PEACE MEET MAY OCCUPY TWO MONTHS

Early Convening of Turkish and Allied Representatives Urged by British General in Near East

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 12 (AP)—The League of Nations committee on the Near East, which will meet in London on Oct. 15, will discuss the proposed peace conference for the Near East.

It is expected that the deliberations will require from two to three months at least, as the questions for decision are of the widest importance, including the vital interests of all Europe, and they will inevitably require attention entirely outside the Near East.

The allied authorities here will oppose the selection of Byzantium for the peace conference, and the British conference, said Major General Sir Frederick M. Marshall today.

It is imperative that a neutral city be chosen for the peace conference, as it is impossible on account of the atmosphere of hostility, intrigue and racial and religious animosities, which exist in the Near East.

The allied representatives here probably will suggest Bern, Zurich or Geneva, all of them being neutral cities, and the gathering will receive the undivided attention of Romania, Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and, of course, Russia.

American interests will center in the arrangements for continuation of commercial agreements and the so-called capitulations, as well as questions of political and educational missions.

Perhaps the most important question before the conference will be that of capitulations, which are treaties covering the rights of foreigners in Turkey, and providing for their own courts, instead of the Turkish courts, in trials by their own consular courts.

The American government will oppose this claim. The American consul general, Gabriel B. Rowland, explained the chief reason for the opposition is that the Turks have not yet separated law and religion in their constitution, and the American government cannot permit their citizens to be ruled under laws based largely on the religious doctrines and rites of Mohammed.

Prominent Operator Questioned as to Knowledge of Break in Grain Price

CHICAGO, Oct. 12 (AP)—Arthur C. Coker, known as one of the largest operators of the Chicago Board of Trade, appeared before the federal trade commission today to testify concerning the "break" in wheat prices.

The break in May wheat which resulted in millions of dollars loss for the "long" interests, came after the "break" in the price of the wheat deliveries were legal in May contract, whereas ordinarily it is necessary to make delivery at an elevator. The rule was that the elevator was to be the one to take the wheat to the elevator.

It is reported that the deliberations will require from two to three months at least, as the questions for decision are of the widest importance, including the vital interests of all Europe, and they will inevitably require attention entirely outside the Near East.

WORLD DRAFT ALL-LABOR

OVEHLAND, Oct. 12 (AP)—Drafting of all labor from tank to laborer is war time, advocated by Colonel J. H. Sullivan of the War Relocation Authority.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 (AP)—An exhaustive investigation over a period of several years by the medical schools of the University of California, the University of Pennsylvania, and Standard University, in cooperation with the United States public health service, has determined that the food poisoning known as botulism, is caused by a uniform amount of heating, it was announced today by the national canners' association.

As the War Relocation Authority, operated by Shurtz and Barry of San Francisco, has only limited accommodations, it is believed that many of those residing in the City of Los Angeles will remain on their decks until larger vessels arrive.

LOWER RATE IS ARGUED

State Railroad Commission Strongly Opposes Proposition for Uniform Rates

DES MOINES, Oct. 12 (AP)—Representatives of the state railroad commission that are opposing the application of a uniform rate for grain freight today before Examiner H. C. Keone of the interstate commerce commission, said that the commission takes a lower rate than what because of its lower value.

It is a cardinal principle of rate making that the value of commodities should be considered in adjusting tariffs, the state commissions maintained. They pointed out that wheat, being a staple, should be given a lower rate than what because of its lower value.

HUGE SHIP DESTROYED BY FLAMES

City of Honolulu, Formerly German Owned, Burns to Water's Edge; Passengers and Crew Rescued

HONOLULU, Oct. 12 (AP)—All the passengers, officers and crew of the burning steamship City of Honolulu, which was abandoned at 10:10 a. m. today, are safe, according to wireless advice received by the Radio Telegraph company from the freight steamer West Farouk.

The City of Honolulu is expected to sink at any time, according to a wireless message from the West Farouk received tonight by the Federal Telegraph company. The boat is gutted, according to the message, but it is possible to save the hull if it is towed to port.

