NEW DISCOVERY WOLVES PAR IN DUAL MURDER

Prosecutor to Ask Grand Jury to Indict Man and Woman in Connection with Death of Minister and Choir Singer

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Oct. 21. (AP)—Developments in the investigation of the murder of the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hill and Mrs. Eleanor Richards Hill tonight centered about the sitting of the Somerset county grand jury at Somerville, Monday, when it is learned, indictments against at least two persons, probably "Mama" and "Daddy," were asked by County Prosecutor Bookman.

Broadens Anticipation

Confident that he has built up a stronger case than is generally believed, Prosecutor Bookman tonight questioned several of the new figures in the mystery. He disclosed nothing of the details, nor the identity of the two persons, said to be guilty of the double slaying, upon whose testimony he is believed to rely greatly in obtaining the indictments.

Persons were questioned today, once a maid in the Hill home, and the other a vestryman in the rectory church. The latter, Ralph W. M. Gorham, who was examined in his home by Prosecutor Bookman, was reported to have accompanied a young woman home from the Y. M. C. A. on the night of the murder. Whether in so doing he obtained upon knowledge of the crime, either in passing the scene of the murder or elsewhere, was not learned.

Maid Denies Statement

Timothy N. Pfeiffer, counsel for Mrs. Hill, made known the nature of the examination of Barbara Tough, a maid in the Hill home, who was killed for two hours today. The maid denied, he said, that Mrs. Hill had been in the room at the time of the slaying, or the finding of the bodies was announced. It had been reported that Mrs. Hill asked her maid to wash some white goods, and that the murder "became" known, says Pfeiffer. "Mrs. Hill is dead, and he will need them."

Other Possibilities

Whether it is upon those witnesses that the prosecutor depends to build the case he will present to the grand jury Monday, or upon discoveries not yet made public, is not known. He expressed confidence of obtaining an indictment against anyone he has "something" to justify his action in putting the case before that body.

MIDNIGHT SEES DRY LAW ON SEA

Prohibition Becomes Effective on American Ships Under Ruling of Attorney General

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21. (AP)—Provisions of the liquor statute, held by Attorney General Daugherty to prohibit transportation and sale of alcoholic beverages from American vessels anywhere and on foreign vessels within three miles of the United States coast, became effective tonight at midnight. The provision of laws ordered by President Harding to permit ship lines to arrange their affairs to conform to the ruling, expired at midnight and enforcement officials directed suggestions for further extension had not been approved.

MONTANA GRAIN MOVING TO NORTHWEST SEAPORT

ASTORIA, Ore., Oct. 21. (AP)—The first Montanan grain departed from the overland route to Minnesota by the preferential rate of seven cents per hundred pounds granted by the Great Northern railway to the Pacific Northwest from that state to parts of the Pacific Northwest for export is being received at Astoria.

JUSTICE DAY WILL BEGIN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21. (AP)—Associate Justice William B. Day of the supreme court, has decided definitively to resign from the bench at the end of his term as umpire of the German-American claims negotiations and is expected to present his resignation as justice to President Harding soon.

ORISE BORIS, of Bulgaria, who hopes soon to visit America, is not adverse to "mixing an American" and says the union must be for love.

BORAH ASSIGNS TASK TO PARTY

Predicts Death of Republican Organization if It Fails to Solve Present Situation

BOISE, Idaho, Oct. 21. (AP)—The republican party is now confronting a situation where it may, unless a solution or did it and it must be furnished under the republican party in this state if it is furnished at all. If this be broken make the most of it. This is the statement of Senator W. E. Borah in an address at Caldwell last night. He confided his talk to what he termed the two live issues of the campaign, says and the direct primary.

Borah declared that he realized that he was not in accord with all the members of his party on the primary issue but added that he expressed no regrets.

PRIMARY CLUB FORMED BY REPUBLICANS HERE

Invitation Issued to Members to Join Move to Further Adoption of Measure

Discussion favorable to the primary election law, and the issuance of an invitation to all republicans to aid in the movement on behalf of the measure featured the organization meeting of the Twin Falls Republican Primary club in the office of W. E. Borah here Saturday evening. About 40 persons were present, including prominent republicans, among whom were 10 attorneys.

Several addresses were made. Shad L. Hodgins, state committeeman, outlined the primary law and its history in detail and pointed out that the nonpartisan primary system involves fundamental principles of government, that it brings representative government closer to the people and results in a greater degree of self-government. He urged the convention plan Mr. Hodgins set forth that if the voters are not qualified to nominate their candidates they are not to be considered qualified to participate in a general election.

FREE STATE TROOPS AMBUSHED

BEAUFORT, Oct. 21. (AP)—Seven free state troopers motoring near Castle Rock, Wash. county, Ore., were ambushed today, but they fought so well that the republicans who attacked them retreated leaving three dead and nine wounded. The free state officers were no casualties.

JUSTICES USE OF INJUNCTION IN SHOP STRIKE

Daugherty Says Government Used Least Drastic Means at Hand to Save Country from "Grip of Civil War"

CANTON, O., Oct. 21. (AP)—Making his only campaign speech to the voters of his home state, Attorney General Daugherty tonight gave an account of the shop strike at Washington, and his course in the Chicago injunction proceedings, and in the prosecution of war frauds and declared that despite accusation and calumny the government would proceed to perform its duties as it sees them under the constitution.

In the strike emergency, the attorney general said, the federal government used the injunction as the least drastic means at hand for rescuing the country from the "grip of civil war." He asserted that the injunction was "the judicialism and character" of prominent labor leaders, and some of it to "hard boiled" railway executives, and the "hard boiled" attorney general who would not have acted under the circumstances "should be impeached."

Declaring the real purpose of attacks on the department's record in war fraud investigations, he said the hand of the government and promulgated important evidence, Mr. Daugherty said such assaults had been inspired and directed by the inactivity, but because tender spots had been touched by the suits already under way.

Hints at Motives

"We would have heard little criticism of the department of justice," he said, "had it not been discovered that it is in the hands of the department for instance (in which valuable patrons were assigned by public officials to companies which they themselves had organized), was being investigated and the report thereof by those inspired also was being scrutinized by government agents."

"And let me here, without giving any names, say that the men were, let me suggest that I have had the unique experience of sitting in the department of justice and listening to the story of a man formerly convicted of a crime, who had been patiently his pleas for certain fairly large concessions, when at the same time, in the city of New York, another man, who had been engaged in contributing and making connections in order that the attacks upon the department of justice and the government might be intensified and successfully continued."

Whitfield Names

"I can give the names of these parties if ever they lift their voices to dispute this statement, but unless I am authorized by them to do so, I should like to go through this investigation without any further mentioning names except in the orderly process of court proceedings. Their names, however, will be found in connection with the litigation whenever the time may be opportune. He said that some of the most important questions and some of the most questionable transactions and some of the most valuable properties in the world are being disposed of in the hands of wrong of the transactions connected with the transfer of certain property, must be determined in a court of justice."

Beaumont Difficulties

The attorney general presented the difficulties encountered in the enforcement of the law in the face of scattered opposition of which he said the previous administration did not avail itself when the time was opportune. He said work as soon as it was installed.

CHRISTIAN BUSINESS MEN DECIDE UPON ORGANIZATION

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 21. (AP)—A committee is being formed to organize a national organization at this afternoon's session of the Conference at Christian Business Men here. Discussion of the national organization, which, according to officials, will be a unification of Christian business men's associations in the cities all over the United States and Canada, occupied most of the day's program.

EIGHT MILLION RUSSIANS FACE WINTER OF FAMINE

DEANS OF WOMEN'S COLLEGES DEPLORE "SLINKER" STYLES

Long Clinging Skirts and Narrow Vamped Shoes Unpopular With Educators

CHICAGO, Oct. 21. (AP)—Long clinging skirts, high heels and narrow vamped shoes did not prove popular at a meeting of deans of women's colleges in Illinois here today. The heralded departure of the short skirt was deplored. Due to the recent "fashion" of dressing the good effect of girls' camps and the greater emancipation of women, the 1923 high school girl is a much more vigorous type than her predecessors of other years, speakers agreed. Concern was expressed that a return to the "slinker" styles would mean that much gained would be lost.

