NORTHWEST STATES IN STORM GRIP

Forecasters See Winter's Coldest Weather Just Beginning; Heavy Drifts Paralyze Train Service on Northern Lines

CHICAGO, Feb. 13 (AP)—A blinding snowstorm which today slowed traffic and spread a three cover several inches in depth over the city, marked the beginning of what the weather bureau predicted would be the coldest weather of the winter.

Shortly after dusk the snow abated and a frigid northwest wind sent the mercury down in a drop that was expected to continue until it touched 10 or 15 degrees below zero Thursday. The drop in temperature at Chicago was expected to be a forerunner of similar conditions throughout the middle west.

DRIFTS STOP TRAINS. ST. PAUL, Minn., Feb. 13 (AP)—Heavy snow drifting before a 40-mile gale from the northwest paralyzed train service in the northwestern states to night.

All westbound trains out of the twin cities on the Great Northern, Northern Pacific and Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroads early tonight were being held until the storm abated. Eastbound trains headed for the twin cities were being held at division points. Branch lines in many sections also were tied up.

Reports from Minnesota, North and South Dakota, and western Wisconsin told of the worst blizzard of the winter with temperatures well below zero tonight or promised for tomorrow. Washington, N. D., reported a storm approaching of cyclonic proportions. School classes were dismissed there today.

LOW RECORD AT LEWISTOWN. LEWISTOWN, Mont., Feb. 13 (AP)—Thirty-two below zero was registered here early yesterday morning, this being a low record for several years past. The maximum temperature for the day was 23 below zero. At 6 o'clock this evening it was 31 below, and at 10 o'clock the mercury had risen to 27 below, with a prospect of a further slight rise. Warm Spring creek was frozen over this morning for the first time in 20 years, according to the local record.

SHERIFF LOSES LIFE IN EFFORT TO STOP CONVICTS. ALAMOGORDO, N. M., Feb. 13 (AP)—W. L. Rutherford, sheriff of Otero county, was shot almost instantly killed tonight at 9 o'clock when he accosted two escaped convicts who drove into town in a stolen car. Police officers were hunting for the killers. The car in which the killers are riding was taken from a deputy sheriff who attempted to arrest them at Corona, earlier in the day.

ACCOUNTS FOR MOB'S VICTIMS. Dr. L. E. Burger, Klan Lecturer, at Idaho Falls, Says Alleged Victims are Living

IDAHO FALLS, Idaho, Feb. 13 (AP)—The two bodies found in Lake La Fouché, near Bastrop, La., were placed there by medical students from a New Orleans hospital, Dr. Burger, who was with Daniel and T. F. Richard, as claimed, according to Dr. Low Burger, of New York, who was spokesman at an open meeting of the local chapter of the Ku Klux Klan here tonight.

"Daniel and Richard are alive and well at New Orleans where they are under daily observation by Klan members," Dr. Burger said. He was introduced as "official spokesman of the Invisible Empire, Knights of the Ku Klux Klan." Burger declared Daniel and Richard would be produced before the Morehouse grand jury convenes to consider the findings of the recent hearing into Klan activities in Morehouse parish, Louisiana.

Who Profits and Who Pays?

AN EDITORIAL.

TWIN FALLS cannot thrive on a diet of lawsuits nor the community and its people prosper if its officials are to be harassed to death by a continual program of punitive litigation.

No single element in our population but is eager to punish graft, kick out dishonest office holders and reward competence in public places and unselfish service wherever it is found.

But no more vicious situation is possible in any community than that which can be brought about by a constant stirring up of public and personal animosities through an organized campaign of legal denunciation for which there is just enough legal basis to permit of court action and not one ounce of common sense or actual evidence of wrongdoing in the whole miserable program.

The action brought, ostensibly to recover the sum of one hundred thirty-two thousand dollars from the First National bank, cannot possibly be based upon any desire to right wrong or correct an existing evil. The only outstanding fact in support of such view is simply this: No such sum, or any other sum has been lost, by the School District, the school patrons or by anybody else.

From the standpoint of applied common sense, the latest legal attack of the Mills-Waiton combination here for its foundation and its one excuse for being a set of facts which does not exist. The latter interests apparently believe the situation contains legal ground for a lawsuit, counsel for the School Board believes that it does not—thus the stage is set and the unwilling patrons, forced to pay for admission to the show whether they want to or not, await the unfolding of the plot and the continuance of the story.

What's the good of it all anyway? Who profits and who pays? Who is the wrong sought to be redressed? Who are the grafters and what do they get? Never mind going back, let's look ahead. The community has had its lesson and has learned it and from this point on evil and discredit to Twin Falls and her people constitute ninety-nine per cent of the fruits from a lawsuit of such magnitude. Letters pour into Twin Falls characterizing pointed allusions to the character of our citizenship and sharp criticisms of the whole community as a place of residence. The community is held-up to view as a bunch of moral perverts. If this sort of thing is to go on indefinitely outside people will avoid this section of the state with a pestilential aversion, well and good, but if not, how long are we going to have to put up with it?—men are asking it of each other on the streets.

Where does the Twin Falls County get off, anyway? BANDIT SUSPECT IS HELD. Kansas Authorities Arrest Man on a Charge of Being Mysteriously Believed Part of Denver Mint Loot

BELLELEVILLE, Kan., Feb. 13 (AP)—A man who said his name is Chester A. Walter, 30 years old, is held here in the Republic county jail on a charge of passing in Oklahoma money which is said to have been part of the loot stolen from messengers of the Federal Reserve bank at the Denver mint in December. Walter was arrested today at the postoffice here when he asked for a letter addressed to C. A. Collyer, sought in Oklahoma in connection with the robbery.

LIMITS COUNTY TO QUARTERLY DISBURSEMENT

Attorney General Corroborates the County Attorney's Ruling in Respect to Classification Claims

A decision given by A. H. Conner, Idaho attorney general, following a communication with him by J. W. Taylor, prosecuting attorney, sustained the opinion given by Mr. Taylor in a letter addressed to the attorney general and to W. D. Gillis, state representative, a copy of which was placed in the hands of the county commissioners Tuesday after adopting by them a resolution favoring the adoption of pending legislation on changing the classification of counties.

Mr. Taylor's opinion was as follows: "I have advised the commissioners that county bills of all kinds must be allowed to run three months, and that it would not be lawful for the commissioners in any class county to pass on and allow these bills monthly. I believe that the case cited decides this matter definitely, and suggest that you look it up."

"It is my opinion that the bill must be paid quarterly, no matter what class the county is in, and accordingly there would be no advantage so far as paying bills is concerned in placing this county in class one. The only advantage would be in having the commissioner on the job all the time to give constant attention to the county's business. As suggested by the supreme court in the deciding a constitutional amendment, the county of the first class might be allowed to pay bills monthly, and this, of course, would clear the situation. The resolution passed by the commissioners provides that in the event of the adoption of the bill for reclassification or the adoption of any other law which will increase the tax rate in their charter, that the board 'will not appropriate, allow, pay, receive or present salaries of 2000 per annum.' It further provides that the board favors the adoption of any law providing for the reclassification of the county which will promote and facilitate the betterment and growth of the business of the county and that copies of the resolution be sent to members of the state legislature from Twin Falls county."

