Southern Pacific President, at Los Angeles Stock Show, Declares No One Industry Can Be Successful Alone

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 30 (AP)—William Sproule, president of the Southern Pacific company, speaking at "The Carriers' Interest in Livestock," told the 20th annual convention of the American National Livestock association, which opened here today, that the "railroad business is gradually coming along until we are in hopes—but so far, it is only hopes—that it will come into its own again."

Operating Costs Advance

"But meantime," Mr. Sproule continued, "it is proper I should say to you that the increase in our operating costs has been so great and the increase in taxation has been so great that it is impossible for the railroads to make substantial reductions or for the authorities of the government to produce substantial reductions in the freight and passenger rates of this country unless we are to give the country a new setback in which your business would share as well as our own."

"All the phases of our national life prove to us that we progress together, we go backward together, we fall together. There is no such thing in this country as class success; there is no such thing as the success of one industry, while the others are floundering, except possibly under the abnormal conditions created by the war, which, of course are deplorable, which are the basis of most of our difficulties at the present time and which are not to be reckoned with under conditions of peaceful development. They are to be regretted more than anything else."

Today's program included addresses of welcome by Mayor George E. Croyer and Captain John D. Fredericks of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce; a response by Dwight B. Heark of Phoenix, Arizona; the annual address of the president, Fred H. Kirby of Los Angeles, California; the "Packers and Stockyards Act," by Howard M. Gore of Washington, D. C.; a speech on stabilizing the use of public ranges by W. B. Grosley, forester, department of agriculture, Washington.

Contractors' Convention Condemns "Recklessness" of Actions; Demand Trials

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 30 (AP)—Government was fraud indictments and existing immigration laws draw sharp criticism in the opening session here today of the fourth annual convention of the Associated General Contractors of America.

Adoption of a committee report condemning "the utter recklessness" of recent department of justice actions against contractors and others accused of frauds in connection with the construction of army cantonments during the war, was accompanied by a demand for the early prosecution of these indicted.

"It would be an outrageous thing for the government to delay one unnecessary hour," said Arthur C. Brent, president of the contractors' organization. "If politics or any other sinister motive lies back of the matter we shall see delay after delay in the prosecution. The surest way to uncover the truth is to push hard for immediate action."

Would Not Protect Guilty

In the report adopted today the committee appointed to investigate charges of conspiracy to defraud bidders against several former government officials and contractors while disclaiming any "desire to protect persons who have been guilty of profiting or fraud against the government," points out that a careful perusal of the 18 actions involving alleged wasteful and fraudulent expenditures totaling $45,000,000, "leads inevitably to the conclusion that these charges cannot be sustained unless they were done at the time and with the knowledge and connivance of army officers, engineers, construction men, material manufacturers and dealers, labor—in short, all those having to do with war construction work."

REPRESENTATIVE
DISTRICT URGED

Idaho Senate Receives Proposal for Selection of House Members by Sub-Divisions

BOISE, Idaho, Jan. 30 (AP)—Establishment of representative districts in counties which send two or more members to the lower house of the state legislature is provided for in a bill introduced into the senate of the state legislature this morning. The measure would require the county commissioners at their regular meeting in April prior to the election to divide the county into districts equal in number to the number of representatives to be sent to the legislature. Each district would then select its own representative.

Highway boards are given the authority to issue and negotiate bonds for the funding and refunding of the bonded or other indebtedness of the district under the terms of another measure introduced.

Sessions in both houses of the legislature were short today. In the house debate on the appropriation bills occupied all the time of the session.

SERIOUS TASK
BEARING DOWN ON FREE STATE

Intensified Campaign of Destruction Waged by Irregulars is Deemed Blow at Attempt to Hold Elections

DUBLIN, Jan. 30. (AP)—The free state government still is confronted with a grave task, as shown by the intensified campaign of destruction and incendiarism that is being carried on by the irregular forces. These acts are considered proof of the determination of the republicans to resort to every possible means to prevent the government from functioning and to break the country's peace and order, if possible, prevent the holding of elections.

By secret means, the irregulars continue to amass arms, ammunition and explosives, and to manufacture bombs and land mines, the destructive powers of which are alarmingly great. Two houses were burned Monday night and completely demolished within a few minutes. No consideration is shown occupants of doomed houses.

Last night, Mrs. Corrigan, wife of a state solicitor, was given two minutes to evacuate her home. The woman and her maids snatched three undressed children from the beds and dashed out of the house into the cold, wet night. Their departure from the building was followed immediately by the explosion of a land mine.

There seem to be systematic attacks on houses belonging to men prominently associated with Irish newspapers. Many such attacks have been made, but a majority of them have proved unsuccessful.

Portions of the populace of Dublin are becoming apprehensive and are asking whether the government forces are strong enough to protect the lives and property of citizens. Some uncalculated risk is apparent because of the admission of William T. Cosgrave in the Dail Eireann that a few government officials should be suspended on suspicion of complicity in the activities of the irregulars.

TRADE AGENCY IN PARIS IS SEIZED BY IRREGULARS

DUBLIN, Jan. 30. (AP)—The Irish trade agency in Paris has passed into the hands of the irregulars, owing to the treachery of the late trade agent, said by Deanna Fitzgerald, minister of foreign affairs.

The Irish office in Madrid has been closed, but that in Rome is still open and no decision has been taken by the government to curtail its external relations, she added.

Wm. T. Cosgrave, president of the dail, said the government had decided to suspend payments to the government officials who had supported disorders and whom the military had imprisoned. These cases were few, he declared.

The minister of education, Prof. John MacNeill, said some of the free state teachers had been imprisoned.

Belgium Accords Close Co-operation in Drastic Measures to Obtain Reparations—Guarantees From Germany; Situation in Ruhr Towns is Reported Quiet; Allies Restoring Rail Traffic; Coal Miners Reject General Strike Proposal

(By The Associated Press)

France and Belgium are in full accord on measures for control and administration of the Ruhr region. Such was the report made by the French minister of public works and General Weyand, at a conference at Paris after their return from Brussels, where they were in close communion with the Belgian government.

General Degoutte, commander in the occupied zone, declares that "Germany's fate is in her own hands," and that "nothing will make us deviate from the course laid out for us." The situation in the Ruhr towns is reported as quiet, arrests and deportations of German state and municipal officials continue; the allies are restoring traffic on the railways; coal is being mined, and it is reported that the miners' union has rejected the proposal for a general strike; telegraph operators, who were on strike, have gone back to their keys, and the occupational authorities are taking over warehouses in Duisburg, Dusseldorf and other places containing foodstuffs and general merchandise.

The French Federation of Labor has adopted a resolution protesting against the repressive measures in the Ruhr.

The German government continues to issue orders to the German railroad men forbidding the transport of coal or timber from the occupied area to either France or Belgium, and co-operation of the railway officials with the French or Belgians is also forbidden.

The German mark has dropped to 45,000 to the dollar.

DEGOUTTE OAILS GERMANY
REITER OF HER OWN FATE

DUESSELDORF, Jan. 30. (AP)—Germany's fate is in her own hands. Nothing will make us deviate from the course which has been laid out for us. We will take whatever steps and measures are necessary." In these words, General Degoutte, allied commander in chief in the occupied zone, today summarized the situation in the Ruhr from the standpoint of the French and Belgians.

"We came here with pacific intentions," he went on. "The German government responded with a very possible and provokes a general uprising among the population. . . . Moderation is not a sign of weakness. Our patience has reached its limits; responsibility for the evils that may strike their country lies with the German government."

When the French and Belgian forces entered the district, he said, they promised to trouble the normal life of the inhabitants as little as possible and asked the workers to continue at their labors calmly and orderly.

Puts Blame on Berlin

"Our appeal to the population, inspired by common sense and reason," he continued, "was on the verge of being accepted when the Berlin government used all means of pressure to cause the people to rise against us. The wisdom of the workers' classes having made this plan a failure, the Berlin rulers enjoined the functionaries and state officials to enter into open rebellion against us."

