CONSIDER PLANS TO MERGE LINES

Banking Interests in Session Discuss Details of Consolidation of Three Big Roads

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Representatives of banks identified with railroad interests were present at a formal conference here today of leaders in the movement to merge the Great Northern, Northern Pacific and Burlington railroads into a new system. Although no details of the meeting were given out, it was learned that only the operating details of the proposed merger were under discussion.

A member of a prominent banking firm denied that any discussion had taken place on the subject of the merger. He said, "but any assertion that the merger plans have been completed is without foundation. It is not a case of 'if' but of 'when'."

Plans for the merger when completed will be presented to the interstate commerce commission at Washington, November 17.

VENTURE TEAM ON GROUND

BOSTON, Oct. 19.—The five members of the Centre college football squad are back in Harvard's stronghold for the third and probably the last time. As Much For One As The Other; Keynote of Community Doctrine of 60 Families in Unique Experiment

PORT WILLIAM, Ont., Oct. 19.—Ideal communism, at the same time containing the laws of Canada and Ontario, will be the distinctive avowed by each of the sixty families hereabouts who, under the banner of Devonshire, will settle on the Arroyo river, in a township opened up today by the Ontario government.

As much for one as the other, equality of duties and privileges—these will be the cardinal points in their Utopian settlement, 5 miles south of Port William, where the Arroyo river valley was assigned the international boundary.

There will be no such thing as an individual crop for one family. The yield from the acreage, the land, the settlement will be pooled and divided on the basis of each family's size or the proceeds from the harvest will be sold.

Government of Lloyd George Thing of Past

Andrew Bonar Law Will Assume Mantle of England's Premier Turned Down by Unionist Party Wing

LONDON, Oct. 19.—After holding the office of prime minister through seven of the most critical years of British history, three years of war and four years of reconstruction—David Lloyd George went into the wilderness today.

This was the description in his Manchester speech of his position if the unionist wing of his followers should desert him. Unionist withdrawal from the coalition government was expected by the meeting which Austen Chamberlain had called at the Carlton club and which the coalition members of the house of commons and a handful of lords who were enrolled in the cabinet.

Mr. Lloyd George advised the king to summon Mr. Bonar Law, and to appoint him as prime minister. While Mr. Lloyd George exhibited cheerfulness to the few who saw him and cheered him on his way to the palace, he was known as a father, was unperturbed by his husband's testimony.

Mr. McNally testified the twins were born December 8, 1925. He said he had seen them and that they were alive. Miss Catherine Griffiths, 17 year old daughter of the twins' mother, testified Mr. McNally was an important state witness today. She said she learned Mr. McNally was to be commuted when she accompanied her father to having been born in summer of 1923. She asserted that later she saw the babies in bed, alive and kicking and also saw one of the babies nursing.

NAVY STILL UNPREPARED

Rear Admiral Sims Declares Situation Today No Better Than It Was When America Entered War

CLEVELAND, Oct. 19.—The United States navy was not prepared for war in 1917, in a bitter rejoinder today that it was then and never will be prepared under the present organization plan, Rear Admiral William S. Sims, recently retired from the United States navy, declared here in an address today before the city club.

The navy department at Washington bungled and mismanaged the fleet during the war, he said. "There was no clear indication of a disposition to put my navy into fighting trim," Admiral Sims asserted. "The navy was not properly handled during the war."

Mr. Sims said that the navy was not prepared for war in 1917, in a bitter rejoinder today that it was then and never will be prepared under the present organization plan, Rear Admiral William S. CHILD FIGURES IN MURDER CASE

Woman Who Shot Husband and Stenographer Will Be Tried Only for Latter Crime

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 19 (AP)—Mrs. Catherine Rosier, who, on January 21, shot and killed her husband, Oscar Rosier, and his stenographer, Miss Mildred (Terry) Beckitt in Rosier's advertising agency, came to trial today. Assistant District Attorney Maurice J. Spiller, in charge of the commonwealth's case, elected to try the defendant on an indictment charging her with the murder of Miss Beckitt alone, a procedure strongly opposed by John E. Scott, chief counsel for the defense, who urged that she be tried simultaneously on this and the indictment charging murder of Rosier, whose body was found only two miles from her apartment. Only two witnesses had been sworn in at the end of the day's session. Throughout the long, wending court trial, Mrs. Rosier, red-eyed, said she never felt a more genuine sense of her former self, managed for the most part to maintain a calm attitude.