PORTLAND HALTS REDS' INVASION

Police Turn Attention to Local I. W. W. Members and Arrest Sixty Persons

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 21. (AP)—With the threatened I. W. W. invasion of Portland a complete failure, according to officials, police again turned attention to local members of the organization who had been arrested by the I. W. W. had arrested 60 alleged radicals.

The 60, all of whom had been before the municipal court and who had been released earlier in the day by Municipal Judge Eklund, were locked up on charges of vagrancy. Orders issued by Police Chief Eklund tonight closed the I. W. W. headquarters and further attempts to hold meetings there would result in more wholesale raids, it was said.

Workers Not Molested

The day was quiet so far as the longshoremen strike was concerned. Jobs of lines were reduced according to police reports. No violence was attempted. Non-union men went to and from their work without molestation.

Though police squads searched all incoming freight trains today they were unable to find anyone who could be classed as a "red." Sixteen men who admitted membership in the I. W. W. were among those retained in municipal court by Judge Eklund. They had been charged by the police with vagrancy. The judge stated in ordering the men's release, that his association with the I. W. W. had not been a bit of a radical himself." The statement of Judge Eklund came following the examination of a "foreigner" who had been released by the police. The man asked the prisoner if he was an I. W. W.

"No, I wasn't, until I was put in jail," he said. "I am one of the defendant answered."

"Well, I was made something of a radical myself, yesterday," the jurist answered.

Despite the apparent change of attitude of the municipal court, the police continued their campaign against the I. W. W.

Between midnight and six o'clock tonight 95 persons, 60 of whom were arrested I. W. W., were arrested. Twenty-five of them were held in the city hall and about the streets. Eighteen were released after examination by the police.

Ex-Kaiser Draws Veil of Secrecy as Wedding Nears

DOORN, Holland, Oct. 21. (AP)—The veil of secrecy that has hidden the life of the ex-kaiser since he took up his residence in Holland becomes more impenetrable that ever before as curiously increases abroad, during the his forthcoming marriage with the Princess of Rouss.

The ex-kaiser does not greatly attract the villagers or Doorn; they view the approaching nuptials with an air of indifference, even of boredom. Ninety miles from the city, he and his wife and they look upon street and passably as a family village. Being strict Catholics, they disapprove of William's choice of Sunday as the day for the wedding feast, but they do not say so to him, at least the tradesmen who enter to William's estate and the workmen who occasionally are given jobs at

Acting Premier Says Soviet Will Be Able to Take Care of Only Half of Population Threatened with Starvation

MOSCOW, Oct. 21. (AP)—Eight million Russians will have to be helped, through the winter in one way or another after January 1, and the soviet government will be able to take care of only half this number, Leo Kamenoff, who was acting premier during Lenin's illness, has reported to Colonel William H. Haskell, head of the American relief administration activities in the field. Kamenoff said that his figures represent minimum requirements and that the number of needy may increase if the winter is particularly severe.

Kamenoff told Colonel Haskell that all of the money realized by the sale of confiscated church treasures had been expended for famine relief. The proceeds he said were far below expectations.

Regarding this year's crops he reported a total grain yield of 2,225,000,000 bushels, of which 80,000,000 bushels had not yet been used as food in the stricken areas. After fulfilling other requirements he had only 6,000,000 bushels left for feeding the famine stricken.

German Chancellor Lives Through Day Set For His Death

Informant of Alleged Plot to Murder Wirth Remains Imprisoned in Westphalia

BERLIN, Oct. 21. (AP)—This was the day set for the assassination of Chancellor Wirth, but he is still living and largely healthy, and a young man, said by the police to have informed them of the plot, remained imprisoned at Hagen in the province of Westphalia.

The informant, who had been released earlier in the day by Municipal Judge Eklund, was locked up on charges of vagrancy. Orders issued by Police Chief Eklund tonight closed the I. W. W. headquarters and further attempts to hold meetings there would result in more wholesale raids, it was said.

Sets High Mark for Scoring at Football

BRISTOL, Va., Oct. 21. (AP)—A high mark for football scoring was registered here today when King college defeated Norfolk, 200 to 0. Spectators said the score might have been higher had the King college backs become exhausted from sprinting.

YOUTH KILLS TORMENTOR

Murder Charged Last Says He Fired Dead Man Three Times and "Picked On" Him

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 21. (AP)—William E. Burt, 27, who was formally charged with murder tonight, the police said the boy confessed to killing Thomas J. McCormick last night, because McCormick had "picked" on him.

Lyndis is said to have declared that McCormick threw a knife at him several times, fired a revolver and in self defense fired five times.

PICKETS LEAVE RESIDENCE OF COAL MINE EXECUTIVE

NEW YORK, Oct. 21. (AP)—Picketing in front of the Fifth avenue residence of E. J. Doherty, president of the Serv-Whit Co. Mining company, by striking miners from Somerset county, Pa., was discontinued today when picketers explained to the pickets that they could not continue their activities without a permit. The miners, who had been picketing since Oct. 16, were unable to get in touch with union officials.

WAR TAXES OF FRANCE DOUBLE GERMAN'S LEVY

Teuton Works Only 14 Days to Pay Assessment, While Frenchmen Must Labor 28 Days, Deputies Are Told

PARIS, Oct. 21. (AP)—In comparing the burden of taxation in Germany and France, Deputy Maurice Bokanowski, who has drawn up a presentation bill on the report, says every able-bodied man in France paid 1,903 francs as compared with 438 francs for each able-bodied German. German taxes, he pointed out, represent 24 days' labor, while a Frenchman had to supply 28.

Plans For Understanding

The Bokanowski report begins with a few expressions on the absolute necessity of the country understanding its financial situation and that the will may be created on the part of the public to re-establish the national credit on a solid basis. It showed the figures which it included in the general budget for the year 1922, but that the general budget had a deficit of approximately 25,000,000,000 francs and receipts of 19,000,000,000 francs, leaving a deficit of 3,855,000,000 francs.

The question arose, the report sets forth, whether this 4,000,000,000 deficit ought to be included in the general budget or in the special budget for recoverable expenses, but that the government considered it ought to be put in the general budget, although it represents interest on sums borrowed to take the place of reparations payments, because the French taxpayer was responsible if such payments eventually were not completed.

Restoration Incomplete

The report puts the sum still necessary for the restoration of the devastated regions at 10,000,000,000 francs, and the value of pensions still to be paid at 20,000,000,000 francs, making a total of 30,000,000,000 francs for the recoverable budget, which the French government has estimated at 17,000,000,000 francs, leaving a deficit of 13,000,000,000 francs which must still be met.

The public debt, increased, the report sets forth, amounts to 31,000,000,000 francs, while in 1922, 30,000,000,000 francs additional must be borrowed, so that if these borrowings continue, the report forecasts that by the end of 1925, the French taxpayers will be paying 30,000,000,000 francs yearly as interest, while the amount of the public debt will not exceed 18,000,000,000 francs.

TWO PRINCIPAL ISSUES BEFORE IDAHO VOTERS

Taxation and Primary Questions Will Be Solved by Mandate, Guy Flenner Says in Comment on Situation

Guy Flenner, well known newspaper man, who for years was active in Idaho politics, is a Twin Falls visitor, and in the course of an interview with a News representative indicated his most interesting thought on the present political situation.

"I have taken no active part in the political game this year and do not intend to, having other matters to take up my time," said Mr. Flenner, "but as a citizen standing on the sidelines I have naturally watched the shifting sands and have formed some opinions."

"As I see it, outstanding issues developed by the principal participants in the campaign are taxation and the direct primary.