Strikes, sabotage and boycotts had been resorted to, he added, but the occupying forces had not lost their heads and given way to the immolation which, he said, characterized "the discipline of Bismarck." The allies could not continue in the way they had started. They were determined to break the stubbornness of the adversaries and officials who obstructed them would be arrested or expelled, as would also "all people who will not recognize the right conferred on us by the peace treaty and by international law."

Alms Blows at Berlin

In the further actions which were to be taken, he intimated, the pressure would be brought to bear not upon the German workers, but upon their government.

JURY IS COMPLETED FOR HAYES COMPANY'S TRIAL

Idaho Corporation Officials Face Prosecution in Federal Court on Charge of Fraud in California Land Deals

CHICAGO, Jan. 30 (AP)—The jury to try 12 defendants in the trial of the Hayes company of Idaho, who are under federal indictment on charges of using the mails to defraud in connection with the sale of California lands, was completed yesterday. It is alleged by the government that the company sold land in California through the mails for $200 per acre. The land, according to government agents, was practically worthless.

Attorneys for the defense made motions to file documents to cancel the indictments. When Judge W. C. Lindsey overruled the motions, they asked that the state be required to file a bill of particulars. This was also overruled.

League Waits for

Council Receives Balfour's Declaration; Indicates Sympathy With British Attitude

PARIS, Jan. 30. (AP)—It is for Turkey to say whether the council of the league of nations shall take up the question of the frontiers between Anatolia and Irak, and the disposition of the rich petroleum deposits in the Mosul region.

The Earl of Balfour, in presenting this subject to the council today, did not go so far as to submit a proposal, but the council decided there was nothing to act upon, but it was made clear by Lord Balfour and M. Viviani that if Turkey would accept the jurisdiction of the league, she would have a chance to defend her case on a footing of absolute equality with Great Britain.

Both Lord Balfour and M. Viviani expressed the hope that the Turks would accept either the terms of the treaty proposed at Lausanne or mediation of the council.

Though the council took no action, simply receiving Balfour's declaration as such, there is no doubt that the whole council thinks as he does, the procedure adopted being based on consultations in which all the members took part. The council will wait until after adjournment of the Lausanne conference, giving the Turks what is considered ample time to reflect and accept Lord Curzon's proposition for mediation by the league.

In an attack made upon the mandated territory—what formerly was Mesopotamia but now is the kingdom of the Irak—no action will be taken at all.

German Protest Figures

The council spent most of the afternoon in private sessions, considering several important points in the administration of the territories under its supervision. A good many private talks between the members are going on, respecting Germany's protest against the presence of the French troops in the Saar valley in the hope that they can reach an understanding agreement without being obliged to indulge in contention in a full session.

The Lithuanian-Polish dispute also will come up again. Though the agenda is mostly made up of these questions and minor details of the administration of the Saar region and Danzig, it is expected the council will remain in session until early next week.

British Delegation Regards Decision as Flagrant Violation of Understanding; To Leave on Scheduled Date

LAUSANNE, Jan. 30 (AP)—Complication suddenly arose among the allied representatives at the Near East conference at a late hour tonight, when the French delegation announced that it had decided to remain in Lausanne as long as there was any hope of carrying on successful negotiations with the Turks.

The British delegation considered the decision of the French a flagrant violation of the understanding reached between the allies a few days ago that all of them leave Lausanne at the end of the week if the Turks did not sign tomorrow the treaty which has been handed them.

British Plans Unchanged

All the British delegates announced officially tonight that they would adhere to this program, whatever the other allied delegations decided to do. Earl Curzon will start for London Friday.

The British protest against the French decision is based on a statement issued by the British delegation last week. This was to the effect that the treaty would be presented to the Turks for signature on Wednesday and that the allied delegations had agreed to depart Friday; if the Turks asked further time to consider the treaty, then the conference was to adjourn, but the plenipotentiaries would be ready to return to Lausanne when there were indications that the negotiations could be brought to a successful conclusion.

Rejects Pious Program

Both the French and Italian delegations supported the British stand with the greatest reluctance. The spokesman for the French delegation informed the Associated Press tonight that while there was some idea of leaving at

Two Langley Field Corporals Brought to Bay in Woods are Charged with Robbery

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., Jan. 30 (AP)—Corporals John S. Wood and James S. Harvey of Langley field, identified by Captain E. J. Cota, chief finance officer at the field, as the bandits who held up him and four corporals at the First National bank of Hampton this morning and escaped with the army payroll of $13,000, were captured here today by the authorities announced.

According to the telephone reports, the men were captured in the woods near Big Bethel. Most of the money was recovered, it was added, although the bandits had been forced to abandon $500 in silver.

Trace Holdups to Woods

The captain and the four men who accompanied him were found nearly five hours after the holdup, bound, gagged and tied to trees near Big Bethel beside their badly damaged automobile. Their captors, they said, had escaped into the woods with the money. The search was immediately begun, even scouting airplanes being used in the afternoon, and tonight the woods were surrounded by masses of several hundred men with bloodhounds.

The holdup occurred at 9:15 this morning, when the finance officer was leaving the bank with the pay.

SENATE'S DELAY ON FARM CREDIT BRINGS FLURRY

Senator Lenroot Breaks Into Flow of Democratic Oratory with Demand for Action;
Night Sessions in Prospect

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 (AP)—A situation which had some earmarks of an ineffectual filibuster resulted in the senate today when republican leaders renewed their efforts to expedite pending rural credits legislation. Several attempts to reach an agreement as to a time for closing debate having failed, suggestions of night sessions were reiterated by the majority.

Senator Lenroot, republican, Wisconsin, a co-author of the bill under consideration, broke into a series of set addresses from the democratic side to protest against the apparent policy of delay. There was grave danger, he said, that unless more progress was made, the senate would be unable to render assistance vitally needed to the farmers. Mr. Lenroot's protest followed an address by Senator Ashurst, democrat, Arizona, regarding the necessity for some new method of adopting constitutional amendments.

See No Need for Haste.

Senator Fletcher, democrat, Florida, said there was no doubt of its ultimate passage but asserted there could be no justification for extreme haste in reaching a vote. Senator Harrison, democrat, Mississippi, concurred in this view, warning the majority that "no strong arm methods" could be employed without causing trouble. He suggested that a vote be taken next Tuesday, but Mr. Lenroot declared he expected a decision before that time.

Senator Fletcher then stated in unanimous agreement that all debate cease at 4 p. m. Monday, but Senator Jones, republican, Washington, objected, though he said he would agree to closing debate Friday.

An effort to compromise was made by Senator Smith, democrat, South Carolina, who suggested Saturday, but Mr. Jones again demurred, renewing the suggestion of night sessions if the minority desired extra time for consideration.

Fletcher Fears Flu.

"That is a serious proposal," Senator Fletcher declared. "With this town full of grippe and flu, I for one will not risk my life by coming here at night. The mortality rate among senators is already pretty high."

Other suggestions of compromise having failed, Senator Harrison moved for a recess, but was defeated, 34 to 18, and consideration of routine amendments was resumed, the body being held in session until it had disposed of all thus far proposed.

WANTS COMPREHENSIVE FARM MARKETS PROGRAM

Farm Bureau Federation Department
Has List of Experts to Stimulate Disposition of Products

DALLAS, Texas, Jan. 30 (AP)—Mobilization of agricultural leadership behind "An intelligent, constructive and comprehensive cooperative marketing program," is the hope of the American Farm Bureau Federation, said Walton Petecet, newly selected head of the cooperative marketing department of this body, in announcing his policy here today.

Mr. Petecet will assume his new duties on February 1, giving up his post as secretary of the Texas Farm Bureau Federation. His department, which will be built of trained experts in cooperative marketing, he said, will stimulate and encourage the ordinary marketing of farm, ranch, orchard and truck products of American farmers.