MIGRATORY BIRD BILL VOTED DOWN IN HOUSE

Republican and Democratic Leaders Join in Opposition of Measure Requiring Federal Licenses. WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 (AP)—Opposition to the migratory bird bill, which would have established hunting grounds and made federal licenses necessary for hunters, succeeded in killing the measure in the house today by a vote of 240 to 160.

Preceding the vote there was a bitter fight during which both Representatives Mendenhall of Wyoming, republican, and Clegg of Tennessee, democratic leader, opposed the measure. Opponents criticized the bill as an invasion of state rights and as having been drawn in the interest of wealthy sportsmen. The bill was similar to one recently passed by the senate.

DISMISSES BRIBERY CHARGE AGAINST FORMER GOVERNOR. ADA, Okla., Feb. 13 (AP)—Charges that former Governor J. B. A. Robertson of Oklahoma, accepted part of a $2000 bribe to permit a fishing state bank at Okmulgee to operate were dismissed in district court here early tonight when Special Judge Hal Johnson sustained a general demurrer to the indictment.

The Day in Washington (By The Associated Press) House foreign affairs committee on the Foreign resolution requesting the president to negotiate with other nations for curtailment of narcotic drug production. Secretary of the Interior in a letter expressed his accord with the object in view. Opposed by both republican and democratic floor leaders, the migratory bird bill which proposed a $2000 bribe to permit a fishing grounds and game refuges and federal licensing of hunters, was killed by the house, 240 to 160. President Harding was said to have approved a governmental reorganization plan including among other changes the consolidation of the war and navy departments. The plan is to be sent to the joint congressional committee having the matter in charge for a basis of study. After brief debate the senate approved a bill by Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, proposing a federal constitutional amendment which would allow the session of an old congress after election of a new one and would change the date of inauguration of president to the third Monday in January.

Counterfeiting in Oregon County Jail is Brought to Light

Secret Service Agents Investigating Activities of Note Raisers

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 8 (AP)—Activities of counterfeiters who have been "raising" notes in the corridors of the Multnomah county jail and passing the spurious currency from the jail, are under investigation by government authorities, according to revelations made today by secret service operatives. Two $1 bills, raised to the $5 denomination, both of which were found in a prison cell, are in the hands of the authorities. This attempt to make the county jail a counterfeit den came to the official attention of William Novins, a grocer, received one of the bills. Novins is allowed to visit the jail to sell fruit and delicacies to prisoners confined there.

PRIMARY FIGHT GROWS HEATED

Progressive Line Up With the Anti-Primary Republicans Against Democratic Bill

BOISE, Idaho, Feb. 13 (AP)—With progressives lined up with anti-primary republicans the senate democratic primary bill was enunciated in the committee of the whole in the senate at the afternoon session today and the progressive house bill which had already passed that body substituted for it. Disposal of the primary fight is just in the offing, according to all indications following the amendment of the democratic bill and the probable indefinite postponement of the amended hybrid measure.

With both democratic and progressive bills out of the way by this route the way would then be open for a final vote on the measure in its regular place, with proponents and opponents, each claiming victory by a margin of two or three votes. Reconsideration of the senate measure which cut the tax penalty and interest on delinquent taxes, which passed the house in the morning, was the first order of business of the lower body, which also passed two senate bills providing for salmon fishing regulations and a bill creating a portion of the Lewis-Clark highway a new zone.

BANK GUARANTEES APPEARS

Guarantee of state banks in Idaho would be provided for in a senate bill introduced today by all democratic members of the upper house. The bill would provide for a board of four members, with the commissioner of finance as ex-officio chairman. Eligibility for the board is given to the first ten banks, foreign or trust companies and national bank officers are barred. Appointments would be made by the governor for a term of one year, renewable annually. Assessments against banks and trust companies would be payable the first day of February amounting to one cent on the first $1000 of deposits, daily deposits covered by the fund. A limit placed at one half of one per cent for any annual assessment. When a bank organizes as national banks they may withdraw, but national banks may voluntarily avail themselves of the protection of the guarantee. Failure to qualify under the law it would be required to liquidate its business or place it in the hands of the department of finance for liquidation.

HUGHES APPROVES MOVE TO CURB DRUG IMPORTS

Secretary of State Gives Endorsement to Congressional Proposal for Combating Narcotics Traffic

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 (AP)—Secretary Hughes wrote today to Chairman Frank of the house foreign affairs committee, that he was in entire accord with the object Mr. Porter had in view in introducing a resolution looking to restriction of the commercial cultivation of the opium poppy and export of plant to quantities required for strictly medicinal and scientific purposes. Hearings on the resolution were opened today by the committee and the committee and Chairman Porter plans to have it reported out within a few days with a hope of obtaining favorable action on the house side and the senate at this session. Specifically, the resolution would request President Harding to begin negotiations with the producing nations for a general agreement to reduce the output of raw materials from which narcotics are made as the most effective means of breaking up illicit traffic in these drugs.

FLAMES GUT OGDEN DEPOT

Damage Estimated at $150,000 Caused by Fire at Joint Union Pacific-Southern Pacific Depot. OGDEN, Utah, Feb. 13 (AP)—Damage amounting to approximately $150,000 was caused by fire which tonight gutted the joint Union Pacific-Southern Pacific passenger depot here. The cause of the blaze had not been determined at midnight.

France Says Problems of Occupation of Ruhr Yield to Commission's Tactics

Embassy at Washington Announces 12,000 French and Belgian Railway Men in Occupied Area Put Invaders in Position Where Germans Must "Work or Get Out"

SOUP KITCHENS FUNCTION DESPITE GERMAN AUTHORITIES' OPPOSITION

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 (AP)—Announcement was made through the French embassy tonight that on February 12, twelve thousand French and Belgian railway men were at the disposal of the occupying commission in the Ruhr and that France accordingly was in a position to obstruct all coal from that district as before the occupation with prospects of increasing the amount. France, it was added, was in a position to say to the German railway, "work or get out." The French troops in the Ruhr were declared to number 46,942 officers and men and the military situation was described as "excellent." It being added that the "few incidents" which had occurred were of no importance and that "no reinforcements of these troops is contemplated now. Increases in the force of railway men, however, were said to be contemplated, but it was estimated that those now in the area of occupation would be able to operate 90 per cent of the trains, sufficient to supply eventually more than the amount of coal transported out of the area prior to the occupation. It was emphasized that transportation of coal to France was in daily progress.

