Earl of Derby Cancels Political Engagement to Remain at War Office; Communication Still Interrupted

LONDON, Nov. 10 (AP)—Telegraphic communication between London and Constantinople continues interrupted. The only news that is coming in is coming from London slowly and through various routes.

Dispatches from the western front received by the foreign and war offices today by aural wireless communication from the allied commanders were at that time continuing to await a definite reply from the Ankara government to their demand that the British troops from their attitude which the allies regard as out of accord with the Mudros and Mudros conventions.

The dispatches showed that the allied representatives had lodged a strong protest with the British ambassador in Ankara, and that the British ambassador had been instructed to demand that the British troops from their attitude which the allies regard as out of accord with the Mudros and Mudros conventions.

HARDING MAKES URGENT APPEAL FOR RED CROSS

Presidential Proclamation Asks for "Even Greater Generosity" in Membership Roll Call Response

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (AP)—President Harding in a proclamation issued today calling attention to the annual membership roll call of the American Red Cross which begins tomorrow, declared "there are peculiarly urgent reasons to appeal this year in behalf of an even greater generosity than has been necessary in some other times."

Notable among these reasons the president mentions the situation in the Near East, "in which scores of millions of people must look to more favored communities such as the United States for the means of life."

"The assurance, based on many years' experience, that generous response will be prompt and generous response, makes it always a satisfaction to direct public attention to the annual Red Cross year. It will open on Armistice day, November 11, and close on Thanksgiving day, November 30. As a public duty, the United States and also, president of the American Red Cross, I hereby proclaim November 12 as Red Cross Sunday and invite all our people to unite with their spiritual leaders in a united effort to add and promote a new consecration to the general service based upon the largest legislation and sanctioned by all good consciences."

Charged with responsibility, "By the terms of the Congressional Charter which called it into being, the American Red Cross is charged with certain clearly defined duties and obligations which it must discharge during the past year, to discharge faithfully and efficiently. There are peculiarly urgent reasons to appeal, this year, to both men and women of generosity than has been shown in some other times, because of the extraordinary demands upon such services of mercy and humanity. One of the most fearful disasters of modern history has befallen the ill-fated Near Eastern area, where lives of millions are being lost every hour now depend on the "outpouring" liberality of more favored communities. A severe winter is required to be feared if the emergency is not relieved and while the task is one to which all well-disposed peoples must contribute, our own country in "virtue alike of its legislation and its fortune's endowment in material possessions, must be conspicuous for the great share it shall give, and the help it may be expected to give. It is therefore asked that cooperation be established between the Red Cross and the Government, and all other agencies which are concerned to assist in dealing with this crisis."

Domestic Demands Heavy
"In the domestic field, demands continue to grow heavily upon the Red Cross. The Government is earnestly seeking to insure to every diseased or disabled ex-serviceman the full measure of care and help; that national gratitude and simple justice demands. The aim must be to restore every serviceman to the best possible health and to help supporting life in the effort the government, the Army and Navy, have gladly availed themselves of the assistance of the Red Cross, which, due to its nation-wide volunteer organization, has been a constant and valued aid."

"In the broad field concerned with the physical welfare of the people, the Red Cross, in sympathetic contact with other organizations and the Federal and state bureaus, has been particularly active in the establishment and for the prevention of disease and the encouragement of sound sanitation. In its peculiar and historic field of disaster relief, the Red Cross has met the emergency brought about by the large number of persons who have been displaced during the past year, and it still called upon to aid the suffering in foreign lands due to war and pestilence. For these reasons, and at the hands of a multitude of local problems in every community, the American Red Cross deserves well at the hands of the American people."

Invites Renewal of Allegiance
"In the interests of our common humanity and of the service which we owe to our fellow men, I invite my fellow citizens to renew their allegiance to the American Red Cross during the period of the Membership Roll Call."
(Signed) W. G. HARDING.

Claiming Great Belgian Sport
The sport is the great sport of the upper classes of Belgium. The sport was met upon well-trained riding horses. A Belgian amateur was riding in the same year at a case in the law courts, where the plaintiff, whose horse had been taken from him for public purposes, sued for damages on account of the reduction in value of his pignon. On to the fact that they had been trained to ride to the old pignon's cot and would now have to be trained to "home" to a new one. The court found that each had been originally worth $25 and had now been reduced to $15, awarding $100 to the plaintiff.

