Gillis Cites Statute

BOISE, Idaho, Jan. 15 (AP)—Appropriation bills before the Idaho legislature failed to get right of way over other legislation in the house today when a concurrent resolution failed of passage by a vote of 43 to 23.

The roll call found the negative vote on the resolution to be composed of primary advocates in all three parties and is looked upon as a test of the possible vote on the state wide primary law when it comes before the house. That the appropriation bills may again, despite their early introduction, become delayed until a primary law is voted upon, is the belief expressed by administration members.

Had the legislature concurred in the resolution defeated today, it would have been possible to have pushed the appropriation bills to early enactment.

Primary advocates in the house openly acknowledge the move today as a tactical one in which they expect to gain the advantage through forcing into their camp such members as are interested in parts of the appropriation measures.

Gillis Cites Law.

During the debate preceding the vote Representative Gillis, republican, of Twin Falls, read the section from the Idaho budget law which requires the legislature to consider appropriation bills within five days after the session of the budget committee in the house. Representative Parker, democrat, of New Paltz, stated in reply that the legislature could do as it pleased.

The appropriation bills have been sent to the conference committee. It would have been the first time in Idaho legislative history when they would have been passed before the closing days of the session. The legislature, however, the appropriation bills have been the subject of political maneuvering.

Seeks New Agreement.

Radical changes in the system of mine taxation in Idaho formed the subject of a bill introduced into the house today. The bill provides for the levying of a tax on the value of the mine in proportion to its value. Mining claims are also included in the bill.

Representative Willis, progressive, of Blaine, is the sponsor for the measure which comes as a result of progressive campaign promises that the legislature will levy the tax on the value of the mine.

The present system of taxing mines on net profits has been in vogue in Idaho since statehood. Enormous profits in the state have been made and the legislative battle over the measure is promised if it reaches the floor.

Proposes Amendment.

The first constitutional amendment offered to the Idaho legislature came this morning from Senator Harris, democrat, of Washington, who introduced a resolution providing for a vote which would amend the constitution to allow a complete article to be adopted instead of section by section.

Difference Arises In

WAR DEBT NEGOTIATIONS

British Commissioners Wait for Instructions from London Before Resuming Discussions in Washington

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15 (AP)—A difference of views concerning terms of settlement developing, conversations between the British and American commissioners regarding the refunding of Great Britain's war debt to the United States were halted today while the British awaited instructions from their government. The subject matter of these instructions was withheld, but it was learned from official sources that the fields of both the time of final payment and the interest rate had been canvassed rather thoroughly in an informal way.

The British expected to be ready to resume the negotiations tomorrow afternoon but some of the participants appeared less confident that an agreement in principle would be reached before the London communication leaves next Saturday. Chairman Mellon of the American delegation, was represented as still hopeful of a tentative settlement before that time.

The settlement was developed, opened as to the time of final payment on the debt of nearly five billions of dollars range from fifty to sixty-six years, as compared with the present limitation fixed by congress, the question of the interest rate is believed to be the one on which the commissions are farthest apart.

As to the time of final settlement, the American delegation is understood to have proposed fifty years with the British suggesting the longer period.

Clash of German Factions
Involves French Soldiers

BOCHUM, Jan. 15 (AP)—Qua German was killed and two Germans were seriously wounded tonight when French troops fired on a crowd in order to quell a clash between nationalists and communists.

The nationalists were holding a demonstration before the city hall where the French general was staying, when the communists began a counter demonstration and a clash between the factions resulted. The disturbance was still under way at a late hour tonight.

This is the first disorder since the occupation.

LONDON, Jan. 15 (AP)—The Times correspondent at Berlin attributes the story of the reported clash at Bochum to German sources and says it should be treated with reserve.MEMEL REPORTED TAKEN.

BOISE, Idaho, Jan. 15 (AP)—Approximately 100 snowslides were counted in 10 miles traversed by a forest ranger today between Atlanta and the Boise-King placer mine on the abandoned road between Boise and Atlanta, according to reports received at the local weather bureau today.

Rocky Bar, a few miles south of Atlanta, has had seven and one-half feet of snow this winter.

FRANCE DELAYS
REQUISITION OF COAL DELIVERYPrompt Defeat of All Attempts at Obstruction Proves Effective With the German Magnates

PARIS, Jan. 15 (AP)—The allied engineers' commission at Essen, acting in agreement with the French government, has decided, because of fresh information received, to suspend for 24 hours the order given for the requisition at the pithead of the coal due the requisition account. There is ground for hope that the mine owners will withdraw their decision, announced this morning, to comply with orders from Berlin to cease deliveries of coal and coke to France.

The French and Belgian troops now occupy the whole Ruhr basin and have reached the limits of that neutral zone, 30 miles in depth, in which the Germans are barred from having railways or regular garrisons. The troops are at the gates of Dortmund, where they were ordered to stop for the present.

In view of the progressive obstinacy of the German attitude, however, it has been decided to extend the advance Tuesday, occupying Dortmund and extending the line to the industrial east and southeast, completely commanding the important railroad junctions. Southward the advance will extend to Darnum and Eberfeld, which will not be occupied until next week.

France Shows Teeth.

The promptness which the French are showing in countering each French measure of obstruction appears to be having its effect at least on the industrial magnates, who at first were delayed by their policy conciliatory toward the French, and there are indications that they will not persist in their refusal to deliver the requisitioned coal.

It was affirmed in official circles tonight that the French government has an instant counter measure ready for any move the Germans may make. All arrangements have been made to reply by appropriate measures to German measures which they claim questions of labor, food supplies, or transportation. For instance, General Fayot, director of communications, has taken steps to defeat the German plan to divert the Ruhr basin of rolling stock, which the Germans have just begun to put into operation.

The commission of control has discovered that the coal tax has not been collected for the past three months, enabling German industry to get coal at 40 per cent under the world price, and measures have been taken to stop this.

DEFENSE RESTS CASE IN TRIAL OF HERRIN MURDER

Court Overrules Motion to Strike the State's Testimony of Strength of Impediment by Witnesses

MARION, Ill., Jan. 15 (AP)—After calling 20 witnesses, the defense rested its case in the trial of five men charged with the murder of Howard Hoffman, one of the victims of the Herrin riots, today.

Angus W. Kerr, chief counsel for the defense, immediately renewed a motion made when the prosecution rested its case in December, asking that testimony introduced by the state be ruled out. Judge D. T. Hartwell overruled the motion and the prosecution announced it would begin its rebuttal tomorrow morning in the hope that the case would reach the jury by Friday.

UP CAPPER'S
CREDITS BILLLegislation for Farmer Relief Takes Precedence Over the Shipping Measure; Both Expected to Pass This Week

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15 (AP)—Such progress was made by the senate today in consideration of farm credits legislation that managers predicted a vote tomorrow on the Capper bill, the first of the farmer relief measures to be taken up.

The credit legislation, pending in the form of two bills, was taken up after the administration shipping bill, in accordance with plans of republican leaders, had been held aside temporarily by unanimous consent to make way for the farmers' measures.

It was said tonight both bills might be passed this week.

