GIVES COLD RECEPTION TO DEMAND

Twin Falls Board of Education Declines to Institute Action on Call of the Ouster Instigator

Through a resolution based on the opinion of Attorney James R. Bothwell, the Twin Falls school board at its meeting Monday night declined to ignore the demand of E. F. Walton that action be brought against the First National bank to recover on approximately $132,000 worth of warrants and the secretary was instructed to present Mr. Walton with a communication to that effect.

A brief resume of Judge Bothwell's opinion will be included in the communication. After reading to the board extracts from a transcript of the action which took place a year ago, Judge Bothwell gave as his opinion that Mr. Walton has no grounds on which to prosecute his demands.

Denies Legal Right. "It is my opinion," Judge Bothwell said, "that so far as legal rights are concerned the right of the district to recover from the treasurer or the bank does not exist. It must be apparent to the layman that if the independent school district took $28,000 or $12,000, or any other amount, from its general expense fund and put it into the building fund and the district still owns that building the district can not be entitled to recover that money from the bank.

"It is the shrewdest folly to think of such action being sustained. At some time past there might have been started a technical suit to test the validity of the drawing of warrants for certain purposes from funds for which money had not been appropriated. So far as the First National bank is concerned it had nothing to do with the action of the school district in the decision to draw warrants.

"The bank is not the judge of what the school district shall do with its funds and so far as I can see there is no cause of action against anyone. All the board can do is to reply to the communication and set forth the decision of the board.

Walton's Demand. A copy of the letter from Mr. Walton, which was read at the meeting, is as follows: To the Honorable Board of School Trustees of Independent School District No. 1, Twin Falls County, Idaho: You are advised of a situation existing in the affairs of your district, which, in my opinion, requires some official action on your part.

In January, 1921, W. E. Nelson, assistant cashier of the First National bank of Twin Falls, Idaho, was also treasurer of your district, as well as a trustee thereof. While he was assistant cashier of the First National bank he was stated, and at the same time treasurer of said school district, he permitted the district to become overdrawn, through the First National bank in the approximate sum of $132,738.77, that is, he paid warrants in this amount

THIRTEEN BILLS GET UNDER WIRE

Closing Hours for Introduction of New Measures See Much Proposed Legislation

BOISE, Idaho, Feb. 12 (AP)—Thirteen bills were introduced in the house today on the last day provided by the rules for introduction of bills. Authorizing county commissioners to employ agricultural demonstration agents and home economics experts, Representative - Line, republican, of Blinnhan county, sponsored an eleven hour measure.

Representative - Bellwell, democrat, of Adams county, fathered a joint resolution for a constitutional amendment to allow the legislature to exempt from taxation manufacturing, industrial and national companies and corporations for a period of 10 years from the beginning of construction.

Abolishment of the cabinet form of government was taken out of the seventeenth session of the legislature today, when by a strict party vote the upper house indefinitely postponed the Van Hoesen bill.

Speaking for the measure introduced by his father, shortly before his death, Senator Endorse Van Hoesen characterized the cabinet form as "expensive."

The democrat senate primary bill will be the center of interest before the upper house tomorrow, following its reference today to the committee of the whole.

Anti-Klan Bill Falls. Efforts by Senator Harris, democrat, of Washington county, to have his anti-Klu Klux Klan bill introduced last week, brought out, failed today when he moved that the measure be printed. The action of the senate presages the defeat of the measure. A house bill, aimed at the Klan, is still before the legislature.

The defendants are named jointly in the six counts contained in the indictment.

Released Under Bonds. Sheriff Agnew, Chief Griffith and H. Goodfriend were released under $2500 bonds a short time after their arrest Monday evening. Hill, the Sorans, Kemp and Kinney were released under $1500 bonds. Ed Ward was still in the county jail late Monday night because of failure to furnish his $1500 bond.

STORM DAMAGE IS SLIGHT

Truck Blown Across Platform at Railroad Station Here; Winds Prevail at Surrounding Points

Damage resulting from the whirlwind Monday was confined to a small amount of telephone trouble, the breaking of a window in the high school building and a truck used by a postal employee being blown off the platform and across the tracks.

Reports from Barley and Jerome were to the effect that no damage of any amount occurred at these points. At Barley the blizzard was reported rather severe and the night wind prevailed at Jerome for a short period.

The Day in Washington

(By The Associated Press) Investigation of the administration of veterans' bureau affairs was ordered by the senate.

Colonel Walter A. Bethel was nominated to be judge advocate general of the army, succeeding Major General Crowder, now ambassador to Cuba.

Mrs. Mae Ellen Nolan was sworn in as a member of the house, succeeding her late husband as representative from the fifth California district.

Salaries ranging from $125,000 a year down are paid by the investing petroleum companies to their chief officials, the senate oil investigating committee was informed.

In an effort to bring both the shipping and debt funding bills to an early vote, republican leaders decided to have the senate each day consider one measure for a few hours, then the other.

Belgian Troops to Extend Area of Occupied Region to Include Rhine Harbors

Wesel and Emmerich New Objectives of the Forces Holding German Territory as Forfeit for Reparations Payments; Reinforcements for Ruhr-Arriving in Stream

DUESSELDORF, Feb. 12 (AP)—The Rhineland inter-allied commission has notified the commissioner of the reichs that Belgian troops will occupy the towns of Wesel and Emmerich at 7 o'clock Tuesday morning. Emmerich is the customs station for Holland.

LONDON, Feb. 12 (AP)—A dispatch to The Times says: "It is reported that reinforcements, destined for the Ruhr, are arriving continually. It is learned that the Belgians are pressing the French to increase the severity of their measures in the Ruhr."

BERLIN, Feb. 12 (AP)—Semi-official announcement is made here that the Franco-Belgians intend to occupy the Rhine harbors of Wesel and Emmerich tomorrow.

President Ebert arrived in Karlsruhe today, accompanied by the minister of the interior and the minister of the treasury, to consult with the Baden government and the industrial leaders on the French invasion.

"We all know the existence of the German republic is at stake," said Herr Ebert in an address, "but if we unite all our forces we will overcome this latest attack on our national life."

By not going beyond Karlsruhe, President Ebert will avoid a clash with the French over the French order prohibiting German ministers from entering occupied territory.

Boilities Consequences. There is a strong inclination on the part of the Berlin press to belittle the immediate consequences which are likely to follow the new Franco-Belgian boycott against unoccupied Germany, especially as far as it may concern iron products. The newspapers assert that Germany can continue to be an important competitor in the world markets, since most of her finishing plants are in unoccupied sections of the country, and these are stocked up with supplies for months ahead.

The Allgemeine Zeitung, organ of Hugo Stinnes, reviewing the month of occupation, sees the French iron industry the heaviest sufferer up to date.

"The decrease of more than a million tons in reparation coal for France alone," says this newspaper, "has driven from the world market the French iron industry, which, with the cheap reparation coals, has been conducting a flourishing 'dumping' business."

MYSTERY ENVELOPS DEATH

Autopsy Fails to Discover Cause of Boise Girl's Demise; Mother Tells Conflicting Stories

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 12 (AP)—Failure of an autopsy performed on the body of Miss Ethelna Hodges of Boise, Idaho, who died here Sunday under mysterious circumstances, to reveal the cause of her death, and a statement by Mrs. Stella Hodges that both she and her daughter were overcome by fumes from a gas heater Friday night, today further complicated what police regarded as a possible case of poisoning.

The detective who visited her at the hospital, where she lay ill, Mrs. Hodges said she and her daughter were overcome by gas fumes Friday night after Miss Hodges already had been taken ill from what appeared to her to be ptomaine poisoning. Both lay unconscious until Saturday morning, she said, when the janitor entered their apartment.

Meanwhile, city chemists tonight were endeavoring to solve the mystery by analysis of the contents of the dead girl's stomach. The result of this analysis will not be available for several days.

