MAKERS OF BOGUS BANK NOTES HELD

Secret Service Agents Announce Capture of Third of Gang of Counterfeiters of English Money

NEW YORK, Dec. 5 (AP)—With the arrest today of John Popovich of Los Angeles, carrying $95,000 worth of counterfeit notes, or more than $400,000 in value, United States secret service agents said they had captured the third of a gang of counterfeiters who have done what was heretofore considered the work of the Spanish bogus bank of England notes.

The other two alleged members of the band reported to be under arrest in Los Angeles are Oscar Al Simon and Frank Gladwin. Simon, alias Popovich, was checked out at a Broadway hotel today when secret service agents who had been registered at the same hotel since Thursday night were told that he had fled to the United States currency. They said he was about to leave for Canada.

Take $50,000 in California

The secret service agents said that about $50,000 had been obtained by the gang in California through passing the notes. They search the records of the counterfeiters in part to the fact that since the war many inexperienced dealers in foreign exchange have not been able to detect the value of the bogus English bank notes have been accounted for, it was said.

DEAL IN SEC STUMS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5 (AP)—Officials of the State department declared tonight they had succeeded in rounding up another important gang of counterfeiters in the great New York city. The gang, headed by Leo Glavin, alias Moran, of the secret service, released that when Popovich was arrested in Los Angeles, the gang had been passing the bogus notes for some time. The money found in New York included $90,000 in counterfeit bank notes, $100,000 in counterfeit gold coins, $100,000 in counterfeit silver coins, $100,000 in counterfeit gold coins, $100,000 in counterfeit silver coins, $100,000 in counterfeit gold coins, $100,000 in counterfeit silver coins.

OLAVAVINDSON DOWNERS

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 5 (AP)—An Olavavindson, who was arrested here on a charge of passing $40,000 worth of alleged counterfeit bank of England notes, yesterday admitted to feeding secret service agents to an alleged conspiracy to obtain exchange of more than $200,000 worth of alleged counterfeit notes. John Popovich was arrested in New York today in the secret service agents.

WAMAMAKER'S CONDITION REPORTED WITHOUT CHANGE

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 5 (AP)—The change was noted in the last 24 hours in the condition of John Wamamaker, who is confined to his home by a serious cold. The bulletin issued by his physicians tonight read: "While perfectly conscious, the patient has not improved in the least. Wamamaker's condition remains unchanged, although no encouraging improvement can be recorded."

Ten Thousand Aristocrats of Animal World Vie for Honors

CHICAGO, Dec. 5 (AP)—The twenty-third annual International Livestock exposition swung into action at the city's stock yards today with 10,000 head of blooded cattle, horses, sheep and hogs competing for honors. Stock raisers from nearly every state in the Union and many Canadian provinces were in the city for the exhibition, and a number of Europeans had stock selected.

NEW BLOG LAYS PLANS TO BRING REFORM BY LAW

Speakers at Closing Sessions of Progressives Conference Play Past and Present, Official and Policies

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2 (AP)—Plans for promotion of progressive sentiment and policies through a national movement were made today at concluding meetings of the two days' conference of progressives called by Senator La Follette, republican, Wisconsin, and Abraham W. Haddleton, democrat, Alabama, under the auspices of the People's Legislative Council.

Resolutions declaring for the continuation of the new progressive movement which is to be actively translated into legislation through the movement of a progressive bloc of congress formed yesterday, was adopted during two sessions today at the public conference and address were made by a dozen leaders in liberal movements.

Daughterly Under Fire
Presentation of a detailed legislative and economic program was not attempted today at the closing dinner "open forum" and at the closing dinner tonight proposed a multitude of reforms and played past and present government in detail and criticism of the American Federation of Labor Governor Blaine of Wisconsin; Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska; Senator Wheeler, republican, Wyoming; Senator West Wheeler, democrat, Montana, and Pradier, republican, North Dakota, and Representative Frary, republican, Wisconsin, and Senator, republican, North Dakota.

