

TOOLS OF LAW ARE CLOSING IN UPON MURDERER

Prosecuting and Detective Staffs of Two Counties Engaged in Search for Slayer of Minister and Companion

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Sept. 20 (AP)—The state agency, prosecuting and detective staffs of two counties five days ago for the person persons responsible for the double shooting of the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall, rector of the Protestant Episcopal church of St. John the Evangelist, and Mrs. Catherine Wheeler Hall, his wife, were closing in tonight, the police said, on a single suspect.

Deceptive Tolra and members of the prosecutor's staff of Somerset county quit their search for the murderer at the Hall home. Totten carried with him the revolver found yesterday which is believed to be the weapon with which the slaying was committed. Tolra was killed. The detective quoted Willie Stevens as denying that the gun was his while at the same time reciting that he had never seen it.

Deceptive Tolra said that he asked Willie Stevens, who is a town character and figure known throughout the county, to repeat his account of what he did on last Thursday night, the assumed time of the double shooting. Mrs. Hall had told the police early in the investigation that her brother accompanied her when she went to the church about midnight Thursday. In quest of her husband, while declining at first to speak in corroboration of his sister's story, Willie is reported to have said later in a conversation at the Hall home that he had seen his sister on Thursday night. Detective Tolra said that Willie retracted this statement during today's questioning, which raised further suspicion.

Complete Original Search. The Philadelphia search was the scene of the detective's hunt for the slayer today. The "Smiling" two-story house, said to be nearly 100 years old and called "The House of Mystery," first was searched and later was found that it had been recently occupied. To go over the run down lot, farm and the house, which is smaller than either de Ruzer's or the Tolra's, were lanes, which have figured prominently in the investigation. A narrow red dust which was in a certain way off Eastern avenue, the main thoroughfare, this new road is said to offer a new way for approaching the "House of Mystery" and the old orchard in which the bodies of the rector and the section's wife were found. At the end of this long, narrow street, a photograph was left in sharp relief in the mud. Photographs were made of these tracks which detectives called the most valuable ones found in the entire day of investigation.

PROTECT AMERICAN RIGHTS

Interest of United States in Near East Situation Confined to Care of Citizens

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20 (AP)—The United States is confined to the safeguarding of the rights of American citizens there, is the view of the administration as outlined at the White House today.

While detailed maps covering Constantinople and the neutral zones protect the straits were at hand, it was said the cabinet expects did not discuss the Near Eastern situation.

SINGER'S HIGH NOTES SCORED AT 3 A. M.

MARIE RAPPOLD, noted grand opera singer, to whom many people pay fabulous prices to hear her sing has an apartment in a New York studio building. Yesterday her work keeps her up late, and when she returns home she desires a little entertainment. But other senses in the building, perhaps without the love of music they should have, object to her high notes at 3 a. m., and the landlord asked her to move. She stands at that. How the matter stands at present.

FACT FINDING BODY CREATED

Final Legislative Action Taken on Coal Enquiry Measure Providing Commission

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20 (AP)—Final legislative action was taken today on the bill creating a federal fact-finding coal commission, when both the house and senate adopted the conference report on the measure and sent the bill to the president.

Under the agreement, the president is to lead a free hand in the appointment of the commission except that members of congress are barred. House conferees accepted the provision that the senate bill providing for separate inquiry into the anthracite industry, the first report by the commission on the investigations being required by January 1, 1923. The life of the commission, the agreement specified, is for one year from the date of enactment.

RIFLE RECORDS BROKEN

Participants in the National Matches at Camp Perry Put Up Remarkable Performance

CAMP PERRY, Ohio, Sept. 20 (P)—Efforts participating in the national rifle and pistol matches here again shattered records in the Herrick trophy match when four teams bettered the previous record score of 178. The Massachusetts national guard team won the match with a total of 1788 and United States marine corps team was second with 1762.

United States infantry team No. 2 turned in the high score of 1787 but was not eligible for the trophy.

Cadet Morton O. Munin, Jr., of Town City, Iowa; Sergeant Stanley Smith, United States infantry, Fort Brady, Mich.; Lieutenant M. C. Griswold, infantry, Columbia, Ga., and Sergeant W. F. Lay, infantry, San Francisco, established new records in the match when they made possible of 225.

exception of Judson Timm, is the fastest man on the Filer squad.

Timm, the 16-year-old marvel, will no doubt be in his old place at fullback, although there is a possibility that he will be switched to half.

The two Ditch-brothers, Charles and Lester, are two other letter men. Both boys played on the line last year, but this season Lester is being groomed for one of the backfield positions.

Ralph ("Egg") Love and Louis Ennis are the two ends of last year, and will be out for the same positions this year. Both ends are fast, and Ennis can thank his stars that he has two such men to fall back upon for the end positions.

To help Timm and Amar' Filer has "Whitely" Martin, a big raw-boned chap that has all the earmarks of being dangerous. Then there is the old reliable Blackburn, who made such an enviable record last year in the back field.