Baby in Court
Judge Barrett permitted the presence of the Rosier baby Richard who is a year old, in court, despite Mr. Spiller's plea that he be excluded. The child sat quietly in the arms of his aunt, Mrs. Ralph Chappelle of New York. The judge said he would decide later whether he would allow the mother to hold the child.

At the close of the morning session, Mrs. Rosier broke down and sobbed. In the sheriff's room she said, tearfully:
"I am trying to stand it, but, oh, it is so hard."
She would not eat until told that if she did not she would not be permitted to hold the child. She ate reluctantly and for forty minutes—almost the entire recess—hugged and kissed the child.

Following the close of court it was reported that the defendant was placed in the care of a physician who said that she was suffering from an attack of indigestion.

DEATH CAUSE CLEARED UP

Francis Schlatter, King of Healers, Victim of Hemorrhage Induced by Tuberculosis, Autopsy Shows

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 19 (AP)—Francis Schlatter, widely known as the "King of Healers," who died in a rooming house here Monday night, came to his death as a result of hemorrhage induced by tuberculosis, according to the coroner's autopsy, which was announced after his widow had expressed the belief that her husband had been a victim of foul play.

The police, however, continued their search for a woman who acted as Schlatter's nurse and who disappeared shortly after he died.
According to Mrs. Schlatter, her husband's death ended a five months' search for him which she conducted, beginning last June 15, when he left her in Chicago and started for Milwaukee on a lecture tour.
Schlatter, according to his widow, was born in Alsace-Lorraine, 60 years ago and was brought to the United States when two years old. In 1898 when he was a collier in Denver, Colo., his power to "heal" the sick and crippled attracted wide attention. He traveled over the country, preaching the "laying on of hands."

PROVIDE RELIEF FOR NEAR-EAST

Two Steamers to Leave With Food and Clothing for Victims of Turkish Troops

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19 (AP)—Two steamships will leave soon from American ports filled with food and clothing for refugees in the Near East.
One of the vessels, a shipping board steamer, will proceed by direct route to the Near East, under the leadership of President Harding, who, in requesting Chairman Lasker to furnish the ship, declared there was good reason for further government assistance in Near East relief activities. The other ship, the steamship "Stuyvesant," will leave New York October 24, with one thousand tons of food and wearing apparel, according to an announcement by the American Red Cross.
Chairman Lasker, responding to the president's request, notified Dr. James L. Barton, head of the Near East relief, that the Coeur d'Alene, now at New York, was available and that if the cargo was not ready, another vessel would be furnished at the convenience of the relief agency. The Coeur d'Alene is capable of carrying 5,480 tons.

In directing the assignment of a shipping board vessel, the president wrote to Mr. Lasker as follows: "You are familiar with the great relief work in the Near East, which has been undertaken by the American Red Cross and the Near East relief organization. This great work is in response to the promptings of the American heart to perform a great service in the hour of extreme emergency. There is not only an impressive call on the generosity of the American people and the sacrifice of time on the part of American citizens, but I think there is good reason for us to do everything possible in a governmental way to further the most appealing enterprise."

PLEADS FOR PATIENCE WITH THE RAILROADS

Fall and Winter Transportation Problems Promise to Tax Tenacity of Operating Departments

CHICAGO, Oct. 19 (AP)—The vital part that railroads play in the welfare and prosperity of the farming industry was stressed by C. H. Markham, president of the Illinois Central railroad, who addressed the annual convention of the National Association of Farm Equipment Manufacturers here.
"The few months' ago railroads found it difficult to provide storage space for idle equipment and now they are hard pressed to supply cars needed for the transportation of coal, farm products, building and construction materials and many other commodities," Mr. Markham declared.
"Business will continue to be good and railway traffic will be heavy this fall and winter, and there will be some unavoidable inconvenience to shippers. However, if the public will be patient, realizing the handicaps under which railroads are struggling, and will be liberal in support and cooperation, we can get through the winter without serious distress."
The problem of transporting the nation's farm crops was usually reaching peak volume during the fall months, he further handicapped this year by the additional coal shipments necessitated by the strike which made shipments impossible during the slack summer months, he said.
"The 1921 farm crop was sown and brought to harvest at materially reduced costs when compared with the last few years. This means that farmers will fail to make profits that can be expected."

