BONAR LAW ON THRESHOLD OF DIFFICULT TASK

England's First Canadian-Born Premier Enters Upon Work of Office; Cabinet List Almost Complete

LONDON, Oct. 23. (AP)—Andrew Bonar Law today, in the traditional phrase of the court circular, "kissed hands upon his appointment as prime minister and first lord of the treasury," and thus becomes England's first Canadian-born premier.

Today was devoted to the formalities necessary in a monarchical country to a change in the government. The king in the morning gave an audience to and took formal leave of the outgoing prime minister, Mr. Lloyd George. Then came the unanimous meeting in the afternoon when Mr. Bonar Law was unanimously elected leader of the party. This was followed by an audience at Buckingham palace, when Mr. Bonar Law at the king's invitation, undertook to form a new administration.

Elections Dated Tentatively

The king will hold a privy council probably Wednesday, if a cabinet can be formed by that time. He will then appoint the ministry, for the swearing in of the new ministers. The king, on the advice of the prime minister, will probably make a general election on Thursday, and, according to present arrangements, elections will be held November 15.

The Bonar Law is understood to have declined that almost completed, and it is expected the composition of the ministry will be announced tomorrow. It is the almost universal opinion that he proceeds to a most difficult and onerous task, and many misgivings are heard as to whether his health will stand the inevitable strain, but he has made it quite clear that if he finds his health unequal to the task, he shall be allowed quietly to step aside.

The situation is unique in the history of British election politics, as it is the first time before the election date that the leaders have yet announced his policy; each side appears to be waiting on the other. Mr. Lloyd George's opponents are making every suggestion on the sword he announced himself as brandishing when he left London Sunday must have been lost somewhere on the way to Leeds.

Coalition Only Issue

The only real question before the electorate is whether they wish to continue with the present government, but that cannot properly be described as an election plank, because except in case of a tremendous landslide in favor of the opposition, it is almost certain that no party will be returned strong enough to form a government without the co-operation of some other party.

Mr. Bonar Law confirms that Ireland is an agreed question, and he further intimated clearly and frankly at the unanimous meeting today that tariff reform or protection would not form an item of his policy. And since Mr. Lloyd George has announced himself as a free trader, this question cannot come to the front, as both the Liberal and Labor parties are in favor of free trade. The prime minister promises to define his policy in his coming speech at Glasgow, but judging from his remarks today it will not be of an essential character.

Content of Personalities

The content seems likely to be one of a series of acts, rather than measures, so far as these two parties are concerned. The free liberals and the laborites have, of course, well defined policies, and, according to present indications, are resolutely opposed to any co-operation with Lloyd George, even should the former pre-

COLLINS' FIANCE WILL TAKE THE VEIL

Miss Klorman took with either of them.

The laborites will resent the fixing of the election for mid-week and will represent the decision as a deliberate intention of the Unionist party to handicap the working man voters. The Unionists have two arguments against delaying the elections until the following Saturday—first, that a short time is allowed for passing Irish legislation, and second, that the country dislikes a general election so near Christmas, because it interferes with Christmas shopping.

If the elections are held on November 15, parliament will be able to recess for the 20th but several days will be consumed in swearing in the members, electing the speaker and debating the reply to the king's speech, which it is expected, will contain only one legislative item, namely, the Irish constitution. Thus, there will be very few days left to debate the Irish bill, and the prime minister probably will invite the house to pass it practically without debate as an agreed measure.

USES FIGURES TO PROVE PARTY PLEDGE FULFILLED

Assistant Senate Leader Compares Records of Governmental Expenditures

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23. (AP)—A compilation of governmental expenditures during the past year was made public by Senator Curtis of Kansas, assistant republican leader of the senate, as an evidence he said that his party had made good its promise to save money for the taxpayer.

Appropriations for the fiscal year 1922, the Kansas senator compiled, total $47,038,282 compared to $45,450,000,640 for 1920. His figures showed that taxes this year had been reduced by $800,000,000, that 128,000 persons had been dropped from the government payroll and that the standing army had been reduced from 258,000 in 1920 to 125,000 in 1922.

Economy under the republican administration, Mr. Curtis said, has made it possible to reduce aggregate expenses despite payments to disabled veterans now averaging $1,250,000 annually.