OFFICERS TAKE CHARGE OF WOUNDED SHEEPMAN

Basque, Suffering from Knife Wounds Said to Have Been Self-Inflicted, is Brought In by Employer

Suffering from numerous wounds about the head and face, said to have been self-inflicted as a result of a mental affliction, a Basque sheepherder employed by D. E. Sweet, on his ranch five miles southwest of Twin Falls, was brought early Tuesday morning to the police station here. The injured man was removed to the county jail where a surgeon was called to dress the wounds. The Basque, Mr. Sweet, said, had evidenced signs of mental derangement for several days, but his condition was not believed serious until Monday night, when he obtained a knife and inflicted the gashes upon his own person.

DAWSON'S DEATH LIST IS SOARING

Recovery Crews Make Rapid Progress with Task of Recovering Bodies of Victims

DAWSON, N. M., Feb. 12 (AP)—All but 14 bodies of the 122 miners entombed in the mine number one here, following an explosion last Thursday, had been removed by rescue crews tonight. The list of official dead now numbers 108, two of the entombed men having walked off unharmed last Friday.

Officials of the Phelps-Dodge corporation, owners of the mine, announced late tonight that exploration of the shattered mine workings had definitely revealed at this time that no miners still remained alive in the mine. The cause of the explosion has not yet been determined, it was also stated.

DAWSON, N. M., Feb. 12 (AP)—Mounting at a rapid rate today, Dawson's known dead toll in the disastrous explosion of number one mine had reached the total of 91 tonight. By midnight, the list is expected to near above 100. For the 20 bodies then remaining, however, officials anticipate days of excavation of debris will be necessary.

The shattered, debris-choked interior of the blast wrecked mine was viewed this afternoon by a correspondent of The Associated Press. Utter devastation was wrought by the terrific force of the detonation. Ripped from the roof as if clawed away by a broiling anguished hand, gigantic blocks of slate, coal and rock litter the passageways, piled in boiler-skeleton confusion in the dark tunnel through which the rescue crews, for four days have been laboring with the bodies of their unfortunate comrades.

Pursue Hazardous Task. That members of the working crews have not been injured or killed by falling debris during that period is due to the short of miraculous. That they have been able to extricate more than 80 bodies from the cluttered tunnels

President Pays Tribute to Emancipator's Memory

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12 (AP)—The supreme gift of Abraham Lincoln was not in construction, but rather in preservation, President Harding declared in an address tonight at a Lincoln memorial dinner, tendered by friends of Lincoln Memorial University of Cumberland Gap, Tenn.

"Humanity itself," the president declared, "needs to drink of the cup of unflinching confidence which enable him to stand erect and unshaken and discouragements and criticism which would have crushed any less than a master heart and soul."

The president spoke in part as follows: "No human story surpasses the emancipation and the inspiration of that of Abraham Lincoln. The republic pays tribute tonight, and most of the world is doing likewise, because in his unshaken faith the world finds its own hopes mightily strengthened. Our words are all feeble, because we are dealing with the master martyr, the supreme leader in a national crisis,

Edison, on Birthday, Gives View on Current Questions

WEST ORANGE, N. J., Feb. 12 (AP)—Thomas Alva Edison, electrical wizard, started on the first lap toward his seventy-seventh birthday today by receiving hundreds of messages of congratulation from all parts of the United States, entertaining several guests at his home and answering questions on domestic and world affairs.

"Briefly, the famous inventor thinks the navy is a 'closed corporation'; the Ku Klux Klan should be 'wiped out'; the British debt refunding scheme is all right; the French are right on occupying the Ruhr; the Germans are bad boys and the British good sports; come, isn't a fake and seems to be in earnest; 'booze' will not be a critical issue at any time, and America should be sober; the newspapers print too much scandal and 'pollitics' make suckers out of the public; business conditions are slipping nicely; college men don't know what's going on; newspaper men would have 'to be a bunch of nuts' to understand what his 'centennials' are all about; the American girl is fine—none better," and the halcyon is good in the field of invention. Mr. Edison also wants the world to know that he likes the movies pretty well.

When the newspaper men were near the end of their interrogations, the inventor gave them a pointer on how to spend their time. "If you want to spend your time rationally, why don't you write about what's being done for the sick? Get a story about the Rockefeller institute. Learn who is offsetting curies and let the people know about it. These old friends came in from all parts of the country. They banded together years ago, calling themselves the 'Edison pioneers,' and resolved to have a reunion each year on the 'chief's' birthday.

COUPLES SHIP MEASURE WITH DEBT FUNDING

Senate Works Out Arrangement for Keeping Both Bills Before Body for Daily Consideration

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12 (AP)—An administration program providing for joint consideration of the shipping bill and of the British debt settlement measure, was developed today in the senate.

The plan, which is understood to have received the approval of President Harding, was disclosed by Chairman Jones of the commerce committee, who is in charge of shipping bill, after he had failed in another attempt to limit debt on the measure through unanimous consent agreement. It provides that the senate shall adjourn from day to day, thereby providing a morning hour each day during which the debt bill shall be considered, and after which the shipping is to come up.

Definite arrangements to put the plan into effect were deferred today as democratic senators said they wished to consult with Senator Reed of Missouri, democratic member of the finance committee, who returned to the capital today after an absence of several weeks, before formulating their views with respect to the proposal. Republican leaders, however, indicated after adjournment that they expected to begin operations under the plan tomorrow.

Norris Interposes Block

Standing in the way of the proposed procedure, however, is a motion made today by Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, and debated throughout most of the session, to begin consideration of the constitutional amendment recently reported by the agriculture committee. This amendment would provide for direct election of president, for moving up the date of the presidential inauguration from March 4 to the third Monday in January and for elimination of any session of an old congress after election of a new congress.

Senator Norris, in discussing the amendment, announced he would make a move to amend so as to eliminate the provisions relating to the president and vice-pres. only, the portion regarding the meeting of congress. In this form, it was said to be acceptable to republicans generally, and it was indicated that if Senator Norris proposed to press it as he announced today, it would be approved with very little further debate.

Conditions Approval

Meanwhile some democratic opponents of the shipping bill indicated they would agree to bring it to a vote if the administration forces would accept the Madden amendment, which was approved by the house eliminated by the commerce commission. The amendment would make grants of government aid to ship operators contingent upon annual appropriations by congress. The first reaction of the administration leaders on acceptance of the amendment was unfavorable. The question of the legislative program will be discussed further with President Harding tomorrow by Senator Lodge, Massachusetts, republican leader, Chairman McCumber of the senate finance committee, which on Saturday reported the debt settlement bill, and Senator Smoot, republican, Utah, a member of the American debt funding commission.

A Judicious Inquiry

A well known traveling man who visits the drug trade says he has often heard druggists ask a customer, who wished to buy a cough medicine, whether it was for a child or an adult, and that for a child, they almost invariably recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The reason for this is that they know there is no danger from it and that it always cures. There is not the least danger in giving it, and for colds, croup and whooping cough it is unsurpassed.—adv.

Recounts Intimate Story of Nomination of Lincoln

Chicago's Observance of the Emancipator's Birthday Anniversary Marked by Reminiscences of Aged Citizen

CHICAGO, Feb. 12 (AP)—Observing the 114th anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln, Addison G. Proctor, said to be the only living delegate to the convention that nominated Lincoln for president, told in a speech today of the influence of the "great emancipator."

"The 400 delegates to that convention in 1860 met in reality to decide whether slavery should exist or not," he said. "The fugitive slave law had outraged the moral sensibilities of the north. Slavery, then, threatened to force its way into the free territory of the northwest."

"After a 'no slavery' plank had been inserted in the platform, a strong delegation from the east asked the nomination of William H. Seward. They backed but 50 votes of controlling the convention."

Seward Proves Loyalty.