REDUCTION ROYAL GUARDS
TOKIO, Oct. 19 (AP)—Instead of 2000 police being ordered out to line the streets and order people from upper windows whenever an important member of the royal family makes an appearance, as has been the custom for centuries in Japan, the authorities have decided that the number shall be reduced and are considering a proposal to allow the people to pay respects to the emperor or empress from upstairs. Should a member of the royalty decide to drive across the city, a large force of police was ordered out, street cars were stopped, traffic diverted, every person strictly scrutinized and upper windows ordered closed, no matter how hot it was. The patriotic Japanese, however, consider it a grave offense to look down on his emperor of divine origin.

RUPERT WILL TRY TO DOWN LOCALS

Puzzle Team of South Central Division to Battle with Evans' Pigskin Chasers

Today is the day when the fans of this section will journey out to Lincoln field to take a squint at the Rupert squad of pigskin chasers.

This is to be a regular scheduled game between two of the best and best known, and not since the season started have the fans been worked up as much as they are today.

The cause for this extra excitement is unknown, unless it is the fact that Rupert has a team that relies on forward passes and open formations, and the local team has not been up against this style of play thus far this season and the fans are anxious to see what will happen.

Then again, it may be the fact that the season is just getting a good start and the fans are becoming imbued with the spirit of watching a good team action. There are a lot of red-blooded fans in this section, and it takes a well-balanced football game to awaken this feeling.

Whatever the cause may be is not the issue at stake. What the fans want to know is how the Twin Falls going to do against Rupert.

The visitors have several good men on the lineup, with "Skinny" Nelson, star quarterback, doing most of the work. Stone, at right half, is another backfield man that comes here with a reputation that sounds big for the "Skins". Long, the leading mauler of Stone, as his name implies, is fond of going around the ends for "long" and "run". "Ham" Hammer is the fullback of the team, and does most of the punting.

There you have it, Rupert has four men on the squad that are well over the average. What will this quartet do to the locals?

Rupert will have the following men on the field this afternoon: Ends, Bartlett, Hoppe, McElroy and Miller; center, Kie, Dredge, Allen, Hockaday, Jewell; guards, Reynolds, Roo, Mc Kendrick; and Newman; center, Anderson (captain); backfield, Nelson, Tubbs, Bally, Stone, Hammer and Long.

The officials for today's game: Whitney, Twin Falls, referee; Ruff, Paul, umpire; Kennedy, Hagaman, time-keeper; Karane, Twin Falls, time-keeper.

The game will start at 3 o'clock sharp.

Other games to be played today in the south central division are: Filer and Oakley at Filer; Buhl and Burley at Buhl. On the North Side of the river there will be a game between the two sides will be watched with interest by Twin Falls. The Jerome-Wendell game will in all probability decide the championship of the North Side of the river and on November 3 the winner of the South Side will play with the North Side champs for the right to play the winner of the entire state.

The North Side game will be between Sheehans and Gooding at Gooding.

ENTHUSIASM RUNS HIGH

Buhl's Game With Burley is Looked Forward To With Keen Anticipation

BUHL, Oct. 16.—Football enthusiasm is at a high pitch in Buhl this week in contemplation of the football game here on Friday between Buhl and Burley with the speedy bunch from Burley. The game here Friday will determine if Buhl is still in the race for the championship of this section.

A paper is being circulated among the merchants of Buhl today by the local fans, asking them to close their stores on Friday afternoon, and to be open for the Buhl-Burley game. The game will be called at 3 o'clock.

Captain Barry has been drilling his men this week on their tactics and formations each evening. Most of the men on the squad this year are out for their first season in football, so they are getting all the rudimentary parts of blocking, tackling and charging in the line.

The business men of Buhl presented the football fans with new blankets a few days ago, and the team will make its first appearance in the new regalia on Friday afternoon.

The fans of Buhl will meet in their annual gridiron battle at Buhl on October 27. Inquiries for tickets have come in from several of the neighboring towns. A good delegation will be here from Gooding to see the game.

How Better Than Pills? The question has been asked, in what way are Chamberlain's Tablets superior to the ordinary cathartic and liver pills? Our answer is that they are easier to take and more pleasant to take and their effect is so gentle that one hardly realizes that it is produced by a medicine. They do not irritate the bowels, but improve the appetite and strengthen the digestion.—adv.

