SHIPPING BILL DOOM ADMITTED BY PROPONENTS

Advocates of Measure Defeat Opponents, 46 to 38, on Two Roll Calls, but Recognize the Efficacy of Filibuster

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (AP)—Proponents of the administration shipping bill demonstrated their superior strength today in the senate, but their efforts only served to pave the way for the death of the legislation on Monday.

Those supporting the measure, although openly conceding it to be doomed, defeated the opponents on two roll calls by the identical vote of 46 to 38. One vote was on a motion by Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the acting democratic leader, to table the pending motion to proceed with consideration of the bill. The second was on the motion to proceed with the bill, which motion was made Wednesday night after the measure had been laid aside to permit action on two conference reports.

Reconciliation Pending.
Thus the shipping bill was temporarily revived, but Senator Robinson immediately presented a motion to send the bill back to the commerce committee and to its death. This motion was left pending by agreement when the senate adjourned for the day and will come to a vote soon after 1 o'clock Monday. Supporters of the bill expect to defeat this motion.

The end of the legislation for this congress and of similar shipping legislation for at least two or more years then will come as a motion expected to be made by Senator Ladd, republican, North Dakota, to lay aside the bill and take up the filled milk measure. Senator Jones, republican, Washington, in charge of the shipping bill, said today he would vote for the Ladd motion and many of the republicans who voted today to keep the measure alive, are expected to join with him in such number as to pass the motion. Such action would put the shipping bill beyond possibility of further consideration before adjournment.

Filibuster Prevents Vote.
Supporters of the ship bill claimed that the vote today on the motion of Senator Jones to take up the measure for consideration showed that the legislation could have been passed in the senate if it had not been prevented by a filibuster from coming to a vote.

BRITISH ACTION LENDS IMPETUS TO BUSINESS

Babson Sees Step Toward the Restoration of International Confidence and Commerce in Debt Settlement

NEW YORK CITY, Feb. 24 (Special to the News)—Roger W. Babson is now on his annual trip of inspection. With some 12,000 miles of traveling he will study conditions in 26 leading centers of the United States. His report divided into eight sections an unusually valuable picture of current business conditions. Section two, which is issued today, treats of New York, Pennsylvania, Maryland and Ohio.

"As New England was the first section to be hit by the depression and the first to recover," says Mr. Babson, "New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio being the second section to be hit, naturally in 1920 the second section to recover was in that section. It was at Bridgeport, Connecticut; but by 1921 the center of depression had moved to Akron, Ohio. From Connecticut to Akron, however, business is today in fair shape. The steel industry is back to 85 per cent of its capacity; coal mining is very active; the carpet factories are busy; the textile mills are exceedingly prosperous; the agricultural and other of the numerous small factories of these states are getting on much better. New York City is feeling fairly optimistic.

The hotels are full and the stores are doing a good business. There, however, is no such riotous spending of money in the restaurants and theatres as during the boom times. The principal industry of New York City is banking and jobbing. The bankers are not especially optimistic over the prospect of lower mortgage rates for 1923, excepting those who sell bonds. Of course, if money rates decline the demand for bonds increases and bond prices strengthen. Certain banks have already been obliged to reduce their dividends and more reductions may be expected by other institutions.

Jobbers Face Uncertainty
"The jobbers of New York City are feeling some uncertainty. Their work is very largely importing and exporting. The tariff law handicaps them considerably notwithstanding the optimistic figures on foreign trade which the Department of Commerce is issuing. Whatever the figures may show, these exporters and importers find it much more difficult to do business. This, of course, means a smaller margin of profit for all concerned. However, there has been a distinct feeling for the better throughout the east since President Harding's message on the British Debt Payment Plan. In the midst of all this in Ohio today that in New York or Pennsylvania, Ohio, however, is a wonderful state and has some wonderful by a general depreciation of foreignness. These cities are not only well bonded, it surely was stimulating to have located and constructed, but they are peopled with men and women having vision, energy and a desire to do something worth while. Hence, I am very optimistic for Ohio in the long run. My reaction in Pennsylvania was not so good. Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, and some of the other cities are doing very well, but there seems to me a spirit of gloom throughout the state to depend more on inherited wealth than upon one's immediate efforts. This is evidenced in the attitude of some of the great corporations and also in the case of the public at large. This attitude was shown when the coal export tax was enacted. Everywhere I was asked about this tax. There seems to be a very strong feeling against it. Business men in Ohio, Illinois, and other states said that they considered it the most dangerous piece of legislation enacted since the days of slavery. They claim that if Pennsylvania can put an export tax on coal, then New York can put an export tax on pulp, Ohio on brick, Michigan on copper, and all other states on something or other. This would mean chaos for our commerce and give a blow to American prosperity from which it would take us one or two generations to recover, and all other states as something of the politicians of Pennsylvania have entirely misinterpreted the wishes of the Pennsylvania people.

