

COMMITTEE AT WORK ON FARM CREDITS BILL

Capper Measure is Taken as Foundation for Program Being Drafted by House Members; Bloc Presents Demands.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20 (AP)—A comprehensive agricultural credit program based on the Capper bill passed by the senate, will be reported by the banking committee probably on Thursday and taken up for passage in the house Saturday under plans disclosed today by republican leaders.

The final drafting of the measure was begun today in the committee. At the same time, Representative Dowell, republican, Iowa, presented to Chairman Tower of the majority conference, his petition for a party meeting for tomorrow night for the purpose of spreading up consideration of the legislation. Chairman Tower returned the petition, explaining that it lacked the required number of signatures and stated that in any event he would not issue a call for tomorrow.

Represents Dowell announced later that he had obtained the required number of signatures and would request a conference for Friday night if the credit legislation had not been reported by that time. He declared the farm bloc members would insist on a bill embodying the salient features of both the Capper bill and the Lenroot-Anderson measure, also passed by the senate.

Meantime the house today passed and sent to the senate the Strong bill liberalizing the federal farm loan system by increasing from $10,000 to $16,000 the maximum of loans to individual borrowers with an additional provision for loans up to $25,000 in exceptional cases and subject to the approval of the federal farm loan board.

Mellon Endorses Capper Bill. Secretary Mellon, in a letter today to Chairman McFallen of the banking committee, endorsed the Capper bill, which would authorize the formation under federal charter of agricultural credit corporations and make agricultural paper eligible for rediscount at federal reserve banks. Agricultural paper would be defined as the obligation of cooperative marketing associations.

The treasury secretary declared the financial provisions of the Lenroot-Anderson bill to be "dangerous" on the whole, and its administrative provisions to be "unworkable," but recommended that certain of its features be incorporated in the Capper bill. These included authority for the rediscount corporations to make loans direct to cooperative marketing associations on warehouse receipt security and the making of paper factors, based on agricultural products in their raw state eligible for rediscount at federal reserve banks. Mr. Mellon also endorsed the provision for repeal of the amendment to the federal reserve act authorizing progressive discount rates.

Desires Adequate System. Outlining his preference for the Capper bill, Mr. Mellon said the Lenroot-Anderson measure attempted to create a separate and independent rediscount system for agriculture.

"Necessarily there will be a secondary and in all probability, and inadequate rediscount system," he wrote. "It seems to me that the agricultural interests can properly demand that they be given the benefit of sound lines of the best and most adequate rediscount system which the country can furnish and that, in my opinion, is the federal reserve system liberalized and extended as proposed in the Capper bill."

The Lenroot-Anderson bill, the secretary said, was faulty in its larger outlines of policy. He added that the farmer had suffered in the past from "unsound banking systems."

Mr. Mellon said that, contrary to current reports, the joint agricultural commission had never endorsed the Lenroot-Anderson bill in its present form, which, he asserted, "differed radically from the bill which the commission endorsed."

Causes Sensation Burying Money By Wheelbarrow Load

Investigators Apologize Upon Learning Surplus is Russian and Austrian Currency

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 20 (AP)—Neighbors who saw Lorenzo Gulegoppe take a wheelbarrow load of money into his backyard and start digging a hole, telephoned the police that they believed the man crazy.

The police responded and found Gulegoppe busy with a shovel. "What are you doing?" demanded the officers. "I'm making a hiding place for my money," he replied. "I got tired of seeing it around the house and decided to get rid of it."

Further investigation showed Gulegoppe's surplus "money" consisted of many million of Russian paper rubles and Austrian paper marks, which, he said, he guessed was "worth about 20 cents."

The police apologized and permitted the burial to proceed.

POLICE SEEKING MURDER MOTIVE

Business Associates of Slain Californian are Interrogated by Authorities

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 20 (AP)—Former business associates of Earl Remington, electrical engineer, who was shot to death in the driveway of his home here last Thursday night, were subjected to questioning today by detectives, in the hope, they said, that some motive for the slaying could be found.

The officers refused to make known the names of the men called to the police station or to reveal the result of the questioning.

Blanche F. Remington, sister of the dead man, also was questioned. She is said to have given new details concerning her brother's life before and after his marriage. Search for a friend of the slain man, believed to have recommended him to a private detective, Charles A. Dana Collins, who declared Remington had sought his services as a bodyguard the night he was killed, was continued today by the police without success. Remington failed to keep an appointment with the detective Thursday night.