VANDALS HAVE FIGHTING CHANCE WITH COUGARS

Washington State, Although Favorites, Have Hard Game Before Them

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow, Oct. 19.—University of Idaho and Washington State college football teams face each other on the gridiron tomorrow. "Washington" is essentially "the favorite" through her long string of victories, but Idaho is again conceded a fighting chance, which she had against the University of Washington.

Matthews is definite as to what lineup he will start in the game and it is probable that several changes in position will be made from the team which opened Washington.

The only break in the string of Cougar victories since 1913 when the Idaho B. A. F. C. team defeated the Washington State team, 7 to 6.

The following probable lineup was announced today by Coach Matthews:

NEW BIG SIX SEDAN IS ALL-YEAR AROUND CAR

Latest Model Studebaker Product, Now Here, Complete Down to Last Detail

A motor car that has been accorded the lion's share of attention at recent closed car shows throughout the country is the Studebaker big six sedan (popularly known as "the show room of the Barrett Auto Company"). Striking in appearance and complete down to the last detail, it carries an air of elegance that is irresistible.

The beauty of this big six sedan is enhanced by such touches as the handsome, nickel-plated radiator shell, motor compartment and ornamental radiator cap. Other features of beauty, utility and completeness are the nickel-plated bumpers, front and rear; automatic windshield wipers; rear-view mirror; the spacious trunk, with dust proof cover at the rear, which is easily accessible because the two extra disc wheels complete with tires and tubes, are carried on the front fenders.

Another further feature of comfort and convenience are the heater; three speed transmission; vacuum motor; power windows; automatic side coach lamps; courtesy light on the driver's side; opalescent dome light and corner lighting; automatic windshield regulators; silk roller curtains; three-piece rain-vision windshield; jewel eight-day clock; door locks and door pockets.

12 Year "Sound Car." The big six sedan is equipped so as to be equally adaptable for year-round service in town or over country touring.

upholstery is of rich mohair velvet plush with floor carpets, top lining and trimmings to match. Maximum riding comfort is provided by the nine-inch deep cushions and the long semi-elliptic springs, 55 inches in the rear and 50 inches in front. The liberal interior dimensions assure ample room for seven passengers with low auxiliary seats in use.

This distinctive sedan body is noted for its sturdy construction. It is mounted upon the 60 horsepower Studebaker big six chassis, which has gained world-wide recognition for reliability and all-around performance.

WEATHER FAVORS WORK ON FARMS

Seasonable Harvests in Full—Swing: Soil Too Dry in Southwest for Fall Plowing

BOISE, Oct. 19.—Weather conditions in western Idaho, leading the week ending Tuesday were very favorable for seasonable farm work, except that the soil is too dry for fall plowing and seeding, says the weekly summary of weather and crop conditions in Idaho just issued by Clinton E. Norquest, meteorologist here. Delightful autumn weather prevailed for the most part. Daily mean temperatures were high for the season although heavy frosts occurred at night. Light rain fell Wednesday night but the days were generally bright and clear with abundant sunshine.

Apple harvest in full swing with a good crop of excellent quality apples being secured in fine condition. Potatoes and beets are being dug, although potato digging is proceeding slowly on account of low prices. Turnips and rutabagas are nearly very dry, being only temporarily refreshed by light rain, and it is evident that early feeding will be necessary to keep stock in good condition.

In southeast Idaho, moderate temperatures prevailed. Light rains occurred which were followed by clear weather with falling frosts Saturday morning. Threatening conditions. Potatoes and beets are being dug in good condition, but many sections are being soiled because of low prices. Range cattle are being rounded up in good condition.

In north Idaho, the weather of the day was characterized by calmness, sunshine and high temperatures. The weather was favorable for all farm work and the apple harvest, but it was very detrimental to early seeding of lettuce. Considerable seeding was done on summer fallowed land. The ground continues too dry for general plowing, pasture holding out, but stock range. Stock are in good condition and fat and sheep are being shipped.

WASH KIDNEYS IF THEY HURT

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys if Back Pains You or Bladder Bothers

Flush your kidneys with salts occasionally, says a well known doctor, who tells us that too much meat and rich food may form uric acid which almost paralyzes the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weakens, then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sour, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The acid neutralizes the kidneys and flushes out the body's various waste, got your ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here, take two tablets dissolved in a glass of water before breakfast, for a few days, and your kidneys may then set free. This famous salt is made from the acids of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urines so as to prevent irritation, thus often ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is non-toxic—cannot injure—and makes of the most effective and little water drink—adv.