Maohauk Valley Active
"Every time that I visit the Maohauk Valley of New York State, I am more impressed with its great activity and its potential resources. I should not be surprised to see the country, lying between Albany and Buffalo, traversed by the New York Central and West Shore and the Erie Canal, become the greatest manufacturing section in the United States. Its climate is ideal; its labor conditions are good; it abounds in agricultural resources, thus assuring a reasonable cost of living; the greatest bituminous coal mines of the country are located to the south and the greatest number of available water powers are located to the north. These conditions are certainly ideal for general manufacturing of all kinds. This valley is close not only to our great American cities, but it is well located for export trade.

"In case we establish reciprocity with Canada, this would further help the states of New York, Ohio and Pennsylvania. Moreover, let me add that we do not appreciate our Canadian neighbors. Canada is a wonderful country, and both Canada and the United States are making a great mistake in erecting tariff walls. The United States should freely purchase raw materials from Canada who should reciprocate by buying manufactured goods of us. The Creator expected such reciprocity to take place and both countries are making a great mistake by trying to block the natural flow of commerce.

Ohio Coming Along
"Ohio is coming along slowly, but surely. Of course, the agricultural interests of Ohio have suffered severely the past two years, but the industries of the state are so diversified that Ohio has not suffered like states further west. There, however, is less activity. Harding's message on the British Debt Payment Plan, in the midst of all this in Ohio today that in New York or Pennsylvania, Ohio, however, is a wonderful state and has some wonderful by a general depreciation of foreignness. These cities are not only well bonded, it surely was stimulating to have located and constructed, but they are

CHARGE OF GRAFT HALTS WORK ON STATE HOUSE

Nebraska Capitol Commission Discontinues Construction When State Engineer Accuses Architect

LINCOLN, Neb., Feb. 24 (AP)—Work on the walls of the new $5,000,000 Nebraska capitol was ordered discontinued last evening by the Nebraska capitol commission following the charge made today's session of the commission and in presence of Governor Charles W. Bryan, by state engineer George E. Johnson, secretary of the capitol commission. The architect, in charge of the building, had asked the state capitol commission to accept a bid on cut stone which was $115,000 more than should have been paid, and that Goodhue let contracts for work without the approval of the commission. According to Governor Bryan, an investigation of the charges is to be made as soon as possible.

Dependence Recognized
A single state cannot live upon itself any more than a dog can live on its tail. Pennsylvania needs the rest of the country more than the rest of the country needs Pennsylvania. Any state which seems to exist by taxing other states will fall as did Athens, Rome and Carthage. However, I am convinced that there is no such disposition in Pennsylvania as businessmen elsewhere presume, but that fears along this line are ungrounded.

"Just one word in closing regarding New Jersey and Maryland; I find New Jersey very active. New factories are going up every day and there is a fine spirit among its people. Maryland, of course, never gets excited. It does not suffer very much from either reckless excess or depressing panics. Personally, I am very fond of all these states and hate to leave them."

LUCK LARGELY RESPONSIBLE FOR DEFEAT OF "TUD" KENT

Twin Falls Man Sheds Interesting Sidelight Upon Outcome of Main Event of the Ashton Dog Races

The fact that luck was against Tud Kent and apparently operating all in favor of Smoky Gaston is the reason why the former failed to win the Ashton dog derby, according to C. D. Thomas, who returned Saturday from the scene of the race and supplies an interesting close-up on the big event.