Behind Bars Convicts
Resolutions adopted unanimously by the convention declared that the movement was "non-partisan" and designed to bring about complete reformation of the present government. Other resolutions called for extension of the direct primary, including abolishment of the electoral college and the complete reformation of the present government. Another resolution called upon President Harding to re-examine the present government and conference delegates however, that it was impossible in a single day to formulate a complete legislative and economic program.

Address by Senator La Follette
A non-partisan committee of progressives for national cooperation to provide a date for calling another conference of progressives was left open, but Senator La Follette announced that a conference of congressmen will be held next January.

Mallon Edwars Attack
Attorney General Daugherty and Secretary Mellon of the treasury department were the special fire of the speakers.

At the dinner tonight Mr. Undermyer presented an "indictment" against the attorney general, and criticized him as "a cheap politician" and charging him with numerous allegations.

Mr. Undermyer said Mr. Daugherty was "completely unfit for his office and was appointed solely on the basis of personal friendship and political service for President Harding."

Secretary Mellon was attacked by Governor Haddleton. Representative Frary for alleged failure to collect taxes from wealthy corporation, and Representative Frary urged an investigation of the internal revenue commissioner's office.

Borah on Committee
During the convention, Senator La Follette announced further details of the progressive bloc's organization through appointment of an advisory committee. These appointed were Senators Borah, republican, Idaho; Leander, republican, Idaho; Clegg, republican, Arizona; and Sheppard, democrat, Texas; and Representatives Woodruff, republican, Michigan; Beck, republican, Wisconsin; Collins, democrat, Mississippi; and Logan, democrat, South Carolina.

The next meeting of the progressive bloc is scheduled for the regular session of congress, with indications of its first fight being waged against the administration "budget" bill.

RECOVERY, LIKE SLUMP, ADVANCES IN SEQUENCE

Only Half of Business World is as Yet Affected by Improvement, According to Famous Statistician

WELLESLEY, MASS., Dec. 2 (Special to The News)—Roger W. Babson today called attention to every important factor causing the general industrial revival.

"Depression hit the country much like the storm," he said. "It did not hit the country all at once, but just as they affect different localities of the country in regular sequence, they also affect the different divisions of the world in different degrees and at different times."

ROGER WABSON
The fact that depression ordinarily starts in the northwest, works its way east, and finally its course in California, is clearly evident from a statistical study of the situation. "If we look at the business traces, its regular course through this material fabric."

Raw Materials First
"First there is the raw materials group, of iron and steel companies, copper and lead, and tin, and tungsten production. Second, the transportation group, the railroads, and steamships. Third, there is the manufacturing group with the automobile factories, textile mills and other factories of finished products. Fourth, and finally, there is the distribution group, headed by the wholesale and mail order firms, chain stores, and finishing with the multitude of retail establishments."

"Now what happens to these big four groups when the business slows down in the country? The first to suffer is the manufacturing group. This is partly the result of financial stringency. The second to suffer is the transportation group, the railroads, and steamships. Third, there is the manufacturing group, the automobile factories, textile mills and other factories of finished products. Fourth, and finally, there is the distribution group, headed by the wholesale and mail order firms, chain stores, and finishing with the multitude of retail establishments."

final group of the big four, the trading group. Best it is yet to come. Therefore, I estimate that improvement is not yet general and that the best is yet to come, when all the big four groups take part in the prosperity. These who question that the mill market in the stock market is at an end, might well question whether recovery can in any sense be complete until the economic trading group still is heard from.

"It is true, of course, that the stocks of the so-called trading corporations are a substantial factor in the recovery, but the stock market discounts the successive steps in business revival. But a more important reason is that the economic trading group, recalled with their immense national ramifications tend to part company with the smaller individual retailer and move more in harmony with the other groups."