This work, Mr. Petecet said, will be promoted through educational campaigns, addresses and conferences. The department not only will be ready to stimulate and unify cooperative marketing organizations, but also coordinate the efforts of these organizations of which there are more than 18,000 now in operation handling a billion and a half dollars worth of farm products annually, he announced.

SYDNEY, N. S. W., Jan. 30 (AP)—A substantial decline in the volume of importations of German goods has taken place during the past few weeks in Australia, although the entire importations of German commodities since the embargo on German merchandise was removed in August has been negligible.

The customs authorities attribute the most recent reduction to the terms of the Industries Preservation, or anti-dumping law which has been made applicable to 24 classes of goods manufactured in countries with depreciated currencies.

Committee Approves Measure for Remodeling Diplomatic and Consular Activities

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 (AP)—Reorganization of the diplomatic and consular activities of the United States into one inter-changeable foreign service organization as sought by Secretary Hughes was approved today by the house foreign affairs committee, which reported the Roberts bill, providing for consolidation of the two branches. Complete interchange of personnel, a single revised salary scale, extra allowances to representatives at foreign capitals, thus eliminating the necessity of large private means for diplomatic officers, and extension of the civil service retirement act to the service among the provisions of the bill.

Increase in salaries "would be authorized for many posts, chiefly for secretaries and lower officers, but the compensation of ministers and ambassadors would not be changed." Secretaries would be given salary increases from the present $8,000 to $9,000.

Broadens Eligible List.
Pointing out the necessity for additional allowances at diplomatic posts, the report of the committee said it was "deplorable that by denial of adequate compensation, the United States, the greatest democracy, now restricts the admission to the office of secretary in the diplomatic service to the members of a small circle of society, who are willing to provide from their private fortunes for the support of their positions abroad."

"It is notorious," the report said, in discussing the failure of the government to provide money for entertainment by its foreign representatives, "that the United States has never paid its ambassadors and ministers at the large salaries on which it was possible for them to live. The failure to make reasonable allowances for entertainment leaves a choice of two evils, the sacrifice of the public interest or the restriction of appointment to men of wealth willing to provide from their own fortunes for the support of their positions."

How Freezing Affects Canned Stuff.
The United States bureau of chemistry says "Most canned goods will stand a little freezing without appreciable change. Repeated freezing and thawing causes the foods to become flabby and gives a flat taste. Such a change, however, does not alter the wholesomeness or food value of the material, but it may change the texture, appearance and palatability. The actual damage varies with the different kinds of canned foods and in general is somewhat similar to damage done by freezing the same food in the fresh condition."

RUSSIA FOR RUSSIANS IS SLOGAN OF COMMUNISTS

Intense Nationalism and Ruthless Foreign Policy Announced Principles of New Soviet Government

VLADIVOSTOK, Jan. 30 (AP)—Russia for the Russians, an intense nationalism and a ruthless foreign policy where Russian interests are concerned are the leading principles of the new Russian government, according to communists here. The educated members of the party here are convinced that the days of 1918 and 1919 are gone, never to return, and that only by capitalism can the finances of the country be restored.

The idea of working with foreign capital is that the government should be a shareholder in all commercial enterprises which will be undertaken, foreigners supplying the ready money and the machinery while the government will give the concessions and the workers and laborers employed in working them.

Worthy Descendant of Franklin.
Franklin Bache, great-grandson of the immortal Franklin, was for many years professor of chemistry in the Jefferson Medical college and was also president of the American Philosophical society, the latter being an honor of rare distinction. Before his death he had the pleasure of seeing his work, the "U. S. Dispensary," go into its eleventh edition, a tribute to his ability as an author. Soldier of the War of 1812, scholar, writer, scientist and son of a great name, Franklin Bache was of the cortege of Quaker City fathers who contributed a goodly share to the celebrity of their native land.

AUSTRALIANS ORGANIZE TO COMBAT LANDLORDS' GREED

SYDNEY, N. S. W., Jan. 30 (AP)—The Lodge of Vigilantes, similar to the Ku Klux Klan of America, has been organized here with the object of dealing with persons considered to be preying upon the community, according to the newspapers. The lodge was formed because of the alleged failure of the government to deal with profiteering landlords, with whom the organization proposes to deal first.

The lodge will be run along quasi-military lines with stringent oaths and rigid discipline. The organization claims a membership of fifty and the newspapers said that between 200 and 300 other persons are waiting to be sworn in.

COAST'S TRADE AND INDUSTRY HOLDING GAINS

Federal Reserve Agent's Report Shows Mid-Winter Activity; Farm Products Value 10 Per Cent Over Last Year

(SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 30 (AP)—Continued industrial activity, record volume of department store sales and relatively little change in the banking situation of the Twelfth federal reserve district during December are noted by Federal Reserve Agent, in his monthly report, issued here today.

Agricultural production in 1922 was approximately the same as in 1921, the report shows, but the aggregate value of the crops was ten per cent greater. The livestock industry is now in much better condition than a year ago, the report says.

Volume of trade in lumber was about 50 per cent greater in December, 1922, than in December, 1921.

The report says: "The mines of the district have, temporarily at least, stabilized production at levels much above those prevailing a year ago. The total value of the district's production of gold, silver, copper, lead and zinc was $163,840,471 in 1922, compared with $101,438,907 in 1921.

Production of petroleum in California continues to exceed consumption and stored stocks were increased by 1,430,204 barrels during December, reaching the record figure of 61,184,298 barrels on January 1, 1923.

"Building permits issued during the month were greater both in number and in value than in December, 1921, but the percentage of increase was not so great in previous months.

"The 1922 pack of canned fruits and vegetables has proved to be the largest ever produced in the district, exceeding the small 1921 pack by almost 75 per cent.

"Seasonal decreases in employment have been smaller this winter than in the past two years.

"Department stores of the district transacted the largest volume of business in their history during the past Christmas season. Sales were 11.9 per cent greater in value than in December, 1921, and 8.1 per cent greater than the previous record month of December, 1920.

"Sales in ten reporting lines of wholesale trade, including department stores, with December, 1921, the increase varying from 3.5 per cent to 31.4 per cent and being over 15 per cent in seven of the ten lines.

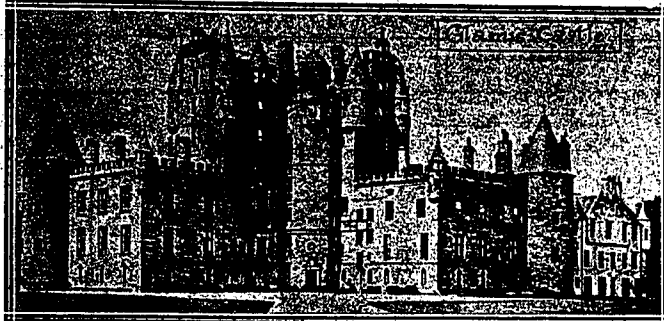

"A marked improvement in the record of business failure was noted, being less both in number and amount of liabilities than December, 1921.

"The banking situation changed little during December. Loans of 66 report member banks were less by $8,432,000 on January 10 than on December 6. Total deposits of the same banks increased from $222,483,000 to the record figure of $1,201,294,000 during the five-week period. They reduced their borrowings from $28,000,000 on December 6 to $14,000,000 on January 10.

"Prices in general were relatively stable. The wholesale price index number of the United States department of labor was unchanged at 150, the 1913 price level being taken as 100."

York May Wed In Glamis Castle

It is probable the approaching marriage of the Duke of York, second son of the British ruler, to Lady Elisabeth Bowes-Lyon, daughter of the Earl of Strathmore, will take place in Glamis Castle, Scottish family seat of the Strathmores. The castle is called one of the most remarkable in Great Britain, rich in historical connections, especially in relation to "Macbeth."

STALLION STAKES DRAW IMPOSING LIST OF SIRES

Thirty-Five of Greatest Animals in Country are Named to Enter Championship Events of 1923

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 30 (AP)—Thirty-five of the greatest sires in the country have been named in the championship Stallion Stakes of 1923, number 16, the entries to which closed December 30, according to announcement made here today by James Clark, assistant secretary of the American Association of Trotting Horse Breeders. This is three more than were named for the stake last year.