"One of the leaders of the easterners interviewed us and urged the nomination of Seward. Gracey Horeley, however, predicted that Seward would fail to carry five states and possibly more. Speaking of Lincoln, Gracey said: 'He is a pretty shrewd politician, but he is certainly inexperienced in national affairs and I don't believe the people would trust him.' Cassius Clay of the Kentucky delegation told us we were on the brink of civil war, and that if Lincoln is elected the south will withdraw from the Union and we, the unionists, will help push accession back into its fold."

Lincoln was nominated despite the several delegates and Senator Seward of New York, who volunteered to take the platform in favor of Lincoln. I saw him as he was inaugurated by some 20,000 persons. He then promised to enforce the laws in all states and when the flag fell at Fort Sumter, the people were of one heart. Seventy-five thousands volunteered after the first call. 'We are coming, Father Abraham, 200,000 strong,' was the answer to his second call."

Compared to Moses.

Elwin A. Munger, master of elocution and another speaker, declared that "Lincoln lived as Moses lived," to lead his people through all of their trials to the promised land of a reunited people, and a great homeogenous nation."

Another picture was drawn by Professor Bernard G. Cigrand, who told of Lincoln's relations with Seward and Stanton and other members of his cabinet. "And Seward, in the early days of the war said, 'Lincoln is a fool, a low cunning clown, the original gorilla,' he declared later when Lincoln was assassinated: 'Lincoln is the most perfect ruler of men the world has ever seen.'"

CHICAGO, Feb. 10 (AP)—Increased use of the bible as well as increased quotations of the holy book were indicated here at the meeting of the Council of Boards of Benevolence of the Methodist Episcopal church.

Dr. Wm. L. Haven, corresponding secretary, American Bible Society, New York, told the Council that in the Japanese daily and weekly press, quotations from the bible were printed more than quotations from any other religious books.

Bishop William Burt, of Buffalo, in speaking of the growing influence of the bible throughout the world, said that he met Premier Mussolini of Italy who drew from his pocket a small green New Testament which had come from the American Bible Society and said: "This is the best of all books and I am endeavoring to build my life and career according to its principles and teachings."

AUSTRIA WOULD PROVIDE VIENNA UNIVERSITY OF MUSIC

VIENNA, Feb. 10 (AP)—While Vienna for centuries past has been the Mecca of students of music, its Academy of Music has not attained to the rank of a university, nor has it been privileged to bestow musical degrees as have those of Berlin, London and Paris.

To make good this deficiency the Austrian Minister for Education has invited Dr. Richard Strauss, the eminent composer, to work out a project for the creation of a University of Music in Vienna and provide it with a professional staff of recognized merit.

FOOTBALL BY WHOLESALE

CORVALLAS, Ore., Feb. 12 (AP)—Football in the field, in the army and on the blackboard is being served to prospective gridiron heroes of the Oregon Agricultural college here by Dr. B. Rutherford, coach.

"I am well pleased with the spirit the men are showing up to date," said Rutherford. "They are snapping into the work with as much zest as they usually do if the full practice. It looks good to me."

The men have been given complicated sets of signals to use for the scrimmage work. This is to teach them to think fast and get the signals when they are given the first time by the quarterback.

SOUTH DAKOTA REGION IS STILL UNEXPLORED

Big Foot Wall, Occupying Four Mile Area in Heart of Bad Lands, is Called Impossible of Survey

SCENIC, S. D., Feb. 12 (AP)—Half a dozen miles southwest of this town, in the very heart of the Badlands, Big Foot wall stretches away to the southwest and the northeast for miles. Between this wall and the pinnacles of Whitewater Wall and bounded on the west by Sago Creek lies an area of approximately four square miles. No white man's foot has ever rested there, so far as can be learned. The Indians call the plot "sichi makoché" meaning "Bad Place."

A large scale map of Pennington county, drawn in 1903, describes the place as "Badland bluffs and canyons, impossible of survey."

Occasionally one of the Dakotas (Sioux) Indians who will talk, tells strange tales about this particularly rugged portion of South Dakota. Deep ravines and gorges lead up to spire-like pinnacles and every attempt to follow their tortuous paths thus far has ended in failure. Baffling cul-de-sacs greet the explorers at every path. Chief Fleming Arrow, a veteran of the frontier days, gives what probably is the Sioux belief. Many years ago, the chief said, before the pale face came, there was the place where dwelt the Wankinyan (Thunder Bird) high in the pinnacles of stone. This wall of rock kept out unwelecome visitors, the chief contended and added that the protected area is rich in food, sunlight and warmth and has pure cold streams of running water.

The old chief said that perhaps at some time, someone may have found their way into the place, but if so they never returned.

HARBIN FEARS TROOP ADVANCE

Anti-Bolshevist Population is Leaving Rapidly as Result of Reports of Soviet Activity

HARBIN, Feb. 12 (AP)—The foreign population, estimated at more than 200,000, is perturbed over the possibility of soviet troops moving into the Chinese Eastern railway zone, which would mean the occupation of Harbin. During the months preceding the taking of the population of Harbin was considerably increased by the influx from an adherent of bolshevik principles who can do so is getting out.

Thus far the fear felt appears based largely on rumors of impending danger. Stories are continually circulating of bolshevik armies mobilizing at Manchuria on the western Manchurian frontier, and at Pogranichnaya ga. the eastern frontier.

Recently a report was current that the Moscow authorities had demanded surrender by the Chinese military authorities of the wireless station in Harbin. The taking over of the Chinese Eastern terminal docks at Eggers held, in the edge of Vladivostok, is regarded by many as an omen of further aggression.

After the loss of Vladivostok many retired into "white" officers and men retreated into Chinese territory at Pogranichnaya. A report was current and appeared to be well substantiated that the Chinese authorities entrained these refugees ostensibly for places in South Manchuria, but instead carried them in locked cars to the Siberian frontier on the west and there gave them the option of going into bolshevik territory or into a detention camp.

Officials of the Chinese Eastern deny the menace of bolshevik invasion of the railway zone. President C. C. Wang relies upon the intelligence of those directing the soviet policies who would in his opinion, be courting trouble with foreign nations were such a course to be pursued. Seizure of the line, he maintains, would constitute invasion of Chinese territory on the heels of agreements reached at Washington, the tenor of which were contrary to such action.

Chief Engineer Ostroumoff pointed with pride to the physical condition of the road in contrast with that of lines under soviet control.

WIRELESS AID OF HIGH VALUE

Ships' Messages on Weather Conditions in North Pacific Help Observer's Predictions

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 12, (AP)—Ships that pass in the north Pacific Ocean at night and send wireless reports on weather conditions in their paths are the most important aides enlisted in the service of the District Weather Forecaster's office here, which anticipates climatic conditions in Washington, Oregon, California, Idaho and Nevada.

An nine-ton-ton of all elemental disturbances originates at center in the Pacific Ocean according to G. H. Wilson, chief forecaster, wireless reports from craft moving in the seldom traveled north Pacific route are needed to make accurate forecasts. When there are no ships moving in the north Pacific, the weather man here must "go it blind" and make predictions without information from his most important sector from the weather viewpoint.

Ships in the Pacific Ocean report by wireless to the naval radio station on Yerba Buena Island in San Francisco Bay at 8 o'clock each morning and night. These reports are relayed by land lines to the weather bureau office here, which is located on the top of a downtown skyscraper. These reports give the position of the boat, height of the barometer at the hour, temperature, direction and force of the wind. The data is entered on a large map indicating the longitude and latitude of the boat.

Before making a daily forecast, Mr. Wilson takes into consideration all information received from observers in live wires and the scientific deductions which twelve employes make in the office from the reports available. However, there are exceptions to this rule.

The Way It Works.