Supplies for troops and for the population, it was announced, were assured, all those for the troops, it was explained, being imported from France. Soup also was being distributed to poor people, it was added, notwithstanding the opposition of the local German authorities.

BRITISH TROOPS STAY ON RHINE

Bonar Law Tells Parliament Withdrawal Would Spell Dis-solution of Entente

LONDON, Feb. 13 (AP)—Parliament re-assembled today, with questions of gravest import facing it for future consideration. Premier Bonar Law touched on two of these, the Near East and the Ruhr, the first involving relations with Turkey and the second having a close bearing on the existing relations between France and Great Britain. There had been much discussion as to whether the British troops would be withdrawn from the Rhineland. The premier said today he hoped it would be possible to retain the troops there but to a large extent that would depend on France and Germany, either of whom could make their retention in German territory impossible. Withdrawal of the British troops from the Rhine, Mr. Bonar Law declared, would be a great misfortune for that would mean the end of the entente.

ROBBERS LEAVE CAR IN MORGRE CREEKS

Difficulties Surround Search for Bandits who Shot Messenger and Took Mail. LOS ANGELES, Feb. 13 (AP)—With but meager descriptions of the three bandits who early today shot down a messenger of the First National bank of this city, held up two guards and escaped with about 100 pieces of registered mail, police and postoffice inspectors were working under difficulties tonight in their attempts to apprehend the men. The exact amount taken by the bandits will not be known for several days, according to bank officials, owing to the necessary delay in tracing the various shipments. No heavy shipments of currency or bonds were expected by the bank, it was said, and officials are of the opinion that the loss was small. The bank has offered a reward of $5000 for the arrest and conviction of the bandits.

BOBINS WINTER ON SOUND

TACOMA, Wash., Feb. 13 (AP)—The appearance of a robin in the winter season is in no sense a harbinger of spring on the Puget Sound, according to Dr. J. H. Henshaw, secretary of the Tacoma Ornithological society. Mr. Kinchey said that one led of robin spends its winters on Puget Sound, coming from Alaska for that purpose, and returning to the northland in the spring. Another kind of robin spends its summers here and winters in California, he says.

BLASTS STUMP; FINDS GOLD

SHELTON, Wash., Feb. 13 (AP)—A small gold nugget, thrown out from the ground when a stump was blasted, is being shown here by Arthur Kent and Frank Livingston, prospectors, as a find of considerable promise, and the ground is believed to be the former bed of the river. Gold, it is said, has often been found in small quantities in the Olympic mountains, north of the prairie.

DISEASE COSTS GATEWAY OF IDAHO $150,000 IN YEAR

BOISE, Idaho, Feb. 18 (AP)—During 1922 Idaho cattle owners suffered a loss of approximately $1,500,000 because of disease among the herds, according to an estimate made here by Dr. J. D. Adams of the state department of agriculture. Isolation of afflicted cattle is one of the remedial measures suggested by Dr. Adams.

DEBT FUNDING BILL IS GIVEN RIGHT OF WAY

Senate Sidetracks Shipping Measure in Surprise Development, and Turns Attention to British Settlement

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 (AP)—The British debt funding bill was given a clear field today in the senate and the administration shipping bill was formally sidetracked temporarily and possibly permanently. The shipping bill was voted aside as the result of a parliamentary situation, which developed suddenly and demoralized opposition to the measure. Administration leaders hope to obtain a vote on the debt funding measure tomorrow or Thursday and again have the senate proceed with the shipping bill, but opposition to both bills has left the future uncertain. Even though passage of the British debt measure by a large majority is generally conceded, but the shipping bill's fate is more in doubt. Opponents tonight predicted its defeat. Some administration leaders admitted privately the bill appeared doomed.

Debt Bill in Spotlight.
The British debt measure occupied most of the day's session with extended addresses in its behalf by Chairman McCumber of the finance committee, and Senator Smoot of Utah, rank and file republican, in a member of the allied debt commission which negotiated and recommended the British funding agreement. Both declared it was the best means to obtain and Senator Smoot said that none as favorable could be expected from any other debtor nation.

The British agreement was subjected to a continual fire of inquiry and criticism from the democratic side, the minority stressing that congress should be given power to take all future debt arrangements. Senator Robinson, democrat, Arkansas, introduced an amendment to this effect, while Senator Jones, New Mexico, offered a substitute bill providing for acceptance of the British funding agreement but without other amendment of the law.

Senator Harris, democrat, Georgia, urged his amendment to place three democrats on the allied debt commission, but Senator Robinson said he was not much concerned as, he explained, the principal negotiator already had been concluded. Senator Smoot said he had no objection to the addition of democrats to the commission, and added that he also would not object to inclusion of the bill to approve of the British funding agreement and dropping of legislation applying to debts of other nations.

Comes as Surprise.
Supplanting of the shipping bill came as a surprise, both to the republican and democratic sides. The motion to lay it aside was made by Senator Jones, republican, Washington, its manager, after Senator King, republican, Missouri, had wrecked the bill already had by republican leaders in conference with President Harding today and yesterday at the White House, which the shipping measure temporarily laid aside for the British funding bill. Senator King refused unanimous consent to the arrangement and Senator Jones' unexpected move to give the British funding bill right of way.

Wipes Out Privileged Status.
This destroyed the privileged status held by the shipping bill since December 11, last, when debate was begun. It was conceded to be the most severe setback of the many already suffered by the bill, which for months has been laid aside temporarily by unanimous consent for consideration of all unusual appropriations and other bills. It can only be brought before the senate again by the adoption of a new motion which opponents said they believed they could defeat.

DESTROYER NOT BUILT WITH FILIPINO MONEY

Governor General Leonard Wood Corrects Erroneous Impression Relative to Warcraft Construction

MANILA, P. I., Feb. 13 (AP)—The impression that had circulated was that the destroyed Jose Rizal of the United States navy, now with the Pacific fleet, was built with money appropriated by the Philippine government and was corrected officially today by Governor General Wood. The statement issued by the governor general shows that the Rizal was constructed entirely by the United States government.

The statement was brought out by a resolution introduced in the house asking the governor general, the presiding officers of both houses of the Philippine legislature and the insular auditor to appear before the legislature and give information regarding the construction of the law passed in 1917 providing for the floating of $2,000,000 in bonds for the construction of a destroyer and a submarine for donation to the United States government during the war.

The governor general's statement says: "There is no record in the insular treasury that such bonds were ever issued nor is there any record in the office of the insular auditor of any payment made by the Philippine government on this account. One of the destroyers under construction by the navy department at the time of the war was named Jose Rizal in honor of that distinguished patriot. It was built in connection with a Filipino crew, but wholly at the expense of the United States, both for construction and operation. No submarine was constructed at the cost of the Philippine government."