The ship was homeward bound to San Pedro, Cal., from Honolulu and was 1405 miles east of Honolulu and 270 miles west of San Pedro when the fire broke out.

The West Farouk reached the scene early this afternoon and had taken most of the people aboard by 3:41 p. m. The condition of the City of Honolulu, which was reported as a gigantic pillar of flame and smoke, was declared by Captain Layton to be critical.

Fire broke out aboard the City of Honolulu shortly after 5 o'clock this morning, according to reports from all those on board had to take to small boats.

Although three other vessels, the City of Honolulu, the City of Los Angeles, and the City of San Francisco, were in the vicinity, they were unable to assist.

Accommodations Limited

As the War Relocation Authority, operated by Shurtz and Barry of San Francisco, has only limited accommodations, it is believed that many of those residing in the City of Los Angeles will remain on their decks until larger vessels arrive.

Fifty-six of the passengers were in the saloon, the other passengers were in the cabins. One woman was traveling third class, with a baby girl.

WAS GERMAN SHIP

The City of Honolulu originally was the German passenger liner Friedrich Groos, built at Stettin in 1890 and used in trans-Atlantic travel until 1914, when she was interned in an American harbor.

MURDER OR SUICIDE IS QUESTION

Authorities are Called Upon to Solve in Death of Spokane Pantages Manager

SPokane, Oct. 12 (AP)—Shooting of R. Clack Walker, for 13 years manager of the Pantages theatre of the city, in his office in the theatre shortly before the beginning of the afternoon performance today, had tonight brought to a head the mystery which officers and business associates that united in hardly any one person.

A theory of murder, suggested by officers of the police and coroner's staff, was advanced by several business associates. The officers united in declaring the death a plain case of suicide.

The new turn took them back to the home of Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall widow of the slain clergyman, and James Mills, widow of the dead chorister.

Detectors visited the Hall home and took away a fawn colored coat and several other articles. The coat was analyzed by a chemist for analysis of brown spots which the Philadelphia police reported were gunpowder.

Mrs. Hall is known to have worn a light colored coat in the morning of September 15, the morning after the murder.

Other detectives went to Lava Lette, N. J., to check up the movements of Henry Stevens, Mrs. Hall's brother, who was accompanied to the church and back.

State troopers, who have been investigating the case, said they had been told by a man who had been in the theatre, when Mr. Walker was shot.

What was advanced by officers as evidence of a suicide was Mr. Walker's purchase, a week ago last Monday, of a revolver.

Unconfirmed reports reached here from Philadelphia that the gold watch which was the subject of the investigation had been found in a Philadelphia pawn shop.

Schneider suffered a nervous collapse, according to the report, and was taken to a hospital.