Recently no ships reported from the north Pacific for more than twenty-four hours. Fair weather was reported in every land point in the district and there was no elemental indication of any disturbance. Small balloons released from the roof of the bureau indicated a high westerly wind. Disregarding every other indication of continued fair weather, Mr. Wilson predicted rain for the next twenty-four hours. That night, eight hours later, a storm slipped in from the Pacific Ocean and four hours later drenched four western states and moved towards the Atlantic coast.

Storms which develop in the north Pacific Ocean usually extend across the United States, according to the records of the weather bureau, if they are not dissipated in the Rocky Mountain plateau region.

"Only one who has had much practical experience in weather forecasting can forecast how far rains or high winds will extend," said Mr. Wilson, who has been in the weather service for forty-three years and alternates monthly in making day predictions with Edward A. Bales, who has been in the service for more than forty years.

The value of this experience is seen in reports from Washington, which show that more than ninety per cent of the forecasts made by the district weather bureau here in a year are accurate.

MORNING "SINGS" ARRANGED.

ASHVILLE, N. C., Feb. 10, (AP)—Delegates to the Thirteenth Biennial Festival of the National Federation of Music Clubs here June 9, will be asked to join in a song fest every morning previous to the opening of the sessions which will be a demonstration of a new form of group singing introduced by Henrietta Baker Low, national chairman of Home and Group Singing of the National Federation.

At the biennial, besides the daily morning "sings," there will be three or four meetings for those specially interested in the movement, one general meeting before the entire body where a song repertoire for the season of 1923-25 will be rehearsed, and a Song Sheet embodying soloists and selected groups will be ready by the time of the meeting. In addition, too, there will be a Sunrise Sing held on the mountain side.

To this end the music clubs and the state organizations are being asked to send as delegates as many pianists and people who can sing as possible.

WIDOW GIVEN HOME.

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 12 (AP)—Senior Christian Endeavorers of the First Congregational church here, who had been helping a poor widow pay her rent month by month to enable her to live in a home, and on land donated by one of the Endeavorers, they have erected a house 10 by 20 feet. Boys of the class begged some of the lumber and paid half price for the rest of it. With the advice of a carpenter the boys and girls got busy with saws and hammers and soon the widow's home was completed.

PREDICTS IMPROVEMENT IN BUSINESS OF BRITISH

Early Gain in Industrial Conditions and Augmented Foreign Trade Assured by English Observer

LONDON, Feb. 12 (AP)—An encouraging forecast for improved British trade in 1923 is made by Felix J. Blakemore, president of the National Chamber of Trade.

"I am convinced that our industrial conditions will improve," Mr. Blakemore writes, "and while paying due regard to the importance of our pre-war European trade, their present and prospective condition, the prospects of a greatly increased trade with our overseas dominions, crown colonies and dependencies are distinctly reassuring. It is not only that our trade with our overseas dominions floated large loans in London for purposes of development. These were mostly over-subscribed, and now that the factories and machinery are being placed in Great Britain which will gradually expand as the work proceeds.

"The foreign markets of the world—other than the United States—are increasingly active in their inquiries for British goods, due in the main to the failure of Germany to execute the terms and conditions of the trade treaty of the United States tariff bill. If only we can reduce our costs of production, and therefore our prices, we shall be able rapidly to co-opt those inquiries into orders."

Mr. Blakemore predicts that cost of production will be reduced by a fall of 2 points in the living price about March, and a further considerable reduction 12 months hence. This is based on the appreciation of the value of the pound sterling in America, "which will enable American produce to be reduced in price to the consumer, and America is so important a factor in the supply of food goods to this country, that American supplies of food rapidly become world prices."

The increased food supplies, together with appreciation of sterling values, will undoubtedly bring cheaper goods to the consumer, and if, by reducing the cost of living, it does not immediately reduce production cost of manufactured goods, it will at once increase the purchasing power of the British public and so stimulate the home demand for the goods we make."

CELEBRATE OUTDOOR MASS.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 12 (AP)—An outdoor mass in the snow-topped Sierras held Sunday morning by the Rev. Jerome J. Zarig, pastor of Trinity cathedral, and two members of the Knights of Columbus, Order of Alhambra, of San Francisco. The rear platform of an observation car was used as an altar.

A special train left here conveying the Alhambra and stops were made at Oakland, Berkeley and Sacramento, where additional members joined the party. The party left Truckee Sunday night, arriving in San Francisco today.

ASK FISHING MONOPOLY.

VLADIVOSTOK, Feb. 12, (AP)—The Congress, one of the biggest co-operative societies in Russia, has asked the government to give it the monopoly of the herring fishery in the Ussuri and Amur bays. The co-operative society states that it has the necessary nets and implements and can dispose of 40,000,000 herrings in Russia.

The granting of this monopoly means the taking away of fishery rights from twelve firms now engaged in this industry. These firms have been engaged in the industry for twelve years.

Rogerson Cafe Wins From Theater Lads

Pork and Bean Experts Wallop Film Artists Through Larson's Clever Bowling

The Idaho Theatre bowling team lost its first series last night at the Twin Falls bowling alleys when the Rogerson Cafe man and eggs walloped them two out of three.

The feature of the evening's entertainment was the bowling of Charley Larson. Charley broke the league record for three high games, by toppling over 598 pins, two more than the record held jointly by Charley Hill and Art Pinks, both of the Wright's store team.

Larson's three games were 232, breaking the record for high single game of the tournament, 201 and 205. The three games last night were by far the most exciting of the season, the large crowd being divided as to their choice for a winner. The first two games showed the teams bowing over 800 which always means high class pin smashing.

The first game went to the Movie kids by the score of 847 to 820, a strike in the last frame by Benny Stoltz doing the work. This strike, however, spoiled Denny for the rest of the games as he blew several easy spares at the last two games.

Charley Larson had high game in the opener with 232. His first four innings were strikes, the next four spares, then two strikes and a spare.

The second game gave the Rogerson Cafe their first win of the evening. Larson again going wild with 201. The score in this game was 823 to 809.

The last game of the evening fell a little below the standard set by the other two, both teams bowling under 800. 798 to 745 is the way the score read in this stanza. Bill Towan hit the high mark with 201 in this game. The theatre lads gave a poor exhibition in this game, none of them passing 150.

THE SLAUGHTER OF THE LAMBS
Well, the kitchen mechanics did what four of the other teams couldn't do.

The kids looked mighty good the first game, and should have won the second, too, but inflated domes, or rather the feeling that they couldn't get beat got the best of them.

Charley Larson and Bill Towan were potent factors in the downfall of the screen artists.

The largest crowd of the season was present, with everyone testing their lung power.

The pleading of Clint Evans in the last game didn't save the high school wizards.

Mark Murtaugh was another rooster who roared for the kids to bring home the bacon. Mark's arguments were "weighty" enough but the young boys brummed hard nought.

When better scores are made, Larson will make them. (With apologies to Duke).
Bill Towan totalled 568 for the evening, which would have looked extra good, had not Larson gone crazy.
Laval Jarman didn't have the usual amount of pop that generally goes with his bowling.

Reeves after bowling 205 in the opener, added to 121 in the second, several splits illuminated his second attempt.

Kennedy showed improvement in each game, his first being 185, his second 184, and the third 187.

Chet Kerr led his teammates, being the only theatre man to pass 500. Chet looks like the goods, but why not leave him at anchor?

Denny Sullivan had an off night, even with his first game. Denny isn't an anchor man, and would bowl better in third place.

Bob Logan thought that bowling on the safe team meant to be grossed up, but by mistake he got on the solo.

However he clipped off 150 in the second, and with his promise never to pass the foul line again, Bob should be up with the best of them.

Svensen had quite a time kidding the kids, and seemed to enjoy it, as he picked up more spares than usual.

Slek had a good game in the second and third but failed to break any records in the opener.

Now that the kids know that they can be beat, perhaps they will cut out waiting for their opponents and get down to business.

