

REPUBLICANS IN ILLINOIS CARRY STATE OFFICES

Early indications that two other republicans had been defeated were reversed when later returns gave the seats of E. W. Spruel in the third and E. E. Miller in the 22nd. The vote in the 21st was close, but on the face of returns, William Arnold, democrat, defeated E. B. Brooks, republican.

State Ticket Goes Over Big

The republican state ticket went over by big majorities, despite the democratic victory which swept Cook county.

Oscar Nelson, republican, candidate for state treasury, set the pace at the head of the ticket with 168,939 lead over Peter Barison, democrat, on returns from 4370 out-of-5890 precincts. The figures give Nelson 716,606 and Barison 552,877.

Similar majorities were polled by the republican candidates for superintendent of public instruction and university trustee.

Legislature Safely Republican.

The legislature is safely republican in both houses with 14 republicans and 116 democrats apparently elected to the senate, 66, 56 in the 32 house over senators, all of whom are republicans. Five districts remain in doubt. The makeup of the lower house will be approximately 91 republicans and 63 democrats.

Foes of Governor Lean Small

Foes of Governor Len Small have failed to capture the necessary two-thirds of the senate needed required to carry out their threat of impeaching the governor next January.

Donus Holds Lead

Beer and wine and the soldiers' bonus, both of which carried by three-fourths majorities, failed to keep up in the country districts, the pace they had set in the cities. Returns from 3923 out of 4980 precincts gave Donus a referendum lead of 640,455, with indications that it will carry by approximately three-quarters of a million votes.

The figures are 800,337 in favor of, 300,292 against it.

The beer and light wine referendum ran 317,000 for and 170,000 against the figures giving 774,000 for it and 370,048 against. The fact that 1,151, 810 voters voted on the bonus and only 1,028,818 on the liquor question on the same ballot, would indicate that 189,000 followed the advice of the anti-bonus league and ignored the prohibition issue.

DEMOCRATS WIN NEVADA

Congressional Delegation and State State Wins With One Possible Exception Seems Captured

RENO, Nov. 8 (AP)—The democratic party has apparently made a clean sweep in the state of Nevada, according to Ray Pittman, temporary United States senator, and a leading Charles S. Richards, democrat, to congress. James G. Bergham, former dean of the engineering department of the University of Nevada, has defeated John H. Miller, republican, for governor, by a large majority. The entire legislative block with the exception of inspector of mines seems to have won.

KANSAS ELECTS DEMOCRAT

Late Rebutations Assure Victory of Jonathan Davis, over Republican Candidate for Governor

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 9 (AP)—Election of Jonathan Davis, democratic candidate for governor of Kansas over a republican opponent, W. X. Morgan, editor of Hutchinson, Kansas, was set off late today when a tabulation of 1950-precincts out of 2386 in the state gave Davis a lead of 12,714. The reports represented the complete returns from nearly half the vote, counting in the state and nearly complete returns from a large number of others. The figures: Davis, 221,707; Morgan, 208,993.

SWEET WINS IN COLORADO

Election of Democratic Nominee for Governor is Made Certain by Practically Complete Returns

DENVER, Nov. 8 (AP)—William E. Sweet, democrat, was elected governor of Colorado at yesterday's election on the face of returns tonight. With only 37 precincts in suspense, parts of the state to be handed from Mr. Sweet had such a big lead over the republican opponent, Benjamin Griffith, that there was virtually no chance for Griffith to overcome Mr. Sweet.

The figures from 1448 precincts were Sweet, 135,503; Griffith, 131,492.

BUILDING BOOM IN TOKYO

TOKIO, Nov. 8 (AP)—Although Japan is suffering from economic and trade depression, Tokyo is now undergoing an era of extensive building construction. Several large business buildings are under way in Marunouchi, the big business center situated between the imperial palace and the Tokyo station, facing the imperial palace. Scores of residences in foreign style also are being built all over the city and suburbs. The new Imperial hotel is almost completed, and another huge some building, the Palace hotel, is a four-story structure in native white stone trimmed in marble and granite.

