GERMAN HELP IS TO BE MADE UNNECESSARY

Weygand and Le Trocquer Visit Occupied Area to Study Transportation Problem and Devise New Penalties

(By The Associated Press) The French General Weygand and Minister of Public Works Le Trocquer, accompanied by railroad experts, are on their way from Paris to the Ruhr to formulate plans for handling the railroads in occupied territory without the aid of the Germans.

A semi-official French statement says that while no further extension of the occupation by the French in Baden has been planned, hope of the terrain already taken over will be maintained, even if the Germans agree to co-operate in expediting train service.

Owing to the absence of Chancellor Cuno in occupied territory, the Berlin government has made no representations to France as yet concerning the events in Baden. In addition to the chancellor, Hugo Stinnes, one of Germany's great industrial leaders, has paid a visit to the occupied area.

A letter has been sent to the league of nations by the congress socialist party in session at Lille, in which an participating delegates from Great Britain, Germany, Belgium and France, declaring it is the duty of the league to attempt to settle the reparations question. The letter calls for the "abandonment of hate."

The workmen in the coal mines in the Sauer valley, taken over by the French, are complaining of the ruling by the Germans of mines in northern France during the war, have struck because of a refusal by the governing commission to double their wages. The mines produce nine million tons yearly.

The French continue to take interest in custody or deport Germans guilty of subversive measures against the occupation authorities.

WEYGAND AND LETROUQUER VISIT OCCUPIED REGION

PARIS, Feb. 5 (AP)—General Weygand and Minister of Public Works Le Trocquer left tonight for the Ruhr, accompanied by a staff of railroad experts and executives.

They plan to devise, in collaboration with General De Gaulle and General Poyet, some method of handling the rail and water traffic both in the Ruhr and the Rheinland so as properly to provision the army and move reparations coal, either with or without the aid of the German railroad workers.

Each element of the transportation plan, which is being worked out, is planned, will be enlarged gradually as the allies become better able to handle the situation.

M. Le Trocquer also will discuss with General De Gaulle, as allied commander in chief of the occupational zone, and M. Castejon, head of the French economic commission, various future penalties to be imposed if Germany continues to resist.

The French occupation beyond the Reich bridgehead, opposite Strasbourg, probably will be maintained even if the German refusal of transportation in expediting international train service between Paris and Prague, it was stated semi-officially tonight in government circles.

Offenburg and Appenweier, the easternmost points in the new occupied zone, was said, were entered as a result of the German refusal of transportation of train service, but for failure to comply with French orders.

BERLIN AWAITS CHANCELLOR'S RETURN FROM RUHR VALLEY. BERLIN, Dec. 5 (AP)—Chancellor Cuno was traversing the occupied Ruhr area when news of the French occupation of Offenburg and Appenweier, in Baden, reached him and no official return with respect to this latest French advance is expected before his return to Berlin tomorrow.

The Day in Washington

(By The Associated Press) The senate passed and sent to the house a bill which would admit to the United States until June 30, 1924, a maximum of 25,000 Armenians. Senator Pomeroy, democrat, Ohio, introduced a resolution requesting President Harding to negotiate with Cuba for the cessation of the Isle of Pines. Predictions that President Harding would be renominated unanimously next year by the republican national convention was made in the senate by Senator Watson, republican, Indiana. Annual immigration quotas, under a bill approved by the house immigration committee, would be limited to 2 per cent of foreign born of various nationalities enumerated in the 1890 census, instead of restricted to the present 3 per cent of the 1910 census. The Central American conference, which assembled in December 4, completed its work and will meet in plenary session Wednesday to sign a treaty and convention agreed upon. Federal Fuel Distributor Wadleigh declared the steady increase in stocks of bituminous coal showed that the crisis resulting from the miners' strike last year had been passed. Doubt as to whether congress would enact pending rural credits legislation before adjournment, which was expressed by Representative McCall, Wyoming, the republican leader, after a conference with President Harding.