The 1923 progeny of these sires are eligible to contest as three year olds in the rich trotting event in 1925. Last season this futurity which is second in importance only to the great Kentucky futurity, was raced at North Randall track during the August grand circuit meeting, its money value being more than $12,000 and was won by the unbeaten three year old trotter, Lee Worthly, 2:03 1-2. The 1925 futurity will have a money value of $14,000, it is estimated.

The Matron stake, number 18 — a companion event to the championship stallion stake—draw 600 nominations. This stake is for weanlings and foals of 1922, to race as three year olds in 1925. Last season the list numbered 500 nominations. The increased entry this year is attributed to the increasing interest in harness horse racing, especially in futurities. The value of the 1922 Matron stake race was about $7500. It was raced at Toledo.

The tracks for the 1923 stallion and matron stakes will be announced about March 15. It is believed North Randall will stage the former and Toledo the latter event.

MARRIAGE AND DIVORCE CEREMONIES ARE SIMPLE

VLADIVOSTOK, Jan. 10, (AP)—Marriage and divorce have been reduced to simplicity itself. The only conditions necessary to enter the married state is that the man be over eighteen years and the woman over sixteen.

A statement to the effect that the parties are willing to be considered man and wife and a note to that effect in the town register is sufficient. The woman may keep her maiden name and the children may bear the name of the wife or the husband. Boys take their father's name and girls their mother's name. If the parties are tired of the married state then both parties go before the registrar and make a statement that they do not wish to live together. The divorce is then complete. If one of the parties does not wish for a divorce then the case will be tried before the People's Court and the usual grounds for a divorce must be proved.

Gardens Recommended to Combat Rabid Radicalism

NEW YORK, Jan. 30 (AP)—Planting of gardens, both flower and vegetable, as a means of combatting radicalism, is to make a "nation beautiful," has been assured through the efforts of the General Federation of Women's clubs.

Planting of gardens, according to government officials have given their official sanction to the movement. National Garden Week, as the movement has been named, will be observed during May, although the exact date has not been fixed. Women's clubs in all sections of the United States will cooperate with civil governments and schools in the planting and cultivation of gardens, and special lectures are contemplated.

A man or woman with a garden is more contented and does not have time to become reactionary, according to officials supporting the movement. It also has an educational value for school children, in that they acquire a knowledge of botany and love of beauty.

City officials will be urged to join in the program by enlarging or improving civic parks. Another phase will be the urging of the preservation of natural beauty spots.

National economy will be another result, it was said. Home dwellers, by planting of vegetable gardens, will provide themselves with abundant fresh foodstuffs, and a continuation of the movement would tend to increase prosperity as a whole.

Along various agencies sponsoring Garden Week are the department of agriculture; Federal Commission of Education, the National Plant, Flower and Fruit Guild; National Congress of Parent-Teachers' association; National Society for the Preservation of Wild Flowers; the American Horticultural society, and the National Florists' association.

SHOE MEN TAKE CAFE'S MEASURE

Rogerson Caterer's Count More Pins but Lose Odd Game to Shoe Market Bowlers

The Rogerson cafe bowlers lost the odd game Tuesday evening at the Twin Falls bowling alleys to the Shoe Market, and went one notch lower in the percentage column.

The first game was close, the final reading of Cubit's figures showing the Shoe Market pin busters with 717 to 699 for the Cafe men. In this game Walter Buchanan rolled them down to the tune of 188, with Charley Larson right after him with 184.

The Rogerson stalwarts became pood at this juncture and rolled 800 in their next effort, leaving the men from the shoe mart to content themselves with 698. In this section Bill Towan made a mess of things by knocking down 202 pins. The Shoe men made a miserable showing in this game, but one man passing 136.

In the third game things went nip and tuck until the ninth frame when the shoe men began a series of mistakes that completely upset the providers of good eats, and gained 69 pins before the tilt ended, the final score being 760 to 710. Bill Towan again topped high game in the last clash with 183.

The high average and total pins for the three games goes to Charley Larson with 617 for an average of 172.

The total pins stood, Rogerson Cafe 2200, Shoe Market 2182.

The story in figures:

STRAKS AND LEATHER

First of all, let's have some more facts.

Fully 50 fans were kept standing during the three games, and many more had to leave for want of a place to see the bowlers perform.

A peculiar feature of the entertainment was the fact that the Rogerson bunch won on total pins, had two bowlers over 500 and yet lost the odd game.

The Shoe Market busters brought out a new man in Jake Yochem, and Jake performed like an old timer. The first game Jake looked over the situation, but looked a little too long as he stopped at 125.

In the second and third he swatted the lumber for 165 and 170, which will get him by in any man's league.

Bob Logan was another sowcomer in the league, bowling for the breakfast, lunch and supper outfit.

Some one played a mean trick on Rob and told him that there was a groove down the middle of the alley, and that he couldn't miss.

However, it didn't take Bob long to find out that they were spoofing him, and that the grooves are on each side of the polished partition.

Hullihan, after two bad games, came back in nifty fashion in the third, and dropped 'em for 152.

Virgil Swensen showed a decided improvement last night, lifting his sights for an average of 140.

Lewis had a little trouble picking up his spares but a little practice will remedy this.

Bill Towan looked mighty nice, but had too many splits to break any records, although he set a mark of 202 for the bowlers to pop for the $5.00 laundry prize put up by the Troy Laundry for high individual score during the week.

If Charley Larsen doesn't quit hitting them on the Brooklyn side, and skidding around for a strike, he will beat Cubit out of the name of being the luckiest bowler in the league. One more performance like Tuesday, and Charley wins the concrete fan.

Poor "Dug" Salmon. His top mark was 146, and that only after a mighty effort. "Dug" couldn't get his hook ball to working.

Buchanan who makes a living giving people fits, added a new acquaintance last night when he gave the pins fits for an average of 162. Not so bad for a side wheeler.

Kennedy failed to pick up his usual allotment of spares and fell down in the percentage column.

It was announced that Harry Vogel, bowler supreme of the butchers, will be in a Shoe Market uniform next week.

All captains are again requested to turn in the names of their players by Saturday noon to Charley Larson. Each team will be allowed six men.

Starting with Monday's games, no team will be allowed to change players until the tournament ends.

Here's a good one: If it takes 12 strikes to bowl 300 how many pins will the Wright team knock over on Thursday evening.

Tonight the Rendahl-Wright artists will try and take the Idaho Theatre gang away from the top rung of the ladder.

The high school lads refuse to comment on this game, although they are positively certain that to be at the top they had to knock down several hundred pins.

The Rendahl-Wright brigade will have their usual team on deck, while it is understood that the Idaho the-ter team is going to strengthen up a trifling.

The sugar factory office girls have issued a challenge to girls of the town to a bowling contest. They have shown that they are real good sports by offering the railroad the privilege of using Owen Buchanan in the lineup. Four girls from the sugar factory and three of the fair sex from the freight depot, with the clever Owen to captain them and cheer them to victory is the way the two teams will line up.

The Sugar factory bowlers, who defeated the Sullivan tribe, state that the railroaders were lucky to make as many as they did, and that O. S. L. means Oh, Such Luck.

The girls' game will be played one afternoon this week and under the able guidance of Buchanan, it is hoped that they will wipe out the awful beating given their co-workers Monday afternoon.

Our Daily Bowling Thought: If "Self" and "Me" know everybody in "Towan," who does "Andriano?"

BAPTIST BARACA CLASS WINS FROM METHODISTS

Church Quits Stage a Fast, Clean Basketball Exhibition; Erbland Shines as Big Star

Playing fast and clean basketball all the way the Baraca class of the Baptist church defeated the Methodist last evening at the Baptist gymnasium, 29 to 15. Gordon Erbland was the big star of the game, scoring 27 of his team's 29 points, and his floor work was especially commendable.