HORSE STILL IMPORTANT IN WORLD OF COMMERCE

Number of Horses in Use in New York City Increases 100 Per Cent in Five Years

CHICAGO, Oct. 23. (AP)—The horse is still a vital factor in American commercial life. This is shown in the statement of Wm. W. Dismore, secretary of the Horse Association of America, that the number of horses in use in New York City has increased 100 per cent in five years.

More than 150,000 horses are in commercial use throughout the United States by one company alone.

The American Railway express, credited with being the largest commercial user of horses in the world, still is finding the horse an important factor in its work. On July 31, 1922, the company had in its service 15,254 horses. The average number of horses kept jumped from 8704 in 1917 to 17,253 in 1921.

The average length of life for horses still active in express service is 5 years, 11 months. Surveys showed that after using 493 horses for five years they were sold for 23 per cent of their original cost. These horses, discarded because unable to maintain the harder work and rapid pace required in express service, were placed in other work where the hauling was relatively slow and reports indicated that such horses continued in service for three or four years.

THEORY OF CYCLES IN BUSINESS DISCREDITED

Yale University Professor Says Investigation Shows No Regularity of Money Rate Fluctuation

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 23. (AP)—Professor L. W. Mises of Yale University, one of the editors of the Harvard Economic Service, told a gathering of businessmen at the Harvard union that investigation had shown that there was no regular period in the fluctuations of money rates.

The meeting was a colloquial session of the conference of the Harvard committee on economic history, by writers on economic history," said Professor Curn, "that the fluctuations in the business cycle occurred or tend to occur at regular intervals. This hypothesis is supported by statistical arguments of such evident plausibility that it has seemed wise to make a searching test of its correctness in a particular case.

"The rate of interest on sixty to ninety day commercial paper was chosen as a representative and important factor in the business cycle. A thorough examination of the record from 1866 to date showed that there is no regular period in the fluctuation of money rates."

If You Made Your Own Gasoline

WOULDN'T you strive to make it satisfactory from every standpoint rather than a little out of the ordinary in one respect or another? You'd naturally try to get a gasoline that would do the whole job under all conditions — one that was thoroughly dependable in starting, pick-up, power and mileage. You'd hardly be satisfied with wonderful pulling power on the hills if you got it at the expense of low mileage or balky starts, would you?

The uniform dependability that most motorists demand is the chief reason for the year-in-and-year-out popularity of CONOCO, the balanced gasoline. Long experience and constant care together with the most modern refining methods are responsible for its correct range of boiling-points and each group of these in exactly the right proportion to give it the balance that is needed in the ideal gasoline.

During the many years that CONOCO has been available, many "phenomenal" motor fuels have, from time to time been offered the motoring public. Probably you have tried one or more of these in your search for gasoline satisfaction. But the fact that CONOCO is still the popular gasoline is striking evidence that the majority of gasoline users prefer all-round excellence to one-sided superiority.

Try CONOCO for a month — a fair test — and watch its performance from every standpoint. You'll find all the good qualities you've been looking for in a gasoline and you'll be done experimenting with other brands.

The life and power of your motor depend on its proper lubrication under all conditions. Get POLARINE. The Perfect Motor Oil, and be sure!

SCIENTISTS WAR UPON LOCUSTS

Quiet Work of Two Philadelphia Men Promises to Save Nation Millions of Dollars

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 23 (AP)—The quiet, unobtrusive labor of two Philadelphia scientists during recent years in the realm of locusts, grasshoppers, and katydids may save the United States millions of dollars in the future. It is demonstrated each year in the Near East, South America, and other regions, how possible it is for a locust band, large enough to darken the sky for hours, to rise out of nowhere and eat to the ground thousands of miles of harvest. This has happened even in the United States, and a recurrence is what scientists are laboring to prevent.

Collect Specimens.

The two men, James A. G. Rehn, recording secretary of the Academy of Science, this city, and Morgan Hebard, research associate, returned recently from a tour of the Southern United States in the course of which they gathered no less than 9,000 locust specimens. Mr. Rehn declared that they are approaching the end of the survey they set themselves to make of this portion of the insect world fifteen years ago.