Unanimous Vote Predicted.
A unanimous vote for the Capper bill was predicted by its friends, but considerable criticism was given for the complementary credits measure, the Lenroot-Anderson bill, providing for federal subscription to credit departments, under the farm loan system of $100,000,000.

Before proceeding today with the Capper measure, the senate took action which was said to mean defeat of the Norris bill proposing a government corporation to buy and sell agricultural products, Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, objecting to immediate consideration of the farm credits bills, declared that his bill which was reported several weeks before the credit legislation he took up first. His motion, however, was defeated, 53 to 10. Mr. Norris said the defeat meant the loss of his bill during the present congress, but added that he expected to support both credit measures. Ten democrats and nine republicans—the latter principally of the progressive wing—voted to give precedence to the Norris bill. Thirty-eight republicans and 15 democrats opposed the Norris motion.

Capper Promises Relief.
Senator Capper, republican, of Kansas, declared his bill would aid farmers substantially in obtaining larger term credits necessary for production and marketing of their products, without preventing establishment of still further credit machinery. He announced he would support the Lenroot-Anderson government aid bill.

Reading of the Capper bill for complementary amendments was almost completed today and a vote was believed a vote might be reached.

The co-operative credit feature of the Capper bill was stressed by Chairman McLean of the banking committee and Senator Capper both of whom cited the success of California co-operative associations. Chairman McLean also discussed at length the credit definition and price reduction after the way and contended they were not caused by the federal reserve board or the present system.

Boss Greater Needs.
Senator McLean said wider markets and lower freight rates were greater needs of the farmer than credit.

Senator Capper said the farmers were in no better position now than a year ago.

Senator Capper declared his measure was based upon sound economic and financial principles and involved no expense to the government, relying entirely upon private capital.

Big District's Friends
Score on Election Eve

Close of Campaign in Twin Falls Country for American Falls Reservoir Project Sees Opponents on Defensive With All Objections Answered; Open Discussion Develops Lengthy Debate and Discomfiture of Minority

With an open discussion staged in the parish hall here on the eve of the election, the campaign for the American Falls reservoir district that has been in progress during the greater part of the year, came to a close here last evening.

Objections to the proposed district organization presented by George A. Childs of Boise, appearing as the solitary spokesman for the opposition, were attacked vigorously by proponents of the district to the manifest amusement of the audience which was almost wholly composed of its friends. The debate continued for more than two hours.

Mr. Childs opposed formation of the district on the basis of objections to the proposed district organization, to the proposed action by the Twin Falls Canal company in respect to purchase of storage water in the American Falls reservoir, and to the proposed action by the Twin Falls Canal company in respect to purchase of storage water in the American Falls reservoir.

He told the meeting he had learned that a Denver concern is willing to handle $1,000,000 worth of Twin Falls Canal company bonds.

Mr. Childs was mistaken in assuming that canal company corporation bonds could be sold at six per cent and that the previous total cost has been from eight to 10 per cent. Later he said the only time the canal company has sold bonds at six per cent was five years ago when $125,000 worth were sold through a banking house in Denver. They were discounted so heavily, he said, that the total cost amounted to about eight per cent.

States Objections.
Mr. Childs also stated that the canal board has been petitioned to finance the South Side district and to issue bonds and that he objected to the big district plan principally because it involved "entangling alliances."

C. A. Robinson asked Mr. Childs why he did not have his bill segregated from the district and Mr. Childs asked Mr. Robinson why he did not present the separate legislation last month ago. Mr. Childs said he did present it to the chamber of commerce on December 12.

Makes Concession.
Mr. Childs made further argument in favor of the separate bond issue of the South Side.

"I am in favor of the election tomorrow carries will you be in favor of the bond issue?" asked Mr. Robinson.

"I am in favor of the project, but I opposed to going into the big district," said Mr. Robinson.

"I just wanted to see how consistent you are," said Mr. Robinson. "You say it would be a splendid thing for us to have a splendid prosperity, a fine build the railroad, but just because you can't have your own way, you oppose it. Now, are you going to oppose it, or perhaps defeat those things just because you can't have your own way?"

"If the South Side tract votes 60 per cent in favor of the proposition tomorrow, I will lay down," replied Mr. Childs.

Remarks Recorded.
Mr. Robinson requested Chairman Alworth to make a memorandum of Mr. Childs' statement, saying "that may prove a little later."

Further amusement was created by the friendly contest between the two after which W. F. Alworth, the presiding officer, brought an end to the discussion with the statement "I believe we are taking Mr. Childs too seriously. I do not believe he holds the destiny of the tract in his hands."

Parting Blow.
At the final moment Mr. Childs delivered the parting shot which brought outbursts of mirth before he was through speaking. He said, "My friend, Mr. Childs, seems to be pretty badly tangled up. He seems to be unable to stand the entire business. For instance, now, if all of the others in the Buhl school district fall to meet their school assessments Mr. Childs will have to make their payments on the state bonds. Mr. Childs will be forced to meet the payments and stand the responsibility for those same payments on the North Side who he thinks will not be able to meet their payments in this irrigation districts. I imagine Mr. Childs must have laid awake nights for a good many years worrying about the subject of entangling alliances."

The audience left the hall laughing as Mr. Childs arose to further discuss the subject of the "entangling alliances." The meeting was opened by a short address by C. A. Robinson, urging the voters to take advantage of the opportunity offered Tuesday to adopt the big district plan.

J. A. Cron, introduced by Mr. Alworth, with some humorous representations as to the speaker's "wooden legs," then made a long and earnest address, namely, "the swimming pool project and Asher Wilson's flower garden," and he predicted that in 20 years' time the subject of entangling alliances would be a thing of the past.

The senate took up the Capper farm credits bill after Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, had made an unsuccessful effort to have his bill, which would have created a government corporation to buy and sell agricultural products, given priority.

The senate oil investigation turned to an inquiry into the dealings of the "Independent" companies with L. V. Nicholas, president of the National Petroleum Marketers' association, testifying there was "no real independence in the oil business."

The report of the special naval board assigned to recommend a shore establishment policy for the department of the navy was adopted by Secretary Denby.

PRICE CONTROL
SUBJECT TO
STANDARD OIL

Independent Operators, in First Appearance Before Senate
Investigators, Present Their Grievances

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15 (AP)—Control of oil prices, particularly gasoline, by the Standard Oil Company, was charged by representatives of independent oil concerns today at the senate oil investigation.

Appearing in the inquiry for the first time, the independents, one after another, presented grievances against practices of the company commonly described as belonging to the Standard group. L. V. Nichols of Omaha, president of the National Petroleum Marketers' association, and the Standard companies "not only fix their own prices, but the prices of the independents as well." Similar charges were made by W. H. Gray of Tulsa, Okla., president of the National Association of Independent Oil Producers, who declared the Standard corporations, through control of the larger pipe lines and by reason of freight rates, often being discriminated against, were able to fix prices without getting together in conference.

Complaints against the Standard companies were made by several other witnesses, most of them representing independent concerns. The hearing of independents will be continued tomorrow with Harry B. Sinclair, head of the Sinclair Consolidated Oil Corporation, generally described as a semi-independent, listed to take the stand.

Seen No Independence.