EXCLUSION OF JAPANESE AIM OF LAWMAKERS

House Committee Tightens the Barriers to Immigration in Measure Proposed as Permanent Restriction Act

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5, (AP)—Exclusion of Japanese immigrants and a reduction in the percentage of aliens admissible from European countries will be provided for by a bill of a proposed permanent immigration restriction act approved today by the house immigration committee.

Completion of the entire measure within a day or two and a prompt report to the house is the committee's plan.

Japanese exclusion would be made possible, it was expected, under a general provision of the bill, which sets forth that "an immigrant not eligible to citizenship shall not be admitted to the United States." To meet treaty stipulations, exceptions would be made in the cases of ministers of the gospel, professors of colleges, members of any "learned profession" and bona fide students "who seek to enter the United States solely for the purpose of study at an educational institution particularly designated" by them. Such students who marry after entering the country would be deported, however.

Embodies Gentlemen's Agreement

Explaining the section of the bill which would provide for the exclusion of Japanese immigrants, Chairman Johnson said it was the purpose simply to translate into law the terms of the "gentlemen's agreement" between the United States and Japan affecting immigration from the latter country. In the past the executive branch has objected to attempts to deal with this question in general legislation by congress, but thus far there has been no such objection of objection in the present instance.

As affecting Europe and the Near East, the bill would reduce the quotas of immigrants from any one country in any one year to 400 and in addition, 2 per cent of the number of foreign born individuals of such nationality resident in the United States as determined by the 1920 census. The present restriction act which this bill would replace and which expires by limitation on June 30, 1924, places the quotas at three per cent, based on the census of 1910.

Contains Elastic Clauses

The number of immigrants who would be admissible in any one year under this provision is estimated at 186,437, as against 358,837 annually under the present act, but actually the 186,437 total probably would be greatly exceeded through the operation of general provisions designed to avoid division of families. Thus there would be admitted, irrespective of fixed quotas, the immediate family and close relatives of any foreign born citizen of the United States and the immediate family of any alien resident in this country for two years and who a year previously had formally declared his intention to become a citizen.

The purpose of going back to the census of 1910 as a basis for quotas, it was explained, was to increase the proportion of aliens admitted to the country in respect to western Europe and to decrease the proportion from southern and eastern Europe.

CANADA USES LITTLE OF AVAILABLE WATER POWER

Industrial Experts Urge Rapid Installation of Hydro-Electric Plants to Set Pace for Development

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 5 (AP)—Canada's waterfalls developed 3,000,000 horse-power of energy during 1922. The revenue to manufacturers from this power amounted to $91,600,000, according to a report issued by the Federal Water Powers Branch of the Dominion government.

Ontario, with Niagara Falls as its chief source of power, led in production among the provinces with 1,330,000 horse power, the report shows. Quebec followed closely with 1,000,000 horse-power, and British Columbia was third, with 310,000. The remainder was distributed among Manitoba, Alberta, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island.

Despite the high cost of construction, hydro-power development installed last year totaled $250,000 horse power. Total capital invested in water power is estimated at $620,058,731. Horse-power development amounts to 337 per 1,000 of Canada's population.

Demand upon industrial centers for greater production with the cultivation of new stretches of farm land in the West, the report states. "Industrial experts are urging rapid installation of hydro-power plants with a view to providing machinery and other farm supplies at a lower cost, and thus stimulate the greater settlement of lands."

Water-power now in use represents a huge over-abundance of resources, which are estimated by the report at 41,700,000 horse-power.

FIRES IN MINES BURN FOR YEARS

Water-Only Makes Smoldering Combustion Worse; Removal of Coal Only Remedy

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Feb. 5 (AP)—Fires burning for years in coal mines, deep beneath the ground, are one of the unsolved problems of coal mining in Illinois.

Many of these fires, walled up years ago, recently have caused trouble in southern Illinois mines, according to Robert M. Medill, director of the state department of Mines and Minerals.

The Donk Brothers mine at Collinsville, the North Mine of the Illinois and Indiana Coal corporation at Whitwell and several mines near Springfield have been compelled recently to seal up portions of their workings to prevent the spread of these smoldering furnaces, which burn without stopping in the hidden chambers underground. One mine was ordered closed outright.