GERMANY'S AIRPLANES ATTAIN HIGH MILEAGE

Interesting Statistics Are Compiled in Relation to Subsidy and Service Rendered by Air Fleet

BERLIN, Feb. 13 (AP)—For every $1000 or its equivalent, received in state subsidy during 1922, German airships covered nearly 35,000 kilometers as compared with approximately 11,100 in 1921, according to statistics announced here. The same ratio gives 225 passengers carried as against 45, and 1066.07 kilograms of freight compared with 212.85 the previous year.

The total figures on the subsidy and traffic for the year are not announced. It is claimed, however, that when these totals are compared with French traffic and the support given airplanes by the French government, Germany's airships netted far greater returns. In proportion to the financial aid provided by the respective governments, the German flyers are said to have covered ten times more distance and carried 17 times more freight than did the French.

While aerial navigation in Germany is reported to have received twice the amount of federal aid in 1922, that the sum is declared to be ridiculously small when compared with this form of aid in England and France. The English subsidy is said to be more than five times as great, and the French more than elevenfold.

Figures for 1922 show that English aviators traversed 517,957 kilometers, French 2,950,705, and German 1,954,001. The passengers carried in English airships numbered 31,851, in French 10,336, and in German 12,297.

The computations are issued from German naval circles for the purpose of showing that the navy industry has made the most of its federal aid, and has been highly successful in overcoming the handicap fixed by the entente in limiting the power of German machines.

STUDEBAKER AGAIN WINS LAURELS AS FIRST AUTO INTO YOSEMITE VALLEY

Second Car to Enter District in 1923 Is of Same Make—Run Over Sierras Sets New Record

For the third year in succession the honor of being first to enter the Yosemite valley has been won by Studebaker.

One hour after the bells and whistles of the cities ushered in the New Year the honors were conferred on a Studebaker big six at the office of the chief ranger in Yosemite village. Details of the thrilling dash from the Pacific coast over the snow covered Sierras have just been received here, and report the fact that the second car of the year to reach the valley also was a Studebaker, which followed close upon the winner. Both cars smashed all previous speed records, making the run in two days, whereas the time required in the past ranged from three days to several weeks.

It was 1 a. m. on January 1, when H. M. Gregory and W. L. Stockinger of San Francisco, appearing at the office of Chief Ranger Robert S. Townsley in Yosemite village. In behalf of the Studebaker big six outside, they sought the initial permit of the year awarded to the car that first enters the valley under its own power over any of the roads from the coast. Hardly had the coveted document been handed over when William H. Silva of Modesto, Cal., and his party drove up in another Studebaker, a special six touring car, and also requested a permit. He was given the second one this year.

Two Cars Used.
The San Francisco party left on the evening of December 30 in their Studebaker big six and were joined a few days later at Modesto by the special six crew. After a short stop at Modesto the two cars raced for the Continental road.

While it was necessary to back several miles of snow at Merced Grove, the deep snow which afforded most serious obstacle to the progress of the cars was not encountered until within 21 miles of the Yosemite valley. Here the snow averaged three and one-half feet in depth. At this point was reached at 3 o'clock Sunday morning, and after three hours rest the cars started on the last and most difficult leg of the journey.

No sleds or tackle of any description were used and the cars battled their way through the snow under their own power. The method followed was to open the throttle to its limit and back into the snow until progress was stopped. Then it was a case of backing away and charging into the snow like a battering ram. This performance was repeated time after time, hour after hour until the valley was reached, the cars being forced to show tremendous power and stamina in battling their way through the drifts.

Auto Men Wallop Wright's Bowlers

Mechanics Take All Three Games From Storekeepers with Comfortable Margins

The Rendahl-Wright auto men took off their greased overalls last night at the Twin Falls bowling alley and gave the Wright's store men a real whipping, taking all three games by comfortable margins.

Grafton Self complained of a sore hip, and McNeill bowled the second and third games in fine shape. Emery Bonoit was another bowler who took runoff powders and gave way to Art Hanak.

The first game ended with the Auto men winning by a score of 750 to 720.

Art Finko had high game with 168. The second game was the worst exhibition put out by the Wright's team since the season started, 707 being the total, while the fellows who listen to Ben Rendahl kicked over 705.

Leo McCracken shook the lumber for 123 in this game, getting high. The last game was a repetition of the other two, the Wright's store men failing to stop the rush of the Auto men who bowled 849, while the Bonois club couldn't beat 815.

Perry Thompson made an even 200 in this game.

The sad, and story:

Rendahl-Wright	1	2	3	Totals
Self	124	124		248
McNeill	147	171	318
Asbury	163	161	324	687

Hanak	166	133	167	466
Totals	720	707	815	2242

A large crowd of women watched Wright's team when it wasn't right.

Self received a touch of the paper lady (the Latin for old age) in the first game, and retired to the side lines.

He said that it was his hip. No doubt after his rolling 124 everybody was "hip."

NEW BASEBALL LEAGUE LOOMS

Presidency of Proposed Eight-Club Circuit Is Reported Offered to Yankee's Secretary

NEW YORK, Feb. 13 (AP)—Edward Barrow, secretary of the New York Yankees, tonight announced he had been offered the presidency of a proposed eight club baseball circuit, the Continental league, to be formed among eastern cities of the United States and Canada, and reported to have the backing of the major leagues.

Organization of the new league is well under way, it was learned on reliable authority tonight.

The clubs will be established, it was said, in Toronto and Montreal, Canada; Buffalo, Newark, Baltimore, Brooklyn, Washington and Providence.

The sixteen major league clubs, according to the plan, will pool ten players each, giving each team in the new circuit a nucleus of 20 players for the 1923 season.

JOHNSON EXPRESSES SURPRISE

CHICAGO, Feb. 13 (AP)—President Ben Johnson of the American league, expressed surprise tonight when informed of the organization of the new eight club league, which, according to reports, would be backed by the major leagues.

"This is the first I've heard of it," he said.

The American league, he added, would not subscribe to any plan to pool its surplus players and distribute them among the clubs of the new organization.

LANDIS IS IN DARK

CHICAGO, Feb. 13 (AP)—K. M. Landis, commissioner of baseball, said tonight he had never heard of plans for establishment of a new eight club league sponsored by the major leagues or by the Associated Press of reports from New York that such a league was being formed.

"Sounds like somebody had a drink, ate a piece of mine pie, imbibed a little beer, had a nightmare and then wrote a story," Commissioner Landis said.

Sources close to the head of baseball, however, called attention to the baseball territorial rights clause which many thought would prohibit establishment of new clubs in several of the cities that New York reports said were considered, as clubs are already there.

GRIFITH ADMITS KNOWLEDGE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 (AP)—Clark Griffith, president of the Washington baseball club, admitted tonight that he had been "approached" with reference to the organization of a new eight club baseball league in eastern cities, including Washington, but declined to go into details. He said the matter had been discussed in major league circles.

Griffith declared that he personally would entertain such a proposition if the new league was run along major league lines and he was not required to forfeit any territorial rights in Washington.

