twin Falls county taxpayers this year, under the levy of 95 cents on each $100 of assessed valuation, made Monday by the board of county commissioners, will aggregate to amount to $65,750, compared with approximately $78,000 in 1921, the reduction being about $12,250.

Reflecting the levy which has been possible, the commissioners said, without impairing the cash basis on which the county has been established within the past four years, so that there are no county warrants registered nor delinquent.

In Face of Lower Values.

Reduction in the levy which has been made this year in the face of the reduction in the valuation of property in the county amounting to approximately $1,200,000.

The 1922 levy of 95 cents is made on an estimated valuation of $69,500,000; whereas the 1921 levy of $1.16 was made on a valuation of about $57,700,000.

The heaviest cut this year was made in the current expense levy which was reduced on a 4-cent requirement as stipulated in budgets submitted by the various county officers, from 40 cents in 1921 to 30 cents this year.

Municipal Salary Law.

The county board of commissioners has made to include provision for expense of additional building and equipment was reduced this year from 25 cents to 7 1/2 cents on each $100 of valuation.

Making the Levy for General School Purposes.

To provide a fund to be levied among the several school districts of the county, the commissioners were required by state law to provide for a designated amount to be levied on the property of each school age as indicated by census returns.

Payment of the State's Tax Assessment.

Against the county's tax levies for 1921 and 1922 is shown by the following figures; the levy for each fund being given in terms of the amount assessed against each $100 of valuation.

LABORER LEAVES $2,000 ESTATE

Aged Workman's Savings May Revert to State Unless Unknown Relatives Present Claims

Approximately $2000 in a savings account in the First National bank here owned by the estate of Henry Wilko, 68, one of the workmen employed in the building of the Miller dam, it was being ascertained by Coroner P. J. Wilko's body was discovered Saturday evening in his cabin near the Miller dam burns on Third avenue with death having taken place about three days previously. Burial was made Sunday in the Twin Falls cemetery after an autopsy had indicated heart disease complicating arthritis as the cause of death.

Friends of Wilko say that he had no relatives who could be located and had not communicated since coming to the United States about 20 years ago with his relatives in Germany.

Unless relatives present claims for the property within five years, it was stated Monday by Probate Judge O. P. Duvall, the remainder of the estate will revert to the state.

Proceedings toward probating the estate were instituted Monday by Coroner P. J. Gorman.

Chinese Dialectic Foreigners

It is not very entering but it is certainly true that whatever respect is shown to the Chinese is not due to a tribute to his generosity or his heavy hand, until he has acquired such an intimate knowledge of the Chinese language and the Chinese mind that he is no longer a foreigner. The colloquialisms which are used by the "men from the ocean" than the mandarin has become he has less appreciation of foreign achievements and foreign culture. He judges us by our appearance and our conduct, and in the light of his own ideas of Chinese standards we are ignorant, brutal barbarians, afflicted for some strange reason upon the land.

To Remove Old Putty

Old putty can easily be removed from window sashes by the following method, which prevents any cutting or detaching of the paint. The sash is taken out and laid flat on a table with the putty side up. A can of kerosene hot to the boiling point is poured over to acquire a small quantity of the spirit along the putty all around the panes. A match is then set to the petrol and the heat will soften the old hard putty so that it can be removed by the use of a putty knife. If necessary, very hard a second application of the petrol may be necessary.

Chinese New Year

For several weeks before the New Year, Chinese business men do everything in their power to get money to pay off all their debts, for a Chinese cannot obligate for the year until his bills are all collected or provided for. The New Year celebration usually ends with the Feast of Lanterns on the fifteenth day of the first month. Lanterns of all sizes and disciplines are displayed, some representing animals, some flowers, some fruit, some in the shape of dragons. The lanterns are made of silk, cotton or gauze, painted in beautiful colors.

First American Magazine

The first magazine to be published on the American continent was the American Magazine. It appeared in Philadelphia, February 12, 1741. The idea was entirely Benjamin Franklin's, and he has been credited with originating the General Magazine, and spoke of it ungenerously; one of his hearers stole the idea and hurriedly got out a number three days before Franklin's magazine appeared. After getting out three numbers the American Magazine suspended publication. The General Magazine lasted six months.

CONTINUATION OF CUT RATE ON SPUDS IS URGED

Idaho's Utilities Commission Joins Growers, Shippers and Business Men of Two States In Appeal to Carriers

BOISE, Sept. 18.—(Special to The News)—A summary of the arguments advanced by potato growers and shippers of southern Idaho and eastern Oregon before the Idaho public utilities commission and representatives of the Oregon Short Line railroad at a conference here today, urging the continuance beyond September 30 of the emergency reduction of 20 cents a hundred pounds in the rate on potatoes and onion to the reduced rate to be obtained by Texas potato, was tonight wired to H. M. Adams, vice president and general traffic manager of the Union Pacific system at Salt Lake, for his consideration tomorrow.

This summary or report of the proceedings at the conference was prepared by a committee of nine persons appointed by the conference, and was accompanied by a strong message from the utilities commission urging favorable action on the part of the railroad on the request made.

All of the members of the state commission were present at the conference, which was attended by 120 growers and 100 shippers, business men and bankers of the two states, and by H. E. Gowlin, Oregon Short Line assistant general freight agent; Joel Priest, Oregon Short Line agent for Idaho, and H. E. Gignoux, Union Pacific assistant agricultural agent.

Must Outlast Reduced Rate

It was urged that unless the reduced rate were continued in effect later than September 30, the reduction would be little or no benefit to growers and shippers of this region, for the reason that the crop here is not sufficiently matured to stand shipment in box cars for little or no benefit to growers and shippers.

Personal of Committee

Members of the committee named to draft the report of the conference, which was forwarded to the Union Pacific via special train by Leonard Gray, secretary of the Southern Idaho Traffic Association, Twin Falls; J. C. Carlson, Idaho Falls, grower; H. J. Weaver, grower, Twin Falls; E. C. Miller, representing Albert Miller and company, Chicago, shippers; H. C. Badridge, Parma, banker; J. C. Jacobson, Idaho