Social Notes

Edited by Mrs. E. B. Williams. Telephone 396.

On Wednesday afternoon of this week a jolly party of ladies with lunch baskets well filled with good things to eat, returned to Churchill and spent the day with Mrs. A. G. Shadle, a former resident of Twin Falls county. Mrs. Shadle furnished the fried chickens, and although some of the ladies were somewhat embarrassed in trying to follow menus of etiquette laid down in the book book published by the Aid Society of the First M. E. church, most of them did ample justice to the splendid menu. The afternoon was spent in visiting and into in the evening the guests returned to their homes, visiting Mrs. Shadle a splendid hostess. Those who made the trip were Mrs. H. A. Briscoe, Mrs. P. L. Cogswell, Mrs. J. P. Deary, Mrs. W. T. Combs, Mrs. William Baker, Mrs. J. B. Stewart, My J. W. Hardin, Mrs. E. D. Stover, Mrs. O. A. McMaster, Mrs. C. D. Weaver and Mrs. D. R. Churchill.

Mrs. A. W. Husted was hostess to the Harmony club Wednesday afternoon. The usual game of bridge was enjoyed. Mrs. H. P. Barber being the successful contestant for the club favor. At the close of the afternoon daily refreshments were served to the seven members and one guest present.

Mrs. James B. Bothwell and Mrs. W. Orr Chapman entertained the Episcopal Guild Thursday afternoon at the home of the former on Tenth avenue north. After a short business session roll call was answered with quotations from St. Luke. Mrs. Phil Thomas read a fine paper on "Abraham, the Comopolitan," and Mrs. D. L. Alexander sang two delightful solos. A general social time followed during which delicious refreshments were served to the 22 ladies in attendance. Tea and coffee were served from a prettily appointed table presided over by Mrs. C. F. Green and Mrs. E. B. Williams.

Complimenting Mrs. A. S. Hartlyn, Mrs. H. G. Griffler and Mrs. Harold Beatty entertained with a charming party on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Griffler on Poplar avenue. A clever sewing game formed the diversion for a portion of the afternoon. Mrs. E. J. Finck, winning the prize. Autumn leaves and late fall flowers were used to decorate the rooms and a two-course luncheon was served. Those present in addition to the guest of honor, were Mrs. R. M. Lieberman, Mrs. W. O. Crotty, Mrs. E. B. Sparks, Mrs. D. F. Clark, Mrs. William Graham, Mrs. V. Strange, Mrs. M. J. Hunter, Mrs. H. Nummenger, Mrs. E. J. Finck, Mrs. L. H. Masters, Mrs. Wylie, Mrs. J. C. Beatty, Miss Edna Graham and the hostess.

Members of the Optimist club were entertained Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Roy E. Hansen on Ninth avenue north. A Halloween motif was carried out in the decorations and refreshments. Roll call was answered by a conical story, Mrs. Siffert winning the prize for the most amusing story. The afternoon was spent with sewing and Mrs. Goodrich was welcomed to membership.

An interesting program was given at the Women's Council of the Christian church by division number two with Mrs. W. S. Pariah as leader. The subject for a discussion was "Small the eighteenth amendment," and was reported by Mrs. E. B. Van Cott and two vocal numbers were given by Mrs. J. B. White accompanied by Mrs. Gladys Carlson. About 50 women enjoyed the program and the delicious refreshments served at the close of the afternoon by division number three of which Mrs. W. W. Burks is chairman.

MURDER TRAIL NOW LEADS IN A NEW DIRECTION

Authorities Scout Story of Commission of Crime in Old Barn and Prepare for Entirely Different Action

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Oct. 19 (AP)—The latest investigation into the double slaying of one Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and Mrs. Eleanor DeLoe, chair singer, which the authorities have been guarding with such secrecy that they have considered it essential to remove their office headquarters to Boundbrook, N. J., leads directly into the home of "one of the leading families of New Brunswick," a county official said tonight.

This official, who declined to permit his identity to be revealed, is known to be in very close touch with the county prosecutor.

"The authorities are in possession of something with which the public has not been acquainted and which is being jealously guarded," he said. "We all sincerely believe it contains the solution of the crime."