The Bonhaff-Wright Auto men and the Wright's store made better use of the docket for tonight, and it will be a hard job for the fans to figure which is the "Wright" team to pick for a winner.

This game should be one of the closest of the season, as both teams are evenly matched.

Mark Murtaugh says that he is getting up a five-man engineers' team, and all he needs to complete the team is four more bowlers.

The Bank and Trust pin pushers, fresh from their victory over the First National bowlers, have sent out a challenge to the Sugar Factory men, but the factory outfit didn't sweeten that with such a tilt, and now the Bank and Trust men would like to know if the Idaho Power boys will accommodate them with a three game series.

The Power Company boasts of some clever material and a game with the bankers would prove interesting, to say the least.

Ingraham, Pollard, Hill, Rowberry, Joslyn and Holmes composed the sextet who make "tight" of everything.

This array of talent should give the bankers a real tussle for supremacy.

Bert Colwell and Clint Evans engaged in a combat with the maples Monday afternoon, with each winning one game. Bert said that the ball-circled square, while Evans insisted that the alley were round, which had doubt was the reason for their scores being under 200.

Our daily bowling thought: If a lady bird fell down and broke her leg, would the moth hit!

HOW TO BOWL
Ball and Grip—Select a light weight or underize ball; 25 or 26 inches in circumference is large and heavy enough for your first trial.

See that the thumb and finger holes are the right size and be particular to see that the holes are the proper distance apart. You cannot control the ball if the hand is cramped. Do not use a ball with sharp edged holes.

Position—Stand erect on the approach about 22 feet back of the foul line. Face the pins. Let the weight of the ball rest on the left hand. Take the grip with your right hand.

Swing the ball once and see if the grip is all right. If your hand perspires, causing the ball to slip, use your handkerchief or a towel, not chalk or rosin.

Delivery—Do not run. Walk fast

Five Pugilistic Kings in Danger of Losing Crowns

NEW YORK, Feb. 12 (AP)—Five of the eight universally recognized boxing champions are likely to be dethroned this year, in the opinion of ring critics, while titleholders in the other three divisions probably also will face strenuous opposition in an effort to retain their laurels.

The general outlook is for one of the most interesting fistie programs in many years.

Pugilistic kings considered to be in imminent danger of losing their world crown are: Jimmy Wild of England, flyweight; Joe Lynch, of New York, bantamweight; Johnny Kilbane, of Cleveland, featherweight; Johnny Wilson, of Boston, middleweight, and Battling Siki, of France and Senegal, light heavyweight.

The other titleholders—Benny Leonard of New York, lightweight; Mick Walker, of Elizabeth, N. J., welterweight; and Jack Dempsey, heavyweight—are favored to stay at the top, but while the opposition in their respective ranks is not considered more than threatening, there is always the chance that any of them will receive a fatal pat on the chin.

Interest centers on Dempsey; Chief interest promises to center upon Dempsey, who plans an active career campaign after a hiatus of nearly two years since his memorable fight with Georges Carpentier. Several of his challengers may make it more than interesting for the champion, but the present prospect is that he will successfully retain his laurels.

Wild, who has been inactive for some time, has been challenged for a title match by Rancho Villa, a scrappy Filipino who took the American flyweight title away from Johnny Buff last year. Villa not only has taken the measure of the best American flyweight, but he has frequently gone out of his class with decisive success.

The Filipino is ambitious to duplicate his feat in being both the flyweight and bantamweight belts and has a following which would be ready to back him strongly in a title bout with Joe Lynch.

The latter faces two other formidable challengers in Carl Fremeaux, hard-bitting Cleveland four steps. Start with right foot and deliver the ball with the left foot in front. Do not bend your arm or back. Keep your feet far apart, bend your knees and deliver the ball when right hand is about ready to strike the alley ball. The ball should strike the alley within two feet in front of your left or front foot.

Direction and Speed—Form an imaginary line to the right side of head pin and bowl on that line. Use just enough speed to make the ball go straight to the head pin. Pay no attention to your score. Better have all but the No. 1 pin off the alley until you have mastered your delivery.

Curve Ball—Let the other fellow use the curve. He will find it very expensive. The curved ball is hard to control. The most expert players acknowledge that it will not work on some alleys. The surface of the ball must be JUST RIGHT; the polish perfectly dry and not too smooth. The bowler must use the right speed. Dirt or chalk on the ball will change the course of a curved ball.

The Hook Ball—When the ball goes speed it naturally turns to the right or left, according to which side the holes are on; some call it a "hook" ball. The most successful bowlers are those who can control such a ball and know just how much speed to use in order to get a slight hook with the first ball, and then with more speed roll perfectly straight for the spares.

er, and Irish Johnny Curtin of Jersey City, N. J.

Kilbane has agreed to stake his featherweight title against the Frenchman, Eugene Criqui, holder of the European championship, in a match at the Polo Grounds in Decoration Day. Criqui, young and aggressive, will have much in his favor against Kilbane, who has slowed up as a result of a long period of inactivity.

Wilson, another inactive champion, will have difficulty in retaining his title if he accepts the challenges of several formidable 160-pound boxers, including Tommy Leughrin, of Philadelphia, Harry Greb, of Pittsburgh, who also holds the American light heavyweight title, and Bryan Downey, of Cleveland. Wilson is not recognized as champion in number of states because of his tactics in avoiding championship matches.

Foresee Siki's Defeat.
Experts believe either Greb, Gene Tunney, or Gene Gibbons, the lightweight, light heavyweight, capable of lifting the world's title held by Battling Siki, who acquired it by knocking out Carpentier, the Senegalese, will be recovered in the country as the champion despite the ruling of French Authorities depriving him of the title because of improper conduct. Reports have been current that he will be reinstated in several months in the United States during the summer.

Benny Leonard faces several strong contenders in the lightweight ranks, including Lew Fowler, of Philadelphia, Solon Freeman, and Charley White, both of Chicago. But the fact that he has previously conquered all three inclines critics to the opinion that he will continue to remain supreme.

The suggestion has been made frequently that Leonard, however, may find difficulty in keeping inside the lightweight limit of 135 pounds and eventually be compelled to seek honors in the welterweight division. Although he failed last summer in an attempt to take this title from Jack Britton, losing to the veteran on a foul, he was equally unable to retain the title for Walker, who captured the championship from Britton. Dave Shade, of California, and Andy Thomas, of New York, are other top-ranking welterweights.

Berkeley Men Confident
University of California Basketball Team Believed One of Strongest in Several Years

BERKELEY, Calif., Feb. 12, (AP)—Of the six veteran letter men who answered the call this year for University of California's basketball team, four are playing their third and last season. The team, according to sport experts, is as strong as any basketball aggregation California has had for three years and hopes are expressed by the Bears that the team will gather in the Pacific Coast title without much effort.

The four men who retire from the California team after the current season are: Douthitt, forward; O'Neil, center; Captain Lehane, guard, and Thompson, guard. The other veterans are: Tomkins, forward, and Kincaid, guard. California has Haywood, last year's substitute center, and several youngsters who are putting up a good fight for a place on the team.

California men, as usual, figure that Stanford is weak this year on basketball, and they believe the worst California can get is a play-off with the University of Southern California for the coast title. This play-off idea follows the disastrous trip U. C. made to the south last week, where it split even with U. S. C.

Idaho, last year's champions, have been beaten by the University of Washington, and at present it looks as if Washington will carry off the basketball honors in the north. If the final result is a play-off between California and Washington, the fans may expect a bitter contest.

Washington kept California out of the title last year, and the deciding game was reported to be as near a "knock-down-and-drag-out" affair as the rules of the game permit without both teams being thrown off the floor.

The local high school lads went through a hard practice Monday evening, Coach Evans taking no chances with the boys being off color for the Flier-Twin Falls game which is scheduled for Friday evening at the high school gym.

Captain Stanley Crom looked good shooting basket like a veteran. The rest of the team were also on their toes, and will do everything in their power to even up the score with the Flier lads.