"If you are a retailer, don't get discouraged if your sales seem to lag behind general business. This is merely the working-out of economic laws. Your turn will come—and to who might be the trading corporations, recalled as an investor, I suggest that the bull market—so far as the long-lying is concerned—will not finally eliminate itself. Improvement is general, but improvement cannot be general until shared by the millions of big and little retailers in the "little" and "cross" streets throughout the entire nation."

General business is holding its present improvement. The index of the Babson shows general activity, about the same as the normal of the last strictly observed.

Fifteen Years Ago in Twin Falls

The present session of the district court, which opened on Monday morning, this date to be shortly hereafter multiplied. A number of cases have already been disposed of, and Judge Wetters has made heavy inroads on the calendar.

The business men of the city have subscribed a sum of money which will be used in purchasing a new fire engine. The engine will be erected on a tower in order that the members of the fire company living outside the business section of the city may be given in case any alarm of fire is given. At present a heavy steel triangle is in use, but has been pronounced of little help in "scouting" alarms.

North Idaho Town Moving Intact To Another Location

More than Fifty Buildings that Made Up Laclede Are Transferred on Barges Eighteen Miles to Dover

LACLEDE, Idaho, Dec. 3 (AP)—Laclede has been moved to Dover, Idaho, 18 miles north of here. The town, which had been built on a narrow strip of land, was transferred intact to Dover, Idaho, about 18 miles north of here.

A few months ago the lumber plant that was responsible for Laclede's existence was wiped out by fire. For a while it looked as if the town would be left a ghost town. But twelve miles up the river, Dover faced the same possibility, but for a different reason. Dover had a big lumber mill, but the supply of timber in the adjacent territory was exhausted and the mill had been closed.

Instead of the two lumber companies involved got to studying the situation over and decided they had better put together. The company owning Laclede purchased the mill and nearby all the buildings of Dover. Then negotiations were made to move Laclede on river barges to Dover.

All the barges were more than 60 buildings in all. The first batch was shipped to the steers. Buildings were put on a barge and loaded to the waiting barges by the tank. When the barges arrived at Dover they were met by another tank which moved the buildings to its new site.

The work of moving the buildings is said to be progressing rapidly. Over 30 of the buildings have already been moved.

The Meteoric Cycle is a period of about exactly nineteen years—6,880 days, 14 hours, 27 minutes, to be exact—at the end of which, time the sun, moon and earth bear the same relation to one another as at the beginning; and in consequence of which the new moon will recur at seasons of the year exactly corresponding to those of the preceding cycle. This fact was discovered by Melton, the Athenian astronomer, in 455 B. C., and was used by the Greeks in the regulation of the calendar. It is still employed by the church in determining the festival of Easter.

Fashion Has Again Raided the Barnyard

PAUSE HERE! Fashion in the fur industry starts for New York again, has invaded the barnyard. Rouser fashions have come back. They are the latest thing on smart Paris hats, and even on even smart gowns. All colors are used, and when the rooster can't supply the shade, the dye pot does it. Even natural, white and black are the most popular colors. Greater fashions probably are about as cheap a material as can be found, but their use on cashmere has not lowered the price of blouses. One "Blue Chip" blue dress of 700 francs, with 200 francs more on the 500 francs.

IDAHO PAGEANT WILL BE GIVEN BY UNIVERSITY

Important Dramatic Episodes In State's History to be Retold Through Commemorative Week-Spectacle

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow, Dec. 2 (AP)—Official announcement of plans for the presentation at commencement time next June of a great pageant, including the entire history, depicting Idaho historical events, was made at the last assembly of the student body through a union of the university forces for the Idaho pageant society, the largest dramatic episode of Idaho's history will be retold in the pageant. Records of the university department of history, English, music, drama, and physical education will be applied toward perfecting the spectacle.

Next June at commencement time we want to see 10,000 people on the main floor looking on at a drama of the history of Idaho," said Dr. George Miller, head of the English department, who announced the work of students who will write the story of the pageant.