The fires start in the refuse which is left after the coal is dug and are caused by a process similar to spontaneous combustion, according to Mr. Medill. The miners call them "cob fires," from the word applied by coal diggers to the debris in the mine.

They do not flare up in flame, but burn slowly, smoldering away for years until they eat themselves out of fuel. Chambers where these fires start become a mass of live red coals and must be sealed up to keep the air from them.

The trouble is caused when a fire eats its way through a wall and threatens to break through into the workings. Some times the smoldering coals eat up the supporting pillars resulting in weakening the support for the ground above.

These fires cannot be extinguished by water, Mr. Medill stated. Water only makes them worse. It is the chemicalization resulting from the mixing of water and the refuse that causes the original combustion. The only way to stop the fires is to remove the burning coals from the mine. Many such fires may be seen on stack piles on the surface in this section of the state. These can be flooded with water and extinguished, Mr. Medill stated.

CONGRESSWOMAN NOLAN OUTLINES HER PROGRAM

Widow of Former California Representative, Elected to His Seat, Will Carry Out Husband's Ideas

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 5 (AP)—The abolition of child labor, modification of the Volstead Act and the passage of a soldier home bill form the program of Mrs. Mac Nolan, California's first woman Congresswoman, who was elected at a special election on January 23, 1923 to succeed her late husband, John V. Nolan.

Congresswoman Nolan, in speaking of her views on child labor, said: "It was my husband's chief interest at the time of his death and it shall have a prominent place in my program."

"Naturally I am going to carry out to the letter, as near as I am able, my husband's ideas."

"Another bill which I shall try to carry to success is the minimum $3 wage for government employes. This has always been backed by the south, as it effects some 200,000 men, and the south rebels at the idea of giving the negro a $3 per day wage. The south, illustrated on giving the $3 minimum wage law at the last session of congress."

England Has New Order Resembling the Ku Klux Klan

Secret Society Known as Crusader, Blends Salient Features of American and Italian Organizations

LONDON, Feb. 5 (AP)—A strange secret society known as the order of the Crusader, which seems to blend with an antique ritual certain points of resemblance to the Ku Klux Klan and the Fascisti of Italy, is springing up in England.

According to a member of the Order, it started two years ago. During the first two months it has been conducting an intensive campaign for membership, and while it refuses to divulge the number of its members, it claims to have them in every section of Great Britain.

The avowed object of the society is to bring back the spirit of the Crusader to everyday life.

Meetings of the order are held behind closed doors. On ceremonial occasions the members are dressed in a striking garb. Officials wear crimson robes with a large white cross on the left side, and other members adopt a black gown with a white sash over it, on the breast of which is a red cross.

Some of the emblems of the order are suggestive of a different purpose, however. In the ritual a sword is carried to symbolize "service," spurs are worn to represent "chivalry," and "loyalty" is expressed by carrying banners.

"The literature of the order states that it aims at forming 'in every ward of each town and in every large village a convalescence of crusaders, composed of real leaders of public opinion in the locality.' Later on they intend 'to get crusaders into Parliament, on county and local councils, in the churches and out of them.'"

The initiation of candidates, as regards time, place, and ceremony closely resembles the Ku Klux Klan.

When each candidate is initiated he is expected to make a donation of two pounds or more, there being no limit to be used by the officials, as they see fit.

FORMER ASSOCIATES TO PAY TRIBUTE TO MOODY

Founders Week Celebration of Bible Institute at Chicago to Bring Together Well Known Figures

CHICAGO, Feb. 5 (AP)—Many prominent men who were associated with the late Dwight L. Moody, will take part in the Founders' Week celebration of the Moody Bible Institute here this week.

Those who know the eminent divine will tell of his struggles when he acted as janitor and superintendent of his mission in the old Market Street hall, cleaning out the sawdust and rustling beer kegs after the revels in the saloon-dance hall of the Saturday night previous in order to have the hall for his Sunday services.