"One can never know," Rehn said, "why some species will thrive to overwhelming numbers, as the Rocky Mountain locust did in the late seventies and the early eighties. This species swept from its native habitat in Montana and the Northwest generally, clear down through the wheat states as far south as Texas, devouring every growing thing in its path."

World Pays Huge Toll.

"The annual cost to the world at large of locust plagues is about $100,000,000. Last year 5,000 acres in British Columbia were stripped in the Orient, South Africa, the Levant, and South America these insects descend on crops with deadly regularity. The great value of the expedition fostered by the Academy is that they place at the disposal of the agricultural stations in this country and elsewhere definite information on the conditions which favor their development."

In the building of the Academy of Science here there are approximately four hundred thousand specimens of locusts, representing 40,000 separate and distinct species, the largest collection in the world. Supporting the specimens is an unparalleled store of well correlated data, readily available for reference.

Turquoise Always Popular.

A stone greatly admired and widely used in ancient days was the turquoise. Throughout the East even today, there exists an intense though still unexplained love of the turquoise. RED BLUFF RESERVOIR WILL COST $1,650,000

Dam to Impound Water Just North of Texas-Mexico Line Under Consideration

EL PASO, Texas, Oct. 23 (AP)—Construction of the proposed dam at Red Bluff, New Mexico, just north of the Texas-Mexico state line, which would create a storage reservoir with 300,000 acre feet capacity, will cost approximately $1,650,000, according to the estimate of consulting engineers for the Red Bluff reservoir, according to present plans, would be used to store flood waters and provide for the irrigation of 90,000 acres of Texas land. Measurements taken since 1912 show an average of 407,000 acre feet of water flow past the Red Bluff site each year.

Plans for building of the dam, which is being considered by the Pecos Valley Water Users Association, have been suggested. One is inducing the federal government to make it a reclamation project, the second is to form a financing company from the water users, and the third is to await action of the state legislature.

ALFALFA HOLDS ITS ADVANTAGE

Commands Higher Price With Other Hay Selling Below Last Year's Average

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 (AP)—The 1922 hay crop is moving at prices slightly below last year's level, according to a national survey of the hay market situation just completed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. On October 1, last year, the average price for number 1 timothy at the principal markets was $22.25 per ton, while at the present time the average price at the same markets is about $21. Prairie hay is about 50 cents per ton lower on an average of about $14 per ton for No. 1 Upland at the principal prairie hay markets. Alfalfa, however, is selling about last year's level, No. 1 alfalfa selling on an average of $21.50 at the principal alfalfa markets.

Exports 1921 Crop

According to the September 1 estimate of the same hay crop, the 1922 crop was a little over 11,000,000 tons greater than the 1921 crop. Of timothy hay, dealers estimate about 25 to 30 per cent more to be marketed this year than last, with about the same increase in the percentage of clover to be marketed. Of the prairie and alfalfa hay, however, a smaller surplus is indicated. The movement of hay, the Department shows, apparently has been delayed somewhat by the scarcity of cars. The quality of all hays is reported good.

Marketing costs are reported slightly lower than last year due principally to lower baling costs, but marketing costs are still so high that in many instances the freight and selling charges are more than the f. o. b. shipping point price of the hay.

Local Supplies Good

Reports from consuming territories indicate a good supply of local forage. The smallest supply seems to be in North Carolina, where dealers estimate local forage will not be sufficient for more than two or three months. Virginia, South Carolina and Georgia rank among the states having a four to six months supply, and Alabama and Mississippi for the entire season. The New England consuming section is reported to have a larger local supply than last year but hay is being shipped into that territory from Ohio, New York and Michigan.

Time to Build Strong

It has come to be understood by most manufacturers and distributors that a large volume of business at any period of time is of itself no proof that the business is built on a sure foundation. The volume may be due to a variety of conditions, and those conditions may be temporary, and may be entirely out of the control of those who enjoy them.

The only sure foundation upon which a big business can be successfully built is an undisputed consumer preference. Let that be present and it matters not how quickly a business grows, or how big it grows, you have the assurance that it is solidly built and that it will not topple over when the first wind blows.