The big race, Mr. Thomas says, started promptly at 1 o'clock. There were ten entries in this race and there is no limit as to the number of dogs you drive, or the manner in which you hitch them. Most of them were hitched tandem, five to eight dogs to a team, but two of the teams—the one driven by Smoky Gaston and the one driven by Tud Kent—were hitched two abreast on the wheel, two abreast ahead of them and one dog for the leader. These teams were of all the different breeds of dogs that one could imagine. Smoky Gaston's team had for a leader a Chesapeake, while the four remaining dogs were Llewellyns, crossed with Shepherds. Tud Kent's team had for a leader a Belgian police dog with Irish Setter crossed with Collie for the other four. Trudo's team was hitched tandem with five full-blooded Irish Setters and an Airedale leader. Loy Hutchinsor, the lady driver, had a mixed team, with one Irish Setter, the rest were just dogs. Zara, the high school boy from Ashton, who was the big favorite, drove a five big black dogs, the prettiest team in the field. They looked like Gordon Setters. He had the fastest team in the race, but only got third money for the reason that his wheel dog had sore feet and gave out. He would probably have won the race if he had unhitched this dog and put it on the sled, and let the other dogs pull it.

Cannot Drop Dog
One of the rules of the race is that all the dogs that start in a team must finish, but you can carry one of the dogs on the sled if he gives out. The race is started with just one team, then in four minutes the second team starts and in four minutes the third team starts, and so on until all of the teams have started. It is a race against time. When the dogs are fresh, on the first lap, they make good time. For instance, Smoky Gaston ran the first eight miles in 27 minutes. Tud Kent in 38 minutes, and Zara in 37 1/2 minutes; but when it comes to the second lap there is a big difference in time. The first team on the second lap was 45 minutes, the third lap is still slower, the fastest time being 57 minutes and 38 seconds. It is a race not only of speed but of endurance. When the teams finished on the last lap their tongues were hanging out, and as they came through Main street, where the sun has melted the snow and there were big pools of water, each dog would scoop up a mouthful of water but never slacken his pace.

Gaston a Mail Driver
Smoky Gaston, who won the race, is a mail driver from Hevies Lake. He carries the mail with dog teams and has had long practice in handling and driving dogs. He is a small man, weighing about 135 pounds, and for that reason he had quite an advantage over Tud Kent, who is a large man weighing 190 pounds. Kent has won the race three years in succession, this being the first year that he was ever beaten, and this time only by 11 seconds. The breaks of the game were all against Kent. He lost at least a minute on his second lap when he was going through Main street on account of his sled flanks blocking the street so as to get a picture of his team.

The purse for this race is given largely to the millinery from Hevies Lake, who makes it one of the conditions that all dogs must be blanketed as soon as the race is finished. The Trude that took part in the race and drove one of the teams is a nephew of the milliner and lives on the Trude ranch, which is their summer home, above Ashton near Island Park.

Management Not Good
The management of this great race, which is attracting such widespread interest throughout America, is very poor. The race should be run on a two-mile track so that the spectators could see the dogs in action all the time, or if it is run on an eight-mile track the streets through Ashton should be kept clear, so that the timid dogs would have an equal show. One of the teams entered was Russian wolf hounds, who were so timid that the only way they could be taken through the crowd on Main street was by leading them.

A boys' dog race was the first event on the program—one dog, one boy and a sled. The events are graded according to the age of the boys, but there is no limit as to the kind of dogs he drives. The race is about 600 yards. It is not required that the dog be hitched to the sled but the dog must pull the sled. Sometimes this is done by the boy pulling on the dog's tail. The boy, the sled and the dog must cross the finish line. The dogs seem to enjoy this just as much as the boys and the crowd. Sometimes the lead dog, after he has turned the stake and started back to the finish, will get into a fight with the other dogs and lose the race. Sometimes as many as four and five boys, dogs and sleds are all mixed up in one fight, and a little yellow cur, who refuses to fight, will win the race.

Hangs to Dog's Tail
In the small boys' race boys up to the age of 10. One little fellow held onto the tail of his dog and took the lead, ran the full course, but just as he reached the finish line his sled upset and he let go of the dog's tail. The boy and the dog got up and ran across the finish line. One of the judges called to the boy and said he would have to have the sled across the line also. The little fellow started back to get the sled, but the dog bent his head down and grabbing the sled in his teeth pulled it across the finish line and won the race.