WARM WEATHER FEATURES WEEK

Flocks and Herds Assembled Preparatory to Winter Season, Report Says

BOISE, Oct. 12.—Temperatures in south Idaho during the fore part of the week ending Tuesday were about normal, but during the latter half were quite warm, says a weekly summary of weather and crop conditions in Idaho, just issued by Clayton E. Norquest, meteorologist here for the government weather bureau. No rain of consequence occurred over the agricultural sections, but light snows fell in the mountainous regions. Apple picking has begun, and in the Boise-Payette valleys the orchards are laden with fine quality; a large yield of Delicious and Jonathans is indicated. The prune harvest is about over and nearly all the prunes are shipped or in the process. Marketing of head lettuce is proceeding and indications are that, notwithstanding the hot weather, the late variety will be of good quality. Cattle are being rounded up in the forest ranges, and sheep are being started to lower ranges. All livestock are reported in good condition. In southeast Idaho, warm days and cool nights with heavy frosts prevailed during the week. The rain occurred in the afternoon over the section, and due to the prolonged drought, pastures and ranges are very dry. The ground is too dry for fall plowing or seeding. Plowing continued without interruption. Potato digging continued, although some fields are not being dug on account of low prices; the digging of sugar beets has begun. Heavy winds over the Snake river plains caused some damage to hay, alfalfa seed not harvested and apples. Sheep are being moved from the higher country to winter ranges. In north Idaho, the weather was cool and cloudy most of the week with general rains over the district Monday and Tuesday. Some snow in the higher farming sections Monday. Fair and warmer weather occurred during the closing days of the week. Plowing, seeding and other farm work proceeded without interruption. Apple harvest in full swing and the cutting and shipping of head lettuce is getting under way. Pastures and ranges have improved considerably and stock continues in good condition. Highest temperature at Lewiston for the week was 74 degrees on the 6th, and the total rainfall was 0.21 inch. Notes from the Field. Geneva, Bear Lake county: Moderate temperatures, with heavy frosts every night since the 4th; threshing progressing; sheep being moved to winter ranges; cattle are being gathered from the ranges; range is dry. Weiser, Washington county: Partly cloudy weather; heavy wind storm, little damage to apple crops; apples being shipped. Idaho Falls, Bonneville county: Moderate temperatures; no rain; threshing about completed; meadows dry, some being irrigated, condition is poor to fair; lettuce heading well. Mackay, Ouster county: Low temperatures freeze down all truck, vegetables and flowers; apples being gathered in the vicinity of Moore; potatoes being dug; wheat is being threshed; range very dry. New Meadows, Adams county: Cool, cloudy weather during the middle of week; light rain occurred with snow on high peaks; pastures and ranges very dry; livestock generally in good condition. Aberdeen, Bringham county: Fine weather for harvesting all crops; heavy wind on the 8th damaged alfalfa seed still in the shock, most of the seed harvested potatoes being dug; sugar beets in good condition. Pocatello, Bannock county: Moderate temperatures, no rain; third cutting of alfalfa completed; threshing of grain continues; potatoes being dug; will be in digging beets today; sugar beets in good condition. Ashton, Fremont county: Warm days with clear nights and some frost; considerable high winds; too dry for plowing; threshing about completed except close to timber, where grain matured late; potatoes being dug; winter wheat looking good. Richfield, Lincoln county: Lots of wind the past week interfering somewhat with threshing and stacking; threshing in full swing, some exceptionally good yields being reported; potato digging now started with good yields and very good quality reported. Caldwell, Canyon county: Week calm, cool and clear; ideal for all kinds of farm work; some plowing, ground too hard; marketing head lettuce on and late lettuce of fine quality; apples fine; large yield of Jonathans and Delicious; nearly all prunes shipped. Twin Falls, Twin Falls county: Weather continues fine; high wind night of third did considerable damage to hay and apples; apple picking moving rapidly; potato harvest commencing some fields not being dug on account of low prices. Sheep Hill, Boise county: Week has been cold; vegetation made no growth; pasture and range in very dry condition; cattle being rounded up, some sheep being started to lower range; skulls of snow fall along summits during the week; farm work well in hand. Bonanza, Teton county: Fore part of week very warm during day; rain Wednesday night and Thursday; few potatoes have been dug; some apples being picked; potatoes better than expected and yield will be fair to good; farm work progressing in good shape; great deal of fall plowing will be done. ## SKI BREAKS HIS CONTRACT

Senegalese Fighter Decides He Will Not Cross Pond to Fight Kid, Norfolk

NEW YORK, Oct. 12 (AP)—Information from Paris that Battling Siki, who recently defeated Georges Carpentier and won the lightweight championship of the world, has decided not to come to the United States—caused a surprise in metropolitan sporting circles as the Senegalese was booked for a bout November 30 at Madison Square Garden with an unnamed opponent.

The Richard, the garden promoter, who announced that he had closed negotiations with M. Hellera, Siki's manager, for the bout, could not be reached, but his partner, Frank Flannery, expressed complete surprise. He said it seemed improbable to him that Siki would attempt to break an engagement made by Hellera.

"Whether his contract with his manager expires on November 20, as your cable states," Mr. Flannery said to the Associated Press, "is no concern of mine, because Siki is bound by what arrangements M. Hellera makes while that contract is in effect. You shall expect Siki to come here." "It will be possible for Siki to fight in Paris to meet Jack Dempsey at the Norfolk, Virginia, bout in December, Flannery said."