Historian in Charge
Prof. G. J. Brogan of the department of history, a recognized authority on the history of the northwest, will be in charge of the pageant. He will compile the historical data.

Dr. Miller told the assembly audience the pageant is to be a grand drama. History which will be a prophesy of our greatness in the future.

Professor Brogan in his assembly address made reference to a few of the important dramatic episodes of Idaho history to be covered by the pageant. Plans are being made to reproduce the Spalding cabin in which the first family life in Idaho was started. In this cabin the first white child in Idaho, Rita Spalding, was born.

The cabin was built in the spring of 1837 and stood for 45 years at the banks of the Clearwater river. Before being destroyed for firewood by a thoughtless white man.

Janet at the Football Game

Dear Sis:
I was in Madison for Homecoming day and the football game between the Illinois and Badgers last Saturday. Oh, but that was a day! Mary Alderman, my old sorority sister, asked me up for the week-end and Bud Alderman, who is a Senior, got us tickets for the game. Such a mob! Thirty thousand people were crowded into the stadium and saw Illinois pull down the crimson after a gruelling battle. I waged and lost a pair of gloves on Wisconsin. I was so sure Williams, popular halfback, would turn the trick for our team. Frosh and faculty, student body, Illinois rooters, old grads and their wives and the world's sweethearts were there. Bands played, pennants waved, cheer leaders led their classes in raucous defiance to the enemy.

There was a nip in the air. Pretty girls in hundreds snuggled chin deep in their fur collars of their coats, glorying in the warmth and aware how effectively the fur framed their faces. Others buried their hands in the patch pockets of their mannish top coats, swagger in line and topped with saucy little sports hats. Every other girl wore a big yellow chrysanthemum. As I looked over the field between the halves, I wondered how the girls of the hoop skirt period could have been accommodated in such a crowd. I was thankful that the slim, smart, clothes pin silhouette of today prevailed, for at that I didn't have a mite too much room.

University of California All-American and Oregon State in All-Star Football Game

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Dec. 3 (AP)—"Buck" Muller, the University of California All-American end, headed a kick, scooped up the ball and ran 95 yards for a touchdown, scoring a 6-0 victory for the west over the east in an all-star football game played here today for the benefit of local charity.

The two teams were made up of former college stars, brought here by a local committee for the game, which is an annual event, and probably represents the greatest assemblage of gridiron stars ever got together. In all 19 men whose names have appeared in various all-American selections, played on the two teams, one of which was made up of former members of eastern college teams and the other from players of western institutions.

Cut to Fit, Not Stretched to Cover

Where ordinary underwear must be stretched into shape, Athena is cut to the curve of the figure. The neckline slopes gracefully to the front. The armhole, rounded and shaped as in a custom made coat, sets easily yet snugly. Extra width is provided through the bust; the back tapers in at the waist. Trimly smart in outline, the whole garment gives naturally and freely as the body moves. Of course, it's supremely comfortable—yet it costs no more!

ST. LOUIS HEARS TIGER'S APPEAL FOR OLD WORLD

Clemenceau Urges Re-Entry of America into European Affairs, as Member of League of Nations or Otherwise

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Dec. 2 (AP)—Re-entry of America into European affairs, either as a member of the league of nations or on some other basis, was urged today by Georges Clemenceau, war premier of France, in a speech of his series of addresses in this country, delivered at the Odéon before a specially summoned audience here, roundly at frequent intervals.

The Tiger, summarizing what he thought he had accomplished so far on his tour of America, declared he believed he had convinced the country that France was not militaristic nor imperialistic and that she had every intention of paying her debt to the United States.

But to make sure, however, he repeated arguments he had made on these points before he launched into the subject of America's participation in old world affairs, the point, he said, that he had been most frequently advised he would not be able to get across.

See Militarism Here.

In the midst of his discussion of militarism, he related the statement that America showed several signs of militarism herself, and launched into a criticism of her naval policy.