The next event was the skiing, which on account of the level country is done with a horse, a long rope and a boy on skis. The boy hangs onto the end of the rope and is pulled by the horse, which is ridden by another boy. These races are over the same course as the boys' race, same distance. They must turn the stake and finish at the place of beginning. It is partly horse race, partly the skill of the person on the skis, and is very exciting, and somewhat dangerous, as there is a flag pole in the center of the town of Ashton, which is about half way down the course. Sometimes the horse goes on one side of this pole and the man on skis on the other, and if he don't let go he will be thrown onto the pole. There was only one class of boys in this race, boys of about high school age. The fastest horse cannot always win, for the reason that if he goes too fast he cannot make the turn, and the slower horse can win. Sometimes the boys' skis get to going in opposite directions and he gets a great spill.

Girls' Races Tame
The little girls' dog races are not so interesting as the boys' races for the reason that the girls are too bashful to take part, although there was one race by little girls. They seem to understand that they were carrying a more precious burden, and there were no fights, the dogs behaving with dog-like courtesy.

APPRECIATES SURRENDER

Dail Eireann President Tells Men Who Have Laid Down Arms Against the State Situation is Clearing

DUBLIN, Feb. 24 (AP)—William T. Cosgrave, president of the Dail Eireann last night sent a letter to leader Eice and his men of the Kerry irregulars, who recently surrendered, expressing hearty appreciation for their honorable action.

Mr. Cosgrave says that the surrender, taken in connection with the recent appeal of Liam Deay for irregulars to lay down their arms for the future welfare of Ireland, gives him confidence that a few weeks more will demonstrate clearly by others facing the situation that most of the regrettable happenings of the past few months can be forgotten and every man in Ireland can work in friendliness and without violence along his own particular path to make Ireland a great and happy country.

EIGHT TEAMS TO COMPETE IN HOOP TOURNEY

Annual Tournament for South Central District to be Held Here This Week

The annual basketball classic for the south central district will start at the local high school Thursday evening at 7 o'clock.

Two years ago Twin Falls had an easy time winning and it was a foregone conclusion last year that Oakley would win, but this year there will be eight teams scrapping for the right to meet the winners of the Boise valley section. The eight teams represent two from the Hailley district, two from the North Side, two from the Rupert district and two from this section.

Oakley and Burley will represent the Rupert section, and although last year conceded to have excellent teams, they should bump into a great deal of opposition from Filer and Twin Falls. The two local teams are in the running, and this fact remains, even though few radical fans pick the fast Oakley quintet to repeat last year's performance.

Word comes from the Hailley district that Carey will give the fans a few surprises when the team is seen in action. Carey boasts of one of the biggest teams in this section, most of the players being close to the six-foot mark.

Jerome is another contender that is apt to make trouble, as this team has been making rapid strides during the last few weeks.

The work of the Burley team is well known to the local followers of basketball, and although Burley has two wins over the Twin Falls team and one over the Filer squad, the Cassia hoopers will find the sledding pretty rough when they tangle with the two teams representing this section.

The drawing for the different games will take place at the Perrins hotel Wednesday evening. Four games will be played Thursday evening, every team being seen in action. On Friday, starting at 1:30 there will be four more games played, and starting at 7:30 Friday evening the fans will witness three more games.

Saturday morning, starting at 10 o'clock, two games will be played, and in the evening the final game will be played.

The tournament this year will be a double elimination, with the possible exception of the Saturday evening game. The winner of this game will play the Boise valley champs, irrespective of their standing before the game. The board of control for the entire south central district, composed of Mr. Hillman of Jerome, president; Mr. Dean of Hollister, secretary and treasurer, and Mr. Frilley of Hays, at a meeting held here this week appointed Council G. W. Evans of the local high school, conductor of ceremonies during the tournament, and verified the appointment of Homer Hudson and Charles Gray as officials for the game.

Fine Points of League Bowlers' Games Are Shown by Statistics

In bowling, as in every other branch of sport, there is the usual amount of eery about the "breaks." In bowling the "breaks" are known as splits, but of course there is an element of luck that is sometimes evident when a strike is made.

For the benefit of those who think that the "breaks" are all in the other fellow's favor, and that if the luck was better distributed they would average close to 200, the following table is submitted.