Detectives stated they were still anxious to question further Mrs. Remington, the widow, and would do so as soon as her condition would permit. Since the death of her husband, Mrs. Remington has been stricken with bronchial pneumonia, according to her physician, and is unable to talk to the officers.

WYOMING SESSION ENDS

Legislature Runs Two Days Overtime; Passes 130 Measures Besides Memorials and Resolutions

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Feb. 20 (AP)—After having passed 130 measures in addition to a number of memorials and resolutions the Wyoming legislature adjourned shortly after 6 o'clock last night, two days after the time set for the legal termination of session. The legislators had been in continuous session since Saturday evening for a total of nearly 48 hours.

In his final appearance before the lawmakers at this session, Governor W. B. Ross thanked them for upholding better law enforcement and for carrying out most of his recommendations.

DOGS PROVE CAPABILITY AS CATCHERS OF COUGARS

IDAHO FALLS, Ida., Feb. 20 (AP)—Two dogs purchased by Guy Craft and Jack Russell of Myers Cove, Idaho, recently on the guarantee that they would catch cougars, have proven their mettle. Craft and Russell took the hounds on a cougar hunt which resulted in the slaying of two of the animals. Cougars bring a bounty of $50 from the state of Idaho and thus Craft and Russell collected $100 from the state and made $33 from the sale of the two pets.

Cougars, a type of predatory animal especially dangerous to deer, are nearly extinct in Idaho.

13-Year-Old Boy Kills Playmate

Robert Rutkowski, a 13-year-old boy, of Joliet, Illinois, a suburb of Chicago, was captured by the police, hiding in a railroad yard, after he shot and killed his 13-year-old chum, Walter Melowith, in a quarrel during a card game in the Rutkowski home. The youth is shown here being questioned by Policeman Clarence Barsena.

SEES CITY MAN LACKING SENSE OF 'HOMENESS'

Boosting Loyalty for Institutions of Home Town Unknown in New York, Minister Tells Churchmen

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Feb. 20 (AP)—The city man is, in a sense, a lost man, the Rev. Ralph W. Sockman of New York city, told the Council of Cities of the Methodist Episcopal church meeting here today. "No longer rooted in the soil, he lacks a sense of 'homeness,'" continued the Rev. Sockman. "In our extremely large cities he loses his vivid sentiment of civic pride. The denizens of 'Gopher Prairies' and the 'Babbitts' of sixth-sixth cities may be inspired by boosting loyalty to serve the institutions of their home towns, but in New York city, for instance, men feel the place has momentum enough to run itself."

"They will get what they can out of it for themselves. The consulting does suck their substance from the skyscraping petals of our cities and then make their deposits in the suburban honey combs. If the man on Broadway or Michigan boulevard felt the same sense of responsibility as on Main street, his moral and civic tone of our metropolitan centers would be immeasurably elevated, and the problem of the city church would be almost wholly changed. The individual personality withers in a crowd."

"The loss of the urban mind shows itself not only in lack of responsibility but in its craving for change. Our cities are places of unrest. The very environment is one of rapid ruin. A passer-by looks at a building twice because it may not be there when he returns next week. We are told to look up to the hills' whence cometh our strength. The hills suggest the eternal. But these man-made walls of city stone suggest not the eternal, but the temporary. This changeableness of environment is reflected in the interests, the thinking, the loyalties of the urban dwellers.

"The city mind tends to become a movie mind. Our age generally is characterized by fragmentary thinking. Ours is the generation of the short story, the chopp yecenario, the sketchy impressionistic art. In the city this trait is accentuated. Here rises a real, transient for the church."

"The preacher must recognize that the people are not thinking things through. In my opinion the most outstanding single need of the Methodist Episcopal church today is for constructive theological preaching which can interpret to people their fitting half-thought ideas. The lost urban mind must find a guide in the pulpit."

"Social estates separate and confuse the city dwellers. The public school is no longer the meeting place of rich and poor on a plane of comradeship. Who shall dissolve these race and class distinctions, if the church does not? The church must be a drill ground for democracy."

GOLD DAYS OF '96 IN ALASKA TO BE FILMED

Further North Movie Studio is Established as Anchorage to Make Series of Pioneer Pictures

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Feb. 20 (AP)—Alaskan motion pictures with Alaskan themes, made in Alaska in settings famous during the gold stamped of '96-'07, will soon be turned out in the farthest north movie studio. The big studio has been completed at Anchorage and is awaiting the arrival of the Dan McGraw, etc., from California.