AMERICAN CHEMICAL SOCIETY REPORTS IMPORTANT DISCOVERY

CENTRAL BLDG. IOWA STATE COLLEGE, AMES, IOWA

With the increasing importance attached to vitamins as essential to a healthful diet, numerous experiments have been made by scientists throughout the country to ascertain the original source of the vitamins found in the common yeast cake. Important experiments in the laboratory of Iowa State College have been reported by the American Chemical Society which prove that the vitamins are not extracted from the medium in which the yeast plant grows. Yeast is in itself a vitamin source. In this interesting experiment, to quote the Chemical Society's printed report: "The original stock of yeast was from a single colony placed from a cake of Fleischmann's yeast. It was shown that the yeast vitamins, known to be one of the complete essential for the nutrition of the higher animals, is not a necessary constituent of the medium for the growth of yeast. That water soluble B (the yeast vitamin) is not the yeast growth stimulant in the extracts studied; that extracts from alfalfa and wheat embryo contain nitrogenous and inorganic materials which will maintain the growth of yeast, though they do not contain the yeast vitamin itself. Having reached these important conclusions, chemists are now confined to a study of yeast itself in their continued efforts to isolate the yeast vitamins. Until this case the actual nature of the health-giving yeast vitamin must remain a mystery to science."

WOMEN DEMAND EQUAL RIGHTS

Leaders From 39 States Gather in Washington to Plan 'Nation-wide Campaign'

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (AP)—Women leaders from 39 states assembled here to plan a nation-wide campaign for equal rights legislation. The convention, according to the party's announcement, will promote a woman's "charter of rights" dealing with all fields "in which women suffer discrimination today" and will voice a demand for the removal of such discriminations.

Women Lawyers Assailed
Coinciding with this convention there will be a conference of women lawyers, led by Judge Kathryn Sellers, of the District of Columbia, available to advise the party on the legal aspect of its equal rights campaign.

The women lawyers constitute the Lawyers' Council of the Woman's Party, which includes about one-third of all registered women members of the party. The council will have before it a report of the legal research department of the Woman's Party giving the latest comprehensive survey of the legal status of women in the United States ever made. It covers the law in regard to married women's rights, the guardianship of children, marriage and divorce, the rights of married women to enter professions, carry on business, retain their own names and to make contracts, as well as the right of women to hold political office and to serve on juries in the states.

SPORTS

EAST WILL SEE FIRST CLASSIC

Harvard-Princeton Game May Be Won by Individual Efforts and Breaks of Play

NEW YORK, Nov. 10 (AP)—The first of the "big three" football classics, the Harvard-Princeton clash at Cambridge—over shadows all other games on eastern grids tomorrow. Both classes appear to be evenly matched and the outcome probably will depend upon the breaks of the play and the individual efforts of one or more of the players.

Other important contests between apparently evenly matched eleven, will be Army and Notre-Dame; Pittsburgh vs. Cornell; and Pennsylvania and Bucknell and Lehigh.

Contests in which this approximate equal strength does not appear to exist, will include Cornell vs. Dartmouth; Maryland vs. Yale; McGill vs. Syracuse; Navy vs. St. Xavier; and Lafayette vs. Rutgers. On general form no specific results are indicated.

Tiger Pinned for Clash

Princeton is determined to defeat Harvard. The Tiger has not won from the Crimson on the latter's home gridiron since 1907. While Harvard is slightly favored to win, every indication points to a highly fought contest. This season's game has been especially popular for the parties concerned. Second in importance among the eastern games will be the international clash of the West Coast clubs, between the Army and Notre-Dame.

The Army, which was defeated by Notre-Dame last year, 18 to 0, is expected to meet the Fighting Irish on the West Coast claim. The 17 to 14 win by Yale is the nearest approach to a setback experienced by the leaders to date.

Pittsburgh will have a slight advantage over Pennsylvania when the meet at Philadelphia, and Yale should have no difficulty in defeating Maryland and Pennsylvania. Syracuse should win from McGill university of Canada, for the latter team deserves much of its gridiron time as the "Crimson" of the title.

Normal Promised Battle

Dartmouth probably will give Cornell a bitter battle than last year when the Green was defeated 59-7, but it does not appear probable that the Harvard eleven can stop the undefeated Illinois scoring machine.

Among the other games, Washington and Jefferson will face Washburn and the middle west team will have to be high class to stop the Presidents, after the showing they made against Lafayette a week ago. Baylor university of West Texas, probably the week's best team, is playing St. Xavier. Brown and Notre-Dame, Columbia, facing each other in the west, will be the highlight of the season.