"While it is true state taxes form a small part of the total—less than being the big item, it is also true that the people demand that state taxes be held down to a minimum consistent with reasonable and necessary maintenance.

"And it will be done because it must be done. No man elected to any position, from governor down, would disregard this mandate of the people, that one subject which needs to be further fought about. The people have settled it in advance. The rest goes, has issued orders.

"Borah and the Statesman.

"The direct primary has developed more of less personal animosity between Senator Borah and the Boise Statesman.

"The Statesman was for the direct primary at the outset and made a hard fight for it as a protest against what had crept into the convention system. It is the editorials favoring the direct primary, which were pulled out of it by the editorial. They were good editorials. I admit it, because I wrote all them.

"But then, newspaper, like an individual, has a perfect right to change its views in the light of what it now regards as failure of any plan it has approved.

"Aside from the latitude permitted in a political campaign I do not believe Senator Borah is entitled to concede this, or that he would deny the newspaper or any individual, whether a candidate or not, the same right of independence of thought and action he claims for himself. On the other hand the Statesman would likely be less belligerent with respect to the senator after the campaign period.

"Up to the People.

"My opinion is that the direct primary is purely a matter of public choice. If the people insist by their vote on legislative candidates that they want a direct primary and the legislature, reflecting a large measure of independence of thought and action, shall insist on being pulled out of direct primary law, and of the candidates for governor would approve it.

"It could hardly be otherwise, especially with a final election. He would not dare disregard such an instruction. It would be the most dangerous sort of personal and party policy.

"The way I look at it, therefore, is that these matters will all come up in sequence.

"First: Whom do the people want for governor?

"Second: Do they want a direct primary?

"One answer will be furnished on November 7, and the other during the legislative session.

"And two years from now, when the question of senator comes up again, my belief is that the people will vote Senator Borah returned to Washington as their representative and will return him whether through a direct primary or a convention. He has been sent there over both routes, mostly, however, over the convention route.

"If I have sized the situation up correctly there will be, in a general way, no party line in the forthcoming election, irrespective of individual views on the primary.

The New Element.

"The progressives, led by Mr. Samuel, form an unknown quantity and, in my opinion, the biggest element of uncertainty for political depoters. I believe Samuels will get more votes than any other candidate, and especially Mr. Alexander and his supporters, credit him with.

"I figure it out this way: There is a very independent sentiment this year. Moreover, Senator Borah's activity in the campaign is bound to help Samuels more than either of the other candidates, and especially Mr. Alexander and his supporters, credit him with.

"I do not mean to say Senator Borah is using the direct primary to

IRISH SEE NO CHANGE IN BRITISH RELATIONS

News of Passing of Lloyd George as Premier Occasions Only Academic Interest in Emerald Isle

DUBLIN, Oct. 21 (AP)—The Irish seem to take no academic interest in the passing of Lloyd George as premier. They have not the slightest interest in that England's cabinet will have no palpable effect on Irish relations.

"Ireland is most interested in the personality of the man who will succeed Winston Spencer Churchill as secretary for the colonies. Since the Anglo-Irish treaty, the late premier, Churchill has been the connecting link between Britain and Eria and all difficulties that arose were discussed with him.

In the south, the republicans resent him as a dictator to the provisional government, but the radicals, who have had an uneasy peace signed, are friendly with him. In the north, his dealings with the Ulster government were gratefully acknowledged by Sir James Craig, the Belfast premier.

QUICK THINKING SAVES LIFE OF ARMY AVIATOR

Chief of McCook Field Firing Section Uses Parachute in Nick of Time and Lands in Grape Arbor

DAYTON, Ohio, Oct. 21 (AP)—Hercules of mind of lieutenant R. H. Harris, chief of the firing section at McCook field, probably saved his life Friday when he unstepped his parachute and leaped from his falling airplane. He landed in a grape arbor in the yard of the home of Daniel Barnes, and his plane crashed to earth in the yard of William Crampton's residence.

It was the first time a firing section pilot has been saved in such a manner, according to officials at the field.

The arbor into which Lieutenant Harris dropped, gave way and he fell to a cement walk. He was badly injured, but he was not seriously hurt. It is believed to have been caused by a weak wing support. The plane was thrown into a nose dive at a height of about 400 feet.

It was too near the earth to right the machine, jumped.

help any candidate for governor? I am talking about the possible effects.

"Any who claim the senator is engaged in such practices naturally attempt to discredit him and impugn his motives.

Some Other Matters.

"Without detracting from the importance that has been attached to any issue of the campaign, I think it timely and appropriate to call attention to some other matters of consequence to the people of Idaho.

"Under any system of election it is the man elected who counts; under any reform of election, on sure way to render expenditures less burdensome to candidates.

"Would anyone undertake to diminish the value, in this direction, of better facilities for storage and marketing of our products?

"Is there a citizen who does not realize that the successful operation of the public and private business now here is a criterion by which we are judged by investors and home-owners, and that they avoid any field presenting evidence of decay and ineffectiveness?

"Who will deny that activity in the development of our resources, that prosperity and the progress of our great operations will materially aid our general industry, agriculture, and give us all added income to meet our public and private expenses?

"Who can successfully controvert the statement that building of needed reclamation works and the extension of our irrigation and electric systems on the farm will give us all more ready cash and render it easier to meet our financial obligations?

"Who can deny that my country has not been faulty, if the figures I have made here have been understood and candidly answered, then the voters of Idaho are the winners. At the same time, the decision as to candidates will reflect a considerable degree their verdict.

"I do not mean to say Senator Borah is using the direct primary to aid in the development of his ability."

BRANCH BANKS SYSTEM PREDICTED BY BABSON

Adoption of New Methods Seems Probable in Consequence of Lack of Success of Foreign Trade Scheme

(Special Authentic Statement to The News—All Rights Strictly Reserved.)

WELLESLEY HILLS, Mass., Oct. 21.—There has been much discussion regarding branch banks at the annual convention of the American Bankers' Association which held last week in New York. Owing to the controversy which this discussion has developed, Roger W. Babson was today interviewed regarding the probable outcome.

Country Drifting Away.

"Of course the discussion is the natural outgrowth of the establishment of the federal reserve banks. Before the days of the federal reserve system," says Mr. Babson, "a branch bank organization practically existed, although it was an uncommon and invisible organization. For instance, the small bank in Indiana took orders from its correspondent bank in Indianapolis and the Indianapolis bank took orders from the big bank in New York. The heads of a few of the New York banks would hold a conference at the home of the late J. Pierpont Morgan, or at the house of J. Baker of the First National bank, and decide upon a policy. This policy they would pass along to the large banks of Boston, Chicago, Philadelphia, St. Louis, New Orleans and other large cities. The banks in these large cities would in turn pass the same policy on to the small banks in their districts. There were so contracts or stock control existing between the banks, but there was an invisible control which was very powerful. With the organization of the federal reserve banks, the clearance of checks at par, and the legislation against interlocking directories, this control was given tremendous jolt. No longer it is much of an object for a country bank to keep a deposit with the large city bank, for there has been a drifting away on the part of the country banks from the city banks. The large banks and cities have become more independent of each other. As long as the money rates are high, this did not worry the city banks, but during the last year when money was scarce and declining, the large city banks have definitely felt the loss of their former power. Hence, they are looking around for some plan to get their country banks back again.

Foreign Trade Scheme Empty.

"There is no hope of breaking up the federal reserve system, which is functioning very satisfactorily. The country banks, however, are active and ambitious. They are building permanent and substantial banking houses and are accumulating great resources. They are leasing reports and other publications which appeal greatly to the country banks. The larger city banks are naturally worried about this situation and are looking for some other means for re-empowering their position. They first turned their attention to foreign trade organizations. Foreign trade was the keynote at the American Bankers' convention two years ago. The foreign trade business, however, has not panned out as well as the banks had hoped it would, and our recent tariff has given almost a death blow to what little new foreign trade we had. Thus, the bank's hopes in this regard are very sanguine at the moment. Another attempt has shown itself in the organization of separate investment companies and separate acceptance companies. These have been organized by many of the larger banks and most of them are operating successfully. They are finding these investment companies more profitable at the moment than their foreign trade adventure. The banks are gradually coming to the opinion, however, that they can recover their influence with the country districts only with organization of branch banks. Hence, there is a strong present to have the national bank will and will not especially care about the advance capacity, but they will want to be sure that the assets are sound and that the bank has not many loans due.