Mr. Nichols sharply criticized the practices of the Standard companies, declaring there was no independence in the oil industry that Standard companies had failed to follow. The lead of the Standard corporations were subjected to reprisals in the form of cuts in prices below cost. This statement was supported in the day by B. E. Swarthout of the Webeco Oil company, an independent concern doing business in the vicinity of Rochester, N. Y., who said that his company had cut below the charges charged by the Standard Oil company of New York, a representative of the latter corporation. Mr. Swarthout declared that he had been authorized to reduce gasoline prices as low as 16 cents a gallon, if necessary, to meet the cuts of the independent company. Existing rates and regulations of the interstate commerce commission governing pipe lines were attacked by Mr. Gray as discriminatory against the small independent producers of oil in the mid-continent and Texas fields. He declared these regulations should be revised with elimination of the present almost universal provision under which pipe line companies receive tenders of oil for transportation only in amounts of 100,000 barrels or more, such revision would benefit the public, he contended, by increasing competition, which, he added, was rapidly disappearing.

Peak Production Reached.

Mr. Gray, who is one of the leading independent producers in the southwest, expressed the belief that the year just passed represented the peak of oil production in the United States. Without mentioning specifically the action of Secretary Fall of the interior department, in granting leases to the Neapot Dome naval oil reserve of Wyoming, Mr. Gray told the committee he and independent producers generally were opposed to lease of the naval oil reserves and believed such reserves should be operated only for the benefit of the navy.

Combination of the Gulf Oil corporation and the Standard Oil company of Indiana, which has been reported in process of negotiation, Mr. Gray said, would be almost disastrous to the small independent producers in many fields where such a combination would reduce by half the buyers of crude oil. The acquisition of the Standard of Indiana of a half interest in the Midwest Refining company and the removal of the standard from competition with the Midwest in many fields, he said, however, has been beneficial as it compelled the independent to rely on either of the two big companies.

Affirms Open Door in Manchuria and Mongolia

DAIRYMAN, Manchuria, Jan. 15 (AP)—Speaking at a reception given in honor of approximately 70 foreign and Chinese residents in Manchuria, Mr. Kawamura, the newly appointed president of the South Manchuria Railway company, emphasized the importance of upholding an open door policy for Manchuria and Mongolia. "My predecessor's policy of co-existence and co-prosperity," he declared, "will be carried out faithfully and resolutely as possible. It is idle to talk of an open door policy regarding Manchuria and Mongolia, because the door never has been really closed. Japan will be willing to receive British and American enterprises in the provinces to join in Japan's endeavor to exploit the natural resources here."

NORTHWESTERN LUMBERMEN TO MEET IN MINNEAPOLIS

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Jan. 15 (AP)—More than 3,000 retail lumber dealers from Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Iowa, Nebraska, Montana and Wisconsin, members of the Northwestern Lumbermen's association, will attend the organization convention here January 16-18 according to William H. Hadeney, secretary.

A lumbermen's institute, prospecting for the coming year in the way of building and insurance, will feature the meeting. There are more than 8,000 members in active standing at present, embracing lumber men from almost every state.

Woman Dresses for Beauty,
Paris Designer Explains

PARIS, Jan. 15 (AP)—Woman's dress will never approach the uniform type of man's dress, declared Madame Jeanno Paquin, founder and chief owner of one of the oldest of the Paris houses, who was rounded out her 52nd year as fashion leader and maker of dresses for those who would appear beautiful.

"The styles of today range back to those worn by the Egyptians such as I once saw on the mummies of the now sunken island of Philae," said Madame Paquin.

"If we admit that dressing a beautiful woman is an art, then it follows that this art changes as other arts. One of such changes lies in social conditions."

"The reason for season changes come from the fact that fashion creators wish to continue to create. I for instance, as soon as I have completed a season, wish to see something different. I can't help it. It is the creative instinct I obey."

"There can be for this reason never a set, uniform style for women so long as women wish to be beautiful and men wish to have them so."

"The feminist movement means death to woman's beauty, and for this reason, it can never succeed in France. Our women wish to appear beautiful."

URGES CHOICE OF EMIGRANTS

Swedish Expert Recommends
Permitting Only Trained
Workers to Land

STOCKHOLM, Jan. 13 (AP)—The emigration from Sweden of highly qualified engineers, expert foresters, agriculturalists, of especially trained industrial workmen rather than of unskilled laborers and ordinary farmers, is recommended by Dr. Adrian Molin, an authority on the subject of emigration. Since there must be emigration of some kind, argues Dr. Molin, it would be better for the home country, and would insure greater success for the emigrants themselves, if those who establish a new domicile in America and elsewhere were persons of professional or technical equipment.

Swedish statistics show that, between the ages of 15 and 50, there are now 290,000 more persons engaged in gainful occupations than there were in 1913. This surplus has been taken care of partly by increased work in the industrial world, and partly by emigration, while the remainder, about 38,000, at the end of 1922, are unemployed and must be taken care of by the state. One movement toward providing more employment is the settlement and exploitation of undeveloped crown and church lands, especially in the northern districts, but the success has so far been doubtful, and the opponents of the plan point out that an increase of such work would eventually mean a smaller income per capita. Dr. Molin thinks that the time is ripe for government investigation of emigration, and that the state should which at present obtain in most countries. Thus, for example, industrial workers often emigrate and try their fortune at farming, adding their own inexperience to the difficulties of work under new conditions in a new country. He also considers it unwise for governments to try to sell a cold temperate climate to undertake hard physical labor in a tropical country. American immigration laws will in the future, it is believed, restrict the stream of emigrants from Sweden.

PARIS STREETS WILL BE NAMED AFTER AMERICANS

Leading Figures of World War to be Honored by Municipal Council in Work of Renaming Thoroughfares

PARIS, Jan. 15 (AP)—The participation of the American Expeditionary Force in the war will be commemorated in the nomenclature of the streets of Paris.

"The municipal council soon will resume the task of renaming some of the city's thoroughfares and, according to French custom, the leading figures of the war will be freely honored. This for only General Gallieni, the defender of Paris, and the 'Gue de Acre,' in aviation, and Colonel Bonnet, who distinguished himself at Soissons, have been honored. General Pershing's name will be considered with other names when the work was suspended on account of objections to the abolition of old names because of sentimental or historical reasons. Pershing, Clemenceau, Foch and other leaders are on the list, however."

There still remains a score of streets in Paris with German and Austrian names which must be changed. Included are the rue Beethoven, Gluck, Meyerbeer, Richard Wagner, Mozart, and Paganini, the rue de Vienne and the rue de Rome. But the great American musicians and poets probably will be left unchanged.

It has been decided to rechristen all streets that were named after the owners of the property through which they were originally cut. In addition there will be a hundred and fifty new streets opened in consequence of the demolition of the city fortifications, which will furnish ample opportunity to honor the greatest heroes of the war.

Paris streets and squares with American names. American President Wilson, rue Lincoln, Franklin, Louisiana and Washington, and the Place des Etats Unis.

our men approve of this desire, and, within their means, are willing to pay the bill.

"When it is pointed out to Madame Paquin that her own success in business was used as an argument for the feminist movement, she objected energetically."