In his early work, one of Moody's staunchest supporters and assistant superintendents was J. V. Farwell, one of Chicago's leading financiers. Associated with Dr. Moody in the foundation of the Institute in 1850 were Cyrus H. McCormick, John V. Farwell, Eldridge Keith, N. S. Bouton and T. W. Harvey, the latter the founder of Harvey, Illinois.

Since its founding the Institute has had an enrollment of 41,533 students. The tuition is free. Twenty eight nationalities are represented among these students and between thirty and forty denominations.

Is An Advertising Investment Good Collateral?

Your money deposited in banks is loaned by bankers upon the security of merchandise whose value has been created and is maintained by advertising.

Is the created more substantial than its creator—the product than the tool?

More and more, bankers are recognizing the essential verity of this principle—that money can be loaned as safely upon a sound advertising investment as upon other collateral which advertising has developed and maintained.

Los Angeles, which held first place in 1922 and 1921 for deaths, accidents and thefts, passed ordinances prohibiting vehicles or animals to stand in tunnels, established safety zones at various points where street cars stop in the business district, and prohibited left hand turns at various downtown corners in an effort to prevent accidents. In 1923, Los Angeles plans to further restrict the buying and selling of second-hand automobiles and parts, in an effort to stop stolen cars being transferred. The details of the new restrictions, the police say, have not been completed.

In Seattle during the closing months of 1922, the police conducted a campaign against reckless driving and in many cases municipal judges imposed the maximum penalties prescribed by law. Frequent traffic conferences have been held, the traffic squad of the police department increased, and organizations throughout the city have been invited to co-operate with officers in curbing reckless driving and preventing accidents in 1923. The Washington legislature is expected to take action during the present session to prevent automobile thefts in concert with other states. The measure provides for the registration of automobile licenses and engine numbers and a "checking system for tracing missing numbers.

Proportional to Population.

Increase in the number of traffic deaths in San Francisco in 1922, compared with 1921, is proportional to the increase in population and use of automobiles, according to Harry Gleason, chief of the traffic bureau, San Francisco police department. Captain Gleason is a strong advocate of the enactment of laws which will require persons who drive an automobile to submit to a rigid examination touching upon their qualifications in that regard before they are permitted to drive. "The only way in which the number of automobile accidents may be lessened is through a higher standard of driving," said Captain Gleason. "The driver of an automobile who is inexperienced is far more dangerous, according to my ideas, than an untrained engineer would be guiding a moving locomotive."

Sacramento, during the latter part of 1922, passed five ordinances designed to stop thefts of automobiles and to regulate traffic. In substance, the ordinances increased the number of traffic policemen, organized under a captain, and established a traffic regulation system embracing safety zones and lanes for pedestrians and restricted parking rules for automobiles in the business section.

Denver police attribute the decrease in stolen cars from 1,774 in 1921, to 734 in 1922 to the end of the influx of unemployment at the close of the war, and the growth of the police auto theft squad. The Colorado legislature, in 1922, passed a law making the theft of an automobile a crime, punishable by prison sentence.

MICHIGAN'S INDUSTRIAL ACTIVITY UNPRECEDENTED

Congestion of Freight at Detroit Railway Terminals Necessitates Appointment of Experts to Solve Problem

DETROIT, Feb. 5 (AP)—Congestion of freight at Detroit's railway terminals, described as the most serious in the city's history and which has necessitated the appointment of a committee of three experts charged with solving the problem, has called forcibly to the attention of the public here the unprecedented industrial activity of Detroit manufacturing plants. The report, based on the evidence here extends generally throughout all of the industrial cities of Michigan, according to John L. Lovett, secretary-manager of the Michigan Manufacturers Association. "The activity in manufacturing, although most noticeable in the motor trade, takes in a large number of other lines, Mr. Lovett points out.

"If the manufacturing plants of Michigan can obtain enough help during the next few months this state will see the greatest industrial expansion in its history, if not that of the entire nation," the association official predicted. "Lack of employees is seriously hampering many industries at this time. There is a shortage of both skilled and unskilled labor that is growing more acute each week. A majority of industrial plants are behind on their orders and are operating at capacity production. If sufficient help can be obtained, many of the Michigan concerns, especially in the automobile trade, are likely to be running 24 hours a day within the next two months."