It was reported here that Dempsey and Jack Kearns, his manager, were expected to arrive in San Francisco today, and efforts to verify the report that offers had been made for a little bout in Paris were unsuccessful.

The Norfolk, Virginia, light heavyweight, has posted a $2500 forfeit with the New York boxing commission and has challenged Siki, and it is understood would be the Senegalese's first opponent if he comes here.

WHITE SOX EVEN SERIES

Alexander Loses Pitchers-Battles with Leverette; Sheely Drives in Winning Run

CHICAGO, Oct. 12 (AP)—The White Sox evening up the series with the Cubs today by taking a pitchers' battle, 4 to 3. Each club now has won two games.

The veteran, Grover Alexander, was opposed by the rookie, "Dixie" Leverette, and more than held his own, until the ninth inning when he began to weaken.

The Sox then started their uphill fight and at the end of the seventh had lost their lead. Alexander then tightened up until the ninth when Sheely shot a hot grand-slam over third base and sent Hooper home with the winning run.

Leverette held his opponents to seven hits, three of which were made by Sheely, as the Sox touched Alexander for 10 in 9 innings, Hooper making three and Collins and Sheely two each.

New Jersey Man Takes Detroit News Prize Covering Course in Average of 106 Miles an Hour

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich., Oct. 16.—Piloting a heavy Martin transport driven by two 400-horsepower Liberty motors, Lieutenant Eric H. Nelson, of Montclair, N. J., won the Detroit News aerial mail trophy race for multi-motored planes here today. He covered the 240-mile triangular course at an average speed of 106.1 miles an hour.

The Detroit aviation country club trophy race, flown over the same course, was won by Lieutenant Harold E. Martin, one of the two army entrants, in the "Honeycomb Express" equipped with a 400-horse-power Liberty 12 motor. Lieutenant Martin averaged 125 miles an hour in this event, which was for light commercial planes, finishing four laps ahead of C. S. Jones, in a Curtiss-Oriole, who averaged 110 miles an hour.

JAIL DOORS CLOSE AGAIN ON BELLIGEROE SETTLER

Fred Perkins, Who Threatened Roseworth Project Head, Made Prisoner

Asserting that he had fulfilled to the letter his promise to his attorney to "leave the state" after receiving a cash payment in settlement of his claim against the Idaho Farms Development company, Fred Perkins, former Roseworth project settler, protested to operatives of the sheriff's office Thursday afternoon when he was placed in detention in the county jail. Records of the probate court show that Perkins is a fugitive and that he was confined in all bars for some weeks in default of $1000 bond to keep the peace. The bond has not yet been furnished.

Perkins was arrested some weeks ago upon complaint of P. O. Meredith, president of the Idaho Farms Development company. Testimony was offered at a hearing in the case that Perkins had made threats against the life of Meredith.

Perkins was taken in custody Thursday when sheriff's office operatives discovered his presence in two court houses where he had been listening to testimony in a case on trial in the district court.

Walker Made the Purchase. The Officer Said he Asked for an Inexpensive Weapon

According to the account of the shooting given by Mr. Christ to police officers, he returned to the theatre from lunch and entered Mr. Walker's office and found him crumpled upon the floor. He shot the door, he said, and telephoned the police station. When the officers arrived they found Mr. Walker's body lying on the floor before his desk with a revolver in his hand.

Performers and audience were not informed of the shooting and the afternoon performance proceeded as usual. Mr. Walker is survived by his widow and a 14 year old son.

ISSUES ARE BADLY MIXED

Nebraska Voters Faced With Variety of Questions in Forthcoming Election

OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 18 (AP)—Many and varied are the issues before Nebraska voters in the present campaign, according to statements by candidates for United States senator and U. S. House of Representatives. Senatorial candidate, has stressed America's foreign debt as an issue, declaring "we should not insist on the payment of interest and ultimately every dollar owned by European governments."