Villa Puts Mason Out in Fifth Round

Filipino Fighter Successfully Defends Title as American Flyweight Boxing Champion

BOSTON, Feb. 13 (AP)—Pancho Villa, Filipino fighter, tonight defeated his title as American flyweight boxing champion against Frankie Mason of Fort Wayne, Ind., former holder. Villa knocked Mason out in the fifth round.

After feeling each other out, the fighters set out to score. Villa, with left jab and right swings found a mark on Mason's head several times. The Hoosier scratched Villa's forehead with a right and sent in several stiff jabs to the body. The round was Villa's by a slight margin.

Round Two—Villa again had what advantage there was in this round. A swinging left to the body sent Mason back a step, and the lesser blows were about even. Fighting was fast.

Round Three—The little Filipino trusted his man from the start and peppered him from both sides for a moment or two. Mason, shooting in a left jab, slowed it up a bit, but Villa was on him again and cut the Hoosier's mouth with a right uppercut. Consecutive rights to the head had Mason uneasy at the close.

Round Four—After Mason tried to force things Villa cut in and let loose a short shower of blows. Mason, however, got in three heavy rights and forced the change in the ropes.

Fighting back Villa regained control and sent Mason slipping to his knees.

Round Five—The men had exchanged a blow or two when Villa saw Mason spinning with a right from the shoulder. Mason was dropping when Pancho punched him with a left. He went down for nine seconds, came up and under a series of blows which forced him against the ropes, went down again, this time for good.

The present building program provides for the immediate erection of 30,229 more such houses, with an additional 50,000 in the future.

A good many fouls were called during the evening, Cole of Twin Falls and Robinson of Kimberly being put out of the game with four each.

The first half showed 10 fouls for Twin Falls and 11 for Kimberly. In the second half both teams were more careful, 2 being called on Twin Falls, and none on Kimberly.

CHINA'S REVENUE FROM CUSTOMS AT NEW HIGH

Income from Maritime Trade Levies Touches Record Mark Despite Political Chaos in Nation

PEKING, Feb. 13 (AP)—In spite of the political chaos which prevails in China, her maritime customs revenue touched a new high mark for 1922. The annual report of the inspector general of customs shows that the income from this source was $9,600,000 taichuan taels (10,987,500 pounds sterling at the prevailing rate) being an increase over the previous record collection, that for 1921, of 4,000,000 taels. Owing to the drop in exchange rates the gold equivalent of the 1922 collection is only 216,236 pounds sterling above that for 1921. All foreign loans and indemnity obligations secured by the customs collection, as well as those of a domestic character for which the inspector general is responsible, are announced to have been fully satisfied.

The revenue from native customs under the inspector general's control showed a decrease of 200,000 pounds sterling.

REDUCED CROP FIGURES SEND SUGAR SKYWARD

Buying Movement Sends Futures Up 100 Points; Estimate is Cut From 4,193,000 to 3,800,000 Tons

NEW YORK, Feb. 13, (AP)—The sugar market was electrified today by a general buying movement founded on reduced crop estimates figured by Cuban houses which carried futures up one hundred points, the maximum daily fluctuation permitted on the floor of the New York coffee and sugar exchange.

Buyers were willing to pay the full 100 point advance all day, but sellers refused to offer and the market closed at the top with May contracts quoted at 5.61, July at 5.62, and September at 5.61.

The maximum rise represented an advance of $1.00 per contract over Saturday's close. The crop figures responsible for the exciting trading were issued by Messrs. Gomez of Havana. Their December estimate of 4,193,000 tons for the sugar crop now harvesting was reduced to 3,800,000 tons.

Nervous from recent Washington estimates of a 250,000 ton shortage for the season, buying in futures began to boom. It extended to the spot market where buyers paid 5 3/8 for Cuban, cut and freight, equal to 7 1/2 for centrifugal, the amount involved being 20,000 bags for late February shipment. A sale of 10,000 bags also was made for March shipment at 5 0-16 cents, cut and freight, equal to 7 3/8 for centrifugal, representing a perpendicular overnight rise of a cent per pound.

Refiners Withdraw

The refined sugar market was practically nominal, as refiners all withdrew pending further developments in raws. P. J. Smith, president of the Federal Sugar Refining company, announced that he had consulted with H. A. Himeley, of Havana, an eminent sugar statistician, who stated that in his opinion "there is no reason for reducing the estimate of the Cuban crop as everything is progressing favorably." Mr. Himeley's last estimate was 4,193,000 tons, made December 21, compared with 3,996,180 the previous year.

One result of the big advance has been an increased offering of outside sugars, and many have developed in raws, and a similar pressure of outside sugar that checked the rise at the close of the world war.

REFINERS ADVANCE PRICE

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 13, (AP)—The price of sugar was advanced 1 1/2 cents a hundred pounds here today by two refineries, beet sugar being quoted at $8.70 and cane sugar $9.30.

SPOKANE GETS INCREASE

SPOKANE, Wash., Feb. 13, (AP)—Sugar prices were advanced $1.12 per hundred pounds tomorrow morning, it was announced by jobbers here tonight, in response to advanced quotations on the San Francisco market. This makes a total rise of $2 in 13 days. Standard prices here tomorrow will be: Cane, $9.90; beet, $9.70.

Mufide Hanum, Sent Abroad by Ottoman State, Claims Western Nations' Gratitude

PARIS, Feb. 13, (AP)—"If every American owner of a Turkish or an Oriental rug will remember that this thing of beauty is the work of the hands of our women, perhaps he will change his mind and make us as made by uneducated girls and women, often of nomad tribes. They are all of our Turanian blood.

"Americans and Europeans are rather proud of their so-called civilization, and they look down on us from your heights of progress. I wonder if you are aware that our civilization is far older than yours. It has lasted longer, and may still be extending when yours has decayed.

"I am proud of my blood. It cherishes liberty more than comfort, even more than life. The year and a half I spent at Angora, with my husband, with our army and the refugees from Constantinople I count among the happiest of my life. Turanian blood today runs in the veins of every crowned head and ruler left in Asia. The facts speak for themselves. We Turks have been fighting now for the preservation of our country and race 14 years. This might make of us a race of pessimists, yet we cannot be cowards. Our next battle will be one to get and hold the treasures of peace."

Skyscraper Roofs Field for Profits for Bee-Keepers

Washington State College Expert Points to Success of City Dwelling Apiarist

OLMPIA, Wash., Feb. 13, (AP)—Bees will thrive and show a profit even in large cities when kept on the roofs of buildings, according to B. A. Bloch, extension expert in bees for the Washington State college. Mr. Bloch points to E. J. Campbell, who started last year with fourteen swarms in this city and has increased them to 37 swarms by winter gold sold $150 worth of honey.