Advertising is the cornerstone of the structure of consumer preference. No conspicuous example exists where there is a steady and sure consumer demand for any product that is not properly advertised. Every instance that can be cited of a consumer demand that is strong enough to offset changing market conditions may also be cited as an example of the effective use of advertising.

The present business condition is a challenge to every business that is built on the uncertain foundation of a demand due to a favorable state of the market. Assuming that the strong demand of the past few years, prior to 1920, was a permanent thing, many manufacturers made provisions to supply the demand and reap a harvest of profits; but they overlooked the importance of insuring their share of the demand.

Now the great lesson has been learned—at a prodigious cost. The disposition today is to build strong, to make sure of the foundations before rearing a great superstructure. In the long run it will mean that all business will be on a more solid basis, and less likely to be upset by changing conditions. This will be the great compensation for the stress of the present period.

STATE DEPENDS ON BLOOD STAIN IN MURDER CASE

Print of Dead Girl's Hand Figures in Evidence Against Woman Charged With Death of Husband's Stenographer

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 3, 1922—Arthur E. Roeder, brother of Oscar Roeder in charge of the blood stain to death with his stenographer, Miss Mildred Geraldine Heckitt, today denied on the witness stand that he had possessed the mind of Mrs. Catherine Roeder against her husband and prompted the shooting. The young widow, accused of the double slaying, is being tried for the murder of the stenographer.

Witness Under Fire Roeder, described by the defense as the "jag" of the case, was subjected to a strenuous cross examination throughout the afternoon session by John R. Scott, Roeder's attorney. Mrs. Roeder. Questions were hurled at the witness in an endeavor to prove that he was "in league with his brother to drive this woman from the house."

Roeder maintained that he never had told his sister in law that the slain man was anxious to cast her off for good.

Mrs. Roeder stared at the witness, who avoided meeting her eyes. Only once today was she overcome with emotion—in the morning session when I. B. Tolle, Roeder's husband's partner, was asked to identify Roeder's spectacles. Then she broke into sobs.

Tolle testified that he had taken Roeder to a garage, where he was disassembling his wife and child, as Roeder dictated it on his death bed in the hospital.

Tells of Blood Stain Frank Hatchell, another partner of the slain man, testified that the blood stain on the wall made by the hand of the stenographer. The Commonwealth is relying on this stain to prove its contention that the girl was killed in a jealous rage.

PIRE DAMAGES SUBMARINE LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 23, 1922—A fire which broke out early today at the battery compartment of the submarine B-4 at Los Angeles harbor, did damage estimated at $1,000, it was stated. A week will be required to make repairs, according to Lieut. Commander E. C. Sherman, division commander. It was said a wire from a battery cell became grounded and the resulting sparks, at that time, caused the flames to spread.

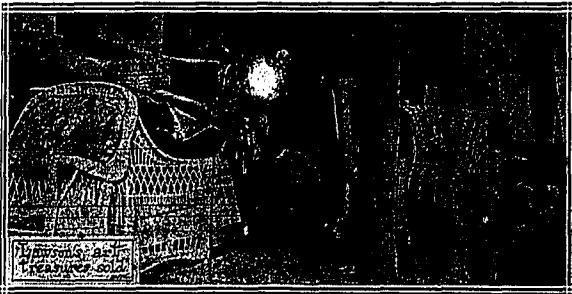

OPEN LIGHT GAUZE DRESSER MCGURVEIN, Okla., Oct. 23, 1922—An open light, carried on the cap of P. E. Beaton, president, mine foreman and fire boss of the Progressive Coal company at the Number 11 mine, caused the explosion which Friday killed eight men, including Beaton, and injured four others, according to Ed Boyle, state mine inspector.

Means End of Advancement. Sad is the day for any man when he becomes absolutely satisfied with the life that he is living, the thoughts that he is thinking and the deeds that he is doing; when there ceases to be forever beating at the door of his soul a desire to do something larger, which he feels and knows he was meant and intended to do.—Phillips Brooks.

American Sparrow Little's Known. While the English sparrow is noisy and obtrusive, the American sparrow is unobtrusive both in song and action. These native sparrows, although so seldom noticed by the majority of people, may probably be found in nearly every part of our country, although not more than a half dozen forms are generally known in any one locality.