In Alaskan pictures it is proposed to utilize many famous living characters of the "Dawson" days and interweave Alaskan scenery, including Mt. McKinley and the wonderland of the Broad Pass.

The promoters of this farthest north "Magic City" say that Anchorage is ideal for scenic effects, especially where snow scenes are desired. Practically the whole of December and January are bathed in brilliant sunshine. Within a few hours' ride from the city the cameraman may find immense glaciers in midsummer; within a few miles may photograph a flower-decked valley or obtain the most primitive mining scenes and revert to the most modern drawing room if it be needed.

Filming of pictures will begin in March, when the full company of actors and actresses will arrive to complete the first big picture.

OREGON HURLS DOWN GAUNTLET TO CATHOLICISM

Expulsion of Apostolic, Delegate Marks Open Break and Signals the Revival of Political Issue

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 20 (AP)—The Oregon administration has definitely broken with the Catholics in Mexico, and an antagonism that has been more or less submerged during the past two years is now real and apparent. The expulsion of Monsignor Ernesto Filippi, apostolic delegate, for his alleged participation in an open religious ceremony contrary to article 24 of the constitution of 1857, has provided the issue upon which the liberals and conservatives have come to open disagreement which many observers believe is prelude of a bitter struggle for political supremacy.

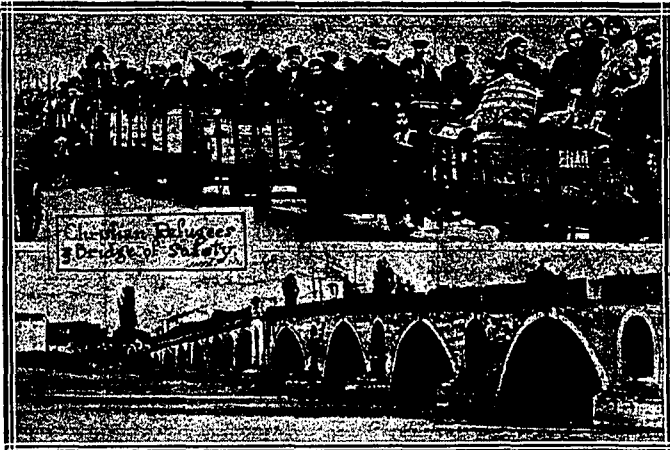

Even the friends of President Obregon admit that his order for the expulsion of the papal nuncio as a "persecution of foreigners"—he is an Italian—was prompted by political expediency. It was a smashing, direct blow, they say to check the influence of the Catholics as a political body, not as a religious organization. All quarters construe the act as an indication of fear by President Obregon and his advisers that the once powerful clerical party is again on its feet and in motion to grapple for leadership with an administration which although at present more than some of its predecessors, is fundamentally opposed to the church. And Obregon expelled the monsignor, personal representative of Pope Pius in Mexico, although the latter was and is his personal friend and was many times a guest at the presidential residence.

Smarting under years of repression, dating back to the reform days of President Juarez, the Catholics were greatly surprised shortly after President Obregon took office, two years ago, to find that a great degree of religious freedom was permitted. Numerous churches have closed were reopened, parochial schools were again started; priests and nuns appeared on the street in clerical garb, a thing unheard of in the time of President Carranza. President Obregon, reiterating his policy of freedom, often was a "church visitor" on the occasion of special functions. The first lady of the land, Sr. Maria Tapia Obregon, is a devout Catholic and is prominent in the charity work of the church.

But a year or so ago there were rumors of activity in Catholic ranks not all of which was of a religious character. Reports were circulating that plans were being made to contest the elections. The Catholic or clerical party, which polled only a comparatively few votes against Obregon, was revived. Catholics as such contested for seats in congress. Newspapers told of anti-government propaganda being spread in the interior by priests, and during the past year a dozen or more have been expelled, giving some substance to reports of their activity. Monsignor Filippi arrived from Rome and the clergy of the republic were mobilized to spread the doctrines of the Vatican. Many persons in the government assert they also mixed in politics.