This is easier said than done, as Flier boasts of one of the snappiest teams on the bunch. For one thing they have considerable advantage on the locals for size, and so far this season have displayed better team work.

Their loss to the Burley quintet was the first they have had to swallow on their home floor this season.

Local fans, ever loyal to the blue and white, feel that Twin Falls will win the game Friday, but on paper the visitors will have a slight advantage, having won one game this season from the locals on the Flier floor by a comfortable margin, and will no doubt do their utmost to make it two straight.

The Flier game will be the last game before the playing of the semi-finals here on February 23, and 24, when Twin Falls, Flier, Bull, Hollister and Kimberly will compete.

Tonight the local quintet go to Kimberly for a return game with our neighbors on the east. The Kimberly game will start at 8 sharp.

FATHER ON HIS VACATION
If one is looking for the unconventional and the unusual in musical comedy special reference should be made to the new and triumphant offering underlined to hold the boards at Lavinger Theatre next Monday and Tuesday.

The new piece, which is in three acts, is based on the over-popular and ever-green cartoons of George McManus, "Bringing Up Father."

Here we are to have Jiggs Mahoney, father, solving the greatest and most important problem of his career. If you will recall, that is if you have been a faithful and consistent devotee of the other "Father" plays, Jiggs is at the beck and call and mercy of Maggie, his termanent wife. Maggie still keeps Jiggs as of yore and like the proverbial worm Jiggs has decided to turn. Therefore, whatever he does to upset all Maggie's plans and calculations must needs help to supply one of the most diverting and vital most original entertainments seen heretofore in seasons.

In addition to a large and well-selected company other features will be in evidence such as special musical numbers and a bevy of pretty women, unique costumes and other luscious ingredients. The new play bears the title of "Father On His Vacation."

"ORPHANS OF THE STORM"
The difference between bad entertainment with genius is a matter of scientific embellishments. The embellishment without genius would attract from entertainment. How they are scientifically combined is best illustrated in the world's best motion pictures. An example is "Orphans of the Storm," which will have its last appearance at the Orpheum theater today.

ATTACKS CLAIM FOR PUBLISHING OF CITY AUDIT

A. P. Senior, Twin Falls Tax Payer, Seeks Restraining Order to Prevent Issuance of Warrant to Organ

That the sum of $895.50 does not constitute a proper charge against the city of Twin Falls and that the best interests of the taxpayers of the city are threatened as a result of such charge, Alaa P. Senior Thursday, through his attorney, Harry J. Bonet, filed suit in district court asking that the mayor and council be enjoined from payment of the bill of the Observer in the above amount for publication of the recent city audit.

An order to show cause was signed by Judge Babcock and the date of hearing on the order is fixed as February 23 at 2 p. m.

Defendants in the action are the city of Twin Falls, its mayor and council, and the Observer Publishing Company, a corporation.

After establishing the status of the various defendants the complaint sets for the order for the audit and the acceptance and approval of the same by the mayor and commissioners. The motion at the meeting of the council of February 1, authorizing the publication, and the publication of the audit immediately following the motion, are set up, together with the allegation that the bill for the service, to which was attached the o. c. of Mayor Tucker, is an unreasonable and exorbitant charge, after which the complaint recites:

That this plaintiff is informed and believes and therefore alleges that the said mayor and councilmen of the said city of Twin Falls, at their next regular meeting, Tuesday night, February 13th, 1923, intend to and will allow and approve the said bill and the charges thereof by the said Observer Publishing Company in the said sum of $895.50 and order a warrant drawn upon the city treasurer for payment of same.

Act Without Authority.
That this plaintiff is informed and believes and therefore alleges that the said motion passed by the said mayor and councilmen of the said city of Twin Falls authorizing the publication of said five year audit in the said Observer and the delivering of a copy thereof to the said city of Twin Falls and its taxpayers, enter into contract with the Observer Publishing Company for the publication of the said five year audit in its newspaper, known as the Observer and thereby incurred an unlawful and illegal indebtedness which would be a wasteful expenditure of public funds, in violation of the constitution and contrary to the laws of the state of Idaho governing municipal corporations; and that the said publication of said five year audit was and is entirely unauthorized by any law or any provision of the compiled statutes of Idaho, and without the authority, sanction or authority, whatever, and the publication thereof by the Observer Publishing Company in its newspaper, known as the Observer, was voluntary and without right of authority whatever; that the claim of the said defendant, the Observer Publishing Company, based and founded thereon is illegal and constitutes no legal and valid claim or demand against the said city of Twin Falls; and unless the said mayor and councilmen of the said city of Twin Falls are enjoined and restrained from allowing and paying said claim of the said Observer Publishing Company the same will be paid, and if paid will be a wrongful and unlawful expenditure and waste of public funds; and will wrongfully and unlawfully increase the burden of taxation on this plaintiff and on and of other taxpayers in the city of Twin Falls; and that this plaintiff has no other plain, speedy or adequate remedy at law.

Declares Contract Illegal.
Wherefore plaintiff prays:
1. That the contract entered into by and between the city of Twin Falls, through its mayor and councilmen, and the Observer Publishing Company, for the publication of the said five year audit in its newspaper, the Observer, be adjudged, decreed and declared null and void; and that the said claim and bill of the said Observer Publishing Company rendered and presented to the said city of Twin Falls be declared illegal and invalid.

2. That the said mayor and councilmen of the said city of Twin Falls, and each of them, their officers, attorneys, agents, servants and employes, and each of them, be forever enjoined and debarred from allowing and approving the said claim and bill of the said Observer Publishing Company and from ever paying the same, or any part thereof, by having a warrant drawn on the city of Twin Falls, or by check, or by cash, or in any way or manner whatsoever; and for such other and further relief as to the court may seem proper; together with plaintiff costs herein.

In Quest for Leadership
"It does not seem hard to understand why in times like these in which we live there should be such a renaissance of sentiment for Lincoln, of renewed interest in the great lessons of his life. For men have come to think of him as they have not thought of others among the merely human character of history. Lincoln has appealed to them as one who manifestly was brought forth with the destiny or consecrated by an infinite hand to render a particular service, to save a nation, to emancipate a people, to preserve in the world the fruits of the American experiment in and for democracy. Surely it is not strange that the eyes and the interest of a world should turn to him now when all mankind feel the need for such leadership and service and direction as he gave. A world, a civilization, an epoch—all these are facing the bitter need for the moral purpose, the noble aspirations, the high courage, that he interpreted to our America in the days of its crisis. More, humanity itself needs to drink of the cup of unflinching confidence which enabled him to stand erect and unshaken amid discouragements and criticism which would have crushed any less than a master heart and soul.

"The world today sees civilization brought to its supreme test. Its trial came when it might least have been expected. At the very apex of material advances, when science and industry and invention and culture seemed to have united in justifying man's proud estimation of his destiny, there came among the nations such a clash of ambitions, such a confusion of ideals, such a crash of conflicting aims and aspirations, as it had never known before. It brought bewildering confusion, and overwhelming amazement to those who had been esteemed the wisest among their kind, and who in the folly of their wisdom had been most certain that such a thing could never happen. And in the very face of havoc wrought, of the utter futility of it all, we still wonder that it could have been.

"But the sobering and distressing realization has come at last, that in its eagerness to harness and dominate the material forces of the world, humanity had lost its anchorage to the ultimate things of the higher, the nobler, the spiritual universe. Turning now, in the midst of wreckage, to seek for whatever can be trusted as safe and strong and lasting, it is not to be wondered that people turn anew the pages of Lincoln's story. In very truth, his soul is marching on. To him it has been given to leave a living heritage of vital power and supreme inspiration to the race. Out of Lincoln came the proof that lofty achievement is not in ideals alone, but in that spiritual and material justice which is the wholesome blending of infinite purpose and man's capacity for fulfillment.