"Whatever success I have had was due in a large part to my husband. My mother insisted that as a girl I should learn a trade, to have as a weapon in life. I studied millinery and when I was married at 19, my husband and I decided to keep up that line. He knew little about it, but he had a good business head. Without that I should never have succeeded. Women are too careful. They need somebody to push them to execution. Boldness is largely responsible for American success."

"The great tragedy of a woman's life," she continued, "often is that she is not good looking. I have known many of these tragedies."

"Behind the smiling exterior of the rich or the highly-phased woman, the fear of growing old or not looking well has hundreds of times brought tears to me in tears."

"No, so long as a woman is a woman, she will wish to be beautiful, and just so long will there be changes in styles."

SEEK IMPROVEMENT IN CONDITIONS FOR HEALTH

Australian Conference Declares for Medical Inspection of Workers and Lower Minimum Child Labor Age

SYDNEY, N. S. W., Jan. 13 (AP)—A number of important resolutions on the subject of industrial hygiene, including one providing for systematic medical examination of all workers, were adopted at the conference between commonwealth and state health representatives.

One resolution urged that all persons employed in factories or workshops should be examined medically before employment, until the person had completed his eighteenth year.

The conference asked that the medical records of the educational department be made available to the authorized medical inspectors in the case of any child seeking employment in a factory or workshop, and urged that factory medical inspectors be appointed.

Another resolution urged that the minimum legal working age should be fixed for factories and workshops at not under 14 years for boys and 15 years for girls.

Each state should have in effective operation legislation controlling conditions dangerous to the health of the employee, another resolution said.

Another resolution, which was adopted, read:

"This conference considers that, in view of the importance as a phase of public health administration of systematic medical supervision of the health of individual employees, of the valuable information and results which have been obtained from the introduction by private employers of a service for the health of their establishments, that every employer, including governments, should be encouraged to provide efficient and regular medical services, which shall keep under review the health of the workers and shall inquire as to any relation between variations in health and conditions of employment. Moreover, in order to obtain the greatest amount of public benefit from this measure, records of work done should be by a standardized method."

It was estimated at the conference that between 18,000 and 19,000 children under the age of 16 years are employed in factories in the commonwealth.

ALASKA'S GOLD OUTPUT
SHOWS HEAVY INCREASE

Territory's Mineral Production, on Down Grade in Recent Years, Stages
Strong Comeback During 1922

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15 (AP)—Mineral production in Alaska, which showed a declining tendency in recent years, staged a marked comeback during 1922, according to United States Geological survey estimates and turned out more than $18,000,000 in new wealth. The value of Alaska's gold output for the year was fixed by the survey at $7,720,000; of copper, $9,000,000; silver $730,000; coal, $450,000 with enough lead, platinum, petroleum, and iron to make up the balance. In 1921 the output of Alaska's minerals was valued by the survey at $17,000,000.

"The Alaskan mining industry is advancing, not retrograding," the survey said with conditions there brought under its study. "In fact, though the value of its present output is small compared with that of the past, the industry is in on a more substantial basis than ever before."

As to the future, the survey estimates that unworked placer ground in Alaska still holds $350,000,000 in gold, which will be recovered by the methods of dredging now being followed. The resources of copper and other minerals contained in hard rock deposits, it was added, cannot be estimated as yet, but the opening of coal deposits which will cheapen the costs of production leaves the prospect favorable to expansion of general mining enterprises.

KLANSMEN BARE FEAR OF BLAME FOR KIDNAPING

Organization Members Spent Night Under Arms After Disappearance of Murdered Men, Inquisitors Are Told

BASTROP, La., Jan. 15 (AP)—New ground was opened today by state's attorneys in their task of unraveling the mystery surrounding the kidnapping and slaying of Watt Daniel and Thomas Richard, victims of hooded kidnapers. Two members of the Ku Klux Klan put into the record a recital of an assemblage of klansmen in a store here in anticipation that Mer Rouge citizens might swoop down on Bastrop in retaliation.

James F. Harp and "Jap" Jones, farmers of Bonita, a village in the southern part of the Mer Rouge parish, both members of the parish Klan organization, testified that after the kidnapping of Daniel, Richard and three other men on the Mer Rouge-Bastrop pike August 24, last, a dozen or more men, klansmen, gathered in a hardware store here, armed themselves and prepared for eventualities.

Deary Klan Involved. Both insisted, that the Klan had no part in the kidnapping but that the gathering of klansmen was deemed advisable as a precautionary measure in view of the intense feeling prevailing in the parish.

"Why did you klansmen wait up that night?" was asked of Harp. "It takes a long time to tell that story," Harp said.

"We heard the people of Mer Rouge had guns and a regular arsenal and we thought they might come over and blame the kidnapping on the Klan. We knew they were mad and up in the air about the kidnapping of Richard a week before and we were afraid it would be laid at our feet."

"Were you armed?"

"Yes."

"Did you have your masks?"

"No."

Sought Perpetrators. Jones testified along much the same lines as Harp as to the gathering in the Bastrop store.

"It was a serious thing," Jones said. "We had discussed it and decided to be prepared. We were afraid it was the Klan that did the kidnapping?" was asked of Jones.

"No, but I did want to know who did," he answered.

Jones told of making the ground with his friends in Bastrop stores, trying to learn who might be responsible, but without result. At no place, he declared, could he find information as to who was in the party of men who took part.

The watch at the hardware store continued until midnight.

"Did you hear of any preparation made to kidnap Daniel and Richard?" Jones was asked.

"No, none."

Missing Men Discussed.

"Did you attend any meeting in which the conduct of Richard and Daniel was discussed?" was another question.

"Yes, about six weeks prior to the kidnapping, we met in the court house and Daniel and Richard were discussed but we decided to let Daniel, Richard and other citizens alone. Then we had another meeting—an impromptu affair—at which Dr. B. M. McKolin, Captain J. K. Skimpert and others were present. We talked over the attempted assassination of Dr. McKolin."

"Watt Daniel and others were blamed, but particularly Watt Daniel."

Skimpert is the parish leader of the Klan. Dr. McKolin formerly was mayor of Mer Rouge and now charged in an affidavit with murder in connection with the deaths of Daniel and Richard.

Harp and Jones were the principal witnesses at the afternoon session of the hearing. They were preceded on the witness stand by P. L. Carpenter, parish sheriff; Gus Boyd, Collington storekeeper, from whom the blackhounded band purchased gasoline while holding the two kidnaped men prisoners, and a half dozen other witnesses.

COMEDY AT LAVERING.

The Girl and the Tramp company, an organization of New York players presenting the ever popular comedy, "The Girl and the Tramp," will be seen at the Lavinger theatre tonight only.

The title of the comedy sensation means nothing, only that the leading comedians of the show is a typical American lingo and the leading feminine character in the play is a typical Bowery tough girl. An excellent cast of actors will be seen in the supporting roles and the two feature roles are in the hands of James Gordon, known as America's premier "tramp" comedian, and Ivy Merion, the saucy tough girl, who is extremely popular in the eastern states.