Charley Larson of the Rogerson Club team leads the field with strikes made, having 67 to his credit, and it must be said that several of them were real fluky. Carlos Laville of the I. D. Store bowlers is next with 61.

When it comes to picking up spares the I. D. Store star, Carlos Laville, and Roy Cubitt, pride of the Troy Laundry team, are tied with 83 apiece. Laval Jarman of the Idaho Theater team and Hugh Booth of the I. D. Store team are in second place with 82 each.

Ebunett Astbury of the Rendahl-Wright squad has hit the head pin in the nose more than the rest of the pin smashers, having a total of 27 splits.

Bill Towan of the Rogerson quintet seems to be the lad with the best eye, having gone through the 18 games with but 22 errors. Swenson, his team mate, breaks the record with reverse English, having a total of 73 errors.

For the skeptics:

JUNIORS BEAT FILER SQUAD

Local Eighth Graders Defeat Neighbors in Hard Fought Contest. Kolloy's Work Features.

The Twin Falls junior high school cage artists won a hard fought game, 34 to 28, from the Filer eighth graders Friday afternoon at Filer.

This was the second straight defeat administered to the Filer team.

Alvin Kolloy, center for the Twin Falls team, featured his clever floor work and accurate basket shooting, accounting for 20 of the local's points.

The work of Wetherby and Tilden of the Filer team was worthy of special mention.

The local junior high team will play a return game with the Jerome eighth graders Friday evening, March 9, on the local gym floor.

EIGHT TEAMS TO COMPETE

On Saturday evening on a curtain-raiser, the girls' team of the Jerome high school will play the Twin Falls girls for honors between the two schools, each team having won one game. Jerome has a dandy girls' team, and the defeat at the hands of the Twin Falls girls is the only one they have suffered this year. This game will start at 7:30 sharp at the final tournament game starting immediately after.

Season tickets for the tournament will be sold at the Majestic pharmacy and McNulty's cigar store, and at the local high school. Fifteen games will be played, including the girls' contest. One dollar and a half is the price quoted for the season tickets and fifty cents will be charged for each single admission. Season tickets issued by the Twin Falls high school will not be good for these games.

BOY WINS HORSESHOE MEET. ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 24 (AP)—Harold Falor, 15 year old high school boy of Akron, Ohio, today won the world's horseshoe pitching championship by defeating Frank Lundin of New London, Iowa; Frank Jackson, Keller, Ohio; and C. O. Day, Columbus, Ohio, consecutively, for the title and $500 in cash, which goes to the first place winner. Lundin, Jackson and Davis all are former champions.

Jerome Takes Tight Game From Wendell

Conquered Squad Fights to Finish Spectacular Match of North Side Tournay

JEROME, Feb. 24. (Special to The News).—Jerome high school's basketball team won the sub-district championship here today from the Wendell College artists by score 24 to 23. This game was the hardest fought of the entire tournament, the Wendell quintet refusing to concede defeat until the final shot. The half end score was 17 to 7 in favor of Jerome, but Wendell brazen in the second half and forced the play to a sensational finish. 30-for-36 of the locals and Christopher and Elliott for the visitors featured.

Goeding won second honors in the tournament by defeating Wendell, 47 to 32. Ojala before the game favored Wendell, but failed to take into consideration the capability of Accueni and Judwine at long distance basket shooting.

Goeding eliminated Bloss, 33 to 24, in the fourth game of the day.

Upsetting all the dope, the Wendell girls' team this evening defeated the Jerome girls, 24 to 14, and won the girls' tournament championship. Previously the Jerome girls had defeated the Hagerman team, 30 to 5, and Wendell girls had won from Goeding, 24 to 6.

HAILEY BEATS GANNETT.

HAILEY, Feb. 24. (Special to The News).—Halley's basketball team won the right to journey to Twin Falls for the finale by beating Gannett here tonight by the score of 24 to 13. The result of tonight's game gives Halley second place in the tournament just closed, with Carey winning first.

VANDALS DEFEAT W. S. C.

MOSCOW, Idaho, Feb. 24 (AP)—The University of Idaho basketball team defeated that of Washington State college, 30 to 26, in a non-conference basketball game here tonight. It was the third Idaho win of four games played with W. S. C. this season.