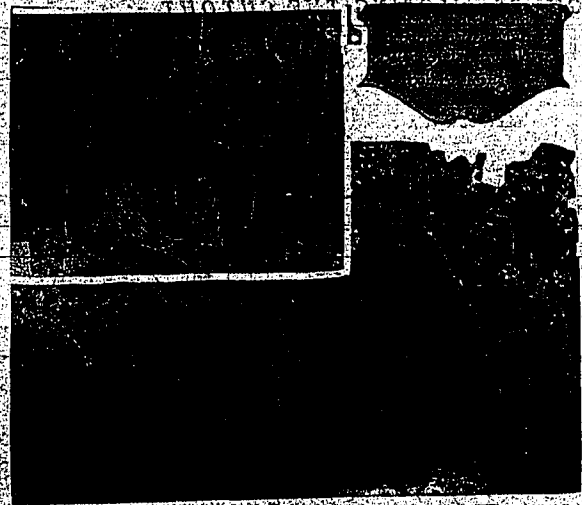

Other games include Cornell vs. Carnegie Tech and Pennsylvania State, Wesleyan and Williams, and Trinity and Amherst, which should result in a 50-0 start for the latter.

Children Often Lost at Zoo

After an unusual Sunday at the Bronx zoo when at least two or three of the children were lost, the zoo authorities are not taken to the nearest station house and listed as lost. One of the officers assigned to duty inside the gates said that about a dozen get lost on an average every holiday.

"It is a common thing for the children," he said, "to get lost. As an officer it is his mission to get the parent of the child. Often a woman who has lost a youngster will just be wandering or a beach perfectly calm, but that will bring it back. Now, zoo?"

COAST TITLE AT STAKE IN CLASH

California Bear is Expected to Shake Off Attack of Fighting Washington Huskies

SEAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 10 (AP)—A fighting confident pack of young Washington huskies will leap at the California Bear in Seattle tomorrow in a football game which practically will decide the championship of the Pacific coast conference. The Bear is expected to shake off its attack without much trouble and to come home with the title, which it has held for two years.

Another coast conference game tomorrow, will be Eugene between Oregon and Washington State. If the Oregonians win, they will remain definitely in the coast race, with two victories and no defeats on their record, and it is believed will be candidate for the honor of meeting Pennsylvania State at Pasadena. Comparative scores favor the States, as they won 18 to 9 from Idaho, a team Oregon defeated 8 to 0.

University of Southern California's team with its powerful back field, is up from Los Angeles to smash the strong Stanford line and keep clear its record of never having lost to the Cardinals since the Rugby days. Outside of the conference Nevada plays Williams at Reno; Idaho meets Utah at Boise; and Santa Clara on Sunday plays the Maroons.

VANDALS MUST WIN FROM UTAR OR GO TO BOTTOM

SEASIDE, Calif., Nov. 10 (AP)—The Vandals' football team will be away from home; for following the Utah clash they move to Pasadena, Cal., where they play Southern California November 16. A jump will be made to Spokane to play Gonzaga November 20 and on Thanksgiving day the team closes its season playing Montana at Missoula.

This is Idaho's first year in the Pacific coast conference and its looks as though the Vandals will come to winning the cellar-championship for they must win from the U. S. G. to keep their record from being four straight defeats. In basket ball, however, last spring the Idaho varsity, playing its first conference season, won the title.

Stivus Give Name to Dog Days.
Dog days are so called because the Dogs on first bedding the star Stivus with the naked eye were wont to sacrifice a barren dog in appeasement. The general belief being that Stivus was the cause of the hot entry weather. Usually attendant upon his appearance. On the first morning of the "dog days," tradition has it, the mother was turned out, dog meat and men become afflicted with all manner of burning fevers, hysterics and francies.

ELIMINATION DUE IN WESTERN RUN

Three Undeclared Survivors—Chicago, Wisconsin and Iowa to Swing into Action

CHICAGO, Nov. 10 (AP)—Three undefeated survivors of the western conference championship race—Chicago, Wisconsin and Iowa—will meet Saturday afternoon in games that will result in further elimination in the scramble for the title. Michigan, the fourth undefeated contender, will be idle. Chief interest will center in the hostilities at Columbus, where Chicago will mingle with the twice-defeated Ohio State eleven, and the Iowa-Missouri clash at Iowa City. Wisconsin will meet Illinois, a twice-annihilated team, at Madison. Northwestern and Stanford, each turning two defeats, will collide at Evanston, while Indiana will venture for the "big ten" ranks for a home-coming game with West Virginia at Huntington.