The first half ended with the Baracas in the lead, 14 to 16, and about the same number of points were scored by

MITCHELL WINS DECISIVELY.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Jan. 30 (AP)—Pinkey Mitchell, Milwaukee, junior champion welterweight boxer, tonight was given every round of a 10-round decision but over Bud Logan, Omaha, by newspaper critics at the ring.

Mitchell staggered his opponent repeatedly with rights and lefts to the chin and body. Logan's best punches were delivered to the body, but at no time did he appear dangerous.

Each five in the last period. The close guarding of both sides necessitated clever shooting and most of the baskets were rung up under difficulties.

A game between the two churches had been in contemplation for some time, but arrangements were not completed before the day of the contest.

GREB WHIPS CHALLENGER

Light Heavyweight Champion Successfully Defends Crown in Bout with Loughran

NEW YORK, Jan. 30 (AP)—Harry Greb of Pittsburgh, successfully defended his American light heavyweight title tonight against Tommy Loughran, youthful Philadelphia challenger, in a 15-round bout at Madison Square Garden. The judges' decision displeased a minority of the fans.

The fight was slow. Greb fought as typically of his style as he could make it, swinging without direction and butting with his head, for which he was constantly cautioned. Loughran's cool and clever defense kept Greb from being entirely himself, but kept the challenger from severe punishment, and it also kept him out of the title.

It was not until the tenth round that Greb struck out boldly, but he was unable to do much damage. The challenger did not take the lead until the next to the last round and in the fifteenth far surpassed the champion in all departments, rocking Greb with a hard right to the jaw.

Paul Boyle of Brooklyn knocked out Frankie Murphy of Denver, in the fifth round of the semi-final bout.

Loughran was a defensive puzzle in the first round and in the second he poked several stiff lefts to the champion's face. The challenger added a few more in the third, while Greb practiced wildly about him, with little effect.

They exchanged more evenly during short rallies in the fourth. Greb landed two hard right jabs during the quiet fifth, but was cautioned to stop butting with his head. Both men tried unsuccessfully for an opening in the sixth.

Greb remained baffled and Loughran was general on defensive in the seventh, but in the eighth the champion quickened the pace, finding the challenger willing to exchange. Greb had the edge of some loose fighting in the ninth.

Greb tore out wildly in the tenth. He smashed into Loughran's stomach, hurting the challenger and slowing him up, but in the eleventh both took it easier. Greb had the better of hard exchanges in the twelfth, but was again warned to stop butting.

Greb, after having the best of the slugging in the thirteenth, was amazed when Loughran lashed out with both hands to the body in the fourteenth. Greb soon quieted the challenger, however, and won the fourteenth. Loughran rocked the champion in the last round when he made his best showing.

Burley team will play a return game with the locals.

This means a fast game, as Burley is considered one of the best teams in this section. They won from the Evans cage artists at Burley last Friday evening, but it was only after the best part of the last half had been played that they began to tear away from the Twin Falls quintet.

The first half of the game showed Twin Falls leading, 12 to 8, which goes to prove that the locals have better than an even chance against the fast casaba shooters from the eastern end of the branch.

Coach Evans is putting his squad through a week of real practice, in the hopes of giving the fans a chance to see the team.

the end of the week if the Turks sign, France finds it difficult to adhere to any tentative program of procedure if the Turks ask for several days in which to examine the draft treaty and request further negotiations on the spot.

American Is Optimistic.

After a lengthy conference tonight with Ruz Nur Bey, one of the chief Turkish delegates to the Near East peace conference, Richard Washburn Child, head of the American delegation, said he was distinctly optimistic regarding the situation of the conference.

The Turkish delegates tonight informed the Associated Press that they were preparing counter-suggestions to the allied draft treaty. It was added that these suggestions might not be ready tomorrow, but Ismet Pasha would have them in shape for presentation within a few days.

Shifting Responsibility.

The indications late tonight were that the Turks tomorrow would adopt an attitude which would place responsibility for a rupture of the negotiations upon the allies. A statement issued by them declared that the allied draft treaty not only contains some clauses of which the Turks never heard, but also some which in the opinion of the sub-committees both sides agreed should be left out of the compact. The statement declares the Turks never heard of the clause "threatening the open door" by which the Turkish government should consult the council of the Ottoman debt before granting concessions to Turkey or foreigners.

The long heralded "final" session of the conference will be held tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock in the quaint little chateau of Ouchy. Whether there will be a rupture or an adjournment of a nature that will be equivalent to a rupture, or whether there will be a continuation of the negotiations which eventually may lead to peace, were moot questions tonight.

Egypt Voices Fear of England.

The Egyptian delegation tonight denounced a project to the conference against the clause in the treaty by which Turkey is called upon to renounce all pre-rights over Egypt and the Sudan, dating from 1914. The Egyptians declare the carrying out of this provision would only permit Great Britain to fasten her grip on Egypt.

In addition to the two conventions relating to the return of war prisoners and hostages and the obligatory exchange of populations by Turkey and Greece, the Turkish delegation affixed their signatures today to a special protocol agreeing, when a general peace is signed, to return to Greece all able-bodied male Greeks who have been held by Turkey since the Greek rout in Asia Minor and the Smyrna tragedy. This protocol affects some 100,000 men.

Woes Overpower New Work Woman When Third Spouse Disappears With $6,000

NEW YORK, Jan. 30 (AP)—Mrs. Alvin P. Anbert, 30, today lost a $10,000 damage suit against the United States Cremation company for the alleged mixing of the ashes of her first two husbands.

The court directed a verdict, holding Mrs. Anbert had failed to substantiate her claim that the cremation company carelessly handled the ashes.

Mrs. Anbert testified that when she visited the crematory, she found the top off the container, and the ashes exposed so that the wind might blow them from one compartment to another. Weeping, she declared her third husband had disappeared, taking $6,000 of her money with him.

RISING TO A SITUATION

Experience with intelligence is a winning combination. It is discretion united with knowledge. It is the capacity to know, the stability to do. Impressions which conditions make on us are different, because experience is different with different persons. Some of us are depressed and almost crushed with misfortune, whereas it is not needed at all by others. Joy overcomes some, whereas others treat it as commonplace.

Temperament has something to do with response or reaction, but, after all, it is experience that accommodates us to chance or surprise. Those who have experience in any line are not discounted, and they are equal to every situation. Experience intuitively advises them as the significance of each happening, and it apprises them as to their own ability to cope with it.

Large experience is a decided advantage. It supplements, and, in some cases, substitutes knowledge.

A workman living in an Indiana town received a letter a few days ago telling him that he had inherited twenty thousand dollars. Had he been used to handling more or less large amounts of money, the news would not have been unusual. He would read the letter, and put it in his pocket or shown it to a friend, and put it in his pocket and then would have continued his work.

But the workman not only dropped his implements, but also dropped the letter, in his amazement. He left his job, and, in his excitement forgot to inform his boss. He was dumfounded at the news which was foreign to all of his experience.

There was nothing ridiculous in the workman's act. He did it as his experience prompted him. The bequest assured him of practical independence, and his leading idea was to get the money which meant so much to him.

Put any two men of different experience in a situation, and notice how they view it and meet it. Their previous experience will have some direction over their judgment. One will be sure, the other dubious.

What we are used to is simple. We understand it. If our experience is broad, we feel more certain and not so easily disturbed. Experience is self-assurance, fitting us to rise to each occasion.

GUILTY MAN IS KILLED

Strong testimony has been given that E. C. Greger, the railroad striker who was hanged by the Citizen's Committee at Harrison, Ark., was not guilty of burning bridges. It is now proof that justice through mob law is impossible.

The situation which prevailed along the Missouri and North Arkansas railroad was most interesting. The line never paid, and for a long time it was not operated. After service was resumed a strike was called. Of course, the citizens were incensed.