Less than 24 hours after it became known that the county prosecutor, through the obtaining of signed statements, had built up a theory that the couple were slain in a vacant shed, more than four miles from the spot where their bodies were found, the authorities were ridiculing the story tonight.

No Trace of Crime.

Examination of the floor of the building, which was said to have been used formerly as a school, is said to have failed to reveal any trace of bloodstains.

The authorities admitted that they were attempting to trace the diary of Mrs. Mills, which, it is said, she gave to the rector in exchange for his. They also said that consideration was being given to the possibility that Mrs. Mills' diary in possession of the rector had been a starting point of the crime.

In tracing this clue, the authorities learned today that a man identified as Edward Carpenter, a cousin of Mrs. Hall, was seen leaving the Hall home on the morning on which the slayings were found, carrying a tray, filled with what were said to be papers.

Frocks That Are Exclusive

of the old cabinet unionists remain loyal to their late chief, Chas. Herrick, the Earl of Balfour, Lord Birkenhead, Sir Lewis Worthington-Evans and Sir Robert Stevenson Horne follow Mr. Lloyd George in the cabinet, and many workers in the party ranks are likely to go with them.

Mr. Lloyd George will make his first speech in the House of Commons at Guild hall, on the occasion of London's official welcome home to the Prince of Wales, but he is expected to reserve his real political manifesto for Saturday's meeting at Leeds.

Today's events may be regarded as constituting a great victory for Sir George Young, who spent George's plans for a February election and now has been the cause of his resignation. Mr. Lloyd George will continue to hold his seat of office to carry on current business until the new government is formed.

Mrs. Lloyd George Happy.

Mrs. Lloyd George, addressing a political meeting in London tonight, said her husband's health and spirits both improve when he is engaged in a fight like a tonic to him.

"It is an absolute fact, whether there is a fight going on," she declared, "because he gives me far less trouble."

Thirteen anti-Unionists, member of the late government, including Mr. Chamberlain, Lord Birkenhead, the Earl of Balfour, Sir Robert Horne and Sir Lewis Worthington-Evans and Lord Lee, sent a manifesto to Lloyd George's invaluable services to the country, and protesting against the decision of the Carlton club to nominate and support to Mr. Lloyd George. They declare they will refuse to carry such a message to a prime minister.

FRANCE NOT RENOVING.

PARIS, Oct. 19 (AP)—There is no tendency on the part of the French government to renounce the passing of Lloyd George and the cabinet. This was given definite assertion in official quarters. In general, the feeling seems to be that while Lloyd George was sometimes too tough in his attitude toward the French position, Andrew Bonar Law might be worse.

The foreign office declined to make any statement on the downfall of the Lloyd George government.

BIG FIGHT IS OFF.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19 (AP)—The fight for the world's light heavyweight title between Battling Siki and Rita Holt, which was to have taken place here on November 10, is off, Tex Rickard announced today after receiving a cable message from Maurice Hetherington, Siki's manager. The Madison Square Garden promoter was informed that Siki would be unable to fulfill the engagement, having decided to join Joe Beckett, heavy weight champion of Europe in London December 7.

WILL DEFEND TITLE.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19 (AP)—Fanchon Villa, American flyweight champion, will defend his title against Abe Goldstein in Madison Square Garden November 10. It was announced today Goldstein is credited with a newspaper decision over Villa.

Thus "Making Good." The successful man is the one who makes better what he ordinarily does better than good enough.

ANOTHER SYMPTOM: No matter what anyone may think, the I. W. W. in America are still a force to be reckoned with.

Original right here at home in the work of "Big Bill" Haywood, for a long time it was purely an American institution, but since the banishment of its leader the movement has taken on an international complexion and its aims are no longer confined to the mere matter of raising the mischief with American industry.

If this fact were clearly understood by the average man America could afford to laugh at the nonsense of the I. W. W., but at long as otherwise intelligent men prefer to regard occasional outbreaks, such as that at Portland, as of purely local importance, just as they will the movement of the I. W. W. continue to grow and spread.

Portland is to be commended upon her stand with respect to the latest manifestation. Portland's Mayor has assumed the right stand in the crisis with which the city is confronted.

THE MESSAGE OF THE CARS: A car shortage is actually developing on the railroads. That is all except a good and a bad thing for business.

The figures for a two-weeks period in the last four years are illuminating. Here they are: 1919 - 1,000,892 cars, 1920 - 1,000,888 cars, 1921 - 1,737,193 cars, 1922 - 1,919,210 cars.