Advancement Depends on One's Self. A man's advancement lies in the line of his own attainment. Five months' publican are not such use to Goliath. In the hands of David they are deadly. It's all folly to crave the other man's advance until you have exhausted the means in your own hands.

MURDER CHARGE FILED AGAINST MEN OF HERRIN

Special Grand Jury Adds 48 Names to Indictments List; 434 Now Accused of Killing Twenty-three Miners

MARION, Ill., Oct. 23, 1922—The special grand jury, which today resumed its investigation of the Herring mine killings after a month's recess, late this afternoon returned an indictment for murder, naming 48 persons, announced it had completed its work, and adjourned. This makes 434 indictments the grand jury has returned in connection with the slaying, in which 23 men were killed.

Those indicted today were charged with the death of Ignace Kubinski, the last victim of the slaying to expire, who had died since the grand jury took a temporary adjournment 30 days ago. Only a few witnesses were heard today, and they are said to have told of wounds inflicted on Kubinski. Circuit Judge Hartwell, before whom the indictment was returned, expressed the opinion that the trial will be illegal because it was returned at the September term of court by a grand jury impaneled by the July term of court. State's Attorney Delos Dyer expressed an opposite opinion, and asked the court to appeal to the state supreme court if the indictment were declared illegal by the lower court.

PORTA RICAN TRADE DROPPING SAN JUAN, P. R., Oct. 23, 1922—Island commerce for the fiscal year ended with June, amounting to $180,217,750 above a decline of $1,410,058 from the previous year, which next to 1920 was the banner trade year of the island. Exports were valued at $72,167,157 and imports totaled $108,175,148.

"Perhaps" of Religion. "The 'Perhaps' of religion is so magnificent, if it is true; for it gives new worth to everything. While, without it, life is at best petty, its interests are shallow, and it passes away so soon! Indifference as to the truth of this 'Perhaps' is not easy for man and it is not wise.—St. Henry Jones in 'A Faith That Inquires'.

Chinese Wall. The exact length of the Chinese wall is not known—the Chinese call it the "10,000 li wall," which would mean that it was something over 3,250 miles long. Some modern authorities range, in giving its length, from 1,200 to 1,700 miles. It is from 25 to 30 feet high and about 20 feet thick at the base.

Sudden Uperveils of Gases. Why Over a Million Americans Now Bathe Internally

Accumulated waste in the lower intestine causes the majority of human ills. All physicians will tell you this, and that it also robs us of half our "pep" and ambition, causing headaches, biliousness, etc., even before we are ill. Drugs never have and never can keep the intestine clean. By the use of pure warm water, administered by the 'J. B. L. Cascade,' it is thoroughly cleansed and the poisons are kept out of the system. You will know what it really means to feel 100 per cent. in the morning after an Internal Bath the night before—but not until then. So say many right here in this city, who have bathed internally for years and are now correspondingly healthy, happy, strong and ambitious.

WAR SECRETARY SCORES "SILLY" PACIFIST AIMS

Deputy Chief of Staff Points Out Folly of Human Nature in Recent Demand for War on Turks

NEW YORK, Oct. 23 (AP)—Fear that America is "falling back to its shortsighted, careless and happy-go-lucky attitude of the early days of the Bureau upon war toward the vitally important matter of preparedness," was expressed by Secretary of War Weeks in an address tonight before the New York post of the Army Ordnance association.

"I have no patience," he declared "with the groups of silly pacifists in this country who are seeking universal peace through undermining with their insidious propaganda the ability of their own country to protect itself. What do these people see in the signs of the times to decide themselves into believing that the world is better off without arms? In what way has human nature changed since 1147?"

Traces Moved Toward War

Major General James G. Harbord, deputy chief of staff, also addressed the association, launching an attack on pacifism.

"War for us seems fairly remote at this moment," he said. "Last month the commanding general of the district of Washington put on a Last demonstration of an infantry attack. It was a good show, witnessed by probably 20,000 people. At the close the general was waited on by two ladies who asked where the next one would be held. They said they belonged to a woman's peace organization and he was making war look so attractive that they wished to put on a rival meeting next time, to counteract its effect."