MURPHY'S HOMER WINS GAME

DETROIT, Sept. 20 (P)—The New York Yankees continued their march toward the American league championship today winning from the Tigers.

The winning run came in the ninth inning when Menard drove the ball over the left field wall for a home run.

The victory put the Yankees three

PHOTOGRAPHIC INVENTION.
Capacity, compactness and mechanical simplicity are a few noticeable features present in a refined model of a photographic printing apparatus that has lately been completed by a Western inventor. The machine is intended to facilitate the handling of large commercial orders by expediting the work without lessening its quality, and by materially reducing labor costs. With it as many as 10,000 prints of various sizes can be run off in a day's time.

Making 20 Years of Racing Serve Car Owners Today

IN the early days of automobile contests, Barney Oldfield—out to win every race—studied tires. His consistent success led other drivers to ask for tires constructed to his specifications.

Twenty years of road and track victories—with a steady and increasing demand for tires as he built them—convinced Barney Oldfield that these speed tests pointed the way to a better tire for everyday use.

The enthusiastic reception of Oldfield Cords by the public proved he was right. Scores of the most prominent dealers in the country—and many thousands of car owners, experienced in the use of tires—bear witness by their decided preference that Oldfield is doing a bigger and better job of the making.

This volume, handled in an effective way in every phase of manufacture and distribution, has resulted in price quotations far below what you'd expect on tires known to be better built and more enduring.

Practically every important race event for three years has been won on Oldfields. The Wichita Post Run in which an entire set of Oldfield Cords covered 84,828 miles on rough roads, proves the mettle of the Most Trustworthy Tires Built in every-day driving.

The Master Driver and Tire Builder has given the public a new standard of tire wear and tire cost—a true economy that every car owner should know about.

Your Oldfield dealer has these facts—talk to him.

but about him instantly. "Ha, I wish you to meet my dear young friend and much esteemed partner, William Hawkins."

"Drace was much taken with Hawkins' quiet manner, his athletic build, and as he sat down with him in talk, the Major having given to Hawkins a scheming grin...

"I have just written a resolve, and whenever I do, it becomes a law of my being. It has been enacted and recorded that never again on this earth am I to let such a fellow get into my house where there are hard yards, but never again am I to shuffle a deck. Who was that who, 'if at first you don't succeed, try, try again'?"

Gold water chills, but at the same time it cleanses. And from this time on, gentlemen, Liberty Shottle, the vague and unreal, will become the obvious and the actual. If I had a thousand dollars right now, I wouldn't bet that the sun will be tomorrow. Oh, there is such a thing as revelation.

CHAPTER VI.

About four o'clock in the afternoon the Bumblebee passed Farmum's Landing, and later touched at Bathpage Landing. From the crest of the high embankment was an excellent view of spreading corn fields.

Drace was enchanted with the scene, the sweet air, beside him Shottle giggled, and he, his neck stretched out, "Tender come Uncle Horace, the General," he said.

"The old man straightened, held out both his hands and made Liberty's friend welcome most hospitably. Now they walked toward the house, the General with his hand on Drace's arm. Over the yard fence poured a stream of homa, and an old post-boy 'barked up' Shottle as if he had treed. The double hallway doors stood open.

"Come to find Aunt Tylic. You'll like her. No hickory tree say is any sweeter than her disposition." She was a Shottle, my father's young sister. She's young as I told you. And she looks younger and more than when she married. Did you ever notice that when a young woman marries an old man always comes? History is shown with bedtime. It came slow-footed for Shottle, but quickly enough for Drace, with his nerve of steel. And with a how delirious he was with his eyes, a how delicious of antiquity, a great four-muscle bearded with a canny heavy enough to have served as a draft to some medical giant. A chair that looked like the caken throne of an ancient Briton, a wondrous velvet and beard might have been a bed of roses. A room even more palpable residual of the light of a hanging lamp big enough to turn the axis of a creamated dragon.

The night was warm, and through the window the air was hot and lulling from the light. Drace lay propped before he slept, and when he awoke his footings bell was ringing. A negro knocked to tell him that dinner was ready. The General and Tylic were seated, but Shottle was not at the table with them; and following Drace was invited, came explanation from the General.

Dillard Master of Dialogue. The talk of Mr. Henry James' people is charmingly quaint and appropriate. It is also trivial and senseless; the talk in Anthony Trollope is surprisingly natural and abundant; but it is also commonplace and immemorable; the talk of Mr. George Meredith is always elegant and fresh, but the abundance is too often after and the hand too commonly inhuman.

What Drace's people have to say is not always original or profound; but it is crisp and happily phrased and uttered. It reads well, the impression of solid facts of personal history. His "Wit and Wisdom" is a kind of Walter's Gold or Handbook of Conversation. How should it be otherwise, seeing that it contains the characteristic utterances of a great artist in his research for memorable speech.—W. B. Hume.

Spirit of Mitchell. "You should never be cross." "I can't help it sometimes," replied the small boy, "it likes to start an argument between father and mother as to which of them I like after."