The foreign secretary, explaining to Cardinal Gasparri, papal secretary of state, the reason for the expulsion, asserted it was because "under Monsignor Filippi's direction the clerical elements were organizing politically, even contrary to Christian precepts." When Monsignor Filippi presided at an outdoor religious service held January 11 near Silao, Guanajuato, the government realized the law had been violated and that an opportunity to make an example of the highest ranking prelate in Mexico was offered. The monsignor was immediately ordered expelled and was given 24 hours to quit the republic. The apostolic delegate denied there was an intentional violation of any federal or state law, and asserted his willingness to submit to any and all laws of the nation. Without opportunity for defense he was told

Hundreds of Thousands Flee From Turks

More than 100,000 refugees from Eastern Thrace fled across this old Roman bridge that spans the Marizna river into Adrianople, leading the way to safety from advancing Turks. Christian refugees from Asia Minor are transported in flat cars to the interior of Greece, where the government makes a desperate effort to care for them.

to leave—and he did so without protest. During the last three days of his stay here, the monsignor received the homage of virtually the entire Catholic population of the republic. Hundreds stood for hours in front of his house in a futile effort to see him. Telegrams, letters and formal protests arrived by the thousands. The Catholic faithful of the nation, united in the open for the first time in many years, were not afraid to show their sympathy for the prelate and his bitterness against the government. Thousands were at the railway station to say farewell to the monsignor the night he left, but, in order to avoid possible trouble, he slipped out of the city and took his place in a border-bound train in a suburb.

And there the situation rests today—smouldering in the part of the Catholics and vigorous defense of its action by the government, which is supported by the radical and anti-clerical groups. Many see in President Obregon's move a fear of the growth of the Fascist movement, which has many Catholics in its ranks. Many predict that the clerical party will now start to function in the open as an opposition force. All are wondering whether the unexpected attitude of President Obregon against the monsignor will be followed by others of a similar nature. In view of the fact that Mexico is normally a Catholic country, some interesting developments may be expected.

WOOL INDUSTRY PROSPERS
SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Feb. 20 (AP)—The wool industry in Utah and Idaho this year is in better condition than it was in 1922, according to officers of woolgrower organizations here. Sheepmen of the Vernal, Utah, district have reported that the 355,000 pound clip there has been sold for an average of 41 1/2 cents, compared with 35 to 36 cents last year. Growers generally are optimistic over the 1923 outlook and they expect the higher prices to offset advances in operating costs.

FOSTER CHOSEN TO STAND TRIAL

Steel Strike Leader to be First of 22 Alleged Communists Called to Bar in Michigan

ST. JOSEPH, Mich., Feb. 20 (AP)—William Z. Foster, editor of the Labor Herald of Chicago, leader of the 1919 steel strike and active in liberal and radical movements for many years, will be the first of the 22 alleged communists to go on trial here. Judge Charles White today postponed the trial again for one week, making the date March 12. The court announced that no further delays would be permitted. Charles W. Gore, prosecuting attorney of Berrien county, and O. L. Smith, assistant attorney general of Michigan, selected Foster's case as the one to start the prosecution. Whether the remaining 21 defendants are to be tried probably depends upon the outcome of the Foster trial. Foster was arrested in Chicago several days after Michigan deputies and federal agents had raided the alleged second national convention of the communist party in the woods 20 miles south of St. Joseph on August 22 of last year. He was extradited to Michigan on testimony of the raiders that he had attended the convention. Frank P. Walsh, chief of counsel for the defendants, is prepared to argue that Foster was not present and that he is the victim of a plot on the part of W. J. Burns' detective agency, assisted by department of justice agents, to destroy him at the behest of the United States Steel corporation, because of his part in the 1919 steel strike.

Should a Bank Loan Money for Advertising?

By FESTUS J. WADE, President, Mercantile Trust Company, of St. Louis.

WHEN we strike at advertising, meaning of course, efficiently applied advertising, we strike at salesmanship, and the heart of business. For the banker to do anything to retard business right now is suicide.

When the merchant pulls down his shingle and waits for business to come to him in a buyers' market, we laugh at him, and call him a poor business man.

When he is forced to cut down one of his best methods of selling because his banker considers advertising an unnecessary item of expense and refuses an otherwise deserved loan purely on that principle, it is my humble opinion that we should laugh at the banker and feel sorry for the merchant.

Don't mistake my meaning. It is a basic banking principle that a loan must be well secured, and a firm cannot borrow merely because it is a big and successful advertiser. But the fact that it is a believer in advertising and wants to use a portion of the money for that purpose should never stand in its way when it calls on the Bank's credit department.

BOND PURCHASE GETS APPROVAL OF COUNCILMEN

Authorize Use of Waterworks Cash in Taking Over Obligations of Local Improvement District

Purchase by the city water works department of $7000 worth of bonds of local improvement district No. 31, owned by district No. 34, and payment by the city treasurer of $6,919.33 on principal and interest on bonds of improvement districts numbers 24, 25 and 27, was authorized by Twin Falls city commissioners at its regular weekly meeting Tuesday night.