SOVIET TROOPS TO WAIT FOR JAPANESE TO LEAVE

Baron Uchida Says Forces Advancing on Vladivostok Agree Not to Enter Until Japanese Withdraw

TOKIO, Oct. 21 (AP)—Baron Uchida, minister of foreign affairs, has announced that the soviet forces of the Far East, which have been advancing on Vladivostok, have agreed not to enter the capital until it has been completely evacuated by the Japanese forces.

"The Japanese are endeavoring to meet the organization which was willing to take over the war munitions the departing troops leave behind. If they fall the arms will be left for the red force.

Belief ships are being sent to Vladivostok to take off any Japanese or other foreigners who desire to leave the city.

HEALTHY PLACES TO LIVE

The air of Lower California is dry and pure and the atmosphere, except on the western coast, is unusually clear. The narrowness of the peninsula, giving to the atmosphere a touch of the warming air of the sea, and the dryness of the land combine to give the air an invigorating quality. There is probably no more healthful climate in the world than that of Lower California.

COLONELS LOSE STUBBORN FIGHT

Kentuckians' Battle Against Harvard's 21 Point Lead Makes Thrilling Game

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 21 (AP)—Overwhelmed by a first period lull of 21 points, Centro college was defeated by Harvard here last afternoon by a final score of 24 to 10, but the figures do not tell the courageous battle staged by the Kentuckians in the latter periods of play—a battle which lifted the game from a drab defeat into a thrilling struggle that clasped fifty thousand spectators to their seats until the closing second of play.

Fighting Spirit Merges. For more than two hours, lapped time considered, the two halves battled in a furious mixture of hard and brilliant football and it was in particular handling of the ball in special situations that brought about the downfall of the Harvard. It was the valdictory of the Kentuckians in the Harvard stadium for some seasons to come, yet in their passing all thoughts of the exciting scenes of ball following, plus super-judgment as to when and how to strike for scores. The team, which a year ago defeated Harvard 6 to 0, saw the crimson score within two minutes after the opening kickoff, almost a gift touchdown at the very beginning of play.

Centre Comes Back Strong. Three times in the first period of fifteen minutes actual play, Harvard crossed Centre's goal line, due in part to the Colonel's inability to hold the ball and the crimson's superior sense of ball following, plus super-judgment as to when and how to strike for scores. The team, which a year ago defeated Harvard 6 to 0, saw the crimson score within two minutes after the opening kickoff, almost a gift touchdown at the very beginning of play.

Navy Stops Georgia Tech. ANNAPOLIS, Maryland, Oct. 21 (AP)—Smashing down Georgia Tech's much vaunted "hump shift" and otherwise blinding offensive and all the same time making a consistently stout attack themselves with remarkable success with the forward pass, the Annapolis midshipmen triumphed over the Southern college before a crowd of 20,000 on a football field here today by a score of 18 to 0.

Proper Care of Parrots. Parrots in the wild state live on seed and fruit and should, while in captivity, be fed as nearly as possible the same kind of food. They should be fed sunflower seed, hemp seed, boiled yellow corn, stale bread soaked in water, an occasional piece of apple or banana, roasted peanuts and dry crackers. Plenty of water and gravel should be kept in the cage. The parrot's cage should be cleaned every day.

Purity of Mind. You can no more filter your mind into purity than you can compress it into thinness. You must first get rid of wrong thoughts to get it if you would have it quiet.—Ruskin.

WOLVERINES TRIUMPH OVER OHIO BUCKEYES

Michigan Avenges Three Successive Defeats With 10 to 0 Victory

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Oct. 21 (AP)—The Michigan Wolverines tonight stood triumphant over the Ohio State Buckeyes. While the greatest football crowd the middle west has ever known looked on this afternoon Ohio State's team defeated Ohio at all stages and won 10 to 0.

The game marked the dedication of Ohio State's new stadium and the crowd, including 10,000 paid Michigan supporters and their 75-piece band, reverberated the confound of the giant horseshoe's 63,000 seats and spread out into temporary bleachers, along the side lines and into every nook and cranny of the big structure from which a view could be obtained. More than 63,000 persons saw the contest, it was estimated, and a thousand or more surged against the gates in futile efforts to gain admission.

Michigan, by winning today, avenged three successive "letdowns" at the hands of the Buckeyes. But the robbery came as a heavy cost. Robby star, Wolverine halfback, and Vanderbilt regular tackle, probably will be out of the game for the remainder of the season, as a result of injuries. It was announced, had the Michigan in his knee torn, and Vanderbilt a broken arm. Captain Geibel also limped off the field with a sprained ankle.

THREE COLLEGES INVITE CENTRE TO NEW ENGLAND

Harvard Plans Protocol for Denying Game to Fraying Colleges, but Offers Aid to Most Kentuckians

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 21 (AP)—Centre college will not be invited to meet Harvard next year, but the Paying Colonels, who have gained numerous following here as a result of their two great games against the Crimson, have been invited by three northern colleges to play on a Boston gridiron next fall. Boston college, Dartmouth and Brown have asked to meet the Kentuckians. It was learned today and it is arranged, it probably will be played at Fenway Park, home of the Boston American League baseball team.

Harvard authorities have informed Coach Charley Moran it was learned that they would be delighted to welcome the blue grass stars back to Harvard in two or three years, but that the policy adopted by university officials of not booking the same team more than two or three successive years would have to be carried out.

NORTHWESTERN UPSETS DOPE BUCKET WITH TIE

Purple Holds Minnesota to 7 to 7 Score, Baiting Prospects for Early Game for State College

EVANSTON, Ill., Oct. 21, (AP)—A sensational 105-yard run by Chuck Palmer, Northwestern's right half back, upset the dope bucket here today and the Purple held Minnesota to a tie, 7 to 7, ripling what at first looked like an easy game for Minnesota. Palmer's feat was all the more sensational because it clinaxed a series of puns, driving line bucks and beautiful forward passes which had taken the ball to Northwestern's two yard line. It was fourth down and Mitchell, Minnesota fullback, burst through the line and was on the point of downing the ball when it slipped from his hands and rolled to Palmer.

Palmer dashed wide around his right end and the Northwestern team rushed in behind for interference. Every man but Martin was boxed out of the play before Palmer had reached the center of the field. Martin made a great effort but Palmer turned and stiff armed his way just as the two crossed Northwestern's 35 yard line.

Minnesota's touchdown came in the first quarter when the Gophers recovered a punt on their opponents' 34 yard line. A line back failed, but a second pass, Martin to Ekland, worked smoothly, and Ekland stepped across the line for a touchdown, and a moment later droppicked the point after touchdown.

PUNTS AND PASSES

By FULLBACK. Dupert came, saw, and was conquered. The victory over Dupert gave the local football team a clinch on the championship of the South Side section, as Bull and Duray ended in a 6 to 0 tie.

A lie counts as a half game lost, this Bull is one and one-half games behind Twin Falls, and even should they beat the local team next Friday at Bull the Evans clan would still be a half game ahead.

Getting back to Friday's game with Dupert. It was plainly seen that the blue and white meant business at the offset of the game.

The backfield men hit the Dupert line with the force of a pile driver, and it didn't take long for the natives to score a touchdown.

Garry had an off day. The best that he could do was gain from 10 to 25 yards every time he got his hands on the ball.

His leaping catch of a forward pass started by Dupert, and his 60-yard run to a touchdown, was one of the greatest plays ever seen at the local field.