Prime for a battle more bruising than their encounter with Princeton, and confident of equating themselves for two weeks of rest, the Chicago team, coached by Leo Buckley, at Chicago, is expected to have the advantage. It is doubtful concerning the defensive strength of the Maroons, which forced its opponents with a special aerial attack. The Chicago team has employed this style of attack in their other triumphs over Chicago and are expected to use the forward pass game tomorrow.

Michigan is given an outside chance to defeat Iowa, but if the Hawkeyes are in form the prospects of a Hawkeye victory are remote.

Illinois, beaten by Michigan and Iowa, threatens to spring a surprise at Madison. The game promises to develop into a real "gridiron" affair as a result of the charges made by both institutions over protested players.

BERKELEY COACH LAUDS WASHINGTON STATE TEAM

ANDY SMITH SAYS EVEN CORNELL WOULD HAVE MADE CONGRATULATIONS TO MONTANA

BERKELEY, Cal., Nov. 10 (AP)—Football coaches seldom express regrets when their teams run up high scores, but Andy Smith, at the University of California, broke the rule when he said he was not glad when his charges piled up 61 points while playing the Washington State college team last Saturday. Unbelievable as it may seem, the California say they did not try for a high tally.

"The overwhelming score came unexpectedly," Smith said, "and I am actually forced to say that I am glad of it. I have never felt so sorry for any man in my whole life as I did for my old friend, Leo Welch, who coaches Washington state. Welch is a square shooter and an even break in luck would have made him the coach of a team which could have given California the hardest battle of the year."

Breaks were against Welch from his team, and the score was not representative of his eleven. The issue was due to arrive here Friday night to give the boys a

Advertising Needs Time to Develop Opportunities

Give Advertising Time: That is the thing it needs most.

The advertising agency is the precocious infant among the professions. One of the oldest agencies in New York prints on its letterhead the date of its founding and that date is 1869. Think of it—almost ten years after the Civil War, and the boys of the Civil War are still alive among us.

Law traces its ideals and traditions back to Moses, but even Law is not free from missteps. The physician takes his Hippocratic oaths, and Hippocrates lived 400 B. C.

Yet it was only yesterday when doctors discovered that bad teeth can cause anything serious. Is it fair to expect perfection in a profession that counts only a single generation to its credit? Should it occasion surprise when even a well-laid advertising campaign goes wrong? Is it any wonder that workers whose chief raw material is human nature should have to confess that they cannot always tell in advance just how that raw material will act?

We are learning. We have just passed through one great cycle of inflation and deflation. We know now what happens to the automobile business, and the shoe business and the perfumery business when prices go up like a rocket and come down like a stick. How much wiser counselors to our customers we shall be when another cycle swings around. How much better we shall be able to read the signs of the storm, having passed through one such tempest.

Do you remember the references in English novels to those old law firms—solicitors—in which sons have succeeded their fathers to the third and fourth generation? Each new generation of lawyers has handled the affairs of the new generation among its clients, dealing out counsel based on records which run back for a hundred years or more. There is no reason why advertising agencies, too, should not outlive their founders and the successors of their founders growing wiser with each generation and gathering a priceless possession of recorded experience.

Think of an advertising agency in 1920 being able to turn back in the records to 1920 and say to its clients: "In the Fall of 1920 this happened in silk, and this happened in leather, and this happened in wheat, and the selling problems which followed were so and so. The present situation has certain aspects that are similar; and the recommendations which we are presenting are based on a recognition of that fact."

We are gaining experience; we are growing more and more valuable as advisers every year.

Don't expect the impossible. Give advertising time.

OPERATORS GIVE VIEWS ON NEEDS OF COAL MINING

Declare Freedom From "Artificially Provoked Labor Troubles" and Transportation Prime Requisites

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (AP)—Freedom from "artificially provoked labor troubles" and adequate transportation, according to a letter from an authorized committee of bituminous operators, filed today by request of the United States department of coal, are the two requirements most needed by the coal industry.

The committee, which acknowledged its organization "could be said to exist in the industry because of recent difficulties and a suggestion that extension of the 'national control' of the United Mine Workers' organization would add to the difficulties also were incorporated in the report, which was made through the national coal association.