"I don't think it is in your policy," he said. "However, I think I have the right to say that sometimes you were very much inclined toward the development of your military establishments."

"You have the best frontiers in the world. They cannot be better. But the other day you said you could not leave one unprotected unless you had 200,000 tons of warships. That may be. I will give you a million tons if you will leave one unprotected unless you are wasting your money which is, of course, at your disposition. I do not believe very much in capital, warships now, because there are submarines and airplanes which make war ships no longer capital."

"England has increased her military power 25 per cent and Japan 75 per cent. Well, you will see. I don't know if I will see the effects of this, but it may be the price of peace. You will see what may come of it."

Plunging then into his appeal for America to resume an active role in Europe, Clemenceau recalled the history of America's entry into the war and her part in making peace.

Morocco Doctrine Outgrown.

He referred to the Morocco doctrine had been outgrown by America, adding, "you have grown faster, allow war to come, you are a very competent people."

America, he continued, owed it to Europe to help enforce the terms of the Versailles treaty, because she had had so large a hand in making its terms, and because its terms—particularly those referring to reparations and disarmament—were being flouted by Germany.

Coming finally to the league of nations, he said, "I do not believe in a society of nations as you try to suppress war, at least now. When man has progressed more and more, I hope it will be. But I do not object to the best being attempted to get even the least, which is sometimes worth counting."

"That society of nations exists there somewhere at Genoa, but it has already done good. It has done something in the case of Austria. I say if you think fit to come, you come. You will receive the same as will you, French, British and Americans, together. That is my program. Oh, you know small beginnings have great endings. If you do not get into the family of the society of nations, that is your business; but under the situation, I dare say that you will be able to come some way or another and you had better take care it won't be too late."

Receives Warm Reception.

The warmth with which the Tiger's message was received was in marked contrast to the reception he got in the long parade through downtown St. Louis on his way to the Odéon.

The crowds were large but demonstrations were sporadic. This was due in part, perhaps, to the fact that the Tiger was so surrounded in his automobile by plain clothes men that many failed to recognize him. Law's police protection had been provided because of the receipt by local authorities of letters threatening his life.

Fashion Decrees Longer Skirts and Shorter Jackets

Manufacturers' Annual Convention Forecasts Women's Styles of Coming Spring

CHICAGO, Ill., Dec. 2 (AP)—Longer skirts and shorter jackets will grace the boulevard queen in the spring of 1923, according to the styles shown here today at the annual convention of the National Cloak, Suit and Gait Manufacturers' association.

The straight line silhouette will remain but will be varied by draped blouse effects, flaring lines in sport and auto coats. Skirts are to be looser and bell shaped on many coats, and jackets will be gathered in narrow bands at the wrists. Flairs were shown in the sport coat type.

The low blouse jacket and boy type of suit coat are being made for year with a plain skirt or with a dress to constitute a three-piece suit. In many instances the skirt is draped slightly and has an uneven hem line. Velvet and will cord, however, will be the most widely used for suits, manufacturers said.

The soft, clinging fabrics will give their grace to spring coats which are of three types—wraps, capes and straight lined coats—either with or without a blouse. Silk will appear in many of the greater wraps.

Thin shades will rival navy. Grey tones and hot wing are the new gray tones.

FINAL TRIBUTE IS PAID TO VETERAN LEGISLATOR

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2 (AP)—Funeral services, simple as he would have liked them, were held in the hall of the House today for James H. Mann, who for upwards of 25 years had exercised his great influence as a leader.

The president, the vice president, the cabinet, the speaker, the diplomatic corps, men representing the army and navy, the senate and house, and a host of friends, high and humble, joined in "paying tribute."

Tonight the body of the house veteran was on its way home to Chicago for burial, under escort of a congressional delegation composed of his colleagues from Illinois and friends closest to him in his work.