"The Tramp and the Girl" is a comedy-drama built for laughing purposes mostly and is brimful of hearty and continual laughter which is only curtailed now and then to admit the natural heart interest in the play to unravel itself. As a big feature the producers of this production are adding three big circuit vaudeville acts, each of which is a headliner. The vaudeville will be staged during the intermission between acts which makes one solid evening of entertainment. The advance sale is on at the Majestic pharmacy and tickets are selling fast.

IDAHO.

Drama and comedy are expertly mixed in "A Daughter of Luxury," Agnes Ayres' latest Paramount starring feature, which opened at the Idaho theatre yesterday. Primarily dramatic, the situation might be handled as straight drama, but the story has been treated in a lighter and more inspiring vein, so that the humor made possible by this treatment provides reliable entertainment. The supporting players, headed by Tom Gallery, are quite artistic.

LAUNDRY WINS INITIAL ROUND

Rogerson Cafe Wood Smashers Lose to Dirt Chasers, 719 to 659

The Troy Laundry bowlers won the old game from the Rogerson Cafe pin smashers in the opening net-to of the Twin Falls bowling league Monday evening at the Twin Falls bowling alley, before a crowd that occupied every available point of vantage.

The first game went to the dirt chasers by the score of 719 to 659, the heavy makers being unable to get started.

In this game Bill Bailey rolled high game with 170 pins. In this game several members of the teams were under impression that the management was giving a prize for low score and in this department, Tritt of the Laundry team, and Swenson of the Cafe club had a neck and neck race, Tritt winning out 86 to 94.

The second game found the bowlers ready for some big scores. Bill Toan, who had rolled 125 in the opener, swore vengeance, and the first four frames of the second game gave Bill four strikes. Everyone looked for a 300 game, but Bill took pity on the Cubit clan, and ended with 203. Charley Larson was second high with 194.

This game was also won by the soft soap outfit, but only after a struggle. The final score in this game was 825 to 815. If Toan had struck in the last frame instead of making a spare, the beanery brigade would have won this tilt.

Determined to win at least one of the games, the users of pots and pans got busy and won the game by the score 852 to 808. This game brought out the fact that Toan was not satisfied with a paltry 203, and raised it up to 214. This was high game for the evening.

The total pins for the three games were: Troy Laundry 2349, Rogerson Cafe 2826. The team average for the Laundry team was 783, while the Rogerson band had an average of 776.

Bill Toan had high individual average with 181 for the three games. Charley Larson was second with 175, with Roy Cubit right after him with 175.

Local basketball fans will have their fill of the popular indoor game this week.

Wednesday evening the boys' and girls' teams will travel to Filer for a double header with the cargo artists of that town, while on Friday a double header will be played at Jerome.

The girls will stage the curtain-raiser at Filer, the game starting at 7:30.

Miss Stancliffe is putting the girls through some real practice these days in an effort to keep up the school record.

Not one game has been lost by the girls' basketball teams in the last four years, and the girls have a real battle on their hands Wednesday when they meet the Filer sextet.

The boys' game needs but little comment, as a battle royal is the dish served whenever Filer and Twin meet.

Several fans are of the opinion that Twin Falls will lose the boys' game by five points, basing their judgment on the fact that Filer is considerable better than last year, and have about two weeks' advantage in practice.

A large delegation of Twin Falls fans are planning to take in the Filer game, and a good plan would be to hitch up early as the seating space at Filer is limited, and first come, first served, is the rule that will be observed.

SETTLEMENT OF WESTERN ROADS DISPUTE GIVEN

Southern Pacific Retains Ownership of Central Line, but Union Pacific's Claim to Use is Sustained

OMAHA, Neb., Jan. 15 (AP)—A plan for settlement of the controversy between the Union Pacific and the Southern Pacific railroads over possession of the Central Pacific line has been accepted by the Union Pacific subject to adjustment of traffic details, according to President Carl Gray, who quotes President Carl Gray of the Southern Pacific. It was not known officially whether the Southern Pacific accepted the proposal made in a memorandum from the interstate commerce commission.

The proposal would leave ownership of the Central Pacific running in from Ogden to San Francisco, with the Southern Pacific, but would grant satisfactory use of the line to the Union Pacific.

By the new arrangement Omaha takes its chance to become the headquarters of a railroad reaching directly to San Francisco, as it is of one reaching Portland and Los Angeles. On the other hand, it retains and extends the advantages accruing from heavy transcontinental traffic from the Pacific coast via the Central Pacific to Ogden and thence by Union Pacific through Omaha.

Gray Discusses Award
The plan of settlement was suggested by the interstate commerce commission, Carl Gray, president of the Union Pacific system, declared here this evening, in discussing the settlement.

"The plan was suggested three or four days ago by the commission," President Gray said.

President Gray refused to disclose tonight whether all the parties to the settlement had agreed to it, but the Omaha Bee says it is in possession of information from other authoritative sources that the official announcement and minor details will be made known probably tomorrow or within a few days, thus indicating acceptance of the settlement plan.

The fight between the Union and Central Pacific for the control of the Central Pacific has been one of the largest contests of the sort ever waged between two railroads. For months the respective interests have been preparing evidence and recently the interstate commerce commission held hearings on the subject.

Carl Gray, president of the Union Pacific, left Omaha ten days ago to participate in the proceedings, and his office at that time stated that he would not return until after February 1. Instead, he returned this week.

Story of Dispute
Prior to Edward Harriman's purchase of the Union Pacific, the Southern Pacific owned the Central Pacific line from Ogden to San Francisco as a western outlet for the Union Pacific, and to get it he had bought the entire Southern Pacific system. The supreme court ordered this merger dissolved, as a violation of the anti-trust laws. Suit then was instituted to divorce the Central Pacific from the Southern Pacific for the same purpose. A few months ago the supreme court ruled against this combination also.

This left the Southern Pacific under the apparent necessity of selling either to the Union Pacific or a third party. Meanwhile, however, congress had authorized a regrouping of railroad lines into new systems, and under this authority, the Southern Pacific began a bitter fight to retain the Central Pacific. Pacific coast interests lined up for and against the plan, as did other cities along the line involved. The Union Pacific contended that, as the matter stood, traffic normally destined over its line through Omaha was routed by the Southern Pacific along the southern route, through New Mexico. The settlement now declared to be effected, is said to protect the Union Pacific thoroughly against such discrimination.

Commission Becomes Judge
Under the provisions of the Commerce act, congress in 1902 authorized the grouping of railroads into new systems for the purpose of joining the weaker systems with the stronger. If a line was declared here tonight, the Commerce act is interpreted as supporting the Sherman anti-trust law then the interstate commerce commission is to be the sole judge, in the future of railroad combinations.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC SILENT
SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 15 (AP)—Southern Pacific company tonight declined to comment on dispatches from Omaha announcing settlement of the controversy between the Southern Pacific and Union Pacific regarding the Central Pacific. They said that the matter was in the hands of "honorable" public tribunals at Washington.

HUGHES DENIES NEW PROPOSALS

Paris Dispatches Telling of American Reparations Plan, Mystifies Officials

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15 (AP)—Dispatches from Paris today stating that Roland Hughes, American observer with the reparations commission, had submitted a reparations settlement plan to the commission completely mystified officials here. The state department disclaimed all knowledge of the plan in a formal statement.