"In July, a solemn demonstration with flaming banners, music and speeches was held in Washington, in the course of which the president was urged to set aside a 'no more war day' for annual observance. The movement was said to be sponsored by a woman's peace organization and was to end on the day of peace was to take on immortality.

War Drums Thru in East

"In September the war drums began to throb in the Near East. There was a rush of troops and warships to the cross roads of the world, the city of the Golden Horn. Britain was at the breach, the league of nations was world-wide. The world was a united front, old-world-diplomats-smiled and began to pin on their decorations preparatory to taking the council of nations to a happy home, when I knew to be a decent young man, trying to do for his country what you and I would do for ours in a similar situation. He was represented as sharpening his scimitar on the tomb of Mahomet, to slash the throats of the infidel. The faithful had raised the red Crescent against the Cross.

Headlines' Deadly Work

"Thus the headlines got in their deadly work and the White House was overwhelmed with demands that our country intervene in the Near Eastern situation, and if necessary join England in war against Turkey. Resolutions were passed all over the country insisting that the Turks must be checked at any cost. Most of this insistence came from organizations apparently willing to involve us without giving the diplomats even a chance to settle things. The class which would disband the army and scuttle the navy a year ago now wanted a hundred armies to move against the Turk. Those who condemned even our miserably appropriation in 1921, now demanded war to a finish regard of cost. The supporters of the league in 1919 now were howling for blood. In a month the dove of peace had grown a spurs."

How Better Than Pills?

The question has been asked, in what way are Chamberlain's Tablets superior to the ordinary cathartic and liver pills? Our answer is, they are easier and more pleasant to take and their effect is so gentle that one hardly realizes that it is produced by a medicine. They not only move the bowels but improve the appetite and strengthen the digestion.—adv.

Remaking a Man For $7.05

FORECASTS PERIOD OF PROSPERITY NEXT YEAR

Shortage of Labor and Transportation Will Slow Down Advance, Committee Hears

BOSTON, Oct. 23 (AP)—The year 1923 will be one of business prosperity, which, however, will culminate and slow down before the year is ended, is the opinion of Colonel Leonard P. Ayres, vice president of the Cleveland Trust company, who spoke at a dinner which closed the annual conference of the Harvard university committee on economic research.

"Among the statistical measures of business and industry," he told the 500 business men present, "there are some that will probably advance, some that may be expected to decline and some that will in all likelihood both advance and decline. Among those that will probably advance are interest rates, wages, railroad car holdings, automobile output, money in circulation, cost of living, unfilled orders of the steel corporation, bank loans, iron and steel production, tariff on the Great Lakes, rediscoups with the federal reserve bank."

"Among those that will probably decline are the price of bonds, the number of failures, building construction, the interest rate, bank investments, interest rate and then fall are stocks prices, wholesale commodity prices, the volume of manufacturers and the volume of employment."

"To the foregoing it might be added that there will probably be during 1923 an increased number of marriages, an increased number of divorces and a decreased number of suicides, for these are regular accomplishments of a period of prosperity."

Colonel Ayres said it seemed likely that the present business expansion would be halted, not by a shortage of credit but by a shortage of labor, complicated by a shortage of railroad transportation.

Whales Are Not Fish

Whales, like porpoises and seals, are mammals. None of these creatures can live without breathing air. That is why whales rise to the surface so frequently. The porpoise takes a breath of air every time he does one of his amazing rolls on the top of the water.

Many Plants High in Life Scale

Plants are really animate things. They lack the power of locomotion such as most animals have, but they are capable of movement. Some of them are a great deal higher in the scale of life than some of the low-order organisms classified as animal.

PAVES WAY FOR ELECTION CALL

District Court Dissolves Injunction Against Vote on American Falls District

Temporary injunction restraining Twin Falls county commissioners from calling an election on formation of the proposed Snake River Irrigation district to cooperate with the federal reclamation project, was dissolved by Judge W. A. Babcock in district court here Monday.

The court denied the application of Thomas Costello, J. L. Brockmeyer, and E. J. Malone for a permanent injunction, and sustained the county commissioners' demand for their complaint. The court's decision was issued following a hearing Friday on an order to the county commissioners to show cause why the temporary injunction should not be made permanent.