Bees are successfully raised in the center of Chicago, Cincinnati and other cities, Mr. Bloch says, and there are few cities in the nation where they cannot be cultivated. Bees, he says, will venture miles of a mile and a half searching for nectar in flowers, and some bees have been known to fly five miles.

EXPLORERS SEEK OLD MANUSCRIPT

Long-Lost Documents Relating to Hebrew History Objects of Quest

BROOKLINE, Mass., Feb. 13, (AP)—Excursions in Egypt and Palestine in search of long lost manuscripts that may have important bearings on the history of the Hebrew religion are to be financed wholly or in part by a trust fund established by Mrs. Abby Beecher Longyear, of this town.

Already one expedition, largely supported by the Zion Bible Education, as the endowment has been named, is seeking original manuscripts in the Niriian desert of Egypt, and at the site of the ancient monastery on Mt. Sinai. Valuable papyri has been secured through Professor Francis Kelsey of the University of Michigan, acting for the foundation. The American School of Archaeology in Jerusalem also is a beneficiary of the Longyear trust.

The study of the beginning of religion, especially the Hebrew belief, and its development has been pursued for centuries by the world's scholars. The subject engaged the attention of her husband, John Munro Longyear, for several years before his death.

Both came to believe the keys to some of the apparent mysteries of the past concerning the Hebrews were to be found in Egypt and in the land beyond the Red sea, the Jordan, the Tigris and the Caucasus.

Trustees Are Selected.

Three of the five trustees of the foundation have been selected. They are Mrs. John M. Longyear, Frederick P. Burall and James F. Lord. A statement issued by the trustees says: "The primary purpose of this trust foundation, which already has been provided with large resources, is to explore in Egypt and elsewhere in the Orient the Hebrew religion and to promote more general study of that subject and its application to human needs. The means which are being adopted for carrying out the general purposes of the trust include the collection of original books, transcripts and manuscripts and other material bearing upon the origin and development of religious thought based on the Bible.

"One of the objects of this foundation is to have important source books in foreign languages, bearing on the subject of the holy scriptures, translated into English, and also to assist in the translation into English of whatever is available of the writings of the early Christian fathers.

"About two years ago an arrangement was made with Sir Ernest Wallis Budge, the distinguished director of the division of Egyptian and Assyrian antiquities of the British museum, whose cooperation and advice has been of the greatest value, to assist those representing the foundation in America in the creation and establishment of a library of what may be described as original scriptural sources."

CONSOLIDATION OF DEPARTMENT POSTS FAVORED

President Gives Approval to Plan for Merging of War and Navy Offices Into Single Portfolio

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13, (AP)—A plan for reorganization of the governmental departments and bureaus under which the war and navy departments would be consolidated into a single portfolio designated as "the department of defense," has been given the approval of President Harding, according to high administration officials. The completed plan was sent to the printer today preparatory to submission to the joint congressional committee which was authorized to consider the changes.

The plan, which contemplates a number of other changes in the organization of the executive branch of the government, is understood to have been approved by the president at a conference with Walter F. Brown, ex-officio chairman of the joint congressional committee on reorganization, which was appointed a number of months ago, but has not been able to agree upon a program.

SEISMIC WAVES GIVE WARNINGS

Hydrographic Survey Gives Interesting Data in Connection with Hawaiian Disaster

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 13, (AP)—When an earthquake was recorded "somewhere in the Pacific ocean" on February 3, 1923, it was followed by seven tidal waves which swept the low, Hawaiian islands, thousands of miles away, taking lives, tossing trans-Pacific liners around like mites and sinking the bulk of ships in the Japanese sampans (fishing boats). These tidal waves traveled for approximately six and one-half hours from their point of origin before striking Hilo.

When an earthquake struck Chile on November 10, 1922, it was followed by disastrous tidal waves, extending thousands of miles and striking Hilo bay, piling many sampans on the beach and washing tin boats out to sea.

More than 25,000 lives were lost, several towns were wiped out and the country was inundated for miles inland when tidal waves 20 feet high swept the coast of Chile in 1835, after a severe earthquake shock.

More than 100,000 lives were lost, many towns destroyed and millions of dollars worth of property damaged when the tidal wave swept across the entire Atlantic ocean in 1755 after the Lisbon earthquake. In this earthquake as well as in the others, the water drained out from the land after the shock, and returned later in the form of a great wave.

Similar action followed the great earthquake of Lima, October 28, 1724, the water withdrew from the shore and returned in a wave reported to have been 80 feet high. This wave swept over the coast, sank 20 ships and carried four ships far inland.

Give Ample Warning. However, the United States hydrographic office sees no great danger in tidal waves because, it says, there is always ample warning for the protection of ships and for the safety of the coast lying out to sea. The United States hydrographic office says:

"Great multitudes of people live in cities by the sea and are subjected to the dangers arising from seismic sea waves, and yet, if a piece of refuge exists, they usually have ample time to escape. Even ships in the harbor will generally be safe if they promptly put to sea on the first sign after an earthquake, of the withdrawal of the water, which always indicates that the sea bottom has sunk.

"Thus by the study of the laws of the physical world and the diffusion of the resulting useful knowledge, a great measure of safety may be secured from some of the most dreadful forces in nature, and in the course of time, the interests of civilization may be enormously conserved."

There are two general classes of seismic waves, one due to the government hydrographic office. The first is due to the sinking of the sea bottom, and is characterized by a withdrawal of the water after the earthquake, to be followed later by the return of a great wave. The second is due to the uplift of the bottom, and characteristically causes a rise of the sea with out an previous withdrawal from the shore. Most of the historical inundations of the sea have been due to waves of the first class.

Course of Safety. The lesson to be impressed upon mariners in the light of these experiences is that the government authority is that the chances of safety to the shipping are much increased by proceeding to sea immediately after the occurrence of an earthquake. This is especially true, the government says, if the water of the harbor is found to be draining away after the shocks of an earthquake are felt.

In the open sea, says the government, seismic sea waves are not generally dangerous to vessels because they very great length and moderate height gives them a great slope and their period is very much longer than the ordinary sea waves.

LET IT ALONE

If monthly payment of salaries and expenses is possible by commissioners of counties of the first class it is equally possible in the case of counties of the second class.

If such payments are illegal by counties of the second class then they are equally illegal and just as dangerous by counties of the first class.

The sole change, then, which would be brought about by changing Twin Falls county from second to first class would be in the matter of the salaries to Commissioners. In the case of second class counties, to which class Twin Falls County belongs, the salary of Commissioners is fixed at nine hundred dollars a year. In counties of the first class the salary is fifteen hundred dollars annually.

Now, let's see if we can agree on this as a statement of fact in the case.

If we can it is a dead immortal claim that Twin Falls County's classification had better be to be strictly alone, if public sentiment is to be given consideration.