The only woman at the ceremony, aside from those in the galleries, were the widow and his faithful secretary, Mrs. Florence Donnelly, who had stood with him during the better part of his fighting days in the house. There was no eulogy by his colleagues—merely a sermon in which his services were highly recalled by the Rev. James H. Freeman, pastor of the church of the Epiphany.

FORD PRAISES COUZENS

DETROIT, Mich., Dec. 2 (AP)—Mayor Couzens of Detroit, who now will take the seat in the United States senate relinquished by Truman H. Newberry, is "the best man who ever came from the city," in the opinion of Henry Ford, former employer of Mr. Couzens. The seat to be taken by the Detroit mayor is the one sought four years ago by Mr. Ford, who was defeated at the polls by Mr. Newberry.

"Couzens is just the type of man needed in the senate not only by Michigan, but by the whole country," the automobile manufacturer said in a statement tonight. "He is a man of immense will and yet he still has the welfare of the public at heart. He is independent and fearless and likes nothing better than a fight for the common people against the special interests which for years have been getting an over-lightening grip on our government, both state and national."

EIGHTEEN MINE WORKERS INJURED BY EXPLOSION

GIBARD, Ill., Dec. 2 (AP)—Eighteen coal miners were injured and the lives of about 20 others were imperiled by a gas explosion in the mine of the Illinois, Coal and Coke company here this afternoon. The cause of the explosion had not been determined tonight.

Heroic work on the part of their fellow miners saved those in the shaft from death.

Issued every morning except Monday... Twin Falls News Publishing Co., Inc. (Established 1904)...

THE FORUM

R. K. K. Members of the organization known as Ku Klux Klan have freely expressed their views and sentiments in public press and otherwise...

It would be difficult to overstate the importance of the decision to be made by the voters of the Snake River Valley...

The first is: Does the Twin Falls country, now or in the future, need additional water for which it tried out with one voice during the last dry season three years ago?

And the second question is: Will the proposed district plan work, and is it the best plan that can be devised to build the American Falls reservoir and assure to Twin Falls county a supplemental water supply?

The importance of the question above demands that the verdict shall be rendered in the light of all the facts, and advocates and opponents of the district plan in the region are to be commended on the wise course they have adopted in providing opportunity for full presentation and discussion of the subject.

ONE WEEK LATER... It's come—Father's letter. It came last night. Oh, it was short, and it didn't say anything about what I wrote. But I was proud of it, just the same. I just guess I was! He didn't get Aunt Jane to write to Mother, as he had before. And then, besides, he must have forgotten his stars long enough to think of me a little—for he remembered about the school, and that I couldn't go there in Andersonville, and so he said I had better stay here till it finished.

And I was so glad to stay! It made me very happy—that letter. It made Mother happy, too. She liked it, and she thought it was very, very kind of Father to be willing to give me up almost three whole months of his life, so I could go to school here. And she said so. She said once to Aunt Hattie that she was almost tempted to write and thank him. But Aunt Hattie said, "Pooch," and it was no more than he ought to do, and that she wouldn't be seen writing to a man, who so carefully avoided writing to her. "So Mother didn't do it, I guess," I said.

But I wrote. I had to write three letters, though, before I got one that Mother said would go to send. The first one sounded so glad I was staying that Mother said she was afraid he would feel hurt, and that would be too bad—when he'd been so kind. And the second one sounded as if I was so sorry not to go to Andersonville the first of April that Mother said that would never do in the world. He'd shake his head and say, "No, no, no. But the third letter I managed to make just glad enough to stay, and just sorry enough not to go. So that Mother said it was all right. And I sent it."

APRIL... Well, the last chocolate drop went yesterday. There were just twenty-six pieces in that two-pound box. I counted them that first day. Of course, they were nice and dandy, and I just loved them; but the trouble is, for the last week I've been eating such enjoy little pieces. You see, every day, without thinking, I'd just naturally pick out the biggest pieces. So you can imagine what they got down to toward the last—mostly chocolate almonds. As for the self-discipline—don't see as I feel any more-disciplined than I did before, and I know I want chocolate just as much as ever. And I go to Mother.