Did you notice Solek? This Ben Brummel although doing nothing of the spectacular, played one of the best games of his career. His interference Friday was wonderful, allowing the speedy Scott to make several long runs unannounced, and did you notice that Solek picks you mean each play, and he never misses.

Puckett's work was all that could be asked. His kicking off against the high wind stamped him as a comer.

When "Stew" Robinson came to the bench he stated that he had been bit in the head and didn't know whether it was a horse or an automobile—that had done the damage.

Steno and Long, the two speedy back field men of the Dupert team, seemed to put reverse English on all their runs.

Dupert has a mighty team, but the high wind of Friday held them back, owing to the fact that they rely on aerial stuff for yardage.

Always got into the game just long enough to show the Dupert squad that they really have a man that can circle the ends, and get away with it.

After Poyers took Scott's place the locals started to uncoil some forward passes. Several of these were completed, but a good many of them failed.

Moroni Jamison and Puckett both looked well Friday on the forward pass stunt. Garry was making perfect passes, and the ends were making them.

A word should be said about Swin-Tish backfield, adding for "Pat" Flynn at left tackle, played a stellar game, getting through the line and showing lots of speed getting down the field on punts.

JURY HOLDS STORES TO CONTRACT FOR SUGAR

Returns Verdict Against Corporation That Was Seeking Agreement to Buy When Market Broke

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 21 (AP)—A jury in United States district court today returned a verdict of $118,775 against the Piggly Wiggly store, Inc. in a breach of contract case in which the Franklin Sugar Refining company, a Pennsylvania corporation, was the plaintiff.

The suit involved the sale of approximately 2,000 barrels of sugar which the plaintiff claimed the defendant contracted to buy here in the summer of 1920 at 22 1/2 cents a pound. The refining company alleged that the sugar was delivered at Philadelphia in accordance with the contract but that because of the engagement was refused by the Piggly Wiggly stores.

The refining company charged that the defendant refused the sugar after the market broke and a suit was brought for the defence between the contract price and the figure at which the sugar was sold on the declining market.

KEMALISTS WEARY OF WAR

Reports of Mutiny in Regiment at Railway Headquarters for Oshank Region Come From Interior

CHIANAI, Oct. 21 (AP)—Reports have reached here from the interior of a mutiny in a Kemalist regiment behind Ezine, Turkish railway headquarters for this region. It is stated that the soldiers are war-weary and desire to return to their homes, this being especially so among the men whose families have recently been under Greek occupation.

Seven prominent Turkish leaders are imprisoned at Ezine. The Black-Sea. The black-cap, one of the songsters of England, sings a sweet, full, clear but short strain, and expresses a great variety of tones, surpassed only by the nightingale. DENIES ASSURANCES IN IRISH PRISONERS' CASE

Mulcahy Declines to Promise Duty that Captives Will Not Be Deported to St. Helena

DUBLIN, Oct. 21 (AP)—Richard Mulcahy, minister of defence, refused in the Dail Eireann today an appeal made to him by George Cavan Duffy for assurance that Irish prisoners would not be deported to St. Helena or some other place where the British navy would be requested to prevent their escape. Mr. Mulcahy refused to name the place of deportation.

William Cosgrove, president of the Dail Eireann, described the Irish military situation as "well in hand and improving daily." "I have no doubt whatever as to the ultimate result," he declared. "All that is wanted is for the people to forget there is any interruption of normal conditions and get back to work."

FIRE FIGHTER LOSES LIFE

Over Exertion and Inhaling Smoke Cause Death of Farmer Battling Blaze in Alberta Forests

EDMONTON, Alta., Oct. 21 (AP)—Serious property damage and the loss of at least one life by forest fires was reported today from Calgary, about 70 miles northwest of Edmonton. A farmer named Todd, residing at Glenister, died from over-exertion and inhaling smoke while fighting the fires. Practically all the able-bodied men in the district went out to fight the flames.

"Scapa Flow." In Scotch the word "Scapa Flow" means "head" and flows means "sea." Scapa Flow is the portion of the sea in the southern part of the Orkney Islands which extends from Pomona to the Pentland firth. It is fifteen miles long and about eight miles wide, and opens by Hoy sound in the northwest joining the Pentland firth to the south near the island of Swona. The term scapa may perhaps be traced to the Gaelic word scapa, to scatter, spread.

BUNKO SUSPECT FALLS IN TRAP

Alleged Member of Gang Opens Door to Detective Who Claims To Be Smith.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21 (AP)—James Collins, believed to be a member of an international gang, whose skillfully legal operations have netted them about $1,000,000 today fell among detectives when he admitted to this apartment an unknown stranger self introduced as "Smith," the fellow was met at a railroad party in New Jersey.

Detectives had trailed Collins known in California, the police say as "The Spanish Head Kid" to his apartment from the race track, a favorite haunt of the gang in the United States as well as in France and England, according to the police. At the door, one detective intruded himself as Smith. Collins remembered Smith from the roadhouse—and admitted the man. Other detectives followed and Collins was arrested.

M. John Gibson, Jersey City stock broker, charges Collins, "by clever swindling operations" defrauded him of approximately $50,000 in cash and securities. Other complaints charge that Collins conducted in 1921 an international exchange for stock and racing operations in Long Branch, N. J.

Detective L. B. Rice, believes that Collins operated also in Cuba and in widely separated parts of the country, including Miami, Florida, Colorado and California.

Other members of the international ring, officials say, are under arrest in other cities.

OREGON AGGIES DOWNED BY WASHINGTON MACHINE

'Dark Horse' Team Comes Crisp in Second Half of Contest With Purple and Gold

SEATTLE, Oct. 21 (AP)—Oregon football team came a cropper in the second half of today's game with the University of Washington eleven, and the Huskies' reconstructed purple and gold machine came out on the long end of the 14 to 0 score. It was a fight from start to finish, with the Huskies leading 14 to 0 at the end of the first half. The game started all the way in the second period scored their only marker, Garbor placing a drop kick straight between the goal posts from the 25-yard line.

The break came just before the end of the first half. The plunging Aggie carried the ball to the Washington seven yard line and the fans stood up to cheer the expected O. A. C. score. It never came. The Huskies held hard and the Aggie after seven hard smashes gave up the ghost on the Washington one-yard line. The whistle blew a second later.

COLORADO MINERS TAKE UTAH AGGIES' MEASURE

Conference Tilt Holders Eliminated on Own Field and Practically Shut Out of Championship

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Oct. 21 (AP)—The Colorado School of Mines defeated the Utah Agricultural college, present conference title holders, 10 to 0, and practically eliminated the Utah Aggies from further championship prospects. In spite of the fact that the score seems rather one-sided the playing on the whole was quite even and for half the game favored the Aggies. The Colorados took the farmers off their feet in the first half and in the last eight minutes scored two touchdowns, making a goal and in the final period scored a third touchdown.

OHIOGAG WINS FROM PURDUE

STAGO FIELD, Chicago, Oct. 21 (AP)—Starting with a team of substitutes with two exceptions, Ohio defeated Purdue, 18 to 0, before 20,000 people on Stagg field today in the last game of the important Intercollegiate contest with Princeton next Saturday. Coach Stagg held his stars on the sidelines until the second half as he did not care to risk losing them. He used nearly three complete teams in the long drawn out game, which required two hours and three-quarters to play.

MICHIGAN AGGIES WIN

EAST LANSING, Mich., Oct. 21 (AP)—Placing a precisely reconstructed eleven in the field, Michigan Aggies defeated the heavy South Dakota football eleven 7 to 0 this afternoon. The Aggies won the first few minutes of play, Fullback Burris ploughing through the South Dakota right end, following two forward passes. He also kicked goal.

STANFORD'S OPPONENTS STRONG

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Cal., Oct. 21 (AP)—St. Mary's college presented an unexpectedly strong line in today's football contest with Stanford and the best the Cardinals could do was to drop over three place kicks. Final score 9 to 0. St. Mary's offense never was a threat to Stanford.