Mr. Howell is opposed to the present Esch-Cummins railroad law, charging it prevents competition in rates, favors the farm bloc in congress and development of the St. Lawrence waterway project. He has announced his opposition to any modification of the Volstead Act, and would remove limitations from the cooperative farm banks "to the end that they may compete with private loan agencies on an even basis, that farmers may benefit from better service, and lower rates of interest on farm loans."

Uses Law Economics
U. S. Senator Gilbert M. Hitchcock

Mr. Howell's democratic opponent, has asserted that the issues were economic including over-taxation, falling prices, contraction of currency, deflation of credit, collapse of commerce and what he termed "the new rubber tariff, bringing increased cost of living."

Nebraska six years ago adopted prohibition and put it in our constitution. That settled the question as far as Nebraska is concerned. Later the constitution of the United States was amended to provide for national prohibition. I opposed those great changes but I accepted them when they were triumphant, and I have since supported the laws necessary to enforce them. This I propose to continue to do."

A Remarkable Record
Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has a remarkable record. It has been in use for solids, erup and whooping cough for almost half a century and has constantly grown in favor and popularity as its good qualities become better known. The facts that it can always be depended upon and is safe and pleasant to take are greatly in its favor when it is wanted for children.

The Case and The Girl

By Randall Parrish

Copyright 1922 by Alfred A. Knopf, Inc.

"You're a very tight" extent. Of course, earnestly also played a part, while everybody possesses a meek desire to do a detective act. Miss Coolidge filled you up with a lot of bunk; she was good looking, and you fell for it. Course, things happened that you failed to understand, so you rather naturally jumped to the conclusion that some crime was being concealed. That was what brought her in. Now I take it that, ordinarily, you're a man of some sense. Consequently, I mean to try to get you to drop the whole affair, as being none of your business. If you agree to this, I accept your freedom, the door opens, and you go free; otherwise—" he waved his hand emphatically.

"Otherwise what?" asked West quietly.

"I will see that you are removed from all temptation; my plans are too important to be interfered with by a meddlesome fool."

"But you can scarcely expect me to give such a promise?"

"Well, I don't know about that. It doesn't pay to be too obstinate. You have been in the army, I understand; then you are aware there is a cash side to life, a way to make or break men. All right, now I've got the power; I can keep you locked up here; I could even kill you if necessary. You are utterly helpless. There is an argument with your consideration. But I will give you yet another which may have even more weight."

"What?"

"The door opened quietly, and then closed, leaving Natalie Coolidge standing there in the light, her eyes slightly from him as she looked alternately at the two men."

"The lady, of course," explained Hobart, raising to his feet, "you will, at least, be gentleman enough to accept her."

"She," Natalie, seemingly unable to grasp the situation, or realize the part she was called upon to perform, but as West failed to respond, finally asked a question.

"What is it, Jim? You sent for me?"

"Yes, in a last resort. You recognize this man?"

"Of course," indifferently; "what is he doing here?"

Hobart laughed.

"It seems the fellow hasn't taken his dismissal very seriously. Natalie," he explained, "and remains very much interested in your affairs."

"You mean he followed me here?"

"He was on the trail, but just for what particular purpose I have failed to learn. He is a bit close mouthed, but it looks to me as though he was in love with you."

The girl smiled, tossing her head as she stepped forward.

"In love with me," she echoed. "That is a joke, yet I had some such suspicion when I told him out the job. He acted like a fool then, and began to question me as though he had a right; it was that being engaged business, most likely."

"Sure; he thought he had you copped, fortune, what all, and it looks to me like he needs another jolt to put the idea entirely out of his head. That is what I brought you in for. I'll explain first just how it happened. This army guy blew in here before dark, along with another fellow, Sexton."

"I know that name," she interrupted, "and I was sure I knew this lad's face. I was stumped a bit at first when I had seen him; then all at once it came to me—he was the guy sitting over there alone in the automobile over on Arch street. I know then what he was over here for, and got to talking with him. He gave himself away the first thing, and that is why we got him up in this dump."

"How did he know I was here?"

"Some of your precious help, out there heard you talk to me over the 'phone, and passed it on."