The railroads are the best barometer of general trade conditions. This increased activity means but one thing: Good times are on the way.

WOMEN AS VOTERS: Reginald E. Kauffman, who as head of the Republican National committee's bureau of woman voters, has had a chance to make some observations, predicts that in the future women will vote as citizens, not as women.

The woman, Mr. Kauffman found, outclassed the men in their appetite for information. Before the committee's pamphlet of voting instructions had been in circulation three weeks women all over the country were telegraphing for one thousand lots.

He being more interested in the candidate's character than in his party. Among the issues in which the most interest was shown were lower taxes, conservation, education, smaller armaments, and child labor.

The Case and The Girl

By Randall Parrish

"The lad is here all right—government offense, fifteen years ago, third arrest; mugged through '21. Let me hit him up, and see if he is the same man. Come over here, Captain."

"Yes I believe it is him," he said at length. "Oh looks much older now, but those are his features all right. What was his name?"

"Con't mostly, according to the record, is only conviction though, two years in Detroit for using the mails to defraud. Oh, you here is something different, assault with intent to kill—indeterminate sentence to Joliet for that. Nothing heard of him since. So he is back, and at the old game again. Do you want him brought in, Captain?"

"No, not yet. I haven't anything against the man now but a suspicion. I wanted to learn his record, that's all. This inquiry was only incidental. What I'm really interested in is just at present, is something I picked up in '21. It's a note in Mike's pocket, four or five hours ago. It's a note in a woman's handwriting, and when I found it, it was hidden in a small silver penknife, such as a lady might carry."

"There is a woman in it, then?" "Yes; but I haven't got things hitched up sufficiently to talk about it. The note itself is blind."

"Well, here it is. Can you make it out? I'll read it for you—'Please, quickly police to search Semolee quick.' 'No signature!' 'None.' 'But that is plain enough, isn't it?' 'Yes, if you know what she meant by Semolee; what is it? A street? An apartment house? A saloon? Do you know of anything under that name?'"

McAdams stood motionless thinking. "No, by thunder, I don't," he admitted reluctantly. "There is no street of that name in the city. There used to be a shady hotel over on Ontario street called 'The Semolee,' but that was torn down ten years ago. I never heard of any other, did you, Dave?"

"He swung about to face West. 'This means anything to you?' 'It surely does,' eagerly. 'The girl I spoke of was Natalie Coolidge. By all the gods, we are on the right track.' 'All right, Dave,' resuming his conversation. 'What's that? Coolidge had the boat up the river a few weeks ago trying to sell it. That's how you happened to remember the name—I see. Yes, is there any one out at Jackson park I could talk to at this hour?' 'Who? Oh, yes, the life-saving station. Sure; somebody will be on duty there. Thanks, old man—good night.'"

"He turned to the receiver upon the hook, and reached for the telephone directory. 'Some luck, I say, Jackson park—oh, yes, here it is. All right, Central; sure, that is the proper number. This is the City Hall police headquarters again; hang it up, please. Hello, Jackson, West, life-saving station? Good; this is McAdams speaking from the city detective bureau. Is there a yacht out there in the lagoon called the Semolee? belongs to a man named Coolidge; medium-stated boat, with an engine. Yes, what's that? Not there, you got it into the lake about two hours ago. The hell it did! Who was aboard? do you know? Say that again; oh, you wasn't on watch when she sailed; your partner said what? Three men and a woman. All right, yes I got it. Say now, listen, this is a police matter, so keep your eyes open. It will be daylight pretty soon, and if you get sight of that boat call up the City Hall station at once. Do you get me?"

"He whistled about, smiling whimsically. 'It's on again, old man, Finnigan. We had it, and we have it now. Dave, I am getting interested; I feel the lure of the chase. Can you spare me for a day or two? You can't? Good enough; we'll come the takes until we find out who is sailing aboard the Semolee. You're well, old man!'"

West extended his hand stately, and the fingers of the two clasped in a mutual pledge.