ALEXANDER DEFENDS HIS RECORD IN TALK AT BURL

Democratic Candidate for Governor Holds Audience of 350 Persons for Two Hours

BURL, Oct. 21, (Special to The News)—An audience of more than 350 people sat for two hours in the Rex Theatre here Friday evening to listen to ex-governor M. Alexander discuss the issues of the coming election, and defend his record against charges made by republican speakers, who, he said, were trying to lead the people to believe untruths about his former administration.

Democratic candidates for county offices and for the state legislature sat on the platform with the former governor. J. M. Shanak, democratic state committeeman, introduced Mr. Alexander, and presided during the meeting. The speaker urged return of the direct primary law, and the non-partisan judiciary, which he characterized as the "crime of 1919." He also argued for bank guarantee law in Idaho, and pledged, if elected, to do everything possible to induce the state legislature to pass these three measures as the earliest possible moment.

Ex-governor Alexander said that speakers for the republican party charged that Alexander went out of office January, 1919, with a large deficit in the several funds of the state treasury, and that this was one of the principal reasons for the high taxes imposed during the years following.

To refute these charges the speaker said that from the state party treasurer, which showed that there was a balance of $219,000 in the general fund, $89,000 in the state highway fund, $180,000 in the highway bond fund, and smaller amounts in other funds, making a total left in the different departments of the state treasury of $548,000 on January 1, 1919.

Mr. Alexander said that it was true he collected $20,000 insurance when the soldier's home burned, and $50,000 when one of the educational institution buildings burned, but he added that money was placed into the general fund which was the only place it could be legally put.

Ex-governor Alexander denounced the cabinet form of government as expensive and unnecessary, and said that if he is elected he will urge repeal of this law.

"The cabinet government was instituted to create jobs for the party bosses," Alexander declared. "Institutions were increased 220 per cent in 1921 over the number in 1918, and salaries were increased 237 per cent."

The speaker quoted from a government report issued at Washington, D. C., showing that the per-capita cost of government in Idaho in 1921 was $7, as compared with $15 in 1920.

KIMBERLY MAN CLAIMS SPUD PICKING HONORS

W. K. Emerson Says Harvest With 824 Sacks in Day of Eight Hours; 75 Pounds a Minute

Honors for efficiency in picking potatoes are claimed for W. K. Emerson of Kimberly who, in eight hours Saturday, picked 824 sacks, averaging 111 pounds to the sack, according to J. D. Bolton, who weighed the potatoes in Twin Falls and weighed them. The potatoes were certified seed stock and were picked at the farm of S. H. Proctor, three miles south of the city. Mr. Emerson averaged 75 pounds to the minute, Mr. Bolton said.

LLOYD GEORGE KEEPS PLAN FOR FUTURE VEILED

Defends Administration and Praises Associates; Avoids Reference to Chamberlain's Thrust at Labor Party

LEEDS, Oct. 21 (AP)—In a characteristic speech before a sympathetic audience today, David Lloyd George defended his administration, but refrained from revealing his program. He spoke strongly of the past but vaguely of the future. Apparently his plans are not yet formed, or he feels that the time is not ripe for disclosing them.

He promised the people that whatever the future might bring he would do nothing mean or nasty, saying: "I will play no part that is unworthy of the confidence placed in me by the people of this country at the greatest moment in the empire's history."

Crime Against Nation

Mr. Lloyd George did not say a word to lead the liberal body. He said this year at Manchester, from endorsing Austen Chamberlain's pronouncement that the best way to deal with the country's situation. After reviewing the achievements of his government in war and peace, and particularly holding up its success in restoring peace and order, commercial progress, he exclaimed: "And they have smashed the combination, our commerce and our credit, throughout the world; it is a crime against the nation."

He alluded to the chancellor of the exchequer, Mr. Chamberlain and Sir Robert Stevenson Horns, and paid his compliments to the anti-war cabinet, declaring that he was not going to let them go to enforcing specific economies. He passed over lightly the word "revolution" which is the key point of Mr. Chamberlain's attack on labor and asserted that the government had dealt successfully with industrial crises after crises and now had got things through out the industrial world.

Eulogies Achievements

One of his keenest phrases was: "We are just beginning to look the dollar in the face on great terms" after claiming the approach of sterling exchange toward normal as one of the important works of the government.

Enthusiasm recently caused the retiring premier of cordness toward the League of nations, but he eulogized it as another of the government's great works. He had good words for the Washington agreement and for the League of nations, which he had cooperated in the Tripartite settlement.

The meeting was held in a moving picture house, because it was the largest in the town. The darkened auditorium the limelight was turned upon Mr. Lloyd George, literally. The crowds were immense and there was no mistaking the nature of the occasion from the nature of their greeting. Characteristic as the speech was as far as it went it lacked personalities which usually follow Lloyd George's platform appearances.

At War Memorial

In the morning, accompanied by several members of parliament, Mr. Lloyd George laid a wreath at the foot of the Leeds war memorial, the first of the kind anywhere at the town hall before the ceremony of conferring the freedom of the city. His arrival at the hall, accompanied by Mrs. Lloyd George and their daughter, Meghan, was the signal for an outburst of real sentiment on the part of the crowd, repeated by those gathered within.

FISHING SCHOONER RACE THREATENED BY RULING

Captain of American Boat Declines to Accept Committee's Holding of No Contest

GLoucester, Mass., Oct. 21 (AP)—The fishing schooner Henry Ford, challenging in behalf of the American Fishing fleets, with Secretary of the Navy Donnell, in the presence of a United States international champion, by two miles today in a forty mile race. Because both of the schooners refused to accept the ruling, the race was declared a no contest.

As a result Captain Clayton Mortimer of the Henry Ford and his crew tonight declared their intention of putting dories aboard and going back to the banks to fish, quitting the race. The captain of the American schooner, was outspoken in private and to "crowds in his assertion that it was "fair race, and for the Henry Ford a fair victory."

EIGHT CLUBS SCHEDULED IN JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL

Students' Activities to be Taken Up in Work of Organizations Under Direction

The first general assembly of the year was being held this morning on Thursday of this week in the high school auditorium.

The high school band under the direction of Mr. E. B. Boring, played new pieces. They were thoroughly enjoyed by the entire school. Cora Jensen gave two clever readings. The rest of the program was given over to announcements.

Principal Rose Murray North outlined the program of the year relative to the club work and extra activities. The following clubs will be organized early next week by the regular teaching staff of the building in order to give to the pupils some mass of work or activity that they have no opportunity to get in any other way.

1. Penmanship Club—This will be open to eighth grade students only. Those pupils anxious to perfect their writing or to work for a Palmer diploma will be helped by Miss Anna Hoyer, who will have charge of the club.

2. Girls' Glee Club—Miss Simpson and Mrs. Hobbs will direct this work this year.

3. Boys' Debate Club—The "Wobster Debating Society" will be reorganized this year under Miss Chapman.

4. Girls' Debate Club—The girls will also have an opportunity for debating work under Miss Chapman.

5. Sewing Clubs—The purpose of these clubs is to help the girls in making their Christmas gifts and to give opportunity for the exchange of ideas. Miss Robinson and Miss Reider will be the leaders.

6. Dramatic Clubs—There will be two dramatic clubs. One will be led by Miss Emedman and Miss Bishop will be the teachers in charge.

7. Basket Ball—Two groups will be organized for basket ball. Miss Case, the coach of last year will have one group and Mrs. Merritt, former athletic teacher for the high school girls will have another group.

Much enthusiasm is expressed by the pupils over the club work and a successful year seems certain.

Why?

Our shoe department is one of the fastest growing departments in our store. We feel that its growth is the direct result of carrying quality merchandise, selling it on a low margin of profit and the careful attention by our shoe fitter to proper fitting of every shoe. We have a slogan in the shoe department: "Better to lose the sale than to misfit the Customer."