However, citizens cannot take law enforcement into their own hands. With their power they should compel public officials to enforce the law. Officials generally do what the voters require them to do.

FARM PRODUCTS AND INDUSTRIAL PRODUCTS

According to Mr. Charles W. Pugsley, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, twice as many persons are leaving the farms and rural districts for the cities than in normal times. In the main he blames the disparity between prices which the farmers pay for what they need and prices which they receive for what they produce. Prosperity will not return, in his opinion, until there is equilibrium to commerce.

As Mr. Pugsley further says, the farmer imperatively requires rural credits suited to actual agricultural conditions and also arrangements and facilities for satisfactory transportation and expeditious marketing. These are needs to which the farmer is entitled, and no citizen should deny them to him.

The price disparity is due in large measure to the unwillingness of Congress to abide fully with President Harding's request for a strictly scientific tariff. It is the unscientific tariff that is more than just to the big industrial interests and less than just to the farmers and the public.

STATE APPEALS FROM APPROVAL OF GRAIN DEAL

Kansas Carries Test of Validity of Transactions in Contracts for Future Delivery to Higher Court

CHICAGO, Jan. 30 (AP)—Appeal has been taken by the state of Kansas in an equity suit of wide-spread importance involving the validity of transactions in contracts for grain for future delivery, according to information received here today.

The appeal is from the decision of Judge W. G. Fairchild in the Reno county district court at Hutchinson, Kansas, on January 25, last, mandating in contracts for future delivery of grain under the practice of legitimate grain exchanges is valid. This includes the practice of offsetting contracts prior to delivery date. The Kansas statute under which suit was brought, prohibits such a practice in future, where there is no intent to make bona fide delivery. Judge Fairchild refused to grant an injunction holding there had been no law violation in the conduct of the offices involved.

According to John R. Mauff, secretary of the Kansas Board of Trade, widespread attempts have been made during the last three years at Washington and at the capitals of the great grain states, to place similar legislation on the statute books.

"For several years," said Mr. Mauff, "grain farmers all over the country have been violently told by those who would exploit them, that trading in futures was gambling, pure and simple, and the farmer was robbed in consequence. The result of the appeal from Judge Fairchild's decision will be watched with intense interest by farmers, grain dealers and politicians."

The defendants in the suit at Hutchinson were the J. Rosenbaum Grain company of Chicago, and four other grain companies with private wires into branches in Kansas. The suit sought to oust the private wires from the market.

Several state witnesses testified that they had made transactions in grain futures through the grain companies and that these deals were closed by offsets prior to delivery date. Cross-examination by counsel for the defendants elicited that all of these transactions, but they not closed previously, would have been closed in the delivery of actual grain. In each case it was established, where May wheat, for instance, had been purchased, it was offset by a counter-sale prior to May 1st, the delivery date.

The court stated that these transactions closed by set-off or through the clearing house did not evidence an intent to settle on differences within the meaning of the Kansas statute. The original purchase was the purchase of a contract for delivery of wheat May 1st. The sale prior to that date was of this contract. It was a legitimate transaction, according to Judge Fairchild.

Judge Fairchild in denying to grant an injunction reserved decision as to whether his court had jurisdiction to hear the case. Attorneys for the grain companies argued the hearing should be before a federal court because of the interstate nature of the transactions.

The JOY of LIVING

Almee felt a galvanic shock. "Whom did you say?" she asked dazedly.

"Lady Erythea Lambe of Jervaulx abbey, the big place half a mile south the cross roads. She's a very wonderful strict, she do. It's as much as my tenancy's word to have any golgotha here. That's all."

The woman left the room. Almee stared round her blankly, then collapsed into a chair. She flung her arms across the table, buried her head in them, and broke into paroxysms of impenetrable laughter.

"Oh, my Christian aunt!" she sobbed. "My Georgie! My Alexander!"

Her shoulders were still shaking wildly when Billy came in. "What's wrong?" she exclaimed in alarm, as Almee raised a tear-stained face. "Crying—eh? No, laughing! That's good! That's the cure for sentiment! But what's the joke?"

"Just something I thought of, that's all," said Almee, wiping her eyes.

"That's all right," Billy interrupted. "Guess I ain't inquisitive. But folks mostly tell me their troubles sooner or later."

"I suppose they do," said Almee, regarding him thoughtfully. "Mrs. Sunning brought an abundant supply of chaffy eggs and tea. Almee found it the merriest feast she had ever sat down to. Finally, she accompanied Billy to Mrs. Dale's door, and, returning, retired to her own room. She was about to let down her hair, but desisted, and instead sat on the bed for some time, thinking. She heard Mrs. Sunning retire, and presently silence reigned throughout the house."

A curious sense of loneliness crept over Almee's spirit. She remained sitting for nearly half an hour. Presently she blew out the candle, and leaned out of the open window. The moonlight fell on the garden, and the window of Billy's room at the other end of the building was in darkness. It had not taken Billy long to retire. Almee stayed awhile at the window. She returned to the bed, and reflected again. In that reverie a vision floated before her as of trees and sunlight, and her partner's yellow hair flickering in the breeze.

"Billy!" she murmured thoughtfully. "Old chap!"

She laughed gently.

"He isn't a tramp, anyhow!"

The reverie took shape. Then, with a little sigh, she slipped off her shoes, and, carrying them with her, stole very softly down the staircase to the front door. On trying the door cautiously, she found it bolted, and the latch immovable. Also no key was visible. She realized she was locked in the house.

In a feeling of intense annoyance seized Almee. Where was the freedom she had sought? She returned to her bedroom, put on her shoes, leaned out of the window, and inspected the wall critically. It was covered with ivy and trellis-work.

She swung herself cautiously out onto the sill, and began very quietly to descend the trellis. Almee, active and long-limbed, could climb like a cat. And as noiselessly as any member of that great feline tribe, she dropped upon the soft soil of the garden plot.

CHAPTER IV

In Deep.

Georgina Berners peered the door of her bedroom at Jervaulx abbey, and wondered why the universe had not crashed in ruins about her head. "It's like a dream," she said dazedly. "I can't believe it at all!"

To Georgina it came as an incredible climax that she had after five hours at Jervaulx, been dismissed to bed with an august but approving kiss from Lady Erythea, and a protective, cosily hand-shake from the sedate Alexander Lambe. She had not been denounced as an impostor, stung out with impudence, or handed over to the police. All these things had seemed to Georgina not only possible but likely.

"What on earth will happen when they find out?" she said, shivering.

She commenced to droibe, but had not proceeded very far when a bustle and a click were heard. Georgina turned with a gasp of fright. Someone was trying to force a way in at her window. She caught sight of a flushed face.

With a shriek of terror Georgina retreated to the bed, and prepared to die under it.

"Don't make such a row, you fool!" hissed the casements swung inward, and Almee, rather breathless, dropped onto the floor.

"Handy things, these verandas," panted Almee. "How are you, Georgina, old thing?"

Georgina stared at her in paralyzed amazement.

Almee sat down beside Georgina on the bed, and put an arm around her waist.

"Well, what's happened here?" she said cheerfully.

"Oh, I am so glad to see you!" exclaimed Georgina with infinite thankfulness. "We can clear everything up. It's been awful!"

"Why? Have you given me away?" said Almee quickly.

"I haven't! You know I wouldn't!" cried Georgina hotly. "Though you ought to be whipped. I never said a word about you, and that's why I'm in this awful mess!"

"Dear old Georgina! You're a brick!" said Almee, hugging her. "I was only pulling your leg—I knew you wouldn't sneak. But why is it awful? Have they found out?"

"When I got here," said Georgina feebly, "I thought I could explain somehow. But Lady Erythea met me on the steps and took me for a fool, and everything went right out of my head."

"Good! I see. You hesitated and were saved."

"Saved?" ejaculated Georgina angrily.

"Well, I was saved. That's more important. You haven't done anything wrong, my snow-white lamb. What then?"