The out-bound shipments of manufactured articles here have been so great recently that freight terminals are clogged and industrial leaders fear business will be affected seriously unless a means is found to move shipments with greater speed. Reports to the Employers' Association of Detroit show that 300,000 men are employed in Detroit industrial plants. This is the largest number ever employed here, even in war time.

RESTORATION OF WORLD PEACE IS CHURCHES' AIM

Conference of Churchmen Representing 78 Christian Religions in Many Lands is the First Step in Program

NEW YORK, Feb. 5 (AP)—Concrete plans to muster the united efforts of the Christian churches of the World for the restoration of world peace and tranquility are behind the announcement today that Dr. Roy James Do Wolf Perry, Bishop of Rhode Island, has accepted the Chairmanship of the Executive Committee of the Episcopal Church Commission on the World Conference on Faith and Order to begin work on the details of a Conference of Churchmen representing 78 Christian denominations in the United States, Europe, Asia, Africa, Canada and Australia which will meet in Washington in May 1925. Planned originally to restore unity among the Christian Churches throughout the world, it is the earnest belief of those behind the movement that a supreme duty confronts the Church today of restoring peace and order through a practical application of the principles of Christian Brotherhood. In a brief statement, Bishop Perry says:

First Meeting in Centuries. "For the uniting of a divided world, the leadership of a united Christian church is necessary. The world Conference on Faith and Order will bring Christians together for the first time in many centuries to consider the differences which have stood in the way of unity; not in the spirit of controversy, but in a sympathetic desire on the part of every church concerned to understand the position of every other. The leaders in this movement are convinced that such conferences will result in a new emphasis upon the most important matters of belief, and will point out the way to ultimate union."

Actively associated with Bishop Perry in the work immediately ahead will be the Rev. Floyd W. Tompkins, Jr., of Pittsburgh, as secretary. Mr. Tompkins will be in charge of the headquarters of the commission at Providence, and will give his entire time to the work. The plan for the world conference on Faith and Order originated at the Episcopal General Convention of 1910, and the immediate result was the appointment of a commission by that denomination of which Bishop

William T. Manning, of New York, is the chairman. Through this commission overtures were made for a conference of all Christian churches to consider questions pertaining to faith and order with a view to ultimate unity.

Preliminary Survey Made.

A preliminary conference of church representatives, was held in the summer of 1920, at Geneva, Switzerland, when a Continuation Commission was appointed to take charge of the movement in its world-wide aspects. There are now 78 commissions similar to that originally appointed by the Episcopal Church and representing nearly all the important Trinitarian churches throughout the world, participating in the St. Jacobs Oil.

Abandons Attempt to Match Dempsey

Kearnes Cancels All Negotiations for Bout Following Muldoon's Ruling

NEW YORK, Feb. 5 (AP)—Jack Dempsey is not likely to remain the undisputed champion of the world in 1923, but prospects that he would sign in the near future to defend his heavyweight championship were dispelled definitely today when his manager, Jack Kearnes, temporarily cancelled all negotiations for bouts. Kearnes' decision was a result of the latest ultimatum of William Muldoon, chairman of the New York state athletic commission, banning any heavyweight championship encounter in this state while the present commission remains in power. Previously, Muldoon had announced he would refuse to sanction contests between Dempsey and either of his two outstanding challengers, Harry Wills, New Orleans negro, and Jess Willard, former champion. Alleged commercialistic tactics on the part of promoters, excessive demands by fighters' managers and possible detrimental effects on the ring game resulted from the heavyweight title contest were cited by Muldoon as motives for his attitude. "The champion has shown that he is willing to fight any of his challengers," declared Kearnes. "I have done my best to match him with them. But Wills and Joe Beckett, English heavyweight, for which the champion was understood to have been guaranteed $500,000. Tom O'Rourke, matchmaker, and John M. O'Connor, president of the Republic Athletic club, both declared they were ready to let Muldoon's edict and go ahead with their plans if they could secure Dempsey's signature to a contract. They offered Kearnes a certified check for $500,000 to bind their end of any agreement, but the champion's manager after a lengthy conference with O'Rourke, announced he had declined to consider any proposal.