Employers' Views Sought.
The committee asked for the employer's views on the direction which should be given to its effort in the endeavor to comply with the requirements to ascertain all of the facts concerning coal production, and the operators letter set out seven points which they considered should be covered, as follows:

"One—The effect on production and on the prices of coal by the consumers of the monopolistic coal production control of mine labor in the United States.

"Two—The opposition of organized labor to the introduction of labor-saving machinery.

"Three—The non-observance by organized labor of contracts made on its behalf.

"Four—The existing prices of material and supplies and the comparison between them and the prices existing prior to the war.

"Five—The existing freight rates and the effect of the war on them and the rates existing prior to the war.

"Six—The effect of inadequate transportation facilities on production and cost of coal.

"Seven—The character and quality of the different coals, the uses to which they are put, and the demand therefor."

Outdated Mine Law.
To specify questions from the committee, concerning the cause of strikes the operators returned answers critical of the mine law.

"Strikes occur here and there at individual mines by reason of local causes," the letter said. "They are always an economic loss. They are not a national or industry-wide strike."

"There can be no doubt that the fundamental cause of most local strikes is the mine law, which was enacted before the war, and is the law of the coal industry of those of 1900 and 1902, is the despotic control of approximately 60 per cent of the mine labor of the United States and Canada by a single organization, with power to stop at will the production and movement of interstate commerce and, immediately thereafter, to shut down the entire production of the country."

Un-American Practices.
When payment of a standard wage is made, the operators contended in an "answering" another specific question, because of variations in living conditions in various sections of the United States.

"The letter declared the following points were made: 'First—that every man has a right to work without either interference or compulsion, when, for whom and upon what terms he may see fit to employ himself. 'Second—that every man has the right of workers to organize for legitimate purposes cannot be denied, such organizations have no right to employ or to strike and no right to coerce or deal with them.' 'Third—that the right of private property is and must remain inviolable.' 'Fourth—that in the past receive the law of supply and demand always and always will, determine the price of coal, and no legislation can long interfere with this inviolable rule, that any interference can only be justified, if at all, in the case of war, and in any other case it is thereby produce greater evils than those which it seeks to suppress.'"

INCREASE IS SEEN IN ARGENTINE WHEAT CROP

International Institute Forecasts Greater Production in South America and Australia

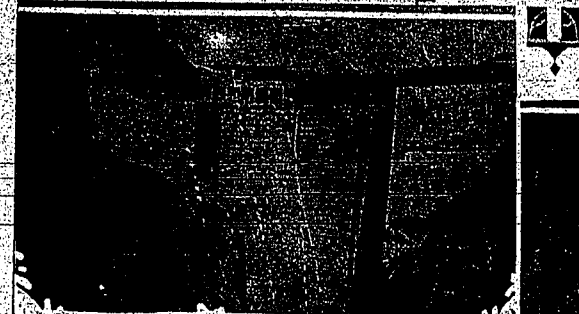

SOME, Nov. 10 (AP)—The International Institute of Agriculture reports that the estimated Argentine wheat yield will be 35,000,000 quarters (291,000,000 bushels) as compared with 22,850,000 quarters (180,640,000 bushels) in 1921.

The institute also estimates that Australia has approximately 10,000,000 acres of land under wheat as compared with 9,280,000 acres last season. The prospects of the Australian crop are reported to be fair.

SEPTEMBER 26—NOVEMBER 11, 1918

Four years ago today an American Army was deployed in the devastated region near Verdun to initiate the decisive battle of the World War. The task and the ordeal confronting our soldiers exceeded all past experience in our history. The fate of the human race was at stake. Through forty-seven days they maintained the battle until the enemy was completely defeated. To them, the fortitude, gallantry and devoted patriotism of those men, who we have lost and broken wounded discharged in full their duty to mankind and left a sacred obligation to the living. Let us celebrate this anniversary with renewed resolution to do our whole part as citizens of our great country.

REAL COWBOY DANCE

MIX IN UNUSUAL BOMB

When Max Brand wrote his novel "Trullian," he wrote a best seller. When William Fox made a motion picture based on this novel he made what has been described as a best seller. And this picture has as its star the formidable and strenuous Tom Mix. Mix, in "Trullian," which is to open at the Orpheum Theatre today, has a singularly novel role for him. He is an "Easterner," a "underfoot." That is, he starts out that way, but he quickly becomes a revelation to the members of the West when he invades that section in search of a man whom he believes slew his father. From the moment of his arrival he seems transformed.

The mystery which runs throughout the tale is not cleared until just before the final "fade-out." Eva Novak is the party of the second part in the incidental love theme.