"And how did he want? What do these men want?"

"Well, Sexton don't want much of anything—he's knocked out; the fool made a fight, and had to be hit; and, as to this bird, I rather think he was just naturally sprung around out of his mind, and because he was stuck on you. I don't figure he is anything to be afraid of, but I am not going to have the fellow gum-shoed around. I'll take his word to get out and stay out; otherwise he and I are going to have a little session of our own. That's all there is about it."

West had said nothing, watching the others, and waiting to choose some course of action. His mind was confused, uncertain, yet he found encouragement in Hobart's statement of the matter. The fellow felt no serious fear of him; had no suspicion as yet that anyone believed Percival Coolidge murdered. The probability was that not even the girl dreamed of such a thing.

"Whatever her intention might be, with this man, she must be innocent of so foul a crime. If he could only speak to her alone; bring to her the impression of her true nature will control his mind. He could only believe her a victim of scheming villain, driven by circumstances to play a part utterly foreign to her character. His only hope of learning the facts from her own lips, or of controlling her faith in him, lay in a woman's conversation alone. His mind instantly leaped to this conclusion, and his eyes met her own. They were wide open, full of curiosity yet not unkind. He spoke softly.

"That sounds fair enough, Hobart," he said quietly, taking the chance as though it was the most natural thing in the world. "I am not hunting trouble in any way, or seeking to butt in where I am not wanted. Your guess as to my purpose in coming here is about right. I had no other object but to do some service to this young lady. If I can talk with her a moment alone, and thus assure myself as to her wishes, I'll give you any pledge you want, and I'll drop the affair. Is that satisfactory?"

"Alone, you said? You want to see her alone?"

"Absolutely no other arrangement will answer. I want her to talk freely; to answer my questions with no reserve."

Hobart glanced toward his companion inquiringly, evidently inclined to deny the request.

"I—I, you don't want much," he said rather gruffly. "What do you think about this proposition, Natalie?"

The girl smiled, her eyes still on West's face.

"Fair enough," she admitted as though the whole matter was a joke. "It looks like the easiest way out."

"All right, if you say so. It is my guess you are equal to the job. How much time do you require?"

"Ten or fifteen minutes. I want to get down to the bottom of this thing."

"Oh, you do, hey? Modest as ever, I see. Well, here's luck to you. You needn't be afraid of the guy, Natalie; we got his act before we brought him up here, and if he makes any head, he'll be out in the hall ready to take a hand. You're still for it?"

"Oh," indifferently, seating herself on a convenient chair. "We might as well talk it out now as any time. You go on Jim, and leave it to me."

Hobart was not entirely satisfied, hesitating a bit in a fresh glare, his keen eyes watchful of them both. However, it was plain to be seen the girl had made her decision, and he evidently knew her well enough to realize the uselessness of revolt.

"All right, then," he replied finally, turning to the door. "Watch yourself; only watch your step. Anyhow, I'll be within calling distance, if this guy gets gay."

"Don't worry about that," a flash of anger in her eyes. "I am no baby, Jim; Hobart; go on now, and leave Captain West to me."

He closed the door behind him, and the two were alone in the room. No sound reached them from without, not even an echo of Hobart's footsteps in the hall. West looked across at the girl, who sat motionless, her face shaded by long lashes, and ringlets appeared indifferent in her lap. She appeared careless, uninterested, scarcely aware of his presence. He wondered if Hobart was listening at the door; what had become of Mike, and whether Sexton was alive or dead. For the moment, he could scarcely make himself realize the true situation. His silence served to arouse her interest, for she suddenly lifted her head and looked at him.

"Well," she said soberly. "You have something to ask?"

"Much—yes; but first, are we alone?"

"Certainly—why?"

"This man Hobart, you are sure he is not listening at the door?"

She glanced about; then laughed.

"But even then, is this wholly fair? 'What do you mean?'"

"I came here," he explained earnestly, "with no bad intention; no desire to injure any one; Miss Coolidge; my only thought, the possibility of being of some service to you."

"That is very interesting, I am sure. I am quite grateful."