Cafe Bowlers Take Game from Grocers

Rogerson's Team Wins Two Close Tilts in Match With Alvord and Mott

The Rogerson Cafe bowlers took the old game from the Alvord & Mott pin smashers Monday evening in the regular scheduled game of the Twin Falls bowling league, winning the first and second tilts. They lost the last game by two pins, when Charley Bruegemann picked up a spare in the last frame and toppled over eight maples on his extra throw. The opener was a close one, too, the Rogerson lads winning by a scant four pins. The score in this game was 750 to 746. Bill Towan copped high in this battle with 178. In the second game the Cafe men swatted the timber for 818 while the best the Grocery artists could knock over was 720. Charley Larson, with 180, received the medal for high in this game. The last game of the evening was featured by the clever bowling of Charley Larson, who, by a supreme effort managed to gather 115 pins. The proudest vendors won this catastrophe by a score of 724 to 723, with Logan and Charley Bruegemann tied for high honors with 104 each. The story of the three games as the score sheets told it:

SOUP AND CRACKERS

The three games did not bring out any high class bowling. Everybody seemed to be off color. How are the mighty fallen! Charley Larson after reading the "don'ts" decided that it meant "don't" knock down any pins. Charley's effort in the last game was pathetic. The best he could do was the worst he has ever done. An added feature to the evening's entertainment was the musical act getting of Jimmie Croys, a gentleman of dusky hue, who played the latest tunes with the pins while putting them in position. His greatest number was Beolina, ending it with the chorus of Home Sweet Home. Bill Towan was the only bowler to pass 500 during the evening. Rexroat had a bad start, but braced up in the last two games. Perhaps it is true that Rexroat for instructions. Archie Anderson still obstructs the view, but managed to punish the lumber for an average of 158 for the evening. Swenson, and his side motion showed considerable improvement and is on the way for a nice average before the season ends. Hank Bruegemann started out with 165, but fell by the wayside in the last two games. Hank set the pace for his teammates, but the change didn't improve his average. Holmes was the new bowler for the

SCIENCE MAPS PROBABLE AREA OF EARTHQUAKE

Confesses Inability to Prevent Disaster but Seeks Means of Forestalling Damage by Finding Safe Localities

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—White man can never hope to harness the forces of nature to the extent of preventing, or even forestalling, earthquakes. It is not impossible, says the Carnegie Institution of Washington, that scientists may be able to divert methods of forestalling their disastrous effects by the selection of safer localities for cities and by appropriate methods of construction.

Earthquakes have occurred over a size of the earth's normal one and man long has suffered in consequence. To say that what mankind has characterized as a phenomenon which is as sure and as inevitable as an eclipse of the sun, might be checked finally, seems almost an impossibility. Yet, such thorough studies of the nature of quakes and their occurrence have been made in recent years that in future years construction of great buildings, dams, and even cities, may be affected by recent discoveries in geology.

Earthquakes are a natural occurrence in certain regions where the mountains are alive, Carnegie officials declare. There are districts, like the Atlantic coast, where the mountains are dead, but around the Pacific and in the Mediterranean, the mountains still are growing. In their growth, large masses comprising many thousand cubic miles of rock are pressed against each other, but are held by friction until the strain becomes too great. Then they slip and what is called an earthquake occurs. This is the modern theory of earthquakes. It has been developed through prolonged studies and demonstrated by observations of many minor quakes and of the lines along which they occur.

Along California Coast. The earthquake plow is often spoken of as a fracture, but it is really not a break, a recent statement of the institution declares. It is the surface between great masses which never have been united, but which for ages have been slipping past each other, and where this slipping occurs, the fault of the earth there is a line called an earthquake rift. The greatest of these rifts in the United States, so far as known, extends along the coast ranges of California for a distance of six hundred miles. It passes just west of San Francisco, to the east of Los Angeles, and disappears in the Gulf of California. Along the San Andreas rift, as it is called, earth shocks have occurred at different times in different sections.