Counsel for the commissioners at the hearing argued that injunction proceedings, instituted during the hearing on petition of calling of the election, were irregular and illegal.

SUPREME COURT DEFENDS ORGANIZATION OF SCHOOL

Holds Suit Brought for Dissolution of District Not Susceptible of Appeal Not Susceptible of Appeal

Questions of law that were raised were properly construed by the supreme court yesterday by the supreme court with an order that it be dismissed by the district court.

Bismore and his associates in the case of A. L. Babcock and others against the Jerome county commissioners and rural school district, involving the validity of the formation of the district; but the court was without jurisdiction for the reason that the case was not one susceptible of being appealed according to a decision and order of the state supreme court, copies of which were received here Monday.

The case of G. S. Sigler, candidate for reelection as clerk of the court, said that the county this year had been established on a cash basis, and that in compliance with payment of $2500.01 interest on warrants paid in 1919, the county this year would pay nothing on that account.

J. W. Taylor, candidate for prosecuting attorney, bespeaks support for all the republican candidates and analyzed the taxation situation. The meeting was presided over by Probate Judge O. P. Duvall. The republican candidates Tuesday evening will address a meeting at Minnehaha.

TWELVE DAYS REMAINING FOR VOTERS TO REGISTER

Many Must Comply in Order to Vote at General Election—Absentee Blankets Are Ready

Although the voters who registered and voted in the primaries this year need not register again for the general election November 7, there is still a large number of "silent" voters who must register in order to participate in the voting next month. The final limit for registration is 9 p. m. Saturday, November 4.

Applications and ballots for absentee voters, are on hand at the office of the county clerk, and Deputy Clerk. Voters may apply for absentee ballots as soon as possible by those notified as to the absentee voting privilege.

Under the law the applications for absentee voters cannot be received more than 15 nor less than one day before the election. The law also provides that applications apply to voters who will be away from their regular precinct at the time of voting. About 15 applications have already been received, Mr. Bowen said.

RED CROSS AIDS EX-SERVICE MEN

Division Official Tells Kiwanis Twin Falls Chapter Has Achieved Envious Record

Since June 1 last, 1,218 former service men have sought and received help from the Twin Falls chapter, The Red Cross, Miss Anna E. Brakel, San Francisco, field representative for Idaho and the Pacific division of the Red Cross, a guest of the club, told Twin Falls Kiwanis at their weekly luncheon meeting Monday.

Miss Brakel is here for the week, assisting chapters that have not attained 100% to perfect their Roll Call organization.

Of the 1218 former service men who have been helped, Miss Brakel said, 548 are Twin Falls residents, and the others are from neighboring towns in this and surrounding counties. The chapter here has expended $1,900 for former service men and their families since January 1, 1922, of which $1,068 was in the form of loans and grants. The borrowers have repaid a total amount $666 up to the present time.

The Twin Falls chapter, which comprises all of the county except the territory included in the Buhl highway district, Miss Brakel said, is and has been outstanding among Idaho chapters in the quantity and quality of work done for disabled veterans.

Miss Brakel said that the general discussion of the direct primary principle was narrowly headed off by John W. Graham, presiding officer, at the close of a talk by E. J. Hornbrook, chairman of the lately organized Republican Primary club, who had been invited to address the club on the subject. Mr. Hornbrook's remarks were entirely favorable to the primary principle and he presented at the close of his talk that the primary would be adopted in Idaho because of popular demand for it.

The club accepted an invitation extended by Coach Clint Evans of the Twin Falls high school, to attend in a body the Buhl-Twin Falls football game at Buhl Friday. Similar invitations have been extended, it was said, to the Rotary club and American Legion post.

Temperature Monday Fall's Lowest Mark

The weather man apparently has decided to begin serving his usual menu of frosty weather. Monday he dropped the temperature to 25 degrees, and thereby established the lowest mark of this fall.

He was probably in a bad humor Sunday, for he permitted the mercury to fall to 27 degrees on that date. Both low temperatures are several degrees lower than on previous days. Monday's high temperature was 75 degrees, and that on Sunday 64 degrees.