"And then Mr. Lambe came out, and she introduced him as my cousin Alexander. And—and I've been frightened to death all the afternoon, for I haven't had a chance to put things right."

Almee sat back and looked at her in awe-struck admiration.

"You mean to say they've no suspicion at all?" she exclaimed. "Dear old Georgie, how deep you must have been. I never thought you had it in you!"

"I didn't! I wasn't!" said Georgina in almost tearful indignation. "I've hardly said a word all day, except 'yes' and 'no.' And not even that if I could help it!"

Almee gurgled.

"And that safe line, too! I can see we've always underrated you, Georgina. And you mean to say they never even got an inkling, all through that there was anything unusual? That does rather beat me."

There were one or two little things that puzzled them for a moment. But Lady Erythea reflected, "but it all seemed to smooth itself out. And oh!" she concluded, with a great gasp of relief, "I am so glad it's over and we can stop it. Now, how are we going to clear things up and make it all right for you?"

"Stop it?" said Georgina. "It's perfectly splendid!"

Georgina stood up.

"You are out of your senses," she said dazedly. "I won't listen to another word! Think how fearful it would be if Alex—if Mr. Lambe knew."

"Ah—Alexander! Yes, he is as owl as his photograph? What did you say to him, Georgina?"

"I—hardly anything. He told me all about his missionary work in Manchuria. He—"

"Where was that?"

"In the garden—" Georgina broke off suddenly.

"Did he squeeze your hand?" Georgina was speechless with indignation.

"You were thinking about him when you stood at the window?" said Almee, with the air of a prosecuting counsel. "You were being sentimental. I saw your face. It had that gooey look."

"Almee," said Georgina, fairly roused at last, "how dare you! I am going straight to Lady Erythea, and you can talk to her! I have done—"

"No, no! I'm sorry, Georgina," said Almee soothingly. "I couldn't help pulling your serene leg. I won't say a word against your cousin Alexander."

"He is a gentleman, at any rate," said Georgina, rather spitefully. "He is a person one can respect."

"I am sure he is."

"Well, what are we going to do?"

"The thing for you to do," said Almee, "is to go on respecting Alexander. And for him to go on respecting you. Think how well it would be if it came out now. Alexander," said Almee, with a pathetic little break in her voice, "is good. He doesn't get into scrapes. He isn't as horrible trouble like me, and nobody to help me. I didn't think," she added with a gulp, "that you'd go back on me, Georgie!"

"I won't and I can't," said Georgina mournfully, "and you know it." But she softened visibly. "You haven't told me what you've come from, and what you've been doing! I've been frightfully worried about you."

Almee regarded her thoughtfully. It was clear that Georgina already had all she could bear. This was no time to tell her about Billy.

"You needn't worry about me. I'm staying at a nice place nearby. I'm quite all right, and I've got some money. We simply must keep it up for a few days—father is leaving Scoopie Towers soon, and then I'll show you how we can smooth it all over."

"But don't you see how impossible it is? Your father will come here to see you before he goes. And he'll expect you to write to him!"

"How bright you are tonight, Georgie. You think of everything!" said Almee briskly. She sat down at the writing table by the wall, selected a sheet of the Jervaulx note-paper, and with the Lambe arms—three fleecy-argued on a field vert—and with an immensely serious face began to write rapidly, pausing occasionally for thought. Georgina watched in fascinated horror.

"Listen!" said Almee, blotting the sheet and reading it aloud with much satisfaction.

"My Dearest Daddy: I arrived here safely, and already I'm quite one of the family. Lady Erythea likes me much better than she thought she would: she is very nice and kind, and I have a lovely bedroom. I am enjoying my stay at Jervaulx. (That's all perfectly true.)"

Cousin Alexander is awfully interesting, and I like hearing him talk about his church. He is a gentleman, and one feels he is really good, and that makes me respect him."

"I'm awfully sorry I made such a fuss about coming here, but I never thought I should have such a lovely time as I'm having. So you needn't worry about me, because I'm going to be quite happy."

Your loving daughter, ALMEE.

P. S.—In case you thought of coming over to see me soon, I ought to mention that the mole place is simply devastated with mumps. Of course it's quite all right for me, because I've had them."

Georgina emitted a moan.

"A very proper letter," said Almee, affixing a stamp to the envelope, with a determined thump. "One should always consider one's parents, and I am enjoying my stay at Jervaulx. It is a touch of genius; the only thing in the universe Dad is afraid of is mumps. He hasn't had them, and he says they are a formidable affliction to the aged, and very undignified. And it's quite true; I saw five children at school with mumps this afternoon. I should hate to tell a fib. Unless," she added, wrinkling her smooth brow, "it became absolutely necessary."

She moved toward the window.

"Almee!" cried Georgina, starting up panic-stricken. "You're not going! Are you serious about this?"

"Not a bit. And don't you be, either," said Almee, as she clicked off the switch of the electric. "See you tomorrow—if I can. Good night, old thing."

The room was plunged in darkness, and there was a scraping sound at the window.

"Almee!" gasped Georgina wildly, fumbling round the wall for the switch. It was some time before she found it, and when she turned it on the room was empty.

"Almee!" cried Georgina, leaning out of the window.

There came a sudden thumping on the bedroom door.

"Almee!" said the stern voice of Lady Erythea. "Why is your light on at this hour? What are you moving about for? Is anything wrong?"

"No—no—no!" said Georgina, choking. "Nothing much."

"Extinguish your light instantly, and go to sleep!"

With "shaking fingers" Georgina turned off the switch, and undressed pathetically in the dark. She crept into bed and thought of Alexander, the one touch of untroubled calm on the waters of Jervaulx.

ACID IN STOMACH SOURS THE FOOD

Says Excess of Hydrochloric Acid is Cause of Indigestion

A well-known authority states that stomach trouble and indigestion are nearly always due to acidity—acid stomach—and not, as most folks believe, from a lack of digestive juices. He states that an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach retards digestion and starts food fermentation; then our meals sour like garbage in a can, forming acid fluids and gases, which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. We then get that heavy, lumpy feeling in the chest, the crumbly sour food, belch gas or have heartburn, flatulence, water-brash or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, while it is effective, and, furthermore, to continue this for one week. While relief often follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes, and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salts is used by thousands of stomach sufferers with excellent results—adv.

The Sufferers.

Lois was the daughter of a singer. When she played with other children she wanted to play the things she knew most about. One day she said to a little friend, "Let me have a concert. I'll be the singer and you be the audience."

"What is audience?" "Why, don't you know? They are the ones who can't do it," said Lois.

BIDS ON BONDS DELAY ACTION ON CITY AUDIT

Council to Decide on Publication of Report on City Books at Session on Thursday

Action in respect to publishing the five-year audit of the city accounts which was to have been considered at the regular meeting of Twin Falls city commission Tuesday night, was postponed until Thursday morning when it will come up for discussion along with the receiving of bids on bonds with which to redeem between $50,000 and $80,000 in outstanding city warrants. Mayor J. D. Tucker stated after the meeting that a copy of the audit would be available for publication at the Thursday meeting.

The matter of the city audit together with that of passage of a city ordinance lowering water rates 10 per cent was postponed on account of the fact that the submission of offers by bonding house representatives took up the entire time of the commission Tuesday night.

Bond Buyers on Hand

With six bond buyers present representing a number of the city ordinance lowering water rates 10 per cent was postponed on account of the fact that the submission of offers by bonding house representatives took up the entire time of the commission Tuesday night.

Bids were submitted in writing by representatives of George W. Bailey & company and Russell Phillips of Denver, O. P. Miller & company of Portland, W. P. Dullock of Salt Lake, Lumbermen's Trust company of Portland; Ferris & Hardgrove of Spokane, and Drake-Ballard company of Minneapolis.

The amount of premiums offered will be the deciding factor in the awarding of the bond purchase, the commissioners agreed.