South of that stretch for some 300 miles there has been no movement since 1857, when a severe shock occurred, the mark of which may still be traced across the desert plains like an irrigation ditch. Still farther south there have been several recent shocks, but none of great violence, although there is evidence of considerable activity in the section east of Los Angeles.

For some years now, the Carnegie Institution has been deep in the study of earthquakes, and only recently organized the advisory committee on seismology, calling on the cooperation of many other scientists to aid in the research. Its activities have resulted in the discovery of many facts for mariners and map makers. Through the financial assistance of the Carnegie foundation of New York, Dr. Bailey Willis, seismologist of Stanford university, was sent by the institution to Chile to study the effects of the recent earthquake there and survey, the aim being to arrive at the probable cause.

California Has First Congresswoman

Mrs. Mae Hunt Nolan and daughter.

Mrs. Mae Hunt Nolan, widow of Congressman John Nolan, defeated six other candidates at a special election in the Fifth Congressional District of California, in one of San Francisco's strongest labor centers, and will succeed her husband, whose policies she is pledged to carry on. She made a "front porch" campaign, never leaving her home, while the other candidates stamped the district. Mrs. Nolan is far ample modification of the Volstead act.

It would result from the expenditure of great sums for the study of a natural occurrence which, it is admitted, can never be prevented and which may continue to exact its toll of human lives and property. In view of the fact that scientists can now locate the certain lines along which quakes have occurred and seem sure to occur again in future, they are able to speak of live earthquake rifts as they speak of live volcanoes. It is known by the form of the volcano or by the occurrence of eruptions within historical times that it is potentially or actually active and much the same may be said of the earthquake rifts.

They are limits of special danger on which no schoolhouse, skyscraper or dam should be built. They should be avoided as far as possible, by railroad lines, bridges, aqueducts and other public works, and yet it happens that they often run through valleys where such works are suggested by the condition of the ground. As long as builders remain ignorant of their position, they run the risk of inviting destruction, it was added; but it is not difficult by proper study to locate these lines of danger on a map and to make the information public for the benefit of engineers and others. Indeed, there is now being published an earthquake rift map of the state of California, showing the lines of active rifts and also of faults that are supposed to be inactive, as a result of the work carried on in cooperation with the institution's advisory committee.

That is how the engineers who laid out the new water supply line for San Francisco were able to remove it from the former line which followed an active rift for miles, and locate it along a mountain range, where, if moved at all, will move as a block and not become dislocated or destroyed.

TIGHTENS LIQUOR LAWS

Prohibition Enforcement Measure, Backed by Pinchot Administration, Appears in Pennsylvania Assembly

HARRISBURG, Pa., Feb. 5 (AP)—Defining as intoxicating liquor "anything found by congress to be intoxicating" and containing "a search and seizure clause" "with both in it," the strict prohibition enforcement bill, backed by Governor Pinchot's administration, was introduced tonight in both houses of the general assembly. The measure would eliminate all saloons and prohibit sale, manufacture, possession, transportation and importation or exporting into or out of Pennsylvania of any liquor for beverage purposes. The manufacture or sale of any contrivance or preparation designed for use in the manufacture of intoxicating liquor would be prohibited.

Penalties for violation would be a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $500, or imprisonment of not more than three years or both.

BABY CHICKS MAKE CLAIMS ON FUEL ADMINISTRATION

LANSING, Mich., Feb. 5 (AP)—Baby chicks are the latest concern of the Michigan fuel administration. Firms in the southern and western parts of the state raise them by the thousands, but their plants are equipped for heating only by anthracite coal and none of this fuel is available to them. Hatching operations are almost at hand. The state administration is taking the matter up with the Pennsylvania fuel administration.

URGES A CHRISTIAN LIFE

Evangelist in German at Revival Series Shows Value of Closer Study of Bible Teachings

At another meeting in the series of sermons being given here, the Rev. L. E. Burger Monday night took as his topic, "We Would See Jesus." He said in part: "If we lived as the bible teaches we ought to live there would not be so much business for the divorce courts. There are a lot of difficulties in the way of some of us in coming to Christ. There are our many denominational divisions and if the preachers would get out of the way our laymen would soon get together. If you can push your way to Him there will be a blessing awaiting you." It was announced that transportation accommodations will be furnished persons living at a distance by calling the C. E. Lind garage.