CHAPTER XII The Yacht "Semolee." There was little to do but wait impatiently for some further message of guidance. Mr. Adams dispatched a few telegrams to nearby lake ports, and briefly outlined certain plans of action for the morning, received nothing further was heard from the missing boat; these included a possible search for Hobart, who both men decided could not be included among the party of the yacht. West told the new revelation to the entire staff, and said Mike's interest in ferreting out the matter became intense. It was the kind of case which fascinated him with its mystery, but no theory he could spin born from long-police experience, seemed to exactly fit all the revealed facts. The great puzzle related about the strange actions of the girl; her part in the affair presenting an unsolvable riddle. They must have talked for an hour, discussing the situation frankly from every angle, yet arriving at no definite conclusion. The sky in the east was red with dawn when both men fell asleep in their chairs, still waiting.

ing the situation frankly from every angle, yet arriving at no definite conclusion. The sky in the east was red with dawn when both men fell asleep in their chairs, still waiting. "It was nine o'clock, and still no word. The two had eaten a hearty breakfast in a restaurant across the street, discussing the situation again thoroughly, but to no more satisfactory result. It seemed impossible to recollect certain facts. If the silver knife, with its call for help, had indeed been dropped by Natalie Coolidge, and she was being held a prisoner in the hands of a villain, an hour for the Semolee had she acted toward West as she did in that house on Wray street? To all appearances there she had been found in glove with the conspirators, willing even to connive at the Captain's murder if necessary to the end of their ends. Only one theory was possible; that the girl was under constraint, driven to her strange act by personal fear. She dare do nothing else, terrorized by the threats of Hobart, and her own sense of utter helplessness in his power. This, and this only, was the answer to the riddle. McAdams, unable to remain quiet, departed to get his police search started in an attempt to discover Hobart in his new hiding place. The fellow could not be on the yacht, as that had sailed from Jackson park at 4 p. m. only an hour for him to have possibly made one of the party. He would still be in the city then, secretly concealed in some hole of the underworld, perfecting his plans. Whatever they might be, perhaps arranging to join those on the boat later. The detective even thought this unlikely, his theory being that Hobart merely desired to get the girl safely out of the way for a length of time sufficient to enable him to complete his nefarious scheme. He argued that Natalie was in no real danger; she would be long, no doubt, kept out of sight as long as was necessary, but otherwise left uninjured. This was no strong-arm crime, but a high-class confidence game, and the important thing was to quickly lay hands on Hobart. With him once in the toils, the whole conspiracy would instantly collapse. With this end in view, McAdams took up the man's trail, leaving West to stand guard over the telephone.

"The latter called up Sexton, and buried him out to Fairlawn, with instructions to find out all he could from the servants there relative to any late developments. This, accomplished, nothing remained for West to do but sit down and wait for something else to happen.

"The delay was shorter than he anticipated. There was a sharp ringing of the bell, the police operator responding quickly. "Police headquarters. What's wanted? McAdams; no he is not in just now. Who is calling him? Harbor master's office; all right; hold the wire a minute." He turned his head around. "Must be your case, Captain; better hear what he has to say." West grasped the receiver eagerly.

NEW TRIUMPHS ATTEND SECOND NIGHT'S SHOWS

Elks' Circus and Carnival Attractions Continue to Draw Crowds of Merrymakers to New Lodge Home

With a record of attendance only slightly less than that of the opening night and with variations of many and varied attractions considerably more liberal than at the initial performance and the spirit of holiday jollity prevailing with undiminished vigor, the Elks' Circus and Carnival, Thursday night scored again an outstanding success from all points of view.

Seventy citizens of Burley, Thursday evening joined the throng of merrymakers in the Elks' new home, and badges blazoned with a welcome to Burley displayed by members of the entertainment, order were conspicuous at the scene of festivities.

Each and every one of the circus and carnival attractions, from the grand parade to the grand finale, and the opening of several booths reported a patronage double that of the opening night.

Bill Hovgen's pines, knots of hangers with hats of paper, worth about as much as Russian rubles, played, according to individual temperament, with various degrees of apparently stolid indifference at various games of chance; dancers, many of them in costume, moved in rhythm to the music over the ornate wooden floor, and at one end of the hall "bar-tenders" at a reconstructed "bar," did a rushing business.

Change in Circus Bill. A number of juvenile performers with genuine and beautiful trained animals produced roars of laughter in Kob's on-ear show, and announcement of an entire change of program for Friday night, a feature of continued liberal patronage of this feature of the event.

In addition to the evening performance Friday there is to be given in the afternoon a feature of the same nature in connection with a tea at which women of the Twentieth Century club are to be hospitable to the women of the community.