But Mother is queer. Honestly she is. And I can't help wondering—is she getting to be like Aunt Jane? Now, listen to this: I just went back to have a new party dress and got a brand white material with dots in it, and it was all suitable for a child—or any child. Of course, I was disappointed, and I suppose I did show it—come. In fact, I'd afraid I showed it a whole lot. Mother didn't say anything then, but on the way home in the car she put her arm around me and said, "It's not so very sorry about the pink dress, dear. I know you wanted it. But it was not suitable at all for you—not until you're older, dear. Mother will have to look out for her little daughter, isn't getting to be vain, and too proud of herself."

ONE WEEK LATER... I was learning to cook—to cook! And it's Mother that says I must. She told Aunt Hattie—heard her—that she thought every girl should know how to cook and keep house; and that it was bad learned those things, was a girl, her life would have been quite different, she was sure.

I was learning at a domestic science school and Mother is going with me. Of course, Aunt Hattie laughs at us. But I don't mind. And Mother doesn't either. But, oh, how Aunt Jane would love it! If she only knew!

MAY... What do you suppose I am learning now? You'd better guess. Guess, Yastars! And that is for Father, too. Mother came into my room one day with a book out of Grandfather's under her arm. She said it was a very wonderful work on astronomy, and she was sure I would find it interesting. She said she was going to read it aloud to me an hour a day. And then, when I got to Andersonville and Father talked to me, I'd know something, and had he pleased. She said she thought it was a Father, after he'd been so good and kind as to let me stay here almost three whole months of his life, so I could go with my school. And she said she was sure this would please him and make him happy. And so, for most a week now, Mother has read to me an hour a day out of that astronomy book. Then we talk about it. And it is interesting. Mother says it is so. She says she wishes she'd known something about astronomy when she was a girl; that she wishes she'd made things a whole lot easier and happier all around when she married Father; for she says she would have known something about something he was interested in. She said she couldn't help that now, of course; but she could see that I know something about such things.

It seems so funny to hear her talk such a lot about Father as she does when before she never used to mention him—only to say how afraid she was that I would love him better than she. But she makes me say over and over again that I didn't. And I said so one day to her—I mean, I said I thought it was funny, the way she talked now.

She colored up and bit her lip, and gave a queer little sigh. Then she grew very solemn and firm, and said, "I know, dear. Perhaps I am talking more than I used to. But you see, I've been thinking quite a lot, and I've agreed some things. I'm trying to make you forget what I said—about your loving me more than she. But that wasn't right, dear. Mother was wrong. She shouldn't try to influence you against your father. He is a good man; and there are some too many good men in the world—no, no, I won't say that, she looks at me. But she'd already said it, and of course, I knew she was talking of the old times. I'm so child."

She went on more, after that, quite a lot. And she said again that I must love my father, and I must forget her, and she cried a little and talked a lot about how hard it was in my position, and that she was afraid she'd only been making it harder through her selfishness, and I must forgive her, and try to forget it. And she was sure she'd do better now. And she said that, after all, life wasn't in just being happy yourself. It was in how much happiness you could give to others.

CLARK RITES ATTENDED BY PIONEER RESIDENTS

Funeral Services for W. M. Clark Marked by Simple Ceremony; Life Story Told

The funeral services for William M. Clark, pioneer resident of this district for 20 years, were held at the Grossman chapel Saturday afternoon with many early residents here and friends of the deceased attending.

The ceremony, although simple, carried the inspired spirit that marked the life of Mr. Clark. The service was read by the Rev. W. B. Tolliver, pastor of the Baptist church.

He enlivened the motive behind the pioneer's "homestead" and mentioned the fact that Mr. Clark was an active supporter of the Red Cross and the Salvation Army.