THE TRUTH OF IT

The antics of Twin Falls Mayor and Council in connection with the recent City audit clear down from the time of the letting of the work at a price more than twice as great as that of another accretant bidding and its subsequent publication at a cost of over eight hundred dollars in an official organ of the circulation of which required special boosting in the way of a supplementary free delivery in order to even seem to justify its use, serves at least one good and useful purpose.

It brings to mind in striking style and as nothing else could the wisdom backing of Pope's famous lines:

For forms of government let fools contest, What's best administered is best.

FOR THE YELLOW DENT HERO

With the tender sentiment which inspires the establishment of lasting tributes to those who sacrificed their lives for their country there can be no quarrel. But the recent inauguration of a movement for a different sort of memorial may well give ground for thought.

An effort is being made to collect money for a memorial to James L. Reid, originator of Reid's Yellow Dent Corn. Mr. Reid devoted his life to the study and experiment which resulted in that development which adds millions of dollars annually to the wealth of the soil.

Mr. Reid is only one of many modest, inconspicuous men whose toil and sweat have produced incalculable wealth through the development of seeds and fruits. Yet except for Burbank, their names are practically unknown. How many school children, to whom the names of countless war heroes are familiar, have ever heard the name of the man responsible for the development of the Wealthy apple, the Concord grape, or the man who made possible the Marquis wheat?

CREATING LIQUID GOLD

Particularly valuable to those who are tempted to sink their savings in "wildcat" oil ventures in the hope of garnering vast riches is a bulletin issued by the United States bureau of mines, which estimates that thirty million dollars are spent annually in drilling holes that yield no oil. In the last two years five thousand eight hundred and fourteen dry holes, representing an average cost of ten thousand dollars, have been reported.

with the oil producing industry knows that failures are frequent and that the business is attended with hazard, but since the successes are widely proclaimed, and the dry holes get little advertising, it is likely to be assumed by the uninitiated that the rewards are more certain than works out in practice.

Yet, some of the great loss from drilling in barren territory is charged by the bureau to the tendency to drill for gusher production. Greater chances are taken than would be the case in oil-bearing strata of small yield and the losses are proportionately greater. It is believed that the need to develop and produce from sands of low yield will become more urgent, and it is estimated to be believed that therein will be found a large supply of the world-sought fuel.

The findings of the bureau of mines may constitute warning against undue hope in wildcatting but is not likely to affect it greatly. The possibility of great gain, even though remote, is a lure that appeals to men and it is probable that there will be future losses in dry holes much as in the past. Those who do invest in such enterprises have the joy of pursuit for a time, even if they realize no other reward.

Captain Stocum's Gallant Signal to the Warship Oregon Recalled by Clark's Death.

We do not think often nowadays of the anxieties and fears of the Spanish war. The death of Rear Admiral Clark's "Black Hawk" back thirty, however, an adventure which was rightly a nine days' wonder at the time of its occurrence.

It will be remembered that while Cervara's whereabouts were unknown Captain Clark was entrusted with the dangerous task of bringing the Oregon from the Pacific coast to anchor in the Atlantic fleet. He left San Francisco on March 10, 1898, and sixty-seven days later steamed into Jupiter Inlet, on the coast of Florida, unharmed and ready for battle.

There was no Panama canal in '98, and between Captain Clark and his descent on the Spanish mainland waters of the Horn and possible attack by a Spanish torpedo boat.

During Captain Clark's historic voyage he passed Capt. Joshua Stocum voyaging alone around the world in the little 9-ton Spray. Stocum did not know of the destination of his warship.

It was therefore an astounding signal to find the Oregon lying the signals C B T, which meant, "Are there any men-of-war about?"

Captain Stocum signaled back, "No," and as the Oregon passed by hoisted the international code flag which meant, "Let us keep together for mutual protection." In the account of his voyage he wrote that Captain Clark did not seem to regard this signal as necessary!

We wonder if any naval officer can tell us whether or not Stocum's signal was made out on board the Oregon. Stocum says that the Oregon's great flag flew in reply to the lowered colors of the Spray. We suspect that if Captain Clark had made out the Spray's signal he would have replied to it in a manner worthy of Stocum's gallant feat.

Rear Admiral Clark was seventy-nine years old at the time of his death. He always had a great moral conviction, for he was in a ship which followed Farragut over the torpedoes and past the forts in the battle of Mobile Bay. Rear Admiral Clark retired from active service in 1905 on his sixty-second birthday.—From the Outlook.

The JOY of LIVING By SIDNEY GOWING Illustrations by Ellsworth Young. Copyright 1922 by Sidney Gowling. (Continued.) CHAPTER XVIII

"Cold Lambert!" Lady Diana might have been the original of that tedious young woman who was described by the poet as "divinely tall and most divinely fair." She was without doubt strikingly beautiful, a type of the large and very pale blonde. But an atmosphere of friendliness surrounded her, which many people found repellent.

"My dear aunt," she said calmly, entering the drawing room and kissing Lady Erythea. "so good of you to have me for this flying visit. Alexander, how are you?" She touched her brother's cheek with her lips.

"You will have a clear field for your investigations," my dear," said Lady Erythea. "and I hope the advances you have made in psychic science will—ah—bring you to terms with the ghost. But I doubt it. By the way, your cousin Alice is here, as I told you. But she is unwell and is keeping her room. I am rather anxious about her. Incidentally, we shall have another guest; I expect Monsieur de Jussac tonight."

Alexander left the room. "Monsieur de Jussac!" exclaimed Diana. She paused. Lady Erythea watched her somewhat keenly. "What brings him here?" said Diana.

"He is very anxious," said Lady Erythea glibly, "to examine the Lambo collection of armor. We have a suit of mail which is believed to have been captured at Crecy; there is a tradition that it belonged to one of the De Jussac family."

Lady Diana looked incredulous. "And understand he is interested in psychic matters, and anxious to improve his knowledge." "That is something in his favor," said Diana with suspicion.

"I expect that is his car," said Lady Erythea. A flash automobile of semi-racing type was observed swerving along the park drive. The Vicomte de Jussac had motored direct from town.

A minute later he presented himself. Bertrand de Jussac was tall, and for his age, rather full-bodied. His complexion was healthily ruddy, he had a little black mustache and a jolly, roving dark eye. In spite of his very material appearance, he had undoubtedly the bell air. He raised Lady Erythea's skiny fingers to his lips.

"Enchanted, dear lady, to pay homage to you sur vos terres. How very amiable of you to invite me!" Lady Erythea bestowed on him the smile she reserved for elder sons. "Charmed to meet you. You know my aunt surely?"

Bertrand's little start of surprise was admirably done. He bent low over Diana's hand, but refrained from kissing it.

"But this is delightful!" exclaimed Bertrand. "You told me in town, Lady Diana, that you were interested in the ghost. Happy ghost! I too, am developing rapidly an interest in the psychic. I hope—" will excuse me, Aunt." She gilded majestically through the doorway. The Vicomte's eyes followed Diana's departure. "Adorable blonde!" he mused. "The invincible phlegm britannique. But it is the tall, inaccessible peak that spurs the courage of the mountaineer!" He sat down and made himself particularly pleasant to Lady Erythea.