The purchase of the local improvement district bonds was urged by Commissioner S. M. All in a resolution which was unanimously adopted. Mr. All's resolution stated that the purchase was advisable because of the fact that the water works department has idle funds available. The total cost of the bonds will be $7,000.00, the sum of $919.33 being interest. The bonds will mature on Dec. 23 to 29, inclusive.

Bottle Bonds.—Payment of $11,100 will be made on local improvement district bonds Nos. 116 and 128 to 228 of district No. 31, and $5,700 on the principal of bonds Nos. 29 to 27, inclusive, of district No. 35 by the city treasurer as authorized by the council. A large part of the balance of the total sum is represented by interest due March 1 and commissions. The payments are to be made to the Guaranty Trust company of New York.

The council refused to grant a $4 would come in for a court case to extend of three or four to the expense fees, so, too, would Cassia, Davis, Twin Falls county, under the damage of the measure, based upon the city of Pocatello, would dig up a word. PROSPERITY IN SADDLE OVER THE ENTIRE EAST

Local Store Manager Declares Business Belongs Supreme from Denver to the Atlantic Coast

That the entire country from Denver eastward is enjoying an unusual prosperity which, he says, is to be expected is the statement of E. F. Firman, manager of the Big White Store, who returned this week after an absence of a month spent in New York in the interests of his company.

Mr. Firman states that the tight money area consists only of the strip of agricultural states bordering on the Pacific coast states and that with this exception the entire country shows evidence of prosperity comparable only to the years during and immediately following the war.

Scout Troop has Good Attendance

Average of 90 Per Cent at the Weekly Meetings of Past Year Shown by Report

The attendance of Boy Scout troop No. 7 at the meetings held each week during the past year has averaged 90 per cent of the enrollment, according to the report of W. E. Nixon, scoutmaster of the troop. Veranus Murray is assistant scoutmaster.

The roster of the troop now contains the names of 34 Scouts, three of whom will not be of ten-foot age until the coming summer. All of the boys have passed the tenderfoot tests and, except the three mentioned, have been registered.

Several hikes were taken during the fall and winter and much interest shown. Baseball, football and basketball have been much enjoyed during the winter months.

BOWLERS MEET FOR BANQUET

Members of League Teams and Bakers Guests of Rogerson Cafe at Pleasant Affair

Through the courtesy of the Rogerson cafe, Twin Falls bowlers to the number of about 40 were guests at a special dinner served in the private dining room of the hostelry Tuesday night when the hotel management in the role of host.

From 8 o'clock on good fellowship reigned supreme with sprightly conversation as the keynote of a dozen or more brief addresses by the guests.

Captain Roy Cubitt of the Troy Laundry team, gave a short talk on "Luck and Its Value to a Bowler."

High Hooper, speaking for the I. D. state team, said that he thought that the department store team was the best yet, and all it wanted was a chance to demonstrate.

George Sandholtz of the Troy Laundry spoke on "Bowling From the Standpoint of a Rooter," and stated that his team was a world-beater, and that before the bowling alley started he lacked proper exercise, but after bowling two games a day he finds that life is never grouch any more and that life is worth living.

Why Is a Bowling Alley? Charley Larson spoke on "Why Is a Bowling Alley?" and stated that he was going to see that the Rogerson cafe team is on top at the end of the season if he had to bowl 200 to do it.

Ben Rendahl said that he didn't know much about bowling, but knew enough to know that his gang would be close to the top.

Boy Scout Troops in Demonstration

Value and Significance of the Movement Proven in Program Given by Legion Post

Work of the Boy Scouts and the significance and importance of the movement was demonstrated in attractive fashion by a program staged at the meeting of the American Legion Tuesday night in which members of all regular and junior scout troops in Twin Falls took part.

The program was a part of the American Legion work of the legion and it was in charge of Dr. William F. Passer, Boy Scout official and Americanization officer of the legion.

Among the features of the event were the fire making demonstration and the history of the flag. A group of Scouts demonstrated their fire-making by starting campfires with the aid of matches by means of dry wood, a blow and a spindle.

The program was as follows: Scout oath, junior troops; Scout law, troop No. 7; history of the flag, troop No. 3; fire-making, troop No. 3; singing; sports; and 6; first aid, troops 1 and 2.