GERMAN HELP

Since the new French move in plebiscite Jones horns of the prevailing resignation with which Germany's helplessness is largely contemplated, several of the conservative organs have been aroused to a fit of fury. The Kreuss Zeitung demands the immediate breaking off of relations with France and the expulsion of all French and Belgian members of the allied control commission, as well as the civilian nationals of both countries, now in Germany. The action, the newspaper argues, would effectively dispose of the rumors that the Cuno government is about to capitulate to the occupying powers.

MANY HERE NEED DAY EMPLOYMENT

Hour's Work Means Food For Family Men Without Jobs; City Official Asks Aid

Unemployment in Twin Falls this winter is more severe than for many years, and men in search of work by which they can support their families have for the past two months applied daily at the city hall for employment, according to J. T. Krivanek, city street and water works superintendent.

Ten men applied Monday morning for work and the number seldom falls below half a dozen and runs as high as 25 a day, most of them seeking work on the construction of the new water main to the hospital.

"Practically all of these men are Twin Falls citizens and have families to support," Mr. Krivanek said. "Many are desperately in need and must find some thing by which they can earn a few dollars to provide food, clothing and other necessities. The waiting line is generally present every day and they are often on hand a long time in the morning before our office opens."

"Anyone requiring help will materially relieve the situation by notifying our office. These men will be only too glad to take any kind of work, for any length of time, even an hour's employment will mean a big help to some of them."

The waiting list of men in need of work and who have applied for day work on the hospital line number 75 names. The work on the new water main will be started as soon as the weather conditions permit, and a crew of 50 men has been selected for this work. As a result of the large number of others seeking employment they will be worked in shifts of a day or half a day, the latter method being in a way as to give part time work to as many as possible. The present crews of the city street and water works are now operating on this plan.

The lack of work here this winter is ascribed to the various kinds of employment projects, such as building and road work, which required the services several years ago of the men now out of work.

Liquor Leads to Arrest of Woman

Officers Claim Female Prisoner Had Bottle of Booze Concealed Under Clothing

Alma Wilber, whose true name is said to be Alta Strickland, will be arraigned in a probate court Wednesday on a charge of having liquor in her possession, as a result of her arrest Sunday night in front of the Lyman rooms by Deputy Sheriff Gaharath and Prater. She furnished $500 bonds Monday.

Following her arrest she was searched by women deputies, who claim to have found a bottle of liquor concealed beneath her clothing.

The woman was an associate of Mrs. T. B. Browne, proprietress of the Lyman rooms, according to the police, who claim that both women have bad records.

Mrs. Browne was granted a license by the city council last fall to operate the Lyman rooms when she produced several recommendations bearing the signatures of business men at Mountain Home, her former place of residence. The license was granted over the opposition of J. E. Cress, chief of police. Renewal of Mrs. Browne's license, however, has not been approved.

The city police had been working on the case for some time and the raid, with the police and deputy sheriffs cooperating, was staged at the Lyman rooms early in January, according to Chief Cress. No evidence was found at that time.

CLAIM FORMER CASHIER FORGED CROP MORTGAGE

Jury Returns Verdict for E. E. Jain, Murtaugh Baucher, in Case Involving Insolvent Bank

The jury in the civil suit of E. E. Jain against J. G. Fralick, state commissioner of finance, returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff in district court at 5 o'clock Monday evening after deliberating about one hour.

Mr. Jain alleged the defunct Bank of Murtaugh had a mortgage on part of his crop and instead of recording it forged another covering his entire crop. The jury said that the second mortgage was a forgery.

L. H. Merrifield, cashier of the Bank of Murtaugh, and who was sought by the authorities here recently for appropriation of funds of the bank, is said to have been responsible for the forgery. H. O. Mills represented the plaintiff and Frank L. Stephan the defendant.