When the party of four assembled for dinner, Lady Erythea was amiable and responsive in purple, Diana frigid and ethereal in pale yellow, while Alexander at first wore the air of the Jackdaw of Rheims moulted under the abbott's curse. But Bertrand de Jussac, looking like a revived D'Artagnan in evening dress, contrived to make a success of it.

His merry, infectious laugh and quick sallies uplifted the spirits of the others. He made a deeper impression than ever on Diana Lambe, and with the usual perversity that seized her when in mixed company, she felt it well to herself to become the more openly hostile to become that.

"I do not understand how you can defend the spirit of the age," she said coldly, in answer to a saley that made even Alexander smile. "The days of chivalry are dead. What romance can one attach to the modern young man? But in the days of heroism, when men were splendid in helm and gorget and camail—ah, then," she exclaimed, with a rare touch of enthusiasm, "romance flourished indeed."

"Talking of mail," said Lady Erythea then blandly, "the ghost always appears in a complete suit of it, though his coming is noiseless as a breath of mist. I regret to tell you, Vicomte, that he came to a bad end through a romantic passion."

"Why regret?" protested Bertrand. "I will wager 'twas worth it!" "Nonsense," she was reputed—or disreputable—to be an ancestor of yours."

De Jussac taken as hostage by Sir Pier Lambe—after a most gallant resistance," said Lady Erythea smiling. "While here he engaged the affections of a daughter of the house, and being discovered, was permitted to don his armor. The doctor said it was with Sir Piera. His end was tragic."

"No end can be wholly tragic, if reached by the path of a great passion. To every rose its thorn. I applaud him!" Bertrand raised his glass. "To you, nameless ancestor!"

He replaced the glass appreciatively, and then, as if in a fit of something this ancestor, Lady Diana—"But his hostess had given the signal, the ladies rose, and she two men were left alone—a custom that still lingered at Jervaulx. De Jussac did not find Mr. Lambe a very exhilarating companion, but Alexander, though drinking only water, kept him at the table an unconquerable time.

When eventually they reached the drawing room Alexander departed at once to his library, and Bertrand found that Diana had retired.

"I must apologize for my niece, Vicomte, but she has gone to her room; to achieve the proper psychic attitude, or whatever she calls it, for her inquiries as to this absurd ghost," said Lady Erythea. "She said, of course, do nothing tonight. And as it is late, and you will not wish to sit up talking to an old woman."

"Next I should have hostesses," protested the Vicomte, "I should like to sit and talk to you all night, if you will allow me—" Diana put her head inside the door. "I told you, Aunt," she said, "that my stupid maid led herself at the terrace, and I cannot retire unattended. May I have yours?"

"My own incumbrance has been away for two days," said her aunt. "But we have a parlor maid who really attends to one's hair very soothingly; she did mine last night." Lady Erythea pressed the bell.

The butler appeared. "Barbeaux, you will tell Erythea to attend Lady Diana in her room."

being touched by cold fingers." Almee's fingers itched to warm themselves by a totally different method. But she held them to the fire, and then set about her task. She had hardly commenced when Diana's pale blue eyes, catching sight of her in the mirror, opened in a stare of amazement. "Whom did they say you were?" she said in a grating voice.

"Snooka, my lady," said Almee, dropping a curtsey. "Snooka! You are Almee Scoopel! Don't deny it!" said Diana fiercely. "Don't attempt to deceive me. I should know you in a thousand. What is the meaning of this masquerade?"

Almee surrendered. "Yes, Di—it's me! For goodness' sake don't shout." For once Almee lost her head. "Aunt doesn't know I'm here, you see. Don't give me away. I'll try and explain."

"I don't want your explanation. You will explain to Aunt!" rasped Diana. "I can see by your manner there is something more in this than mere folly! I've had my suspicions from what Aunt has said—"

"Di," exclaimed Almee imploringly, "there's no use trying to hide it now—I'm in trouble—real trouble. If you give me away now you'll get me into a fearful row with Dad. You don't want to do that, do you? It—it will simply finish him!"

"Very likely! It is high time he knew the truth about you. I know a little more of your character than he does, Almee. His absurd tenacity—"

She moved swiftly between Almee and the door, and pressed the bell.

"Let me out!" said Almee, rather white and her eyes gleaming. "Get away from that door!" She strode toward Diana. "I shall not!" There was a knock at the door. Diana opened it, and the housekeeper appeared. "Was that your ladyship's bell?" "Yes!" said Diana. "Ask Lady Erythea to come here immediately. Do you hear? Immediately!"

Dogs Confer at School. A congress of dogs of all sizes and makes meet mournfully daily at the school gate of a public school in New Rochelle. It meets just after the "last bell" has rung at nine o'clock.

Many of the youngsters own dogs which trail along with them gleefully to school each morning, but the dogs are barred from the school yard. So when the classes begin they wait hopefully for a while, peering through the iron gate, and for a time consume themselves there. Then convinced that their young masters will not reappear for one more walk, they trot off home again sadly to frolic for the lunch period at 11:30.

One dog, an Alreade, named Jim, accompanies his youthful owners daily to school, plays with them until the bell rings. Then he hustles home and amuses himself until just before 11:30 when he goes back to the schoolhouse, meets the youngsters and accompanies them home—New York Sun.

Oddity in Cheese Industry. An oddity in the way of cheese industry is the cheese offered for sale by a German religious community which devotes itself to the rescue of fallen women.

The cheese is described as "pure cheese made by the pure hands of repentant women." The average purchaser of 20 kilos or more, according to a letter sent out by the community, "will be credited with a memorial mass, which we will celebrate at our chapel on the death of the purchaser. Retail purchasers will receive with each purchase a prayer coupon, and when five of these are sent to us by the same person they will be exchanged for a mass coupon. "As it is made at our home by women of scrupulous cleanliness, our cheese is of incomparable quality, and to taste it means to buy it."

Refuse Damage Claim

Attorney for Ether Cartor Blames Existence of Tree Stumps for Auto Smashup

Because the city marred the panoramic beauty in the vicinity of the tourist park by cutting down trees along "Lovers' Lane" Ether Cartor was so startled by the change that he drove his automobile into one of the stumps, according to H. Kinney, attorney, who presented the city council Tuesday night with a claim for $150 on behalf of Cartor for damages alleged to have been the result of the cutting.

The docket of the city police judge was introduced showing that Cartor was arrested on a charge of driving an automobile in a reckless manner and that he was prohibited from driving his car for the next 30 days after appearing before Police Judge Packard on February 4.

The council was informed by J. T. Krivanek, superintendent of streets and water works, that the scene of the collision was outside the city limits and that the city had not cut down the trees.