Congressional Delegation Will Include Seven Democrats; G. O. P. Sustains Net Loss of Four Seats

CHICAGO, Nov. 8 (AP)—Illinois will send seven democrats and twenty republicans to the next congress as a result of yesterday's election, a net loss of four seats to the republicans.

Similar majorities were polled by the republican candidates for superintendent of public instruction and university trustee.

PUNTS AND PASSES

By KULLBACK

Rain or shine, Coach Bruns has the local squad out every evening for the usual amount of hard work.

Country represents the Moore team will present a lineup that is considered far above the average, with open formations and forward passes being the two methods used for gaining yardage.

The local coach has been drilling his boys all week on the breaking up of forward passes, and getting to open formations easily.

Why is it that every team that plays the local team on a holiday is strong for the victor?

The rule last evening put Lincoln field in fine shape, and with a couple of days of sunshine the Saturday game should draw close to 4000 people.

Plans from all over the Twin Falls country will be in evidence for the final sport. This is the spirit in which to take defeat. Anyone can be a good winner, but it's the good loser that has the heart. It is natural that Twin Falls should have a better team than most of the schools of this section, owing to the fact that the local school has more men to draw from.

Saturday is the day, it is the time of Lincoln field is the place. So let's all pull together, and see if it is

NEW HAMPSHIRE RECORDS DEMOCRATIC LANDSLIDE

MANCHESTER, N. H., Nov. 8 (AP)—Election returns complete except for a few isolated sections show the great Democratic landslide in New Hampshire since 1836. The democrats have a majority of 10 in the state house, while the republicans remain in control of the state senate and governor's council.

Fred H. Brown, of Bowdoin, Democrat, carried the gubernatorial contest with 52,825 majority. His republican opponent, Winslow S. Goddard, polled 28,000 votes less than did Governor Albert O. Brown, republican, two years ago.

In the first congressional district, Wm. N. Rogers, democrat, defeated John Beaman, republican, by a 6000 majority. Congressman Edward W. Wilson, republican, held the second district by 4000 majority.

Three women were elected to the state general court.

VOTING BRINGS SENATE CHANGE OF IMPORTANCE

Committee Posts and Perhaps Leadership Involved in the Republican Re-Organization Still Under Control

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9. (AP)—The election results are due to work a considerable upheaval in the senate, probably in leadership and, certainly in important committee posts, despite continued republican control.

Primarily the present republican majority of 24 is retained to probably 18 as compared with the existing theory of 60 republicans and 38 democrats.

Republican leaders have said they would welcome a somewhat reduced and cabinet majority in the senate, but they would not accept a change in leadership, they declared, to be questionable in view of what has been termed radical, progressive and liberal members.

Both Lose Veterans

Both parties lose powerful senators in the coming election. Defeated is Senator Kellogg of Minnesota. Evolving of New Jersey and Dipont of Delaware—all intimate personal associates of President Harding.

President Harding was coupled with the downfall of three other prominent republicans, Senators Townsend of Michigan, Gable of New York and Francis of Maryland, and the prospective defeat of Senator Bland of West Virginia.

The democrats, on the other hand, lose Senators Pennington of Ohio and Hitchcock of Nebraska, the latter vice chairman of the democratic organization, ranking minority member, former chairman of the foreign relations committee and former administration floor leader.

For the first time the farmer-labor party will make an appearance on the senate floor, by the election of Dr. Hendrik Shipstead of Minnesota, vice over Senator Kellogg.

Important Committee Vacancies

Many important committee vacancies having a deep effect on legislation must follow the will of the electorates. The finance committee, for change of tariff and tax legislation, loses Senator Calder, Pennsylvania and probably Sutherland, while the interstate commerce committee, expected to deal with the transportation act, and the agriculture law, together with the railway labor board, loses three members, Senators Townsend and Kellogg, republicans, and Senator Pennington, democrat.

The foreign relations committee, Senators Kellogg, Pennington and Hitchcock, and the banking and currency committee lose Senators Frigg, Payne, Bailey, Hitchcock and Pennington.

A new chairman also must be chosen for the post-office committee, now headed by Senator Townsend. Senator Steiwer of South Dakota is next in line for the chairmanship.

Senator Washington will be in line for the chairmanship of the naval committee, through the retirement of Senator Page of Vermont. He will skip and tuck rear.