ENGLISH WOMEN DECIDE ON GIRLS' ATHLETIC COSTUME
LONDON, Feb. 12 (AP)—The Women's Amateur Athletic Association has decreed that women, competing in field or track events under its auspices, must wear "tunic-skirts" (a loose garment reaching to the knee) with sleeves to the elbows, and dark colored knickers, reaching to within four inches of the ground when the wearer is kneeling.

"This costume, say the association, will allow all the freedom necessary and at the same time satisfy the requirements of decorum.

CHANGE WOULD MERELY ADD TO COUNTY COSTS

Former Senator Sweeley, in Open Letter to Senator Pike, Discusses Effect of Proposed Raise in Classification

That the only effect a change in the classification of Twin Falls county would have would be to increase the salaries of the county commissioners and that such change would go into effect upon the passage of the bill are points made in an open letter addressed by Attorney M. J. Sweeley to Senator W. F. Pike.

The letter follows:
February 11, 1923.
Hon W. F. Pike, State Senator, Boise, Idaho.
My Dear Senator Pike:
I note by the morning paper that you want to know if there is any decided opposition to your bill for changing the classification of Twin Falls county, as my opposition is for that kind. I write you this letter.
As a taxpayer I protest, for the only effect the proposed bill would have would be to increase the salary of the county commissioners, and this would apply to those now in office. I have no question as to your good faith in the matter, but you are acting under legal advice. In your letter, which appears in this morning's News, you say the change would not affect the present commissioners. That is a mistake. That question was raised when the county was put into the first class in 1917, and our court held that the salary followed the law, and that the commissioners then in office were entitled to the benefits of it. The members of our board whose terms expired the first of this year were elected to their second term in 1920 while the law provided for a salary of $1300, and they served a part of that term at that rate, but as soon as the law took effect which put the county in the second class, whereby the salary was fixed at $800, the commissioners drew only the amount last named.

There is not, to my knowledge, any constitutional provision that salaries must during a term of office of county commissioners cannot apply to that term, as stated by you in your communication, and I think you will agree with me if you again read the sections of the constitution relating to the matter.
From what I am told, I am satisfied that men who signed the petition which was circulated here did so in the belief that if the county were put into another class the commissioners would have greater power in the way of earlier action in the payment of salaries and expenses, but that belief is erroneous and I feel that I know the mind of our people in regard to public expenditures sufficiently to be justified in saying that the passage of your measure would be a serious mistake.

(With personal regards, I am,
Yours very truly,
(Signed) M. J. SWEELEY.

Aged Man Captures Full Grown Eagle With Bare Hands

Austrian Peasant Wins Local Fame by the Victory Over Giant Bird

REICHENHALL, Bavaria, Feb. 12 (AP)—Capturing a full grown golden eagle alive in his arms has brought local fame to a 71-year-old peasant living in the Arberg mountains on the Austrian side of the Bavarian frontier.
The old man was approaching his hay stack when he spied the eagle devouring a roebuck which it apparently had just killed by severing the animal's neck vein. When it noticed him coming, the eagle tried to fly away, but snow on the ground impeded its rise. The peasant rushed forward and, gathering the huge bird's wings and claws in his arms, succeeded in carrying it away captive despite the vicious attempts to get free.

LONDON SEEKS BETTER TRAFFIC REGULATIONS

Increasing Number of Accidents on Thoroughfares Prompts Search for Means of Meeting Situation

LONDON, Feb. 12 (AP)—During the year 1922 the London ambulances received and answered 23,900 calls to street accidents, as compared with 20,879 the previous year.
This large increase in casualties has caused the council to study the causes of such accidents with the idea of formulating better traffic regulations.

KING COAL

The reason for such marked and increasing preference for "KING COAL" can be attributed only to the continued satisfaction it gives. It makes "KING COAL" the choice, especially of those who carefully check operating cost and results in the heating plants.

It makes plain why more of this famous coal is used in domestic heating plants in the territory in which it is sold than any other coal.

In short, the men who know coal values best in actual use, endorse "KING COAL," a valid reason why you should give this splendid fuel a fair trial.

DAWSON'S DEATH LIST

is amazing in the opinion of mining men.

Recovery crews tonight were tapping the tenth artery to the south of the main entrance.
"It will require several months to clean out the falls of rock, retimber the ground and get the mine ready again for production, according to mine officials, in a statement tonight, General Manager Beckert declared: "Every provision possible is being made for those left destitute. The company has everything in hand and a corps of competent workers have been assigned to that task."
"The loss of human life is the one thing in the explosion that is of the greatest import to us. It has been regrettable beyond all words and we deeply deplore it.

Would Prevent Recurrence

"We are determined, if humanly possible, to discover the cause of the explosion that we may guard against the recurrence of such a disaster in the future in our operations."

"Every safeguard that human knowledge and expert advice could throw about men in the mines had been adopted here, up to the point where the human equation entered in, to the problem. Beyond that point, of course, administrative intelligence cannot extend. We have withheld nothing in this emergency. All of the facts within our knowledge have been revealed. The mine had been thrown open to unbiased and impartial experts from other fields and the state and federal inspectors. If the exact cause of the explosion can be determined, we are more anxious than anyone else that it be revealed."

Payment of compensation and death claims by the Phelps-Dodge corporation to widows and families of miners killed in the explosion started today.

Burials in Rapid Succession

Bodies still were being sent out of Dawson to various other towns and cities today. Meanwhile burial services were being held here in rapid succession, the seven Italian and Greek priests passing from the task of holding the last rites for one victim to the home of another or to their churches for joint burial services for several of the dead. Thirteen Greek miners were buried today at the same time, after services held by the Greek orthodox priest of Pueblo, Colo.

TEACHERS TAKE WAGE CUT

English Educators, Through National Organization, Accept Government's Plan for Salary Reduction

LONDON, Feb. 12 (AP)—The National Union of Teachers has decided to accept the government's plan for a five per cent cut in salaries. The vote was 73,000 to 28,000 in favor of reduction.
The plan, while it calls for a reduction in salaries at the present time, provides for salary increases with each year of service, something which has never been in operation in England before.

A CROOKED RECORD

The Couzens-Heflin dispute on the floor of the senate has its entertaining aspects, but there also is involved a matter of deeper concern, which underlies that and similar situations in both houses of congress.

The word "record" has many definitions, although not one of those definitions permits the use of the word to register something that did not happen; it is in fact the guarantee against falsification, for the definition, as applicable to the Congressional Record, is "an official contemporaneous writing by which the acts of some public body, or public officer, are recorded."

In congress, which is its own court in such matters, a mutual concession to weakness has permitted changing the record, but without the essential qualifying condition, "an sufficient evidence of actual mistake or omission."

CENTRAL AMERICAN PEACE

Signing of a general treaty of peace and amity and the adoption of amplifying and supplementing conventions by the representatives of Guatemala, Salvador, Honduras, Nicaragua and Costa Rica bring to a close the move for improvement of international relations in the western hemisphere.

Agreements reached by the Central American negotiators include not only declaration of the purpose to foster peace and amity, but practical devices for carrying out such purpose. This is the object of the conventions providing for establishment of an international tribunal for the determination of international disputes not affecting the sovereignty or independent existence of the nations concerned.

The spirit of co-operation that manifestly entered into the treaty and the conventions promises that the provisions agreed on will be carried out as they were made—constructively and liberally. The signatory nations have a community of political and economic interests that can best be served by amicable co-operation.

Almece Seized His Hands in Her. "I—I will do all I can." He gulped. "I want to help you, Almece." Almece seized his hands in hers. "Alexander," she cried breathlessly, "I am sorry I knocked you down!"

Almece retreated out of sight into the arbor. Georgina came slowly along the path, her countenance pale and downcast, like a reconstituted novice who fears the Lady Superior.