Officials felt certain that there had been a misunderstanding somewhere along the line. The prompt action of Secretary Hughes in authorizing a statement was believed to be actualized by the desire that it should be definitely understood that the Washington government had no connection with any project which has been laid before the reparations commission.

Await Explanation
Lacking some explanation from Mr. Boyden, as comment beyond the official statement was obtainable. There was every indication, however, that Mr. Boyden would be asked for such an explanation as would clear the matter up and show just what the proposition was to be laid in mind.

In some quarters there was speculation as to whether the settlement plan Mr. Boyden referred to might not prove to be that which has been discussed in American and other business circles for an export commission to study German capacity to make reparations payments. As this proposal reached the Chamber of Commerce of the United States from a similar organization in Germany, it contemplated an unofficial American commission, not related to the reparations commission or the various governments.

The same general theory of an impartial economic survey in Germany has run through unofficial discussions of the reparations crisis for months, however.

Disclaimers Sweeping
The one thing that was apparently made entirely clear by the state department was that the project not only was not a renewal of the Hughes suggestion to the allied governments, but lacked official approval here and was not to be regarded as due to the initiative of the American government.

The mystery thus awaiting further word from Mr. Boyden to clear the air served to obscure to some extent the Washington view of the new developments in Germany due to widening of the French zone of occupation in the Ruhr. There is every reason to believe, however, that officials are watching the course of the French operations with gravest concern and that official advisers contain nothing that would furnish a more hopeful outlook than is given in press reports from Europe. It was stated that the government's dispatches tended to confirm the general picture given by newspaper correspondents.

Official word of the French determination to extend the occupation was carried to the state department early in the day from the French embassy. The embassy also made a positive declaration that the French troops were being employed in the movements into Germany.

First word from Paris as to Mr. Boyden's statement created an impression that events were already developing toward recovery by the French authorities to the Hughes proposals. A fuller report, however, coupled with the state department's disclaimer, left the situation as it had been in quiet respect, unless it should be that the reparations commission on its own motion is planning a course calculated to restore Anglo-French harmony as to the methods to be followed.

MINT BANDIT'S BODY IS FOUND

Denver Police Identify Remains as That of J. C. Sloan, Casper, Noted Outlaw

DENVER, Colo., Jan. 15 (AP)—The slain bandit was identified today as J. C. Sloan of Casper, Wyo. Eugene Williams, chief of Denver's police department, announced the bandit was one of the men the police have sought since December 18 last, the day the bandits made away with $200,000 in currency from a federal reserve bank trunk in front of the mint, killing Charles T. Linton, a guard.

The bandit's frozen body with a bullet in the heart was found last night in a private garage near Seventeenth and Clifton streets. Officials declared the bandit was instantly killed by a bullet from the revolver of Pete Keidinger, a guard employed at the mint. At the time he was shot, Sloan was standing on the running board of a bandit car, shooting at the mint guards.

Dead Man Was Leader.
The dead man was the leader of the robbers. Police believe that after pulling the bandit into the automobile the rest of the gang drove to the garage, locked the automobile inside and escaped. None of the foot was found in the bandit car.

The identification of Sloan, according to chief Williams, is a foreman of the early capture of the rest of the gang. The Omaha police last week had a woman said to be Sloan's wife, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Burns and Columbus Thompson, under surveillance at the Denver authorities, but when a detective squad descended upon the hotel where the quartet were stopping, they had escaped.

Sloan, according to the police, was the master mind of one of the most daring gangs of desperadoes in the country. This gang went out only for "big money." One of the admission requirements was deadly marksmanship with either a revolver, rifle or shotgun. The reckless daring of Sloan's gunmen was demonstrated in the mint robbery, when Sloan, pumping a hail of bullets at the main door of the mint, offered himself as a target for the bullets of the government guards while his men transferred the $200,000 in currency to their stolen automobile.

With their leader dead, the police say it was up to the gang to take care of his widow. Part of the gang acted, but, according to the police theory, Thompson and Mr. and Mrs. Burns took Mrs. Sloan with them.

Early Captures Promised.
Efforts to round up the survivors of Sloan's band were redoubled late today, police declaring two or three days would see the gang rounded up. Keidinger declared today he had positively identified the bandit's body as that of the man who in the robbery of December 18, stood with a pump shotgun and fired at the government guard until he fell and was dragged into the robber car as it started away.

"I could not be mistaken in the face," he declared.
Large crowds of curious persons passed through the dingy little room in the county hospital used as a morgue today to gaze at the bandit's body. One woman fainted. Police withheld her name, but declared their belief that she was not personally acquainted with Sloan.

SUPREME COURT SETTLES OLD BOUNDARY DISPUTE

Designates South Bank of Red River as Line Between States of Texas and Oklahoma; 1819 Treaty Figures

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15 (AP)—The south bank of the Red river, declared by the supreme court in an opinion rendered two years ago to be the boundary between the states of Texas and Oklahoma, was located today by that court in an opinion rendered by Justice Van Devanter, Justice McReynolds dissenting.

The authority cut bank as it existed in 1821 was declared by the majority opinion to be the bank referred to in the treaty of 1819 as the boundary between the United States and the Spanish possessions, and the court said it was the bank that has existed today in the same as it was then, except where it can be shown by competent evidence that there has been a change in its location in intervening years, due to erosion or accretion.

MR. MEAT PRODUCER:

MR. MEAT CONSUMER:

Stop a moment. Think and reason. Is easy to talk about big prices to the producer? What has the producer been getting for his cattle the last few years from the local butchers, while choice cuts were selling at 30c and 35c per pound? One or two couple of years ago I was fortunate enough to have two fat sheep on the ranch which I wished to sell. The best offer I received was $1 for each sheep, that dressed 80 pounds apiece. I did not sell them, but butchered them myself and sold the dressed meat at 10c per pound, then sold the pelts for 75c each. At that time chops were retailing at 35c a pound. I decided right then that there was too much difference between the price paid the farmer and that charged the consumer, but that I never got the chance I would try to balance things up a little. My first opportunity came a little over a year ago when I took over the U. S. Meat company of Elmer. The result was meat came down from 5 to 10 cents per pound. When the weather got warm I was forced to discontinue the meat for lack of cooling facilities. Then up went the price to the consumer but not to the producer. Did you know that very few of the first-class steers were butchered here? They are shipped to other places and the heifers and old cows are sold here. We have just completed an ice box so we can keep meat the year round. Will handle meat in connection with the fruit and vegetable business. Have taken my sons in as partners. We are ready to serve the public. Mr. Farmer, bring in your best beef and those certified hogs. The people want good stuff, but we don't expect to hold them up. Must sell them meat they will like at a price they will feel like coming here for more. Mr. Consumer, don't get excited about the present price-cutting of meat. You may save three cents today and by doing so compel yourself to pay out dollars later on. We will give you special prices on chuck or quarter beef or half or whole hog. Free delivery. Phone 1572.