"Then I am going to ask you a favor. Release my hands and feet. You need not be afraid; I give my pledge to make no attempt to escape while we are together. Will you do this?"

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble because we eat often too much red meat and all our food is rich. When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times daily.

during the night; if you suffer with sick headache, or dizziness, nervous spells, acid stomach, or if you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Calumet; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water, before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys say they are set free. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with bicarbonate and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus often ending bladder disorders.

Just Salts is irreplaceable; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia water beverage and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.

INCREASED TAX LAID AT DOOR OF ALEXANDER

Captain A. H. Conner, at Filer, Charges Democratic Aspirant for Governor, with Demoralizing State Interests

FILER, Oct. 12.—(Special to The News.)—Mistreatment of the state government under the administration of Moses Alexander, democratic candidate for governor, vented directly in an increase of 300 per cent in state taxes under the succeeding republican administration in 1919, Captain A. H. Conner, republican candidate for attorney general, told a audience of about 100 persons at the Gem theatre here this evening.

Captain Conner, in addition to explaining the enormous increase in state taxes in 1919, discussed the so-called cabinet form of government, and analyzed the 1922 state money went.

State taxes collected in 1919 exceeded by $2,500,000 the amount collected during the preceding year, Captain Conner said. Of this amount, he said, $402,000 went to educational institutions which had been so demoralized by Alexander's administration that students were forced to pay salaries of the University of Idaho faculty. Increase in the enrollment of the state university from 500 in 1918 to 1,100 in 1922 also required additional funds.

Charitable and penal institutions, which also had gone to pieces under Alexander's administration, Captain Conner said, received $253,000 of the state tax increase. In this connection the speaker pointed out that during Alexander's administration the Soldiers' Home and the Lewiston State Normal school had been damaged by fire, the insurance collected and placed in the state treasury, and that it was necessary under the succeeding administration to levy taxes to restore the buildings.

Highways Cost Heavy. One million six hundred thousand dollars of the state tax increase accounted for by the special two-cent levy for state highways, which the legislature approved by almost unanimous vote at a time when the state treasury was bonding themselves for an additional $14,000,000 for road construction. Captain Conner said that the state had paid $187,000 for special taxes left as an inheritance by the Alexander administration, the speaker declared, and $126,000 worth of state bonds were taken up.

In the interests of returned servicemen $169,000 was provided for in the tax increase. The speaker also pointed out that the payment of maintenance charges against 10,000 acres of state lands in the Gem irrigation district, which allegedly had advanced, relinquishing, accounted for $41,500 more of the 1922 state tax increase, the speaker said. He showed that the administration in 1918 had compromised for $10,000 the irrigation district's claim of $30,000 against the state lands, and that subsequently 800 acres of these lands were sold for more to reimburse the state and return a profit of $28,000 which was turned into the general school fund.

Reduction in the number of officeholders and diminished expense of government was claimed for the so-called cabinet form of government. He showed an appropriation of $1,000 for the agricultural department reduced in 1922 to $100,000. The state purchasing board, he said, on one contract had saved enough to pay all its expenses for two years.

Veto Strands Weevil. As an illustration of inefficiency and short-sightedness with which he charged the Alexander administration, Captain Conner referred to the Alexander veto of an appropriation of $4000 to combat the alfalfa weevil. As a result of this action, he said, the pest has spread from four small sections in 1918 to a wide area over south Idaho and east

LAST SAD RITES FOR BABE

Funeral services for Willie V. Kelley, three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kelley, who died last week, were held at the family home near Hazelton, where he had been taken after the American Legion service at Hazelton. Funeral arrangements were in charge of J. E. DeWitt of Twin Falls.

The growers millions of dollars. Because of the prevalence of this pest a quarantine has been imposed against the state of Idaho. The state institution at Orofino is compelled to pay $25 a ton for hay, while south Idaho growers could not give it away and must sell it to Orofino because of Oregon's quarantine.