More Than a Dozen New Faces

More than a dozen new faces will be seen in the next senate. Among them are Senators-elect George, democrats; Georgia; Baskin, democrat of Indiana; Brookhart, republican of Iowa; Shipstead, farmer of Minnesota; Shipstead, democrat of Mississippi; Howell, republican of Nebraska; Edwards, democrat of New Jersey; Copeland, democrat of New York; Fann, republican, Ohio; Mayfield, democrat of Texas; Greene, republican, Vermont; and probably Neely, democrat of West Virginia. Of these, Fann, Shipstead, Greene and Neely have house service behind them.

candidate for United States senator in Montana, had a comfortable lead over Carl W. Mitchell, republican congressman, who sought the senatorial post in the returns from more than half of the state.

Nevada was another western state that went democratic almost without a contest. The senatorial election was not claimed by the democrats after the latest tabulations. Roy Pittman was returned to the United States senate, while Howell Richards, democrat, will represent Nevada in the lower house.

James G. Sherman defeated John H. Miller, republican, for governor by about 5,000 votes. Senator Pittman had lead of more than 6,000 over his republican opponent.

Landing in Oregon

Oregon was the scene of a democratic landslide. Walter M. Pierce, democrat, defeated Governor Ben W. Owens, republican, by 20,000 in the 1922 elections in the state. Returns indicated the Oregon voters adopted the compulsory school act, which the sponsors proclaimed would not permit any private schools including parochial schools in the state. The act provides that children over 8 and under 16 years are to be sent to a public school during the entire school year.

Wm. B. King, democrat, incumbent had a lead of 1,700 votes over Ernest Bamberg, republican, in the race for senator from Utah, when the returns were last tabulated.

Pointed out Trails Dill

Senator Miles Poindexter, with 495 precincts missing out of 2,440, was trailing D. D. Dill, democrat, in Washington in the senatorial contest by 4,027 votes. The republican state chairman in Washington announced he would not be satisfied the returns were correct from Pierce, King and Spokane counties until a complete check had been made.

It was reported that officials of Pierce county had discovered discrepancies in the early count. Pierce county returned a plurality to Dill. County officials, it was said, counted 10,000 precincts in Dill's favor, the official returns made to the county auditor, disregarding the "straight" tickets which Poindexter's managers detained. The King county republican ticket. The King county auditor announced he would begin a check of all poll books turned in.

According to the vote count, elected W. B. Ross, democrat, as governor, over John W. Hays, republican. Ross had a lead of 900 votes with half of the state reported.

Bluing Steel

would be beaten and there was no demerit ready to predict the election of a woman at that side. The prediction was accurate so far as the next congress is concerned.

Iowa, Progressive Delegation.

Only in Iowa were the republicans able to send back a solid delegation. In other states delegations were torn to pieces, both Indiana and Ohio, would have broken up. New Jersey and Maryland, each gave a fifty-fifty break to the democrats, but it was the big New York overturn, that cheered the minority. The old district of William McKinley in Ohio was captured by a democrat. Champ Clark's district, taken from him two years ago, just before his death, drifted back to the democrats. Uncle Joe Cannon's district, from which he retired, remained republican.

Cordell Hall, Tennessee, wither the income tax law and progressive chairman of the democratic national committee, was among the democrats who came into Henry T. Rainey of Illinois, another democrat, high in the party committee was retained after being out for many years who went out, then was easily this year.

THE ELECTION.

Congratulations, felicitations, congratulations and regrets and now let's all go to work.

MORNING PAPER REVIEW.

The real service value of the morning newspaper was well illustrated in the election of Tuesday. By means of carefully planned organization all the returns which ordinarily are available on the day following election were gathered and compiled at The News office in the late evening and early morning hours with the result that not only the names of the successful candidates but the details of their votes by precincts in the county were available at the breakfast table in all the homes of the county and postal man carried the morning edition of the paper to the farmers of the county.
By noon the full returns were in the hands of News readers everywhere.