SEE EDUCATION AS FACTOR FOR WORLD'S PEACE

Schoolmen Take Lead in Move to Foster National Comradeship and Confidence to Produce Common Sympathy

BERRIDGE, Cal., Jan. 15 (AP)—World peace through education will be fostered by prominent educators from all parts of the world who will meet here for two weeks preceding the National Educational Association convention in Oakland, an adjoining city, next July, according to an announcement by Dr. Walter Morris Hart, dean of the summer session of the University of California.

Designation of a day to be known as "World Good Will Day" and a more effective system of the teaching of international civility are among the proposals to be considered at the conference.

In his announcement Hart set forth the objects of the conference as follows:

To promote friendship, justice and good will among the nations of the earth.

To bring about a world wide tolerance of the rights and privileges of all nations regardless of race or creed.

To develop an appreciation of the value of the inherited gifts of nations, and to bring about a common sympathy and progress.

To secure more accurate and authentic information and more adequate statements in the text books used in the schools of the various countries.

To foster a national comradeship and a confidence among the nations, and to produce a more sympathetic appreciation among nations.

To inculcate into the minds and hearts of the rising generation those principles which are necessary to carry forward the principles emphasized in the conference on limitation of armaments.

In all the schools to emphasize the use of modern methods of teaching and the necessity of universal peace.

A far reaching system of exchange teachers and students between nations in another idea to be discussed at the conference.

WHEAT TRADE UNSETTLED

Decrease in Visible Supply Causes Rally but Heavy Weather and War Talk Cause Depression

CHICAGO, Jan. 15 (AP)—Although an unexpected decrease of the United States visible supply brought about something of a rally during the late trading in the wheat market today, prices averaged lower, largely as a result of heavy winter's shipments. The close was unsettled at the same and a half's finish to 3-8c down, with May $1.19 to $1.18 1/2 and July $1.12 3/4 to $1.12 1/2. Corn closed unchanged to 1-8c to 1-4c lower, oats 1-4c off to 1-8c advance, and provisions varying from 7 cents decline to a rise of 5c.

With world shipments of wheat last week greatly in excess of the demand for the preceding week and for the corresponding time last year, and with Liverpool quotations declining in consequence, the wheat market here was showing a sagging tendency until after midday. This tendency was emphasized by the fact that car lot receipts at the principal western markets aggregated 1,111 cars against 883 a year ago. Meanwhile a majority of traders were apparently unable to decide for themselves whether clashing of European wheat prices at present is to be construed as likely to bring about higher grain prices or the reverse.

News in the wheat market today that for the first time in the war, wheat prices were in no financial position to go to war and that warfare of a desultory kind would further restrict buying power, while the other hand suggested conditions in important sections of the winter wheat territory were unrelieved. Under such circumstances and with no new export business of consequence, the wheat market here was small and the market easily influenced.

Corn and oats reflected the weakness of wheat, but rural offerings remained meager and other markets were persistently outbidding Chicago.

On the provision market the effect of lower quotations on live stock was counterbalanced by liberal export clearances.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET

Day's total sales 1,260,000 shares. Twenty industrial averages 98.04, net loss 1.03; high 1022, 103 1/4, low 78.50.

Twenty rails average 55.55; net gain .00; high 1022, 33.99; low 74.43.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15 (AP)—French occupation of additional German territory with reports of a more threatening attitude on the part of the inhabitants provided speculators for the decline with an excuse for an assault on today's stock market, losses of 1 to 3 points being common among industrial shares and specialties.

Operators for the advance made two unsuccessful attempts to rally the list, first by building up steel stocks and then by a brief buying movement in railroad shares. Convinced that the technical condition of the market warranted a reaction, the bear interests began to sell off their holdings and began to sag throughout the list. In industrial and specialties which had taken a prominent part in the recent advance movement, the heaviest hit, the reaction in these shares being accelerated by profit-taking on the part of recent buyers.

Bullish within a range of 3 1/4 points, closing at 121 1/4 for a net loss of 2 1/4. Studebaker dropped below 114 for a net loss of 2 1/2. Other prominent industrial and specialties to record net losses of 2 to 3 points were American Locomotive, Pan-American A and B, California Petroleum, American Can, American Tobacco, United Fruit, Associated Dry Goods, Famous Players, General Electric, Texas Gulf Sulphur, International Paper, Mecca and Company, Postum Cereal, United States Alcohol and United Fruit.

Southern Railway was a feature of the short-lived rally in the railroad group, getting as high as 23 1/8, but closing at the close to 27 1/4, where it was up 1 1/8 on the day. Buying of this issue was based on reports that the road would show earnings of nearly $4 a share on its common stock for 1922. Atlantic Coast Line closed 3 points higher and St. Paul preferred closed one point up, but most of the other early gains in that group were reduced to fractions or converted into small net losses.

Steel shares also forfeited their early gains. First States Steel, which had been pushed up to $3 5/8, dropped back to 30 3/4 for a net loss of 1 1/4. U. S. Steel got as high as 107 3/8, but yielded to 105 3/4, or 5 1/8 below Saturday's close, on the final sale. Crucible closed 1/2 point higher and registered net losses of more than a point.

There were a few exceptions to the downward trend. American closed at 49 7/8 or 1 3/8 points above Saturday's close. The American Telephone and Telegraph was announced after the market closed. Chile improved 1-8, closing at 29 1/8. Bear and shoe stocks also were strong, Central Leather common and preferred rising 1-2 and 2 1/4 points, respectively. American Hide and Leather 1 1/4 and Brown Shoe 7-8. Marine preferred dropped to 40 7/8, its lowest point since 1921.

Call money opened and renewed at 4 percent but closed at 3 1/2. Foreign exchange were weak. Demand for sterling dropped to 4.60 3/8 or more than 2 cents below last week's high. French francs dropped more than 15 points below low 680 cents and German marks made another extreme low record, quoted at 72 1/2, a cent, or about 13,700 to the dollar.

VISITOR SEES TWIN FALLS ON VERGE OF BOOM

Industrial and Railroad Projects to Come With Addition to Southern Idaho's Productive Area

Extension of the productive area about Twin Falls is certain to result in the development here of a city comparable to Oklahoma City, Sioux City, Omaha or Wichita, according to statement relating to the American Falls project, made here Monday by the representative of a dairy products concern operating throughout the inland mountain region.

Explaining that he had "no axe to grind," and requesting that publicity be not given to his name or that of his employer, he gave to The News the following statement:

Great cities are built on the productivity of the surrounding country. The greater the area of productivity, the more facilities of service to mankind are found within their reach, which is what makes great states great, great cities great and the people here still greater.

It isn't hope that does such things. It is the will to do. Courage enters into the scheme of things. Forward looking, and forward thinking people have always been the leaders, and always will be.

Unprecedented Opportunity
This community has the greatest opportunity that has ever come before a people to build for themselves the most wonderful country in the known world. I am taking in quite a big territory, very true, but I am doing it advantageously.

When the proposed added area is under water, crops are being harvested, marketing associations are formed, selling agencies established, and marketing centers, I can see just as plainly, the ultimate result as Oklahoma City, Sioux City, Omaha and hundreds of other cities have. Take a look back at Wichita, and you will be thoroughly convinced that a productive area linked with a progressive city need not be visionary. The effect of your convictions leads to the things you want.