With the use of charts and diagrams Captain Conner exhaustively discussed the state's taxes collected since 1918 and 1922 in terms of cents collected on each $100 valuation, was shown as follows: 1918, 32.04; 1919, 41.82; 1920, 42.80; 1921, 101.10; 1922, 214.61; 1923, 270.00; 1924, 728.00; 1925, 618.00; 1926, 637.00; 1927, 639.11.

For 1923 per cent per capita state tax levied of several various districts of that of Idaho at 85.71, the speaker showed the levy in Washington at 118.70; Oregon, 121.07; California, 167.71; Nevada, 191.47.

Analyzing the 1922 state tax dollar, the speaker showed that out of every dollar of state taxes collected there was expended for highways, 16.6 cents; legislature, 1.54 cents; judiciary, 4.87 cents; executive department, 14.99 cents; state school fund, 18.53 cents; and penal institutions, 12.75 cents; soldiers' welfare, 3.30 cents; special emergency, 3.38 cents; financing, etc., 16.93 cents; interest and sinking fund, 16.93 cents.

FLAG IS RAISED IN SCHOOL YARD

Knights of Columbus Presentation of National Colors to Institution Features Day

Presentation by Twin Falls council, Knights of Columbus, of a large American flag and flagpole to St. Edward's parochial school was the outstanding feature of the observance here Thursday of Columbus day. The presentation exercises took place on the school grounds and were witnessed by a large crowd that braved stormy weather to attend.

The flag was raised to the top of the mast by Felix Andrade, Harry Boyer and Mark Jeschke, three young men of the parish who served overseas with the military forces of the United States, after Charles Macaulay, on behalf of the Knights of Columbus staff, had presented the flag with an admonition to "cherish, honor and protect it as an emblem of the Constitution and feature of civil and religious freedom."

In accepting the gift for the teachers and 100 pupils of the school, the Rev. Father Gerald E. Keyser, defended the parochial school with argument supported by statements of numerous American statesmen, that religion and morality are inseparable in education. "We accept this flag," Father Keyser said, "with the pledge to form these children into good, loyal and patriotic citizens of the United States." J. D. Tucker, Twin Falls mayor, briefly addressed the children of the school, referring to his own affection for the children and expressing his regard for the flag and the government of which it is an emblem.

The program included two patriotic songs, "The Star-Spangled Banner" and "Our Flag," by Robert Macaulay, Francis Buchanan, Charles Hamilton and Alvin Brooks, and "The Star-Spangled Banner" by Isabel Young. The program was opened with the words, "Columbus Saluted Across the Ocean." The children sang "America" and by children of the school, with the singing of the "Star-Spangled Banner" by the assembled company.

How Better Than Pills? The question has been asked. In what way are Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Pills for Infants better than the ordinary cathartic and liver pills? Our answer is, they are easier, more pleasant to take and their effect is so gentle that one hardly realizes that it is produced by a medicine. Then, they not only move the bowels, but improve the appetite and strengthen the digestion.—adv.

POLICE CAPTURE WANTED SUSPECT

Charges of Iolation of Liquor Laws Will Be Preferred Against Terry E. Mills

Charge of violation of the prohibition laws will be preferred by the police against Terry E. Mills, who was at midnight Thursday night arrested in Twin Falls Police pool and sent room on Shoshone street west, by Patrolmen G. O. Griffin, D. E. Reynolds and W. H. Gibson, traffic officer. Mills was in an auto parked near a bottle of liquor, the officers say, which he endeavored to destroy when the patrolmen entered the room where he sat at a card table. The attempt to destroy the evidence was foiled by Patrolman Reynolds who seized the bottle with a force grip and turned it over to his companions.

The officers obtained information, they say, that Mills was dispensing liquor by the drink from a bottle, and circumstances attending the arrest Thursday night, they say, confirm the accuracy of their information.

Patrolman Griffin gives to the police report for the capture of a suspect who has eluded pursuit of county and city officials for several weeks.

Three persons believe Mills possessed a bottle of liquor, which had been deposited by three unidentified individuals when they observed the officers' approach. Later one of the suspects was apprehended by the officer, but was released because of lack of evidence to connect him with possession of the liquor.