"I wish to speak with you," said Alexander with suppressed agitation. "I shall be seated in a few minutes, but a rustic seat close against the arbor."

"Of you!" said Mr. Almece with strong feeling. "Your loyalty—your unflinching attachment to that young midcap, stirs my admiration. It is difficult to think of you as having suffered. Purely to protect Almece. You faced my aunt."

"I do mean it!" exclaimed Mr. Almece warmly. "Miss Berners, from the first hour I saw you, I was convinced of your—your essential goodness! It betrays itself in all that you do. Anything that is unwholesome or questionable, glides away from you."

"I cannot countenance deceit. The whole thing is known to me—my position is impossible," he said. "I should be abetting a lie."

"Oh, I'm not complaining—I can see that you mean it," she murmured with delicious confusion. "I shall keep silence," he said. "It is impossible for me to betray a woman's secret without her consent—or to utter one word that may affect her reputation. But what will come of it—"

"You have done, now that you are on her side, which is not what I think of you. You are not a hypocrite? You do not mean, Miss Berners, that you feel any respect for me now?"

"I have never seen it. Diana seems to imply," added Lady Erythe a little sadly, "that only those who are advanced, and in tune with the infinite, see such things. If she thinks she is more spiritual than I, she is welcome to try. She will discover nothing whatever." Lady Erythe turned to her nephew. "Bertrand de Jussac is coming also."

and after some sour comments, stood by her while she did a good deal of the work over again. Then Almece was marshaled into the library, to dust that.

The library overlooked the path leading to the garage. It was some forty minutes before she caught a slight glimpse of the chauffeur approaching. She flung down her dustpan and ran to the window, giving a cautious whistle, as a poacher who calls his dog.

"What has happened? Have you seen Alexander?" "Sure. Just had a pow-wow with him in the garage."

"What do you have to say to me?" "I'd be flayed alive for it!" said Billy suddenly. "There isn't anything I wouldn't do—and I've done nothing, yet. You've got the grit of twenty."

"Oh, I look out!" exclaimed Almece, darting back. There was a heavy step on the gravel and Mr. Tarbeaux came round the corner. Billy walked briskly forward.

Complications. "Either you are working too hard, Alexander," said Lady Erythe, inspecting her nephew through her lorgnette, as they rose from the luncheon table. "The burglar has been here," she shrieked to her niece, "than I should have suspected. I do not like to see you wearing that pallid and constrained expression. Your sister will be quite concerned about you. She arrives, you remember, by the evening train."

"Coming here? As if I hadn't enough to bear without that! It's the worst news yet!"

"It's what everybody calls her in London—Cold Lamb. It fits her like a glove. A beautiful, fright beast!" "Almece! She knows you, doesn't she?"

"Of course. She lives in town. She's the only one of the Lambes I do know. And Diana hates me, and—well, I've never pretended to like her, either. She's perfectly pitiless; she'll give me away like a shot, and flatten me out. She'll be all over it!"

"Let us hope," said Georgina breathlessly, "that Monsieur de Jussac will be occupied. Lady Erythe kept her eyes on the bed and exploded with laughter."

Exploded With Laughter.

"That aunt of mine is incorrigible," she gasped. "I tell you it's perfect rot. You might as well try to melt an iceberg fresh from the Pole. This French vicereine won't stand the slightest chance."

"Do you know him, too?" "I've heard of him. They say he's rather a—a rip. I expect that means he's a good sort. But Diana—heaven preserve us! Well, she probably won't know me in this rig, but she'll know you at the wrong home. And then sizz! boom!—up we all go in the air! You and Billy, and me—and Alexander!"

"Almece," she said faintly, "the burglar, and all the rest of it, was up to me. I don't feel well. I—I have headache, and I can't come down to dinner. I shall go to bed."

"What a trump you are!" said Almece, kissing her with intense affection. "It's the very thing. I'm so sorry, Georgina. I'll be heavily dull for a day or two. You'll have to keep out of Diana's way as best you can."

"I'll take Jolly good care I do," murmured Almece fervently, as she put her nose straight. "Even Billy can't help this time!"

RESTORE OLD ART

Workmen Bring to Light Glories of Westminster Abbey.

Removal of Varnish From Ancient Shields Reveals Beauty of Work Done Seven Centuries Ago.

After having been hidden for generations a new wealth of beauty has been brought to light during the restoration work in Westminster abbey, says a London correspondent in the New York World.

These shields, which are believed to be the oldest specimens of architectural heraldry in the world, were placed there by Henry III, when the building was new.

The biggest "find" has been the gorgeous decoration on the tomb of Edmund Crouchback and two others on the north side of the high altar.

One of the renovators was found busy at work on the back of the scullia. Here the other day a magnificent painting was exhumed from the grime of centuries.

It is less than a year since the work began, and there are more artistic and quaint treasures waiting to be brought to light.

MAN SCHOOL OFFICIAL FOR A TWO YEAR TERM

M. C. Mitchell is Re-Elected as Superintendent at Meeting of Board; Book Dealer Makes Complaint

At the regular monthly meeting of the school board of independent school district No. 1, held last night, Superintendent M. C. Mitchell was re-elected to his position for a term of two years at a salary of $3800 for the first year and $4000 for the second year of the two-year term. Upon motion a contract was ordered drawn and entered into embodying the terms of the election. Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Robbins of the Robbins book store, appeared before the board in support of their claim to recognition in connection with the school business. Mr. Robbins mentioned a number of instances in which an apparently unfair advantage had been given the W. S. book store through instructions given by teachers to pupils as to where books should be purchased. Superintendent Mitchell offered a satisfactory explanation in the premises in which assurance was given that no discrimination was purposely indulged in and that every effort would be made to carry out the school policy of distributing purchases on an even basis in all lines. The list of mortgages owned by the district, together with interest charges was read by F. C. Lynch, accountant for the board, and instructions were given the clerk to notify all those whose interest payments were in arrears. D. Tucker appeared before the board in regard to his proposal to offer prizes for attainments of local high school students in declamatory work. Due to the fact that the spring calendar of school events is rather crowded, the board believed Mr. Tucker's offer could be put in effect to advantage next fall.

BOY SCOUT WEEK PLANNED

Council Appoints Committee to Arrange Finances for Activities to be Staged Latter Part of March Members of the Boy Scout council met Sunday afternoon appointed a committee to make an estimate of the budget necessary to stage a "Boy Scout Week" this spring and discussed the round-up week plans for activities this week. The Scout week will probably be staged during the last week in March, according to the opinion of council members, and it will be similar to the week of activities observed here last year. It is planned to make the week a complete success and, among other things, increase the membership. An effort will be made to obtain the appearance here of the district Scout director during the week in March.

W. Orr Chapman Pays Tribute to Civil War President; Dr. W. F. Passer Praises Boy Scout Organization Addresses by Attorney W. Orr Chapman and Dr. William F. Mr. Chapman, who is a former official of the county democratic organization, paid a tribute to Lincoln, and Dr. Passer spoke on the benefits of the Boy Scout organization. GIVES COLD RECEPTION (Continued from Page One) out of funds that legally should have been used for the maintenance of the schools, and which the district court later found to be illegally paid. The result, as you know, was threatened closing of the schools, and the subsequent additional levy of twenty mills on the taxable property. Again, it has been established that since the existence of the district, Mr. E. B. Clark has been occupying the two official positions above stated, and during that time the bank did not pay to the district the interest required by law. These facts are all matters of record in the outer cases against W. W. Parlane, E. B. Clark and George Rice, which were instituted by myself. Demand is made upon you that an action be brought within a reasonable time to compel the First National bank to restore the sum of $132,778.75 besides interest, also to pay a reasonable rate of interest on the funds which it retained on deposit without paying interest. Twenty days should be considered reasonable, within which you should act. Yours very truly, (Signed) E. F. WALTON, Dated February 5, 1923.