Railroads are now looking for a country that has possibilities of production for the future. They realize and know that eventually all of the land that will yield a maximum crop every year must be served with the means of marketing at the least possible cost.

Not long ago some one connected with a great railroad system was here saying: "If you build one more road built in and through Idaho north and south." This statement was made recently, and was based as he said on "materials that must come in on the road that will go out." I would say that all of the combined efforts that could be expended toward realizing the development of Twin Falls and the surrounding country, will give you a very little impression on the minds of those who are anxiously awaiting the time to come to a land, to be among people, who have shown themselves to be ever looking forward to build bigger and better.

How are you going to keep manufacturers from coming in here?

How are you going to get away from having one of the largest milk reducing plants in the largest milk producing territory in the world from coming into this vicinity?

How long can they keep their competitors from coming in also? How can you keep the big railroad to the south of you from running up here to help haul the increased wealth to the nearest centers of greatest consumption?

You who live here and heretofore do not get the chance to overcheck the remarks of those who come into your country, give you the once over, and just as quickly return to their eastern homes to discuss the feasibility of turning the raw materials of this country into the finished article. A father and son were commenting on the possibilities of the woolen industry, as it pertained to this particular territory. They were from Massachusetts and were quite homesick. They saw the sheep, the feed to care for them, an assured wool crop every year, ample raw material in sight, the question with them was people to operate the mills. How can you keep them from coming in as soon as you can furnish people to operate their factories? Think it over.

Courage, the will to do, foresight and right thinking are the things you folks are singularly blessed with. I don't say you don't want to keep them out.

A Glimpse of the Future
How can the untrained observer looking back on the past look forward for his data—help but see right at your call, the gleam of many lights from factories, the long winding string of heavy laden freight cars winding their way to market with outgoing products, the fuller of the wonderful highways to further the economic gathering of essentials that make the basis of all things worth while.

Why be a pessimist? Show me a country that has with enough the last two years without the making of a hard fought battle against it. Lead me to one that can show scars as healthy as the few we see here.

Two years from now you won't be able to find a single thing in this "Optimistic Little Em." The very minute that you say, "Let's Go!" "Let's Build Up!"

Figures in Famous Texas Mystery

Later, however, his beautiful widow was arrested, charged with murder, which she apparently denied. She was released on $5000 bail by the district court in San Antonio, following habeas corpus proceedings.

MEMORY SHORT IN AUSTRALIA

Minister Tells Kiwanians of Repeated Failure to Guard Against Recurrent Drought

As regularly as drought, about once every seven years, in Australia wipes out growing crops and makes serious inroads in the livestock industry, residents of the commonwealth resolve to take measures for protection against its recurrence, but memories are short and in proportion that results from a year or two of bounteous crops, with adequate rainfall, precautionary measures are lost sight of.

Statement to this effect was made by Dr. J. H. Elliott of Seattle, evangelist in charge of union revival services opened here last week, to members of the Kiwanian club whose guest he was at their regular weekly luncheon meeting Monday.

There is no other country, Dr. Elliott said, where fortunes may be accumulated as rapidly as in Australia. He admitted that prejudice against Americans would militate against success on the part of emigrants to the commonwealth from the United States.

Dr. Elliott paid a warm tribute to the citizenship of the commonwealth and related several incidents to indicate character of the Australians. He said that he had spent three years during the world war as head of an educational institution at Adelaide.

He referred also to his previous visits to the Twin Falls country in its early history when he came here in company with a party of Chicago financiers.

United support on the part of members of the club of the American Falls reservoir district project was presumed by each of several speakers who urged co-operation in getting out the largest possible vote on Tuesday's election on the district proposal.

The speakers included Guy Flenner, Boise, managing director of the Idaho Reclamation association; John W. Graham, C. A. Robinson and T. J. Woods. Members of the club pledged the use of their cars Tuesday in assisting voters to the polls.

Guy E. Curtis, Boise, choir director accompanying Dr. Elliott, favored the club with a vocal number, the accompaniment being played by Paul Hanft, Twin Falls. Mr. Hanft also gave a number of piano numbers.

BIG DISTRICT'S FRIENDS
here would sell at $500 to $1000 an acre if the project is successful.

Mr. Alworth classified many of the contentions of the opposition as being false and believed they were presented by "the man who was against the building of the first school house here and the Jackson lake dam."

Tucker Talks.
Mayor J. D. Tucker briefly urged the support of the project in an address on the subject, "A I My Brother's Keeper." He said the election Tuesday offers the opportunity of life time and stressed the importance of farming, saying that he had spent many years on the farm and that in the present time of present events he had often wished he could return to farming.

The address of F. A. Bank, reclamation engineer, was much the same as the others delivered by him and was devoted to setting forth the engineering facts concerning the project.

INTERESTING TALKS ON PROGRAM FOR BANQUET

Local and Out of Town Speakers to Address Stockmen's Dinner Tuesday Evening

An interesting speaking program including addresses by out of town and local speakers has been arranged for the annual banquet of the Twin Falls North and South Side Shorthorn Breeders' association at the Rogers hotel Tuesday evening at 6:30 o'clock.

Local business men have been invited to attend the banquet and participate in the discussions on problems of the stockmen. Following the banquet the election of officers will be held.

Those who will speak are E. J. Idings, dean of agriculture at the University of Idaho; E. F. Rinehart, in charge of field animal husbandry in the University of Idaho extension department; A. E. Lawson of Spokane, northwestern representative of the American Shorthorn Breeders' association; and William T. Leslie, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce agricultural bureau.

SEVEN DIRECTORS TO BE SELECTED FOR DISTRICT
Election in Each Precinct to Express Preference for Membership on Big Project's Board

Besides voting for or against the American Falls irrigation district plan at the election Tuesday voters will be asked to ballot for seven directors to serve in case the proposition carries.

"The consummation of the plan for building the big reservoir at American Falls will mean a number of important things to us, in my judgment, besides a water increase. Yes, I mean a rainfall south."

M. J. Sweely, Twin Falls, who have been opposed to the creation of the big district. It seems to mean so much to the community and to the whole of southern Idaho that I am convinced that its advantages outweigh the objections.

POULTRY BUSINESS GAINS

Shipments Last Fall Were Biggest Ever Sent Out; Predict Raising of More Turkeys

Thirteen cars of live poultry billed for the Los Angeles and San Francisco markets, and one car of dressed turkeys for the Chicago market have been shipped out since October 1 by the Twin Falls Poultry and Egg company. Shipments the past few months have far exceeded any of the past and last fall was the first time that poultry shipments reached a total of any size. Another car of chickens is being loaded for shipment this week.

The small amount of poultry shipping in the past is ascribed to the lack of a favorable market and the poultry business in this county, the company representatives say, is one that will at least keep pace with the increase in other lines of business when the Rogers-Wells railroad is completed.

Increased prices of about two cents a pound are predicted on the completion of the road.

Turkey raising proved especially profitable for the farmers of this district last fall and local poultry buyers are sure that if weather conditions next year are favorable for breeding that the number of turkeys raised will be about four times the total of last year.