The Cougars did their best work in the second half. Fox of the Idaho Vandals was high point man, with ten foul conversations and six field goals.

BREAKS SHOT PUT RECORD.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24 (AP)—Ralph G. Hills, Princeton, tonight broke the world's record for indoor shotput at the annual track and field meet of the New York Athletic club, throwing the ball 48 feet 9 inches.

The former record was made by Pat McDonald of Olympic fame, at 47 feet 6 1/2 inches.

The Screen

SENSATION OF THE YEAR.

Monday and Tuesday, "Determination," the super-feature melodrama, will be given its premiere showing at the Lavinger theater. In the making of this picture more than a year was consumed, and hundreds of thousands of dollars expended. The cost of one street scene alone ran into six figures.

"Determination" is an amazing combination of the spectacular and dramatic scenes swiftly shifting from gorgeous ballrooms to the dingy dens of a Monte Carlo, to the drab, fog-beclouded streets of the shams of a great city.

The story is gripping, startling and powerful, intervening mystery and romance, the magnificent and the sordid and never before has the great theme it embodies been so picturesquely portrayed. The spectacle pleases the eye, delights the intelligence and appeals to the emotions.

SECRET SERVICE.

Charles Ray transfers his activities to the Mexican border and presents a plot of more dramatic interest than usual in "Gas, Oil and Water," the current First National attraction at the Orpheum theater, starting Monday.

The star has the role of a secret agent who works out the problem of capturing a gang of smugglers in his own style.

Hectic races between the outlaw gang and a detachment of agents feature in the results. The unusual surroundings of a mission house turned into a hotel,

GORGEOUS WEDDING IN PICTURE

The gorgeous wedding of Princess Mary Tudor and King Louis XII of France is one of the picturesque scenes in the picture version of "When Knighthood Was In Flower," which had to be omitted from the stage production in 1901. The Cosmopolitan production of "When Knighthood Was In Flower," with Marion Davies in the role of Princess Mary Tudor, which comes to the Idaho theater next Monday, shows it in its entirety. Robert G. Vignola directed the picture and Joseph Urban designed the elaborate settings which are said to set a high water mark in filmdom.

Salvador's Riches.

Gold and silver rank high among Salvador's products. Up-to-date methods in gold mining were introduced 20 years ago, when an energetic American engineer obtained a property of high grade ore and put in place, with British capital, a most complete equipment. Later, acquiring a large tract of low-grade ore, he agreed to permit government students to complete their studies in mining and metallurgy at his properties. Thus Salvador obtained, without expense, a mining school.

TWICE 1569 DAYS

There is an ironic significance in the reflection that on Monday the world will have passed since the armistice a period equal to the period spent at war—1569 days, approximately 51 months.

To Europe, at least, the accounting is a grim one. In war sacrifices could be expected, while in the hour of peace men and women not unreasonably anticipated relaxation and a relative freedom from anxiety.

It is difficult to see where Europe has enjoyed, for the space of a single day, either relaxation or freedom from anxiety.

demons taxation. Of course, part of this great cost is due to waste and extravagance—as for instance the $1,800,000,000 contributed by the taxpayers for government control of the railroads—but this very fact furnishes another argument against further paternalism in government...

CHAPTER XXVII

Who's Who. "We won't scold her any more today, Tony dear," said Lady Scoop...

"Yes," said Lord Scoop, heavily, "that is what I feel, Delicia. We must temper justice with mercy."

"You dear people," said Almee, stealing a hand into her mother's, while the other clasped the long white fingers of her sire...

"Almee dear," said Lady Scoop, stroking her hair, "try and look a little less treget. This isn't like you. It's all over now."

"As it is," said Almee wistfully. "I am glad, Delicia. I've told you both the story, all over and over. I've tried to make it clear. It's a fearful tangle. I know. You have both been so sweet about it."

"It is finished," said Lord Scoop gently. "I am so devoutly thankful, Almee, that you have come safely through the dangers which beset you at Jervaulx—what might have happened appals me to think of—that it is impossible to be harsh. And—and it distresses me to see you looking so unhappy. For the first time in your life, I can never remember to have seen you in such a mood."