This week we want more people to get acquainted with our shoe department, so here you will find offerings that are surprisingly low. Let's get acquainted.

The bridge to Happy feet.

here is a real "bridge" concealed in every Arch Preserver Shoe—an integral part of the shoe—built in. It keeps your foot arch always in normal shape—supports it as Nature intended for the foot to be supported. This "bridge" means happy feet—healthy feet—all during life!

We Have a Card Index Containing the Names of 375 Women Who Are Regular Wearers of Arch Preservers

Some of these women have purchased their tenth pair. The shoe that is scientifically constructed so that it keeps healthy foot well and cures the ill of many feet.

If you are having trouble of any kind with your feet, have that tired, aching feeling that makes you almost ill, come in and let us tell you about the shoe that has helped hundreds and may help you. It is stylish and good looking.

Outsized Shoes for Stouts

We have always catered to the women who are hard to fit. We carry a complete size range in a well-made comfort shoe for women with large ankles. Has rubber heel and is made of finest quality black kid leather. Special this week $5.95

The Case and The Girl

By Randall Parrish

What did they intend doing with him now that he was in their hands? Joe had declared his faith would be left with Hobart. Then it must be that they had a rendezvous arranged somewhere with the arch-conspirator, some hidden lair along the shore where they were to meet shortly, and divide the spoils, or make further plans. Hobart unquestionably was the leader of the gang; but who was the woman? She had evidently been in Mike's place the night before, and had a glimpse of the party. She must have left with that fancy in the automobile, yet she surely was not the one who had dropped that note, begging the police to search this vessel.

What then had become of the other? If she was being held prisoner, it was not at all probable she had been left somewhere alone; apparently she had reason to know where she was being taken—to the Seminoles; otherwise she would never have written as she did. She must have overheard their plans, before she hastily scribbled the note desperately; and yet those plans might have been changed. However, if so, why were these people—accomplices of Hobart no doubt—feeling in the yacht, seeking to conceal their identity in an effort to disappear? What were they doing there? Why were they so fearful of discovery by the police? What would cause them to kidnap him, merely on suspicion that he was a friend of Natalie Coolidge? They were in no proof, possessing that information of the girl. It could be accounted for on no other theory.

West paced the narrow space, his brain whirling, as he attempted to reason the affair out, his own helplessness becoming more and more apparent. What could he do? There was but one answer—absolutely nothing as he was then situated. He could only wait for some movement on the part of the others; his fate was out of his own hands; he had been a fool, and now he was paying for it.

"The little cat! She dropped it!" "It seems so. You forgot yourself that time. So she was with you, was she?" "I don't know what you mean. I told you who were with me. Go on; what did the note say?" "It was only a request for the police to search the Seminoles at once."

"Oh, that's the way the wind blows. That rat ordered to let him go, job yourself. I am certainly obliged to you, West."

"You have no reason to be afraid of me on the case. They are coming the city in the morning, and if they get him, this bubble of yours is likely to be pricked."

"H—I, they won't get him. There isn't a fly-cop in Chicago who could locate Jim in a week, and as for Natalie, believe me she is quite able to take care of herself."

"But where is she?" "At home, of course, if you last know—Fairlane, isn't that your name of the piece? We left her over on our way to Jackson's pier."

"Then the girl was with you?" "Spilled the beans, didn't I? That comes from talking too much. However, there is no harm done. Sure she left with us, but we dropped her at Fairlane's pier. It was her car we were riding in. Say, you've questioned me about enough, so let up. Listen now—you will stay in this stateroom until we get ready to let you out. Don't try a funny business, either for if you do you are going to get hurt. There is a gun outside in the cabin, and we are not afraid to shoot out here on the lake. Nobody knows where you are—West; so it was to the 'lean quiet'—that's my advice."

He slipped out, closing and locking the door behind him. West, more thoroughly confused than ever upon the situation in which he found himself, sat on the edge of the brown stateroom, and then paused to stare moodily out of the port.

He had learned little of the slightest value; merely that Natalie had been the party leaving in the automobile the night before. This, undoubtedly, had been the one who had dropped the note. Then, in spite of all they said about her, in words of what she had told him, she was actually a princess, desperately begging assistance to escape. As to the other things Hogan had told him, the probability was they were mostly lies. West did not believe the girl had returned to Fairlane; the story did not sound natural. The longer he thought it all over, the more thoroughly was he convinced the girl and he were both prisoners on the same vessel. Yet what could he do? He sank down, with head in his hands, totally unmoved—it was his fate to attempt nothing; only to wait on fortune.

Mark brought in food, merely opening the door slightly, and sliding the tray on the floor. No words were exchanged, nor was the tray removed until just as he reached the door, when he appeared again on a similar mission. It became dark, but no light was furnished. Outside the clouds had thickened, and a heavy swell was tossing the vessel about rather roughly. Reckoning the engine was making an attempt to maintain head-way, with no port in immediate prospect; they were steering aimlessly into the promise of a stormy night. No sound reached him from the cabin, and finally, worn out mentally and physically, West flung himself on the lower bunk, and lay there motionless, starting up into the intense darkness.

Lying there motionless, yet wide awake, his eyes alert, he could feel the lurching of the vessel as the swell of waves against the side of the rush of water astern. The Seminoles rolled heavily, yet there was nothing at all startling in her actions, and held him prisoner, to act. He was still seated there, listless, incapable even of further thought, when the door was suddenly unlocked. He had but faintly fatigue conquered, and he sank into a deep sleep. He had no knowledge of how long this slumber lasted, or what suddenly awakened him, so startled at the moment that he sat up in the berth, staring into the darkness. Was it a dream, or a reality? Had some one spoken? He could neither see nor hear anything; the boat seemed to be motionless, not even throbbing now to the beat of the engine. He was in a bright light. "Some thing was wrong, must be wrong. Where were they—at anchor in some harbor or helplessly adrift on the lake? The yacht rocked gently, as though the swell of the sea no longer buffeted her; there was no sound of action on the deck above. Then he heard a voice again, outside, reaching him this time plainly through the open port.

"All set, Misses," it said sharply. "Come on down. You finished the job?" "Ay, ay, sir," the answer came, but with a tinge of excitement in the tone. "She's fixed all right. Hold hard, now, and don't stir a finger."

West leaped to the port-hole, and endeavored to gain a glimpse without. If land was near it remained invisible, nor could he even be sure of the close proximity of a boat. There seemed to be a smudge there at the edge, like a black, lumpy shadow, shapeless against the background of sea; yet he could not be sure. Even as he gazed at it doubtfully, the dim-object disappeared, fading away like a mirage. "Something told me that mysterious shadow was a boat, a boat filled with men, creeping away silently into the night, feeling from the yacht, and vanishing into the darkness."

What could such action mean, had there been any one, leaving the vessel totally abandoned, a wreck buffeted by the surges, doomed to go down, unseen, its dual fate unknown? Unknown! The word flung to his brain was a hammer. There was the crew of the plot. What could he expect, or safer, than this ending? Who would ever know the truth? Who could ever prove anything, even if they suspected? And who was there to suspect? It was a fatal infernal.

But if Natalie Coolidge was also prisoner on board, what of her? Wasn't that the very thing most probable? Of course it was, how foolish he had been. These men, recklessly daring as they were, would never sacrifice the yacht, and their own lives, merely to put him out of the way. It was not important enough for that; he was but an accident.

"While this was a must-be a carefully arranged plan, the girl then must be the real victim—his own slight, arose merely because he chanced to be there, and the villains dare not leave him alive to tell the story."

West felt no premonition of illness, or fear as to the sea-worthiness of the little craft. He endeavored to argue himself to sleep. He had but faintly fatigue conquered, and he sank into a deep sleep. To the Voters of Twin Falls County

The undersigned Democratic Legislative candidates from Twin Falls County are interested in seeing that the voters are informed of their attitude toward the issue of the Direct Primary. We stand squarely on the Democratic State Platform as unqualifiedly in favor of a direct primary for the nomination of all Congressional, State and County Candidates. If elected we will use every effort to have enacted such a primary law, believing firmly in the principle of the right of the people to rule and as against the domination of our politics by machine rule through the old convention system.