This kind of service is expected of morning newspapers and finally the reader of a morning paper disappointed. "Incidents may talk, penes may break down, storms may demolish telegram and telephone lines, men may fall in an emergency, but break down under the stress of the excitement of their work, but the public knows nothing about it; it is not even told about it and would not be particularly interested in it either."

Too one page full detail of the vote of Twin Falls county as presented to News readers was available during the entire balance of the day after election. The three missing precincts, small ones with no effect whatever on the result, which The News was unable to get for its Wednesday morning edition, are still missing and probably will be until the ballot boxes are opened for the official canvass.

Of course the result was gratifying to The News, as pride of achievement must always be the main incentive to good work and that The News readers gladly as much of real satisfaction from the Wednesday morning edition as did the men who prepared it in the silence of the press.

A REAL PERSONALITY.

Along with the rest of the election returns came figures from nearly every precinct in the County on ballots cast in the interests of that sterling patriot —one hundred per cent for the people —who wears no man's collar, that familiar personality and household friend, Andy Gump.

The fact that the name was written in literally hundreds of ballots in this County and doubtless appeared upon thousands over the country is of more than passing interest. It serves to illustrate, for one thing, the tremendous power of publicity. There is, of course, no means of knowing how many telephone calls The News received from persons enquiring about election results. This much, however, is known, namely, that a substantial percentage of these calls were for the purpose of inquiring as to the political fortunes of Mr. Gump.

The thing carries with it something of a fascination. Many bets were laid on the event and will be paid.
Andy Gump has become something more than a mere figure of an article's imagination, he is a real personality.

The News is read by the permanent reading class.

I asked the doctor first. I thought I never saw some kind of a disease, and he knew it was coming, he could give them some sort of a medicine to keep it away—like being vaccinated, so's not to have smallpox, you know. And I told him so.

"He gave a funny little laugh, that somehow didn't sound like a laugh at all. Then he grew very, very sober, and said:
"I'm sorry, little girl, but I'm afraid I haven't got any medicine that will prevent—a divorce. If I did have, there'd be no more crying or darning, or sleeping for me. I'm thinking I'd be no busy answering my calls."

"Then it is a disease!" I cried.
And I can remember just how brightened I felt. "But isn't there any doctor anywhere that can stop it?" He shook his head and gave that queer little laugh again.

"It's afraid-not," he sighed. "As for it's being a disease—there are people that call it a disease, and there are others who call it a cure; and there are still others who say it's a curable disease, and still others who say it's incurable. But there, you baby!
What am I saying!—Come, come, my dear, just forget it. It's nothing you should bother your little head over now. Wait till you're older."

"But I'm older indeed! How I hate to have folks talk to me like that!
And they do—they do it all the time.
As if I was a child now, when I'm almost standing there where the brook and river meet!"

But that was just the kind of talk I got everywhere, and crying, that I asked any one what a divorce was.
Some laughed, and some sighed. Some looked real worried. Once I'd asked it, and one got mad. (That was the dressmaker. I found out afterward that she'd had a divorce already, so probably she thought I asked the question for the purpose of giving her somebody would answer her question. I never saw her again.) I never answer me sensibly, so I'd know what it meant; and "most everybody said "Run away, child," or "You shouldn't talk of such things," or "Wait, my dear, till you're older, and all that kind of talk. Oh, how I hate such talk when I really want to know something! How do they expect us to get our education if they won't answer our questions?"

"I don't know which made me angrier—I mean angrier. (I'm speaking of one thing, so I must, I suppose, I hate grammar!) To have them talk like that—not answer me, you know —or have them do as Mr. Jones, the storekeeper, did, and the men there with him."

It was one day when I was in there buying some white thread for Nurse Sarah, and it was a little while after I had asked the doctor if a divorce was a disease. Somebody had said something that made me think you could buy divorce, and I had suddenly determined to ask Mr. Jones if he had them for sale. (Of course all this sounds very silly to me now, for I know that a divorce is very simple and very common. It's just like a marriage certificate, only it unmarries you instead of marrying you.) But I didn't know it then. And if I'm going to tell this story I've got to tell it just as it happened, of course.)

"Well, I asked Mr. Jones if you could buy divorce, and if he had them for sale; and you ought to have heard those men laugh. There were six of them sitting around the store behind me."