Licenses Granted.
Milk licenses were granted to W. H. Coleman, G. J. Pickett, Harold Fuchter, Christy Bungalow grocery, N. P. Kenworthy and S. Kayler. Meat licenses were granted to the American market, Liberty market, O. H. Coleman, Prater's grocery and the Idaho Department store.

The L. D. S. church was granted a license to conduct dances in the hall over Alvord & Mott's store, and several second-hand dealers, rooming houses and card table licenses were granted.

CHANGE RATES ON WATER

Put Meters in Stores and Reduce Flat Charge to Users in Resident District

Water meters are being placed in downtown stores and business houses and they will hereafter be charged according to meter readings instead of a flat rate.

A test of 25 cases by J. T. Krivanek, water works superintendent, showed that when the flat rate was charged the return was $100 and that the return to the city was $300 when meters were used.

While some of the downtown places will pay more by the meter system others will pay less. Restaurants and rooming houses will be among the former class and the installation of meters will remedy a great amount of leaky plumbing which was allowed to exist when the flat rate was in vogue, according to Mr. Krivanek.

The ordinance reducing the flat rate from $1.50 to $1.45 and providing for a reduction in lawn sprinkling charges will probably be passed at the meeting of the council Tuesday night.

SCHOOL GIRL PLAYERS SCORE HUGE SUCCESSSES

"Old Maids' Convention" and "Burglar" Apt Themes for Blue Triangle Theatricals

"The Old Maids' Convention" and "The Burglar," the two plays given by the Blue Triangle club Tuesday evening in the high school auditorium, scored a big success. "The Old Maids' Convention" was given first. The cast included 17 old maids and the three officers. Marjorie Knefel as the president of the matrimonial club, took the part in true old maid form. Norma Leach and Laverne Carlson also are worthy of mention. Professor Pinkerton as played by Margaret Scully, was the famous wonder worker of the evening, changing the dried up old maids into charming young women. The climax came when Amy Little, played by Laverne Carlson, decided she wished to be transformed into a man, and an explosion resulted.

"The Burglar" was a screaming success. The characters were: Constance Hill, Helen Fisher, Pauline Ware, June Morgan and Valene Rowberry. The girls became frightened on account of some reports that they heard about a burglar in the city. They retired to a room and after a deliberation, suddenly they were awakened by a scream and they decided to capture the burglar. Two of the girls were experts when it came to handling a shotgun. Finally Valene, the bravest of the girls, went into the room and brought forth the burglar, who was a—Margaret Scully. She proved that she had an excellent voice when it came to screaming and she always screams when she is frightened. Valene Rowberry and Constance Hill were exceptionally good.

Joanna Krivanek, who was one of the transformations, sang a delightful song. Cleo De Witt gave a reading; Ellen London sang "Homestead"; Irene Bowley danced; Zola Bowley played a piano solo and Ilo Peatras gave a reading and Boss Duke rendered a delightful tambourine dance. All of these were the transformations. The music was furnished by the orchestra during the intermission. The plays were directed by Miss Joy, the advisor of the club. The high school auditorium was packed, even standing room being at a premium. The money the girls made by these two plays will be used to defray the summer conference at Payette lake.

The sum of $5,322.47 is demanded by J. Elmer Minton and Lucy E. Minton in a suit filed Tuesday in district court for damages alleged to have resulted from a collision between the automobile in which they were riding and that driven by D. B. Moorman, south of Hansen last November 30.

The plaintiffs allege they are entitled to $250 for expenses for medical attention, $72.09 for automobile repairs and $5000 in damages and they allege Mr. Moorman drove in a negligent manner and at an excessive rate of speed.

EVANGELIST HITS AT SIN

Rev. L. E. Burger Criticizes Attitude of Moral Apathy Toward Lifting Men to Higher Plane

"Speaking at the revival at the Laving theatre Tuesday night, the Rev. L. E. Burger said, in part:

"Today we need, through the power of the Holy Spirit, to move folk from where they are to where they should be. There are a lot of highbrows who wink at all sorts of sin. It is sin, whether it is the 'upper crust' or among the labor dwellers."

"Some of us in a prayer meeting are poor, weak worms of the dust, but when we get on the street corner and talk politics we get so heated that we will roll up our sleeves and fight like wild men."

"If I could not live in this city in such a way that I could influence the boys and girls here for good I'd think I had failed."

A feature of the music at the revival is the choir of 20 voices led by Guy Curtis. He was choired Tuesday evening by Dr. R. P. Parfitt and Paul Hauff; acted as accompanist. Before the sermon Mr. Curtis sang a solo entitled "A Clean Heart."

SUGAR COMPANY HEAVY SPENDER

Institution's Head Gives Facts and Figures to Show Importance of Industry

That the operation of the Twin Falls sugar factory of the Amalgamated Sugar company is a splendid asset to the community as well as to the best grower, is shown by figures quoted Tuesday by James Scully, official head of the institution.

"The sugar company has paid out to farmers at Twin Falls so far this year," said Mr. Scully, "the sum of $179,740. The factory payroll per month averaged $13,629.70."

"The average per month during the campaign was $41,616.50. If beeta enough are grown to run the factory four months it would mean a payroll of $160,000."

Besides the payroll at damps along the railroad and payroll to farmers for hauling pulp, each ton of beets makes 500 pounds of pulp. Dairymen are now asked to use a milk producer. This feed will produce as good a flow of milk as good pasture. Beet pulp is equally good for sheep and cattle feeding. Molasses mixed with hay is also excellent food for feeding cattle, sheep or horses.

"If each farmer will put a portion of his land in beets, a portion in beans and potatoes, prosperity is bound to come to Twin Falls. An arid land that was formerly a farming land, the farmer who has 10 or 20 acres of beets is in better shape as his market is sure and the money for his beets will enable him to hold beans, potatoes or grain for better prices. No freight to pay on beets, no waiting for cars, no gambling as to price. The more beets are grown the better price can be obtained."

"In the figures given you a few days ago showing tons of beets per acre harvested, P. W. Brown's should have been 21 tons per acre, instead of 16.1-2, and Hughes brothers, of Hansen, 26.6. Will you kindly publish this correction."

LIQUOR SEIZED AT BUI

Deputy Sheriffs Return From Trip to West End Town with Twenty-One Pints

Another of a series of liquor raids at Bui by the sheriff's office last Tuesday night resulted in the seizure of 21 pints of liquor and the arrest of Deputy Williams, the alleged owner.

Deputy Sheriffs Gahnhart, Prater, Ham and Hamilton made the trip and finding Williams absent from the quarters where they expected to find him confiscated the bottled goods and returned to Twin Falls.

Following a clue that Williams was in the city the officers found him at a residence in the west part of town and placed him under arrest. Williams is alleged to have engaged extensively in the liquor business for several years. No still was found.

MER ROUGE MAYOR'S LIFE THREATENED IN LETTER

Witness at Open Hearing in Masked Anonymous Writing to Leave Town Band Activities Makes Public An

MONROE, La., Jan. 30 (AP)—Robert L. Dade, mayor of Mer Rouge, La., who testified at the state's investigation at Bastrop into masked band activities in Monroeville parish, which closed last week, made public a letter he had received today warning him unless he left Mer Rouge within 10 days he would be killed.

The letter, dated January 23, and believed to have been mailed at Hot Springs, Ark., has been forwarded by the mayor to Governor Parker and later will be turned over to Attorney General Cocco for investigation. It was said. The letter epithets and statements of a derogatory nature made the greater part of the letter, Mr. Dade said.

The letter in part follows:

"Dear Sir:
"You the hereby notified to pack up and get out of town within 10 days of receipt of this notice. You have never been any good as a man or as a citizen. Use your own judgment and leave or become a corpse."
(Signed) "LAW ABIDING."

Mayor Dade said this is the first letter he has received threatening him. "I have received a number of threatening letters since W. D. Daniel and F. P. Richard were killed August 2," he said, "but these letters were more in the nature of threats against others than against me, warning me to clean up the town and get rid of the lawless elements. These letters were more public in the open hearing when I testified."