ELKS' FESTIVAL IS ENDED WITH RECORD CROWD

Gayety Prevails as Four Day Program is Closed With Records Showing Attendance of 6,500 Persons

The four-day circus and festival of the Elks closed Saturday night with 6574 persons having been admitted and the total attendance on the closing night of 2350, or twice as many as was admitted on any of the three other nights...

Gate records show that 1420 attended Wednesday night, 1120 on Thursday, and 1180 on Friday night. The new lodge building was packed last night and the crowds showed a determination to remain until the last moment...

Enthusiasm in the city but still well behaved, they swarmed about the various booths and many spent a large part of the evening there. The circus performance attracted the greater total of nearly 800-and-every-other attraction was patronized far more extensively than on any other night of the festival.

Those attending seemed to catch the feeling of the occasion of the closing evening and conducted themselves accordingly. Hapfulness and a care-free attitude accompanied the groups of people as they passed from place to place and indulged according to their fancy.

Amusement Prevalent. Age joined hands with youth and both enjoyed the event immensely. The floors were covered with a layer of soft and fluffy cushions...

One of the principal attractions in the booth section Saturday night was the auction and under the auspices of Chapin, who reported an exceptionally heavy patronage. Following the last performance of the circus play, about 1000 persons attended the auction...

Dissembling. Thieves. The dissembling of the crowd was a source of entertainment for the hundreds and to the establishment of Hell! Mountain crowds of young and old took a flight along the "big man" tables and devices and remained to dance. The dance on the second floor was crowded to capacity practically the entire evening and during the midnight crowds were gathered about the doors waiting to enter.

The patronage of the festival has been more than that of any other. B. Taber, exalted ruler of the Elks. "On behalf of the lodge I wish to express my sincere appreciation of the cooperation of both the public and the business men and all others who have so willingly devoted their time and efforts to make the circus and festival such a pleasing success."

LARGE STRINGENT LIQUOR MEASURE

Idaho Club Women at Burley Biennial Recommend Prison Terms for Bootleggers

Recommendation that bootlegging be made a venial offense, that a bill be urged for the compulsory teaching of the constitution of the United States in all public and private schools and opposition to the repeal of the law providing for building of municipal sanitariums are some of the items included in resolutions passed at the ninth biennial session of the Idaho Club Women which closed at Burley Friday night.

Another part of the resolution reads: "Do it resolved, that we, the state federation, declare ourselves for the endorsement of all existing laws for the protection of the health of the community in general and for childhood and motherhood—in particular—that we insist that all money authorized by the state legislature for the carrying out of such ordinances be used for such purposes and no other, and that we strongly favor the development of our Bureau of vital statistics to the degree which will limit us to the registration area of the United States."

Otherwise the resolutions include the following: "In support of an amendment to the constitution to place all funds in the hands of the state treasurer; that the state president shall not be expected to visit all individual clubs but shall attend the state and district meetings; that the name of Mrs. Eliza Hart Spalding be engraved on the Idaho column in the Hall of Remembrance; support of the sterilization bill; endorsement of the bill to make all financial contracts signed by married women binding; investigation of United States history in use in public schools; support of the prohibition amendment; support of the bill to establish county libraries where desired; continuance of publication of the year book and bulletin; and resolution No. 4 adopted at the convention at Coeur d'Alene urging that the Whitman and Spalding mission sites be set aside as national parks for the purpose of the legislative committee for immediate action."

Officers chosen: Mrs. William George of Coeur d'Alene, president; Mrs. Wagon Tree of Moscow, vice-president; Miss Lovick of Burley, recording secretary; Mrs. H. A. Pughan of Gooding, treasurer; Mrs. J. A. Snyder of Springfield, auditor; Mrs. L. B. Green of Mt. Home, general federation director; Mrs. E. Wright of Idaho Falls, director first district; Mrs. Fred Gooding of Gooding, director second district; Mrs. E. E. Laker of Lewiston, director third district; Mrs. George Steele, Mrs. Will Gibson, Mrs. Lyman, Mrs. Standrod, Mrs. Clouback and Mrs. Stegory, delegates to the biennial meeting in Los Angeles in 1924.

Social Notes

Edited by Mrs. E. B. Williams. Telephone 286. The H. H. Hodstrom home on Eleventh avenue east was the scene of a merry gathering Saturday evening when Miss Dorothy, the daughter of the house, entertained her teachers and a number of girl friends at a delightful Halloween party. The rooms were decorated with witches, black cats, jack-o-lanterns, and all the emblematical of the season. In one corner of the room a witches cauldron simmered containing small packages which portended the fortunes of the guests. Games and stunts were enjoyed, and supper was served at an able partner being found by disengaging a spider who stretched across the room. The guests list included Mrs. Charles North, Mrs. Harold Merritt, Miss Horner, Miss Casey, Mrs. Tobill, Miss Smolman, Miss Casey, Mrs. Doris Graves, Maxwell Wynne, Glenn Coleman, Marvin Baird, Mary Farnell, June Porter, Dorothy Chonoff, Julia Hunter, Ruth Van Gilder, Hazel Grimes, Wilma Devereaux, Hazel Robt, Elaine Stone, Catherine Newman and Dorothy Zeilung.

The American War Mothers met on Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Henry Peters on Second avenue east. Mrs. David Brown, newly elected War Mother, presided over the business meeting. Plans for the work for the coming year were announced and promise to be interesting as well as instructive. A social hour followed, and Mrs. Peters assisted by Mrs. W. H. Karis served dainty refreshments.

The Star Social club members will entertain their husbands at a Halloween dancing party Tuesday evening, October 24, at the Masonic Temple. Members of the O. E. S. and Masons and their ladies are invited. Card tables will be arranged for those who do not dance.

Shabby Leather Chairs Brightened. When leather chairs begin to look shabby try this remedy: Wipe all dirt and dust from chairs, and then rub with a cloth that has been dipped in white of egg, well beaten. Rub well with soft clean cloths when dry and the leather will look like new.

English City on the Move. Greenwich, London, is said to have "gritted" half a mile towards the equator in eighteen years.

Samuelson to Repeat Firm. An address on campaign issues will be delivered at the Lavering theatre Tuesday evening by H. F. Samuelson, progressive candidate for governor. Senator K. I. Perky will speak November 3.

WEDDING TO CULMINATE ANOTHER WAR ROMANCE

Miss Eunice Donnan Comes From England to Become Bride of Twin Falls Man

Another war romance will culminate Sunday in the wedding of Mr. G. Olley, employed at the Recheide store, and Miss Eunice Donnan of Liverpool, England. The ceremony will take place in the Episcopal church Sunday afternoon and in the absence of the pastor the Episcopal minister from Burget will officiate.

Mr. Olley, who is a native of England, was a life-long friend of the Donnan family and the children of the two families were fast friends while at school in Liverpool. Several years ago Mr. Olley came to this country and finally located at Gooding.

While there he was called to serve in the British army and during his three years' service he was with three different branches of the service and was in action in several places. He was on the Stander front and twice on the French line, gaining his first combat experience at St. Mihiel with the British cavalry. On returning to Liverpool after the war he renewed his acquaintance with Miss Donnan. Mr. Olley returned to Twin Falls in March 1921. Miss Donnan arrived in Twin Falls Thursday and the nuptials were secured at her home here the following day. They will reside in Twin Falls.

Temperature Drops to New Low Level

By way of bearing out his prediction of approaching cold, the weather man dropped the temperature Saturday 10 degrees below his low mark of Friday and allowed it to register its final stage at 30 degrees.

It is expected to have been affected by a bit of sympathy during the day, however, and the temperature reached 55 degrees as the high mark, which was one degree above the high temperature of Friday.

Fair is the forecast of Saturday night.