"The thing I want to know," she said, piteously, "is, what about Billy? You won't answer me. Mummy, you, I know, will understand. If I lose Billy, I don't care whether I live or die. That is all."

"Go upstairs and rest for awhile, Baby," said Lady Scoop, gently. "You are very tired, and there has been talk enough."

"I had a long talk with Almee this morning," said Lady Scoop, "and it isn't a thing we can discuss lightly, Tony. I know the child better than you do." She reflected. "This Billy—this Mr. Spencer appears to be rather remarkable."

"If we can trust Almee's account," said Lord Scoop gloomily, "but—a young man picked up by the way-side, he added with a bewildered air. "My dear Delicia!"

"He is not English, is he?" "American, I understand. It seems curious," said Lord Scoop, pensively, "but I believe he is the first American I have met."

"His wife had a small white hand on his shoulder. "Tony, darling," she said, laughing, "you know very little of the world, but one thing at least you know. You saw this man. Is he—a gentleman?" Lord Scoop puffed. "Whatever else he may not be, he is that."

"I rather gathered it from what I heard of him."

The butler entered with a card on a tray. Lord Scoop inspected the card. It bore the name "Hiram B. Rivington, which Lord Scoop glanced at the card, and suppressed her curiosity nobly.

"I shall leave you to receive this visitor, Tony," she said. "I do not think Almee ought to be left alone just now."

"Lord Scoop?" he inquired, bowing courteously. "It's very good of you to receive a stranger. I thought that my nephew, William Spence, would be here. He promised me to arrive about now. I guess it's something big that's delayed him."

"Is Mr. Spencer your nephew?" said Lord Scoop guardedly. "That is so. You know him. I think I should like to see him."

"It is hardly the word. I know less than nothing of him, Mr. Rivington." "Correct. He feels, and so do I, that a proper explanation is due to you, Lord Scoop. I don't know the whole story, but circumstances have impelled William, by no choice of his own, to break into the society of Eastshire county in a way that would probably be called unusual down here. He came to London and consulted me last night. He was very much distressed—which isn't usual with him. It's only fair to William that his credentials should be presented, and I think I'm the man to do it. I should like, Lord Scoop, to tell about Billy."

Lord Scoop stiffened. But there was an uncommodious dignity in Mr. Rivington; there was also something remarkably likable about him. He appeared to have very strongly the Spencer gift of attraction.

"I will give my attention to what you have to say." Mr. Rivington twinkled again, then became grave. "I should have thought," he said, subsiding gently into an old bergere chair, "that it was enough for anyone to meet William to see him up. However, he is the son of my only sister, and of the late Lindon Spencer of Denver. Who was, on the whole, the finest man I ever knew in the course of a life that has been described as varied and comprehensive. And Billy is as good as his father. I wish you had met Lindon."

"I appreciate what you say," replied Lord Scoop. "I do not gather, however, what Mr. Spencer's occupation is."

"He has developed himself as a motor engineer." "I know so little of mechanics—" began Lord Scoop. "Mechanics," said Mr. Rivington, smiling, "are, of course, a matter of taste. They have an interest for me." A light dawned suddenly on Lord Scoop.

"Is it possible," he said, "that you are the author as it were—of the Rivington motorcar?" "That among other things," said the visitor pleasantly.

Lord Scoop looked bewildered. It was not possible, however ignorant one might be of mechanics, not to have heard of the Rivington automobile. Nor, however casual a reader of the secular press, could one avoid the echoes of the fame of that solid manipulator of millions, that human comet of progress, Hiram B. Rivington. The name on the postcard had not till now connected with Lord Scoop's mind.

He contemplated Mr. Rivington with wondering interest. "Mr. Spencer," he said, "is indeed fortunate in his uncle."

"I would rather say that I'm fortunate in my nephew," replied Rivington. "Billy doesn't need an uncle. In my country we haven't much use for a young man whose only assets are his relatives. Billy has made good by his own efforts, sir. He is the inventor and proprietor of the Flying Sphinx motorcycle."

"An experimental machine, I understand. I hope, for Mr. Spencer's sake," said Lord Scoop, politely, "that it may prove—ah—successful."

Mr. Rivington smiled. (Continued in Next Issue.)
